Nominee in 1912 Is Chief Topic of Their Discussions.

Bryan Will Speak on Perils He Sees Before the Party.

Says Tariff on Wool Will Mean Fight Has But Begun.

St. Paul, Minn., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Democrats of national prominence from Northwestern states began to arrive here this morning for the jubilee banquet, which will be held in the St. Paul Auditorium this evening. This meeting of the leaders is for the purpose of fittingly celebrating the success of the party candidates at the last election and to get a line on candidates for the future.

The banquet was arranged by F. B. Lynch, lumberman and national committeeman for Minnesota, and he says that anywhere from 800 to 1,000 Democrats will sit down to dinner at 6:30 tonight.

Politicians on Hand.

Groups of politicians were gathered about the St. Paul hotel all day discussing possibilities and the main subject was who would be the party leader in 1912. Sentiment seemed to divide between Harmon of Ohio and Governor Wilson of New Jersey, with a preponderance of the expressed opinion favorable to Governor Wilson.

Members of the delegation from Iowa, under the leadership of Judge M. J. Wade, were reported as favoring Governor Wilson, and they discussed the attitude of F. B. Lynch and the Minnesota Democrats. While Lynch has so far declined to commit himself, one Iowan, telling Judge Wade about it, said that he was satisfied that Lynch was for Governor Wilson, but that he would also like to have harmony in the party.

Bryan to Speak.

BLUEJACKETS TO VISIT STOCKHOLM

Copenhagen, Denmark, June 1.—The Second division of the United States Atlantic fleet today sailed from Copenhagen for Stockholm, where the battleships are due to arrive on Saturday. The Swedish capital is the second port in the itinerary of the squadron's foreign cruise of international courtesy.

The officers and men were astir early this morning preparing for their departure from the Danish capital, where they have spent an enjoyable week. The usual salutes were fired as the warships passed out of the harbor.

Despite the early hour many persons had gathered along the harbor front to witness the departing Americans.

Maurice F. Egan, the American minister, who had given his whole time during the stay of the squadron in looking after the comfort of the officers and men, was among the prominent persons who paid farewell calls before the vessels weighed anchor.

HALF MILLION FOR THE STATE

Amount Received From the Sale of 56,000 Acres of Land.

St. Paul, Minn., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Approximately $500,000 worth of state land has been sold by S. G. Iverson, state auditor, at public auction during the last few weeks. This sum was received for about 56,000 acres. The average price was about $8 an acre.

WOMAN POSES AS MAN FOR TWELVE YEARS.

St. Louis, Mo., June 1.—The sound of bands and the lure of the circus parade caused "Gus" Selb momentarily to forget her masculine stride yesterday and she was arrested for masquerading as a man. She admits she is a woman and has worn men's clothes for twelve years, while searching for her husband, who, she says, deserted he. in Bremen, Germany.

She declares that for eleven years she was employed as a waiter in New York hotels and cafes under the name of August A. Selb. She is 33 years old.

While passing as a man Mrs. Selb learned to smoke cigarettes, and was accustomed to walk to the bar of a saloon with her male companions and drink with ease, grace and avidity.

FORTRESS BLOWN UP

Origin of Disaster Is a Mystery—Division of Nation Sought.

San Juan, Del Sur, Nicaragua, June 1.—The fortress on Tiscapa hill, Managua, was blown up at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. One hundred and fifty soldiers perished in the explosion. All the ammunition in the fortress was destroyed. The cause of the explosion is as yet unknown.

Want Nation Divided.

New Orleans, La., June 1.—Nicaragua, probably the most war-torn republic of the tropics, is to be split into two nations, if plans of the Liberal party successfully materialize.

This is according to gossip in the Central American colony here today. The scheme provides for making independent republics of the Atlantic and Pacific provinces. In the West, the Conservatives would rule, while the new Atlantic republic would be dominated by the Liberals, who precipitated the revolution of a year or more ago that resulted in the disposition of Zelaya.

MAY FIGHT NEW STATE TAX LAW

St. Paul Business Men Consider Application for an Injunction.

St. Paul, Minn., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Business men of St. Paul will meet at the Commercial club rooms at 4 o'clock this afternoon to consider the question of bringing a suit to test the validity of the Peterson act passed at the last session of the legislature, placing a 3-mill tax an moneys and credits. It is possible an injunction will be asked restraining the state tax commission from making the assessment.

SECOND BRIDGE IS DYNAMITED

Pennsylvania Railroad Suffers Another Loss in Strike Zone.

Irwin, Pa., June 1.—Dynamiters destroyed the bridge between Herminie and Madison, on the Sewickly branch of the Pennsylvania railroad, last night. About six weeks ago the bridge near Claridge on the Manor Valley branch, was dynamited. Both bridges were in the Westmoreland county miners' strike zone.

TO ASK GARY ABOUT STEEL

House Committee Calls Chairman of Corporation Directors.

Ream, Roberts, Daley and Dickson on Hand to Testify.

Washington, June 1.—Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation, appeared today as a witness in the steel trust inquiry being conducted by a committee of the house.

When Chairman Stanley called the committee to order there were also present in response to official summons, Norman B. Ream, Percival Roberts, James Daley and W. B. Dickson of the directorate of the Steel corporation. Whether all would be examined today Chairman Stanley would not say. Mr. Gary and his business associates arrived in Washington early, prepared to remain until the committee could conclude its business with them.

The committee of inquiry had its full membership present today, Martin Littleton of New York, who was absent when John W. Gates testified last week, having returned to participate in the hearing.

"There is not any doubt," Mr. Gary told the committee today, "that the United States Steel corporation, as the owner of most of the stocks of the subsidiary companies, ultimately controls those subsidiaries, including their management and conduct."

Asked if the Carnegie Steel company now competes with other subsidiaries in the Steel corporation, Mr. Gary said:

"I should say it does, putting my

STATE PIONEERS MEET ONCE MORE

Only Two of Original 101 Members of Society Survive.

St. Paul, Minn., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Minnesota Old Settlers' association is holding its annual meeting at the old capitol here today. The association comprises the men who were settlers in Minnesota before the territory was organized and who were then at least 21 years old.

Of the 101 original members named in the act of incorporation in 1857, two are still living—A. L. Larpenteur and James K. Humphrey, both of St. Paul. The total enrollment of members has numbered 234, of whom eleven are still living. The officers for the year just passed are Maj. Benjamin H. Randall of Winona, president; Capt. Edward W. Durant of Stillwater and Caleb Dorr of Minneapolis, vice presidents, and A. L. Larpenteur, secretary. The annual meeting is always held June 1, the anniversary of the organization of Minnesota Territory.

BODY FOUND IN BATH TUB

Husband Is Under Arrest and Police Claim Woman Was Murdered.

Father Goes to New York From Massachusetts to Testify.

New York, June 1.—The identity of a young woman whose body was found rotting in the bathtub of a vacant East side flat four months after she died, probably will be settled today. The police believe the woman was murdered, and the inquest will determine her name. Coroner O'Grady, a Springfield, Mass., publisher, will appear as a witness, and if he identifies the husband of the dead woman as the man who married his daughter, Elizabeth, in 1907, the police will consider the identification complete, even though the condition of the body prevents recognition.

The husband, a young chauffeur, who calls himself Harry A. Scheib, will be arraigned in the supreme court on his habeas corpus proceedings demanding release from custody.

Letters Found in Flat.

O'Grady says that the man his daughter married was known as Hugh Allerton Sherman, and that he, the father, has been writing letters to her under that name. It was the discovery of some of these letters in the flat with the body that led to the notification of Mr. O'Grady and his trip here as a witness.

Thus far the police have not revealed the evidence upon which they determine that the woman was murdered. It is asserted, however, that the coroner has proof of this kind and that it will appear at the inquest. Other important witnesses at the inquest will be women friends of Scheib.

The police believe the story told by a Miss Mae Blake will be an important link in the evidence against the chauffeur. Miss Blake says that Scheib told her last March that his wife died of pneumonia in February and was buried in Springfield, Mass.

WOMEN ARE SENT BACK TO CELLS

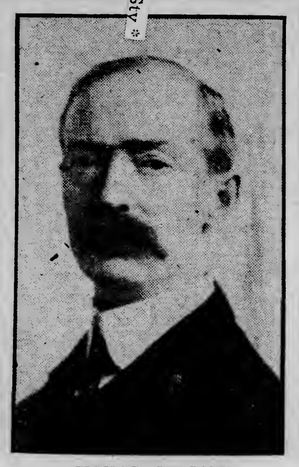

Sing "The Union Forever" and Beat Kettles to Serenade Workers.

Irwin, Pa., June 1.—Singing "The Union Forever," twelve wives and daughters of striking miners in Westmoreland City were returned to the county jail at Greensburg, last night. Two of the women took their infants with them. They persisted in "serenading" the non-union workers by beating on kettles and other kitchen utensils and by ringing bells, although they recently were released from jail on bail, after being sentenced for the same offense.

FORECAST VOTE ON LORIMER CASE

Compromise Plan for Reinvestigation Is Expected to Pass.

Washington, June 1.—The senate leaders expected today to dispose of the first stage of the new Lorimer investigation. It was predicted that before adjournment this afternoon a vote would be taken on the various propositions before the senate as to the manner of conducting the new inquiry.

The compromise measure, suggested by the Democrats and providing for a bi-partisan and bi-Lorimer sub-committee of the regular committee on privileges and elections, was regarded as the one most likely to be adopted. This sub-committee would consist of eight members, evenly divided as between Democrats and Republicans and between senators who voted for and against Lorimer last spring.

OHIO SENATE TO CUT OUT FUND FOR PROBE.

Columbus, Ohio, June 1.—Immediately upon its convening for final adjournment today, the senate precipitated a sensation by demanding back from the house the sundry appropriation bill, in order that it might be able to cut out the $7,500 allowed for the probe by the senate committee of ten. The house, fearing that refusal would mean a tie-up of the legislative salaries, acceded.

Bryan's Action Causes Much Comment at Washington.

Washington, June 1. — The Democratic wool tariff bill, prepared by the ways and means committee of the house, was presented to the Democratic caucus at noon today.

The bill makes reductions of from one-half to two-thirds in all wool duties. Raw wool itself, which was free in previous Democratic tariff bills, is given a duty of 20 per cent ad valorem, equivalent to from 3 to 5 cents a pound.

BOY ADMITS HE SHOT PLAYMATE

Says He and Companions Robbed Body and Spent the Money.

New York, June 1.—Not until Carmine Piombino broke down today and said he fired the fatal shot, were the police able to decide which of four boys was responsible for the death of John Maile.

The Maile boy's body, stuffed into a bag, was found last night in the cellar of a tenement in the Italian quarters. Four of his playmates from 10 to 14 years old were arrested, and while they admitted that he had been killed by one of the four, each claimed his own innocence.

Piombino wept as he told his story, and dropping on his knees, called upon the spirit of his dead friend to forgive him. He said that he had shot Johnny accidentally while they were struggling over money. After that the boys confessed that they took the dead boy's money, some $15, and spent it for candy and moving picture shows.

SCOTLAND IS NOT GROWING SO FAST

Population of That Country Is About 4,759,445.

London, June 1.—Scotland has a population of 4,759,445, according to the provisional figures of the census made public today. This is an increase over 1901 of 287,342 and is the smallest increase in any census since 1861.

NORTHERN MINNESOTA MEN MEET

President Maxfield Advocates Program of Constructive Work.

Governor Talks on Highways and Consolidation of Rural Schools.

(Other Proceedings of the Convention will be found on pages 7, 14, 15 and 16.)

Between 500 and 600 residents of Northern Minnesota gathered at the Armory this morning for the first session of the fourth convention of the Northern Minnesota Development association. They heard Mayor Cullum welcome them to Duluth, Governor A. O. Eberhart tell them of the possibilities of the good roads and the consolidated school work. Rt. Rev. James McGolrick tell of the opportunities offered the settler in Northern Minnesota, Ferman A. Wilson advocate the commission plan of government for the state and C. L. Hansen of Thief River Falls advocate a boosting program for the Commercial clubs of Northern Minnesota.

The meeting coming at the end of the seeding season and just when farm work demands all of the time of the farmers of the northern part of the state, the attendance at the first session was smaller than was expected. More delegates are expected in Duluth on the afternoon trains today and the attendance of Duluth people at the afternoon session was greater than at this morning's meeting. Tomorrow morning's meeting, when the resolutions committee will report and the constructive work of the convention will be done, is expected to attract the largest crowd.

The delegates to the meeting began to arrive in Duluth yesterday afternoon and the white badges of the visitors were conspicuous on the streets of Duluth last night. By this morning, about 400 visitors were in the city and they made their presence known in the hotel lobbies and on the streets. Governor A. O. Eberhart was one of the early arrivals, coming to Duluth on a special car last night, and stopping at the Spalding.

Despite the fact that the attendance was cut down by the pressure of farm work, nearly every county in the as-

UNION AGENT IS HELD WITHOUT BAIL

Accused of Murder of Two Men Shot During Trouble.

Chicago, June 1.—Maurice Enright, the labor union business agent arrested several days ago and charged with the murder of Vincent Altman and William Gentleman, other union men who were shot down in a trouble following jurisdictional disagreements between the steam fitters' and plumbers' unions, was arraigned today and the examination set for June 9. Enright was ordered held without bail.

STATE GETS $60,070 TAX

Sale of $20,000,000 Bonds Is Noted at New York.

St. Paul, Minn., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state of Minnesota, through the plan to issue $600,000,000 bonds by the Great Northern railroad yesterday received as its share of the deal $60,070, the amount of mortgage registry tax due the state for filing the trust deed.

The instrument, which was filed with the secretary of state by the Great Northern, covers 123 printed pages, and in effect reports the proceedings of the board of directors of the railroad company, held in St. Paul, May 25, which authorized the issue of bonds payable in gold coin and to mature June 1, 1961.

The instrument was sworn to by Louis W. Hill, president of the Great Northern, in New York, before E. McCabe, notary public, May 29.

DRAWBACKS IN FLORIDA

John A. Stephenson Says Many Are Being Fooled on Worthless Land.

High Freight Rates, Poor Markets, and Labor Situation Against Country.

John A. Stephenson, who has just returned after a trip of several months' duration through the state of Florida, says that St. Louis county looks awfully good as a farming country after observing the difficulties under which many are trying to make gardens in Florida.

"It is a shame," said Mr. Stephenson, "that people are being so taken in on land deals in Florida. The worst part of it is that it is not the people who can afford it but people of moderate means who are saving and paying for worthless land out of small salaries, firm in the belief that some day the land will not make them rich."

Mr. Stephenson does not mean to say that all the land in Florida is worthless, but he does say that a great part of it is. Not only this but the shipping facilities are poor. There is but one railroad and the freight rates are high both going in and coming out of the country. When the farmers do succeed in raising a good crop, much of it is spoiled in transit.

Mr. Stephenson says there are a great many reasons why Florida is not what it seems to be from this distance. He states that there are many things against the successful raising of fruit there. "The land, for the most part is poor, being a dry sand," he said. "It has to be fertilized each year and this is expensive at $65 a ton. When the year is perfect the country produces wonderful fruit but there are so few perfect years that it is, apparently, a money losing game."

Mr. Stephenson says that there are thousands of people going into the state and thousands coming out. Those who have purchased land cannot afford to lost it and they are forced to stick.

The government is spending some money in the state trying to improve the conditions. They are trying to drain a part of the everglade district. They have not been very successful at this yet and Mr. Stephenson says that it is doubtful whether it will ever be a success.

Another drawback is the labor situation. The laborers are all colored people and they only work when they feel like it. They have a great many holidays during the year on which they absolutely refuse to work. As there is no other laboring class there, the farm work has to wait. This cannot always be done and farmers have seen their products go to waste for want of labor to harvest them. There are many other drawbacks, says Mr. Stephenson, so many, in fact, that St. Louis county looks like a good enough farming country for him.

"Of course," says Mr. Stephenson "there are drawbacks to any country, but there seems to me to be more in Florida. The market is a long distance away and much is lost in trying to get the produce there. The produce is worth but little in the vicinity of the place where it was grown.

WHITTIER CASE SET FOR JULY 6

Stephens Talks of Injunction to Get Him Away From School.

St. Paul, Minn., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Investigation of the charges preferred against Supt. F. A. Whittier of the state training school for boys at Red Wing will start in the board of control offices July 6. This was agreed to by Judge Wilson, attorney for Mr. Whittier, this morning.

A. D. Stephens of Crookston, who drafted the charges against Mr. Whittier, yesterday heard from a woman here a story of her boy's being beaten, his ears pulled and otherwise punished by an employe of the school named Olson. She said she had appealed to the board to prevent the boy being punished, but her efforts had been without avail.

Senator Stephens said this morning he might institute habeas corpus proceedings to get the boy from the school, or ask the court for a restraining order prohibiting Supt. Whittier from further conducting affairs of the school until the investigation is ended.

LODGE ENTERTAINS MANY FRIENDS

The Loyal Order of Moose, No. 505, entertained about 350 friends last evening at the Eagle's hall, on West Superior street. The local lodge has been in existence for three months and during that time has had a remarkable growth, and the prospects for a continued increase looks bright to the officers.

The program rendered was as follows: Address of welcome, M. E. Scott; mandolin and piano duet, Messrs. Elliott and Gillis; vocal solos by George Frink, Mr. Mistachkin, Mr. Elliot, Mr. Johnson, Mr. McDonald, Mr. Orocoff and George M. Beck; violin solo by Mr. Copeland; mandolin solo by Mr. Duncan; zither solo by Mr. Kalsink; speech on "Moosedom," by Luke F. Burns; buck and wing dance, Mr. McMaster; acrobatic and hand ball performance by Messrs. Wendlandt and Grenner, and a recitation by Mr. Parfit.

The committee which had charge of the entertainment was composed of Robert Wendlant, Guy Hallock and Paul Reim.

$2,000,000 PAID IN TAXES

It was the last day for the payment of the first half of the 1911 real estate tax. The office was thronged all day with people anxious to get the ordeal over. It was, perhaps, the busiest day in the history of the office.

MUSTINKA DITCH FUND IS TIED UP

Attorney General's Opinion Also May Affect Snake River Plan.

St. Paul, Minn., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because property owners on adjacent land constructed subsidiary drains emptying into it, the outlet for Mustinka ditch in Traverse county must not be enlarged by use of $25,000 from the state treasury, as was provided by an act passed at the last session of the legislature.

This is an informal, oral opinion given to State Auditor Iverson and George Ralph, drainage engineer, by Attorney General Simpson. The matter is still "up in the air," awaiting some additional information from Traverse county, but the opinion outlined probably will be formally rendered.

When the legislature of 1909 appropriated money for the Mustinka ditch, Governor ohnson vetoed the item. At the next session, Representative Spooner again introduced the bill and was instrumental in having committees appointed to inquire into the official affairs of Engineer Ralph and Julius Schmahl, secretary of state. The act passed the legislature, but the attorney general will hold that as other ditches have been constructed which empty into Mustinka, any work the state might do in enlarging the outlet would be in the nature of an internal improvement benefiting private properties and hence unconstitutional.

It is also probable that the $5,000 appropriation for Snake river in Marshall county will likewise be held unconstitutional and be disallowed by the attorney general and state auditor.

TRAMMER IS KILLED IN TAMARACK MINE.

Calumet, Mich., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Struck by a rolling rock on the fourteenth level, south side of the Tamarack mine, early yesterday, George Malchich, aged 22, single, who arrived in the Copper country about six weeks ago from Croatia, received injuries that resulted fatally. He was a member of the St. Michael Servian society and his funeral was held at 2 p. m. today under the auspices of that society. A coroner's jury found that his death resulted from an accident.

FINANCIERS TALK OF HILL MORTGAGE.

New York, June 1.—The financial community accepts the $600,000,000 mortgage on the Hill system of railroads as a precautionary measure more than anything else. It is also disposed to associate the proposed acquisition the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy by the Great Northern as a direct result of the recent Standard Oil and American Tobacco decisions, since it is generally recognized that Northern Pacific and Burlington are in a sense competing lines. Local representatives of the Hill roads declined to discuss the matter today, but it is known that the mortgage will take care primarily of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy joint 4 per cent bonds, amounting to $222,400,000.

TWO PAVING JOBS ARE ORDERED.

At a meeting of the council last evening, the paving of Belknap street from Oakes to Clough avenues and John avenue between Third and Belknap streets was ordered. Belknap street will be set with a concrete foundation and will be sixty feet wide. The width of the pavement on John avenue will be but thirty feet.

The board of public works was instructed to prepare plans and specifications for the paving and submit them to the council. Bids will be asked for four different kinds of paving.

Case Is Dismissed.

A motion for non-suit in the case of Pearl Hume vs. the Duluth Street Railway company, in which the plaintiff sued for $5,000 personal injuries, was granted in superior court yesterday afternoon by Judge Smith. The plaintiff claimed to have been struck by a car an. 10, 1911 and to have sustained a broken arm and three fractured ribs.

FIRST APPEARANCE OF NEW BAND.

The Superior City band will make its first appearance at a public concert, Sunday evening at the Grand Opera house under the direction of Louis Stellenberger. Besides several selections by the band, numbers will be given by Miss Alma Hopkins, contralto, and Miss Valborg Gunderson, violinist.

Broke Game Laws.

Hjalmar Lilja paid a fine of $25 and costs in municipal court yesterday, when arraigned before Judge Parker on a charge of violating the game laws. Lilja was arrested by Game Warden McNaughton. Frank Getchell and John Anderson were sent up for ten days each on charges of drunkenness.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

DISPUTED GAME WITH WINONA IS THROWN OUT.

Darby O'Brien this morning received official information from President Frank E. Force of the Minnesota-Wisconsin league, stating that the game awarded to Winona has been thrown out. It will be played over later in the season.

The decision throwing out the game was based on the fact that Duluth had an open date and a long trip and the request to remain over and play off the postponed game, was under the circumstances, unreasonable.

The ordering of the game played over will, for the time being, give Winona one less win and Duluth one less defeat.

O'Brien also announced today that he was after Leber's brother, who is said to be a very fast pitcher. If Leber comes it means that one of the present staff will be let out. Blancke should be here at the present time, as O'Brien is expecting him every day.

WILL COACH THE YALE FRESHMEN.

New Haven, Conn., June 1.—Erle O. Kistler of Denver, Colo., was appointed coach of the freshman football team at Yale for next year. Kistler has been a member of the Yale eleven for two years, playing most of last season at fullback. Heretofore it has been customary to appoint an under-graduate as coach for the freshman team, and the naming of a man who will graduate before the next football season is an innovation.

CASTRO TRYING TO COME BACK

Reaches Lisbon and Portugal Is Told to Look After Him.

Washington, June 1.—Ex-President Cipriano Castro of Venezuela has been located at Lisbon by the state department. He was there yesterday and had been there since May 15, having reached Portugal from a Spanish port, presumably Bilboa. The Portuguese government has been notified that the United States has not changed its view respecting Castro and that he will not be permitted to organize a filibustering expedition directed against the present government of Venezuela.

This is believed to be Castro's second attempt against the Gomez government in Venezuela. Some time ago he reached Guadaloupe, having previously assembled some of his adherents on the Venezuelan frontier and on neighboring islands. The French government placed him on a steamer returning to Europe.

WELCOME TO DULUTH.

Every citizen of Duluth, every man, woman and child in Duluth, joins in the hearty welcome to the members of the Northern Minnesota Development association now gathered in this city in convention. Duluth is highly honored to entertain these sturdy adherents of a young but vigorous organization which everyone of us believes will accomplish a great and lasting benefit not only for the northern part of the state but for the state at large.

The men who are with us on this occasion represent an association of the progressive boosters for a vast area of northland which is now on the eve of important plans for development. It signifies much to the people of Duluth and to the people of Minnesota that the northern counties have such an organization of boosters, banded together to turn their united efforts toward bringing about the accomplishment of those things toward which we are all looking, the development of those vast areas of unoccupied lands, the building up of our towns and cities and a greater general prosperity for every citizen.

Let each one of us show to the delegates the appreciation that we, the people of Duluth, feel for the splendid work that the development association is accomplishing.

MADE NEW MAN OF DRINK VICTIM

"Life to Me Has Taken On New Brightness."

Happy Tribute of Appreciation From One Who Took Neal Treatment.

"You certainly have made a new man of him. I never saw a more wonderful change in an adult. He is no more like the man we brought to you than a pumpkin is like a watermelon. Believe me, I shall take the greatest pleasure in sending to your Institute every derelict I can influence."

It is letters like this which are the sunbeams of appreciation that brighten every mail received at the Neal Institute. The man to whom reference is made in the message cited was a victim of the drink habit who was pretty far gone. He was one of the happy Neal Institute graduates and singularly enough the letter sent by the friend who made it possible for him to be saved from drink was followed by a tribute from the man himself. It was a splendid letter, written in a vein of sincere thankfulness.

"It is now over three months since I have taken a drink," he wrote, "and I can honestly say that I have no more thought or desire for liquor. Life has taken on a newer and brighter aspect for me, and I am doing well in my vocation. Trusting that all can see it as I, and make use of the new lease of life and prosperity that the Neal can and does furnish them, believe me, always greatfully yours."

Although the rule of no publicity is one that marks the conduct of Neal Institutes all over the country, this man redeemed is so happy that he added: "You can use my name any time you please and wherever you please if it will help save some poor fellow who is as firmly in the grip of drink as I was—to take the Neal Treatment and become a master of self instead of a slave of appetite."

This case is not exceptional. There have been scores just like it at the Neal Institute, corner Belknap and West Seventh street, Superior, Wis., where there have been many redemptions quite as wonderful.

The Neal Treatment requires but three days' stay at the Institute and at the end of this brief period one can return to home and office fully restored, with all the old appetite for liquor destroyed, nerves in good trim, appetite excellent, eyes bright and brain active.

The Neal Treatment is ethical — a harmless vegetable remedy taken internally with positively no hypodermic injections. Those who have investigated the results of the Treatment are most enthusiastic in indorsing the work which has restored happiness to so many homes, saved business men from threatened ruin, and enabled excessive drinkers to get back into the confidence of employers who began to look upon them as sure passengers on the Down and Out Special.

Call or write the Neal Institute, corner Belknap and West Seventh street, Superior, Wis., for full information concerning the treatment, their booklet and copy of contract. Both 'phones.

The Minneapolis Institute, corner Fourth avenue south and Seventh street, or the St. Paul, Minn., Institute, 676 Dayton avenue, will serve you if more convenient for you.

The Crux of the Question

That the Duluth-Edison Company is NOT opposed to a full and fair investigation—the MOST THOROUGHGOING INVESTIGATION THAT CAN BE MADE—into the subject of Electric Lighting in Duluth is proved by the publication of these "Lighting Talks" which give you the FACTS about this Company's business. Furthermore, our books and our properties are open to examination by the City's officers or accredited agents at any time.

The question whether Duluth should build a Municipal Electric Lighting System is purely a QUESTION OF BUSINESS, not one of sentiment. Visionaries may dream all sorts of things; but could a Municipal Electric Lighting System give the City and the people of Duluth the always-dependable, excellent and satisfactory Service of the Duluth-Edison Electric Company at lower prices for that Service?

There is the crux of this whole matter. If the City could not provide, AT A LOWER PRICE, just as good Service as this Company provides, then it would be the height of folly to build a Municipal plant and thereby fix on the City a back-breaking incubus of debt that it would have to stagger under for thirty, forty, or fifty years to come.

This Company offers Duluth a better bargain in City Lighting than would be possible with a Municipal plant. As we have shown you, the average of the prices paid today by practically all other leading American cities is $68.41 per arc light per year, and NO free lights. Our offer is to light Duluth for ONLY $45 PER ARC LIGHT PER YEAR and to give the City $1,500 worth of Electric Light every year FREE.

Now, this offer to the City is NOT made at the expense of the customers of this Company, but includes a material reduction to all lighting customers in the shape of FREE renewals of all carbon and gem filament lamps up to 32-c. p. Our present prices for Electric Service to the homes of Duluth are extremely low—are much lower than the aevrage of the prices paid in all other American cities. We shall prove this by showing you the figures from the other cities.

A MUNICIPAL PLANT COULD NOT PROVIDE THIS SERVICE AT ANY LOWER PRICES WITHOUT MULCTING THE TAXPAYERS TO MAKE UP THE LOSSES.

We shall have more to tell you about this in the next "Lighting Talk," in next Saturday's Herald.

TO CHOOSE LAST MEXICAN GOVERNOR

Chihuahua's Action Is Forecasted—Diaz Sails for New Home in Spain.

Juarez, June 1.—Word was received here today that the legislature of the state of Chihuahua would probably convene tomorrow and elect Abraham Gonzales as provisional governor. Gonzales has been one of the most active of the Madero chiefs and his election will complete the installation of provisional governors in Northern Mexico.

Diaz Has Sailed.

Vera Cruz, June 1.—Gen. Porfiro Diaz sailed from this port last night on the steamer Ypiranga for Havre, France. Gen. Diaz's ultimate destination is Spain. His ship was only a little way out, when the searchlight of the fortress guarding the port was turned on it. With glasses in hand, among a small party in the stern of the vessel, Diaz was standing somewhat apart, close to the rail. He was plainly discernable, taking his farewell look at his native land.

The last words of the former president, spoken to those he had left on shore, were:

"I shall die in Mexico."

This was uttered in a tone of prophesy with a look of inspired conviction.

Throughout his administration, Vera Cruz had nothing but hisses at the mention of Diaz's name. Yesterday Vera Cruz gave only cheers.

Gives Word of Warning.

To his country, Gen. Diaz delivered a warning. Speaking to the little group of soldiers who had served as a guard on his trip from the capital, the old man who governed Mexico for more than thirty years by military strength, declared that the present government must yet resort to his methods if peace is to be re-established.

In the name of the army, Gen. Huerta addressed him, telling his old chief that he could always count on these men, "notwithstanding what everyone said." Gen. Huerta's voice broke as he added, with perhaps more frankness than tact:

"It is the only portion of the country that did not go against you."

Tears slowly rolled down the ex-president's face and his voice was broken, but he assured his hearers that should his country at any time become involved in trouble he would be willing to return.

Pointing to the colors of Mexico, the general added:

"I would then place myself at the head of the country's loyal forces, and under the shadow of that flag I would know how to conquer as in times past."

GARROS TRYING TO OVERTAKE BEAUMONT.

Rome June 1.—In an effort to overtake his keenest rival, Andre Beaumont, who was the first aviator to complete the second stage of the Paris-Rome-Turin flight, Roland Garros started from Pisa at 10:30 o'clock this morning, bound for Rome.

Garros, who was delayed at Pisa yesterday by an accident which badly damaged his machine, received a new aeroplane this morning.

Vidart resumed his flight from Nice today at 4:51 o'clock a. m. and reached Genoa three hours and five minutes later. After taking on a supply of fuel he again ascended and headed for Pisa.

Frey, the German aviator whose machine was smashed at Pisa yesterday when he mistook the race course for the aerodome, is still stalled at that city.

NO WORLD STEEL TRUST

Testifies to Relations of Steel Corporation and Subsidiaries.

Washington, June 1.—Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation, today flatly denied any knowledge of the proposed formation of a combination to control the steel trade of the world, when he appeared before the house committee investigating the "Steel trust," and declared that he had come to Washington to tell frankly all that he knew of the big corporation.

The disclaimer of the world-wide combination was called out by a statement by Chairman Stanley that Mr. Gary was accredited with being the directing genius of such a "trust." Mr. Stanley intimated that these reports had had much to do with the inquiry started by the house of representatives.

Administration Not Involved.

The examination of Mr. Gary brought out that the department of commerce and labor and its bureau of corporations are not co-operating with the Stanley committee. Mr. Stanley asked the witness if he knew whether a report of the bureau of corporations on its investigation of the steel corporation had ever been submitted to President Taft or Former President Roosevelt.

Mr. Gary said he did not.

In the course of his examination Mr. Gary was asked:

"Would the parent company control the policies of any subsidiary company?"

"It might not for the moment or the month, but when the time to elect officers arrived it would," he replied.

Would Exercise Recall.

"It would exercise the recall as it were?" asked Representative Brantley of Georgia.

"Yes, you might put it that way," Mr. Gary answered.

"Are the profits of one subsidiary concern measured as the profits of all? Chairman Stanley asked, "that is, does the parent company distribute the dividens of all?"

"The earnings of the subsidiary companies," Mr. Gary answered, "whenever dividends are declared, go into the treasury of the United States Steel corporation. That corporation, being the owner of the dividends, of course, distributes them as it sees fit. The subsidiary companies have no interest in the dividends after they are declared."

"Who chooses the officers of the subsidiary companies?"

Would Heed Suggestion.

"Of course, their boards of directors choose them, but nevertheless, a suggestion from the parent company, as you call it, would be recognized."

Mr. Gary said he was chairman of the board of directors, chairman of the finance committee and chief executive officer of the Steel corporation and a member of the board of directors in the subsidiary companies, such as the American Bridge company, American Steel & Wire company, Carnegie Steel company, American Sheet & Tin Plate company.

HANNAFORD IS A BOOSTER

Vice President of Northern Pacific Attends Development Congress.

J. M. Hannaford, first vice president of the Northern Pacific, is an interested observer of the development conference. Mr. Hannaford came up last night on his special car, which was attached to the Northern Pacific regular. With him were Governor Eberhart, D. E. Willard, development agent for the Northern Pacific, and George Welsh, state immigration commissioner.

Mr. Hannaford stated today that railway men were watching with a great deal of satisfaction the development of the crops, and adding that at the present time the crop situation was all that could be possibly expected, and added that a realization of some of the present expectations would mean a large business for the railroads of the Northwest.

Mr. Hannaford went to lunch with President W. A. McGonagle at the Commercial club. He will leave this evening for St. Paul.

COPPERS ADVANCE; SHORTS COVERING

Values Appreciate and Hold Firm—Metal Market Shows Strength.

The copper market today was strong and buoyant. Shorts covered freely after the sharp slump of yesterday. The general market was favorably influenced by reports of the proposed copper merger and a rumor that the Great Northern and the Burlington railroads will be united in a "reasonable" combination. Poor crop reports from the Southwest were without effect.

Keating sold at $3.37½, Calumet & Corbin at 20c, Shattuck at $19.12½, Carman at 87c, 89c, 90c and 91c, Calumet & Montana at 41c and 42c. Strength in Carman was due to a message from the property which said that assays from the Chispas vein average more than $100 a ton in gold alone, aside from the heavy silver values.

In the East Amalgamated sold at $65.62½ to $66.62½ to $66.50, Superior & Pittsburg at $16.50, $16.25 and $16.50, Butte Coalition at $19.50 to $20 to $19.50, Shattuck at $19.25, Calumet & Arizona at $58, $58.87½ and $58.50, Giroux at $6.75 to $6.83¾, Greene at $7, $7.06¼ and $7. Ohlbway at $7.75 to $8.12½, North Butte at $35, $34.25 and $35.50.

D. H. Childs, auditor for Paine, Webber & Co., has come here from Boston to take charge of the local office of that company temporarily. Will Brown, recently manager, resigned to take charge of Panton & White's department store. A manager, said Mr. Childs, will be selected upon the return of W. A. Paine to Boston. He has been visiting some of the mining properties in which he is interested.

Paine, Webber & Co., wired from Boston: "There was a difference of only 500,000 lb between the output of the Butte mines for months of April and May, the latter being the heavier because of slightly increased operations at the Tuolumne mine and at the Butte and Boston. It is rumored that as soon as the curtailment agreement expired on July 1 a much larger force of miners will be employed in the Butte mines by the Anaconda and subsidiary companies, but in view of the fact that in nearly all of the mines a much higher grade of ore has been worked during the last six or eight months than ever before, not much confidence is placed in the report. In fact, it has been stated by men close to authority that productions will be held down to the minimum until there is a marked improvement in the metal situation.

W. T. Smith, president of the Amazon-Montana, is home from a trip to the mine which is in Montana. Smelter returns from the first shipment of ore, he said, amounted to $10.46 a ton, net. Development work, he said, is proceeding satisfactorily.

The copper production of the Butte district last month was as follows: Boston & Montana, 6,150,400 pounds; Anaconda, 6,656,000; Butte & Boston, 775,210; Washoe, 680,760; Trenton, 737,180; North Butte, 1,652,920; Butte-Coalition, 1,732,900; Tuolumne, 279,000; East Butte, 942,400; Original, 1,825,900; Mass, 248,000; total of Butte mines, 21,720,770.

COPPER MERGER HEARING IS ON

Calumet, Mich., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The hearing in the temporary injunction proceedings asked by F. W. Denton and the Chadbourne interests against the consolidation of the Calumet & Hecla Mining company and nine subsidiaries, is being hurried in the Houghton county circuit court before Judge Streeter who realizes the importance of the case and gives it precedence.

Morning was spent in the presentation of affidavits by the plaintiffs, whose cases have been combined in which they allege the unfairness of the consolidation plans and that the Calumet & Hecla company refused their experts permission to go underground in the Calumet & Hecla mines. This afternoon affidavits were presented by Calumet & Hecla attorneys in an attempt to justify the merger plans. More affidavits by both sides will be presented tomorrow after which argument will be taken up. The hearing probably will not finish before Saturday afternoon.

CONVENTION OF TEMPLARS

State Meeting of Swedish Society Will Be Held in Duluth.

Expected That 1,000 Visitors Will Be Attracted to City.

Arrangements for the annual state convention of the Swedish Independent Order of Good Templars, which will be held in Duluth June 22, 23 and 24, will be practically completed at a meeting of the general committee tomorrow evening. Already most of the plans for the affair have been laid.

One of the features of the convention will be the holding of two large public meetings on Thursday, June 22, and Friday, June 23. On Thursday night, the affair will be held under the auspices of North Star lodge, No. 11 of the West end at Columbia hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. Mayor M. B. Cullum will make an address, in which he will welcome the visitors to the city and a response will be made by William P. Carlson of Minneapolis, grand chief templar of Minnesota. Andrew Nelson, a local attorney, will deliver the principal address of the evening. There will also be other speakers.

On Friday evening, the scene will shift to West Duluth, where the Morning Star lodge will have charge. The meeting will be held in Wade's hall. The program for this meeting has as yet not been announced. On Saturday evening, the last night of the convention, there will be a banquet at the Maccabee hall on Lake avenue. The dinner will be served by the women of Merritt Memorial M. E. church of West Duluth and the affair will be under the auspices of the up-town lodge, Lysglimt No. 7. P. J. Borgstrom will be toastmaster and several speeches will be called for. There will also be a good musical program. It is expected that the attendance at the banquet will be about 300.

On Friday morning the delegates will be taken on a steamboat excursion for a trip around the harbor. Saturday morning will also be spent in sightseeing and the committee is now arranging for an automobile trip around the boulevard for the visitors. An Old Soldier's Tonic

Every old soldier needs a tonic. For that matter there are few, if any, men, women or children, of any age, who do not need a nerve building and blood purifying tonic every once in a while.

To those who are run down, nervous, tired all the time, can't sleep, can't eat, can't work, have kidney, liver or stomach trouble, constant headaches, rheumatism, or any nervous or blood disorder, Make-Man Tablets should prove a ready relief. A free trial is sent on request by the Make-Man Tablet company, Dept. 16, Chicago. They are sold at 50 cents per box, and recommended by all druggists.

Here is a letter from an old soldier who has used Make-Man Tablets and gladly recommends them to his comrades:

"I have given Make-Man Tablets a thorough trial and am convinced it is a wonderful medicine and does what it is recommended to do. I feel like a new person and would recommend it to any one, especially whose system is run down. It helped my catarrh and rheumatism very much."

Go to your nearest druggist today and get a box of Make-Man Tablets. If he hasn't them on hand he will get them for you. C. E. Swedberg White Swan Drug company, 3 East Superior street, also 2015 West Superior street.

Claims That Bake Oven Is Boon to Suffering Mankind.

R. T. ROWE.

The latest man who is sounding the praise of the Bake Oven treatment is R. T. Rowe, who lives at 39 Mine street, Centennial, Calumet, Mich. Mr. Rowe is 56 years old and has worked underground for years, contracting a severe case of sciatic rheumatism some months ago and was unable to do his work until he underwent a course of treatments in the famous Bake Oven. He found great relief after the first treatment and now he is feeling fine. The old as well as the young are finding long sought relief and are very much surprised and pleased as the majority, after trying so many treatments with no avail, had come to the conclusion that they would never be rid of either the ailment or crutches. Chronic cases of all disorders yield readily to the Bake Oven treatment. The sole reason is that it produces a perfect hyperemia effect of the blood stream and cleanses it of all poisonous secretions and impurities, thereby leaving it in a healthy condition.

Read Mr. Rowe's statement:

"I was suffering the most severe pain and could do no work; after trying a few remedies with no results, was advised to take the Bake Oven treatment. I did and was a tickled man to find that I got instant relief and I am sure of a permanent cure. Every one you come in contact with at the office is enjoying a speedy cure. I give testimonial so other sufferers will take advantage of the treatment and profit thereby. Yours truly, R. T. ROWE."

This is the case of a great many that have taken treatments in the Loughney Bake Oven and a great many testimonials from grateful patients are given them to let sufferers know what a great treatment is at their home. The Loughney institute is located in the Christie building, Duluth, Minn. They have lady nurses to care for lady patients. Their hours are from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. Sundays, from 9 to 12 only.

The name of his brother, H. O. Blogstad, was in the coat which was found on the body. He had secured the coat from him. The dead man had tied a necktie around his neck after fastening it to the limb of a tree, and then kicked away a pile of blocks which he had placed under the tree upon which to stand while he was preparing himself for death. James V. Allan, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Allan of 1210 East First street, and Charles H. Lee, another Duluth boy, have organized a company which went on the road last week playing "Thelma." Allan was formerly advertising agent for the Lyceum and Lee has been connected with the advertising cars of several big circuses and has been manager of a theater at San Jose, Cal. Their company has been playing to good houses and the show they have been putting on has met with considerable approval. They will be in Duluth next Sunday and will play at the Lyceum theater.

No production of Shakespeare in recent years has aroused so much enthusiasm and genuine praise as Frederick Warde's revival of "Julius Caesar," in which he is announced to appear at the Lyceum Monday and Tuesday, June 5 and 6 with special matinee Tuesday at 3 p. m. for the benefit of students and teachers. Mr. Warde is probably the most eminent exponent of the classic drama on the stage today, and the best informed Shakespearian scholar. The beauty of his performance lies in the fact that he is absolutely original in everything he does. His appearance in this city is a dramatic event of real importance. The sale of seats now on.

Making his debut years ago at the age of 16 with Sarah Bernhardt, Edouard Jose, the French character actor, who comes to America under the sole direction of Sullivan & Considine, and is appearing at the Empress theater has had a remarkable and varied career.

"I made my first appearance with Mme. Sarah Bernhardt when I was 16 years old," said M. Jose yesterday afternoon as he was removing his facial make-up which adds so vividly to his realistic portrayal of the broken-hearted Le Bon in 'Father.'

"I ran away from home to go upon the stage, for my father was determined that I should become a pianist. for two years I was supernumerary in Mme. Bernhardt's company but finally I was rewarded with a small part in 'Medea.'

"The role allotted to me had but thirty words but it raised my hopes to the highest pitch. But when I made my entrance, the unforseen occurred and with it my hopes were crushed.

"As I entered, down a flight of stairs, the sword I was wearing caught between my legs and I fell with a crash on the steps. The house burst into laughter and it was necessary to lower the curtain. That ended my engagement in Mme. Bernhardt's company.

"For a number of years I appeared in traveling companies through France and then I determined to master the other languages and appear in the theaters of other lands.

"I played in England and fourteen years ago I came to America as leading man in Klaw & Erlanger's production of the 'Wandering Minstrel.' Later I toured about the world, including South Africa and South America. I have enacted my other playlet, 'The Strike,' for three years in England. As a result I was engaged by the European representative of the Sullivan & Considine circuit to appear in vaudeville in this country.

"Nowhere in all my travels have I found more attentive or more quiet audiences than in this city. The theater-goers in other places are often more noisily enthusiastic but it is quiet attention that we appreciate."

Dairyman's Attempt to Kill Himself Will Not Be Successful.

Sam Brown, the dairyman who tried to kill himself by cutting his throat at his home on the Hermantown road yesterday afternoon, was removed to St. Luke's hospital. Despondency due to family trouble is said to be the cause of his rash act.

At the hospital it was found that the gash had not been deep enough to be fatal, and it is stated that he will recover in a short time. It was feared that because of the long distance a doctor had to travel to reach him that he would die of loss of blood. He is the father of nine children.

There can be no just reason why any reader of this will continue to suffer the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the dangers of any kidney ills when relief is so near at hand and the most positive proof given that they can be cured. Read what a Duluth citizen says:

Mrs. J. E. Kennell, 324 N. Twentieth Ave. W., Duluth, Minn., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have given entire satisfaction in our home. About a year ago a member of our family was so crippled with his back that he could hardly straighten. This person had much pain and lameness in the kidneys and there were other troubles in evidence which plainly showed what was wrong. Doan's Kidney Pills were publicly recommended and a supply was procured. This remedy brought relief and thus proved its merits."

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

RAIN

The weather man attended strictly to business for the Northern Minnesota Development association convention, and handed out some real Duluth weather. It is much easier to boost under smiling skies and gentle western breezes, than when old Lake Superior is "acting up." Duluthians get used to the northeasters and miss them when they don't appear about once a month, but visitors don't appreciate them, and Duluth prefers to present weather like today's when receiving guests. Therefore, hats off to the weather man.

A year ago today the weather was equally fine.

The sun rose this morning at 4:16 and will set at 7:55, making fifteen hours and thirty-nine minutes of sunlight. Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Barometric depressions central over Wyoming and Quebec have caused showers or thunder storms over the Rocky mountains and Eastern slopes, and in most districts to the eastward of the Mississippi valley during the last twenty-four hours. Warmer weather prevails throughout the entire Northwest, but over the eastern lake region and Ohio valley temperatures are somewhat cooler. The easterly movement of the Wyoming disturbance will cause showers or thunder storms at the Head of the Lakes during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, June 1.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Friday:

Upper Michigan—Generally fair tonight and Friday; slightly cooler in northwest portion; warmer tonight in east portion.

Wisconsin — Increasing cloudiness, with probably showers tonight or Friday; warmer in south portion tonight.

Minnesota—Unsettled, with showers tonight or Friday; cooler in north portion.

South Dakota and Iowa—Unsettled weather, with showers tonight or Friday.

SAMARITANS WILL MEET

Annual Session of Imperial Council Will Be Held Here.

Important Changes in the Insurance Rates Will Be Considered.

The fourteenth annual session of the Imperial Council of the Modern Samaritans will be held next week, commencing Tuesday, at the council's hall in the Christie building. About 100 delegates from all the councils in Minnesota, North Dakota, Wisconsin and Michigan will attend.

A resolution will be adopted to raise the assessment on all members of the order who joined before 1905, when a new scale of rates was put into vogue. Plans for such a measure were taken at the meeting last year, and the committee having charge of this matter will report in full next week.

The reason assigned for the change of rates upon old members is that the assessments they now pay are inadequate to pay the death losses now occurring in the ranks of the members joining before the new schedule was adopted.

However, every consideration will be shown the people who assisted in building up the order, and a provision will likely be included in the resolution providing that the old members will be placed upon the rate of the present schedule at the age at which they joined the order. The raise in this instance will not be great, but it will be just sufficient to warrant the payment of all claims against the Modern Samaritans coming from the older members.

The schedule adopted in 1905, it is claimed by officers of the Imperial council, is large enough, with its accrued interest, to pay off all death losses occurring in the future among those coming in since 1905.

Several matters of less importance will be brought up.

The reports which are now being completed show that the Modern Samaritans are in a flourishing condition, both financially and socially. The officers of the council feel pleased with the results, and report that the order is rapidly increasing. During the past five months nearly as much business has been written as was done during the entire year of 1910, which in itself was a big record breaker.

The delegates, who will gather in the city Monday to attend committee meetings before the council sessions, will be well taken care of during their stay in the Zenith City, and a program for their entertainment has been arranged.

This is the last annual session of the Imperial council, the next one being held two years from now, and thereafter the meetings will be biennial. This measure was adopted at the session last year, to take effect this year.

GOVERNOR JOHNSON'S GRAVE NOT FORGOTTEN.

St. Peter, Minn., June 1.—Green Hill cemetery, the last resting place of John A. Johnson, former governor of Minnesota, was visited by throngs of St. Peter people Tuesday. His grave was covered with flowers, conspicuous among the floral tributes being a laurel wreath from the former members of his staff. Mrs. Eleanora Johnson, widow of the governor, spent the day in the city.

TORNADO SWEEPS NEAR PINE CITY

Two People Killed in Pokegama Township and One Fatally Injured.

Pine City, Minn., June 1.—Two lives were snuffed out and a third person fatally injured by a tornado that swept over Pokegama township, seven and a half miles northwest of here Tuesday afternoon.

Two farm homes were wrecked and scattered over the ground a distance of forty rods. Two persons were killed and a third fatally injured.

The Dead: Mrs. Ole Bergrich, Charles Cottrell.

Mr. Cottrell's wife is not expected to survive. Four of their children were more or less injured, but all will recover.

Mrs. Bergrich was visiting over the holiday at the home of Charles Holmstrom. When the storm struck she clasped her two babies, one 14 months old and the other 3 months, in her arms. Neither of the babies was hurt.

Dies Shielding Her Babies.

The mother, when the storm struck the Holmstrom house and tore it to pieces, had shielded the babies with her body and even in her dying agony did not forget the precious charges in her care. That they escaped even then is regarded as miraculous.

Charles Cottrell died three hours later. His skull was crushed and his body terribly cut and bruised. His remains, as well as those of Mrs. Bergrich, were buried yesterday afternoon in the little cemetery of Brook Park.

The tornado only swept a course about four rods wide and soon disappeared in higher altitudes. The only other damage reported was on the farm of Peter Hagen, whose house was moved from its foundations.

All the buildings on the Holstrom and the Cottrell places were reduced to kindling wood and scattered for rods.

The funnel-shaped cloud was plainly visible from Pine City and help was sent from this place at once.

China Worries Russians.

St. Petersburg, June 1.—In a leading article, the Novoe Vremya points warningly to the Chinese armament in Manchuria, which, it says, calls for the greatest vigilance on the part of Russia.

The newspaper ironically speaks of "beginners in diplomacy" referring to Premier Stolypin, who since Foreign Minister Sazonoff's illness has taken charge of the foreign ministry. Russia for decades, the paper says, has not faced a foreign event in full armor, and as a consequence her unpreparedness and irresolution are exemplified by the recent episode with Turkey.

Northome Ball Game.

Northome, Minn., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Northome is to have a crack baseball team again this summer. G. A. Engelking was elected manager, and P. R. Scribner, secretary-treasurer. During the past four years Northome never took the back seat for any town along this line when it came to baseball and as there are a number of the old players still here and with the help of several new ones who have located here since last summer there is no reason why Northome can't have just as good a team as in previous years.

Great Peace Monument.

A wild scheme is on foot in the event of universal peace to cast all the cannons into one, and all projectiles into one ball, the latter to be shot a la Jiles Verne, into space so that it shall form a new satallite to travel around the earth a continuous monument to peace. If the excellencies of all the malt beverages were combined into one, they could not eclipse golden grain belt beers for flavor, creamy body or digestive tonic effect. Try a case now. Your dealer or duluth branch minneapolis brewing company will supply you.

TAFT REJECTS APPEAL OF NEGROES' SOCIETY.

Washington, June 1.—President Taft told a delegation of negroes presented to him at the White House by Senator Curtis of Kansas, that he would not recommend that congress make lynching cases tryable in federal instead of state courts.

The delegation, representing the National Advancement Association of Colored People, submitted a memorial asserting that a negro is lynched every day and that the "spirit of murder and lawlessness has spread to such an alarming extent in this country that human life—if it be that of a black person—is not safe anywhere in America."

They wanted the president to send a special message to congress with a view of affording negroes protection which they said they were not given by state governments.

Washington, June 1.—Postmaster General Hitchcock has announced the designation of seventy-four more second class postoffices, scattered in forty-one states, as postal savings banks depositaries effective June 27. Among the number are:

Oelwein, Oskaloosa and Spencer, Iowa; Gladstone and Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.; Montevideo and New Ulm, Minn.; Mandan and Valley City, N. D.; Canton and Dallas, S. D.; and Hartford and Tomahawk, Wis.

BEMIDJI FIREMEN ARE GOING TO TOURNAMENT.

Bemidji, Minn., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Bemidji fire department will participate in the annual tournament of the western division of the Northern Minnesota Firemen's Tournament association, at Ada, July 4 to 5.

The firemen organized a running team and elected John Hillaby captain and Scott Steward assistant captain.

Sam F. Fullerton of St. Paul, deputy state fire marshal, was a guest at the meeting and made a few remarks.

Scott Stewart and C. E. Dailey were chosen as delegates to the annual meeting of the State Firemen's association, at Owatonna, June 21-22. Herb Doran and Del Burgess were chosen to represent the relief association, and Arthur Gould and C. H. Williams were named as alternates for both sets of delegates.

The department appropriated a sum of money with which to purchase suitable presents for members of the department who have recently been married.

TEDDY CANNOT ATTEND.

Unable to Accept Invitation to the Hancock Homecoming.

Hancock, Mich., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ex-President Roosevelt cannot accept the invitation to attend the Hancock homecoming celebration and indicated his inability to come in the following letter to C. A. Wright, Jr.:

"My dear Mr. Wright—I wish I could accept, but it is a simple impossibility. I have received literally thousands of similar requests and with the best wishes in the world it has proved impossible for me to accept one in a hundred of these invitations. I deeply appreciate the courtesy and kindness of those who ask me to speak, but you have no conception of the drain it is upon me even to accept the very limited proportion that I am physically able to accept, and I could not greatly increase this proportion or accept more of the invitations that come to me without absolutely abandoning all thoughts of any other work. Faithfully yours,

"T. ROOSEVELT."

GREAT NORTHERN MAIL TRAIN EATS UP SPACE.

Conductor Taubee was in charge of the train and Engineers Neigh and Hill were in the engine cab.

Tried Many Physicians Without Relief. Now Well, Thanks to Peruna.

Mr. L. F. Verdery.

Mr. Leonard F. Verdery, Real Estate and Renting Agent, 419 Walker St., Augusta, Georgia, writes:

"With many others I want to add my testimonial to the wonderful good Peruna has done me. I have been a great sufferer from catarrhal dyspepsia. I tried many physicians, visited a good many springs, but I believe Peruna has done more for me than all of the above put together. I feel like a new person. I have taken the Peruna and Manalin together, and always expect to have a bottle in my home."

Catarrh Caused Deafness.

Mr. William Bauer, Burton, Texas, writes:

"Now, I am happy to say, after following your instructions, taking Peruna (eight bottles in all), and using the salt water gargles in connection with it, I have recovered my hearing completely. Accept my thanks for your advice. I shall sing the praises of Peruna whenever an opportunity is offered."

HARBOR WILL BE DREDGED

$80,000 to Be Spent on Local Improvements This Year.

Work of Widening and Deepening Superior Entry Begun.

Bids will be called for in fifteen or twenty days by the United States corps of engineers for shoal dredging in St. Louis and Superior harbors. The specifications are now being printed, and the engineers expect them finished in the course of a few days.

The work, while not of a very extensive nature, will require an expenditure of from $15,000 to $20,000.

The Great Lakes Dredge & Dock company started work yesterday afternoon at the Superior entry, where the inner basin is to be enlarged and the entrance widened. The work is an extensive one, calling for an expenditure of from $55,000 to $60,000, and it will require two summers to finish it. The government wishes to caution boats coming into that entry to slow down, and a warning sign will be posted instructing them not to travel more than four or six miles an hour.

The dredging at Marquette, which was started last fall by the Northern Dredging company, was finished yesterday at noon. The basin at the north end was enlarged considerably, the cost being $25,000.

In a week or ten days the Zenith Dredging company will start work at the harbor of Ashland, where the channel will be widened and deepened. The cost will be about $16,000. About the same time this company will start dredging at Ontonagon, Mich., where an improvement to the harbor, costing about $7,500, will be made.

The Northern Dredge company has a month's job for the United States at Port Wing, Wis., where dredging involving about $3,500, will be done. The company also has several contracts for dredging there for private concerns.

CHANGE IN LIGHTS AT PORTAGE LAKE.

A change in the signal light at Cole's creek, Portage Lake will probably be made in the near future, the fixed white light which has been there for years, being replaced by a red light of a far greater power. The change was recommended some time ago by Capt. A. Swanson of the Duluth hydrographic office, following a complaint made by Lieut. C. W. MacDougall, of the Michigan naval brigade. The hydrographic department at Washington has placed the matter in the hands of the lighthouse board, and it is believed the board will act favorably. It is claimed that the lights from the smelting works of the Michigan Copper company make the signal light indistinct.

TUG WILL BE SENT TO BASSWOOD.

The tug Portia, which the Hines Lumber company purchased recently at Muskegon, is in the local harbor and will be placed on a car for shipment to Basswood, where it will be used by the company for towing purposes.

WILL BUILD OCEAN BOATS

Two Package Freighters Ordered From Ecorse Plant.

Vessels to Be Completed in 1912 Will Trade to South America.

Detroit, Mich., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two more steel steamers for the package freight trade on the Atlantic coast probably with South American ports, are to be built at the Ecorse plant of the Great Lakes Engineering works, for delivery next year.. President A. C. Pessano says that for the present the identity of the purchaser cannot be revealed.

Dimensions of the new boats will be: length 261 feet, beam 43 feet 6 inches, molded depth 28 feet 5 inches. A steel bulwark 3 feet 9 inches high will enclose their decks, making their molded depth to the top of the rail 32 feet 2 inches. Their gross tonnage will be about 2,500. Each will be equipped with triple expansion engines and two Scotch boilers 12 feet long, 14 feet 2 inches in diameter, giving them a power equivalent to that of the average lake steamer of 3,500 or 3,000 gross tons.

In construction the new vessels will be designed and rigged to conform to coast practice in the handling of freight and will be equipped with masts, booms and winches, instead of the drums and shafting used on package freighters in the lake trade. Their engines and boilers will be placed amidships.

The order just booked makes fourteen vessels which are being turned out at the Ecorse yard of the Great Lakes plant for use exclusively in Atlantic coast trade. Of these seven are steamers. Four steamers and seven barges were booked in one order earlier in the year. The steamer Portland which is now being equipped for service on the coast, is included in that count.

MORE BOATS WILL GO INTO COMMISSION.

G. A. Tomlinson, of the Tomlinson Steamship company, is awaiting orders from Eastern companies to put into commission several of the company's boats, now lying idle in the local harbor. Just how many will be added to the working force, Mr. Tomlinson was unable to state.

Several of the company's crews have been ordered to report for duty today, and they are in the city ready to take the boats out as soon as the orders come.

The shipment of ore this month will be much heavier than that of May, but those closely connected with the industry claim that it will be far short of what it was last June. The entire season will show a decided falling off.

Iowa U. C. T. Meets.

Clinton, Iowa, June 1.—The annual state convention of the United Commercial Travelers' association opened here today with a reception to delegates and their wives. It is expected that fully 1,500 delegates will be in attendance when the first business session is held tomorrow.

COME NORTH FOR SUMMER

Hot Weather of South Will Bring Many Visitors to Duluth.

First Passenger Boat Is Now Headed for This Port.

If the weather in the South continues to be as hot as it has been in the past few weeks, this season's passenger business to Duluth will be the best in the history of lake navigation, claim the agents of the transportation companies.

On Saturday the Hamonic of the Northern Navigation company will arrive in the city. Reports from Sarnia, which port the boat left yesterday, say that the boat has a large passenger list.

On June 11 the passenger steamer Octorara of the Anchor line will arrive in the city from Buffalo, from where it will leave on June 6. The new steamer Minnesota of the Chicago & Duluth Transportation company will enter Duluth on Tuesday, June 27, from Chicago, and on the same date the North West of the Northern Steamship company will make her first trip.

The freighters Alva and William H. Gratwick No. 1 of the Chicago & Duluth Transportation company have undergone repairs during the winter, and they are now permitted to carry from six to eight passengers. A number of state rooms have been arranged.

VESSELS GROUND AT THE SOO

One Captain Is Fined for Loading Boat Too Deep.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—While trying to force a passage through the old channel a big scow in tow of the tug Beckwith went hard aground early this morning about two miles south of here. After she had been extensively lightered she was released by the tug Sabin.

The steamer Waccamaw also went aground at the division point of the two channels this morning when she ran too close to where dredges were working. At the close of two hours' work the tugs Sabin and Thompson released her.

When the steamer W. D. Rees passed up through the Canadian lock yesterday Capt. John Milne was notified that he had been fined $25 by Supt. Ross of the canal for loading too deep.

The message proved a surprise. Capt. Milne declared that his cargo must have shifted.

MAY LEAD IN ORE SHIPPING

Great Northern Expected to Haul 10,000,000 Tons This Year.

Ore shipments over the Great Northern are greater this year than last, according to statements by officials at Superior, who claim that the season's haul will exceed 10,000,000 tons. The reason given for this increase is the contract which the railroad has with the Steel corporation under the lease of the Hill lands to handle 4,000,000 tons, while 6,000,000 tons are to be carried down from the range for independent companies.

The new dock has been a scene of activity all season, while the three old docks are taxed to their capacity. The company is handling from 1,200 to 1,500 cars daily, and more are needed, it is claimed, which have already been ordered.

The Great Northern is handling more ore this year than the Missabe or the Iron Range roads, the Missabe having shipped less than one-half the amount of ore that it did in the corresponding period last year.

The Shriners' Minstrel show will be held this evening at the Lyceum, and from the interest which is being manifested in it a large audience is expected. The entertainment will be one of the best ever produced by local talent, of which there is an abundance.

Preparations for this event have been extensive, and every effort has been made to produce an excellent program. A. F. M. Custance has the supervision of the show.

Governor Eberhart will attend, and during the program will deliver a speech from one of the boxes.

The proceeds from this entertainment will be used to send the patrol from the Aad temple of the local Shriners to the annual conclave, which will be held this summer at Rochester, N. Y.

BLIND-PIGGERS ENRICH TREASURY

The illegal salo of liquor enriched the city treasury to the extent of $600 this morning and yesterday afternoon. Sievert Hanson, bartender at the U & I saloon on the bowery; Morris Boden, upstairs at 1625 West Superior street; Mike Cudahy of the West end, Leona Tailor at 244 St. Croix avenue, Emma West at 217 St. Croix avenue, and Sophie Miller at 210 St. Croix avenue, each donated $100. Hanson and Boden were arrested Monday, Cudahy this morning, and the women yesterday afternoon.

The police made a round up of saloons and blind pigs the last week and the arrests were made on warrants sworn out by men who secured the evidence. Information has been secured against three men who have been operating blind pigs near the steel plant location and it is expected that they will be arraigned in police court this afternoon.

Negaunee Smallpox Case.

Negaunee, Mich., June 1.—A case of smallpox was discovered here yesterday. The patient is a Lower Michigan man who came here about a week ago to work on a South Shore railroad construction job. The man had been ailing for a few days and yesterday he consulted Dr. Bergeron. The physician at once pronounced the disease as smallpox and declared it a well-developed case. The health authorities were notified and the patient was taken to Sandy Johnson's farm near the city. Louis Boulier was installed as nurse and John Gaffeny as watchman.

FARMERS FOOTED ALL THE BILLS

Judge Wilkinson Says He Rode in Pullman and Had the Best.

St. Paul, Minn., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—That he rode in a Pullman car, stopped at a good hotel, and that all his expenses were paid, is the admission of Judge R. A. Wilkinson, former attorney for the Great Northern railway, when asked about his trip to Washington as a "farmer" to protest to the senate committee against the passage of the reciprocity agreement.

"Farmers of Washington county, Minn., paid the bill," Judge Wilkinson says. "I did not call on the president, however, and Senator Clapp and Representative Anderson did not 'show us around,' as has been stated."

Judge Wilkinson retired from practice a few years ago and says he is now a farmer.

IRONWOOD MAN HURT.

Struck By Runaway Horse That Automobile Scared.

Ironwood, Mich., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Shuman, employed by the city as a street cleaner, was seriously injured late yesterday afternoon by a horse owner by Sam Reid, which became frightened by an automobile that was passing. The accident occurred outside the city hall. The horse was drinking from the fountain, when an automobile owned by Mr. Thalner passed. The horse became frightened and plunged and started on a gallop. Mr. Shuman was working near by, and before he could get out of the way the frightened animal had knocked him down and made a large cut in his head. He fell unconscious and was immediately removed to the city hospital on Marquette street. He is in a critical condition. He is of Polish nationality and well known here, being a resident of Ironwood for many years.

SUPERIOR MAN WEDS CLOQUET YOUNG WOMAN.

Cloquet, Minn., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Virginia Derosier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Derosier of this city, was married to Hugh Drum of Superior yesterday morning at 8:30 at the parochial residence of Father Crozier. Ernest Bengtson and Miss Eva Desiletts attended the couple. A wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony, and they left on the 11 o'clock train for Superior, where they will reside. Miss Derosier is well known and popular in Cloquet, and the groom is an employe of the Great Northern road.

GETS $4,000 FOR DEATH OF BROTHER.

A jury in district court has allowed John Bodin $4,000 for the death of Carl Upstrom, a half brother, who was killed about a year ago on Garfield avenue when hit by an interstate street car. Bodin sued for $5,000 and the case which was heard by a jury in Judge Hughes' courtroom, has been on trial for several days.

It was claimed that the car was being operated at a high rate of speed and that there was no warning sounded.

IS PRESENTED WITH A LOVING CUP.

John Panton, who recently resigned as president of the Panton & White company, was honored by a banquet at the Spalding last night given by the department managers of the store. A solid silver loving cup was presented to him. P. G. Brown was toastmaster and H. R. Mannell presented the cup to Mr. Panton.

Mr. Panton told of his association with the Glass Block store for the last twenty years.

ACCUSE COAL COMPANIES.

Miners Lay Charges Before Congressional Committee.

Washington, June 1.—As a result of charges laid before the house committee on rules by miners and labor representatives against the coal mine companies and their representatives in the Westmoreland coal fields in Pennsylvania, the committee will permit representatives of the coal mining companies to appear, and will attempt to sift out some of the facts connected with the pending strike in the coal district.

No investigation will be made by the committee. Whether an investigation will be demanded will depend largely upon further facts brought out in subsequent hearings.

The delegation of coal miners, led by Representative Wilson and Gregg of Pennsylvania, presented testimony to show that indiscriminate killing, violence, conditions of peonage, interference with the United States mails and the widespread abuse of the law marked the progress of the strike in the Pennsylvania coal district.

Witnesses declared that the postoffice was located on mining property, or that the roads leading to these offices were policed by the deputies of the mining company. Strikers, it was asserted, were often arrested when they tried to approach the postoffices. Representative McCreary of Pennsylvania was assured that representatives of the mining companies will be given a chance to explain their charges.

RUSSIANS DENY JEWS ARE GIVEN MORE RIGHTS.

St. Petersburg, June 1.—A correspondent of the Associated Press has made a careful inquiry respecting the report that the Russian government has in contemplation a change in its regulations for the entry of foreigners, including American Jews, to Russia.

Careful inquiry at the American embassy, in Jewish circles, at the department of the foreign office in charge of the status of foreign subjects, as well as at the ministry of the interior, resulted in a disclaimer by every one of any knowledge of a proposed change.

It is claimed that the Russian government has long intended to revise its general regulations, but only in conjunction with the general revision of the laws respecting the status of all Jewish citizens.

GREATEST BOOSTERS' CONGRESS IN DULUTH'S HISTORY OPENS

sociation is represented. Some of the counties have only one or two delegates, while the delegates from other counties number up to twenty-five. Only one or two counties failed to send delegates to the meeting, but even they sent greetings to indicate that they are in the work in spirit and will support any stand the association may take at the Duluth meeting.

The Morning Session.

The meeting this morning was a little late in starting, President H. J. Maxfield calling it to order at 10:10. Mr. Maxfield introduced Mayor Cullum, who welcomed the visitors to Duluth, and he was followed by Chairman W. A. McGonagle of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club, who extended a similar welcome on behalf of the Commercial club. Mr. McGonagle also took the occasion to renew the pledges of the transportation lines of Northern Minnesota to support the Northern Minnesota Development association in its work, while declining to take an active part in the work of the association. Mr. McGonagle said that the transportation lines do not want to assume the work that the good citizens of this section of the state are doing, but they are with the association in its work and are willing to contribute their moral and financial support at any time.

That the time has arrived for constructive work was the key-note of President Maxfield's opening address. He said that he had prepared no formal address for this summer meeting of the association. He said the association has accomplished some things, and some things it set out to accomplish have not been brought to a head. However, the association has done a good work. During the next two years there is no session of the legislature, so that resolutions and determination to call to the attention of the legislature, the needs of Northern Minnesota will do no good. The association must accomplish tangible results as its excuse for being. "We cannot legislate development into Northern Minnesota," said Mr. Maxfield. "We must advertise our resources and get results by the actual attraction of settlers to this district. Resolutions alone will not accomplish that. We must go out and work."

Credentials Committee.

President Maxfield then announced the credentials committee, composed of L. B. Arnold of St. Louis county, D. H. Lawrence of Lake county, Albert Kleven of Beltrami county, C. F. Mahnke of Carlton county and J. W. Wheeler of Polk county. Mr. Maxfield also announced that the resolutions committee would be made up of men selected by caucuses of the county delegations.

Avoids Reapportionment.

Governor Eberhart fought shy of the reapportionment issue. In fact he did not touch upon the subject at all. His subject was "State Development," and his conception of state development, as marked by his address, was the development of the good roads and consolidated schools plans as laid out by the last legislature.

Governor Eberhart paid a tribute to Duluth in opening. He said that he is always glad to get to Duluth, as it feels like home to him. He expressed pleasure over the fact that he was informed that every good citizen of Duluth had a back garden; that he got out with a hoe early every morning to work in the garden, and that if he was not in that class he was not a good citizen. He said the spirit of development of the land has been fostered by the Northern Minnesota Development association and the Commercial clubs of the northern part of the state and they are doing a great work in that respect.

Minnesota is doing much in the development of its resources and in advertising itself in other states, but said governor Eberhart, when he compares the resources we have to develop with the resources of other states, he is convinced that we are not doing enough.

Governor Eberhart said that Minnesota is not doing enough in advertising its resources. The last legislature appropriated $30,000 for advertising the state and the immigration commission is doing good work with that amount, but if a private individual or corporation had as much land and as many resources to exploit as the state has, the sum appropriated by the legislature would be a small part of the amount used in advertising the project, he said.

The Northern Minnesota Development association had a powerful hand in obtaining two of the best pieces of constructive legislation which came out of the last session of the legislature, the bills providing for better highways in the state and for the consolidation of rural schools, said the governor. "I san say that in this respect, no state has received more from one legislature than this state of Minnesota received from the last legislature," said the governor. He also commended the bankers' association for its work on those projects.

Governor Eberhart said there is much work for the state engineers to do in instructing county workmen in the proper construction of roads.

Rural Schools.

Touching on the subject of education, Governor Eberhart said that he believes the day is coming when the one-room district school with its stove in the center and its tin water pail and dipper will be a thing of the past. Not only in educational work, but from the social side the consolidated rural school with its larger building and greater opportunity for social intercourse, is greatly to be desired. It will give the farmer's boy the opportunity for social intercourse that now attracts him to the city and will lessen the movement from the country to the city, the movement that is now a problem to social and economic workers.

"I am a believer in academic education, but at the same time I believe that the education which your boy and my boy receives, that does not fit him to cope with the battles of life and earn a living of his own is not the kind of education that should be given in this day," said the governor. He said that the teaching of agriculture in the common schools of the state and the teaching of mechanical trades in the high schools is the work that the state has to do in educating its children in the present day.

The governor was followed by Rt. Rev. James McGolrick, bishop of Duluth, who spoke on "Settling Minnesota." "The Commission Plan for State Government," was Ferman A. Wilson's subject, and he digressed far enough to urge that a special session of the legislature should be called to consider reapportionment. C. L. Hangen of Thief River Falls discussed "The Duties of Commercial Clubs."

W. H. Mylrea was down for a speech at the morning session, but his address was advanced to the afternoon program. Moving pictures of land clearing were shown at the close of the morning's program of addresses.

The resolutions committee will report tomorrow morning, and a strong censure of the last legislature for its failure to pass reapportionment legislation is expected. President Maxfield did not refer to reapportionment in his opening talk this morning, and showed a disposition to fight shy of the issue by saying that Northern Minnesota cannot legislate development. Governor Eberhart also fought shy of the reapportionment issue, but no such attitude is expected from the members of the resolutions committee. Delegates who expressed themselves this morning spoke strongly on the subject of reapportionment, and if they carry their views to the resolutions committee, the subject which Northern Minnesota faced in despair during the last session of the legislature will not go by without notice on the resolutions.

There is a disposition to wonder what Senator S. D. Works will have to say tomorrow. Senator Works is to speak on "State Development," and it is possible that he will not touch upon reapportionment. He was one of the most bitter opponents of reapportionment at the last session of the legislature. Whether he will come into the enemy's camp and defend his position on that legislation is the subject of considerable comment. It is possible that he will take the same position as the governor and ignore reapportionment entirely.

WELCOMED BY MAYOR

Extends Hearty Hand Clasp in Place of Gilded Key.

Says Partisanship Is at Low Ebb in County's Government.

Mayor Cullum gave the address of welcome before the development convention. The mayor said:

"If I neglect the formal in my endeavor to impress you with the sincerity of our welcome it is because I am trying to express to you the real sentiments of this community.

"Instead of the gilded key, which means nothing, we extend to you the warm hand clasp, and a generous, heart-felt welcome. We want to greet you as friends and neighbors with a common purpose. This splendid gathering is but a demonstration of the "get-together for the general good" idea that is so prevalent today.

"I doubt that if ever in the history of this country partisanship has been at so low an ebb. If this means anything it means that the public conscience is trying to express itself; and when thoroughly aroused this most resistless of all forces will prevail.

"Human, corporate and community hogs must be restrained. Selfish laws must be repealed, juster laws enacted; a more liberal policy of exchange of benefits adopted between urban and interurban communities; a spirit of mutual helpfulness and mutual understanding must exist; a little broader humanity practiced. All of this if we would make any headway in abolishing the crime and the misery and the want that exists, especially in our cities; and if I understand your purpose some at least of these motives are embodied in the program of this organization.

"Of our past accomplishments, our present progress and our hope for future greatness as a city I will not speak at length. You know as well as I. If we do not build here a wonderful city we do not fulfill our destiny. If we do not create here one of the world's great open ports we ignore our natural advantages; if we do not build here a city of moral worth we prove our ingratitude to a Providence that has done so much for us. We hope to build a city courageous and strong, with a civic heart and conscience, where citizenship will be at a premium. To such a city with such ambition I bid you welcome."

"SETTLING MINNESOTA"

Bishop McGolrick Gives His Ideas Before Development Congress.

Tells How Poor Man Can Be Independent in This State.

"Settling Minnesota," was Rt. Rev. James McGolrick's subject before the development congress. He said:

"There is a strong sentiment in the heart of every Minnesotan who loves the great Northwest to see the thousands and thousands of valuable acres now awaiting cultivation settled by a prosperous population.

"Within a comparatively brief period the Northern Minnesota Development association has aroused the attention of people both in and out of the state to the magnificent opportunities afforded to incoming settlers as well as to the whole country.

"'Back to Mother Earth,' the truest source of wealth and prosperity, is the oft repeated cry of many a dweller in town and city. The poor man and his family now understands better than in years past, that it needs not hundreds of acres to make a thriving farmer, but that under our new system of intensive farming, a few acres well cultivated will bring adequate support and comfort.

"Over and over again, our scientific agriculturists from college and university have declared that Minnesota can raise the best vegetables of any state in the Union.

"The soil-areas of the Northwest have been tested and analyzed and these we have produced on the very border of our territory.

"Millions of acres of arable land await the settler, as will be pointed out to you in the various papers of the program; only those who live in Minnesota can tell of our clear, bright, health-giving climate calculated to stir up every energy of soul and body.

"In the course of correspondence in reference to the lands in Mille Lacs, Becker and Hubbard counties, lands owned by the D. S. B. Johnston Land company,—I had a letter from a Southern land owner who imagined that I was engaged in the good work of sending settlers to every part of the country, North and South. The writer, manifestly an enthusiast, broke out, 'Why in the name of God don't you send people to the fair South where they can have four crops a year instead of fixing them in frozen Minnesota?' Of course, I answered my esteemed friend that the balmy breezes of Minnesota were worth more to a man than all the stagnant heat of all the South could produce in a thousand years.

Prospects for Poor Man.

"The best prospect on earth for the poor man is to be found on the farm where he earns an independent living. There our good citizens are formed. We have those who live loosely on the soil, who earn their wages and send their money back to Europe, where they themselves intend to return in due process of time. They are never to be future citizens; they may do effective work for a brief period, but they are not to be enrolled amongst the honest, sober, industrious and patriotic dwellers in our great republic. The children and children's children of those we settle on our lands are to frame our laws and learn to uphold them; therefore this is a work priceless in its value for the well-wishers of our country.

"Resources beyond calculation, lying undeveloped, are all around us—the wealth of our lakes, the waterpower of our rivers, the fertility of our soil, all awaiting the hand of man, the master of nature to supply our needs, even our luxuries.

"Such men as are here assembled can with wise and patient policy do much for the development of our magnificent state, not by mere spasmodic effort, but by wise deliberation and unselfish action.

"In all this work our state university and our agricultural schools are as a tower of strength for Minnesota farmers, if they only know how to make use of them.

"'God give us men! A time like this demands
Strong minds, stout hearts, true faith and ready hands;
Men whom the lust of office does not kill;
Men whom the spoils of office cannot buy;
Men who possess opinion and a will;
Men who have honor; men who will not lie;
Men who can stand before a demagogue
And damn his treacherous flatteries without winking;
Tall men, sun-crowned, who live above the fog
In public deeds as well as private thinking.'"

BISHOP McGOLRICK.

A. J. McGUIRE.

SAYS SURVEY IS NEEDED

A. J. McGuire Tells of Needs of State in Forceful Talk.

Says State of Minnesota Must Have More Actual Farmers.

A. J. McGuire had "Development" for his subject before the development convention. He spoke as follows:

"The reclamation of state land as I understand the term, means the fitting of the state swamp land for agricultural purposes. The land owned by the state in Northern Minnesota, and which comes under this provision of reclamation, is known as the 'state swamp land,' and was acquired by the state from the national government in 1857.

"In ceding this land to the state, the government had a specific purpose in view, and that purpose was that the state should improve the land. The law pertaining to this in the grant reads as follows: 'The proceeds from the sale of said lands shall be applied exclusively as far as necessary to the reclaiming said lands by levees and drains.

"The government withheld this land from the homestead grant for the reason that in its natural condition it was unfit for agriculture. It was such that the individual farmer could not use it profitably and the government wisely said, 'let this land first be reclaimed, and for such reclamation, the receipts from its sale shall be used, and for no other purpose.'

"The state accepted the land under this distinctly specified condition—the condition that the land should be improved, reclaimed.

"In 1881 the state constitution was so amended that this provision of the government was completely reversed. Instead of the proceeds of the sale of swamp land being used for its reclamation, this amendment provided that all proceeds should be forever retained by the state, and the interest accruing from the investment of such funds was to be used for the public schools and the educational institutions of the state.

Evils of System.

"The swamp land grant gave to Minnesota over 5,000,000 acres. The sale of this land, and the sale of the timber and mineral it contained has enriched the treasury of the state and has made the public schools and the educational institutions of Minnesota second to none. There is no question but that the handling of these lands has resulted in great good to the state. No other system perhaps, could have resulted in greater good—but this system while doing so much for the education of the whole state, has entailed certain evils and hardships that now cry out for redress.

"These swamp lands were largely located in the northern part of Minnesota. While held by the state, they contributed no aid to the local tax fund. The burden of roads, schools and other civic affairs had to be borne in many sections by less than one half the land. And again, the land sold by the state gave but little relief, for the reason that it was not purchased by farmers. While adding something to the tax fund, it did not materially add to the building up of the country.

"The land has not been and is not being purchased by farmers for the reason that in its present condition it is unfit for the immediate application of agriculture.

"In a certain county in Northern Minnesota in which a great deal of state land is held, the records show that during the past four years ending Jan. 1, 1911, thirty-nine persons purchased land, and among their number the following occupations were represented: nine timber dealers, two real estate dealers, three merchants, two publishers, two carpenters, one scaler, one sheriff, one contractor, one postmaster, one attorney, two county commissioners, one farmer, and thirteen whose occupations were unknown. Of the entire amount purchased, only three pieces of land show improvement and not one piece of land purchased in this county in four years shows a home. I believe that nearly all the counties in Northern Minnesota containing the great portion of the state swamp land will show similar records.

"This is certainly not reclamation, either by the state, or by any one else.

"While Northern Minnesota was without agriculture, and figured its possibilities chiefly in timber, there was no serious objection to the state selling its land to the highest bidder and looking no farther ahead than the purchasing price, but for the state to continue that policy today while Northern Minnesota goes begging for farmers and agricultural products, is not the part of wisdom. The policy practiced in the past may continue to make the state treasury rich, but it will leave Northern Minnesota poor.

Must Look Ahead.

"The mining and manufacturing and commercial industries of Northern Minnesota call for more farmers and here in the very midst of these industries are over 10,000,000 acres of agricultural land lying idle. Land that is as fertile and productive of human food as land anywhere in the United States. It is untilled for the reason that its natural condition will not permit the immediate application of agriculture. There must first be reclamation—a clearing away of the brush and stumps and the drainage of the surplus moisture. The state should be the leader in this work; the leader in making its own land tillable, and the leader in the promotion of settlement. If the state does not do this, the state swamp lands will be a detriment to Northern Minnesota instead of a benefit—a detriment in withholding land from taxation, in keeping many sections sparsely settled and in rendering the building of roads most difficult.

"This criticism that I am now making is only that that has been voiced by Northern Minnesota for a number of years. I would not say that it is a criticism. It is only a statement of conditions. No one will deny that these conditions exist. The question is, can they be improved by the state, and how?

"The late legislature took some action and passed some laws and repealed some laws regarding state swamp lands. One of the laws passed was for a monthly sale of state swamp land. Formerly land was sold in each county but one day in the year. It should be so that a man wanting state land to farm could buy it any working day in the year. Another law passed by the late legislature was for the creation of a reclamation board. This too, I believe, was a step in the right direction, but this is all I can say, even though I am a member of the reclamation board, and have given serious and conscientious thought to this work. The reclaiming of 400 acres out of 2,000,000 acres cannot be considered more than a step, and a pretty short step at that, when all things are considered. I am not saying this in criticism, or in lack of appreciation, but in order that the public may not expect impossibilities of the reclamation board.

"Results of the work of the reclamation board must show in farms where there are none now, if it accomplishes what Northern Minnesota expects, and yet under the law as it pertains to the contract of sale of swamp land it is only by chance that the work of the reclamation board can result in a single farm.

"All public lands must be sold at auction to the highest bidder, and under this provision of the law reclaimed land must be sold the same as land that is unimproved. If the purchaser happens to be a farmer and settles on the land and farms it, the desired result will be accomplished; but if the purchaser happens to be a speculator, he can hold the land for higher prices until it has produced another crop of trees.

"The legislature of 1905 passed a law aiming to limit the speculator. It provided that all purchasers of state swamp land should be required to make certain improvements within five years' time, either to fence twenty acres, cultivate 5 per cent, or build and live on the land for one year. The late legislature repealed these provisions, leaving the purchaser with no obligation whatever to use the land for agriculture.

"Reclamation must result in farming, if it result in any good to Northern Minnesota, and a reclamation law that does not carry with it a strict provision for the settlement and improvement of the land within a reasonable length of time by those who purchase the land, can result in no satisfactory returns.

"I would not deny any man the right to own land who honestly intends to pursue agriculture at some future time, but the man who wants to farm this year is of more importance to Northern Minnesota than the man who thinks he may want to farm ten years from now.

Need Actual Farmers.

"How the reclamation board can put the land into the hands of an actual farmer, under the present law, is a problem that the board still has to solve and until it is solved it will, in my opinion, prove a serious obstacle to the success of the work. In the reclamation of state land there are the following departments of work:

"First, location of the land, and in this there must be taken into consideration the adaptability of the land to agriculture and its proximity to roads, markets, schools, etc.

"Second, the clearing and drainage of the land, and third, its sale to a farmer. This latter point has already been considered and it has been pointed out that the state law doesn't place any more importance upon a farmer than upon any one else, but the Northern Minnesota Development association does when it comes to farming, and I would ask the association to make note of this for future reference: That we want the state agricultural lands sold to farmers and to no one else.

"The work of locating the land is a department of work in itself, and I am sorry to have to say that after fifty years of ownership the state is not fully acquainted with its land yet. We are having to send men into the field to find out the character of the land. All such information should be on file in the state's land office, where every prospective land buyer could go and select his location. When a man has to go a number of miles into the woods and does not know what he is going to see when he gets there he is not likely to go and this accounts largely for the relatively small sale of state lands, especially to farmers.

Needs a Survey.

"Minnesota needs a survey of its state lands—a survey that will give full and accurate information that every responsible man wants to know before buying and this is a second point I wish the Northern Development association would make note of for future reference.

"Land men frequently misrepresent land, but the state has no need of misrepresentation and no information may often equal misrepresentation.

"The state should have a resurvey of its land and sell land only when said land in its character and location would prove profitable to the purchaser.

"A farmer without roads and without market and with land that he cannot work, might just as well be in prison so far as his usefulness to the state is concerned. The state loses in every transaction that places a man and his family under such circumstances, whatever the price may be.

"In locating its land, the reclamation board is soliciting the co-operation of the business men of the different towns to which the land is tributary and it is hoped that this co-operation may render information that should have been obtainable from the state. Let me emphasize again the need and importance of a resurvey of the state's lands.

"The clearing and drainage of the state lands of Northern Minnesota is a matter of business that ought to appeal to every man who understands the conditions and the needs of Northern Minnesota, and who understands the value of the agricultural lands of Northern Minnesota when under cultivation.

"The timbered section of Northern Minnesota has over 10,000,000 acres of land that is adapted to agriculture, but it is unoccupied because it is not cleared. The clearing of land is a work that is slow and expensive when done as men cleared land fifty years ago, but with the modern method of using explosives it can be done quickly at a moderate cost. Land under cultivation may be made to yield the value of the clearing in a single crop. It pays to clear the land and it pays to farm in Northern Minnesota just as much as in any section of the state.

"In clearing the land, the state makes it possible for the settler to begin farming operations at once. From ten to twenty acres under the plow in Northern Minnesota is sufficient to insure a beginning to successful farming.

"Reclamation is not a new proposition. It is a work that the United States intended Minnesota should do for the tillers of the soil, and in carrying reclamation into effect, the state is only executing a contract to which Minnesota, if not legally, is morally bound."

'ECZEMA ITCHED SO I COULDN'T STAND IT'

Began by Little Pimples, Scratched Until Blood Came. Kept Getting Worse. Could Not Sleep Nights. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and the First Day They Relieved Itching. In 3 Weeks Eczema Cured.

"I suffered with eczema on my neck for about six months, beginning by little pimples breaking out. I kept scratching till the blood came. It kept getting worse, I couldn't sleep nights any more. It kept itching for about a month, then I went to a doctor and got some liquid to take. It seemed as if I was going to get better. The itching stopped for about three days, but when it started again, was even worse than before. The eczema itched so badly I couldn't stand it any more. I went to a doctor and he gave me some medicine, but didn't do any good. We have been having Cuticura Remedies in the house, so I decided to try them. I had been using Cuticura Soap, so I got me a box of Cuticura Ointment, and washed off the affected part with Cuticura Soap three times a day, and then put the Cuticura Ointment on. The first day I put it on, it relieved me of itching so I could sleep all that night. It took about a week, then I could see the scab come off. I kept the treatment up for three weeks, and my eczema was cured.

"My brother got his face burned with gunpowder, and he used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The people all thought he would have scars, but you can't see that he ever had his face burned. It was simply awful to look at before the Cuticura Remedies [Soap and Ointment] cured it." (Signed) Miss Elizabeth Gehrki, Forrest City, Ark., Oct. 16, 1910.

APPEAL TO THE SUPREME COURT

Arguments By Duluth Attorney Made in the Jackson McPherson Case.

The arguments in the appeal case of the state against Jackson McPherson were held yesterday before the supreme court at St. Paul.

Assistant Attorney General Warren E. Greene appeared for the state and Attorney W. E. Whipple represented the defendant.

McPherson was proven guilty of the murder of Otto Frey after a trial in district court before Judge Ensign about a year ago. He was sentenced to life imprisonment and he is at the present time serving his sentence.

Claiming that the county attorney was guilty of misconduct in the court-room at the time of the trial, Attorney Whipple appealed the case.

McPherson killed Frey on the steamer North Wind on which they both were employed. He has never denied that he did the shooting. He claimed self-defense.

Cut Worms at Grafton.

Grafton, N. D., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Damage to garden truck by cut worms has been reported in this city, and in one instance the worms were so damaging in their work that the entire garden had to be re-planted. No reports have been received of any damage by the worms in the rural districts except to the garden truck.

ANNUAL RUSH FOR LICENSES

Marriage Counter at Court House Will Be Busy Place During June.

The marriage license clerk at the county courthouse is doing a land office business in permits to wed.

Today was the first day of the month and no less than seven licenses were issued up to noon. Ordinarily the number averages from one to three a day with some days as absolute blanks.

The rush will continue all month if the precedent made in other years is followed out. There were more than 150 licenses issued last year and that number was a substantial gain over the same month a year before. It is expected that more than 150 will be issued this year, as each year the number is greater.

Those who expressed their intentions today are: Albert M. Olsen and Selma E. Lundberg; Charles B. Wosher and Mrs. Mary Stewart; Joseph F. Kennedy and Mrs. Edith M. Sadler; Matt Kall and Sigma Anderson; Eric V. Sanderson and Sophie Swanson; H. V. Neomani and Tillie Parkrust.

S. T. HARRISON SERIOUSLY ILL

Is Brought Back From Missouri to the Pine City Sanitarium.

S. T. Harrison is seriously ill at Pine City and his condition is looked upon as critical by his friends here.

Mr. Harrison left Duluth about a month ago, suffering from a nervous breakdown. He went to his farm in Missouri, hoping that a long rest would restore his health. He grew steadily worse there, however, and organic trouble developed. He was brought back to Pine City and is now in a sanitarium there. His son, Joseph G. Harrison is with him, and also his daughters, Virginia and Marjorie.

The news will come as a decided shock to his many friends in Duluth. They knew that he was not in the best of health, but hoped that it was simply a temporary breakdown caused by overwork, and that a long rest would restore his health.

Sold $20,000,000 Bonds.

New York, June 1.—The announcement of James J. Hill in St. Paul of the execution of a mortgage of $600,000,000 by the Great Northern Railway company, was followed by the news today that the Great Northern has sold to the First National bank of New York $20,000,000 4½ per cent fifty-year bonds secured under its mortgage.

It is stated that the proceeds will be used for general corporate purposes which include improvements and extensions on the Great Northern under way at present or already planned.

It was also made known here today that the Bankers' Trust company, New York, is the trustee under the $600,000,000 mortgage executed by the Great Northern. This is the largest corporation mortgage on record.

WHY IS THE N. M. D. A.?

A stranger might ask: "What is the explanation of the Northern Minnesota Development association, which is meeting in Duluth today and filling the community with its enthusiasm?"

Here is an organization made up of plain farmers, settlers, business men and newspaper editors, having no inspiration of politics or hope of direct personal reward. It is compact, alive, vigorous, enthusiastic, full of the spirit of hustle and boost. Only a little more than a year old, it has four splendid meetings to its credit, all well attended, all characterized by the liveliest interest and activity. To its call busy men answer spontaneously, dropping their important personal affairs to do its will. What is the explanation of this body?

No such organization as this can be formed and maintained unless it is inspired by a vital need and called into being by an acute evil. The need that inspires this association is that of state development; the evil that called it into being is state neglect.

Northern Minnesota, constituting nearly two-thirds of the state's area, is a mighty empire in itself. As Immigration Commissioner George Walsh truthfully said today, it "was endowed by nature with all the necessaries to sustain human existence." It has mines, forests, water power, navigable streams, enormous manufacturing possibilities, and it is touched by the greatest inland waterway in the world. Above all it has the richest soil lying outdoors and millions of idle acres capable of providing wealth for hundreds of thousands of people.

This fair, rich land has lain, up to a recent time, practically dormant. Its settlement was and still is sparse, its potentialities undeveloped, its soil idle. Raped of its timber, much of it was left to desolation. Its water powers run to waste, its forests go unreplenished. Thousands of homeseekers pass it by for farther and less fruitful fields.

This land of beauty and promise is taxed heavily for the support of a state government which takes all and gives nothing. It is taxed to maintain state bureaus that are inefficient and poorly equipped; bureaus that overlap here and fail to reach at all there; bureaus that have become mere hospitals for job-seekers and appendages to political machines.

Northern Minnesota contains a million and a half acres of idle land belonging to the Federal government, nearly three million acres of idle land belonging to the state, and five million acres of swamp land which, when drained, is the richest soil on earth.

Northern Minnesota has been neglected by the state because it is not fairly represented in the legislature. A legislative apportionment made a generation ago remains substantially unchanged, so that a senator from Northern Minnesota represents five times as many people as a senator from Southern Minnesota. Fully taxed, under-represented, grossly neglected, its needs ignored, its potentialities of greatness left dormant, Northern Minnesota has as great a grievance and as vital a need of organizing for the common good as any people ever had.

Northern Minnesota wants settlers; it wants its lands drained, its forests protected and replenished, its roads improved and extended, its schools bettered and made more suitable to its needs. It wants and demands fair legislative representation, to the end that it may get these things which it needs so greatly.

Giving Northern Minnesota what it needs and developing its marvelous resources means greatness for all Minnesota.

And that is why there is a Northern Minnesota Development association, and why it is so aggressively active, so buoyantly enthusiastic and so indomitably determined.

MONEY AND THE SENATE.

One highly interesting thing has come out of the political upheaval that has reduced the strength of the Old Guard in the senate and increased the numbers of the Democrats and Republicans who are able to see the people's side of things.

The senate is no longer the place of great wealth it used to be. It is no longer the leading millionaire club of the country. It has great wealth still, but in the last year $50,000,000 worth of senators have been plucked out of it by the remorseless hand of political adversity. Death, too, which knows no distinction of wealth and caste, has taken its toll; and in most cases senators who have died have been replaced by men of ordinary means.

Maybe the senate isn't going to become a poor man's club, but certainly the time when great wealth dominated it is passing. Maybe it isn't quite just, but the fact is that when the people pick the senators they are more likely to pick poor men than rich men. Bristow, La Follette, Clapp, Gore—men of that stripe are mostly as poor as church mice, compared with the old average of the senate.

The death of Senator Elkins of West Virginia took $15,000,000 out of the senate. When Aldrich retired he took $10,000,000 with him. Hale of Maine had a modest $4,000,000, and he is gone.

Depew of New York was passing rich on $7,000,000, and the senate knows him no more. Kean of New Jersey dropped out, and he had $5,000,000. Scott of West Virginia left the senate $4,000,000 poorer when he departed into private life. Taliaferro of Florida took $3,000,000 away and Hughes of Colorado, who died, was worth $2,000,000. Watson of West Virginia, who is worth $2,000,000, is about the only millionaire among the new members.

There is plenty of money left, but mostly its possessors are men whose hold on their senatorial dignities is precarious. It would not be at all surprising if, in the course of a couple of elections, the finances of the senate would get down about to the average of an ordinary club membership in an ordinary community.

The possession of millions isn't necessarily a bar to broadgauged patriotism and pureminded friendship for the people. If there were such a thing as gratitude among millionaires the possession of riches ought to make all wealthy senators great friends of the people, because the people dug and span and reaped to make their millions.

Nevertheless, there will be no disagreement to the proposition that no harm has been done by reducing the swollen millions of the senate. Certainly a man who hasn't been elevated far above the level of the toiling hordes on a platform of wealth is at least as likely to know what the people need and to be willing to give it to them as a man who does perch on that lofty pinnacle of gold.

The mere fact that a senatorial candidate is wealthy is no argument against him, providing he can make it clear that his millions have not blinded him to the interests of those who have no millions because they have been too busy creating wealth for others to get wealth for themselves. The millionaires can take care of themselves. What is needed is somebody to take care of the millions who have suffered that a millionaire class might be created.

PROGRESS AND THE CONSTITUTION.

The supreme court of Texas lately held that the referendum clause in the commission plan charter of the city of Dallas is unconstitutional. The word "unconstitutional" being, to the minds of many, final and complete damnation amounting to extinction, there is much jubilation in quarters from which comes most of the opposition to real popular rule.

The Texas court had before it the case of a man who had been arrested for violating an ordinance which had been put into operation under the referendum. There appears to have been no question of the man's guilt, and no attempt to show the unwisdom of the ordinance. For all the record shows the ordinance was both wise and necessary, and the man's guilt flagrant. Yet the supreme court of Texas freed him on the ground that the referendum is unconstitutional.

Said the court: "Under our Constitution the principle of lawmaking is that the laws are made by the people, not directly, but by and through their chosen representatives. By the act under consideration, this principle is subverted, and the law is proposed to be made at last by the popular vote of the people, leading inevitably to what was intended to be avoided—confusion and great popular excitement in the enactment of laws. It is equally certain that the people cannot be reinvested by the legislature with the function of legislation conferred by them on the department of government, nor can the legislature render the enactment of a law dependent upon the acceptance by the people by popular vote."

Therefore the court held that the referendum is invalid in Texas because it is "directly subversive of the principles of republican government" and because it violates the state Constitution and cannot be entertained unless expressly provided for therein.

So far as the court is concerned, it is enough to say that its decision breathes not so much a devotion to law and the Constitution as very bitter personal hostility to changes in the accustomed form of representative government.

Opponents of democracy—which means rule by the people—are making merry over this decision, and apparently assuming that it puts the finishing touch to direct legislation.

They cannot see, of course, that it is quite as likely that the decision argues something wrong with the court or with the Constitution as it is that it argues something wrong with the referendum.

Because a court holds against it, and a Constitution does not distinctly authorize it, is no valid argument against a progressive principle of government. The court may be deciding according to its prejudices, and the Constitution may need amendment.

Because legislation is held to be unconstitutional it is not necessarily undesirable. The holding does not mean that there is anything wrong in the referendum; it does mean that the Texas Constitution fails to meet the needs of the time.

Constitutions mostly were made a long time ago. They were made by the wisest men of their times, but none of them were soothsayers or gifted with insight into the future. Because they made documents that were sound and wise and sufficient for their time it doesn't necessarily follow that they will fit all times.

If courts or Constitutions stand in the way of popular rule, so much the worse for the courts and Constitutions.

L'ENFANT AND ANOTHER.

Washington has been paying tribute to the memory of Maj. Peter Charles L'Enfant, of the Continental army, the brilliant French engineer who laid out the city of Washington so admirably that when a committee of modern experts lately studied the situation they could advise nothing but carrying out his plans. Washington is, or soon will be, the most beautiful city in the world; and the credit is L'Enfant's. Washington does well, therefore, to honor him.

While it is honoring him, however, a returned traveler recommends that it pay proper tribute to another who has done something for Washington life—J. H. B. Latrobe, inventor of the latrobe "heater," which pretends to keep Washington boarding houses warm. The latrobe is one of the most amusing and vexatious of human inventions. It is a fantastic combination of baseburner, fireplace and hot air furnace; a furious pretender and an amazingly futile accomplisher. In what looks like a fireplace is stuck what looks like half of a small baseburner; pipes run from it to the upper rooms. It has all the vices of the several heating methods it imitates, and none of their virtues.

If you pretend to be cold in a Washington boarding house during a Washington winter, when the thermometer says it is fairly warm and the damp, penetrating chill of the air says it is beastly cold, your landlady will conduct you to the dining room or the "parlor" and show you the latrobe. That institution will be blazing merrily, throwing out a prodigious heat for fully four inches, and pretending to send warmth up the flues, all on a hatful of coals. It will be desperately cold half way across the room, and arctically inclement in the upper halls and rooms; but the landlady points proudly at the latrobe and assures you that she is doing her best.

By all means, while it is celebrating, Washington ought to pay some tribute to the inventor of the latrobe.

A STUDY IN HUMBUG

By SAVOYARD.

How this world is given to lying, and how politics leans to humbug! Such must be the reflection of every man of common sense when he attends a "hearings" on the tariff before a committee of either house of the American congress. The invitation goes forth to Tom, Dick and Harry to appear and positively, pertinaciously and dogmatically testify to the inferiority of the American people in any contest with anybody in a game of agriculture, manufacture or commerce. And the witnesses come in troops and gravely tell congress that a little dab of free trade with Canada will bring ruin on our people and shame on the republic. The mart will be empty and the bay shipless. If the tariff leech shall relax his hold one little bit, even though to a scarce perceptible degree, brazen death will drive out plenty and gaunt famine come over the land. What a sham it is! What an admixture of idiocy and knavery!

I'll tell you a tale. When Teddy first took captive the popular heart, he asked a reluctant congress to enact a little scrap of reciprocity with Cuba, whereat and whereupon there was wailing and gnashing of teeth in the household of the tariff baron. But Teddy was in earnest and his blood was up. All the interests flocked and flopped together to save the country from the great calamity of a little freer trade with Cuba.

William Alden Smith, then a member of the house from Michigan, led the charge against the direful and portentous innovation of reciprocity. Now, William Alden Smith is "a orator," and he can scrape the sky beautifully—that is to say, the Hon. Smith has lungs and he comes as near setting the Potomac on fire as the next one. In other words, he is same as Cicero or a little samer. I heard him on Cuba in opposition to reciprocity and it was a tremendous speech. The cloak rooms swarmed to him, and had there been a pit it would have "rosé to him."

With fervid manner and burning periods he pictured our inferiority, and how if we relaxed one atom of the beneficent protection accorded us by the protective tariff we would be ruined by cheap stuff from Cuba. Now the Hon. William Alden Smith is one of that tribe of orators never embarrassed by anything. When it was suggested that Cuba might come in as a state of our glorious Union, he rather approved that and argued that in such event Cuba would cease to grow sugar and tobacco and take up the mining and manufacturing line. Not long before a Republican senator from my own state of Kentucky delivered himself of a powerful argument in a happy attempt to make it as clear to the minds of his fellow senators as it was to his own that it was impractical to construct a ship canal across the continent from New York to San Francisco and therefore they must resort to Panama, and Chauncey Depew said it was a devilish good speech. It would take a chapter of critics made up of Hazlitts to determine whether Depew on the canal surpassed Smith on reciprocity.

Among the industries of the United States Smith declared reciprocity would extirpate utterly was beet sugar. At that time our production of beet sugar was 369,211,733 pounds per annum. Less than ten years later, when reciprocity with Cuba prevailed, our production of beet sugar had grown to 851,768,000 pounds. That was the effect reciprocity with Cuba had on a business that scores of our national solons asseverated in sepulchral tones and direful warnings would be utterly destroyed. The Hon. William Alden is now swearing by all the gods that admired Hector of Troy that nothing but utter ruin can be expected to follow reciprocity with Canada. And he is just as confident, just as dogmatic, and just as eloquent now as he was then—and just as fallacious.

DeWitt Clinton was one of the greatest practical statesmen the Anglo-Saxon race has produced and his monument is the Erie canal. It was a long, a stubborn, a vicious fight he waged, but finally he overcame all his enemies, and they were numerous, powerful and bitter. One of the arguments against the canal was that the farmers of the Genesee and Mohawk valleys would starve to death when Ohio sent cheap grain through the canal. But in truth the canal benefited every farmer in the Empire State. I commend the argument of the Hon. McCumber of North Dakota, perhaps the most supersenatorial in his matchless ponderosity of all the men now in public life. He is convinced that Canada's superiority to the United States is so overwhelming that the slightest breach in the tariff wall that protects us from this Arctic giant will altogether desolate our fair land.

When Illinois was first opened to settlement the price of government lands was greatly reduced and there was much opposition to it on the ground that so much grain would be grown in Illinois that the farmers of Kentucky and Ohio would be undone. And the same argument was made against the homestead act—that the cheap farms would drive out of commission the fine farms of the older states. But the farmers of Kansas and Nebraska, with their immense production of grain, did not ruin their brethren of Illinois and Iowa.

Then again we ship more products of the farm to Canada than Canada sends to us, and that is conclusive argument to a man of common sense that if any farmer is in danger from this reciprocity he lives on the other side of the border and is a subject of King George. There has been some loose talk of annexation. Now, if McCumber is right, annexation of our northern neighbor would make a barren waste of every farm in the Dakotas.

No, it is not the farmer who will be hurt. On the contrary, reciprocity will benefit him at the expense of the lumber trust, the paper trust, and the fish monopoly of New England. The farmer will get cheaper lumber, cheaper books, magazines and newspapers and he will have a wider market for what he sells.

The glass trust, too, is here trying to bust the pact for reciprocity.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

NEED HIGHWAY TO WEST DULUTH.

To the Editor of The Herald:

It strikes me that it is time a good thoroughfare was provided between West Duluth and the central part of the city. The travel and the business certainly warrant it. As it is now there isn't a single decent road from West Duluth to the downtown section. This lack is retarding the growth of the city as well as of West Duluth. It is not a local proposition with West Duluth, or it shouldn't be. It is just as much advantage to other sections and it should be regarded in that light. The growth of West Duluth means a proportionate share of benefits. From an unprejudiced standpoint it strikes me that as soon as the board of public works can get around to it, they should make it a point to give the city at the very least a good substantial road between the two parts of the town. The city ought to demand it, not only West Duluth and the West end. One of the first expenditures from the wheelage tax fund should be for this improvement.

WEST DULUTHIAN.

Duluth, June 1, 1911.

RECIPROCITY AND FOOD SPECULATION.

A few days ago cotton sold at 15½ cents a pound. Yesterday wheat in Chicago sold at $1.04¾. These abnormal prices in a period of industrial depression form an argument for reciprocity and against speculation in the necessaries of life.

The public is economizing to such an extent that over-production in cotton goods has become acute. A Fall River manufacturer bought 500,000 pieces of print cloth cheaper than his manufacturing price. Operators are curtailing production until consumers have bought the surplus that is choking the natural channels of the trade. But cotton sold at 15½ cents a pound, a price so abnormal as to create an artificial market for the enrichment of speculators while destroying a natural and healthy one.

Chicago May wheat closed from 10 to 15 cents higher than legitmate conditions warranted, in the opinion of many wheat traders. Every time the price of wheat to the mills is advanced 2 cents the price of flour is raised 10 cents a barrel. The difference in the price of flour made from cash wheat bought in Chicago yesterday and the price of flour made from wheat that might have been purchased in a market governed by legitimate factors would be not less than 50 cents a barrel.

If there had been no artificial barrier between the wheat fields of Canada and the markets of the United States there would have been no "corner" in wheat. Canadian wheat could have been brought to American markets and it would have been practically impossible for the wealthy speculators of the Chicago Board of Trade to operate a corner in the May delivery.

Farmers generally do not profit by bull campaigns in wheat. These corners are run on what is known as the "tail end" of the crop and farmers have only a comparatively small amount of wheat to sell in the period when the high prices caused by the speculative campaign the existent.

Corners in wheat in this country will be at an end if we are given reciprocity, except possibly in years of extensive crop disasters. How anyone not influenced by selfishness or questionable motives can oppose reciprocity is beyond my power of comprehension.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Kansas City Journal: "Looking at that knob? That's my bump of caution."

"Born with it, were you?"

"Oh, no. Kicked by a mule."

Chicago Daily Socialist: Teacher—What is it that binds us together and makes us better than we are by nature?

"Corsets, sir," piped a wise little girl of 8.

Pele Mele: "Your lodgers complain that you read their letters."

"Well, I can't ask them questions about their private affairs. That would be very indiscreet."

Washington Star: "Has that horse any superior qualities?"

"Yep," replied Farmer Corntossel. "I'd back his appetite for any amount against all comers."

Judge: "My husband and I were married by a bishop."

"Were you? My husband and I were divorced by a judge who is occupying a seat on the supreme bench."

Lippincott's: Jokely—I got a batch of aeroplane jokes ready and sent them out last week.

Bogus—What luck did you have with them?

Jokely—Oh, they all came flying back."

Cleveland Plain Dealer: "The last time I met you you had a scheme that you were sure would make money."

"Yes; I remember."

"Did you ever put it through?"

"Didn't have to—it fell through."

Louisville Courier-Journal: "How would you like to toil long hours each day for meager wages?"

"I think it would be great fun," answered the young lady who was studying sociology. "But I fear that my chaperon would become somewhat bored."

Milwaukee News: "I hear that your rich uncle is dead."

"Yes, he is."

"What did he leave?"

"A widow we'd never heard of."

Houston Post: "You ought to refuse that rich man, he is too old for you."

"I am going to refuse him. He is too young for me."

"Too young?"

"Sure; he might live twenty years yet."

Why Truth Is Unfashionable.

London Opinion: If the use of truth were to come into fashion we might hear the following instead of the customary conventionalities:

"Bridget, you needn't tell him I'm not at home; just say I don't want to see him."

"I may as well tell you, Mr. McCleary that I am not buying this hair dye for an elderly friend; I expect to use it myself."

"I won't pretend, Mrs. Kawler, that the reason why I never have any photographs taken is because they never look like me; they always do."

"Gentlemen, I am not going to lie to you; my friends have not asked me to be a candidate for this office. I'm a candidate for it because I want the salary."

"Mr. Hillker, there's no use in pretending that I can wear a No. 4. I am not ashamed of the size of my foot. Show me a No. 6½."

"I don't know why I'm lending you this money, old chap; I do it with great reluctance."

"Dear Sir—We return this story to you for the reason that it is absolutely worthless. We wouldn't publish it even if you paid us for doing so."

"I am not surprised, Mr. Wellon, to learn that you are 59 years old. You look it."

A Real Lady.

June Lippincott's—Among the youngsters belonging to a college settlement in a New England city was one little girl who returned to her humble home with glowing accounts of the new teacher.

The child's mother gave her a doubtful look. "How do you know?" she said. "You've only known her two days."

"It's easy enough tellin'," continued the child. "I know she's a perfect lady, because she makes you feel polite all the time."

The Humerous Hat.

June Lippincott's—"Has she any sense of humor?"

"I don't think so. She can look at her hat without laughing.'

TWENTY YEARS AGO

•••Former City Engineer W. B. Fuller was in the city a short time yesterday, and his visit has resulted in the loss to the Duluth city engineering force of two good men, S. A. Parsons, second assistant city engineer, and C. F. Knowlton, head inspector for the West Second street contract. They will go to Snohomish, a booming town on tidewater, a few miles north of Seattle, but they decline to state what they will do.

•••Some time ago Judge Stearns decided against the St. Paul & Duluth railroad in a case involving $9,588 special assessments for street improvements in 1888. The ground on which this decision was made was a section of the old city charter. The case was appealed to the state supreme court, and it has just reversed the decision, directing that an order be issued in favor of the defendant. This settles forever the dispute as to whether the railroad can be held for special assessments.

•••Harry Cullyford, nephew of Col. Cullyford, assumed management of the St. Louis hotel this morning. He has been steward of the house for several years.

•••Richard Harris was killed in the Cloquet Lumber company's mill yesterday, by his clothing catching on a set screw of the shafting. Every bone in his body was broken. He came to Cloquet from Kingston, Ont.

•••Booth, the druggist, will move into the corner store in the Lyceum. F. I. Breeze will open a furnishing goods store in the present quarters of Mr. Booth as soon as they are vacated.

•••Mrs. L. N. Wood has gone East to spend the summer.

•••The following officers were elected at a meeting of the Duluth Electric union: President, A. E. Newell; vice president, J. D. Hayes; recording secretary, John Cummings; financial secretary, Joseph Cummings; treasurer, F. Schultz; sergeant-at-arms, F. Gillespie; guard, William Schwab; trustees, John Cummings, J. D. Hayes and George McNell.

•••Thomas Thompson of Thomson has tendered his resignation as commissioner of Carlton county and will remove to Duluth. He has gone into the flour and feed business at Michigan street and Nineteenth avenue west.

RECIPROCITY.

Easily.

St. Cloud Times: Woodrow Wilson is heartily in favor of reciprocity. That should outweigh a thousand and one of the Farmer Collins kind.

Nelson's Queer Stand.

Fairmont Sentinel: Senator Nelson is strenuously opposing the Canadian reciprocity agreement, along with the other standpat Republican senators, and goes so far as to make a bitter attack on President Taft for thus proposing to lower any of the trust fostering duties. The senator is taking about the same stand that he did in the Ballinger case and we believe is as far from being right as he was then, and instead of now regaining the reputation as a friend of the people which he largely lost at that time, his present attitude to prevent touching the sacred high tariff schedules will lose him still more friends instead of winning back those lost in his unwarranted shielding of Ballinger.

The President Is Right.

Albert Lea Times-Enterprise: President Taft put the matter in a most pertinent way, when talking to a delegation of farmers, who called upon him and protested upon the stand he has taken. He said that there was nothing about reciprocity which bound either nation, and that the agreement could be terminated any time if it was found to be detrimental, could be easily abrogated and the present order restored. "But," continued the president, "I firmly believe from all the investigation which has been made, that it will prove one of the greatest things in a commercial way, that the nation has entered into for many a year." All statistics which have been gathered upon the matter, indicate the correctness of the president's insight into the future.

That "Farmer" Delegation.

Cambridge North Star: That was a strong (?) delegation of "farmers" that went to Washington to remonstrate against reciprocity. The delegation was headed by P. V. Collins of the Northwestern Agriculturist and the balance of the committee of ten was composed of gilt-edged farmers, that is, they were farming through the hired men and incidentally were conducting a bank or other business as a "side issue." Some time ago P. V. Collins made an appeal through the Northwestern Agriculturist for funds to defray the expenses of a farmers' delegation to go to Washington to lobby against the reciprocity treaty. In the makeup of that particular delegation not a bona fide farmer was considered. It turned out to be a junket for a few self-styled political dictators who called themselves "farmers." Judging from the grilling given Collins and other members of the "farmers" committee they did not make a very "strong" impression down at Washington before the senate committee on reciprocity. Whether reciprocity with Canada as proposed in the bill before congress is a good thing for the people of the United States or not, one thing is certain, and that is that it is bound to come. Collins gave it out while before the senate committee that the regular every-day tillers of the soil were too slow to represent themselves on so important a matter as going to Washington at the expense of the farmers of Minnesota and therefore had to rely upon P. V. and a few other more "enlightened" farmers to represent them.

The Enemies of Reciprocity.

Litchfield Independent: When we see who are fighting reciprocity with Canada we are constrained to favor it. The American Protective Tariff League is opposing it tooth and nail, not because the treaty itself will affect the manufacturing trusts in their holdup of the public, but because they fear a little freedom of trade will result in a call for more of the same sort.

Pointed Paragraphs.

A man should be square and a woman should be plump.

A baby cuts its teeth even before it is on speaking terms with them.

Once again the young man's fancy turns to thoughts of vacation money.

Revenge may be sweet, but it is likely to leave a bad taste in the mouth.

Presidents Who Were Masons.

Boston Globe: President Taft, wearing the apron of the Masonic order, has just posed for a photograph so that his picture may hang beside that of George Washington in a Southern Masonic lodge. This interesting incident makes it pertinent to inquire what other presidents have been Masons, and, according to information given by an officer of the grand lodge of Massachusetts, the list would also include Jefferson, Jackson, Polk, Buchanan, Johnson, Garfield, McKinley and Roosevelt. There is some doubt about Jefferson, however.

Washington was master of a lodge in Richmond, Va. Jackson was a grand master. McKinley was a Knight Templar. Both Roosevelt and Taft became Masons after they became president. It is thought that Fillmore was a Mason, but there is much doubt about it. The absence of official records or the silence of the person himself, especially in the early days, makes it difficult to state definitely. In Washington's day Benjamin Franklin, Lafayette, Benjamin Harrison the elder, Joseph Warren, Paul Revere, John Hancock and a host of other well known Revolutionary figures belonged to this fraternity.

There are now nearly 1,500,000 Masons in the United States, of whom about 60,000 are found in Massachusetts. The order is steadily growing and its development has done much to give confidence to other secret organizations, modeled on benevolent or fraternal lines.

About eighty yoars ago the Masonic order was viewed with disfavor and regarded as an "imperium in imperio," and designed to subvert good government. An anti-Masonic political party existed, and in the campaign of 1832 that party secured the seven electoral votes of Vermont. Gradually the alarm subsided, and in recent times it is well recognized that neither this nor any of the other well known secret orders are opposed to law, order or justice.

Making the Cashier Cough.

Tit-Bits: "But I don't know you, madam," the bank cashier said to the woman who had presented a check.

The woman, however, instead of saying haughtily, "I do not wish your acquaintance, sir," merely replied with an engaging smile:

"Oh, yes, you do, I think. I'm the 'red-headed old virago' next door to you, whose scoundrelly little boys are always reaching through the fence and picking your flowers. When you started for town this morning your wife said: 'Now, Henry, if you want a dinner fit to eat this evening you'll have to leave me a little money. I can't keep this house on plain water and sixpence a day.'"

"Here's your money, madam," said the cashier, pushing it toward her and coughing loudly.

Willing to Take a Chance.

June Lippincott's: There was recently haled into an Alabama court a little Irishman to whom the thing was a new experience. He was, however, unabashed, and wore an air of a man determined not to "get the worst of it."

"Prisoner at the bar," called out the clerk, "do you wish to challenge any of the jury?"

Whereupon the Celt looked the men in the box over very carefully and with a skilled eye.

"Well, I tell ye," he finally replied, "Oi'm not exactly in trainin', but Oi think Oi could pull off a round or two with thot fat old boy in th' corner."

Took It for Granted.

Chicago News: He had been calling on her twice a week for six months, but had not proposed. He was a wise young man and therefore didn't think it necessary.

"Ethel," he said, as they were taking a moonlight stroll one evening, "I—er—am going to ask you an important question."

"Oh, George," she exclaimed, "this is so sudden! Why, I—"

"What I want to ask is this," he interrupted. "What date have you and your mother decided upon for our wedding?"

WOMAN'S REALM.

An exceptionally meritorious concert program was given last evening at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium by a number of the students from the Flaaten's Conservatory and a good sized audience showed its appreciation with hearty applause.

The program was opened with a piano quartet, a gavotte by Gluck, played by the Misses Edna Rossem, Margaret Burns, Grace McDonal and Islay Johnson. It was very well played. Miss Agatha Norton followed with a piano solo, which was excellent. Harry Winkles gave a reading "The Union," which was well received and Miss Edna Rossem played the "Sailor's Hornpipe," with plenty of vim and spirit.

Edward Dillon has musical ability which he displayed to good advantage in his violin solo "Cavatine." He gave his number an artistic rendition, which was unusually good and showed a sympathy and understanding worthy of note.

Miss Ethel Hardy played her piano solo "Elfin Dance," very nicely and the violin duet "Traum der Sennerin," was splendidly played by Maurice and Henry Lavik. Miss Ethel Moliter accompanied.

Miss Alice Kennedy read "Announcing the Engagement" in a taking manner and Miss Muriel Smith was well receved in her piano number.

Miss Eleanor Kraft and Miss Georgia Evans played a violin duet, accompanied by Miss Moliter, which was perhaps the most enthusiastically encored. It was a very difficult number and their execution was excellent.

Miss Margaret Burns played "Song Without Words," by Mendelssohn, very well and was loudly applauded. Henry G. Lavik rendered the difficult Dvorak "Humoreske," with good understanding and fine technique and Miss Tessie Carrol played a valse impromptu in A flat major very acceptably.

A second quartet played by the Misses Muriel Smith, Esther Anderson, Margaret Ames and Estelle Williams was a fine number and the program was closed with a little sketch played by Maria Anglin, Doris Mallett, and Gertrude Fahrnham.

Mr. Flaaten announced that on June 22 another concert will be given at the Y. M. C. A. by the most advanced students for the benefit of the new tuberculosis hospital.

Bridge Party.

Miss Helen McAlpine of 122 Sixth avenue east will be hostess at bridge tomorrow afternoon at her home.

The Symphony Orchestra.

The question frequently asked this week is, "On what program of the Minneapolis orchestra concerts does Czerwonky play a solo?" Czerwonky will play at the opening concert tomorrow night and he will be heard in Ernst's brilliant fantasia on Hungarian airs, for violin. Every time Czerwonky plays he is recalled again and again, and in response generally plays his encore with harp accompaniment. Each year his interpretations are of greater musicianship and tomorrow night, judging by the advance notices of his success on the tour of the orchestra, a big ovation should await him. At the spring festivals in Campaign, Moline, Ill.; Aberdeen, S. D., and Valley City, he scored a big triumph. The vocalist tomorrow night is Marcus Kellerman. Mr. Oberhoffer always places his prominent singer on the opening program, hence the choice of Mr. Kellerman, who will sing a big Wagner aria.

Tomorrow night's program, altogether, is one that appeals to the musicians and also to those who love the best in music.

The Doctor

Good Milk.

Good milk is the most valuable single article known, while bad milk is one of the most dangerous foods possible. Where it is impossible to make a personal inspection of the dairy, guaranteed milk can usually be purchased at a slight premium over regular prices.

In any case never patronize a cheap milkman, because good milk is never cheap, and cheap milk is poor milk.

Many people have the idea that if milk is delivered to them warm that this is proof of its being fresh from the cow, and hence better. This is far from the truth.

Only by cooling milk as soon as it is drawn from the cow is it possible to prevent rapid decomposition in warm weather.

The finest milk that was ever delivered may be utterly ruined in a short time by ignorance or carelessness.

Not infrequently the housewife places an open dish out over night, and the milkman coming early in the morning pours good, clean milk into the vessel loaded with dust and germs. The best remedy for this evil is to insist on bottled milk.

A particle in the eye may be quickly removed by one drop of castor oil dropped into the corner; but if the foreign object should be mortar or lime, the eye must be bathed with a weak solution of water and vinegar.

An ordinary cut will stop bleeding upon the application of hot water or ice. If the blood shows signs of drying, let it remain, as nothing will stop bleeding more effectively.

KITCHEN LORE

Sweet Sauce for Puddings.

Take about half a pint of milk and a tablespoonful of flour, and mix to a stiff paste with a little of the milk. Sweeten the remainder of the milk with three teaspoonfuls of powdered sugar, flavor with lemon rind, and put it by the fire to heat. Pour the warm milk over the paste after straining the lemon rind. Put the sauce into an enameled saucepan and stir constantly until it thickens.

Chocolate Cream Sandwich.

Ingredients: Two ounces of flour, an ounce of chocolate powder, two ounces of castor sugar, two eggs, two ounces of butter and two ounces of icing sugar. Method: Beat the eggs and castor sugar until light, add flour and chocolate powder, then bake in a sharp oven. Beat butter and icing sugar until creamy; make a sandwich when cold.

Roulades of Mutton.

Cut some underdone or raw mutton into pieces about three inches long by one and a half inches wide, without fat. Season with pepper and salt and put a few capers in each piece, which then roll up and put on skewers. Place in the oven on a baking dish, with just enough water to cover, and bake for about an hour. Slip the roulades off the skewers, and serve with caper sauce and mashed potatoes.

Frosted Bread and Butter Pudding.

Prepare a custard with a pint of milk, two eggs, and sugar to taste. Cut three or four stale French rolls into thin slices and butter them. Besprinkle a pie dish with currants, and continue thus until the dish is full. Between each layer of bread pour a little custard. Bake in a moderate oven for about twenty minutes. Whisk up stiffly the whites of two eggs, add to it an ounce of icing or castor sugar, and pile this roughly on the surface of the pudding, so as to give it a rocky appearance. Sprinkle over a few currants; dredge with castor sugar. Bake long enough to slightly brown the meringue, then send to the table dished up on a folded napkin or dish paper.

Economy While Cooking.

The burner may be extinguished a few moments before your cooking is finished and still retain heat enough for the purpose.

At night turn off the stopcock between the stove and the main pipe to prevent waste.

Never use a large burner when a small one will do.

After your cooking has reached the boiling point, turn the gas down to a point which will keep it at that stage.

A strip of asbestos pinned around a burner causes the heat to concentrate on the cooking instead of scattering into the atmosphere.

THE EVENING STORY

A BUSH BURGLAR

By Jane Harris.

At the door of his tent, Surveyor Fitzhugh eased his theodolite tripod gently to the ground, stretched his arms aloft to relieve the ache which the weight of the instrument had wrought in his shoulder during the long tramp home, and sighed like a man who was very weary.

Two weeks previously Fitzhugh had arrived to take charge of that railway construction survey party, leaving behind him in Sydney the wife he had wedded only a month before. Now Fitzhugh was unmistakably homesick.

Bates, the camp cook, came forward. "Someone was inquiring for you this morning. Said he was your brother-in-law, and was sorry you were not at home."

"Where is he? Did he give his name?"

"Told me his name, but I forget. He was a shortish man with a—a what-d'ye-call-it on his nose."

"What-d'ye-call-it on the nose!" Fitzhugh instantly recognized the description. It was Dick Lance, his wife's brother; Rover Dick, who had crawled out of his cradle to run away to sea, and had been round the world a dozen times in a hundred capacities since. Fitzhugh had met him only once; but he had never forgotten the what-d'ye-call-it, a wart, for short—on the nose.

"But where is he?" said Fitzhugh, peering at the next door.

"Gone. Said he was in no end of a hurry. On a walking tour from Brisbane to Sydney, he said he was, and wanted to push on. He said he'd meet you at some saloon in 'Frisco next month, if you cared to drop in."

Fitzhugh's gloomy face crinkled into a smile. Rover Dick, all right! Her brother, and she was very fond of him, he remembered.

"Um!" he said regretfully. "I'm sorry I didn't see him."

Bates grinned. "He said he'd help himself to a few things out o' your valise. He was a bit short of socks, and his evening dress was worn out—so he said."

"Cheeky beggar!" said Fitzhugh, but his voice was kind.

The extent of the burglary revealed itself to examination. Fitzhugh enumerated the missing articles as he rooted round.

"'Um! Two pairs of socks, my new pipe, razor, tin of tobacco, flannel shirt, pyjamas—no, he's left the pyjamas—waistcoat, and—"

Fitzhugh collapsed to the edge of his bunk, and stared with the face of a man of fifty.

The old serge coat was gone, and in the inside pocket of that garment was that accursed letter! The whole history of the thing raced at a gallop across Fitzhugh's memory. Just before his marriage he had taken it from his desk to destroy it—he had been determined that with his marriage would begin a better era in his life—something had interrupted him, and he had thrust the compromising bit of paper into his coat pocket.

Then he had forgotten it; the coat—he had never worn it since—had been hurriedly packed into his valise on his departure from Sydney, and had lain there unremarked.

If Dick read that letter! If she should hear of it! Fitzhugh groaned. He had been in his bachelor days no better—and certainly no worse—than the average youth of his social grade, but he had honestly tried to, as he phrased it, "play straight" after he had met her.

Fitzhugh got suddenly to his feet, grim-lipped, with the battle snap in his eyes. Dick had a good start, but he could be caught; that letter must be recovered. Dick must be silenced somehow.

The soft summer dusk had come when Fitzhugh caught the glint of a fire between the gum scrub on the edge of the road, and knew that his chase had ended. He was utterly weary, and he dropped to the ground behind a bush and wiped his face with his coat sleeve. He wanted a moment to rest and to marshal his wits.

He saw the unconscious Dick Lance squatting comfortably at a little distance from the fire, but still in the glow of the leaping flames. Dick was smoking, beatifically—Fitzhugh recognized his purloined pipe. Suddenly he rose like a man who has a thought, opened his knapsack, took out something, and moved up closer to the fire.

"My coat!" muttered Fitzhugh, with a thumping heart.

He saw Dick drop the coat and peer interestedly at a piece of paper extracted from the right inside pocket.

"Hello, Dick!" he called.

Dick turned, recognition in his eyes. "Jiggered if it ain't Fitzhugh. Why, where did you spring from? Sorry I couldn't wait to see you at your camp, but I want to make back to Sydney in just no time. I stopped here to make a cup of tea, and push on again when the moon rose. Are you coming along, too?"

"I?" said Fitzhugh. "No; I just took the track as soon as I heard you were around. Thought I'd catch you up and we'd—er—have a yarn."

"So we will," responded Dick, cheerfully.

The men squatted and talked while the stars wheeled solemnly across. But never once was mentioned the fateful letter. Fitzhugh purposely refrained. At last he said: "Are you thinking of going on now the moon's up?"

"Why, no," Dick returned. "Seein' it's so late, we might as well have a snooze, and I'll make on first thing in the mornin'."

"Good idea," said Fitzhugh. "Bye-bye."

But Fitzhugh did not sleep. He wanted that letter, and he would have it as soon as his companion slept. He thought he heard Dick snore, and he lifted his head carefully and peered. At the movement up rose Dick's head, and Dick's eyes beamed upon him.

"Not yet," replied Fitzhugh.

"See, old man," Dick was bending over him, "you're clean off color. I can tell. I heard you groanin' and mumblin' like the surf at Rondi. You walked too fast this afternoon—touch o' the sun, perhaps. I've a drop o' painkiller here."

But Fitzhugh was on his feet, tense to breaking point.

"Curse you!" he yelled, and raced madly into the bush.

And there amidst the shadows and the curious eyes of the birds, and beasts of night, Fitzhugh fought with the devil. It would be so easy; he was the stronger man—one blow with a stick! Through the night till dawn grayed the east, Fitzhugh fought with the devil—fought, and won.

Dick turned from the newly enkindled fire with a welcoming shout as the husband came slowly from the bush. He put his arm affectionately across the bent shoulders and spoke gently, very gently: "Poor old man! You have had a bad night. Well, sit down, and I'll have a pot of tea in just no time. Then we'll trudge into the village yonder and rout out a sawbones."

"And, while I think of it, old man, there was a letter in the pocket of that coat I stole from your tent. I quite forgot to give it to you last night."

Fitzhugh took it like a half drugged man. "You read it, Dick," he gasped, without raising his head. "And you don't think—"

"Me read it!" Dick laughed cheerfully. "Not much, sonny!"

"But—how?—I saw you."

"Why, man, I can't read a word of written lingo; never learnt—cleared out when I was a kid."

But Fitzhugh, unhearing, was sobbing hysterically, and wildly calling upon the universe to take notice—to never forget—that his brother-in-law could not read.

LOOKING FOR TENNIS MATCHES

MISS MAY M. WORTLEY.

Miss May Montagu Wortley, the tennis champion of the West Indies, is in America looking for matches with American champions. She arrived a few days ago accompanied by her sister, Daisy, and by her cousin, Robert Wortley Dodd, a well-known cricket player. As soon as she becomes acclimated she will issue a general challenge.

Lovely Example of Some Women

By HARRIET PRESCOTT SPOFFORD

I know lovely ladies who, in simple garb, spend some certain hours of every day in alleviating all the suffering that they can reach, and who then, going home, put on their silken garments and tread their velvet floors, and give no intimation of the sights they have seen to sadden the guests, unless the assistance of those guests is needed.

To all other women of wealth, when in the arms of their own comforts they know how strongly fire and furs and hearty food are needed by themselves, let such examples be commended, not only since they will find their recompense in the act, but in remembrance of the assurance also that "Inasmuch as ye did it unto the least of these, ye did it unto me."

But for our part, those of us that are not wealthy, we cannot run the risk of letting even possible suffering and death load the victims with their dark weight without examining into the facts of the case, or else, provided the power to alleviate is ours, we shall feel that the blood of these sufferers is on our hands.

There is always, we know, some one member of our family who is able to look into these matters; and once having the report, we are at ease; if the case of suffering is a forged one, our sympathies are relieved; if it is genuine, and if to lighten its load we are obliged to forego the new cloak, to delay the new silk, or abandon the opera tickets, we can be soothed by the consciousness that our heavenly robe will be all the brighter, and our souls will be all the more finely attuned by-and-by to the music of the stars singing together. He that giveth to the poor lendeth to the Lord.

Still, it is usually possible to assuage the pain of poverty without depriving ourselves of enjoyment of real consequence, for the poor, it is said, are able to be happy on the superfluity of the rich, and the mistress of a single comfortable household has kept the wolf from the door of more than one penniless family during a whole winter.

It needs, perhaps, a little more oversight of storeroom and cupboard than it is always agreeable to give, in order to make sure that this superfluity shall go in the right direction; a little more attention to the way of the cook with her friends who are not in such dire distress, thus to see for ourselves that the fragments of our feasts reach those in real need. Yet that is but a slight tax; and we shall be rewarded in the rosy cheeks of the children who come daily with their baskets, when we reflect that but for our oversight, the cheeks would have been wan and pinched and blanched, even if their owners were not underground altogether.

Hints for the Boudoir

By MILDRED WYCKOFF.

Troubled With Dry Skin.

"I have a very dry skin and my face looks terribly sallow sometimes. Will you give me some advice?" asks M. G.

Your face evidently requires the application of some good face cream. After washing it thoroughly at night in warm water, apply a little cold cream to the tips of your fingers and gently massage it into the skin. Let it remain on for fifteen minutes, and then wipe it off with an old linen handkerchief. In the morning wash your face with warm water and then give it a rinsing in quite cold water.

Eat regularly and slowly and masticate the food thoroughly. Avoid drinking too much water at meals and suppers before retiring should be avoided, drink plenty of water between meals and upon rising and retiring.

A paste made of soap shaved fine and dampened will cure a blistered heel. Covering the feet of stockings on the inside with soap before taking a long walk will prevent blisters from forming on the feet.

No application is better for lusterless hair than salt. Rub it well into the roots of the hair at night, then tie the hair up in a large handkerchief or wear a nightcap. Brush the salt out in the morning. Several applications of this treatment will bring about marked improvement in the appearance of the hair.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

WRITTEN FOR THE HERALD BY REV. J. S. KIRTLEY, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: JUNE 4. Hosea xiv: Israel's Penitence and God's Pardon.

FOREWORD.

While Isaiah was preaching in Jerusalem, and other minor prophets in Judah and Israel, a man arose in the northern kingdom who sounded the call to repentance with an appealing pathos possessed by no other man. His name was Hosea. He denounced sin as unsparingly as did Micah, but he exhibited God's tender love for His people as no other prophet could. The reason of it was that his own heart had been broken and he learned how God's heart ached on account of His people. Hosea's wife was wayward and God let him see that He sustained a relation to Israel somewhat like that of a husband to a wife and He, too, felt their waywardness and infidelity. Hosea's wife left him and became a slave, but he found her, bought her back and installed her in his home again. Then he urged Israel to come back to God who was ready to receive and love them freely. "How can I give thee up?" was God's constant call.

THE LESSON.

I.

Repentance Urged. Verses 1-3.

"O Israel, return unto Jehovah thy God; for thou hast fallen by thine iniquity. Take with you words, and return unto Jehovah: say unto him, Take away all iniquity, and accept that which is good; so will we render as bullocks the offering of our lips. Assyria shall not save us; we will not ride upon horses; neither will we say any more to the work of our hands, Ye are our gods; for in thee the fatherless findeth mercy."

1. COMPASSION.—God felt their sins. He suffered. In all their affliction He was afflicted, even in those which their own sins brought on them. As Creator He saw His work spoiled. As ruler He saw His subjects denature themselves with rebellion. As Father He saw His children bereave themselves.

2. PETITIONS.—They cannot be taken back without wanting it and they can't want it without, first, a conviction of their badness. They cannot get rid of their badness without confessing it. Let no sinner deceive himself. Whether he sins against God or against some human being he must confess it, if he wants forgiveness. No superficial consciousness of sin will do. The petition recognizes God alone as the source of cleansing from iniquity, the only real power to save, and not the gods of the nations nor the powerful Assyrians nor Egyptians with their cavalry. The petition must be genuine, not with sacrifices nor gold alone, but with true words. It must be thorough — "all iniquity" for they were guilty of all.

3. VOWS.—Vows must accompany the petitions, two vows, to praise and to trust God. Egypt and Assyria and their idols have failed them. The vow will have two values—will make penitence permanent and give them an objective. It is right to make vows to God, but more right to pay them.

II.

Inducements Offered. 4-8.

"I will heal their backsliding, I will love them freely; for mine anger is turned away from him. I will be as the dew unto Israel: he shall blossom as the lily, and cast forth his roots as Lebanon. His branches shall spread, and his beauty shall be as the olive-tree, and his smell as Lebanon. They that dwell under his shadow shall return; they shall revive as the grain, and blossom as the vine: the scent thereof shall be as the wine of Lebanon. Ephraim shall say, What have I to do any more with idols? I have answered, and will regard him: I am like a green fir tree; from me is thy fruit found."

1. CURE.—The best thing He can do for them is to so forgive as to take away the taint and the tendency.

2. LOVE.—It is love that prompts the curing, but they will be made conscious of it—a wonderful love, with perfect willingness on His part and perfect unworthiness on their part. The wonder of it is that His anger passes away entirely.

3. VITALITY.—Further, He promises positive as well as negative blessings. The one special blessing which He promises is a happy, vigorous, fruitful life. In this He uses the figure drawn from nature. The general figure of the vine is what He has in mind, but it is a sort of universal vine, possessing the beauties, the virtues, the utilities of all growing plants. The soil has been good always; the husbandman's care He has already bestowed on it.

Now, when it is responsive to His love, He will be like the dew that refreshes the leaves and dissolves the soil and enables the plant to gather its nutritive elements. The masses of vapor that come up from the Mediterranean sea are equal to heavier showers in our country for moistening the ground and keeping vegetation alive.

The effect of this on Israel will be marked and manifold. It will give this vine a beauty of blossom like the graceful lily, a strength of root like the cedar of Lebanon, that strikes into the deepest soil and grapples the earth's foundation stones; a spread of foliage, a beauty and a fruitfulness like the olive tree; a sweetness of scent like the odoriferous trees and flowers that spread over the sides of Mount Lebanon.

Still more is promised. The national life will be so good that the individuals shall dwell under its sheltering and comforting branches. They will take on new life as the drooping corn after the reviving showers, and blossom out like vines, they will be refreshed as with the aroma of Lebanon's best wine. Verse 8 is rather difficult. The name Ephraim presents no difficulty, for the tribe of Ephraim was the strongest of all the ten tribes, and led the others in forming the northern kingdom. For that reason the kingdom was often called by the tribal name. Ephraim, when he sees the promised favor bestowed, will exclaim: "I have no further use for idols; the Lord is sufficient for me from this time forth."

III.

The Alternatives. 9.

"Who is wise, that he may understand these things? prudent, that he may know them? for the ways of Jehovah are right, and the just shall walk in them, but transgressors shall fall therein."

Hosea draws up the contrasts. One who is wise and prudent can see how wise and good is this offer of God's. Seeing its wisdom makes one more wise. Under His actions are profound principles of mercy and justice, which blend. The consciences of all prove God to be right. The mercy which the wise choose becomes the condemnation of those who transgress and refuse to repent. God's offered mercy is a savior of life unto life, or of death unto death. We know that Israel turned away in rebellion from God's entreaty and went on rapidly to her doom.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

Among the prophets of Israel Jeremiah alone can bear comparison with him, and even here we feel inclined to value Hosea higher, as the forerunner and pioneer. Why is it that Hosea is so often misconceived in this, his great importance? He has not rendered it easy for us to do him justice, for his book is unusually obscure and difficult. It is in a way more than any other book individual and subjective. What Hosea gives us are real monologues, the ebullitions of a deeply moved heart, torn by grief, in all its varying moods and sentiments. But it is exactly this subjectivity and this individuality which gives to the book of Hosea its special charm and irresistible efficacy. He is the master of heart-born chords, which for power and fervor are possessed by no other prophet. It is not too much to say that the entire faith and theology of later Israel grew out of Hosea, that all its characteristic views and ideas are to be first found in this book.—Cornill.

How have Hosea's prophecies been fulfilled? It must be remembered that all God's prophecy is conditional. It expresses God's purpose, which is so mysteriously conditioned and limited by man's folly and obstinacy. Yet in spirit, if not in the letter, it has been and is being fulfilled. Israel of the return was always held to represent the whole and not a part of the nation. After it returned from Babylon it never again forsook Jehovah for other gods. The second David has appeared in Christ, and the promised blessings have been granted through Him in a way utterly transcending all that Hosea could have anticipated.—Kirkpatrick.

Nobody can make you sin. There are not enough devils in hell to make you do a wrong thing unless you want to do it. Satan can help you along the road at a pretty lively rate if you wish to go that way, but he cannot compel you to sin.

Neither do you sin because of any accident of birth, nor by reason of your surroundings. When we fall into sin it is our own iniquity, and nobody is directly responsible for our sin but ourselves. Those who lead another into sin are responsible for their own sin in so doing, but we cannot lay the sin which we commit to the charge of any but ourselves.—Spillman.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. What is the best for one to get a vivid idea of how God loves him?
2. Why is sorrow so valuable an experience?
3. Is repentance essential for every one?
4. Why is the experience of God's mercy necessary to the richest life?
5. Ought one ever to break a vow?
6. How does God suffer on account of our sins?
7. Has God as definite a purpose for each nation as He had for Israel?
8. Has He a definite purpose for each person?

Young Mothers

No young woman, in the joy of coming motherhood, should neglect to prepare her system for the physical ordeal she is to undergo. The health of both she and her coming child depends largely upon the care she bestows upon herself during the waiting months. Mother's Friend prepares the expectant mother's system for the coming event, and its use makes her comfortable during all the term. It works with and for nature, and by gradually expanding all tissues, muscles and tendons, involved, and keeping the breasts in good condition, brings the woman to the crisis in splendid physical condition. The baby too is more apt to be perfect and strong where the mother has thus prepared herself for nature's supreme function. No better advice could be given a young expectant mother than that she use Mother's Friend; it is a medicine that has proven its value in thousands of cases. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

Chews the Way to Health

What are you doing to give your children sound and healthy teeth? Out of 11,374 children inspected by the Medical Inspector in the schools of Toronto nearly 3,000 cases of physical defects were found. Of these 2,027 were credited to decayed and imperfectly formed teeth. Sound teeth and good bones come from thoroughly chewing a food that is rich in the phosphates. You can't build them with mushy porridges, soggy pastries or sweetmeats. Shredded Whole Wheat contains all the necessary phosphates in a digestible form. You HAVE to chew

SHREDDED WHEAT

The crispness of the shreds compels thorough chewing and a thorough mixing with saliva, which is the first process in digestion.

Shredded Wheat Biscuit every morning for breakfast, served with milk or cream, will build sturdy, robust youngsters and is a preventive of stomach and bowel disorders so common to children. Being ready-cooked and ready-to-serve it is so easy to prepare a nourishing meal with it in combination with fresh or preserved fruits—a meal that is deliciously satisfying to grown-ups as well as youngsters. DEATHS IN STORM'S WAKE

Several Motor Boats Are Reported Lost on Lake Erie.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 1.—Four dead and a score injured was the toll of the terrific wind and rain storm which swept over Cleveland and vicinity yesterday, wrecking buildings, overturning boats in Lake Erie, breaking down wire poles, tearing up trees and smashing windows and signs on the streets. The storm was general in Ohio and very destructive. Three lives were lost at Lorain.

All of the dead were out in row boats which were capsized by the sudden wind which sprung up out of a calm. In Cleveland Henry J. Render, 40, was fishing in the lake at the mouth of Rocky river, when the storm broke. His body was recovered.

Anton Malico, Gaivoni Cinciciado and Marani Giovanni were rowing off Edgewater park. All went down, but Giovanni, who clung to the boat, was rescued, but died half an hour later in a hospital.

Bathers Caught Under Roof.

Twenty bathers at Edgewater park, who took shelter in the bathhouse were buried when the roof fell on them. George Richards, 14, and Frank Heinberger, 11, were so seriously injured they will probably die. E. A. Wright had both legs broken when a wagon was blown on him.

John Gravini was struck by a piece of cornice blown off a eleven-story building downtown and his skull was fractured. Several were injured by falling signs. Three other men were hurt when a scaffold on which they were working collapsed in the wind.

The wind reached a velocity of sixty miles an hour and played havoc with frail buildings in the parks. A big balloon broke away from its moorings in Luna park, and, flying high in the air, was struck by lightning and burned. Roofs of factories were carried away and scores of signs and plate glass windows were wrecked. The Tudor village at the Ideal Home exposition was partly demolished. The storm tore down poles and wires all over the city and halted street traffic for hours.

The loss to property in Cleveland and vicinity will run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Three Drown At Lorain.

Lorain, Ohio, June 1.—Mrs. Ethel Early and her two brothers, David and Thomas Longstreet, were drowned yesterday when the boat in which they were fishing off Lorain harbor in Lake Erie was struck by a wind storm which swept over this section, and overturned. Mrs. Early's body has been recovered.

Two other rowboats with two men in each also capsized, but the occupants were saved. W. Wilson and Matt Bryan, both of Florida, swam ashore while the other men were picked up by the tug Tancraft, which reached port safely after having gone ashore shortly after the rescue.

The storm did thousands of dollars' damage in Lorain county. Several motor boats are reported to have gone down.

Watchers at Willough Beach, east of Cleveland, say they saw a launch off the park disappear during the storm. It was out too far to see its name or ascertain how many persons were aboard.

T. B. Seykes, who succeeded in making a landing in his motor boat during the storm at Rocky river, said he passed a motor boat in which were five men, which was evidently disabled.

Scared to Death.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 1.—With the wind blowing sixty-four miles an hour, as recorded by the weather bureau, and rain that fell in torrents, a storm swept over this section yesterday leaving a trail of death and destruction. Ethel Makraud, aged 9, was whirled into the door of her home by the wind and fell dead from fright.

George A. Martin, president of the Pittsburg Tube company, is dying in a hospital with a fractured skull, caused by a falling sign. Signs which were blown down injured a score of pedestrians.

The paint mills of the United States Steel corporation had four sixty-foot stacks blown over, which crashed through the roof of the mill, necessitating the shutting down of the plant.

Reports of damage are coming in from all over the state, especially the oil fields, where hundreds of derricks were wrecked.

Lightning Kills Mayor.

Blaine, Ark., June 1.—Mayor A. E. Wood of Scranton, Ark., was killed by lightning here yesterday. Timothy Allen and Joseph Allen, father-in-law and brother-in-law, respectively, of Wood, were injured.

F. S. Rexford, 615 New York Life building, Kansas City, Mo., says: "I had a severe attack of a cold, which settled in my back and kidneys, and I was in great pain from my trouble. A friend recommended Foley Kidney Pills, and I used two bottles of them and they have done me a world of good." For sale by all druggists.

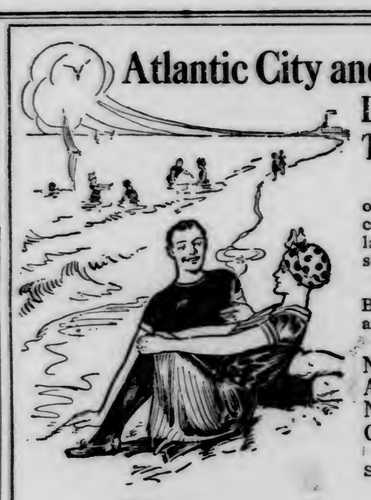

SUICIDE LEADS TO PANIC UPON TRAIN.

Fort Smith, Ark., June 1.—F. P. Goodwin, a building contractor of this city, threw himself in front of a St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern passenger train backing into Fort Smith from Van Buren and was killed. The suicide caused a panic among the passengers, which resulted in injury to four of them when they jumped from the moving train. The train porter's cries, together with the shriek of emergency brakes, started a stampede among the passengers. None was seriously injured.

ZION CITY ELECTIONS BEFORE GRAND JURY.

Waukegan, Ill., June 1.—A special session of the grand jury has been called here to inquire into alleged illegal voting, false affidavits of residence and other violations of the election law in the town, city and school elections at Zion City. The complaint was filed with the state's attorney by W. S. Miller, an independent. Evidence to be submitted to the grand jury, which will meet June 5, has been gathered by Detective O. O. Wiard of New York, a member of the National Purity league.

VORBANICH BOUND OVER

Defense Makes Point of Fact Deputy Sheriffs Had No Warrant.

Virginia, Minn., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—After a preliminary hearing before Judge Carey in municipal court that began yesterday at 4 p. m. and concluded this morning, Peter Vorbanich, the Waterhen settler, accused of felonious assault, was held to the next grand jury at Hibbing June 6 in $1,000 bonds.

It is expected he will furnish the bonds and be released some time today. M. H. McMahon of Duluth looked after the accused's interests, while Deputy County Attorney Boyle appeared for the state.

The defendant did not take the stand, but from McMahon's course it is expected that the defense will contend that the deputy sheriffs were trespassers on Vorbanich's property and he had a right to protect himself, even by shooting, since they were not armed with warrants, when it is claimed a shot was fired at Deputy Sheriff Lirette May 21.

Moubern Tells Story.

Deputy Sheriffs John Moubern and Albert Darwin were the only witnesses and their evidence in the main was about the same as printed in The Herald, although they disagreed on some points. Mrs. Vorbanich was at the trial, having come from the homestead to be with her husband.

Deputy Sheriff John Moubern of Duluth was the first witness called. He stated that he and three other deputies, Charles Lirette, Albert Darwin and George Murray, accompanied by Mayor Jacob Saari of Eveleth, left that place May 21 and proceeded to the lumber camp, about two and a half miles from the home of the defendant, where they were joined by Supt. Irwin, in charge of the camp, which belongs to the Weyerhaeuser interests. The party went to the Vorbanich homestead and Deputies Moubern and Darwin and Messrs. Irwin and Saari went into the house for about a minute, after which they all left and shortly afterwards witness went back and with Deputies Darwin and Murray entered and talked with the defendant. Deputy Lirette came a few minutes later, but did not enter the house, according to the witness, who said Mrs. Vorbanich pointed a gun at Lirette and said, "Get out of house."

Vorbanich Was Armed.

The witness said that the three deputies left the house and started for the timber, Lirette following a short distance behind and Mr Vorbanich with his rifle and Mrs. Vorbanich with a shotgun with the barrels pointed in their direction, being about 150 or 200 feet behind the three deputies and a shorter distance behind Lirette when the witness and the two with him reached the woods. The witness testified that after he and the two deputies with him had gone into the woods about fifty feet, being about thirty or forty feet ahead of Lirette, he heard two rifle shots, the sounds coming from the direction of the defendant.

On cross-examination it was brought out that neither Deputy Moubern nor any of the other deputies had any warrant for the arrest of the defendant, but were there in their official capacity. Albert Darwin in his testimony differed from Moubern as to the distance Vorbanich was from Lirette when the shot was fired.

HIBBING PERSONALS.

Hibbing, Minn., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Edna Hannan, who recently resigned as chief night operator for the Mesabe Telephone company here, left for her home in Toledo, Ohio, yesterday, accompanied as far as Duluth by Miss Sarah Champion and Miss Winnie Kettle.

CHISHOLM YOUTH RUNS FROM HOME

Caught in Hibbing and Is Returned to His Parents in Nearby Village.

Hibbing, Minn., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Molinski, a boy, who was picked up by the police Monday, has been turned over to the Chisholm police. He was found sleeping under a car near the tracks when the patrolman saw him and said that he came from Duluth. After a severe talking to he was turned over to the Chisholm police when it was discovered that came from that place. The only reason that he gave for running away was just that he got tired of Chisholm and wanted a change. He promised to be good in future and not to run away again.

ADDRESSES CLASS UPON "EFFICIENCY"

Superintendent Denfeld Gives Advice to Tower High Graduates.

Tower, Minn., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Vermilion opera house was taxed to its capacity Tuesday night when the commencement exercises of the high school were held.

The program recently printed in The Herald was followed. Supt. Denfeld of the Duluth schools delivered the address to the class speaking upon "Efficiency," and he received close attention.

The musical numbers were well rendered and displayed to good advantage the high attainments of the several performers. The class motto is "Vincit Qui Perstat," (he conquers who persists.) The graduates are: Eleda Bystrom, Tower; Harvey Gordon, Tower; Nellie Pedersan, Tower; Signey Skoberg, Tower; Esther Strand, Tower; Hilmer Swanson, Soudan.

HIBBING POSTAL SAVINGS BANK.

Hibbing, Minn., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first postal savings bank in the state was opened today in the postoffice. No plans have yet been made public for the enlargement of the premises, and the new department will greatly increase the number of foreigners who attend the office around pay days.

TOWER BRIEFS.

The shaft of the Cannon mine is down some 135 feet, with splendid prospects.

J. D. Murphy left Wednesday for Duluth to attend the meeting of the Northern Minnesota Development association.

The Vermilion Boat & Outing club will erect four or five new cottages to accommodate their increasing patronage.

M. Shapiro has sold the residence located at the northeast corner of Main and Pine streets to Charles Damberg for $900.

SERVICE IMPROVED.

Hibbing Has Better Telegraph Connection With Duluth.

Hibbing, Minn., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The telegraph lines along the new route to Duluth via Brooklyn and Mitchell were finished yesterday. The changes in the main line track of the D. M. & N. also necessitated changes in the telegraph and telephone lines to Mitchell along the line of the D. M. & N. The change in the telephone lines is not yet complete but this will be done in a couple of days. Improvement has been made in the telegraph service to Duluth in the past month. Some time ago complaints were made of messages handed in around 11:45 to noon having to wait until nearly 1:30 before reaching their destination, but now this much needed improvement has been made.

TACKLES WOOD ALCOHOL.

Hibbing Child Has Very Close Call From Death.

Hibbing, Minn., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eddie Curran, aged 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Curran, got hold of a bottle of wood alcohol at his home here and was in the act of swallowing some of the contents when his mother caught him and dashed the bottle from his lips. Medical aid soon removed any possibility of serious results.

HUMAN WAIF IS FOUND ON TRAIN.

Hibbing, Minn., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—A little, ruddy-faced, fair-haired boy was found on the Duluth bound Missabe train when it was backing down to Mitchell at 12:05 yesterday, and the conductor stopped the train and put the youngster off sending him back to the police station here under the care of an adult passenger. The little lad has evidently come from a good home. His clothes are rough and strong, such as any well cared for working man's child might have. The boy appears to be about 4 or 5 years of age and does not speak any English.

EVELETH STUDENTS ARE MAKING GOOD

Many of Them Doing Well in Higher Schools of Learning.

Eveleth, Minn., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Graduates of the local schools who are attending higher schools of learning in various parts of the country are making good, according to word received by relatives and friends.

VIRGINIA'S IS THE BEST LIKED

Franchise Granted By That City's Council to Interurban Line Popular.

Virginia, Minn., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—City Attorney Poirier reported to the council last night that at a recent meeting of attorneys of the range towns it had been the consensus of opinion that the franchise granted by the Virginia council for the proposed interurban electric railway line was the best in most particulars, and, with a few minor changes, a copy was sent to the firm of Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell, Duluth, for its consideration, and word was received that copies of the proposed franchise would shortly be sent to all of the range towns through which it is proposed to extend the line, including Virginia, Hibbing, Chisholm, Eveleth, Gilbert, Mountain Iron, Buhl and possibly others, the length of the line to be about forty miles.

Alderman E. C. A. Johnson suggested that he had information that an 80-acre plat of land known as the Mary Turney place, south of town, could be purchased for an incinerator plant site, and suggested that some action should be taken. The matter was referred to the city building and property committee.

on "The Passing of Plutocracy," after the banquet tonight.

When asked if he had any preference as between Governors Wilson and Harmon, he replied that it was altogether too early to make any predictions as to who would be the Democratic candidate for president.

"The attitude of congress may change the entire situation between now and the time to select the man," he said.

Mr. Bryan said that he had not prepared a speech which he would make tonight, but he intimated that his remarks would be along the line of a letter sent to the banquet in Indianapolis when he found that the funeral of the late Tom Johnson would prevent his attendance.

Sees Perils to the Party.

This speech would be brought down to date, he said, by a reference to three things that have occurred since, which Mr. Bryan regards as dangerous and threatens the party.

First.—The efforts on the part of the protectionists in congress to commit the Democratic party to a tariff on wool.

Second.—The effort of Minority Leader Martin in the senate to form an alliance between the Lorimer Democrats and the Lorimer Republicans to defeat the La Follette resolution.

Third.—The action of the supreme court of the United States in amending the anti-trust law for the benefit of the trusts.

Beginning of a Fight.

Continuing, Mr. Bryan said that if the protectionists win out in the caucus it is the beginning of the fight instead of the end. He is satisfied that the Democratic voters are in no mood "to be betrayed into the hands of the protected interests."

Mr. Bryan said:

"It has been known that Chairman Underwood was not a leader in the tariff reform movement, but it had been hoped there were enough tariff reformers on the committee to control it."

Former Governor Folk of Missouri and Governor John Burke of North Dakota were also among the early arrivals. The latter has a well defined boom with him for the nomination for vice president, according to Judge Wade of Iowa. Judge Wade said that it was the sentiment among the Democrats that, with an Eastern man at the head of the ticket, Governor Burke would bring the Northwestern states into the Democratic camp, in view of his remarkable series of victories in an overwhelmingly Republican state like North Dakota.

interpretation on the word. I came to be frank and to give you the exact facts—that you may put your own construction on them.

Owns the Securities.

"The subsidiary companies have their own directors and officers and have the right to act independently, but as the Steel corporation owns the securities, if the conduct of a subsidiary company was antagonistic in any way, it would only be a question of time when the administration of that subsidiary company would be changed."

Had Reciprocity Hearings.

Public hearings on the Canadian reciprocity bill practically were concluded by the senate finance committee yesterday, and next Wednesday was fixed as the time when a vote will be taken on the question of reporting the measure.

No amendments to the bill, other than that offered by Senator Root on the paper clause, will have any chance for consideration, it was authoritatively stated by a member of the committee. The Root amendment, it was added, will have to be materially modified before it can be accepted.

It was decided to request officers of the Associated Press and American Newspaper Publishers' association to appear next Monday to answer some questions in regard to the paper and pulp section of the agreement.

Offered To Contribute.

Lumber, paper and woolen manufacturing interests, according to testimony given by Joseph H. Allen of the firm of Allen & Graham of New York, offered to contribute to the fight being made against reciprocity by some of the officers of the National Grange. Mr. Allen, whose firm is employed to help the grange in its fight against the bill, acknowledged that William H. Wood, president of the American Woolen company; Arthur C. Hastings, president of the American Paper & Pulp association; Chester W. Lyman, assistant to the president of the International Paper company, and Leonard Bronson, general manager of the National Lumber Manufacturers' association, had volunteered to contribute to the fight against reciprocity.

recently succeeded Juan Estrada as president of the republic, shall be chief in the new Pacific nation, while Estrada shall resume rule as president of the Atlantic departments.

Estrada, who led the revolution against Zelaya and then quit the presidency to Diaz, is said to be on his way to New Orleans. It is declared here he will be in favor of the split, so that the Liberals and Conservatives may have equal shares in the republic and end dissension.

Estrada Forced to Resign.

Last February, as a result of a plot against Estrada, who was then president, the ammunition barracks situated not far from the palace were blown up. Estrada and Gen. Mena, minister of war, gave their personal attention toward extinguishing the blaze. Several sentinels were killed and thousands of rifles and much ammunition were destroyed.

A state of siege was declared, and after an investigation many opponents of the Estrada government, including some of the most prominent men in the republic, were arrested.

Eventually, on account of the disturbed state of conditions and difficulties which arose between him and Gen. Mena, Estrada resigned the presidency.

Carpets, not otherwise provided for of wool, flax or cotton and mats, matting and rugs of cotton, proposed duty, 25 per cent; existing duty, 49.98 per cent.

On Ad Valorem Basis.

The new duties, together with the present duties, as figured on an ad valorem basis by Chairman Underwood are as follows:

Raw wool, proposed duty, 20 per cent; existing duty, 44.31 per cent. Noils, waste, shoddies, etc., proposed duty, 20 per cent; existing duty, 38.95 per cent.

Full Chance for Debate.

The fight between the advocates of free raw wool and those who favored a duty "for revenue only," was interesting enough in itself, but the advent of William J. Bryan into the fray a few days ago served to stir matters up to a still higher pitch of intensity.

The Underwood bill imposes a largely reduced duty on raw wool. The fullest opportunity will be given for discussion in the caucus today, however, and the advocates of free wool will get a straightaway vote on that proposition.

Chairman Underwood of the ways and means committee was confident today that Mr. Bryan's entrance into the fight would not materially change the vote, and he looked forward to a ratification of the revenue measure by a two-thirds vote of all house Democrats.

Wonder What Bryan Wants.

There has been much comment in Washington as to Mr. Bryan's purpose in demanding that the Democrats vote for free raw wool, and many political observers take it to be a forerunner of further activity by the Nebraskan in 1912. Whether this activity will go so far as another candidacy for the presidential nomination or whether it will be confined to assisting in the selection of a candidate agreeable to all factions is being widely discussed.

An effort will be made to reach a vote in the caucus today. If that is found to be impossible, the house, scheduled to meet tomorrow, will have but a brief session and the caucus will be immediately resumed.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

WOULD SAVE THE WOMAN

Petitions Being Circulated in Canadian Soo for Convicted Murderess.

Widespread Interest Shown in Effort to Prevent Her Being Executed.

Sault Ste Marie, Mich., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Following a lapse of two weeks the women of Sault Ste Marie, Ont., have again begun the circulation of petitions calling for the commutation of the death sentence recently imposed upon Mrs. Angelina Neopolitana for the murder of her husband.

Since the woman was sentenced to hang on Aug. 9, following the birth of her child, interest has been spasmodically taken in the case in all corners of the country.

Today the Canadian city where she is held a prisoner has again been flooded with petitions.

All Societies Interested.

Practically every society has taken up the move and petitions have been placed in all the public buildings for signatures.

For the first time the woman appears to realize the fate hanging over her. She talks almost daily with priests and is now a student of her prayer book and her former air of unconcern has completely disappeared.

SETTLES HIS DEBT AFTER MANY YEARS

North Dakotan, Seeing Death Ahead, Liquidates Thirty-Year Obligation.

Fargo, N. D., June 1.—Up in the northern part of the state is a man who has long passed the allotted three score and ten years of man's age. He is poor in this world's goods, his family is widely scattered, and it will be only a few days before he will pass the threshold over into the next world.

Thirty years ago he contracted an indebtedness in Fargo, and was not able then to pay it. He moved away. The firm went out of business in 1883; both members are now dead. The widow of one member of the firm has also passed away, but the widow of the other member is alive and still lives here in Fargo.

Tuesday, the postmaster here received the money for the original account and turned it over to the widow. The old man who contracted the indebtedness wanted to pay the interest as well, but did not have the money, and his end was very near. But friends write that he now feels better that he has been able to discharge this debt so long due, and of which even the record has long been lost.

HORSE RUNS AHEAD OF AN OMAHA TRAIN

Sets Pace for Two Miles, Then Striking Bridge, Jumps Into Creek.

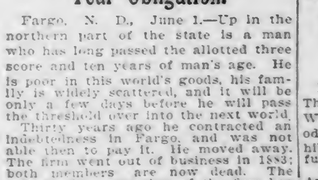

Couderay, Wis., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—The passengers on a south bound Omaha train yesterday afternoon were treated to a surprise when they witnessed something not on the time card, in the way of a race between a horse and the train, in which the horse was the pacemaker.

Two miles this side of Radisson the animal jumped on the track and started running ahead of the train. For two miles he kept ahead and in coming to the Eddy creek trestle bridge, just north of here, he started across on the ties, getting over about fifty feet of the bridge, when he suddenly jumped over the edge, falling a distance of thirty feet, turning a part somersault and landing on his neck in four feet of water. He rolled over, crossed the stream, ran up the bank on the other side and started across the bridge again, toward the train. He then fell in between the ties with all four legs. With the assistance of the passengers the train crew removed the horse after thirty minutes' work.

Soon as he reached solid ground he got up and started on a run toward the lumber yard here, apparently not any the worse from his acrobatic feat.

Fordville, N. D., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sheriff E. G. Arnot of Walsh county has adopted a new method of capturing violators of the prohibition law and he worked it successfully on Ben Hanson of this city.

Coming into town during the night, Arnot secreted himself about the premises of Hanson's place, and when the proprietor arrived in the morning to open up, he was immediately placed under arrest. The sheriff has discovered that arrival in a town during the light of day sometimes has the effect of causing a very general scattering of those whom he most urgently wishes to see. Hanson is held to the district court under $500 bonds.

FELON ON HIS FINGER

Causes Death of Former Calumet, Mich., Man.

Fergus Falls, Minn., June 1.—The danger that lurks in an ordinary felon on the finger is illustrated in the case of Hogan Jacobson, aged 62, a well-known resident of the town of Tordenskjeld, who died at St. Luke's hospital here Sunday from heart failure, resulting from blood poisoning.

Mr. Jacobson had a felon on his finger some time ago. He did not think it anything serious, but it continued to grow worse, and he finally consulted a physician. The trouble had by this time progressed too far, however, and little could be done for him, his system having become infected with the poison. He failed quite rapidly and passed away.

Mr. Jacobson came here from Calumet, Mich., where he had resided from boyhood. He was in the employ of the Calumet & Hecla Copper company for twenty years and later engaged in planting there. He was an ardent temperance worker, and was one of the charter members of the first Scandinavian Temperance society established in America. He was a member of the Odd Fellows lodge.

He is survived by his wife and a family of eight children. These are: A. J. Jacobson, C. M. Larson and Clara and Laura Jacobson of Minneapolis, Harvey Jacobson of Michigan, Leonard Jacobson and Flora and Rudolph Jacobson, the last two named residing at home. The funeral was held Tuesday.

LUMBERJACKS TAKE FIRST

Cummings Easy and Three Runs Are Gathered in First Inning.

Worman Goes in After Game Is Lost and Holds Enemy.

Duluth, 3; Wausau, 4.

Yesterday's loss can be told in short and ugly language. If any one were disposed to rake over the dead ashes in hectic spirit. It was lost in the very first inning, for the very reason that Commander O'Brien did not think fast enough to pull a pitcher who didn't have a thing—not even hope.

Three runs is a bad handicap to fight against right from the jumpoff from the barrier, and the Jacks gleefully and without apparent effort gathered three off the slow and curveless slants of Smiling Al before O'Brien woke up to the fact that Cummings wasn't going good.

Worman was sent for on a hurry call, and only one run was gathered off his benders during the rest of the scrap. Judgment wins and loses baseball games, and it does look to the run up the bunk as if the Orator failed to use the best brand yesterday.

The pathos of the thing can be told in few words. Four hits and a sacrifice were gathered off Cummings in said succession. With a total of three runs, O'Brien called Worman into the game, and the Jacks were retired without further humiliation for we'uns.

Either the Sox slept too long or not enough on the holiday. Some dumb base-running was exhibited that was funny, or pathetic.

In the fifth Holstrom beat out a dinky infield hit and went to second on a pass to Altermott. Miller got a short double, and Holstrom, hesitating between home and third base, deciding not, was run down. In the eighth Menelee singled, and when Johnson struck out he was found half asleep down the paths and was run down between first and second.

Give the Sox credit for fighting for the game every inch of the way. If—that same old if—Cummings had been yanked before the three runs were over, the chances are we would have won the game. With Winona going the way she sweetly is, we need them all. But the trio of counters in the initial "done" the business.

In the first, old Biddy Dolan stepped into a curveless offering and smote it over the center field fence for one of the longest hits ever made at Athletic park. Then Johnson singled, and Crangle singled, and Brown sacrificed both runners along and they both came over when Dunbar, a pitcher at that, singled.

Here Worman was injected or projected into the contest, and Walliser hit a dinky fly to the modern rel man and Robert promptly wheeled and peggel her to first before Dunbar, who is large and slow of pedal movement, could get back.

For four rounds we went scoreless. In the fifth we gathered two runs through some artistic club swinging.

Holstrom beat out a very, oh, yes, very, dinky infield hit. Col. Altermott drew a pass and Miller got a short two-base hit, on which Holstrom was caught between third and home by his own indecision. Both runners moved up while Chesty was being teased along the paths, both scoring when Hardgrove hit a clean single past third. The next two hitters were easy deaths.

In the fifth Wausau also gathered its last run, the one that thwarted our warm, pent up and palpitating hopes. After one was down Fennell was safe on Little Eva's error. At this point Biddy Dolan rather recklessly stepped into a fast one from Red Robert's mitt. The old boy thought it was a curve ball, and it was a straight, fast one. The ball hit him squarely on the jaw, breaking his cheek bone and forcing the bone under the flesh. The blow sent Dolan to the hospital and Stark to first base.

Johnson fouled to Leber, but Fennell came across when Crangle singled between first and second. When things looked dark for us, Stark foolishly allowed himself to be caught off third, Worman, Leber, Altermott and Hardgrove participating in the play.

In the ninth we made a great try for the game and fell short by a nose. If Michael Angelo Kramer has sustained his reputation as a pinch hitter, we would have won or tied at the most conservative view of the standpatter. He didn't, and we lost.

Holstrom struck out to open the inning, thereby throwing a large bucketfull of cold water on a lot of noise and a lot of hope. Altermott drew a base on balls and when Miller singled hope came from behind the stove and rubbed its eyes.

When Hardgrove singled past first and Col. Altermott scampered home on the play, hope forgot to be miserable and yelled right out in unrestrained glee. With Miller on third, O'Brien, limpy leg and all, came in as a batter for Worman. He attempted the squeeze and failed, striking out, though Johnson dropped the ball. There was still hope as Leber drew a base on balls and the sacks were filled.

Here was the chance for Kramer to become immortal, at least as far as the bushes went, and he responded not, going out on a weak, insignificant, durned grounder to Baker.

Young Mister Baker was thrown into the game at the end of the sixth, because it was feared that the Sox were becoming rather too familiar with the curves of Fennell. The move proved rather wise, considering everything.

EAU CLAIRE EASY FOR SUPERIOR

Superior had little trouble yesterday in taking the opening game from Eau Claire. The score was 11 to 3 in favor of the Taylorites, and the runs came from timely hitting of Chase and Lampman and some untimely errors upon the part of the Angels. Dahlgren was on the mound for Superior and held the visitors safely in check.

The contest was slow and uninteresting.

SAILING SCHEDULE FOR SEASON IS ANNOUNCED

With the announcement of the full schedule of the sailing races of the Duluth Boat club for the 1911 season, coupled with the official opening of the club on Tuesday, the regular summer festivities and sports of the big Duluth water organization may be said to be on.

Capt. Charles D. Brewer of the sailing department of the club has planned some original features for the present season. One of the features worthy of comment, is the special class races, which will be sailing contests between the boats that are owned by the club.

A special committee consisting of William Craig, Sibbald McDonald and Phil Holgate has been appointed to get sailors out to race these boats, and the novice class races promises to be one of the interesting events of the season.

Special races have been planned for carnival week. The second day of the carnival will be set aside for the sailors, who will take up the program with the oarsmen.

As stated in the schedule, there will be a race in every class that day, and prizes will be awarded each member of the winning crew, and in one of the races each member of the first two boats in will receive a special prize.

American Thermos kits have been secured as prizes. They are very appropriate to sailors, as they will carry anything from a lunch to a bracer, and sailors are versatile and temperamental in their tastes.

Everything points to a very successful season. The sailors are keen for the opening of competition, and the calling of the first race on June 17 promises to usher in one of the most successful and enthusiastic seasons that has ever been enjoyed by the sailors of the club.

PROPOSED SCHEDULE OF SAILING RACES FOR 1911.

READY FOR POLO MATCH

New York, June 1.—The English and American polo teams motored down to Meadowbrook today hoping that the weather would permit the first match for the international polo cup to be played this afternoon without further delay. Early conditions looked promising. A hard night's rain that left pools of water all over the polo field ceased just before dawn, and at breakfast time a bright sun and a dry northwester were at work drying up the turf.

The prospect of playing on a sodden field instead of a hard and fast one was regarded as mitigating against the long-hitting and hard-riding Americans and yesterday's odds of 5 to 1 on the first match dropped today to 4 to 1 and even to 3 to 1.

It was felt by the experts that the English short passage game might match up to the long hitting of the Westbury brothers or Devereux Milburn of the American team and that the visitors had a better chance of dribbling the ball better on a soft turf. The English pony is shod with a flange on the inside of the shoe which the foreigners believe is better for quick turning and riding off, especially on moist grass.

The officials of the polo association said this forenoon that every effort would be made to have the first ball chucked in at 4:30 o'clock and with eight periods of 7½ minutes each and three minutes' rest between except at half time when seven minutes is allowed, it is hoped to clear up the match an hour before sundown.

LIVING COST HIS THEME

G. G. Hartley Tells How Agricultural Development Will Reduce It.

Urges the Importance of the Back to the Land Movement.

G. G. Hartley had for his subject before the Northern Minnesota Development association today, "The Effect of Agricultural Development on the Cost of Living." He spoke as follows:

"I am pleased to meet so many people interested in the development of Northern Minnesota.

"Our Duluth people, and those of other cities, towns and villages over this country, are agitated about the high cost of living. The matter has been discussed by the pulpit, the press, candidates for political office, and last, but not least, by the housewives who purchase the family supplies. Many causes have been ascribed; among the rest meat trusts, sugar trusts, cold storage plants, the profits of commission merchants and the high tariff.

"Many measures of relief have been suggested such as dissolving trusts, cutting out the commission merchant, buying direct from the farmer through public markets, reducing the tariff on food supplies, wool, etc., and other plans, which, so far have proved ineffective and, generally speaking prices are still advancing.

"A large number of Duluth citizens and people from surrounding towns paraded our streets on the first day of last month carrying a red flag, and wound up by making vigorous speeches. They insisted that their living was costing them too much in labor and mental effort and that they were only getting one-fifth of what they earned. Some of them were from lands of oppression, and while they are living here better than they ever dreamed of at home, they naturally look for the worst of it from any government and have little respect for ours. I sympathize with the executive officer of any city who finds it his duty to sit idly by on a holiday and see the red flag flaunted up and down the public streets by the side of that flag that all people in this country ought to respect.

Tariff Not the Cause.

"It seems to me we need not look far for the high cost of living and for the only practical relief. It is not in the tariff. While the lowering or removing of the duties from certain articles of food would reduce their cost in cash to us, it will also reduce wages and the money in circulation, so that while we will buy food and clothes for less money, we will earn less money and make less profit in our business enterprise and the result will be the same. While those who would corner food supply and combine to hold up prices must be taken in hand and punished when they deserve it, the same as other criminals, it is not practical to eliminate the merchant. If roasting corporations, passing resolutions, and viewing with alarm, would reduce the cost of living, you could board at the best hotels of New York for $1 per day.

"Our living comes from the ground; food, wool, cotton, whisky, beer, wine, tobacco and practically everything we use or consume, necessary and unnecessary, is the product of agriculture—in fact, agriculture is the foundation of all wealth. Mines, railroads, and all industrials would be of little value without the product of the farm.

"When I came to Minnesota, 75 per cent of the people were in the country, and 25 per cent in the cities. Farm products were cheap. Farmers sold their milk in the cities and villages at 20 to 30 quarts for a dollar and butter sold for 6c to 15c and 25c per pound; potatoes, 15c to 30c a bushel, and other products accordingly. In fact, the farmer was seldom able to get cash for anything except wheat, flax and barley, and these averaged much lower in price than now; he frequently had to exchange his oats, vegetables, dairy and other products for store trade. People could live in the cities then very cheaply. It is all changed now. Instead of 75 per cent of the people in the country raising food and other supplies, we have only 50 per cent and instead of 25 per cent of the people in the cities consuming and not producing, we now have 50 per cent and still they are coming, and it is easy to see the cause for the advance in the cost of living. Milk sells for from 8c to 15c a quart and butter from 25c to 30c a pound, eggs, 25c to 30c a dozen. Flax that then sold for less than a dollar a bushel has brought an average price of $2.50 for the past year, and mind you, while these prices may ease off occasionally, the constant tendency will be upward and on every important advance a new high price record will be made on all form produce. So far as the world's supply is concerned, the resident of the city, town or village is a parasite. He consumes but does not produce. The bricklayer, stone mason and carpenter may build a church, public building or residence and they may work very hard, but they produce neither food nor clothing. They must buy these from the farmer and the more buyers the higher price. The broker or the merchant may tax his brain to the limit and break down with nervous prostration, but he is only a consumer and not a producer, and the more consumers we have in proportion to the producers, the higher will be the cost of living. The unyielding, ever effective law of supply and demand fixes the market price of our living as it does that of every other commodity. We may interrupt its action occasionally by raising or lowering the tariff, but in the end the general result will be the same.

Back to the Land.

If we would reduce the high cost of living, we must stop the flood of population now flowing from the country to the city, we must turn the tide and send some of these people back on to the land to be producers instead of consumers. How is this to be done?

"In the exigencies of political campaigns candidates for office tell us that all available government land has been taken; that railroad companies own a large portion of all vacant lands and pay no taxes on them; that big lumber companies buy up land and hold it for timber growth; that there are no more homesteads or opportunities for settlers. They also tell us that farm machinery manufacturers have combined and are robbing the farmer by advancing the prices of machinery, quoting a recent advance in the price of harvesters, and that transportation companies charge such high rates that they take all the profits from the farmer. Some intelligent newspaper editors and college professors are telling young men this sort of thing today; many a student will hear it during this month. This is all a mistake. There was never in this country such opportunities in the agricultural line for the young man as today and farming is more pleasant and profitable than ever before. There never was a better opportunity for a settler to secure a farm and make a good living from it, and if any man in this or any other city is dissatisfied with the price the farmer is asking him for his food or the wages paid by his employer, the best thing he can do is to get out on to the land and raise his own living. He will not find it all easy, there will be work, forest fires, bad roads, destruction of crops by the elements and many discouragements, especially for the beginner, but one year with another, and in the long run, it is the best business in this country for a man who wants to make an honest living and raise a family that will be a credit to himself and the community in which he lives, and there never was a more favorable time or place than the present in Northern Minnesota.

"I took a homestead, pre-emption and tree claim more than thirty-five years ago and have been raising grain on the prairie ever since. Another settler and I went partners. Our nearest neighbor was four miles away. We lived in a small house with earth floor; we plowed with oxen; my partner cooked and I herded the cattle. We had twelve oxen to each plow and worked two shifts, from sunrise until sunset; when the winter came, we returned to the logging woods to earn money for improvements. We put in the first of these winters in tents, stabling our cattle in brush-covered shacks and cooking by an open fire. I have a farm in this vicinity that I have operated for fifteen years and from which I have cleared 400 acres of timber. I have another eighty miles northwest of here which I have operated for ten years and from which I have cleared 700 acres of timber, 350 acres of which I have drained, so that I believe I have earned the right and should be able to speak intelligently on this subject.

Increases in Farm Values.

"When I took up my prairie land, I acquired title to the homestead by five years' residence and to the tree claim by raising trees on it. For the pre-emption claim I paid $2.50 per acre, and when all this was done, I could buy the odd numbered sections joining my land from the Northern Pacific for 45 cents an acre, so that the price I paid for my pre-emption claim amounted to 35 cents per acre more than the market price of the pre-emption, homestead and tree claims combined, saying nothing of the cost of improvements to hold the pre-emption claim. Now what was the value of the homestead right to me or any other settler of that date? A farm in this timber country would have no market for its produce then.

"Since that time nine separate railroad lines have been built into Duluth, four of these within the last year and a half and another is building this year, so that there are now about ten railroad lines running out of Duluth in different directions, through cut-over forest lands. Ninety per cent of these lands are fit for agriculture. Land for farming can be bought along these railroads within a mile or so of the stations for prices running anywhere from $2.00 to $10.00 an acre.

"It has been proclaimed against this region that a large portion of it is swamp. These swamp lands, not like those farther south or east, are the richest lands in the state. The black peat in a Northern Wisconsin or Minnesota bog carries a higher percentage of nitrogen than any barn manure. If the settler will cut the timber off of these lands as he clears them, the average market value on track near his farm will be $25.00 per acre. For part of my farm at Island I paid a railroad company $1.00 an acre and I took from a large portion of that land over $50.00 an acre of inferior timber and higher prices are now paid. Of course, I had to hire it cut and put on the cars. This a settler should do himself. The settler finds on these lands ample timber to build his first buildings, good water and a soil that will grow grain, vegetables and nutritious grasses for dairy herds.

"As to the lands being tied up by railroad companies, I will say one railroad company with headquarters in this city, owning more land in this county than all others, voluntarily placed all its lands on the tax rolls and the same company is running an experimental farm to show the settlers how to clear and farm the land and is quoting reasonable prices on its lands, with a start made on the clearing and asking a small payment down. This railroad is owned and controlled by the largest corporation in this country.

"A short time ago I was offered a tract of 60,000 acres of land on the opposite side of the bay from Duluth, most of it in sight of here, some of it within six miles of the new steel plant, for $6.25 an acre. Practically every acre of this land is fit for cultivation and is watered by streams and lakes. The owner is one of the largest lumber concerns in the country. Three years ago I bought a large tract of excellent farming land two and a quarter miles from here and inside our city limits for $60.00 per acre and I am now offered land in the adjoining section for the same price.

Co-operation.

"There is nothing to hinder a colony of men going out from Duluth tomorrow and buying, say forty or eighty acres of land apiece, making a small payment and working together and building their homes, cut the inferior timber off in the winter and sell it, clear their land up in the summer and farm it and make a home, and they would be better off than in Duluth fighting for somebody else's job or competing for somebody else's business. For beginners, work can always be secured in the lumber camps or mines near to their homes at good wages, until they make a start. There are too many workingmen in our cities; too many grocery stores; too many delivery wagons following each other around; too much competition in every line. On one of our streets fifteen competitors in one line can be found in one block, with an average of three employes in each establishment. Two of these establishments could do the business better and make more net profit. The balance of these people should be out on the land taking an honest living out of the soil.

"As to the price of farm machinery, when I commenced farming I paid $115.00 for a John Deere gang plow. I can buy a better one now for $65.00. I paid $75.00 for a Van Brunt 7-foot seeder; it would only seed grain, not grass seed. For the same money I can buy a 12-foot seeder today that will seed both and do much better work. I took the first McCormick harvesters into what is now North Dakota. I paid $315.00 apiece for them. Eight acres a day for a machine was good work. It took one expert to each two machines to keep them running. They were wire binders and it cost 40 cents an acre for wire. I can buy a McCormick harvester today for $135.00 $180.00 less, that will cut twice as many acres per day, needs no expert, and uses hemp instead of wire and at half the cost. An ordinary threshing outfit costs the same today as it did then, but while 800 bushels was an average day's threshing then, 2,200 bushels would be the average now for an outfit of that price. Where it then cost us $26.00 per 100 for sacks and we handled our grain from the machine by hand, we have no sacks now and the grain is elevated into wagon tanks, cutting out all that labor and cost of sacks, so that while there has been fluctuations in the prices of farm machinery, the fact is the International Harvester company is selling a harvester today for $180.00 less than the McCormick people did then and the machine you get today is worth more than twice as much because it will do twice the work and do it easier and better and the International Harvester company is paying out $600,000.00 a year in Northern Minnesota for wages and a good part of this goes to the farmer for his products. What is the use of telling us about the harvester company robbing us. Prices may fluctuate, but in the long run, all farm machinery prices have been greatly reduced and the efficiency of the machinery has been increased beyond the dream of the most sanguine farmer of 30 years ago, and this will continue despite the doleful predictions of the agitators.

Transportation.

"Now as to transportation, when I commenced shipping wheat from the Red River valley to Duluth and Minneapolis, I paid 12 cents a bushel. Today I pay 7 4-5 cents a bushel from the same point. I then paid 10 cents a mile for passenger transportation for myself and employes; now I pay 2 cents a mile. I then paid these rates to a railroad that was unable to pay interest on its bonds or dividends on its stock. I now pay these lower rates to a railroad company whose bonds and stock sell at a premium in the markets of the world. I knew then that the big farmer, or shipper in any other line, was getting a rebate and that I was not. Today every man gets the same rate and this means a great deal, so what is the use of telling farmers that conditions are constantly growing worse. Perhaps the rates are too high in some cases today. I believe the best way to get a modification of rates is to go to the officials of the company and if we cannot get it then and fighting must be done, do it and do it hard and get through with it. It is a bad thing for farmers to feel that the hand of every corporation or individual that they deal with is against them. It is not true. It is a bad thing for them to feel that they must fight all the time. Fighting corporations distracts the farmer and takes away his thrift. He needs to fight his weeds and scrub cows and shallow plowing.

"As for farming being drudgery, it is a much more pleasant occupation today than it was thirt. years ago. Of three farms that I operate, two have daily free mail delivery and all have telephone service and the employees live better on farms and have more comforts than in previous years and this improvement will continue, while living in the city will become more expensive and more miserable.

Solution of Problem.

"Now if we really want to reduce the cost of living we must remove some of the people out of the cities on to the land. How is it to be done? There are many attractions in the cities—electric lights on the streets, music, noise, excitement, theaters and all that. Something must be done to get people away from all this and out into the country. It is the duty of business men of Duluth and other cities to interest themselves in securing better county roads and better forest fire protection. Railroads should patrol their tracks in dry seasons better than they do and every business man who can spare sufficient time should take a farm of his own and do experimental farming and show these people what can be done with the soil. A farm is better than a country home. There is more pleasure in taking a vacation on a farm than at some country place with nothing to do but smoke strong cigars and drink whisky. There never was a time when so many people in this country wanted to do some good for their fellowman. There is nothing you can do better than to help to move some of the people out of the crowded cities into the healthful country. Get them out on the land, owning a home of their own, digging an honest living out of the ground. Show them how to take $500 an acre per year out of the despised Northern Minnesota swamp. The farm homestead and the country school afford more protection to society and state than the strongest standing army. Most of these people will drop the red flag when they become intelligent owners of farms in this country, where the humblest farmer is eligible to the presidency of the greatest republic of the world and has a greater opportunities and more freedom than anywhere else on the globe. I think when they realize these facts and how much it cost to establish the government and bind it together, the flag of Washington and Lincoln and Grant and Sherman will be good enough for them, and if they don't learn to respect it then, they should be taught the lesson in some more effective manner. Parading our streets with red flags on holidays and on the same occasions expressing disrespect and contempt for our government and its highest officials is not a good example to set before our children or those who are coming from foreign lands to live among us."

DRAINING SWAMP LAND

Says Minnesota Has 5,000,000 Acres to Be Reclaimed.

W. H. Mylrea, former attorney general of Wisconsin and now secretary of the Wisconsin Advancement association with headquarters in Chicago, speaking before the development convention today of the value to Minnesota and to the nation as a whole of swamp and overflowed land reclamation through government aid, urged that the development organization co-operate with the National Irrigation Congress, meeting this year in Chicago, in accomplishing definite results in the task of transforming the 80,000,000 acres of lowlands into profit-producing farms.

Mr. Mylrea, talking in figures which astonished his hearers because of their size and significance, asserted that the reclamation of the nation's swamp lands would add a value of $1,500,000,000 to these now practically worthless areas, and that the reclamation of the vast areas of such lands in Minnesota would add a value thereto of approximately $80,000,000, there being, according to government figures he cited, 5,832,305 acres subject to such reclamation in this state alone. In Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan, he declared, there are fifteen million acres of swamp lands.

The speaker computed the value of one crop of corn produced on these lands, reclaimed, and described his total, running high into the millions, as an untouched gold mine awaiting the operations of the proper influences to put it at the disposal of the people. He declared that the National Irrigation Congress, which has its nineteenth annual sessions in Chicago next Dec. 5 to 9, was the most potent agency laboring toward this end and urged the development association to adopt resolutions favoring co-operation with that organization. Of the swamp land situation and its reclamation possibilities, Mr. Mylrea said:

"The figures furnished by the government's chief of drainage investigations shows that if the swamp lands were reclaimed by modern methods, in addition to paying all the cost of the work, the value of the swamp lands would be increased in value over the present by the sum of $1,5[illegible], and that in addition the increased annual productive power would bring to the public each year over $275,000,000.

State's Swamp Lands.

"The state of Minnesota has within her borders over 5,000,000 acres of swamp lands. It would cost Minnesota to reclaim these lands about $70,000,000. When finally reclaimed, there would be added to the present value of these lands the sum of from $80,000,000 to $100,000,000, aside from paying back all the costs of reclamation. The increased annual production would bring a profit of over $10,000,000. When completed, reclamation would increase the value of these lands in excess of all expenditures for reclamation at least $256,000,000, these figures being based on the present value of land and the present amount of population. As population increases and land becomes more valuable, who can foretell the value of these lands, reclaimed, in half a century hence?

"Most of the states interested in swamp land reclamation have such vast areas of such lands that it would be impossible for the state alone to finance any project for their improvement by the unaided aid of the state treasury. I suggest, for this reason, that the government might properly be petitioned to employ some of the funds that will accumulate through the establishment of postal savings banks in this reclamation work.

"This work constitutes a big, national movement, and, just as no man can civilize himself if he be born in an uncivilized country, so it is true that no community can civilize itself. Each state must grow with its neighbor and with the nation as a whole.

"Laboring for this much-needed swamp reclamation is the National Irrigation congress, which meets in Chicago this year. Chicago men are interested in this movement, as the city of Chicago stands as the hub of all the territory that would benefit and prosper through such home-creating operations. This congress, whose influence was so far-reaching in its efforts to assist in the development of the West, is of such importance as a national body that President Taft has promised to address its sessions at Chicago in December, and the congress will without doubt be of as great influence in this broader undertaking for itself as it was in its work for the arid states of the West.

"It is generally conceded that through the efforts of the irrigation congress the national reclamation act of 1902, making possible the expenditure by the government of over $60,000,000 for arid land reclamation by irrigation, was placed on the statutes. Now let us work for a national swamp reclamation act. The irrigation congress has every promise of attaining such legislation through its influence."

ONE OF THE FARMS ON LAND

—Sold By The—

Land Department of The Duluth & Iron Range R. R.

The Land of Northern Minnesota Is the Most Fertile and Productive to Be Found Anywhere. New Land Produces Such Crops as This:

Following we quote from a letter recently received from Mr. Nelson:

Tower, Minn., March 2, 1911.

Gentlemen—I have farmed in Section 7, 61-15 for a period of about 17 years and I have not seen any failure on crops yet. Last year we had a very dry summer, but it had no effect except on the hay, which was not so heavy as usual.

Potatoes and vegetables, also rye, wheat, oats, barley and hay can be raised to an enormous yield, if the land is worked right and the manure is taken right care of, and we have good market and always high prices for what we raise.

I will state a few prices on what we are getting for our stuff generally:

Eggs, from 30c to 40c per dozen.
Butter, from 30c and 40c per lb.
Live Poultry, from 13c to 16c per lb.
Potatoes, from 75c to $1 per bu.
Hay, from $15 to $20 per ton.

Of potatoes generally I raise about 250 bushels per acre.

I will send you a sample of wheat which I raised last summer and wish you will compare this with wheat raised in a regular wheat country.

I will also, under separate cover, send you a picture of oats on a piece of new land. Said oats were about seven feet high. I am standing in the oats, back of my family, with my hand up holding a scythe and that is all you can see of me and I am five feet three inches tall.

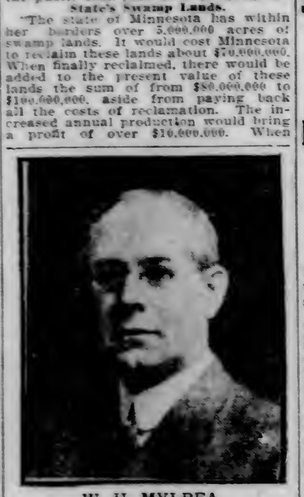

I went on my land in the last Democratic time and I think I done right. I started without a cent, but in some debt, and today I am feeling independent. I do not owe a man a dollar. I have all up-to-date machinery and can do all my work easy. I have gasoline power to do all my winter work, like sawing wood, cutting feed, thrashing, grinding bones for chickens, pumping water for my stock, etc. Yours truly,

MARTIN NELSON.

UNCLE SAM'S LAND GIFT

State Immigration Agent Discusses Handling of Federal Lands in State.

No Country Can Develop With Public Domain Lying Idle.

"Federal Lands in Minnesota" was the subject of George Welsh at the development convention today. Mr. Welsh said:

"In my judgment, there are yet many changes to be made in the administration of the public lands in Northern Minnesota; and there is no one man or organization of men with better machinery, or better organization, to bring about these changes than this association.

"We are being daily confronted with new discussions and new difficulties, which should be properly discussed at meetings of this kind, in order that unitedly we can arrive at the wisest conclusions. I have been assigned today the task of discussing the conditions of the federal lands in this state. As these lands are wholly in the northern counties they properly should be discussed by the association. They are so interlocked with the state lands, that it is almost impossible, and in my judgment more than impractical, to disconnect the two. The public lands are scattered widely and their disposition materially affects the development of the northeastern part of our great state.

"Probably no land was endowed by Providence with more liberal gifts of natural resources and wealth, than this part of Minnesota. In addition to the vast deposits of iron, the largest in the known world, this part of the state has timber and forests, the value of which can only be conjectured. While it is true that a large part of the merchantable pine has been removed the remaining timber, which when properly handled, will be of incalculable value to the settlers on the lands of Northeastern Minnesota; and I am glad to note that factories which utilize the smaller and mixed timbers in this district are springing up, as they will aid the settlers materially by supplying him a revenue from a crop, which, to a large measure, must be removed before agricultural development takes place. In addition to her mines and minerals, timber and forests, and soil of incomparable fertility, this part of the state is endowed with latent powers of energy in her numberless streams, which when bridled and utilized, will give her an especial advantage in manufacturing industries, as well as transporting her products at a very nominal cost. Without discussing the matter I desire to make a broad statement that this part of Minnesota was endowed by nature with all the necessities to sustain and maintain human existence, and this alone is a guarantee that modern civilization can, and will develop it into one of the greatest wealth producing regions on the American continent.

"We have yet 1,500,000 acres of land in the various counties of Northern Minnesota open for homestead entry, not including the federal lands withheld from settlement for various reasons. In addition to the federal lands we have approximately 2,800,000 acres of state lands unsold.

"It is an absolute impractical theory that any district can be developed without the public lands going to private ownership. They are exempt from taxation by law, so that the cost of the public improvements, made by the settlers on the remaining lands cannot, without assistance, build necessary roads and make such other improvements as are necessary for the welfare of the community. We therefore, find ourselves confronted with the solution of the best means of getting these public lands to private owners. I therefore, today, in the limited space allotted to me, desire to call your attention to certain conditions with reference to federal lands.

Swamp Lands.

"We have in Northern Minnesota approximately 5,000,000 acres of land that we would designate swamp lands. The federal lands remaining in this state, in a large measure, come under this class. It is now conceded where it is practical to drain swamp lands in any country, they are among the most productive and profitable lands of the locality; and if these federal lands were drained or reclaimed their settlement and disposition would be an easy accomplishment, but to place them in a habitable condition is a more serious and difficult task. The duty might be assumed by our national government, but it is claimed by some of the representatives in congress that it would be an invasion of state's rights; consequently, any attempt at the reclamation of swamp lands is vigorously opposed, and nothing can be accomplished through them; although the reclamation of desert lands is carried on, and I fail to be able to make a proper distinction between the two. Much of our federal land in Northern Minnesota will not admit of agricultural development in its present condition.

GEORGE WELSH.

"I believe if this organization will take up the matter, these federal lands would be ceded to the state by the national government, so that the state could handle them and reclaim them as she sees fit. True we have the Volstead-Steenerson act which empowers the state to drain federal lands and tax the cost of drainage thereto, but under present conditions the financiering of this enterprise in Northern Minnesota amounts to an almost impractical task, so that I contend the better and more feasible way would be to have these lands ceded to the state and reclaimed.

"It seems to me, that these lands could be made the basis of credit, and when properly drained, they could be easily sold by the state for more than enough to pay the cost of drainage and any other that might be due the Indians, as this indebtedness would have to be assumed by the state.

"The past legislature has made a forward step, and one that is destined to do much for the relief of the condition in Northern Minnesota. The creation of the board of reclamation, which is now engaged in clearing ten tracts of state lands, in my judgment is a progressive step, but it should go farther. I believe this board should be given additional powers and a large fund with which to carry on its work in the future. This would not be a useless expenditure of money, but an investment that would return many fold to the treasury of this state, and is an absolute necessity for its development.

"If the federal lands were ceded to the state and placed under the supervision of this board with such competent men to handle it as its membership now has, the results would be beyond our most sanguine expectations. The reclamation of swamp lands in Northern Minnesota is not a difficult or imaginary task, but it appears of quick solution with a very limited cost. There are no extensive cuts, but simply needs artificial arteries through which the floodwaters may travel.

"When we consider the topography, it is really remarkable there should be any amount of surface water in Northern Minnesota. Lake Superior is 627 feet above the sea level; while Beltrami county, almost the western county of the lands in question is upwards of 1,300 feet above the sea, furnishing a drop of nearly 700 feet in a distance of 150 miles.

"Nature has not furnished an artery through which the floodwater may travel as in other localities. This plateau is the table land which forms the dividing line for the waters that flow into the Hudson Bay, Gulf of St. Lawrence and the Gulf of Mexico. If it were not so, the swamp lands would not be there as freshets would have completed this work hundreds of years ago. It must now be done by means of artificial channels, which seem to me to be an easy and practical task, if administered wisely. The work of reclaiming swamp lands in Northern Minnesota has long since ceased to be an experiment. The very vast areas which have been reclaimed by the state, bear unmistakable evidences of the great possibilities that can be accomplished, if great provisions were made for the carrying on of this work.

"The Reclamation commission might lend other and valuable assistance in the development of Northern Minnesota. The lands should be classified as agricultural, in order that more definite knowledge might be handed to the prospective settlers of the topography and soil in Northern Minnesota. Thousands of people each year make inquiries from the different state departments about the public lands in this state, but unfortunately knowledge of the different tracts is so meager that proper and reliable information cannot be supplied. Provision should be made so that the reclamation board, now organized, could supply accurate information which would materially assist in the settlement of this district.

"If these things were done we would all be amazed at the rapidity with which Northern Minnesota would be transformed into one of the richest agricultural producing regions on the American continent. It will be anyway, but it can be materially augmented and hastened by the rational management of these enterprises.

"Our experience has taught us that unity of action is necessary for the development of Northern Minnesota. In this connection, I desire to call your attention to the efforts made in our own state for the advancement of settlement in other states and countries. They do not come to us promoting the welfare of any one particular locality, but rather of the whole, and we might profit handsomely by our past experiences.

"A large part of our energies and wealth in Minnesota has been employed in combating each other. Too much sectionalism has existed and too many jealousies have been indulged in. If we could but unite these energies so that they would be all pulling in one direction, the results would be amazing to us. I hear it frequently mentioned, even in Northern Minnesota, that certain communities have nothing in common with the others, and are desirous of directing their energy alone. It has been this kind of sentiment that has retarded their development, and I wish that an organization might be perfected so that the energies and money expended for the exploitation of Northern Minnesota would not be used for St. Louis county, or Aitkin, or Beltrami county, or Polk, or Kittson, but unitedly directed for the development of the entire district, as we cannot properly develop a part without the whole. It seems to me, that many of the conflicting interests in Northern Minnesota could be properly and profitably united into one organization which would be large enough and strong enough to reach out to any part of the known world, and bring settlers who are willing to take advantage of the great opportunities this district offers.

"The thought occurs to me, and I believe it would be capable of solution, that if the great land interests in Northern Minnesota would unite and

COMMISSION GOVERNMENT

Bemidji Man Talks on This Theme Before Development Convention.

Digresses to Pay His Respect to the Last Legislature.

Although F. A. Wilson, editor of The Bemidji Daily Pioneer, had been assigned the topic of "The Commission Plan For State Government," he digressed from the subject long enough at the development convention to devote a few words to the legislative session of 1911. Mr. Wilson said in part:

"I shall digress for a moment from my subject to say a word of that late—but perhaps not late enough—greatest aggregation of bomb throwers ever assembled under one roof, the Minnesota legislature of 1911, of which I have some personal knowledge, but in justice to the men who served in that famous thirty-seventh, it is only fair that this great convention give serious attention to the many really splendid and valuable measures which were dragged safely through the carnage: the new drainage law, the reclamation board, the consolidation of rural schools, good roads, free seeds, above all, the new forest protection measure, and several other acts which stand as everlasting memorials to the members of that body. But the one thing which the legislature did not do, which we of the north prayed seven times a day that it would do was to grant that added representation to which we believe the north is entitled. High-browed members of the senate scented a beast not in the jungle but in the three big cities and reapportionment went down with a splash, carrying with it, I venture to say, the political future of more than one member of the upper branch of the legislature. But tread near the forbidden path of politics and shall only add that, although disappointed, the north is too busy in the work of development to stop and cry either over spilled milk or ripe lemons.

"And while I speak of the north, probably because I come from that part of the state, I gleefully join in the more general movement of 'Boost for Minnesota!' Once upon a time, there was an aged colored preacher, who, although his voice was better than his education, was much impressed with his own self importance. He interpreted the Bible to suit himself and was irritated if members of his flock took exception. One Sunday, he came out with a flat-footed statement that no miracle had ever been performed. This was too much for one old deacon who broke out with: 'Man, what am de matter wid you? If dere don't was no miracles, den how you explain de Hebrews crossing' de Red Sea and de 'Gyptians come along and half way over get swallowed up?'

"Without the slightest hesitation, the colored preacher replied: 'Dat was no miracle. Dem Hebrews sure enough crossed the Red Sea as recorded, but dey crossed on ice. De nex day de 'Gyptians come along, but by dat time de ice was rotten and dey fall in.'

"The old deacon knew something of geography, he said.

"'Don't you know, parson, dat ice never does form south of de equator?'

"This irritated the Ethiopian minister, who shouted:

"'Now, you sit down dere, Deacon Jones, and don't be buttin' into my business no mo'. When you try to put me in tight places you jes show yo' own ignorance. No ice south of de equator? You ignoramuses, you! Don't you know dat in dose days dey never was no equator?

No Equator Now.

"And there is no equator or other dividing line in Minnesota. Sectionalism must not be a bar to the general prosperity of the commonwealth. The interests of Rock county should harmonize with the interests of St. Louis; Winona should glory in the progress of Koochiching and vice versa. It is all one state, even to the cities, and as Schley said, after the battle of Santiago: 'There is glory enough for all.' And so, while we would not for a moment detract from the splendor of the South, with her waving fields of golden grain, we will, I feel sure, be pardoned for reminding the public at large of the fact that we grow a pumpkin or two in our neck of the woods. Residents of the South point with pride to their thriving villages, the richness of their soil and the brilliance of their men, but you will search the map in vain to find a more prosperous, thriving, progressive district than the pine-perfumed, ore-laden, prairie-stretching counties of the North.

"You from the South can boast of the sturdy little Yankee from Watonwan, but we claim as good a citizen in the strenuous little Scot from Beltrami. You may harp on the bigness of your population and we warn you to chain down your settlers, for they are coming up north where life is really worth living and where the air makes an 80-year-old man with a wooden leg run a foot race every morning before breakfast just for exercise; you dangle tassels of corn in our faces and we defy any man to point out the corn line. You talk of lavers from nature and we tell you truthfully that in natural wealth St. Louis county alone has the rest of the state tipped up to an angle of 45 deg.

"Winona county has good land and so has Aitkin; Fillmore for fifty years has been a garden spot, but the timber of Hubbard has sung a merry tune through sawmills which are now giving way to farm houses on a soil that grew the trees and which is now growing everything that Fillmore will grow, the gentleman from Winona county to the contrary notwithstanding. And so while the South has grown and settled and prospered the North is in an era of new awakening and is sweeping onward with strides that astonish the ignorant visitor from the South and causes him to say fervently, 'Minnesota is a great state.' And, because of this greatness it should be our desire, and it would appear one of the proper duties of this convention to do everything possible to bring about a more ideal form of government."

The Commission Plan.

In confining his remarks directly to the commission plan of government, Mr. Wilson called attention to the growing need of reorganization of the present governmental machinery. He said:

"In a word the commission plan of government as proposed for use by the state would crystallize in the hands of a few experts all that cumbersome, half oiled, cog missing, rattlety bang machinery which now churns the state's business along.

"More than 150 American cities are now governed by the so called commission plan. Within a score of years it seems likely that more than 5,000,000 persons will be living in commission regulated municipalities. The idea of the commission plan, to all intents and purposes easily applied to the state, simply is an effort at complete centralization of all power and responsibility in a small council or commission. If the state government of Minnesota were to be placed in the hands of a commission of say nine men—men picked carefully and on merit alone—doing away with the present departmental tangles of red tape, it seems more than likely that it would be a great improvement over the present system, seeped and steeped as they are and ever must be in politics. Simplicity, directness and effective control are the strong features of the commission plan.

"Under this plan there could be no dodging or beating about the bush—the responsibility would be fixed on the head of each department and when that head went wrong it quickly could be chopped off. It would practically be proof against graft and I contend that any system which promises a simplification of the machinery of government and a definite fixing of responsibility or official action should be worthy of the careful study and consideration of this representative assembly. That the commission form of organization is more in harmony with the industrial and business methods of today and more in harmony with the most important functions, which a state is called upon to perform can scarcely be questioned.

"And now, in saying goodby, I bring to you a message of cheer from the little city in which that great instrument for good, the Northern Minnesota Development association, was born. Some notable events have taken place in our town and notable careers have been won by the men who helped to carve a modern city out of the forest, a forest now punctured with farms. It is a city of triumphs and during its bright but youthful career it has received and given many honors. It has entertained the governor of the state, United States senators, railroad presidents and notable gatherings and conventions but Bemidji considers her crowning glory that memorable day in February when the Northern Minnesota Development association drew its first breath of life and elected from our people William R. Mackenzie as its guiding light."

TALKS ON SALE OF LAND

T. L. Hansen Says Present System of Selling Acres Is Wrong.

Would Have Commercial Clubs Regulate Commissions of Land Agents.

T. L. Hansen of Thief River Falls spoke on "The Duties of Commercial Clubs" before the development convention. He said:

"It affords me a great pleasure to be present at this convention, nor can I be insensible to the honor conferred upon me, in being placed upon the program to discuss a subject that has awakened such widespread interest throughout the northern part of the state.

"During a twelve years' residence in the Red River valley, every opportunity has been afforded for actual personal knowledge of conditions, and it is a matter of deep regret to say that there were then more actual farmers, more actual tillers of the soil and more actual producers, by at least 20 per cent, than we have today. This is true in Clay, Norman, Polk Marshall, Kittson, Red Lake, Pennington and Roseau counties, and this it is safe to say is equally true of the entire northern part of the state except the Iron Range country. Now, gentlemen, the question of vital importance is this. Is there not a way or plan which can be adopted whereby this sad state of affairs may be remedied to at least some extent. Mr. Chairman, after a careful and prolonged study upon this matter, the conviction deepens that the failure lies in the way we use our homeseekers and prospective purchasers. In short, there is too much money going to waste between the owner and the purchaser. An extensive experience in the land business enables me to speak with confidence upon the subject.

"In most cases the purchasers, or homeseekers, are men with but a limited amount of money and perhaps a little stock. For an illustration. A man with $1,000 in cash will buy a farm for which he agrees to pay $4,000, which in reality should have been bought for about $3,000. He pays his $1,000, which is all he has, down on the land and gets a contract for deed subject to payments aggregating $5,000. Now, if all his cash is handed to his agent, or agents, in the way of a commission, the purchaser has nothing left to face the season's work with, consequently he goes to the bank and gets the required accommodation, by giving chattel security, and by only having a limited amount of his land under cultivation the first year, he needs a little more money in the fall and then some more the following spring.

"The banker finds that his client is unable to pull through, and does not wish to foreclose, so the next best thing to do is to advise the poor fellow to hold an auction sale and get out of debt, and this he does and moves into town, or back to where he came from and naturally gives the country a 'black eye.' The whole reason for his failure is simply because he paid all his money to the agents, which he otherwise should have to bring his farm in shape with, so that it would produce enough for himself and family. It is extremely hard and difficult, especially without any money at all, to make a raw farm yield a profit in a dairy community the first year.

Methods Wrong.

"I hold that if the purchaser had paid a reasonable commission, say not to exceed $1 per acre, he would have been in shape to face one or two hard years and get properly started, and would have remained with us permanently. In selling a farm to a permanent settler, one should exercise as much care as the clothier does in selling you a suit of clothes. It must above all fit his pocket book. As I stated before, we have fewer farmers at the present time than we had twelve years ago. This goes to show that our methods of bringing in settlers are wrong. If the Commercial clubs would only take this matter up in the right way, it could not help but bring good results. The plan is this—Organize your clubs, or development leagues in each town or city throughout the northern part of the state. These leagues to be under the supervision of a district league, said district league should be located at some convenient place, and publish a monthly paper for the benefit of the whole district. If a paper of that kind was continuously placed before the people in the states east and south of us, advertising the tremendous resources of the northern part of our state and setting forth the facts that this league or leagues have been organized by the local business people for the sole purpose of giving all homeseekers a square deal, and a square deal only. No commission to be charged, except the land owner may pay a small commission to the league, not to exceed $1 per acre, and thus the league might be made self-sustaining. In addition to the paper published, judicious advertising in leading journals and newspapers in a very informa way, something like this—'If you are contemplating going to Canada or to the Northwest, looking for a home, no matter where, be sure to call at the Pennington County Development league at Thief River Falls. This is an organization organized for the purpose of finding a home for you, to show you the country and see that you get a square deal while you are in our city.' These leagues would each hire a competent secretary and pay him a reasonable salary. It would be his duty to get in touch with non-resident land owners, and in fact all who have land in his territory, which they desire to sell and then this club or league would advertise these lands for sale without profit, with exception as stated above, the owner would pay to the organization not to exceed $1 per acre, and thus the league might be made self-sustaining. This I am sure would attract attention and appeal to the actual homeseekers.

Experiments in West.

"Similar methods are used by clubs in the West and they have proved to be a success. The Commercial club at Regina, Alberta, says: 'So called the Regina Regina, Alberta, says' called the Regina club, which advertises the country and its resources broadcast. Even across the waters, you will find the Regina club's literature, and large banners which will be found in all public places in the states east of us, and even in England, Scotland and Ireland, in fact they talk Regina so much that the hearers really believe that Regina is the place to go to and a good many have gone there and are now wishing themselves back. The Commercial club of Portland is doing wonderful work in that direction. The city of Centralia, Wash., has a similar organization and the results derived therefrom are remarkable. It is not our local real estate men who are to be blamed. It is agents from other states, who do not understand conditions of the northern part of the state, or perhaps do not care to understand, well to get up and organized league in a community would be of much aid and benefit to our local real estate dealers, and we would want these dealers and the league to work hand in hand and assist one another.

Treat Customers Fairly.

"Years ago it was the custom in the ordinary course of business transactions when you got your hands on the customer to get all you could out of him, regardless of ultimate consequences. This method, however, has ceased in all lines, except in the land business. I hold that these leagues, together with our legitimate real estate men should form an organization which would work like a wheel within a wheel, and would be talked of all over the United States, I can cite the cases of more than 100 good farmers, to my knowledge, who have returned to the place whence they came, simply because they were not started out right. It is in my estimation a sad state of affairs. This is not a theory, it's a condition, and we are right up against it at this time. Assuredly there is no place in the United States more inviting to homeseekers than the northern part of this state, considering the prices of land, natural resources, etc. We have enough land tributary to Thief River Falls to feed all the people in the state of Minnesota and still keep the railroads busy shipping out the surplus. All we need is actual settlers, and we can get them by waking up to the fact that we must not take all they have away from them before they get started. I wish to take this opportunity to urge upon our worthy lawmakers the necessity of demonstration farms. I sincerely hope that a bill will be introduced and passed, which will provide for at least one demonstration farm in each county. I would like to still to have two such farms in our larger counties. We have a splendid experimental farm at St. Anthony Park, which is a credit to our state, and we also have other good experimental farms throughout the state, but here is the trouble, these experimental farms are at least 100 years ahead of our ordinary farmer. I have often suggested to my farmer friends the necessity of visiting these state experimental farms. Here is their reflection. We could not follow their plan, because we farm for the purpose of making a living and the state experimental farm on the contrary is carried on for the purpose of experimenting and has the advantage over the ordinary farmer in this field. A good many farmers seem to be of the opinion that the men in charge are scientists, but here comes the demonstration farm which could act in a measure as an agent between the experimental farm and the ordinary farmer. I also believe that these demonstration farms could be self-sustaining, and thus carried on without expense to the state, or any one else.

"The plans above presented are the result of a wide acquaintance with the prevailing conditions and an earnest desire to see this northern country come to the front, as it undoubtedly will when its resources are known and right methods of land sales are employed. They are laid before you, as a practical solution of some of the problems presented to us in the prosecution of the great object of our present gathering, with hope that they will contribute in some small degree at least to the great work of making our country rejoice and blossom like the rose."

SETTLERS ARE NEEDED

Makes a Plea for Greater Fire Protection in Wooded District.

W. T. Cox of St. Paul spoke on "The Settler and the Forest," before the development convention. He said:

"Minnesota is still in need of settlers. The prairie districts of the state have been turned to farms and the hardwood region formerly known as the big woods has experienced a like fate. Thousands of homes have replaced the forest of oak and maple and elm that not so long ago stretched with few openings from St. Cloud to the Pomme de Terre. But the great coniferous forest of pine and spruce has been slower to appeal to the homeseeker, who too often has gone on to the dry lands farther west or to the alluring wheat lands of Canada.

"People have at last commenced to realize, however, what Northern Minnesota has to offer in the way of agricultural possibilities. Not only is the climate and the variety of soils adapted to the raising of a long list of grains and vegetables and stock but, very often, the homesteader or the newcomer finds a valuable crop already upon the land. Sometimes this crop is mature and all ready for the harvest; more often it is young and growing but holding out the promise of a big yield in a few years.

"I wonder how many in this audience when looking upon a stand of timber think of it as an agricultural crop, yet that's exactly what it is, nothing more or less. Forestry is one branch of agriculture and the forester is an agriculturalist, just as much so as the man who raises wheat or potatoes or apples.

"Down South it is common for the truck farmer to pick his lettuce, about the same time planting tomatoes—a little later picking them and planting melons or cucumbers and when they are harvested the same ground may produce something else, all in the same year—the same growing season. That is cropping it pretty lively. Up here in Northern Minnesota we are usually well enough satisfied with one good crop a year. Generally these crops are planted in the spring and mature in the fall. Not so in all cases, however. The farmer who raises stock must wait about three years for a calf or a colt to grow up. The agriculturalist who raises apples must wait about five years for a producing orchard. The forester must be more patient even than this. He must wait twenty years for the first thinnings to bring him profit; thirty years for pulpwood; forty years for box lumber and even longer for the higher grades—unless, and this is important, he finds on his land already a stand of young trees far advanced toward the age of commercial value. This young forest may be growing as they frequently are growing, and rapidly too, upon soil which has little value for annual crops. And there I would like to say that a forester, just like a sensible farmer, wants to see every bit of land put to its best use. I am not one of those who weep for the walnut and oak and black cherry forests which once covered the Ohio river valley. That forest grew upon good soil which could not be left growing trees. The soil was needed to make the rich farms where our fathers and grandfathers grew up and raised families to people the lands farther west. A forester would no sooner think of devoting the rich bottom lands and extensive areas of heavy soils in Northern Minnesota to the growth of trees instead of farming the granite ledges, or plowing the boulder strewn glacial moraines or planting bananas on the iron range.

"We have a wealth of good soil in Northern Minnesota, just as we have in Southern Minnesota, even if the fact isn't so widely known. I have tramped over hundreds of thousands of acres of land in the northern tier of counties which to me, a student of the agricultural college, looked just as good for grain and vegetables and stock as any land to be found in the Lake states.

Some Rocky Places.

"But let us be fair. We all know that there are localities in Northern Minnesota where it isn't hard to find plenty of rocks. There are localities in which we can find only one rock but it seems to reach pretty much all around. As some one remarked of a certain rocky locality not far from here 'it made him seasick.' Then there are places where the sand is not overly productive. Much, even of the sandy country, will undoubtedly make good farms. New methods of farming and the selection of plants suited to the soil and conditions will be sure to increase the proportion of the sandy lands to be put profitably under cultivation, work in which our friend McGuire of Grand Rapids has done much and will do more. Farms should and will take the place of forest growth over enormous areas in every county of Northern Minnesota, but there will remain even then very large areas better suited for growing timber than for anything else. Some of the settlers will find upon their farms patches of rocky, stony, or very sandy land with perhaps a fine crop of young trees upon them—spruce which in ten years if fire is kept out will yield pulpwood, pine which with fifteen years fire protection will cut heavily in box lumber or ties. This is a crop worth protecting. It may soon be worth more than the rest of the farm. I have seen farms in New England where the little patches of land from which fires were kept out came to be worth $200 to $300 an acre for the second growth pine only forty to sixty years old from the seed. I have seen the poorest kind of stony lands in Maine bring big returns to the owner for a cut of second growth white birch. The homesteader as well as the large timber owner of Minnesota will do well to keep fire out of his woods. The whole state will profit from the wealth that is created and the labor employed in logging and hauling and manufacturing into useful products these young forests that are coming on if only the fires can be kept out of them.

"The protection of the forest is not a sentimental proposition. It is just common sense business. The lumberman is interested and willing to help, for the timber is in danger and the young growth on his cut-over lands is increasing in value. The railroads are interested for they lose much property through fires and have to pay damages as a result of them; then too they lose the freight which would have been furnished by the timber consumed. But the settler above all others is interested for he has not only the mature timber and young growth on his homestead at stake but his home and his family may be sacrificed by his carelessness or that of his neighbor in the use of fire.

"The state has made a good start in the matter of forest fire prevention. The new law is a good one. The 200 rangers which I hope to have in the woods this season should do much toward reducing the fire risk, especially on the state lands which it will be their first duty to protect, but we are going to need the active co-operation of every one, above all that of the settler.

True Beauty Without Powders or Cosmetics

(From Art in Dress.)

"Much harm is often done with the too free use of powders and cosmetics," says Mme. Ferri, authority on beauty, "and when women learn to know the true value of a good lotion much of this will be prevented.

"Nothing equals a simple, inexpensive lotion made by dissolving a small original package of mayatone in eight ounces of witch-hazel. This should be freely rubbed into the skin every day.

"After a short time using the mayatone lotion the skin grows clear and velvety and blackheads, pimples and other blemishes are permanently removed, and the complexion takes on that rich embellishment which is the hallmark of true beauty. Many women use this lotion to prevent tan, sunburn or freckles."

DRAINAGE PROBLEMS

Says Minnesota Overflowed Lands Are Not Low Lying Swamps.

W. J. Brown had "Drainage Problems" for his subject before the development convention today. Mr. Brown spoke as follows:

"The popular idea concerning the subject of public drainage presupposes a vast swamp or a large area of wild wet land, worthless until reclaimed, and does not associate the matter with lands already under cultivation, and only susceptible to over-flow waters occasionally.

"Most of the drainage problems we have met in practice primarily concern the relief of such lands in settled communities and only incidentally affect large areas of permanently wet lands. Except as otherwise indicated, my remarks will only be directed toward the solution of the problem of drainage affecting lands occasionally over-flowed.

"Because of the topography of Northern Minnesota, with its level surface and uniform fall in one direction, we are particularly interested in drainage. Experience has shown that all money invested in drainage work returns many fold. We have had an illustration within the past month in the matter of the sale of state land benefited by a drainage system recently installed. In Roseau and Marshall counties substantially 24,000 acres of state land were sold at the May state land sale at a price ranging from $6 to $22 per acre, an average substantially of $8. Over half this land has been benefited by drainage systems initiated since the last land sale and the state secured for that land an average increase of $4 per acre, whereas the other land not improved went substantially at the minimum appraised price.

W. J. BROWN.

"At the inception of the large drainage project in our locality, known as judicial ditch No. 11, there were about 100 quarter sections of vacant government land within the drainage area. The system is about one-third installed and substantially everyone of those government quarter sections is occupied by actual settlers. These illustrations bring home to us the fact that drainage is important and necessary and that the people are willing to pay for drainage systems correctly installed, and they further prove the fact that as concerns state drainage work, the cost of the ditches is an asset instead of a liability.

"The drainage ditches which we construct are designed for the purpose of affording a rapid and ample outlet for surface waters, rather than to relieve swamp conditions already established.

"Different causes for the necessity of drainage, necessitates different solutions of the problem of getting rid of the surface water, and an intelligent study of such cause in each particular case, is essential to the successful accomplishment of the desired results.

Swamp Lands Not Low.

"It must be remembered that in the northwestern part of the state, at least, the so-called wet or swamp lands are not low. Relatively, they are the highest in the state. Take for instance, the 600 square miles of territory in northwestern Beltrami and eastern Marshall counties, proposed to be drained by judicial ditch No. 11. The water flows from this territory eastwardly into the Mississippi, north into the Lake of the Woods, and westwardly into Thief river. The natural fall of the land from west to east across the whole breadth of our drainage system of forty-two miles is about 120 feet. But nature provided no cross drainage and hence no adequate outlet, the only natural outlet for the whole territory being a small crooked stream. Progress of the water across the country to this small outlet was delayed and hindered by surface irregularities and artificial barriers, and thus a normal rainfall, instead of running off the land in a day, would be retarded for weeks and even months, simply because of the lack of an outlet. The necessity for different treatment for distinct causes is well illustrated in this system. The main ditch east and west along the line of natural fall, only needed, for the purpose of draining lands tributary thereto, to be designed to substantially follow the contour of the surface, cutting to grade through ridges and barriers, but there being no cross slope and consequently no cross or lateral drainage, the drainage engineer was compelled to so design his main ditch that a sufficient fall in the lateral and branch ditches could be manufactured to suitably conduct the water from the outside limits of the drainage area to the main outlet.

"One of the problems which confronts us at the inception of a project is the consideration of an ultimate outlet. It is a case of considering the last first, but unless an ample ultimate outlet exists or is provided for, the construction of a large system of public drainage ditches may ultimately result in the infliction of a great amount of unjustifiable damage to the occupants of lands on the lower courses of the streams which constitute the ultimate outlet for the system under consideration.

Overflowing Streams.

"The courts have decided that a water course, being a natural outlet of surface waters, the owner or occupants of lands along the upper courses thereof, having, under existing conditions, an ample outlet for surface water therein, cannot be called upon to contribute to the cost of the improvement of the lower channel of the water course, where the same is inadequate to carry the whole volume of water cast therein. This rule, while doubtless correct in principle, is disastrous in practice, and directly and adversely affects the installation of complete drainage projects. The channels were probably adequate until the lands along the upper streams were settled and improved by the gathering of water thereon in road ditches, surface ditches on the farm, and in public drainage systems, which carry the water in increased volumes into the upper water courses and renders the flow therein such that the lower river cannot care for it and disastrous floods result from an ordinary rainfall. This difficulty is occurring in various places in Minnesota at the present time. For instance, the channel of the Minnesota river was sufficient for the waters cast therein until drainage systems, having an outlet therein, cast the surface waters into the channel in such volume as to cause great damage by annual floods. Likewise, the Wild Rice river in Norman county, Thief river in Marshall and Pennington counties, and various other rivers and streams in the state, known to many of you.

"Ordinarily, the cost of the improvement of the channel of the lower stream to a degree necessary to afford relief is so great that it is prohibitive if necessary to be distributed over the lower lands so damaged, and yet would be reasonable if a portion of the cost were borne equitably by the lands up stream which contributed to the damage. Under the law as it exists, the main contributing cause escapes payment of a just proportion of the cost of curing the defect.

"The improvement of the river channels for the purpose of providing an adequate outlet for surface waters at ordinary flood stage, is of interest to and concerns the whole state, and the ideal and equitable way to solve this problem is for the state to assume control of the planning for these necessary improvements, and to pay for the cost thereof. The constitutional limitations, however, which surround the making of internal improvements by the state, are such that in practice, the state authorities cannot undertake the work on a comprehensive scale. The problem is a live one and directly concerns not only the lands today needing drainage, but likewise the owners and occupants of lands along the lower stretches of streams and watercourses, lands today well drained and well protected from ordinary floods, but which may by the settlement and improvement of the country up stream, become subject to annual overflow in times of ordinary flood.

"The bright mind which solves the question in a practical way will have performed a public service resulting in an equitable adjustment of the burden of reclamation from flood damage.

"In a level country no public drainage ditch should ever be constructed with an outlet other than in a running stream of water. We have emptied them into ravines and coulies apparently of sufficient slope and capacity to care for the flow, but in every case, the experiment has been disastrous and we have ultimately been compelled to provide an additional outlet. The reason is that the coulie is not a straight direct course and the slope of the bottom thereof varies and is ordinarily less than the fall of the ditch emptying therein, the result being the deposit of sediment.

"The slope or fall of the bottom of a drainage ditch should be practically uniform from source to outlet, or the variation in slope should be cared for by variation of design as to width. Otherwise sediment from the drained lands will be carried by the rapidly flowing waters in those portions of the ditch having greatest fall and will be deposited in and rapidly fill the channel of the ditch where the slope is less.

Complete Systems.

"Experience has shown that when we go into a territory to drain it, it is ultimately cheaper and more satisfactory to those assessed for the system and of more uniform benefit to the territory affected, to make the system under consideration, complete within itself. That is, go to the place where trouble begins and make the system complete and sufficient to drain the particular water-shed under consideration. Any other procedure results always in unnecessary added expense of enlarging ditches already constructed, and frequently, when the balance of the system is installed, rendering the first system practically useless. To accomplish this result, the proper drafting of the petition is essential. This detail is highly important. The petition should be so drafted as to permit the engineer to exercise his skill and judgment in locating the ditch where it will accomplish the desired results. The ultimate designation of the course of the different ditches of a comprehensive drainage system is essentially an engineering problem and the petition of a small minority of the interested land owners should not bind the engineer to any particular designated course. The general results to be accomplished should be set forth in the petition and a preferential course proposed, the language of the petition being broad enough to warrant the engineer in properly locating the mains and laterals of the system so as to make same complete.

"Outside of the duty owed by the state in the matter of the improvement of the various river channels, the state itself, owes a duty in regard to the salvage of her lands.

Minnesota contains an area of 53,943,373 acres, of which area approximately 4,000,000 acres consists of lakes and rivers, 10,112,720 acres were originally classified swamp lands. The swamp land grant of the federal government to Minnesota already made approximates 5,000,000 acres, principally located in the northern part of the state. With the grant was coupled a provision of federal law conditioning the grant upon the reclamation of the lands by the state. This is the same kind of a provision that exists in the so-called Cary act, granting the arid lands of the Western states to the states wherein they are contained. Under the Cary act, each of the Western states was granted 1,000,000 acres of arid federal lands, coupled with a condition that the state should reclaim the same. For the purpose of inducing the intending settler to come and settle, those Western states have fixed a uniform price of 50 cents per acre for these arid lands, and before opening the lands to settlement, have laid out irrigation canals and let the contract of construction. The cost of water has ranged from $18 to $75 per acre for water right for these projects. The initial impetus of immigration and colonization of many of the Western states was the activity and energy with which the states affected by that act undertook the reclamation of the arid lands, and the great wave of immigration which is sweeping over the West today, is the direct result of that enthusiasm and energy, coupled with a judicious use of printer's ink.

Minnesota Backward.

"The attitude of Minnesota has been in marked contrast with the policy of the Western states, and the comparison is not in our favor. Until recent years the state of Minnesota ignored this condition of her land grant. Millions of acres of this swamp land grant were set aside as a permanent fund for the various state institutions, other millions of acres were granted to railroad companies for aid in the construction of railroads, some of which were never constructed except upon paper. Several millions of dollars of outlawed railroad bonds were paid from the funds created by the sale of some of these lands. Yet today when we apply to the state for a loan from this fund on the bonds of our counties for the purpose of draining and reclaiming these very lands, we are refused accommodation. Bonds of other states and school district bonds of the large cities look better to the investment board of this state than the bonds of our northern counties. If an individual received property in the manner that the state has received its swamp grant, and disposed of it in like manner under terms contrary to the grant, the grantor or the beneficiaries of the grant could doubtless take the matter into the courts and enforce the terms of of the grant or secure a reversion of the granted property.

"In some respects Minnesota is progressing backwards in the matter of the reclamation by drainage of her own state lands. The last legislature is certainly subject to just criticism for its course in regard to drainage appropriations. Because of dissatisfaction in some quarters with the work of the state drainage engineer, the legislature, after adopting a report absolving the state engineer from criticism saw fit to cut off all drainage appropriations to carry on actual drainage work, except for the completion of state drainage ditches in case where construction work has been already commenced. While it is generally agreed that the present system of a divided responsibility in the matter of state drainage work is not ideal, yet the majority report of the special investigating committee of the legislature showed no criticism which would warrant the cessation of drainage work. The manner only of constructing the ditches, and not the policy or question of drainage itself, was under consideration, and unless some better system was evolved by the legislature, the initiation of new drainage enterprises by the state should not have foreclosed.

"It is true, of course, that the judicial ditch law is available and under that law any ditch or drainage system affecting state or federal land can be initiated which could be constructed under the state drainage law, by the drainage commission, but such fact does not appear as the reason for the failure of the 1911 legislature to make an ample drainage appropriation.

"This action by that legislature places the state drainage work back to the point where, about eighteen years ago, James J. Hill of the Great Northern Railway company showed his wisdom and foresight and his faith in Northern Minnesota and the development thereof by contributing $100,000 to the cause of drainage in the Red river valley on condition that the state appropriate a like amount. From that day no legislature has dared to curtail necessary drainage appropriations for general state drainage work until the legislature of 1911 took a backward step. No provision was made by that legislature to perfect the present system. While mistakes have doubtless been made in state drainage work, the same as mistakes are made in other lines of business, the state drainage commission of Minnesota has been doing a grand work the last few years in reclaiming at low cost the wet lands of the state. Under the existing law, the whole general drainage appropriation is used for the purpose of paying for the drainage of lands belonging to the state of Minnesota, and the cost of the drainage must be added to the minimum appraised value of the land for the purpose of sale. This being the case there should be no hesitancy on the part of the legislature in enacting such legislation that ample funds would be available to the commission for that purpose. The state is simply taking money out of one pocket and putting it into another. The proceeds of the sale of the lands go into the school fund or the fund of the institution to which the lands belong and the money with which the lands are reclaimed is appropriated by each legislature out of the revenue fund of the state. It would seem logical that the money to enhance the value of the lands of the state should come from the same fund to which the enhanced value returns in case of sale. Constitutional limitations again hinder, but some means should be devised whereby the drainage commission should obtain their funds from some other source than the revenue fund of the state, and since a complete scheme or system of drainage is cheaper and of more uniform benefit than several small projects in the same locality, the state drainage authorities should be so provided with funds that work further in the future and in greater volume may be planned and carried out without fear of being hampered by parsimonious legislation. The commission should not be compelled to apply to every legislature for the money to carry out its work.

"Since Mr. Hill showed the people of the state his faith in drainage, until the advent of the 1911 legislature, there seems to have been an increasing attempt on the part of the state to comply with the federal condition of her land grant, but today we have entered upon the declared policy of appropriating no more money for new state drainage projects in Minnesota.

"The unreclaimed portions of Northern Minnesota where public drainage has not been undertaken, is dotted here and there with the cabins of settlers, hardy pioneers, who are unconsciously preparing the country for further development. They are surrounded by state lands which bear no burdens of taxation and yet which rapidly enhance in value by reason of the building of roads, schoolhouses and private drainage ditches by the settlers. Those struggling pioneers, far from market, and enduring all the hardships of frontier life, have enough burdens to bear without being compelled to put value into the lands of this great state.

Modern Heroes.

"We read in history of the blind faith and dauntless courage of the crusaders in their attempt to wrest the Holy Land from the control of the infidel.

"We read of the bravery of the pilgrim fathers in their quest for religious freedom and of the hardships they endured in their stern contest with nature on a hostile and unknown shore.

"Their fearless exploits and wonderful achievements have been told in every tongue, in song and story, and throughout the civilized world their conduct under apparently unsurmountable difficulties has been pointed out as the acme of faith, courage and endurance.

"But I point you to a class whose faith is as sublime, whose courage as bold, whose endurance as rugged, and whose bravery is superior.

"I speak of the humble pioneer, who singly and alone fights his fierce battle with adverse conditions. He comes alone with his bare hands to conquer the wilderness about him. He cheerfully and uncomplainingly and without thought of the odds against him, enters into the stern contest where no quarter is given.

"His is the position of unknown peril and dangers, the advance guard of civilization engaged in blazing a trail for his fellowmen. He is remembering a service to the state that money cannot buy and is hoping against hope that the state will render him assistance where he cannot help himself.

"All praise the pioneer and while we are dwelling upon his industry and daring, let us take from him the task of building up the value of the lands belonging to this great state.

"Does it look fair and right that the great state of Minnesota should thus belong to that great class of non-producers—the speculator in lands—who put nothing in but who benefit by the energy and thrift of others? This is a proper matter to be considered at this gathering and I trust that the voice of Northern Minnesota will speak on the subject in no uncertain terms.

"When the average or maximum cost of drainage ditches in the prairie country of Northern Minnesota is considered, there should not be a great deal of hesitancy in striving to secure all of the benefits of a comprehensive drainage system wherever necessary. For instance, in Judicial Ditch No. 11, of Marshall and Beltrami counties, before mentioned, there is involved between five and six hundred miles of drainage ditches, every quarter section of land in the whole drainage area having an ample drainage ditch and a graded road designed to be constructed along at least one side thereof. The extreme cost per acre for this complete system is the sum of $2.70 per acre, the average cost being less than $2. The cost is distributed over twenty years' time, the principal being payable in fifteen annual payments beginning after five years. At a maximum cost of $3 per acre for benefits, the highest assessment per annum the owner of a benefited quarter section of land would have to pay, including principal and interest, would be $56.

"These are a few of the live practical questions affecting drainage. Some of them are solved, while others have yet to be determined. They all materially affect the welfare of the state and merit our serious consideration."

SOME SIDELIGHTS ON THE CONVENTION OF THE NORTHERN MINNESOTA DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION

W. A. McGONAGLE,
Austere and Interested.

One of the most conspicuous delegations to the Northern Minnesota Development association meeting in Duluth today was that from Roseau county delegation. It was small, but it was some enthusiastic. Charles A. Moody, owner of the townsite of Warroad, and A. K. Stauning, also of Warroad, made up the delegation. They were loaded with flaring red badges, with the inscription, "Roseau County, Warroad, the City on the Lake of the Woods, the Logical Summer Capital of the United States. Boost, Everlastingly Boost, for Minnesota."

To support their claim that Warroad

The island, known as Springfield, measures 100 acres and is four miles from Warroad. It is a beautiful tract of land in one of the most picturesque spots in the United States and the Warroad delegates say that if President Taft could once see the beautiful country around the Lake of the Woods, he would forsake Massachusetts and establish his summer cap-

PRESIDENT TAFT COMING THIS WAY

If Public Business Permits Will Come to Houghton on the Northwest.

Houghton, Mich., June 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—President F. W. McNair of the mining school, who has returned from a trip to Washington, says that President Taft will certainly be here if it is in any way possible to make the trip. Mr. Taft will be joined at Buffalo by Governor Osborn, and the trip to Houghton will be taken on the steamer Northwest. At Mackinac they will be joined by William R. Day, a justice of the supreme court, who will probably accompany them to Houghton.

On the return trip the president will probably stop over for a few days at Mackinac Island as the guest of Judge Day. President McNair gives credit to Governor Osborn, Senators Smith and Townsend and Congressman Young for having induced the president to make the trip to Houghton.

CURED TO STAY CURED

Records of Progressive Medical Association Show That if Once Cured the Disease Will Never Return.

Twenty-five years ago, when these scientific specialists settled down in Duluth, they had scores of patients come to them who had been fooled by men who could not cure them. People had parted with their money, but had not parted with their diseases. The principle of the Progressive Medical doctors always has been to do what is right, and if a man could not be cured they have not kept him guessing about it, but told him the truth; they never charged a patient for any disease which they could not thoroughly cure him of. This principle could not fail to lead them to success, fame and reputation.

MISTAKES. People have read of late many glaring ads of so-called specialists in Duluth papers, they promise everything in the way of cures. Some of them stayed for a few months, and quietly disappeared; others have a hard fight to keep up expenses, because it is hard for them to find enough people at the Head of the Lakes who can be fooled all the time. All of these glaring advertisers have fooled people in other cities and states, till they could fool them no more, and then came to Duluth. The doctors of the Progressive Medical association had such tremendous success for more than twenty years in Duluth that they did not need to go somewhere else. They have always been successful in their cures, they avoided operations, charged a moderate fee for their work, and never charged if a cure could not be effected. People they cure stay cured for life.

EQUIPMENT. For the last five years the doctors of the medical association have equipped their offices with every latest machine and instrument which Medical Science has invented, so that people who were in their office fifteen years ago would not recognize it to be the same office. They have invested thousands of dollars in their office, and have by far the best of medicines, of which probably not one ounce could be obtained from any drug store in Duluth or Superior. These specialists go even so far as to give a legal guarantee where they know they can cure a case. They cure all diseases of men, rheumatism as well as lung troubles, catarrh and stomach diseases, strictures and bladder trouble, blood poison, and all acutely contracted men's diseases. Their offices are on Lake avenue and Superior street which are open from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m.; Sunday from 10 to 1. Consultation is always free of charge.

THIEVES TAKE SETTING HENS AND UNDERTAKER'S SUPPLIES

The old adage about never counting chickens before they are hatched, applied yesterday morning when Mrs. B. F. Doyle of 312 South Fifty-sixth avenue west, went to her hencoop and found that not only had some one "lifted" ten fowls, but that the thieves had deliberately purloined four dozen embryo chickens.

At least, there fere four dozen "setting" eggs missing as well as four "setting" hens and six other fowls. The theft was made at night but evidently nothing was overlooked by the intruders. Mrs. Doyle yesterday afternoon notified the police of the theft and they are investigating.

Equally as curious as the theft at the hencoop was the taking of a black traveling bag, filled with an undertaking firm's salesman's supplies. M. Bergen, reported to the police that his grip had been stolen from the Hotel Cody last evening. There was nothing of value in it except to the owner.

Improvement Club.

A meeting of the Oneota and Hazelwood Improvement clubs will be held this evening in the Hazelwood Park Presbyterian church, Fortieth avenue west and Fourth street. Among other things, which will come up for discussion will be the sewage and park questions. It is also probable that the agitation for a new fire hall will be renewed.

WILL INSPECT BURNED BRIDGE

A trip of inspection over the site of the Commonwealth bridge, which was recently burned in an incendiary fire, will be taken Saturday morning by the members of the board of public works, the aldermen of the Eighth ward and a number of the residents and property owners at Gary and New Duluth. It is thought that a decision may be arrived at as to what will be done in regard to relieving the situation, for the burning of the bridge cut off practically all team traffic between West Duluth and the steel plant site.

Foot Is Crushed.

John Ryan, aged 25, son of James M. Ryan of 4104 West Third street, had his foot crushed yesterday afternoon while working in the Omaha train yards at Itasca. He was taken to the St. Mary's hospital in Superior. It will not be necessary, it is thought, to amputate the foot. Ryan is a switchman.

The date of the meeting of the Central Council of the Associated Charities to be held with "Housing" as the matter to be discussed, will depend largely on when Charles B. WARMEST DAY OF THE YEAR

The warmest day of the year greeted the delegates to the Northern Minnesota Development convention today.

Up in the weather bureau the mercury touched 82 at 2 o'clock and was still climbing. Down where the breezes are not so cooling, the mercury was several degrees farther up the tube, and one business man boasted of a thermometer that registered 90 degs.

LIGHTNING IS PARTIAL.

Kills Every Other Horse in Merrill, Wis., Barn.

Merrill, Wis., June 1.—Lightning played some queer antics here during a heavy rain and electrical storm which visited this section Tuesday night and which caused considerable damage. Lightning struck one of the barns of the local ice company and killed every other horse in the stable, four being killed. The horses stood two in a stall and one horse in each stall was killed, while the others seemed to have been untouched. The barn was not set afire.

HARRIET BEECHER'S GIRLHOOD.

Never was a father more looked up to by his children than was Lyman Beecher, the father of Harriet Beecher Stowe. Mrs. Stowe mentions especially his power of exciting family enthusiasm. "Whenever he had a point to be carried or work to be done, he would work the whole family up to a pitch of fervent zeal, in which the strength of each seemed quadrupled.

"For instance, the wood for the family used to be brought in winter on ox sleds and piled up in the yard exactly over the spot where father wished to plant his cucumbers and melons. Of course, as all this wood was to be cut and split and carried into the woodhouse before the garden could be started, it required a miracle of general skip to get it done, considering the immense quantity of wood required to keep an old windy castle of a house comfortable in winter weather.

"The axes would ring and the chips fly, the jokes and stories would fly faster, till all was cut and split. Then came the great work of wheeling in and piling." Harriet would work like one possessed, sucked into the vortex of enthusiasm by her father's remarking:

"I wish Harriet were a boy! She would do more than any of them!"

Then she would throw aside her book or her needle and thread, says McClure's, and donning a little black coat which she thought made her look more like a boy, she would try to outdo all the rest, till the wood was all in and the chips swept up. Frequently Mr. Beecher would raise a point of theology and start a discussion, taking the wrong and weakest side himself, to practice the youngsters in logic.

If the children did not make good their side of the case, he would stop and explain to them the position, and say, "The argument is thus and so! Now, if you take this position you will be able to trip me up!" Thus he taught them to reason as he would have taught them to box or wrestle, by actual face to face contest.

Their mother was tender, gentle and sympathizing, but all the discipline of government was with the father. With most of his children, when quite young, he had one, two or three seasons in which he taught them that obedience must be exact, prompt and cheerful, and by a discipline so severe that it was thoroughly remembered and feared. Ever after a decided word of command was all-sufficient. The obedience was to be speedy and without fretting or frowns. "Mind you mother! Quick! No crying! Look pleasant!" These were words of command, obeyed with almost military speed and precision.

A MOOSE HUNTER'S MISTAKE.

Kennebec Journal: A Hartland hunter starting out after a deer one day recently put a blanket on his horse before he put on the harness so that the animal would be warm. Arriving at a likely place he tied the horse beside a wood road and went into the woods. He had not traveled far when he struck an old road.

Following this for about a mile he saw in the distance what he took to be a moose standing in the road. Taking careful aim he fired and was much pleased to see the animal fall. He rushed up and found he had killed his own horse. The walk home was a long one.

A GLADSTONE RECEIPT.

Travel and Exploration: At a country house one morning the guests were discussing at breakfast the right way of packing a sponge bag, when the sponge has been used and is consequently waterlogged.

Mr. Gladstone, who had apparently been solely absorbed by his morning's correspondence, suddenly closed the discussion by informing the party that they were all wrong.

"The only proper method is to wrap it up in your bath towel, and stamp upon it. Then put it in your sponge bag. You will find it perfectly dry."

AERIAL SMUGGLING.

Popular Mechanics: The crossing from France to England in an air craft, while at present remarkable and unusual, presages the day when such flights will cease to cause newspaper mention. As the machines require no light visible from below and can travel in the dark, their development would seem to provide unusual facilities for the smuggler. Articles of size and weight would not be available, but the small and costly things, such as diamonds and other jewels, and certain drugs, etc., offer a cargo of great value which can be carried in hand satchels.

CONDITION IS LOWERED

Snow Figures Decreased Yield of Winter Wheat—Values Up.

Speculative Sentiment Bullish Today—Showers in Kansas.

Duluth Board of Trade, June 1.—Wheat advanced today, July gaining 1⅛c and September ⅞c. Cash wheat was ½c over July. Durum gained 1⅝c. Rye was unchanged.

Linseed was lifeless, only a few trades being registered. July was unchanged and September lost 2c. October lost 1c. Foreign cables were unchanged.

Wheat worked upward today. The effect of the recent hot weather in the Southwest is becoming apparent and it is conceded that the Texas and the Oklahoma crops will be partial failures. The Kansas crop will be lower than previously estimated by the leading experts. The government's report as of June 1 is expected to be bullish and the buying today was in anticipation of such a report.

One of the leading bull factors was the report of B. W. Snow who made the condition of winter wheat on June 1, 82.5 compared with his estimate of 87.6 on May 1. The report indicates a crop of 452,000,000 bu. He said the recent dry weather and hot temperatures caused rapid deterioration in Kansas, Nebraska, Texas and Illinois. Hessian fly damage is reported from Indiana, Illinois and Missouri. He figures the condition of spring wheat 93.6 or about normal for June 1. The acreage is given at 20,560,000 or an increase of 4 per cent. He says the oats crop is short and the hay crop smaller than in several years.

Kansas City wired that some traders were predicting only 12,000,000 bu of wheat at the outside for Oklahoma and Texas.

The Cincinnati Price Current said the highly pleasing situation of winter wheat is less modified. Rain is badly needed in many localities.

Shipments from Argentina and India will be larger this week and crop advices from Russia are favorable. The strength abrond was due to short covering on account of the less favorable outlook for the winter wheat in the United States.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: Our Argentine agent estimates wheat shipments this week at 2,400,000; last week, 1,800,000; last year, 560,000; corn this week, nil; last week, 17,000; last year, 1,292,000. In the north the condition of new sown wheat is good.

Liverpool: There was a steady opening this morning with prices ¼d higher, being influenced by the persistent strength in American July. Following the opening there was much disposition shown to realize and the market turned easy with a decline ¼d. Pressure was attributed to the expectations of larger shipments from Argentina this week, favorable Argentine crop advices, freer Australian and Russia offers, very inactive demand for cargoes and parcels, Indian official report of yesterday and more favorable crop advices from Russia. Notwithstanding these there was prominent support on a private cable received here from Chicago which was bullish on the outlook for winter wheat and shorts became nervous with holiday covering and sellers few. At 1:30 p. m. the market was dull but firm and ⅝d higher than yesterday.

Corn—Was steady and nominally unchanged. Wheat cargoes arrived off coast one, and awaiting orders two. Wheat in distant positions easy; demand at 1½d to 3d decline. Corn, easy, demand less active. Spot wheat and corn opened both quiet and unchanged.

Closing wheat cables: Liverpool—Wheat, ⅝@½d higher; corn, ¼d higher. Paris, ½c lower. Antwerp, unchanged. Berlin, ⅝c higher. Budapest, ½c lower than yesterday. Buenos Ayres: June, ⅛c up; July, ⅜c up; corn, June and August, unchanged; oats, July, ⅜c down.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Chicago, June 1.—Strength developed in the wheat market today because of expert opinions that although the winter wheat crop still promises well many sections need rain. Besides, it was expected a better demand for cash wheat would be shown, now that the May deal is out of the way. With such ideas in mind, traders gave little attention to reports of liberal offerings from Russia, India and the Argentine, or to a prediction of shipments more than four times as large as a year ago from the last named country. The opening was the same as last night to ⅛c higher. July started at 89⅛@89½c, unchanged to ⅛c up, and advanced to 89¾c.

Private crop reports putting the condition of winter wheat 5 points lower than a month ago caused an additional gain. The close was firm with July 1⅜c net higher at 91⅛c.

Scarcity of offerings gave corn a bullish turn. Receivers were generally of the opinion that farmers were done with selling for the present. July opened at 53¾@53⅞c, but on slight decline to 53¾c showed a shade lower, and then rose to 53⅞c.

Statements that Argentine will have no surplus for export raised the price still further. The close was steady at 54⅛c for July, ⅜@⅝c higher than last night.

In oats there was a fair commission demand based chiefly upon the strength of corn. The market showed no signs of any pressure to sell. July started ⅛c to ⅛@⅜c higher at 35⅜c to 35⅝@35¾c, and ascended to 35¾@35⅞c.

Provisions were firmer with hogs. A general advance of 2½c appeared at the outset, with further gains following. September delivery opened at $14.22½ for pork, $8.12½@8.15 for lard and $7.80 for ribs.

STRENGTH IN STOCKS

Market Active and All Issues Are at a Higher Level.

Best Prices at Close Under Lead of the Hill Stocks.

New York, June 1.—The strength which developed late yesterday in the stock market was evident at the opening today, and prices of many issues advanced briskly. Hill securities were influenced favorably by the announcement of the plan to issue a $600,000,000 mortgage. Both Northern Pacific and Great Northern preferred gained large fractions and Chicago, Burlington & Quincy joint 4 per cent bonds advanced 2½. The steel issues showed further heaviness, Republic Iron & Steel declining 1¼ and United States Steel a small fraction. Chesapeake & Ohio, Kansas City Southern and American Beet Sugar gained a point and Interborough Metropolitan preferred 1¼.

A bear attack was concentrated against Reading in an endeavor to check the upward tendency of the market. Reading was hammered down from 158¼ to 157½, but as the general market also suffered a slight setback the selling stopped and prices rebounded rapidly again. Reading went up to 158⅝ and there also were gains of 1 to 1½ in St. Paul, Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, Great Northern preferred, Lehigh Valley, Canadian Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line, Erie second preferred and Amalgamated Copper. Purchases of the Hill stocks were on a very large scale and there was a heavy absorption of all the recognized dividend-paying stocks as a result of the reception accorded the Hill financing plan. American Snuff sold at 250 compared with 325 the previous sale last week.

Sustained strength was displayed in the stock market through the morning session and there was no trace of the nervousness which characterized yesterday's trading. The absorption of the market appeared to have been increasing largely, and attempts to depress it met with no success.

The Hill stocks attracted support when by reason of the announcement of Great Northern's proposed financing and in some quarters the view was held that the project to take over the Burlington had been made more feasible by the tenor of the supreme court's decision in Standard Oil and Tobacco.

After stocks reached a higher level in the second hour, establishing numerous gains of between 1 and 2 points, the buying diminished and there was a slight easing off in the railroad section.

Bonds were firm. The jump of 2½ to 99½ in Burlington joint 4's induced realizing and they reacted 1½.

A report that the Burlington's surplus of $25,000,000 would be divided among the stockholders of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific caused another heavy buying movement in the Hill stocks and they advanced about 2 points over yesterday's closing. New strong spots cropped out elsewhere, Pennsylvania gaining a point on its good showing of April earnings.

Light offerings sent prices off a fraction but this selling was mostly of a profit-taking character and the market showed little evidence of weakness.

The market closed active and strong. Best prices of the day were scored in the final hour under the lead of the Hill stocks. All the active issues were at a higher level, both Union Pacific and Atchison making new records for the year. United States Steel recovered all its dividend.

Joseph D. Bren Is Held Up Near the Institution.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joseph D. Bren, cashier and accountant of the state university, was held up by three highwaymen on the bank of the Mississippi near the university this morning and robbed of $13,826.79, which he was carrying in a satchel. He also lost his watch and his month's salary, $166.

Mr. Bren had been to the Northwestern National bank, Minneapolis, to get the money which was to be used for refunds to the students for breakages and for fees. He took the currency in a satchel, boarded a car for the university, as he usually does, and getting off at the Washington avenue bridge, started up toward the campus along the river bank, on a road which runs from the bridge to the "U."

Near Millard Hall.

He reached the railroad tracks near

STEAMER LINE TO SOUTH AMERICA

Mississippi Valley Men Interested in Proposed Service.

New Orleans, La., June 2.—Steamship service between Mississippi valley points and South American ports will soon be inaugurated, according to notification given out by officials of the Progressive union here today. Plans for the new service, to be known as the Mississippi Valley, South American & Orient Steamship line, have advanced to a point in that instead of waiting for the building of new vessels, other ships will be chartered. The movement is fostered entirely by Brazilian and Mississippi valley business men who seek closer trade relations between the two continents.

WORK AHEAD FOR THE NAVY

Forecasts War in His Address to Graduating Class.

Annapolis, Md., June 2.—Expressing the belief that any future war in which the United States may engage will largely, if not entirely, be decided by a battle or battles on the sea, Assistant Secretary of the Navy Winthrop, in an address today to the graduates of the naval academy, said he was strongly impressed with the necessity of maintaining a navy sufficient in power to diminish to a minimum any danger of losing control of the sea.

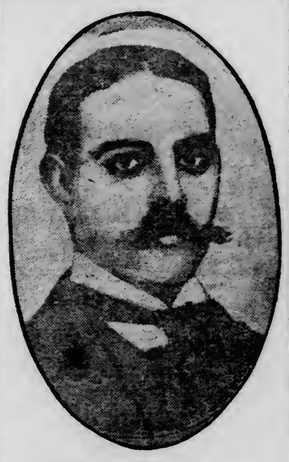

"Graduating at 22, you will have about forty years of active service before you; and although we are all most desirous that war shall not check the peaceful progress of the nation, we must recognize that this country, since its inception, has never enjoyed forty years of peace uninterrupted by war. The average period between wars of this country has been only a few months over twenty-nine years, so if anything like this ratio is preserved in the future, you will probably see active service.

Wars Not Yet Over.

"Understand me, that I am most desirous of continued peace, and sincerely trust that the agitation for arbitration treaties and an international tribunal with adequate power to enforce its ordained decrees, will bear fruit; but he who believes that international peace has arrived and that no more wars will occur, enjoys an optimism greater than I can acquire.

"The control of the sea will, in my opinion, be the crucial turning point of any war in which we may be engaged, and it is therefore evident how incumbent it will be upon you so to maintain the material and personnel allowed us by congress that it may always be at the highest point of efficiency."

SAY BRYAN IS REBUKED

Democrats So Regard Caucus Approval of Wool Schedule.

Reduced Duty on Wool Instead of Free Raw Article Favored.

Washington, June 2.—Democratic members of the house, having finished their party struggle over the wool tariff and agreed almost unanimously to support the Underwood bill, placing a duty of 20 per cent ad valorem on raw wool, prepared today to meet the attacks upon the proposed revision of the schedules that are to come from the Republican minority.

The Democratic plan was to introduce the wool bill and refer it to the ways and means committee, by which it would be reported favorably next week.

Leaders of the Democrats were jubilant over the result of their caucus of last night. They were pleased because differences threatened by the interposition of William Jennings Bryan in advocacy of free wool had been adjusted and the party apparently cemented in its support of the revenue measure.

Rebuke to Bryan.

Representative Underwood, who with Speaker Champ Clark led the fight for a revenue tariff on wool from the beginning of the special session, said:

"The adoption of this bill and the unanimity with which it was received by the Democrats, many of whom did not favor it as a policy, but who were eventually brought to see its revenue necessity, demonstrated again the earnestness and wisdom of the Democratic house. As for Mr. Bryan's attack upon the bill, I can only say that he has received his answer from Democrats who never bolted a caucus."

The senate was not in session today. The proposed Democratic revision of the wool tariff—the Underwood bill—was unanimously approved by a full Democratic caucus at midnight, twelve

FOUR DEAD FROM AUTO ACCIDENT

Two Men and Two Women in Fatal Plunge From Bridge.

Harrisburg, Pa., June 2.—Miss Laura M. Neilson, a stenographer of New Bloomfield, near here, the fourth victim of an automobile wreck last night, in which three persons were killed instantly, died in a hospital today. She never regained consciousness after the accident.

Miss Neilson was in the automobile with C. A. Sefton and W. R. Harrar, prominent Harrisburg men, and Mrs. Robert W. Dunlop. They were crossing a long bridge that spans the Pennsylvania and the Reading railway tracks when the machine swerved, crashed into the railing of the bridge and fell fifty feet to the tracks. All were dead except Miss Neilson when removed from the wreckage. Sefton was married and the owner of a large carriage factory. Harrar was unmarried.

PICK MEN TO TRY LORIMER

Senate Committee Will Meet Saturday for That Work.

Members Want to Get It Over With as Soon as Possible.

Washington, June 2.—The senate committe on privileges and elections will meet tomorrow to consider the Lorimer case. The committee will choose a sub-committee of eight members to conduct the inquiry, as suggested yesterday in the open senate, which will either confirm or reject them. It is not believed there will be further debate, as all concerned appear to be anxious that the inquiry shall be undertaken as speedily as possible.

Will Be "Bi-Lorimer."

The inquiry will be conducted by a sub-committee of the committee on privileges and elections, composed of four Republicans and four Democrats, four of whom voted for the conviction and four for the acquittal of the senator last session. The method selected is regarded as the latest thing in jury trials.

It took seven hours' debate to agree upon the system, and it was finally adopted by a vote of 48 to 20, being substituted for the plan urged by Senator La Follette of turning the case over to five senators who were not members when the case was voted upon before and therefore were supposed to be unbiased.

Before the vote was taken, Senator Bristow, who favored the La Follette plan, accused Senator Dillingham, chairman of the election committee, of

SAYS LIND CAN BE A SENATOR

Galarneault Believes Ex-Governor Can Beat Knute Nelson.

St. Paul, Minn., June 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—"John Lind can be elected United States senator from Minnesota, if he makes the race."

This is the opinion J. B. Galarneault, former state superintendent of banks, expressed today. Mr. Galarneault will not qualify his statement in the least.

"It would simply be handed to him," he said, "if he ran against Knute Nelson. I don't think there is a man in the state he could not defeat. The most surprising thing to me is that the Republicans let the Keefe bill providing for election of United States senators by direct vote get through the legislature."

Mr. Galarneault decried the attitude of the Democratic state senators who voted against reapportionment. "It's a shame," he said.

WASHINGTON BAD PLACE ON SUNDAY

Presbyterian Pastor Condemns Practices in Nation's Capital.

Washington, June 2.—In support of the declaration of the Sunday observance committee of the Presbyterian general assembly at Atlantic City recently that Sunday in the national capital is desecrated as in few other large cities of the United States, Rev. Wallace Radcliffe, pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian church, reiterated to his congregation last night the charges made by the committee. The pasor said that theaters were run here on Sunday, that the excise laws were regularly disregarded, that public and private work was done on a large scale and that the Sunday entertainments of the rich were a menace to the moral welfare.

Could Get Anyone a Drink.

If he were asked to do so, the pastor said, he could take anyone out on Sunday and get him a drink. On the Sabbath day, said Mr. Radcliffe, the man who walks down town is constantly face to face with the temptation to drink.

Mr. Radcliffe himself was a delegate to the general assembly, whose criticism of Washington's observance of Sunday, or lack thereof, was so severe as to meet with prompt denial from city officials.

BIGGER COTTON AREA REPORTED

Crop Condition Also Is Better Than That One Year Ago.

Washington, June [illegible] the area planted to cotton this year in the United States, as estimated by the crop reporting board of the department of agriculture in the first crop report of the season, is about 104.7 per cent of the area planted last year, or 27,004,000 acres, including that already planted and expected to be planted. This is an increase of 3.7 per cent, or 1,586,000 acres, compared with 33,418,000 acres, the revised estimate of last year's planted area.

The condition of the growing crop on May 25 was 87.8 per cent of a normal condition as compared with 80.2 per cent that day last year, and 80.9 the ten years' average on that date.

Gary Tells Congressional Committee of Corporation Affairs.

Steel Magnate Says Full Publicity Must Be Enforced.

Washington, June 2.—Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation, took the witness stand again today when the Stanley Steel Trust investigating committee resumed the hearing. Norman B. Ream, Percival Roberts, James Gayley and W. B. Dickson, directors of the Steel corporation, were to follow Mr. Gary before the committee.

Mr. Gary appeared prepared to unfold to the investigators all that he hoped to accomplish for the benefit of the steel trade in plans he had discussed at the famous Gary dinners to steel men in New York and through the American Iron & Steel institute, which Chairman Stanley yesterday said was reported to have for its chief aim the organization of an international steel combination.

Mr. Gary yesterday was about to explain "all that I hope to do and just what my plans are," when the committee chairman, just before adjournment, interrupted him with his statement relating to the reports of a projected international trust and of the charge that Mr. Gary's "able and efficient management" was responsible therefor. Mr. Gary briefly denied it and averred that he would answer the allegation more fully today.

Publicity and Control.

Soon after the committee met today Mr. Gary declared that enforced pub-

CHRISTENING GUN PLAY DEAR

Arkansas Banker Is Fined $500 and Sent to Jail for One Year.

Centertown, Ark., June 2.—E. M. Fair, a banker of this city, was fined $500 and sentenced to a year in jail here today because he drew a revolver and threatened to stop the proceedings at the christening of his nephew several years ago. The baby is the son of James Stroud, Fair's brother-in-law. Stroud, it was testified, wanted the child christened according to his religion, while Fair, whose beliefs are different, recommended another form.

MAY REPEAL 3-MILL TAX

State Senators Believe Money and Credits Law Will Be Killed.

Several Say They Do Not Recall Voting Upon Measure.

St. Paul, Minn., May 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the 3-mill tax imposed on money and credits by an act passed at the last session of the legislature will be promptly repealed at the next session, is the unanimous opinion of Democratic state senators who have been here attending the big pow-wow. How the bill ever got through is a mystery to several and they declare they have no recollection of ever voting for it.

"The bill is sure to be repealed," said Senator S. D. Works of Mankato. "I never heard of the measure until the merchants climbed all over me and told me what it was doing to them. It must have slipped through the closing night, when we were voting bills through so rapidly."

"Search Me," Says Senator.

Turning to Senator Van Hoven of Ramsey county, who was at his side, he asked:

"When did that bill go through, Van Hoven?"

"Search me," the German senator replied. "I went down to the assessor's office to make out my list, and they jumped all over me. I didn't know anything about the bill, so I

BREWING PLANT IN SHEBOYGAN BURNS

Conrad Schrier Company Suffers Damage of $300,000.

Sheboygan, Wis., June 2.—Fire early today destroyed the two nine-story grain elevators and a large malting house of the Conrad Schrier Brewing company of this city, entailing an estimated loss of $300,000.

TASTES POISON IN THE MILK

Los Angeles Woman Refuses to Drink It and Husband Is Arrested.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 2.—The bitter taste of sixty grains of strychnine in less than a pint of milk saved Mrs. Ralph Rafel, the young mother of a 6-month-old baby, from death by poison yesterday. Her husband, Ralph Rafel, aged 27, the manager of the Electrical Maintenance company, has been arrested.

The arrest of Rafel followed a statement by his wife that her husband, about a month ago, urged her to get a divorce, saying she had tuberculosis. Two weeks later, she said, her mother in Milwaukee received a letter from her husband, telling her not to be surprised if she should hear of her daughter's death. On Wednesday, she says, she bought some strychnine at his request "to kill bugs."

When arrested Rafel denied any wrongdoing, but later told the police where the bottle containing a remnant of the strychnine was to be found.

LEGISLATURE CENSURED IN RESOLUTIONS

Failure to Pass Reapportionment Bill Condemned as Great Injustice.

Creates Immigration Commission to Work Independent of State.

Pledges Support to Reclamation Board and Urges Soil Survey.

WHAT THE ASSOCIATION DID.

Censured legislature for failure to enact reapportionment law.

Censured legislature's failure to pass bill creating a department of public domain, bill providing for sale of foreign securities in state treasury, bill providing for a deep waterway from the Lake of the Woods to Lake Superior, and for the repeal of the permanent improvement clauses in the law relating to state land sales.

Put its disapproval on the seven-senator constitutional amendment and urged its rejection.

Created immigration commission to engage immigration commissioner, who will have an office in St. Paul and will work independent of the state commission to attract settlers to Minnesota.

Commended Ellwell bill for good roads.

Instructed executive committee to appoint a good roads commission.

Commended extension of agricultural education in the high schools and common schools of the state.

Pledged its support to the reclamation board.

Urged that a soil survey be made to make available more definite information for the guidance of prospective settlers.

Urged extension of drainage work.

Decided to meet in St. Cloud in December.

With the adoption of resolutions, in which the accomplishments of the association during its short life are marshaled for admiration, in which the legislature is censured for its stand on reapportionment and other subjects, and in which plans are laid for constructive work in the development of the northern part of the state, the fourth convention of the Northern Minnesota Development association came to an end this afternoon. St. Cloud was selected as the place for the next meeting, which will be held in September.

The failure of the legislature to pass a reapportionment bill is termed a great injustice to the northern part of the state, and the association again pledged itself to use every honorable means to obtain reapportionment legislation at the next session.

Other matters of vital importance to

HOLD SCHEIB AS MURDERER

New York Police Arrest Him Again in Bath Tub Case.

Father of Victim Declares the Man Is His Son-in-Law.

The chauffeur sticks to the story that he knows nothing about how his wife's body came to be in the tub at the flat they had formerly occupied. The body was in a state of decomposition which indicated that death had occurred four months ago.

Four times arrested and three times freed, Scheib through his attorney is seeking to reach the supreme court with another writ of habeas corpus. Now he is held on a definite charge of first degree murder, whereas there was no serious charge against him yesterday when the court felt obliged to grant his repeated applications for freedom. Since then, however, evidence has accumulated.

Identified by Father-in-law.

Connor O'Grady of Springfield, Mass., has identified the prisoner as the man who, under the name of Hugh Allerton Sherman, married his daughter, the bathtub victim.

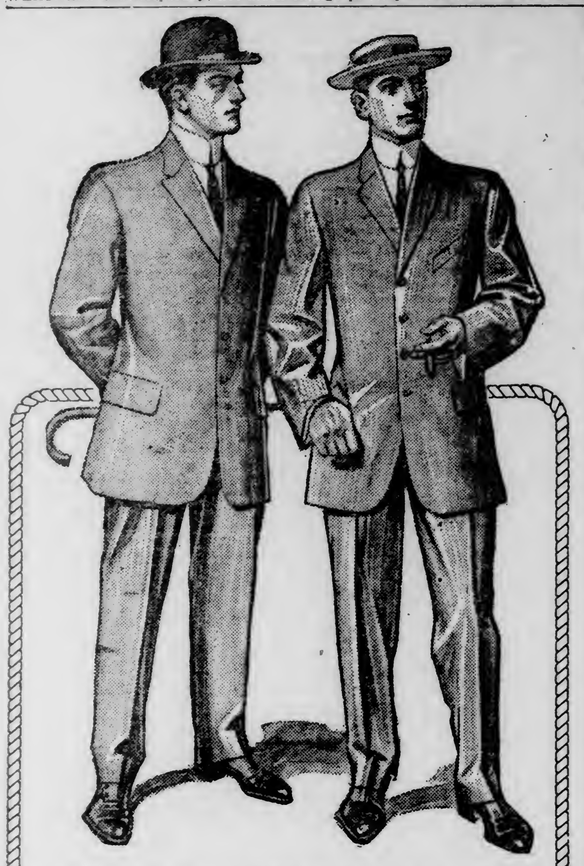

The coroner's physician says he has satisfied himself that the dead woman was Mrs. Scheib, or "Mrs. Sherman," regardless of her husband's admission of her identity. He has not determined, however, what killed her nor whether chemicals were used for the destruction of the body.

ROOSEVELT TELLS VIEWS

Says Oil Trust Decision Was Good But Law Is Defective.

Trust Control Like That of Railroads Is Needed, He Thinks.

New York, June 2.—Theodore Roosevelt has an article on "The Standard Oil Decision—And After" in the Outlook. It says, in part:

"The decision of the supreme court in the Stardard Oil case has, of course, brought out many proposals for altering or amending the anti-trust law. There are two classes of men whose respective attitudes in reference to this law are in theory diametrically opposed, and in results almost identically the same; those men who wish no interference whatever by the government with any combinations or corporations; and those men who, under the plea of being against all combinations and big corporations, propose absolutely to prohibit their existence.

"In theory these two sets of men are diametrically opposed. In practice the activities of the second class who wish totally to prohibit all corporations can result only in practically fulfilling the wish of the first class by leaving the present situation fundamentally unchanged. Actual experience with the anti-trust law extending over many years has shown that it does not and cannot by any possibility be made to do what the extreme antagonists of corporations desire or assert that they desire. As construed by the supreme court, the anti-trust law accomplishes a certain amount of good and it has been a good thing obtain the decision that has been obtained against the Standard Oil company.

Law Is Vitally Defective.

"But as a means of effectually grappling on behalf of the whole people with the problem created by what are commonly called trusts—that is, of enormous combinations of corporate capital engaged in interstate business—the anti-trust law is radically and vitally defective and any effort to strengthen it would be worse than futile, and would result only in prolonging the time during which the corporation will escape control of the kind demanded in the interests of the people.

"The anti-trust law was framed on the theory that it was possible to turn back the wheels of progress in industrialism, and in an age of combination to put a stop to the combinations under which business was carried on. While, as I have said, the anti-trust law as now construed does accomplish a certain amount of good, it was out of the question that, framed as it was in such a spirit and with such a purpose, it could achieve in any but the smallest degree what its framers hoped, and any effort to achieve this purpose simply by making the law more stringent will result either in nothing or in changing the situation for the worse.

What Is Needed.

"What is urgently needed is the enactment of drastic and far-reaching legislation which shall put the great interstate business corporations of the type of the Standard Oil company, the sugar trust, the steel trust and the like, at least as completely under the control and regulation of the government in each and every respect as the interstate railways are now put. To break up the Standard Oil company as the recent decision has broken it up does a certain amount of good; but it does not do anything like the amount of good that would be achieved from the standpoint of the public if the proper governmental body were given the same supervision and control over it as the interstate commerce commission has established over certain of the railways of the country.

"It may well be that in the end government control of these great interstate corporations may have to go much farther than is indicated by the present government control over the railways; but, in any event, the only possible satisfactory method of dealing with these great corporations of a monopolistic trend which are not railways is to follow the lines along which the nation has gone in dealing with those of them which are railways, altering and developing the policy as conditions and events shall justify. Our prime object must be to have the regulation accomplished by continuous administrative action and not by necessarily intermittent law suits."

LARGE CLOQUET CLASS GRADUATES

Fifty-Five Boys and Girls Are Given Eighth Grade Diplomas.

Cloquet, Minn., June 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the Nelson opera house last night fifty-five pupils, eighth grade graduates, were presented with diplomas by Peter Olesen, city superintendent of schools. It was the largest class in the history of the school, and the second to hold commencement exercises. The program was entirely patriotic, and was given with a vim that awoke the patriotism in every one present, and the audience packed the opera house. The youngsters rendered their parts without a hitch, Rev. F. C. Coolbaugh, rector of St. Andrews church, pronounced the invocation.

In presenting the diplomas, Mr. Olesen earnestly counseled the fifty-five boys and girls to enter high school next fall and complete the course, reminding them that their class motto, "Step by Step," illustrates the fact that they have only just begun to climb the ladder of learning, and suggesting to them that in the industrial course to be added to the high school this year, may lie splendid opportunities for many of them. Rev. T. T. Roan gave the benediction.

The Graduates.

England's Elevators Have But Limited Capacity, Says Visiting Expert.

James Whitaker of Manchester, England, an expert on elevator construction, was the guest today of S. P. Staples of the board of trade. Mr. Whitaker inspected the Peavey elevator. He came here from Minneapolis and will go to Port Arthur and Fort William. Mr. Whitaker will visit the principal cities in the United States where there are elevators before returning home.

Elevators in the United States, he said, generally are larger than in the United Kingdom. England has one elevator, he said, which will hold nearly 2,000,000 bushels of grain. Another holds about 1,250,000 bushels. Construction is now chiefly of concrete.

"Our elevators are not large," said Mr. Whitaker, "because the United Kingdom rarely carries more than six weeks' supply of wheat. Almost every town has a small elevator."

In this country wheat is shipped to the big terminal centers, while in England the movement is from the ports to the interior elevators.

Stanley, N. D., Growing Contests.

Stanley, N. D., June 2.—Two hundred and seventy-five Mountrail county school children have entered the state corn growing contest, have their seed in the ground and are now waiting for the first green blades to appear so that they may get at the cultivating. One hundred and seventy-five have entered the potato contest and several more would have enrolled only that the season was too far advanced before seed could be sent them.

BUY BUTTER FOR STORAGE

Speculators Are Beginning to Show Some Activity in Market.

Strictly Fresh Eggs Scarce—Cheese Trade More Active.

The produce trade in the last few days has been characterized by the opening of an active buying season for cold storage butter, weak prices for eggs and firm quotations on most descriptions of fresh fruits and green goods. Receipts of the latter did not show a tendency to increase in the degree that had been expected. The general trade in produce was fairly voluminous and of a healthy charafter.

Appearance of speculators in the butter markets of the West in search of stock to put in coolers for winter consumption was marked by firm prices in creamery makes. This strength indicated that scalpers were prepared to go into the cold storage deal on a large scale, despite the disastrous ending of last year's attempts along the same line.

The warm weather was the chief factor in the egg market. Owing to the extreme heat encountered in transit, many of the eggs received from distant places graded poorly when candled. This resulted in a smaller supply of high-class stock than had been expected and a superabundance of cheap, low-grad ed eggs. The latter were weak while the former held to a firm basis of prices.

The cheese trade was more active. Prices were about the same, although the market had a weak undertone. Buyers took hold with celerity, keeping the market free of accumulations. The make of cheese is showing a steady increase, but dealers believe that a healthy, active trade may be expected if values are retained at their present levels. They do not expect any material fluctuations from the present level, as further reductions would entail a loss to producers, while upturns would be discouraging to buyers.

The poultry trade is quiet. Arrivals have been of moderate volume. The demand lacks snap and prices are weak. Spring chickens, however, are coming forward freely and are held firmly.

The green goods market is a between-season affair. An actual shortage of cabbage exists, and a bulge in prices has failed to attract adequate receipts. Cucumbers, Tomatoes, string beans and many other varieties are comparatively scarce, while lettuce, radishes and green onions are fairly liberal in supply.

Dry weather is responsible to some extent for the falling off in receipts of garden produce. Home grown vegetables will begin to come into the market in the near future when prices may be expected to decline.

Strawberries suffered from the same factors affecting vegetables. Shipments from Louisiana are scarce and far between. Berries from Tennessee and Illinois are limited in quantity and unsatisfactory as to quality. Michigan strawberries will soon be in the market in liberal supply.

Hot weather is lemonade weather and higher prices for this fruit are expected. The supply will be scarcely equal to the demand. More liberal receipts of California cherries caused weaker prices. Pineapples, oranges, grapefruit and apples met with a good inquiry at steady to strong prices.

The market for new potatoes enjoyed a boom and prices are firm. Receipts, although of fairly liberal volume, are not quite equal to the demand. The supply is increasing as the week closes.

Scarcity of spot California canned fruits is daily becoming more evident with prices gradually advancing. The outlook for the coming crop exercises a similar influence on the future markets. Thus far there have been no printed prices but there are intimations of a material advance over last year's opening figures.

Canned salmon is moving liberally on account of the warm weather. More activity is noted in the canned fish market. While no opening prices on canned Columbia river salmon have been named, it is probable that opening quotations will be 10c a dozen higher than the initial prices of 1910.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra.
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.
AUDITORIUM—Roller skating.

Green Room Gossip.

The opening concert of the spring festival by the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra will be given at the Lyceum this evening.

Only three more performances will be given at the Orpheum theater, this evening, tomorrow afternoon and tomorrow night, after which the theater will close for the summer.

"Thelma" will be presented at the Lyceum Sunday night only by a traveling company owned by two Duluth young men.

The new Auditorium is steadily growing in popularity with roller skaters, and every afternoon and evening there is a large crowd on the floor. Special musical programs are planned for Saturday afternoon and evening.

Frederick Warde, who is probably the country's greatest living tragedian, comes to the Lyceum on next Monday and Tuesday, June 5 and 6, with special matinee Tuesday at 3 o'clock for students and teachers, in a special production of Shakespeare's popular tragedy, "Julius Caesar," in which he will appear as Brutus. Mr. Warde is the last of a school of players who have made dramatic history in this country and has been admired by lovers of tragedy for over a quarter of a century.

"A great many people ask me how I ever happened to make up as a woman for my appearance before the footlights," said Fred Berren, who is appearing at the Empress with his brother, Fred, this week. "Well, it happened like this. I belonged to a social club that used to give masquerade parties about once a month, and no matter what sort of a costume I wore, my friends knew me the minute I entered the hall. I often wondered why they could penetrate my disguise so easily. One day I asked a friend of mine and he said, 'Oh, that's easy, your girlish manners give you away.' He said this as a joke, but I remembered it and the next time I appeared in an evening gown and deceived all my friends. I danced and talked with all of them, still none of them knew who I was. My success in deceiving my friends gave me the idea of making up as a woman for my stage appearance, and I have been doing it ever since."

FREDERICK WARDE, As "Julius Caesar."

About the Undermuslin Sale!

Whatever may be the experience elsewhere we know that the woman of today recognizes Quality and appreciates it. We have educated the public to the difference between the durable and the flimsy.

Our policy in rejecting the inferior qualities thrown on the market to meet certain demands has met with its reward.

Just now we are in the midst of our most successful May sale of undermuslins and lingerie. Such beautiful sheer materials, rich and artistic designs, laces and embroideries are seldom seen. Dainty Undermuslins at lower prices than we have ever had before. Moreover the styles are all different and all very practical. Among some of our best values are the $1.50 gowns at $1.00 and the $2.00 gowns for $1.50. These run in all sizes and fit as perfectly as our more expensive garments.

The pesant smock being one of the most desirable for the warm summer weather. $1.00 up to $5.00. Some others are the empire gown with lace and insertions, the square low neck with embroidery trimming edged with linen lace, and an embroidery button front gown with long sleeves. The petticoats are very unusual values and a great many of them are new in both design and style; values from $1.25 to $10.00. A dainty princess combination comes with drawer and cover or skirt and cover. The lines in these two new combinations are splendid, giving a tailored effect. They run from $3.50 up. We are also showing the best assortment of combination suits at $1.50 and $2.50 that we have ever shown before.

A new line of the triple princess combination suits is proving very satisfactory to many women. These come in three-piece combinaion consisting of drawer, skirt and cover and doing away entirely with the skirt petticoat. $3.50.

Princess slips are being worn so much with the summer dresses—we have these in most effective patterns, made of nainsook, trimmed with torchon, some in lawn with embroidery medalions and lace insertions—from $2.50 up.

French Lingerie We have among the French garments some very beautiful sets which will undoubtedly interest a number of the coming June brides.

The petticoats, chemise, drawers and night gowns in these hand-made garments really consist of the most varied and effective patterns we have ever had.

Corsets Among the models in the La Helene, Redfern, Modart, Rengo belt, and S. & B. Special can be found corsets for every woman. The low busts that are worn so much at the present, giving ease and graceful lines, can be had in any of these.

These models follow fashions' demands for the long slender lines, but with greater comfort are designed to give perfect freedom to figures of any proportions in any position.

WORKING FOR RECIPROCITY

President Foresees Crisis When Free List Bill Comes Up.

Nelson's Amendments Are Regarded as Sinister Move.

Washington, June 2.—The crisis in the senate fight on Canadian reciprocity is expected to be reached when the Democratic farmers' list bill is offered as an amendment to the bill carrying the agreement into effect.

That such an amendment will be offered for the purpose of embarrassing the Democratic supporters of reciprocity seems certain. It is toward this critical contingency that President Taft just now is devoting his attention. He is holding daily conferences at the White House in an effort to keep Republican and Democratic senators alike in line for the pact.

President Taft is certain that the reciprocity bill will pass the senate by a comfortable majority if it can be brought to a final vote without amendment. He feels that the test for the true friends of reciprocity will come in dealing with the proposed amendments to be offered from the floor. Mr. Taft recently has had assurances that the bill will be reported out of the finance committee without amendment and without recommendation. This is what he greatly desires.

Amendment Means Defeat.

The president feels that any amendment in the senate will defeat the bill, and he believes that to be the purpose of some senators who have proposed amendments. The proposed Root, Lodge and Nelson amendments have brought the president into sharp conflict with these senators, but he has not hesitated to express his views regarding them.

Fully cognizant of the fact that he must depend upon the almost solid vote of the Democrats in the senate to carry the reciprocity bill through, President Taft has been endeavoring to devise a means to help them out of the dilemma that will be presented when they are asked to vote for or against the free list, but as a rider to the reciprocity measure. Some Democratic senators have told the president frankly that they would vote against the free list amendment if they could be assured that the "standpat" Republicans would not stifle in committee the free list bill as it came from the house and thus deprive the Southern Democratic senators of the opportunity in open senate properly to record their votes on the measure.

Taft Has Solution.

President Taft fully appreciates the position in which the senate Democrats find themselves, but he thinks he has found a solution of the problem. He has suggested that a motion by the Democrats to discharge the finance committee from consideration of the free list bill and to put it upon its passage, would serve the purpose of the Democrats in making their attitude perfectly clear, and he has further expressed confidence in the fairness of the American people to recognize the purpose of those who would attempt the free list method of defeating reciprocity.

The plan, as outlined, has been broadly discussed among Democratic senators, and it is said that they believe with other friends of reciprocity that it is an acceptable solution of the difficulty.

In all of his talks with senators during the last few days, President Taft has endeavored to impress the fact that in negotiating the pact with Canada, the United States offered to put meats, flour, agricultural implements and shoes on the free list. Canada would not make like concessions. The agreement is specific on certain points and cannot be varied.

"Most Favored Nation."

The rates on flour, meats and shoes could be reduced without violating the pact, it is said, but to do so would be to open the problem of "the most favored nation" clause in treaties with other countries, and while the United States would get no concession from Canada by reducing the rates, the application of these rates to other countries, the president holds, might let in Argentine meat and Australian mutton, which he believes would be a real injury to the farmer.

The only condition in the agreement that was not absolute dealt with print paper. The provinces of Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick closely restrict the exportation of spruce wood on the theory that the pulp and paper should be made in Canada. The reciprocity agreement, as negotiated, provided that Canadian paper could come in free only when those provincial restrictions were removed.

Action of the House.

The house, instead of incorporating this conditional provision in the reciprocity bill, gave more of a concession with the idea of inducing the provinces to lift their restrictions and provided that all paper made in Canada from pulp wood not grown on lands under restriction, should be admitted free. As the duty on paper is $5.75 a ton, the house felt that Canada ultimately would be glad to lift the restrictions to gain the adavantage of this reduction.

According to the White House view, the Root amendment to the paper and pulp schedule does not actually violate the agreement, but repeals the house amendment and puts the paper provision again in conditional form. The house, it is said, would not accept the Root amendment or any other amendment carried through from a technical standpoint.

The Nelson Amendment.

The Nelson amendment would simply cut down duties on agricultural products instead of abolishing them. It would upset the entire agreement, it is said at the White House, and is believed there to have been framed with that intention.

President Taft feels sure of 22 Republican votes for the reciprocity bill in the shape that it passed the house. He also feels sure of 35 or 36 Democratic votes, making a total of 57 to 58 in favor of the bill to 33 or 34 against it, pairs, of course, reducing these figures as to the total vote, but not as to the safe percentage of majority.

NYE ACQUITTED IN BRIBERY CASE

First Ohio Trial Goes Against State—Evans Comes Next.

Columbus, Ohio, June 2.—"Not guilty" was the verdict of the jury in the trial of Dr. George B. Nye, representative from Pike county in the assembly, charged with bribe solicitation.

The verdict was returned late yesterday within an hour and a half after the jury retired, and was received with evidences of emotion and gratitude by the legislator's mother and others about him.

Dr. Nye's case was the first of the legislative bribery trials to be conducted. The next trial will be that of Representative Owen Evans of Stark county, which will begin Monday. There are three other indictments against Dr. Nye.

CAT'S ODD JOURNEY.

Traveling First Class and Accompanied By Paid Guardian.

Boston, Mass., June 2.—"Bacon," a prize-winning Angora cat, has started from Cleveland, traveling first class and accompanied by a paid guardian, to rejoin Mrs. F. S. Stevens of 18 Davis avenue, a society matron of Brookline, who is preparing to welcome him warmly, for he has been absent four months.

Bacon's journey, believed to be the most remarkable ever taken by a cat bred of fancy stock, is the result of an illness that overtook him while Mrs. Stevens was coming here from her former home in Little Rock, Ark. A cat doctor said Bacon was suffering from general debility and recommended that it spend some time at his sanitarium for animals. A short time ago she received word that her pet was fully recovered.

WORKINGMEN MAY ENTER POLITICS

Rumored Such Decision Will Be Reached at Minnesota Federation Meet.

Mankato, Minn., June 2.—The twenty-ninth annual convention of the Minnesota State Federation of Labor will be held here the week of Monday, June 19, and will continue until the business of the convention has been completed, which is expected to be in about four days. The Blue Label league will meet Sunday, June 18, and the following day.

All trade assemblies, building trades councils, union label leagues and other delegate organizations having less than ten unions affiliated will be entitled to two delegates; those having more than ten unions affiliated will be entitled to five delegates. The headquarters will be at the Saulpaugh hotel. The credentials committee will meet Saturday and Sunday, June 17 and 18.

Work to Be Undertaken.

This convention is expected to provide for carrying on the work of organization, and also start a movement for promoting civil welfare, by trying to secure the passage of laws said to be necessary for the economic well being of the working classes. The last legislature adjourned without giving to labor a single law of general benefit, it is asserted, although it began work full of promises. All of the far-reaching bills introduced by labor were killed by the steam roller, and conditions are no better than two years ago, it is contended.

The convention is to be called upon, it is understood, to map out a plan for the entry of the working classes into politics in Minnesota, independent of all political parties. It is expected that a legislative lobby will also be provided for, but it is also desired to secure some able leaders in the legislative body to champion the measures that the federation is interested in.

H. Lindeke of Lindeke, Warner & Sons of St. Paul, who had made a previous offer of $883,500.

PROBLEM OF THE SUMMER

Average Pastor Sees His Congregations Dwindling Each Sunday.

Serious Situation Affords Opportunity for Trying Unusual Methods.

Boston, Mass., June 2.—May and June are the hardest months in the year for the average pastor. He sees his congregations dwindling Sunday by Sunday. Most of the subsidiary organizations of the church have had their last meetings of the season. Everybody is asking everybody else about summer vacation plans. Under such conditions it is hard work to go on with pulpit work and with the other regular services and enterprises, some of which under the most favorable circumstances do not move on any too swiftly.

Just how organized Christianity is to meet the problem of the summer, which grows more serious year by year in view of the tendency to lengthen vacations, has not yet been made apparent. It is easy to crack the old jokes about the devil never taking any vacation implying that the church which does close its doors and let its energies slacken during hot weather is yielding so much ground to the enemy of mankind; but church workers are faced by conditions and not by theories. They are not responsible for the tendencies of the time in the direction of self-indulgence and away from strenuous religious activities. They can only accept the situation as essentially a part of the providential movements of our time; adjust themselves to it; find, if they can, compensations for it; advise good Christians to make as wide use as possible of their holidays in the interests of better service in the autumn and determine what can best be done in the individual church to bridge over the chasm between early June and the last of September.

Each church has to study its own surroundings in order to determine its policy. Sometimes it is better frankly to admit that in view of the departure of most of the regular attendants the church should curtail the number of its weekly services and modify them considerably. One located, for example, in the midst of the fashionable section of a great city cannot probably maintain to advantage its winter program. It may be best even to close the doors for several weeks. But here one should look for some compensatory advantages. One is the chance to unite with other bodies, perhaps of the same denominational faith, perhaps of a different polity. The summer season presents an unusual chance for getting together, and some churches are learning to avail themselves of it. The remnant of people remaining at home for one reason and another often finds itself warmly welcomed into a neighboring or even a distinct church; and the fraternizing promotes fellowship.

A Chance for New Method.

Then again the summer affords an opportunity to try unusual methods. Some churches are utilizing their lawns for open-air services in the cool of the evening; some are holding a bright service of song on the porch, either as a subsidiary to the evening service within the auditorium or as a precursor to it; some are going out to beaches and the parks holding open-air services. Here again the chance for union effort can be discerned, and what one church might not care to undertake alone, on account of the expense or the novelty or the experimental character of the procedure, might be assumed by a group of churches. In a certain New England city, for a number of years, the Protestant churches have united in an open-air service in a park near the center of the town, in the maintenance of which ministers and laymen have shared, with audiences each Sunday through the summer averaging into the hundreds. There ought not to be any town of considerable size in which some such service of a dignified and stirring character is not held.

An opportune time it is also to experiment in the Sunday school, provided it is continued. Some churches are finding it profitable to combine all their classes into one large Bible class with a capable teacher. Perhaps a departure from the uniform course of lessons may be desirable. There are always enough people left in town to enjoy a profitable hour of Bible study together, provided the lesson is studied in a way that brings it home to the needs of the average man, provided full opportunity is given for discussion and the real spiritual value of the Scriptures is made apparent.

Summer Conferences.

There is another aspect of the religious life in the summer which is commanding increasing attention and which in many ways is full of encouragement for organized Christianity. Recent years have witnessed a vast development of the summer conference idea. The time was when only one or two, like the Northfield conference, for example, were held. But now all over the country we find the summer months utilized for larger and smaller gatherings in the interests of religion. The brains, energy, money, seriousness of purpose and directness of aim represented by these meetings are calculated to impress the outsider with the fact that even if the wheels of the average church run slowly during the summer months, or, perhaps, come to an entire standstill, religion does not cease to be during June, July and August of vital human interest.

People who let go at one point take hold at another, people who keep out of the ordinary sanctuary resort to the woods, groves and lakes, and if we could sum up all the actual achievements that result from these summer conferences we should find a vast amount of tangible good that could be credited to them. Many of the movements and undertakings, organizations, which in winter absorb the attention of religious people owe no small part of their initiative and of the power that keeps them operative to the impulses generated by these summer gatherings.

This coming season is to witness even more than the usual number of conferences, institutes, retreats and other meetings, at which thousands and tens of thousands of people will find nourishment for their spiritual lives, specific guidance as to their Christian service, inspiration that comes from the touch of the shoulder with world-renowned leaders.

Some Popular Resorts.

Here, for example, is Northfield, where the spirit of D. L. Moody, its founder, still lingers. Here are seven different gatherings between June 23 and Sept. 30, at which students of both sexes, women engaged in the work of missionary societies, Sunday school workers, Bible students and Christian workers will find refreshment. For thirty years Northfield has been a reservoir during the summer of spiritual power, and the institute continues to rank as not only the oldest, but among the most important of summer conferences.

Here is Winona, Ind., in the center of the Middle West, easily accessible from dozens of large cities and towns, accomplishing its ends through a somewhat more varied and in some ways a more worldly program than Northfield, but still a center of light and help to multitudes; and in its Bible conference, Aug. 21 to 30, sounding the note of confidence in the Scriptures and providing instructions by some of the best teachers in the world.

What Mr. Moody had accomplished at Northfield and Dr. S. C. Dickey at Winona, Dr. Isaac Kettler has wrought out in different fashion, but no less notably at Grove City, Pa. He has given the gathering an enviable distinction for its scholarly work, and preachers from abroad, like Dr. James Stalker and Dr. Johnston Ross, who have been among its recent lecturers, as well as Prof. Hugh Black of Union Seminary, speak with much enthusiasm concerning the quality of the work done there and the high spiritual atmosphere of the place.

Then there are the Young Men's Christian association centers and the special rallying point for different movements, like Silver Bay on the shore of Lake Geneva, near Chicago, and Montreat, N. C. Thither flock appreciative and increasing groups from year to year in which the young people largely predominate. With skillful teachers to discuss the methods of work, and to give instruction in the fundamentals, these gatherings are real training schools for Christian service. They draw the picked young men of the churches and colleges, and in turn go back to their home and student fields to do more effective work.

Net Results.

One great charm of all these summer places is their natural environment. Places have been chosen where the eye is pleased with the beauty of the earth—the mountain side, the field and the woods, where there are the never failing attractions of ocean or lake or river, and where the weary body can find refreshment, while the spirit also is being recreated.

Any fair estimate of the value of the summer to the church life of North America ought to take into consideration all that is done in novel and striking ways to fit religious people for their regular tasks, to draw in outsiders, to establish centers of influence and to make up for the necessarily interrupted work of the churches. Taken as a whole the summer of 1911 will show many reasons for fresh hope and confidence concerning the result of religion and the progress of Christianity not only in this country but the world over.

Cambridge, Mass. June 2. — Girls will be girls, and for that reason secret engagements of some months' standing were revealed when the Misses Black, two of the fairest undergraduates at Radcliffe college, acknowledged their betrothals to two members of the Harvard law school. Miss Frances Mary Black of the senior class, one of the principals, is engaged to Robert Ralph Lockwood of Oklahoma City, while her younger sister, Miss Margaret Manning Black, has promised her hand on graduation to Roland Mooney Edmond of Columbus, Ohio. Both young men, who are chums, graduated from Yale in the class of '07 and entered the law school here.

WHAT TO EAT ON HOT DAYS

Like Beef Steak? Then Eat It, Says Dr. Harvey Wiley.

Subsist on Mixed Diet and Shun Ice Cold Drinks.

Washington, June 2.—It's silly to lay down rules of diet in these days when most folks are busy battling for mere existence, says Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry, department of agriculture, who just now is telling people how to keep comfortable in hot weather. Doctor Wiley has the health of some 93,000,000 of persons on his hands and the things the people are wondering about is how Doctor Wiley keeps cool, telling the 93,000,000 how to avoid over-heating.

"Most people are obliged to eat whatever they can get," is the encouraging message of the health expert. "Those who have any choice, however, first of all, should moderate in everything at the table. The human system was built for a mixed diet. The ages have proved that moderation in food is best for mankind, so why should we pay any attention to any of the faddists that occasionally arise to claim attention.

Like Steak in Summer? Eat It!

"If you have been in the habit of eating a steak now and then or a chop or a piece of roast meat in cold weather, there is no reason for eliminating them from your menu simply because the weather has turned warm. Merely cut down the quantity. When the weather is hot there is no necessity for supplying so much heat to the system. We do not need so much coal to keep the human engine going.

"It is really dangerous to drink ice water. Water too cold and drunk in large quantities chills and congests the coating of the stomach. Many people distill or filter their water to free it from pathogenic germs and afterward add ice to it, not knowing that the ice is just as liable to be filled with germs as is the water. The habit is found to result from the ignorant belief of some people that so-called microbes cannot live in ice; that by bringing the water to a freezing point these germs are killed. But freezing produces only suspended animation in the pathogenic germs causing our common diseases. They merely hibernate in the ice. The longer it takes water to filter through a porcelain filter the more thoroughly it is freed from germs.

Why Less Food Is Needed.

"Less food is needed in the summer because the body's radiation of heat is greatly reduced. With a normal body temperature of 98 degs. we go out into the winter's cold, often when the air is zero or below. During such weather the heat of the body is constantly being radiated off into the cold air, which is another way of defining the process by which we get chilled in the winter. But in the summer the air about us is so hot—often hotter than our bodies—that we radiate little or none of our heat into it.

"There is about as much nourishment in a pound of wheat as in a pound of beef. Wheat is the better food for the working man because it is a balance ration, containing all three of the principal nutrient constituents of food, which are protein, carbo-hydrates and fats, required to produce heat and energy in the adult, and furthermore to build up tissue in the young, while they are growing. When a pound of meat is eaten it supplies only protein, which is the element which builds tissue. Adults need a certain amount of protein to build up the waste tissues, but they do not need nearly so much as the growing boy or girl.

Never Keep the Stomach Empty.

"In the summer we should eat more of the succulent foods of the vegetable class and less of the concentrated foods of the animal category. While we should eat less in hot weather we must never keep the stomach empty. The stomach and intestines need to be distended. Should the nutrient constituents be extracted from hay and fed to a horse in concentrated form the animal would die. The human stomach as well as that of the horse, needs a large amount of indigestible material to keep the alimentary canal open.

"Potatoes and fat meat are the best foods for the laboring man—also sugar syrup. A lump of sugar will restore elasticity to the muscles of a tired man as promptly as will alcohol, and the advantage of the sugar is the absence of a harmful reaction. Men on forced marches, athletes and those who make heroic physical efforts of any kind, should carry lumps of sugar to eat from time to time. For emergency rations the French and German armies are now provided with lump sugar."

FIANCEE OF PUBLISHER

Promises to Be True to Him During His Imprisonment.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 2. — "Tell him that I will be constant and true, and that I will remember my promise."

This was the last message of Mrs. Nellie Offut, 5911 Bridge avenue, northwest, to John Feller, former publisher of the West Side Graphic-Sentinel, sentenced to three years in the pen for attempted blackmail. Mrs. Offut is engaged to be married to Feller, and the promise to which she refers in her message is her promise to wed.

In company with a deputy sheriff, Feller left for the pen at Columbus and the waiting wedding will take place in Cleveland as soon as Fuller has served his sentence.

With time off for good behavior, Feller has a chance to be paroled from the pen in twenty-seven months, but Mrs. Offut has promised to work to secure him a pardon and expects to obtain the release of her lover in a few months.

WOMAN'S REALM.

The subjects of ventilation in the schools, early closing in the shops, the enforcement of the curfew law, cleaning the streets and alleys, and the inspection of the slot machines in public places were discussed most thoroughly this morning at the meeting of the Women's council which was held at the club room of the public library, with Hrs. W. H. Burris presiding.

Mayor M. B. Cullum addressed the members and spoke of the advisability of establishing playgrounds and supervising them and of establishing other wholesome amusements for the young children, which would keep them off the streets.

In the general discussion which followed there was a division of opinion as to whether the best results could be gained by educating the parents in the training of their children or in educating the rising generation.

Mayor Cullum said that in the enforcement of the curfew law the problem before the city was this. There is one policeman to every 4,000 people and one to every square mile of the city. Of course this number could not adequately enforce the law which would necessitate the taking of the child home each time.

Ventilation in Schools.

Members of the council feel very strongly that the present system of ventilation in force in the public schools is very inadequate and decided that some action should be taken through their educational committee shortly, to stir up public opinion on the matter.

The committee will confer with the members of the board and ask for their co-operation in the way of bettering the situation.

At present the rule is that windows shall not be raised in the school room during the school session and the air usually becomes so impure before the end of a session that it is almost unbearable. This condition is undoubtedly the cause of many a nervous breakdown on the part of the teachers and much ill health for the children. The women feel that the rules ought to be made that the windows in every room may be opened at the discretion of the teacher.

Early Closing.

The matter of early closing in the shops was brought up by Mrs. S. R. Holden, who stated that she had been approached by a group of shop girls who were very anxious for the early closing and also by a manager of one of the largest department stores in the city who said that in his opinion the council could effect the early closing in the shops. She said that the girls were not asking for the afternoon closing on Saturdays but simply the closing Saturday evening at 6 or 6:30 so that their evenings would be free. The hours suggested were 5:30 every day except Saturday and 6 or 6:30 on Saturdays.

The chairman appointed Mrs. Holden as chairman of a committee to be chosen at her direction to investigate the matter and take it up with the shop managers and owners.

Mrs. T. H. Hawkes reported as chairman of the streets and alleys committee that upon the investigation of the committee several alleys and streets which had been in poor condition had been improved after the authorities had been notified.

A letter was read from the state board of health stating that Mrs. Crane's report containing a resume of her investigations in Minnesota could be obtained now and the council voted to be responsible for thirty copies and extra copies may be obtained through communication with the secretary.

The matter of raising money for the tuberculosis hospital was raised by Mrs. Morrison and the fact that the county has made an appropriation for this hospital while there are so many local institutions which are entirely dependent upon the citizens of Duluth for support. The women took no action in the matter.

The amusement committee reported a thorough investigation of the slot machines in two public amusement places and stated that the women who had visited them had met with the most courteous willingness to co-operate on the part of the managers. They reported the removal of many objectionable films and their replacement with films of higher standards.

It was moved and carried that a letter of appreciation for this co-operation be sent to the managers who had shown it.

The matter of appropriating money for use by the Playground association in placing supervisors over the playgrounds was not discussed as Miss Poirier was not present and the women did not know what had already been accomplished.

PROVIDENCE

By Robert Williamson.

Granston was a futile little town, with gossip for the main industry of the 4,000 inhabitants who were kept in tolerable security by one or two factories, a weekly market day, and a sprinkling of wealthy folks who had made their pile out of trade.

Granston was singularly unimpressive, squatting there, shut in by hills, in the tranquil river valley. And it resented the indifference of tourists. It felt that it ought to be known for something more than the magnificence of its town clerk. But it was not wholly spurned by the outside world. Managing directors from firms of the multiple type had invaded its quiet streets and left behind them counterparts of their particular flaunting brand of shop.

One grocery store, one meat market, and three shoe stores were at present engaged in the agreeable task of appropriating the livelihood of the small storekeepers of Granston.

When Ethel Forrest died, and no one reckoned the good will of her baby linen store worth buying, it was therefore all the more dumbfounding to find Sam Wood coolly throwing over the managership of the Prudent Shoe company and settling up business on his own account.

For nearly two years Granston was cynical in its politest manner. His acquaintances contended lamely that Sam had grit in him after all. It was dulled grit. He must have known that he had against him three big companies and four private traders. If he remembered them at all, it was but dimly. The store was there—and—well, he and Kate had been going together for five years.

They married. This time for four whole days Granston buzzed with petty sarcasms. Sam blushed in his soft way, and tried to cackle off his self consciousness. They cheered him on by prophesying that he would be sold up by Whitsuntide. Whitsuntide was now only a month off, and he felt that they were going to be right.

And he was unusually savage this evening when 8 o'clock struck, sending him round to shut the store for the night. His sales had been one pair of felt slippers, price $2, and a shoe button, price 2 cents.

He swore weakly to himself. He was tired to death of the whole business. He thought of the bill of Messrs. Tutty, Sons & Co., and he swore again after the diffuse and ugly Scots fashion. In consideration of his good name, and the sum of $250, Messrs. Tutty had advanced to him $500 worth of stock. The balance had to be paid at Whitsuntide.

Two hundred and fifty dollars—A pair of felt slippers—and a shoe button—Two hundred and fifty dollars.

He puckered his foolish brow and banged the door bolt home with some ferocity. It did not bear thinking about. He flung himself into the little kitchen at the back of the store.

"Dam the soot" cried he in stupid irritation. The chimney had been smoking.

"Sam!" He smiled sheepishly.

"What's been up with you this last two weeks?" Kate put the question with that precise quality of deference due from a woman who is intruding beyond her proper sphere.

He gave a grunt; surlily, with something of the martyr in it.

"Is it the store? Tell me, Sam."

"We will have failed in two months, time," he rapped out, and commenced to unlace his shoes, the better to hide his face.

Through mouthfuls of hot porridge he mumbled out the facts. She was silent. "There's Uncle Eben," she said at last, vaguely.

"No charity, Kate!"

"A loan?"

"He would not give it, anyway. He did not favor our marriage. I know that well. Maybe he was right. We were fools, Kate, and now we must look out for ourselves. Him and his can go their way and let us go ours."

Sam would have been better without his two hours' sleep that night. It was one nightmare crammed with horror. A solemn sheriff in court granting decree against him for some thousands of dollars. Then the sheriff's man was selling a heap of his shoes for fifty cents a pair. And when he awoke it was five o'clock and all Granston had been jeering at him as he hung by one hand from the sign outside the store.

Reality, he perceived, was not so very terrible after this caricature. Tuttys might give him time. If they did not, why, after all, should he not borrow the money? And if he failed to borrow it—what matter? He could get another job. He could emigrate. A hundred things might happen.

He got up, and, as he lit the fire, his hopes flitted off one by one into the gray surrunding dawn. Fire lighting was a depressing business, thought he, fit only for women.

The flapping of the letter box sent him all a quiver. Could it be, so soon, a reminder from Tittys? No. He was a fool. The envelope was black edged. A funeral invitation probably. Yet it bore a two cent stamp and addressed to Kate.

He gasped, and suffered her to peer over his shoulder as he read. "You will be sorry to hear," it ran, "that your uncle and young Eben and your cousin Rachael, have just been identified amongst the ten who met their deaths in the railway disaster on Saturday. I thought I would write and tell you before you saw it in the papers. * * *" It was signed Alice Hale.

"His housekeeper," whispered Kate, and that was all she ventured to say. "I bet it's all for the best, Sam," said she, as she cleared the breakfast things. At dinner time they talked over the matter of the funeral.

"You're the nearest relation now, Kate," said he casually, as they sat down once more to the evening porridge. "And you will inherit all his money."

"Gosh! It has been a close shave," said Kate.

There was unwonted fervor in the voice which petitioned for a blessing upon the two plates of hot porridge.

HOW HE TIMED HIS TALK.

System: A successful salesman for a hardware line of goods had a novel way last season of exciting at least a momentary interest in his prospective customers in the new territory he had been given. On entering the office of his prospect his first remark was,

"Mr. Smith, we are both business men with whom time is money. I only ask for three minutes of yours, as I can only give you three minutes of mine. Let's be sure we keep to the limit."

Teherupon he pulled from his pocket quickly and placed on the desk of his hearer.

Matching the Eyes

By CONSTANCE CARRUTHERS.

The touch of velvet near the face, matching the color of the eyes, has long been popular with the women who study their own beauties, and this has been easy to manage in these days of quaint little bows and pipings.

Of late, however, the women of the smart set have taken to wearing flowers which carry out the color, too. There are pansies that are for the brown-eyed girl, forget-me-nots for blue eyes, and orchids for the maid with hazel eyes.

The girl with grey eyes is the only one who has any trouble, for all she can find to match her eyes is the humble dusty miller leaf. Sometimes she fancies her eyes, however, are "grey-blue," or "green-grey," so she varies her color scheme with orchids, mignonette, or a dull blue blossom. If she is quite convinced that her eyes are really "matchless" she contents herself with the feeling of superiority arising therefrom, and lets the jewels of her face sparkle unrivalled or wears the modest violet, which would never presume to resemble the eyes above them.

When natural blooms are not procurable the woman with an eye for flowers buys artificial ones of the required tint.

Parisian ingenuity has gone one step further in this art, and provides for its leaders of fashion real flowers dyed with chemical dyes in any desired color or shade. Hardy flowers, such as camellias, carnations, and all varieties whose stems are good absorbers, are placed in the liquid and allowed to stay there until exactly the right amount of color has been absorbed.

Woe to the florist who gets his charges a shade too dark, or who makes such a fatal mistake as to send blue carnations to the fair one who ordered brown ones.

WOMAN REIMBURSED

For Bond That Was Destroyed Fifty Years Ago.

Washington, June 2.—After waiting for nearly half a century, Mrs. Helen S. Hogan of Versailles, Ky., has been reimbursed by the government for a bond destroyed by fire, a check for $1,351.04 having been sent her by the treasury department.

In the late '60s Mrs. Hogan, then Miss Helen Scott, placed the bond in her trunk for safekeeping. The same night a fire destroyed everything possessed by her.

Relief was obtained through congress and Mrs. Hogan, on the receipt of the check for $1,351.04 makes bond for the return of the money to the government in the event that any one of three missing bonds is ever presented for redemption.

CAT BREAKS UP DOG FIGHT.

Bull Terriers Cleaning Each Other Up When Tabby Interfered.

Geneva, N. Y., June 2.—A large black cat, owned by Dr. C. W. Grove, the other afternoon put to flight two bull terriers which engaged in a fight in front of the Grove residence in Main street. The dogs mixed it up in the street while the cat sat upon a terrace and watched them.

Just as a number of spectators of the conflict were about to start to endeavor to part the dogs, the cat jumped down from the bank and right onto the dogs. One of the dogs had a firce grip on the other's throat, but at the onslaught of the cat, both dogs forgot their animosity toward each other and released their holds and made off up the street in opposite directions just as fast as it was possible for them to go. The cat surveyed the situation for a second or so and then returned to her own yard.

GAGGED WITH KIMONO

And Tied With Skipping Rope, Woman Is Robbed.

St. Louis, Mo., June 2.—Mrs. F. L. Steiner, wife of the vice president of the St. Louis Clock & Silver company, a leading society woman, was bound and gagged as she lay sleeping on her bed and robbed of jewelry valued at $1,500.

A servant, who was missing after the robbery, and a gardener, are suspected of the crime.

Mrs. Steiner was gagged with a kimono and tied about the hands, feet and knees with her daughter's skipping rope.

The stolen jewelry consisted of a $750 ring, two ear rings worth $300 and a $750 pin. No trace of them has been found by the police.

Recovering consciousness at 1 p. m., Mrs. Steiner roled off the bed and dragged herself to a window and attracted rescuers by screaming.

Lightning Disabled Power Plant.

Grand Forks, N. D. June 2. — A bolt of lighting struck the power plant of the Red River Power company and put the car power dynamos out of commission, as well as working other damage.

FIRM IS EXPELLED FROM COTTON EXCHANGE.

New York June 2.—The firm of Edward Moyse & Co., a big cotton brokerage house, was expelled from membership in the New York Cotton exchange last night, following an all-day session of the board of managers and an investigation extending over many months. Hugh McElroy, who, the managers say, was a member of the firm at the time of the alleged irregularities, was suspended for a year.

Alleged violation of a customer's order was given as the cause for the expulsion.

BLAINE RESOLUTION FAVORABLY REPORTED.

Madison, Wis., June 2.—The so-called Blaine resolution, declaring that Senator Isaac Stephenson bought his seat in the United States senate and requesting that body to investigate his election, was recommended by the senate judiciary committee last night for adoption. This resolution is a substitute for the Husting resolution introduced at the opening of the session and is more carefully drawn and specfic in its charges.

LAW FREELY VIOLATED

Only 1,018 Owners of Vehicles Have Paid Wheelage Tax.

Special Officer Is Now Preparing First Batch of Warrants.

Over a month has expired since the payment of wheel taxes for 1911 became due. Licenses have been taken out for but 1,018 vehicles of all descriptions. Last year about 1,600 tags were issued, which was but a part of those in the city, and the ordinance did not go into effect until September.

The figures were secured from the office of Special Officer James Walsh, who has the collections of the wheelage tax in charge. They show that there are still hundreds of vehicles in the city which are being operated in violation of the city regulations.

Officer Walsh states that he is getting evidence in shape for a batch of warrants which will be issued for the arrest of those who have not taken out their licenses. He declares that he cannot arrest everybody at once, but that from now on arrests will be made steadily. Every vehicles in the city will be checked up as rapidly as possible. Warrants will likely first be issued for those who are now on the records who have not complied with the ordinance, after which attention will be directed to the others. The provisions of the ordinance are clear, and in case of convictions fines will have to be paid in addition to the tax.

Probably the most clearly defined class of vehicles in the city is automobiles. As nearly as can be ascertained there are over 500 automobiles in the city. Up to date 270 of them have taken out their licenses, paying at the rate of 50 cents per horse power. The owners of automobile trucks have complained to the council of injustness of the tax levied against them, and it is possible that some amendment to the ordinance may be made relative to them. The matter was referred to the ordinance committee, but no report has yet been made by its members.

The tax is levied for the purpose of raising a street maintenance and repair fund, and the money must be spent in keeping the streets and avenues in shape. The conference committee figured on a full collection of this tax in making the levay last fall and cut the funds of the board of public works down correspondingly. If the collections are not made, the board will be seriously handicapped in doing its work this summer.

SUPERIOR

Jumped in Front of Train.

Trainmen say that Isaac Laru, whose body was brought from Solon Springs to Superior last evening by Undertaker Le Sage deliberately jumped in front of a log train on the Omaha Wednesday night and was instantly killed. The man's head was completely severed from his body. Laru was a woodsman. Little is known about him.

Dredging Near Entry.

An expenditure of between $15,000 and $20,000 will be made by the United States government this spring in dredging the shoals which have been formed during the past year in the St. Louis bay and the Superior harbor. It is expected that the work will be started about June 15. Bids will be opened before that time. The work of deepening the Superior entry channel has already been started by the Great Lakes Dredge & Dock company.

Will Give Operetta.

"The Houst That Jack Built," an operetta, will be presented this evening at the Grand Opera house under the auspices of the musical department of the public schools. More than 150 children of the schools will participate in the chorus work. The students have worked diligently at rehearsals and it is expected that the affair will be the most successful of its kind ever held in Superior.

MORE SALOON MEN IN COURT

Henry Casimir, proprietor of a saloon at 102 Lake avenue south, was found guilty in police court this morning of having kept his saloon open last Sunday in violation of the closing laws. He paid a fine of $100 rather than take the alternative of sixty days in the county jail.

Judge Windom stated at the conclusion of the case that it was about time Casimir was getting a jail sentence, as two convictions had already been recorded against the place, the last only a short time ago. He was given to understad that if convicted again he will be sent over the hill for a straight jail sentence without the option of a fine.

Steve Bulatovich, Nick Klasna and Steve Blazevich were arraigned on blind pigging charges yesterday afternoon. They entered pleas of not guilty and their trials set for this afternoon. It is claimed that they have been selling liquor without a license near the steel plant.

Wiley McLean, bartender at a saloon on South Twentieth avenue west, pleaded not guilty to keeping open on Sunday and will be tried next Wednesday morning. Bail in each of the above cases was fixed at $100.

Gardening Fever Has Greatly Helped in Cleaning City This Year.

Tomorrow will be cleaning day in Duluth.

It has been so designated by the mayor and the health commissioner, who hope that when evening comes every eyesore in the city limits will have been eliminated.

Every person in the city, old and young, is expected to do his or her share tomorrow towards making Duluth as nearly as possible a spotless town so that it will be worthy of the pride of its citizenry and the object of admiration of visitors. The officials in charge of the clean-up movement state that this result can only be accomplished by the hearty cooperation of every one possessed of a determination to wipe out each and every unsightly spot which can be found.

A crew of sanitary inspectors has been at work for more than a month, going through all the yards of the city. They have served scores of notices to clean up, and in most cases they have been observed, greatly to the gratfication of the health department authorities. Hundreds of loads of rubbish of all descriptions have been hauled to the dumps or burned during the last few weeks.

One factor which has aided greatly in attaining a cleaner and more healthy city has been the growing tendency to plant gardens on vacant property and in back yards. To do this successfully it has first been necessary to clear the ground of all foreign matter, including old boards, chips, ash heaps, etc. And after the ground has been spaded and planted it looks and is absolutely clean. After the garden truck begins to grow the yards are an entirely different place than they were when the snow first left the ground.

Dr. Webster stated this morning that with the passing of cleaning day the time for extending clemency towards those who have not cleaned up will have passed. He said that he considers that ample time will have been allowed every resident or property owner in the city to comply with the provisions of the ordinance in this respect, and that where dirty yards are found warrants will be issued for the arrest of those who are responsible for them.

TWO CONTRACTORS ARE UNDER ARREST

Accused By Baudette Council of Having Used Fraudulent Methods.

Baudette, Minn., June 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Emil B. and Oscar B. Peterson have been ordered arrested by the village council on the charge of obtaining money from the village under fraudulent pretenses. It is alleged that they obtained money from the council under fraudulent pretenses, they having received money from the council for the building of a bridge and dock which they represented was free from liens for labor and material, when, in fact, they still were owing in the amount of $1,000 or thereabouts.

NORTH DAKOTAN NEW LAW VICTIM

Resident of Prohibition State Punished for Being Drunk on Train.

Fergus Falls, Minn., June 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first prosecution in this section under the new state law against drunkenness on trains resulted in a resident of the neighboring prohibition state of North Dakota being punished.

E. Peterson of Fargo was arrested for being drunk on a train near here, brought here, tried, convicted and sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and costs or go to jail. In default of the fine the North Dakotan is in the local jail.

SAYS RAILWAY IS BLAMABLE

Jury Holds Canadian Northern Liable for Damages From Fires.

Fergus Falls, Minn., June 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—A jury in the United States court now in sesion here, decided in the case of Martin Akre vs. the Canadian Northern Railway company, that the railway is liable for the damages done by the fires set by its engines. The jury gave Akre a verdict of $660 for damages to his property in the northern part of the state, caused by fire set last summer by engines of the defendant company. This result is important as it establishes a precedent for the liability of the company, and may render them liable for all the damage done by the forest fires at Baudette, Spooner and other Minnesota points last summer.

"SQUAW MAN" COMPANY HOME

Duluth Production Covered 30,000 Miles During Successful Season.

H. E. Pierce and company's "Squaw-man" company returned to Duluth last evening after a very successful tour, which opened in Duluth Labor day and terminated Decoration day in Bemidji.

The company traveled over 30,000 miles, making two trips between the Missouri rived and the Pacific coast, and the return trip was through the Canadian Northwest, where they played in towns that had never had a show before.

William H. Longstreet of Duluth, who was stage manager for Pierce & Co., and who had an exciting experience with the insurgents of Mexico, returned with the show.

CIGAR BUSINESS IS THRIVING

All Tampa Factories Are Busier Than Usual, Says J. F. Ron.

J. F. Ron, owner of the Ron-Fernandez Cigar company of Tampa, Fla., is a guest today at the St. Louis. Mr. Ron has some interesting information regarding the cigar business at the present time.

"The strike of the cigar makers and the trouble that occurred in some places, over which there was much space given in the newspapers, lasted only about twenty-four hours at Tampa," said Mr. Ron.

"While we hear at the present time very much talk of depression in business and the falling off of the receipts of many industrial activities, the cigar business of Tampa is thriving, judging from the number of cigars that are being manufactured.

"Maybe it is that a man must smoke whether business is good or bad; or maybe it is that there are more smokers in the country. We are manufacturing about 8,000,000 cigars a day at Tampa, which is an increase over the normal output.

"Business is very good, speaking from the business that is being done in the factories of Tampa. The manufacturers there have no complaint to make, and as Tampa is one of the biggest manufacturing points in the country for the cigar business, I think it can be said generally that the business is very good."

Mr. Ron will leave Duluth this evening. He came here for a short business conference with some of the local dealers.

FIRST FISHING LICENSES ISSUED

The first non-resident fishing licenses issued in St. Louis county, were given today to F. H. Crowl, F. H. Clark, R. A. Alger, F. M. Alger, J. O. Mursen, H. G. Meredeth and M. O. Williams, all of Detroit.

Heretofore, all persons were permitted to fish in Minnesota, unrestrained, but recently the state legislature passed a law requiring non-residents to secure licenses. The fee for a permit is only $1, so the barrier to those outside the state, who know the excellent opportunities and pleasures of fishing in this state, is not very great.

COUNTER DIPLOMACY.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: "I think you will like this goods madam," urged a salesman in a Euclid avenue shop. "It is just the thing for a stout middle-aged lady."

"Sir!" squealed the customer in a rage. The clerk saw his faux pas and recovered quickly.

"Pardon me," he smiled, "I mistook you for the young lady who was in here yesterday looking for something for her grandmother. Now that I look at you again, I see that this was an older person. Now, if you are buying for yourself, we have something over here that—"

SHRINERS GIVE SHOW

Proceeds Will Be Used to Send Patrol to Rochester.

Aad temple and A. F. M. Custance offered an entertainment at the Lyceum theater last night, the object of which was to provide amusement and send the patrol to the Rochester convention this summer.

The local shriners proved their ability to "come back." Last year they gave a performance that was hard to beat. This year they outdid themselves. Some local hits on shriners were exploded; there were catchy airs with catchy words; a burlesque on "Uncle Tom's Cabin;" some clever dancing, and it ended all too soon with a whirlwind drill by the Aad temple patrol.

One of the biggest audiences of the season, composed of the families and friends of the shriners, gathered at the theater to see "every little shriner do his stunt."

Mr. Custance and his shrine girls, girls from the high school, who appear often at the temple and provide amusement for the shriners, had the first part of the performance all to themselves. It was called "Teaching the Young Idea How to Shoot." The girls with their Teddy bears, dolls, rubber balls and other implements used in the nursery for the amusement of children, provided the best part of the show. Chelsie Final as the head teacher and Alta Hallock as the assistant teacher acted as interlocutors for the rest of the girls to spring their jokes.

Governor Eberhart, who occupied a box, came in for his share of jolly. The first thing the girls did was to hand the governor a lemon. They "jollied" all the shriners in the audience, sang some clever words about prominent members of the shrine, composed a baseball team from city officials for their abilities in some lines and later took seats in the audience to see the remainder of the show.

The second part was in the nature of a vaudeville show. The Metropolitan Four started things with a rattling good musical turn.

"Lessons in Elocution" was the title of the skit presented by Miss Agnes Johnson and Norman Haugensen. It was a Swedish dialect act and was full of fun.

A burlesque on Uncle Tom's Cabin by A. R. Bjorquist, Don Cole, Don Gearheart and C. O. Applehagen was a hit. Don Cole made a rather fat Eva and the other members of the cast fell down badly when they tried to hoist him to Heaven by means of a block and tackle. Charlie Applehagen was Simon Legree and he tried to make an awfully mean man of himself. Don Gearheart made a rather frolicsome Topsy and Uncle Tom (A. R. Bjorquist), was a feeble old man with lots of ginger still left in his make-up.

The drill by the patrol finished the performance. Those who took part were:

Head teacher—Chelsie Final.
Assistant teacher—Alta Hallock.

CHLORIDE MUST BE LAID MORE THICKLY.

Streets which are being made dustless with calcium bichloride will be given three treatments, according to the board of public works, which has the work in charge. The members of the board state that they are profiting from their experience in handling the preparation. They say that they have learned that the first coat was not laid heavy enough to get the best results, but that this will be remedied at the second treatment. The city has purchased 400 tons of the chloride, the amount which it was estimated would be needed. The cost is about $18 a ton, and it is claimed that it is considerably cheaper than sprinkling with water.

WRECKS TRAIN TO SAVE BABY

Engineer's Act Causes One Death and Injuries to Several.

St. Louis, Mo., June 2.—One man, the tender of a sand-drying house, was killed and several others slightly hurt when Edward Karsham, an engineer, wrecked a freight train inside the city limits by applying the emergency brakes to avoid running down a woman wheeling a baby across the tracks in a go-cart. The locomotive kept the rails, but six box cars in the middle of the train buckled and crashed into a two-story brick building, crushing the sand house tender against the walls.

OLD SOLDIERS' PAY CUT BY AMOUNT OF PENSIONS?

Washington, June 2.—Proof that the postoffice department was economizing by reducing the salaries of old soldiers in its employ by the amount of the pension they receive from the government, is demanded by the house committee on civil reform of Col. John McElroy, editor of the National Tribune of this city. Col. McElroy told the committee that some of the veterans affected had complained to him, and he promised to furnish proofs. He also charged that President Taft's instruction that no old soldier should be dropped from the service without the best of reasons, was being disregarded.

Yaqui Indians Threaten Trouble.

THE BEST YET.

The Duluth meeting of the N. M. D. A. makes a fitting fourth in the series. It is the best yet—the biggest, the most enthusiastic, and the most interesting and interested. The spirit of push and energy that had existed but remained static for lack of organized means of expressing itself in action was given an opportunity to become dynamic by the organization of the Northern Minnesota Development association at Bemidji, and though interest has been tested by three subsequent meetings, there is no slackening of enthusiasm. On the contrary, whetted by victories that promise greater victories, the spirit of boost is growing with every meeting.

And it will continue to grow. Gathering energy and confidence from today's foregathering, it will spread not only over all Northern Minnesota—it already has done that—but over all Minnesota, plucking victory out of defeat and winning justice over the opposition of the unjust.

Our heartiest best wishes, men of the N. M. D. A., and remember that Duluth is with you, the whole length of the road.

CLEAN-UP DAY TOMORROW.

Tomorrow is the day appointed to clean up Duluth, and if the weather permits, streets, alleys, yards and vacant lots are going to get the scrubbing of their lives. Nature is doing its level best to keep Duluth beautiful. Do your part by keeping Duluth clean.

And by the way, mightn't the board of public works set a good example by cleaning up those unsightly calcium chloride cans that have been scattered over the streets for a month?

THE CITIES AND REAPPORTIONMENT.

Says the Albert Lea Tribune, in speaking of the Duluth meeting of the Northern Minnesota Development association and the probability that it will have something to say about the failure of the legislature to provide a reapportionment of legislative representation that has been overdue for fifteen years: "If the association desires to be fair in this matter it will place the blame for the failure to secure reapportionment in the recent legislature right where it belongs—with the three big cities. They are the ones which made the attempt to secure practically all the representation which was taken from the southern part of the state and left the northern counties out in the cold."

We hope that no other Southern Minnesota newspapers will be deluded by this story, which very evidently is being circulated by Southern Minnesota senators to shield themselves from the charge that gross and unpatriotic selfishness dictated their votes against reapportionment. The men who beat reapportionment to save their own political skins, and are now seeking to stir up a bitter conflict between city and country in order to hide their infamy, are twice traitors to their districts and to the state.

It is distinctly not true that the cities absorbed the gains made by reducing the representation of Southern Minnesota to somewhere near its proper size. The charge that they did has its origin wholly in the natural desire of those who defeated reapportionment to provide some convincing excuse for their action that will conceal the real reason.

The fact is that in the Congdon bill, which was Northern Minnesota's reapportionment bill, the large cities were all given less representation than they were actually entitled to have on the constitutional basis of population. They all gained in representation, as their population entitled them to do; but in each case they gained less than they would had the apportionment been made strictly in accordance with population. This was done, after consultation with the city members and with their full and free consent, in order to make it easier to harmonize and satisfy the country districts.

By giving the cities less than they actually were entitled to, the reapportionment committee was enabled to give the country districts a little more than their population called for. This was done, frankly enough, to make votes for the bill; and taking it all in all, the Congdon bill was as fair a reapportionment measure as ever has been or ever will be drafted. If fairness could have passed the bill, it would have passed; but by no concession of fairness was it possible to get the votes of those who refused to yield the unfairly large representation of one section of the state, or of those who refused to vote for a measure cutting their four-year terms to two years.

In just one case were the country districts given less than they should have had. The Ninth congressional district was rightfully entitled to one more senator than the Congdon bill gave it. This happened because a senator from that district insisted on an arrangement of his own district which made it impossible to work in this extra senator. He demanded that arrangement as the price of his support for the bill, he signed an approval of the bill as it stood and an agreement to vote for it, and then, when the bill came to a vote in the senate, he voted against it. With such men from the north, the blame for the failure of reapportionment does not rest wholly with the south.

It is to be hoped that nobody will be fooled by the charge that the cities unfairly absorbed the gains in the Congdon bill, because it is not true, and it is made only to give those who voted against the bill a reason other than the real one to offer their constituents. The concoction of this lying excuse is proof enough that the constituencies of Southern Minnesota are fairminded, and wish justice to be done to all parts of the state.

"COAL OIL JOHNNY" AND OTHERS.

Many years ago in Deadwood, in the Black Hills, there was a bright young man with the mind and heart of a born money-getter. That is, he had a mind that worked only in terms of money-getting and a heart that had little room for anything but thoughts of profit.

In those days there was no railroad to the Hills. Mule and ox trains ran from the nearest points in civilization, but the winters were severe and they couldn't do much then. That situation bred an idea in this young man's mind.

Just before winter's worst began, he went around and bought up all the kerosene in Deadwood. He paid full price for it, the merchants got their expected profit and were satisfied, and nobody thought much of anything of it.

Then the first blizzard set in, the freight trains ceased to cross the reservation, and Deadwood was shut off from the world.

The bright young man promptly shot the price of kerosene up to two dollars a gallon. He had all there was, and those who wanted light could pay his price or go without. So he said; and he was happy thinking of the young fortune he was going to make that winter.

But it happened that Deadwood was a little different. Law hadn't reached there very strongly yet; at least it hadn't planted its deification of property rights in the minds of the free and easy people of the Hills. All they saw was a plain "hold-up," and instead of admiring the young man's financial genius, they got mad about it and organized a little party.

First they got a nice sharp rail. Then they got some tar and some pretty feathers. Then they gave Mr. Financier a good thick coat of tar, a nice decoration of feathers, and rode him out of town on the sharp side of that rail.

Then the price of kerosene fell abruptly, and there was light and joy in Deadwood. They called the young man, ever after, "Coal Oil Johnny."

What reminded us of this old story about Coal Oil Johnny was a communication in the Open Court last night that suggested two very vital things: First, the shame and iniquity of "corners" in the necessaries of life, a thing that ought to earn a prison sentence if we have become too effete for the tar, the feathers and the rail; second, of how reciprocity, by ripping down the tariff barrier between this country and Canada, would permit, in case of need, an influx of Canadian wheat that would destroy any possible wheat corner and leave the market subject, as it should be, to the law of supply and demand.

There has been a "corner" in May wheat that put it ten to fifteen cents higher than it should be. That means from fifty to seventy cents more a barrel for flour than it ought to be. Only a very evident fear of punishment prevented the makers of the corner from squeezing out twenty-five cents more a bushel, which would have meant a dollar or so more a barrel for flour.

Let's have reciprocity to stop corner-making in grain, and let's intepret the Deadwood treatment of Coal Oil Johnny into something that, even if it is more civilized, will be equally effective.

THE SHORT BALLOT.

Nothing but confusion has come of the practice of making many public officers elective, and none but the bosses and those whom they serve have profited by it. It being impossible for the people to know properly those whom they are called upon to choose between for minor officers, they have left the selection largely to party managers, and thus the bosses have acquired a power that has made them able to earn their pay as agents of Special Privilege.

Hence the growing demand for the short ballot, under which fewer officers would be elective, and these would appoint and become responsible for the acts of many of those officers who are now elective.

The Short Ballot organization, of which Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey is president, thus explains clearly the principle involved:

"It is quite possible to design an automobile with so many controlling levers that only an octopus could drive it. And the same thing can be done with popular government—there can be so many elective officials that only an elaborate political octopus called 'the machine' can handle the situation.

"Adding elective offices beyond a certain number is not doing the people any favor or giving them any real power. It only needlessly complicates the people's mechanism of control, makes the ballot so long as to be meaningless to any but political experts, and baffles and confuses the sweep of public opinion. And so the people must hire a many-limbed octopus to perform the ramifying detail work of citizenship, must pay the octopus in the coin of patronage and boodle, and try to keep the octopus from having its own way in too many matters.

"Surely the long ballot is intended to be the politicians' ballot! It might as well have printed at its top the legend—FOR EXPERTS ONLY!

"And surely the long ballot, by making American politics a jungle of obscurities, invites the development of corruption and special privilege.

"The advocates of the short ballot principle propose to simplify politics by making coroners, city clerks, state treasurers, etc., appointive. They want the states to be as simple, from the people's standpoint, as the Federal government is. They want all cities and counties to be as politically transparent as the commission governments of Galveston and Des Moines. They want politics to be so simple that the so-called indifferent voter will inevitably understand all the issues and vote an opinion of his own instead of some politician's opinion.

"And against the short ballot advocates are the politicians, their friends, the powers that prey in the jungle, and the pet American superstition that making the people elect a host of officials is 'giving the people power.'

"The short ballot principle is that the ballot should be short enough—short enough so that the voting of average citizens will be based actually, not merely theoretically, on a real well-informed preference regarding every office. In other words, impose on the people no more political duties than experience shows the people will perform. For the people are too big to be driven to the performance of these artificial duties and if they flatly decline to become machine workers and professional politicians it is good sense to bow to their high decision and make our ballots short enough."

Nor does this new plan involve any distrust of the people or any doubt of their capacity to govern. It involves a certainty, based on experience, that the long ballot means confusion and makes it impossible for the people to keep that close control of their affairs in which alone lies safety.

WHEN DULUTH "BUSTS OUT"

By the Carnival Publicity Committee.

Duluth is a fun-loving community. The Midsummer Water Carnival is a big "busting out" of Duluth in a civic frolic.

This fun-loving characteristic, as much as anything else, makes Duluth a very livable place. It helps keep us all young; also healthy, wealthy and wise. Real Duluth fun is the vigorous outdoor kind with an athletic flavor.

Duluth fun is a saner, more wholesome sort than most cities have. It has very little to do with so-called "high life," "social position" and their accompanying vices. Carnival nights on the harbor and aquatic sports by day make a pleasing, exciting festivity in which there is no evil but much good. There is also much lively fun for every one.

There are no hangers-back. Or at least there have been so many comers-foreward to the Boat club's call that the Midsummer Carnival is being carried on with enthusiastic loyalty. These are qualities of Duluth fun—enthusiasm, loyalty. And the opportunity for every one to take part in preparation and celebration broadens as the time for the carnival draws near. The festivity is an assured success so far as an etnertainment of summer visitors is concerned. But it cannot be successful as a Duluth celebration unless all Duluth people join in without reserve and make the most of the carnival as a good time for themselves. There must be good, lively fun for every one.

And that is exactly the point. Carnival time is the proper time for everyone to loosen up and celebrate. Let everyone shake the notion that there is any harm or heedlessness in the coming frolic. Let us all "bust out." Johnny, you get in shape for the swimming races. Dad is going to distinguish himself in water baseball. Brother Bill is decorating a canoe. Mother is going to let Mary join a war canoe crew.

Remember we must all "bust out" now and then. It is natural, therefore necessary. Be thankful, good parents, for the wholesomeness of Duluth fun. Give encouragement to the coming carnival, which is a civic "busting out."

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

TRYING THE DIETZ CASE OVER AGAIN.

A high grade modern rifle can be fired twenty-five times per minute. This gun will pierce sixty pine boards, each one inch thick. It will kill a man at a distance of four miles. A bullet with sufficient force to pierce a one-inch pine board will kill a man or horse. Actual tests show that the best modern rifles will force a bullet through a traget made of the following combination: Fifteen folds of cow hide, sixteen one-inch pine boards, and one and four-fifths inches of hard beech wood. The best modern rifles will force a bullet through five horses at 1,200 yards. Even as recently as the war of 1870-71 and the war of 1877-78, bullets from rifles then used in the German army would not pierce a human skull at a distance of 1,760 yards, one mile; but with the best modern rifles bullets can be fired through the thick bones of an ox at a range of 3,850 yards, about two and one-fifth miles. Experiments demonstrate that the best modern rifles will force a bullet through three human bodies at a range of 3,900 feet; and through five human bodies at 1,200 feet. In the American Civil war bullets for long range work had to be fired high, describing a long high arch, thus missing all objects on the battle field between the gun and the object aimed at. A bullet from a modern rifle will fly straight across the field for hundreds of yards with no elevation, even half a mile and more with but little elevation sweeping the whole width of the field between the gun and the target.

According to the above could it be at all probable that the bullet found in the body of Deputy Harp was fired by John F. Dietz. Respectfully,

O. U. REASON.

Duluth, May 31.

The President's Best.

Collier's: Since he entered his present office, the president's most distinguished service has been his successful work for the world's peace. Whether or not he secures permanent arbitration of all disputes between Great Britain and this country, his efforts have in themselves been an education and therefore a step toward the goal. If accomplished, such a treaty will be enough to cause any administration to be remembered. Reciprocity with Canada would be valuable as an entering wedge in the struggle for a lower cost of living; it would also be one of the steps toward peaceful feeling in the world, and therefore to the endless advantages which continued peace will bring to those who do the world's work, pay the world's bills, and in the past have been the catspaw of the few. If the president keeps his head in regard to Mexico, even against advice from the powerful, that also will be added to his service in helping us away from the measureless economic loss of combat and hostility. "War," said William Ellery Channing, "will never yield but to the principles of universal justice and love, and these have no sure root but in the religion of Jesus Christ." The justice by which war is being opposed today is part of the growing realization that even foreigners are human; but part likewise, and still more, of the willingness to take account not only of the circumstances of the favored class, but of those also whose existence is a continued struggle for proper food, clothing, leisure, and education for their children and their wives.

A Few Gems of Fiction.

The Chicago Tribune of late has been compiling a few gems of favorite fiction. Endless is the task of the collector of such material, but here are a few:

"Gentlemen, I failed to win the nomination, but I have no unkind feelings toward anybody."

"We have lost out, my friends, but my only emotion is one of gratitude to those who loyally supported me."

"I assure you, Mr. Winch, this is not a company dinner; this is what we always have."

"Mr. Squigley, I've been wanting to meet you for years; all I buy the Bazoo for is to read your stuff."

"Yes, it's a dog life; I'm the first one at the office in the morning, and last to leave it in the evening."

"I thought you said you couldn't dance, Mr. Peduncle! You do it splendidly."

"You can see for yourself, Mr. Sessor, that we haven't anything in the house worth paying taxes on."

"I think I ought to have about $1,000 insurance on my household goods, Mr. Brocklesby; it would cost me that to replace them."

To which might be added:

"It makes no difference, I like both the white and black meat of the chicken."

"No, I'm going to pay for this. I'll be insulted if you do."

"Fellow citizens, I shall never do anything, if elected, that will make you ashamed of me."

"Gentlemen of the jury, I shall not detain you long with the argument in this case."

"No, my wife has never said a cross word to me."

"My friends, I am always glad to be in —— county. Its men are among our finest citizenry and its women the fairest on earth."

"Yes, I am a North Carolinian and proud of it."

"No, thanks, I never touch a drop. I am opposed to it on principle."

"No, your honor. I have never driven my car more than three miles an hour in my life."

"Mr. toastmaster and gentlemen, this occasion reminds me of an experience I once had."

"I regret that I have not had time to prepare an address worthy of this occasion and this audience, but I have been too busy to do so."

"My dear, I can hardly bear to think of you and the children leaving me all alone in town this summer."

Quaker Slang.

June Lippincott's—A visitor to Philadelphia, unfamiliar with the garb of the Society of Friends, was much interested in two demure and placid Quakeresses who took seats directly behind her in the Broad Street station. After a few minutes' silence she was somewhat startled to hear a gentle voice inquire: "Sister Kate, will thee go to the counter and have a milk-punch on me?"

THREE-CENT FARES.

Government Ownership.

Appleton Press: The traveling public will soon be paying 3 cents a mile again. The atempt at regulation has failed; what comes next? It would do very little if any good to increase the gross earnings tax as proposed in the Spooner bill, for if the railroads are free to make their own charges it would be an easy matter to raise passenger and freight rates enough to cover this additional expense and to make a profit on the outlay as well. It is a question whether the people do not now pay the gross earnings tax just as the borrower pays the mortgage registry tax. It is evident that we can't prevent the railroads from robbing us by regulation or by taxation, and we sincerely hope future legislatures will not waste any time on such measures. The only real remedy is government ownership, and many a Republican who scoffed at Bryan ten years ago is now of that opinion.

Cards Stacked Against the People.

Breckenridge Telegram: Some people wonder why it happens that the federal judges hand down decisions favorable to the great corporations. There is nothing strange about it. The corporations are never caught napping and when there is to be an appointment to the federal bench they are on hand with their backing of a man who has been faithful to their interests in the past and who can be relied on to favor them in his decisions as a judge. The cards are always stacked against the people.

That Will Fix Them.

Sauk Center Herald: The railroads explain that they will restore the 3-cent rate, not because they want to but because they have to in accordance with the mandate of the court. Just watt a little while until electric lines have spread themselves all over the state and are carrying passengers speedily and comfortably for a cent a mile, as they can easily do. Then see what the steam roads will do.

Many Will Have To.

Walker Pilot: What, 3 cents a mile? Come dear, let's take a walk!"

Why Not?

Cambridge North Star: The railroads are going to increase their passenger rates to 3 cents per mile July 1. Judge Sanborn put them in a class by themselves so far as business is concerned and gave them the privilege of charging what they pleased so long as they don't exceed 7 per cent on their watered stock. Where is the judge that will do likewise for the farmers? Let each land owner place his own value on his farm and then insist that the public pay him 7 per cent upon what he says it is worth.

Railroads' Plea Poor.

Virginia Virginian: When it is recollected how strenuously the railroads of Minnesota opposed the reduction of passenger rates from 3 cents a mile to 2 cents a mile several years ago, the plea of most of the roads that they will return to the 3-cent rate July 1 merely because the decision of a federal judge compels them to and not because they want to charge the dear public more, is droll.

How cruel it would be if, just before July 1, the interstate commerce commission should take advantage of the extra power conferred upon it by Judge Sanborn and restore the 2-cent rate in Minnesota? What a relief it would doubtless be to those railroads which feel compelled to impose upon the traveling public. It is a pleasure to note that the Duluth, Missabe & Northern and the Duluth & Iron Range do not find it necessary to return to the 3-cent rate, notwithstanding the decision of a federal judge.

People Up in Arms.

Ely Miner: The probabilities are that the range roads, the Duluth & Iron Range and Duluth, Missabe & Northern, will not advance passenger rates to 3 cents a mile after July 1. There is a certainty that the roads which do make the raise will have some troubles of their own to smooth over in the coming years. The people will be up in arms against a raise in passenger rates.

The Song of the Camp.

The dark Redan, in silent scoff,
Lay grim and threatening under;
And the tawny mound of the Malakoff
No longer belch'd its thunder.

There was a pause. A guardsman said:
"We storm the forts tomorrow;
Sing while we may, another day
Will bring enough of sorrow."

They lay along the battery's side,
Below the smoking cannon;
Brave hearts from Severn and from Clyde,
And from the banks of Shannon.

They sang of love, and not of fame;
Forgot was Britain's glory:
Each heart recall'd a different name
But all sang "Annie Laurie."

Voice after voice caught up the song,
Until its tender passion
Rose like an anthem, rich and strong—
Their battle-eve confession.

Dear girl, her name he dared not speak,
But as the song grew louder,
Something upon the soldier's cheek
Wash'd off the stains of powder.

Beyond the darkening ocean burn'd
The bloody sunset's embers,
While the Crimean valleys learn'd
How English love remembers.

And once again a fire of hell
Rain'd on the Russian quarters,
With scream of shot, and burst of shell,
And bellowing of the mortars!

And Irish Nora's eyes are dim;
For a singer dumb and gory;
And English Mary mourns for him
Who sang of "Annie Laurie."

Sleep, soldiers! still in honor'd rest
Your truth and valor wearing;
The bravest are the tenderest—
The loving are the daring.
—Bayard Taylor.

The Best in the World.

Winona Independent: If Minneapolis people want to build and furnish a summer mansion for the presidents at Minnetonka and can get the presidents to reside there in the summer, all well and good, but if it is desired to give the presidents the best summer climate in Minnesota the mansion should be located near Duluth, on the shore of Lake Superior. That's not saying that other places in the state do not have a good summer climate, but it does mean that the best is on the north shore of Lake Superior. There is no copyright on this paragraph. Duluth papers may copy it if they choose.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

There was a conference today between the board of public works and General Manager Chase of the Duluth Street Railway company regarding the immediate building of the Fourth street line between Sixth avenue east and Fifth avenue west, which was ordered over a year ago by the council. The paving of the street is about to be begun, and the property owners want the tracks laid at the same time. Mr. Chase would hold out no promise of building the road either now or in the near future.

Ex-City Engineer Fuller returned to the city today and stated that his new position is that of engineer for the Everett Land company, which is to build a new town in the state of Washington at Port Gardiner, nine miles from the village of Snohomish. The townsite is owned by the American Steel Barge company people and their Pacific coast shipyard will be located there. R. J. Wemyss, recently of West Superior, is manager of the company.

The Lakeside council last night opened bids for the improving of Laidor avenue. The lowest bid was that of H. E. Stevens of St. Paul for $116,000. He had the sewer contracts at Lakeside last year.

At last night's meeting of the city council the resignation of Health Inspector Tousley was presented.

Miss Anna Fillatrault of West Duluth and L. H. Le Sage of Duluth were married this morning at the residence of the bride's parents on Third avenue west.

Mr. and Mrs. George Needham of Duluth found their son, Charles, aged 13 years, shining shoes at 10 cents per shine at Wabasha and Seventh streets, St. Paul, yesterday. He ran away from home last week because his father punished him.

J. S. Nelson has returned from a three months' visit to Denmark, accompanied by sixteen fellow countrymen who will make their home in West Duluth.

Mrs. A. Rosenbush and family of St. Cloud are new arrivals and will make their home in West Duluth.

Phillips & Buell have sold their interest in the Evening Post to Fred J. Chipman of the Tribune, who has always been part proprietor.

Elmer E. Carrier of this city has taken in tow J. J. Finney, known to fame as Joe Du Flote, a delineator of French character, and will act as the latter's agent in a lecture tour.

Dr. O. N. Murdoch of Minneapolis, who was the first mayor of Superior, way back "fo' de wah," is in the city.

Filegende Blaetter: "Where is the cook?"

"She's in the kitchen preparing supper for the doctor's wife, dinner for the doctor and breakfast for the students."

Cynic: The assistant editor was opening the letters. "Here's one from a chap that signs himself 'Fair Play,' he said.

"Well, who's he roasting?" asked the editor.

Washington Star: "A man ought to come home in the evening smiling, and with a good appetite."

"Yes," replied Mr. Torkins, "he ought to. But the home team can't win all the time."

Boston Transcript: Griggs—Weren't you surprised that the customs inspector didn't find those things are smuggled in?

Briggs—Oh, no; my wife stowed them away. She can pack things in a trunk where she can't even find them herself.

Philadelphia Telegraph: Mrs. Powers—I will never forget the things you said to me before we were married.

Mr. Powers—Bet a hundred you won't! Had I known that you had such a good memory I wouldn't have married you.

Washington Herald: "Ferdy struck Cholly with the sugar tongs at the club last night."

"Shocking!"

"Oh, very. Both were under the influence of strong tea."

Washington Star: "Does that Mexican general follow the Spanish custom and keep saying 'tomorrow'?"

"No, he has improved on it. He says 'day after tomorrow.'"

Boston Transcript: Her Dad—No, sir; I won't have my daughter tied for life to a stupid fool.

Her Suitor—Then don't you think you'd better let me take her off your hands?

Toledo Blade: Ushers—Ladies, the audience wishes you to keep still during this performance.

Ladies—Heavens! Is it possible that the audience hasn't heard this old opera before?

Bazar: "Have you anything to say before we eat you?" said the king of the Cannibal Isles to a Boston missionary.

"Yes, I have," was the reply. "I want to talk to you awhile on the advantages of a vegetable diet."

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: A man could never really try to be good and a woman not to.

No woman wants her daughter to marry for money unless she gets the chance.

The more a man owes to his wife for what she does for him the more he thinks she is the debtor.

It seems as a good many people would rather be called capitalists without any money at all than workers with plenty.

If a woman heard her husband talking to some other woman over the telephone she couldn't recognize his voice, it would be so polite and gracious.

Now, Where Did She Live?

New York Sun: John Hobby, an assistant manager at the Waldorf, was keeping his weather eye open for infractions of discipline when a card was brought to him. In a few moments he was looking down at a prim little 10-year-old girl who spoke with a precision of language that agreed with the address on her card.

"Are you one of the managers?" she said.

"That is what I am told," Hobby replied.

"Are you one of the authorities here?"

"I believe so. What can I do for you?"

"I regret that I am obliged to make a complaint. It is a very serious matter, and I beg that you will give it immediate attention."

"Yes, miss," said Hobby, wondering what was coming.

"As I was entering the elevator one of your bellboys, who was carrying some luggage, jostled me. I think the offense requires immediate apology."

"Shall I apologize to you now, miss?" Hobby inquired. "If so, I apologize."

"No, that would be insufficient. Some severe punishment should be visited upon the bellboy."

"Shall I discharge him at once?"

"No, I should be loath to request that such a course be pursued. But I think he ought to be severely reprimanded."

Hobby promised to visit the required punishment; The little girl thanked him graciously, adjusted her glasses and went her way.

The Evening Prayer.

In the twilight of my days,
In the evening of the years,
Life unto my saddened gaze
Seems a vision veiled in tears,
All the knowledge fades away
That I vainly thought to keep;
As a little child I pray:
"Now I lay me down to sleep."

I have wandered far from Thee
Since that childish prayer I said,
And the lips that taught it me
Have been gathered to the dead;
Yet her face I seem to see
When the evening shadows creep,
And again, as at her knee,
Pray Thee, Lord, my soul to keep!

Softly fades the lingering light;
Lo! the last beam leaves the skies;
And I watch, amid the night,
For the evening star to rise.
Far beyond the bounds of space
I may drift ere day shall break;
Let me see my mother's face
If I die before I wake!

Darker grows the gathering gloom,
While my soul its vigil keeps
With the memories that loom
Up from Life's unsounded deeps.
When upon a sunless strand
I shall hear the surges break,
Ere I near the Nameless Land,
Pray Thee, Lord, my soul to take!

POOR AND PETTY POLITICS.

Red Wing Republican: The action of Governor Eberhart, in striking the name of Supt. Whittier from the list of delegates to the Conference of Charities and Corrections, should be characterized for what it is. It is the pettiest sort of personal politics, exercised in an unworthy cause by a man who knows better and ought to be ashamed of himself.

A little taste of political honor seems to have had the most unfortunate effect upon Governor Eberhart. As the accidental successor of Governor Johnson he comported himself with dignity and propriety. Having seemed to deserve and having received the compliment of an election, he has lost his head. In large emergencies he is silent, evasive, not to say cowardly. Where there is a small and nasty opportunity to play politics, he is Johnny-on-the spot. The man who had not the courage, the loyalty to party or the fealty to the Constitution to force the legislature to pass a reapportionment bill, which was easily within his power—he had only to convince the members that he would call an extra session and the thing would have been done—delights in attempting to throw odium upon a public servant who has done his duty, but is not given to political cringing, and does not fawn upon an executive who is coming to appreciate no other attitude.

Supt. Whittier has discharged his duty as he saw it, faithfully. He has been subjected to such an ordeal as few men are called upon to face. He was confronted with the testimony of every offender against the law who could be induced to give evidence against him for mischief or spite. He refused to call on his own behalf the hundreds who would gladly have vindicated him at the cost of opening their own regretted past. The legislature, after having the issue definitely presented, refused to direct his removal. The board of control, which has been exactly as responsible as he for the method of discipline adopted, refused to remove him. But the governor thinks he sees a chance to play politics for the benefit of the sentimentalists, and inflicts this petty indignity upon Mr. Whittier. It reflects discredit upon no one but its author.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Chicago News: A wise man can break into the fool class in a few minutes by talking too much.

A bachelor girl wouldn't be one if she could annex a bachelor—or even a widower.

There can be no equal rights until all members of our legislatures are bribeproof.

The only infallible rule for bringing up children in the way they should go is not to have any.

A man's idea of a real vacation is to get so far away from home that he won't have to live up to his reputation.

You may have noticed that it costs a man a good deal to get in line at the political pie counter in this great and glorious land of the free.

WILL HEAR ARGUMENT

Railroad Commission Will Take Up Logging Road Hearing June 14.

The Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission will hear oral arguments in the Brooks-Scanlon railroad matter Wednesday, June 14, according to information received in Duluth yesterday.

The owners of the road desire to remove their rails as they claim the road is losing money, while settlers and business men declare that this should not be allowed as it will cause a hardship to hundreds of settlers along the line and retard the development of this part of the state. The arguments will be based upon the testimony produced before the commission during the recent visit to the city. The commission at that time went over the line in question. Local people interested in the proposed syndicate to operate the road for the benefit of the settlers are laying their plans on the theory that the railroad commission will deny the company the right to remove its rails. In that case the line will be extended from Scanlon to Cloquet, and it is stated that a connecting link will be laid to Duluth, starting at Duluth Heights.

BITTER FIGHT IN OHIO ASSEMBLY

Session Closes Day Late With Compromise on Probe Fund.

Columbus, Ohio, June 2.—The seventy-ninth general assembly of Ohio adjourned sine die at 4 o'clock yesterday, twenty-four hours late, after spending several hours in a bitter contest over appropriating $7,500 to aid Franklin county in the prosecution of legislative bribery. The amount as finally fixed was $5,000, none of which is to go for expenses incurred prior to the time Attorney General Hogan took a hand in the prosecution. This provision was insisted upon by senators, who at first threatened to defeat all the appropriations in the sundry bill because of the presence of the $7,500 item.

The $7,500 was put into the bill by the senate finance committee at the instance of Governor Harmon. When a group of senators learned of it, they had the bill brought back from the house, and then ensued a bitter round of speeches in which detectives and press were assailed. At one time the question of action was put up to Governor Harmon, who urged the house members to "call the senate's bluff" about killing the entire sundry bill. A conference committee reached an agreement on $5,000.

For the two years 1911 and 1912 the general assembly appropriated $18,900,000, which is $2,000,000 in excess of revenues anticipated for that time by State Auditor Fullington.

STEP TAKEN TO CANCEL ALASKA COAL CLAIMS.

Seattle, Wash., June 2.—Daniel M. Brumhaller, a millionaire banker and former mayor of Spokane; his son, Jerome L. Brumhaller, a wealthy mine owner and politician of Spokane, and the other claimants of the Dunn coal group in the Chugnach national forest, Alaska, have been notified by the Juneau land office to show cause within sixty days why their claims should not be declared forfeited for non-compliance with the requirements of the United States statutes, which provide that a locator must file application for a patent within three years from the time of filing location. If the Dunn group locators fail to show cause within the time set, the case will be forwarded to the commissioner of the general land office, with recommendation that the claims be declared forfeited.

The Dunn group was located by Raymond Brown and William L. Dunn, Spokane prospectors, who were indicted by a federal grand jury in Spokane last October for conspiracy to defraud the United States for the use and possession of the Dunn coal land.

STORAGE MEN MAKE PROTEST

Say Limitation of Time Food May Be Kept Means Ruin.

Washington, June 2.—Undue restriction of the time in which food products may be kept would mean ruin to many lines of business, argued witnesses before the senate committee on manufactures yesterday.

The committee is considering the Heyburn bill regulating the cold storage industry. Kennett Fowler of New York, representing the fishing industry of both coasts and the greater portion of the cold storage plants of the country, declared that the three-months' limit provided in the proposed law would drive fishing fleets from the seas and plunge storage companies into bankruptcy.

Thomas D. Foster, representing a packing concern of Ottumwa, Iowa, declared the bill would work injury to the beef storage business. He acknowledged, under questions suggested by Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief chemist of the department of agriculture, that the packers almost universally used saltpeter in preparing meat for cold storage, but admitted it freshened the color of the beef and he insisted that it was used primarily as a preservative.

The committee adjourned until next Thursday.

WILL SELL HIS ALL

To Make Restitution for Child's Death—Pastor's Noble Resolve.

Glen Falls, N. Y., June 2.—Though held blameless for the killing by his automobile of little Mary Maginn of Saratoga Springs, Rev. Thomas Grieves, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at Greenwich, announced yesterday that he would sell everything he possessed to make what restitution is possible. The automobile already has been disposed of.

Almost immediately he sold the car, and in announcing his determination to dispose of all of his other earthly possessions he told friends that a real estate dealer had been instructed to put his residence at Riverside on the market.

All household effects will be included in the sale, the pastor has announced, and the proceeds will be turned over to Mr. and Mrs. Maginn.

STUDY ADVISABILITY OF PARCELS POST SYSTEM.

Washington, June 2.—Authority for an inquiry into the advisability of establishing a parcels post system is proposed to be given to the senate committee on postoffices and postroads by a resolution introduced by Senator Bourne, chairman of the committee.

BEST HOTEL IN THE WEST

More Than $100,000 Being Spent on Repairs and Alterations.

From basement to attic the Spalding hotel is being gone over by a big crew of carpenters, plumbers, electricians, house furnishers, paper hangers, carpet layers and decorators. By the first of July Duluth will boast of one of the very finest hotels in the Northwest.

When the work is completed, and the contract calls for the completion of the big task by the first of next month, over $100,000 will have been spent by the Lee Hotel company in giving to Duluth a hotel that contains every modern improvement, every convenience, and every comfort that is known to modern invention.

Today Edwin H. Lee, president, treasurer and general manager of the hotel, took a Herald man through the big hotel, starting at the top floor, or the sun parlor, and never stopping until the lowest room in the basement was reached.

Few people of Duluth have been given any idea of the amount of work that has been going on for the past few months. Every single room in the house has been redecorated, relighted with Tungsten lights and furnished with new carpets and the beds furnished with new mattresses.

It will cost the hotel company $10,000 for new carpets before the last carpet is laid, and the bill for new mattresses will amount to over $2,000. The decorating of the rooms will amount to much more than this, for not a single room, be it the smallest room on the top floor, has been skipped in the work that is transforming the hotel into a modern house of fresh and airy rooms.

The old servants' quarters are being torn out and by the first of July the Spalding will have twelve fine guest rooms, seven of them with bath, where the help was formerly quartered. It will cost over $7,000 to transform the old rooms into some of the finest bedrooms that can be found in the Northwest.

All Duluth Goods.

It might be interesting, as well as instructive to the people of Duluth, to mention that practically everything that will figure in the improvement of the hotel, though transformation would be a much better word, has been purchased in this city.

From the Gray-Tallant company Mr. Lee and his associates purchased over $2,000 worth of fine linen. From the Panton & White company came beds, mattresses and many other furnishings, the total bill reaching up into the thousands. E. F. Burg & Co., Marshall-Wells, Kelley Hardware company and the Northern Hardware company, French & Bassett, and other Duluth stores have contributed the best of their stock to make the new Spalding one of the most artistically furnished hotels in the West.

In addition to the many improvements enumerated above, it should be stated that a new ventilating system has been installed, that will change the air in the basement of the hotel and in the working departments every three minutes; that a new refrigerator plant has been installed at a cost of $3,000; two new 200-horse power boilers have been installed in the basement, costing $5,000; the entire basement, the kitchen and cooking, and baking departments have been entirely rebuilt at a cost of $9,000, giving the hotel an absolutely sanitary department where all the food stuffs are handled.

In addition to these improvements, four new fire escapes will be added at a cost of $3,000, and two new electric elevators, the Otis type, will be installed, costing the company $5,000.

Another feature that will be appreciated by those who attend the dances in the assembly room of the Spalding, will be the partitioning off of a serving room at the far end of the big dancing and banquet room, and having a music balcony on top of the partition. The construction of the serving room will enable the waiters to keep food hot and ready to serve at a minute's notice.

No Danger of Fire.

All of the halls in the hotel are being gone over, every electric wire in the hotel has been taken out and placed in a conduit, so that there will be absolutely no danger of fire starting from electric wiring.

The finishing of the halls will cost a large sum of money, but to convey some idea of the money that is being spent to make the Spalding one of the most up-to-date hostelries in the Northwest, it might be stated that the new chandeliers in the parlor floor hall will cost over $1,200, and that to entirely refurnish and redecorate the parlor of the hotel will cost $8,000.

All of the outside woodwork of the hotel has been repainted and the interior court is being gone over with two coats of paint. New carpets will go down in the halls and sample rooms, as well as the guest rooms, and Mr. Lee says the Spalding will have the finest sample rooms of any hotel west of Chicago.

"We aim to make the Spalding a hotel run by Duluth people for Duluth people," said Mr. Lee today. "We have bought everything in Duluth that it was possible. We have purchased over $2,000 worth of silverware from the Bagley company, and the Burgess Electrical company is doing our wiring and electrical work. All of our groceries and provisions are bought in this city and the Western markets.

"The very best the market affords will be served in the cafes. Our eggs come from the Pleasant Hill farm of Dr. Magie and the Roycroft farm of Sidnaw, Mich., both farms being operated on a sanitary basis. Our butter and milk and cream comes from the Jean du Lhut farm. We use no cold storage foods in the hotel. Sea foods are obtained from the coast and as far south as Moorehead, S. C., and as far north as Halifax. All of this food comes in sanitary boxes and the lobsters and crabs come live and kicking. Our brook trout come from Hudson, Wis.

"J. L. Washburn, owner of the building, and others interested in the company, take the same view that is held by me, namely, that Duluth is a city that shall have one of the best hotels in the country, and are uniting with me to give this city such a one.

TRACTS ARE SELECTED NEAR MIDDLE RIVER.

Middle River, Minn., June 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Commercial club has selected several forty-acre tracts of land near town and the reclamation board will come here and in conjunction with a committee chosen by the Commercial club select one to be operated on in trying the experiment of clearing twenty acres and making them ready for the breaking plow.

To End Deadlocks.

Washington, June 2.—The Root bill for election of United States senators by a plurality of a legislature was favorably acted upon by the senate committee on privileges and elections with an amendment requiring that the successful candidate shall receive the votes of at least one-third of the members of both branches of the legislature. The purpose of the resolution is the abolition of senatorial deadlocks.

S.S.S. PERMANENTLY CURES BLOOD POISON

One reason why S. S. S. is so successful in the treatment of Contagious Blood Poison is that this medicine strengthens and builds up the stomach and digestive members while it is purifying the blood. A great many medicines used in treating Contagious Blood Poison are composed largely of mercury and potash, and are recommended to the sufferer because they are intended to dry up or remove the humiliating outward symptoms. But such treatment cannot cure the disease, and its continued use will often so weaken and disease the stomach as to make a nervous wreck of the patient. And too, when these mineral medicines are left off the smoldering poison takes on new life and soon the old symptoms of ulcerated mouth and throat, brown, scaly splotches, falling hair, sores and ulcers, etc., return with increased virulence. Then the disease makes more rapid headway because the weakened system offers less resistance to its ravages.

I didn't find out that I had contracted Contagious Blood Poison until it had made considerable headway, and fortunately for me the friend that I first consulted had had some experience with the disease, and advised me to take S. S. S., so I didn't fool with any doctors, but began at once the use of your medicine, taking it as directed. My friend told me to stick to it, and that was what I did, and got along splendidly from the very first, and my recovery was rapid. I took only about one dozen bottles, and am now as well as ever. When I began S. S. S. my face was so full of sores and eruptions that I could not shave, and now there is not a blotch or pimple on my body.

S. S. S. cures Contagious Blood Poison and it does so by purifying the blood and keeping the stomach and digestive members in perfect condition all the while by its fine tonic effects. S. S. S. is a purely vegetable remedy, made entirely of roots, herbs and barks of recognized virtue as blood purifiers. It does not contain a particle of mineral and is therefore absolutely safe for any one. S. S. S. cures on the principle that not only must the poison be removed from the blood, but the circulation must also be enriched and vitalized with nourishing powers. S. S. S. is known everywhere as the greatest of all blood purifiers and a safe, certain cure for Contagious Blood Poison. Home Treatment Book and medical dvice free. S. S. S. is for sale at drug stores.

WHY WEAK WOMEN NEED A SAFE TONIC

The average woman has too little blood because of the work, worry and confinement indoors consequent upon her household duties. Her nerves are easily irritated; she worries over little things; has severe sick headaches and becomes in a general run-down condition. To such women Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a positive blessing. They enrich the blood and tone up the nerves thereby giving strength and health to every part of the body.

Mrs. E. J. Garrison, of No. 2950 Walnut street, Everett, Wash., who suffered without relief until she tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, says:

"I suffered from weakness common to my sex for four years, and although treated by our doctor for over two years, found no relief until I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. When I began to take the pills I had not been able to work for over a year and could not stand on my feet for any length of time because of the terrible pains. My head ached most of the time and I was very nervous. I could not get much sleep and my head hurt so whenever I would lie down that I had to be propped up in bed. I also had a great deal of backache.

"The doctor finally told me that he could not help me. I then tried several medicines but without relief until I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills upon the advice of a druggist. After a thorough trial I noticed that my headaches were disappearing. I began to sleep better and was not so nervous. I kept on taking the pills for some time longer and now feel that I am cured."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain the elements necessary to make new blood and, as the nerves get their nourishment from the blood, have been found invaluable in a wide range of diseases of the blood and nerves, such as anæmia, rheumatism, after-effects of the grip and fevers, neuralgia, nervous debility, and even St. Vitus' dance and locomotor ataxia.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

PROBLEM IS KNOTTY ONE

Suit at Red Lake Falls Growing Out of Construction of Soo.

Sub-Contractor Sued By Bank, Is in Reality Plaintiff in Suit.

Crookston, Minn., June 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the knottiest civil cases ever tried in the district court in this district was adjourned at Red Lake Falls yesterday afternoon by Judge Watts till Aug. 28 when at least two weeks more will be consumed in the taking of evidence in addition to a week just closed in the case of the Merchants National bank vs. A. Perrusse, a contractor. Perrusse had a sub-contract for the construction of a section of the Soo line from Bemidji to Thief River Falls from Foley, Welch & Stewart, and the bank advanced him the money to start operations.

It is alleged that Perrusse did not get along well with the contract and after advancing some money on estimates of work done, the Soo became apprehensive on hearing that Perrusse had contracted heavy obligations which were not being discharged as he was paid by the Soo and it was feared that he was running behind heavily and following this the Soo paid him but little and claim to have done some of the work over and finished the contract themselves.

Defendant Really Plaintiff.

Thus while Perrusse is being sued, the Soo, Foley, Welch & Stewart and several others are also made defendants and the defendant named in the suit is really the plaintiff in the case. About $15,000 is involved and there are about 200 causes of action named in the complaint, making it one of the most remarkable civil actions ever tried in this district and decidedly the most tedious.

Harris Richardson of Richardson & Kerr of St. Paul represent the Soo, and C. E. Boughton represents the bank. Judge Watts and Court Reporter Lohn returned from Red Lake Falls last evening but will return Aug. 28 and resume the grind in this remarkably complicated case in which engineers, estimates, payrolls and many points in technical railroad construction are intricately interwoven.

FIVE GRADUATES IN ONE FAMILY

Negaunee, Mich., June 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—With five children in his family participating in graduating exercises in various schools of learning this month, John P. Miller, a well known resident of Negaunee, probably enjoys a record that few fathers have ever attained.

Mr. Miller's daughter, Miss Claire E., will be graduated within a week or ten days from the Stout domestic science school at Menomonie, Wis. Miss Ruth will finish a course at the Marquette normal. She has already signed a contract to teach either the seventh or eighth grade at Ironwood the coming year. Miss Alice J. is a member of the senior class of the Negaunee high school and Walter J. and Ethel both will be graduated from the eighth grade in the convent school and next year they will attend the public schools.

Mr. Miller has nine children going to school, the baby of the family being the only one not in this class. All of the children were born in the family's present home, at the corner of Peck street and MacKenzie avenue. The family consists of six girls and four boys.

Mr. Miller, who has been a resident of Negaunee since 1858, having come here with his parents when he was a baby, was also married here, and he is now one of the pioneer merchants of the city.

BREAKS 3,000 ACRES OF LAND

Then Sows Tract to Flax Is Record of Illinoisian in North Dakota.

Manning, N. D., June 2.—(Special to The Herald.) — Three thousand acres of virgin soil broken and sown to flax is the record that has been established this year by J. B. Dickson of Halliday, up to a year ago a resident of Rockford, Ill. By operating steam plowing outfits day and night, he was successful in turning over this large acreage of soil. C. W. Colgrove of Minneapolis, looking after his father's interests in this section, put in about 1,000 of new acreage in flax in this county this season. There are a great number of big tracts of land in Dunn county that are sown to flax this year which have heretofore been cleared as virgin soil.

Dunn county has had a splendid supply of moisture this season, with excellent prospects for a big crop. Corn will be one of the important products of the county this season also, there having been a big increase in the acreage of that grain.

PLANNING FOR MOVING CROPS

Northern Pacific Already Getting Ready for Handling Grain.

Mandan, N. D., June 2.—(Special to The Herald.) — Anticipating that it will be called upon to handle an immense grain crop out of this section, the Northern Pacific railroad is laying plans for the increasing the capacity of the yards in this city. The line to Cannon Ball, which will be a big feeder this year, together with the increased grain acreages in the southwestern section of the state, is responsible for the fact that greater yard room is required.

There also is the north line of the Northern Pacific out of this city, which will be completed by Sept. 1. When this latter line is placed in operation and the local facilities increased, it is probable that a new division will be created. In order that there may be no interruption in the work, the city of Mandan will close up several streets for the new rails.

OPPOSITION DEVELOPED

Middle River, Minn., June 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The J. P. Arpim dredge has commenced work on lateral F, two miles northeast of town. There has been much bitter feeling and excitement during the week over the opening of the dam and lowering of the lake to let the dredge out. At a previous meeting of the council it was said that the village had to open the dam or the dredge people would. Attorney J. J. Olson of Warren was consulted with the result that he advised them that the dredge people had no legal right to open that dam and that they had better put a watchman here to keep them from doing it. A watchman was appointed and for several days and nights the dam was watched. At a latter meeting of the council the foreman for the dredge appeared again and set forth that unless the lake was lowered he was up against it. It was finally agreed to open the dam but a guard had to be put there by the dredge people in order to keep it open long enough to lower the lake a foot as the resentment was so strong that several attempts were made to close it. The lake has now nearly raised to its former level. And the opposition is somewhat allayed.

WHERE IS G. W. SPENCER?

Located Valuable Claim in Montana Before He Disappeared.

Mankato, Minn., June 2.—W. H. Murray, writing from Whitefish, Mont., seeks information that will lead to the finding of the relatives of George W. Spencer, who is reported to have left Blue Earth county twenty years ago and went to Whitefish, where he lived until November 28 last, when he disappeared, and since that date nothing has been heard from him.

Mr. Murray writes that Spencer lived alone on a piece of timber land which is valued at about $5,000. The authorities have taken charge of the property, but so far as Mr. Murray knows no effort has been made to locate Mr. Spencer's relatives, and he is supposed to have several in Blue Earth county. Mr. Murray writes that he and Spencer were good friends; that Spencer told Murray of a wife that was divorced and several children. "We talked of Mankato, New Ulm, Blue Earth and Faribault. Spencer was 53 years old, about six feet tall and weighed about 150 pounds. He was broad across the shoulders and stooped over considerable."

WINTER WHEAT PROSPECTS IN VICINITY OF DICKINSON.

Dickinson, N. D., June 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—A 75 per cent crop of winter wheat will be harvested by Benjamin Webb of Richardton, recognized as the pioneer winter wheat grower in this section. Cold weather in March is responsible for the fact that a full crop will not be harvested. He has a tract of eighty acres of winter wheat this year, half of which he harrowed this spring with the result that the yield on that portion will be 20 per cent greater than on the other half of the field. The grain last year was sown to wheat stubble, but next fall Mr. Webb expects to conduct experiments in the raising of winter wheat on corn stubble ground. Winter rye, a small tract of which is to be found on the Webb farm, is also getting along in fine shape. It is believed by Mr. Webb that winter wheat should be sown on or before Aug. 10 to accomplish the best results.

RETURNS BY IMPORTERS

Indicate They Have Learned a Lesson From Heavy Fines.

Canadian Agents Are Hustling to Secure Foreign Immigrants.

New York, June 2.—The cases of the government against importers or others who seek to evade the customs duties have attracted much attention in this city, and those that are local in their nature, as in the instances of the well-known dress-makers, and the art importers, Duveen Bros., have undoubtedly resulted in more honest returns or statements by the persons who bring foreign goods through this port.

The work of Collector Loeb and his corps of inspectors and appraisers has made it very dangerous for those who endeavor to defraud the government of its legal dues, and it is not too much to say that never before in the history of the country were there more accurate returns to the treasury from the tariff schedules than there is at this time.

It undoubtedly affects adversely the great stores of London, Paris and Berlin by the reduction in the amount of purchases in those cities by visiting Americans, and it is estimated that the values of the goods brought in from abroad by such transients during the past twelve months are less than half that formerly brought by corresponding periods of past years, although the declarations of values are in excess of the former years.

The payment by the firm of Duveen Bros. of upward of $1,200,000 on account of under valuation, and the inflicting of heavy fines upon the members of the firm in addition to the payment, has carried consternation into the breasts of many importers, and it is a fact that the business or trade element is reformed in earnest, and is now as careful to keep within the law as are the numerous voyagers who now see to it that customs declarations harmonize with the contents of the baggage.

Immigrants for Canada.

Immigrants continue to arrive at this port in large numbers, and steamship agents are full of admiration for the systematic work of the Canadian government looking to the gathering in for the Dominion of the dissatisfied ones of other lands.

This port receives but few of the immigrants that are booked abroad for Canada, as the great majority of the persons from Europe, who are bound for homes in the Dominion, reach them through the St. Lawrence river route and the Canadian railway lines.

It is said that the inducements held out by the Canadian government have been so carefully laid before the masses in Europe, and the advertisement of the possibilities of fortune in Canada have been so successful in immigration results, that the movement to Canada from Europe this year will be the largest for more than forty years.

As all nations west and south of Russia have been most thoroughly prospected for settlers for Canada, it is now announced that Russia is to be systematically gone over and the advantages of this great belt of North America are to be snown and told by an experienced league of Canadian promoters. Whether it brings Slav or Semite from the czar's territories to that of Canada the boomers of Canada care not, so long as they get the waste places of the Dominion filled in by actual settlers.

The Canadian climate of the far North, it is thought, will appeal to the inhabitants of Central and Western Russia in Europe, and the managers hope to fill a line of settlers far to the north of any of the railways now under construction in the dominion.

Persistent, frank, patient and energetic, the agents of Canadian enterprises do not expect crowds of immigrants from Russia this present season, but they believe that next year will witness a gain to Canada of many thousands of the czar's subjects of today.

This year is to be one of preparation, but the subsequent years will witness the movement to homes in the dominion in full and powerful operation.

Good Crop Prospects.

Private reports upon grain crops continue to be far better than those published in the newspapers as to acreage under cultivation, conditions at the present time and estimates of yields.

The published reports are fine in the aggregate, but the details given in the private and unpublished reports are very much better, and the managers of the transportation lines are each day feeling more confident of the greatest crop tonnage this year that has ever been recorded.

The written opinion of Justice Harlan upon the Standard Oil case, which was read here with great interest, is acknowledged to be an able and strong document, the grounds for his dissent being stated in the clearest possible manner by a most eminent jurist, but in view of the opinion concurred in by the other eight members of the court it is not deemed to have much weight or influence upon business affairs in the immediate future.

As an argument for additional legislation by congress it is possible it cannot be excelled.

As a record, that in the decades to come can be referred to as a terse and strong statement laying down an interpretation of the law that later supreme courts will approve of, many regard it highly.

For the immediate time it is but a dissenting opinion, dismissed already from the minds of the busy operators here, who live only in the present, forgetting the past and ignoring the future.

The activity in railroad construction in the Dominion of Canada is really marvelous, but that activity is directly and indirectly an advantage to business in the United States.

The Canadian Northern announces that the last section of its proposed transcontinental line has been financed and that the construction of the 500 miles from Port Arthur on the west to Sellwood on the east will be commenced this fall.

The cost is estimated at $15,000,000, which, of course, will be distributed to labor along the line for rails and other construction material.

New Laws Indorsed.

Several months ago I alluded to the great change in the expressed sentiments of railway managers and those representing transportation lines.

They seem now to have accepted quite fully the idea that public utility corporations are to be run not only for the reasonable returns upon capital invested, but with due regard to the service rendered their creators, the public.

The remarks of President Delano of the Wabash, before the Traffic club in Chicago in approval of the interstate commerce law have been favorably commented upon here.

His declaration that he believed that law "has been of real benefit to the capital invested in railroad property and that every change and amendment in the law has proved beneficial to honest railway methods," was a most hearty indorsement of congressional legislation, an approval without any string to it.

His further words, "the recent refusal of the interstate commerce commission to allow the railroads to increase their freight rates," is, I believe, a blessing in disguise.

The people generally will be gratified at this statement and the interstate commerce commission can congratulate itself upon the wisdom of its course in this matter of freight rates.

COOKING SCHOOL FOR YOUNG MEN

Sixteen Members Expected to Become Experts By July 1.

New York, June 2.—Let the bachelor girl take hope. A cooking school for young men has been started by Mrs. C. H. Fleiltz in Grace chapel here. There are sixteen members of it and by July 1 sixteen young men will be able to broil a steak or roast a piece of beef. It is promised that any of the sixteen will be able to bake biscuits that will make mother ashamed of the soggy kind she made —maybe.

In the sixteen there are the making of sixteen happy homes. Sixteen young women with the proper amount of tact will be able to gather them in, and, by praising their cookery before and after marriage, will be able to keep them over the kitchen range for the rest of their lives.

Mrs. Fleiltz who has taught thousands to cook, says she never had a better class, and Dr. Bethome, the pastor, is enthusiastic. It was his plan.

Seventeen were in the class when it started. One fell down at the first lesson. One of them, with one lesson, made a pie and carried it home. His mother not only ate it, but lived to ask for the recipe so she can get even.

NATURAL GAS

Has Been Discovered in Enormous Quantity in Hungary.

London, June 2.—The Hungarian government has decided to monopolize the tremendous natural gas source recently discovered at Kissarmas, in Transylvania, of which the daily yield amounts to 26,000,000 cubic feet. This is the most important source of gas in the world so far discovered. The gas comes out of the ground at a pressure of over 30 atmospheres, and the noise it makes is heard many miles away.

In view of the tremendous pressure, it is quite impossible to reach the orifice of the well, which promises to become a source of wealth for the whole country. The gas can be utilized not only for industrial, but also for illuminating purposes. It burns with a very clear flame and has a high caloric value.

The government engineers estimate that of the yield there will be sufficient gas to illuminate all the towns and villages in Transylvania, and also to bring over by pipes large quantities of gas to Budapest. Other borings for gas have already been commenced at Dieso-Szent-Marton, Ura Maros-Szent-Gyorgy, Sachish-Regen and Szent-Bonedek.

Better Shoes at Lower Prices— Independent of All Trusts

Why should the family shoe supply be the nightmare of the folks of this country?

"High prices" is only half an answer. Clothing and rent and food and coal are high, too.

The real answer is the searching fact that while clothing and rent and food and coal give the consumer value for the price—shoes do not, because of the poor quality of the leather.

The Leather Trust dominates the tanning industry of America. By cheap, short-cut processes of tanning and finishing it starves the life out of every piece of leather it produces.

Your shoe difficulties would be settled out of hand if the shoe manufacturers of America could get honest leather.

Only One Shoe Factory Independent of Leather Trust

Fortunately for the people of this community, there is such a shoe factory in the United States. That shoe factory is owned by Endicott, Johnson & Co. They get all the honest leather they want. To get it they had to build their own tanneries and operate independent of the Leather Trust.

Endicott, Johnson & Co. are the only shoe manufacturers in the world who own the tanneries that produce the leather they put into their shoes.

They tan Six Million Dollars' worth of leather every year. Day after day they produce 1750 sides of the finest sole leather, 3000 sides of chrome tanned upper leather, and 1000 skins of calf leather.

Every foot and every pound of this leather is made up on the premises into Endicott-Johnson shoes.

Endicott-Johnson leather makes a durable shoe. Endicott, Johnson & Co. tan every lot of leather for a specific type of shoe—they perfect it in the tanning and finishing and give it backbone for the wear that will be demanded of it.

Durable, Stylish Shoe—Fair Price

As a shoe buyer and shoe wearer you know what the durability of Endicott-Johnson shoes means to you and your family.

But Endicott, Johnson & Co. have done even more than make a durable shoe.

They have made a stylish shoe. Endicott, Johnson & Co. employ the finest shoe designing talent in the United States.

They have made a moderate priced shoe.

They will save you 50 cents to $1.00 on every pair of shoes you buy—because they have cut out the profits of the Hide Trust, the Leather Trust, the Leather Jobber and the Shoe Jobber.

Endicott-Johnson shoes carry only one profit from the hide to your local dealers' store. They come direct from the factory to Thirty Thousand retail shoe stores, located all over the country.

Trust-Free Shoes in this Town

Ask the local Endicott-Johnson dealer to show you the ENDWELL (Goodyear Welt) —shoes for dress or business wear that retail at $3.00, $3.50 and $4.00.

Endicott, Johnson & Co. make lines that sell for more money—and still other lines at a lower price.

You can buy Endicott-Johnson shoes for men, women and children—shoes for street wear, work shoes, dress shoes, school shoes for boys and girls.

You can suit yourself in style of shoe, shape of last, breadth of toe, color of leather.

You will get one hundred per cent better value than you ever got in any other make of shoes at the same money.

Look for the name stamped on every shoe—

PLAN TO REVIVE OLD OIL WELL

By George Westinghouse on His Grounds at Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 2. — George Westinghouse has no room in his wonderful laboratory for his latest experiment, the revival of exhausted oil and gas wells, but a huge all-steel derrick on the lawns surrounding the millionaire's costly mansion shows him hard at work on a test which will startle the world.

Mr. Westinghouse himself began the construction of the huge, cone-shaped steel affair on the grounds surrounding Solitude, his beautiful Lang avenue home, and now it towers above the conservatories, flower beds and the score or more millionaires' mansions in Pittsburg's most exclusive residence community.

For more than a year a portion of the ground near the home has been spouting salt water. The seeping ground marked the spot where thirty-years ago one of the richest wells in Western Pennsylvania gave forth its profitable yield. Nineteen years ago Mr. Westinghouse plugged the well and since that time has given it no attention.

When other millionaires peeped from alcove windows across lawns and saw the steel derrick it reminded them of the thrilling chapters in that section of gas boom history. It recalled the explosion that occurred there more than thirty years ago when many workmen were burned and Mrs. Westinghouse tore finery into bandages and treated the burns and injuries of workmen.

Mr. Westinghouse expects to strike the main vein of gas that gave such a tremendous output in the long ago. It is an experiment only and the inventor desired to make the test on a spot where he would be in constant touch with his work.

NEW COURSE FOR VESSELS

Great Lakes Protective Association Proposes Route for Traffic.

Dangers of Collisions Will Be Avoided If Masters Follow Rules.

The Great Lakes Protective association, which has been engaged for some time in the study of the best course for boats to take on the inland waters, has just recommended a route on Lake Huron. The association will continue its work until it has covered every body of water from the ocean to the Head of the Lakes.

By using the proposed courses the association claims that practically all dangers of accidents and collisions will be avoided, and the congestion of traffic can be easily reduced. In the past five years the traffic on the lakes has increased so rapidly that it seemed almost impossible to prevent accidents.

The following is the recommendation:

"It would be very desirable for up and down bound vessels to take different courses on Lake Huron, and they strongly recommend that all members of this association give their masters instructions to use the following courses on Lake Huron:

UPBOUND TO LAKE SUPERIOR.
From Corsica shoals to lightship.
North azimuth 5 miles
Then N ⅞ W azimuth 53 miles
Then NxW ½ W azimuth 85½ miles
Then NWxN ⅛ N azimuth 74 miles to Detour light.

UPBOUND TO LAKE MICHIGAN.
From Corsica shoals lightship.
North azimuth 5 miles
Then N ⅞ W azimuth 53 miles
Then NxW ½ W azimuth 85½ miles
Then NWxN ⅛ N azimuth 26½ miles
Then NWxW ½ W azimuth 49½ miles
Then west azimuth 5 miles to Poe reef lightship

"These courses will fetch three miles east of Harbor beach, seven miles east of Thunder bay and seven miles east of Presque isle lights. The reason for throwing these courses so far outside Thunder bay light is to avoid the shoal spots shown on government chart about seven miles north and a little east of Thunder bay light. These spots show big boulders with twenty-one feet of water. At the present height of Lake Huron there is a little less than twenty-one feet over these boulders and they are consequently a dangerous menace to navigation in a heavy sea.

DOWN-BOUND FROM LAKE SUPERIOR.
SxE azimuth 1 mile.
then SE 5-4 S azimuth 79 miles.
then SxE ½ E azimuth 87 miles.
then South azimuth 56 miles to Corsica shoals lightship.

DOWN-BOUND FROM LAKE MICHIGAN.
From Poe reef lightship.
East azimuth 5 miles.
then ExS ¾ S azimuth 46 miles.
then SE ¾ S azimuth 36 miles.
then SxE ½ E azimuth 87 miles.
then South azimuth 56 miles to Corsica shoals lightship.

"These courses will fetch thirteen miles east of Thunder bay light and eleven miles east of Harbor beach light.

"You will, of course, understand that by throwing the down-bound vessels out so far they will in thick and foggy weather probably not be able to locate either Thunder bay or Harbor beach lights and fog signals, and that in consequence masters will have to be very careful in this navigation. All masters should be cautioned to carefully check up their compasses by the government ranges in the Sault river each down-bound trip, and also be very careful to check up distances run on each leg of the course. In all cases where they have run out their time within an hour and a half from Corsica shoals lightship and have not been able to accurately locate their positions by whistles of up-bound vessels or other means, they should change their course to due west until they strike the seven to ten fathoms soundings which are shown on the chart to extend all along the west shore from about five miles above Corsica shoals lightship to Harbor beach.

"Masters are not expected to use these down-bound courses below Thunder bay light when the wind is heavy from the west or southwest as, under these conditions, it will be desirable to hold pretty well up into Saginaw bay in order to avoid rolling, but they should be carefully followed under the usual conditions in order that masters may be able to use them with confidence in thick and foggy weather."

TUG DIMICK IS SOLD TO LOGGERS.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., June 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Great Lakes Towing company today sold the tug Dimick to R. E. Evans of Cheboygan. The new owner with Capt. John Lillis of Alpena, who will command the craft, took possession of the tug at once and will take her to Albany Island for a raft of 3,000,000 feet of logs for Cheboygan, Mich. The tug will be remodeled and equipped with a double screw and will work between Saginaw and Cheboygan, Wis.

Representatives of a Milwaukee Salvage company are here today on their way to Whitefish point, where they will sweep the vicinity in an effort to locate the wreck of the steamer Aurania which sunk off Parisian Islands several years ago. Owing to the number of wrecks on the bottom at this point they are expected to experience considerable trouble locating the object of their search.

GOVERNMENT ASKED TO PUT ON PATROL SERVICE.

Efforts are being made by the Lake Carriers' association to have a patrol service at Ballard's Reef, in the Detroit river, to regulate traffic there during the contract work which has reduced the 600-foot channel to 300 feet. The association appealed to the Canadian government but word has just been received by President Livingstone of the association that nothing can be done by the Dominion. President Livingstone will take the matter up with Col. Mac. Townsend, of the United States corps of engineers, stationed at Detroit, to have the federal department put a boat in service. The west side of the river is being deepened and traffic is congested at this point.

READY FOR LAUNCHING

Largest Lake Vessel Will Be Dropped Into Water at Ecorse July 1.

Ocean Steamers Being Built There Will Be Christened Same Month.

The steamer Col. J. M. Schoonmaker, the first of the two monster freighters building for W. P. Snyder of Pittsburg by the Great Lakes Engineering works, will be launched at Ecorse July 1. The Schoonmaker, when she comes out, will be the largest bulk freighter on the lakes.

The new boat will be 617 feet long and 64 feet beam. The big freighter, which will be named after the vice president of the Pittsburg & Lake Erie Railway company, will be completed and ready for business about Sept. 1. The second steamer, which will be a duplicate of the Schoonmaker, will not come out until 1912.

Although the dates have not been fixed, two of the steamers building at the yard of the Great Lakes Engineering works for the Atlantic coast trade will be probably be dropped into the water in July. The steamer building at the Lorain yard of the American Shipbuilding company for the Wisconsin Steel company will be ready for launching about July 1. The new Hanna steamer, Quincy A. Shaw, will go into commission in about three weeks. She was launched at the Lorain yard.

The lake builders have submitted bids for a small steamer for the sand trade, which a Detroit firm is figuring on building, but it is not expected that many orders for bulk freight vessels will be placed this year. The two package freighters for the coast trade which the Great Lakes Engineering works booked orders for last week will not come out until 1912.

DULUTH FIRM LANDS JOB

Work Will Require Two Years to Complete and Cost $270,000.

The contract for dredging at Toledo, Ohio, has been awarded to the Zenith Dredge company of this city, and tomorrow morning the papers will be signed by Col. John Millis, stationed at Cleveland, for the United States government and by A. S. MacDonald, manager and vice president of the local concern.

This is one of the largest contracts awarded this year and many dredging companies doing business on the Great Lakes submitted bids. The work calls for the removal of about 2,000,000 yards from the basin at the Toledo harbor and will require about two seasons to finish it. Information that the Duluth company had received the job was received by J. W. Lyder, Jr., yesterday afternoon. The winning bid offered a price of 13½ cents per yard, which would mean a contract of about $270,000.

Just when the work will be started by the Zenith Dredging company cannot be stated by officials now in the city, but Mr. MacDonald will arrive in Duluth Monday morning when plans will be made for the undertaking. This spring the company added several plants to its property, and these, with several of the old ones will be sent down to Toledo to do the work.

NEW CHARTS WILL DEFINE BOUNDARY

Maps Will Supply Long Felt Need of Fishermen and Navigators.

The new charts defining the water boundary between the United States and Canada are near completion, and will soon be distributed by the International Waterway commission, under whose direction they are being prepared. These charts are accurate and the scale is very fine, so that there will be no excuse for mistakes, which have been very common heretofore.

The necessity for these charts has been felt for some time, especially among the fishermen, although navigators have been embarrassed much by errors, owing to the lack of definite knowledge as to where the boundary line is. The boundary is determined from the forty-fifth parallel of latitude, through the St. Lawrence river, Lake Ontario, Niagara river, Lake Erie, Detroit river, Lake and River St. Clair, Lake Huron, St. Mary's and Pidgeon river and Lake Superior.

BIG EXCURSION BOAT MAY VISIT DULUTH.

The new passenger steamer, the United States, of the Indiana Transportation company, a sister ship of the Roosevelt, which brought the Chicago businessmen to Duluth last summer, may make a trip to the local harbor this summer.

Information has been received from Chicago, that the vessel has been chartered for two trips by a Finnish organization at Houghton, Mich., for the latter part of this month, one trip to be made to Marquette, and the other to Port Arthur. It is probable that the society will also visit Duluth at the same time. Two years ago, this society came to Duluth on an excursion.

SEVEN MORE BOATS IN COMMISSION.

The Tomlinson company will place seven ore boats into service today and tomorrow. The crews, which were ordered here during the present week have taken charge of the vessels, and it is expected they will sail from this harbor in a few days.

There are still a few of the company's boats idle, but orders for them are expected from concerns in the east during the present month. While the amount of ore to be shipped this month will be far less than that of June, 1910, still the shipment will be considerably in excess of that during the past month.

WHIRLED TO HIS DEATH IN SAW MILL

Millwright in Spooner Plant Caught in Belt and Killed.

Spooner, Minn., June 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—An unfortunate accident occurred at the Shevlin-Mathieu mill at ten minutes past 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, which resulted in the death of Ole Holsteinson, a millwright. Holsteinson was repairing a belt which had become damaged and while trying to get it back on the pulley was caught and whirled around the shaft to his death. The body was frightfully mangled, head, arms and lower limbs being torn from the trunk. Little is known of his relatives. He was a member of the lodge of Eagles of Crookston, Minn., and was about 26 years old and single. Interment took place in the Elm Park cemetery, the funeral procession consisting of about two hundred employes of the mill.

NEW LOCOMOTIVE IN COLLISION

Second Day on Ironwood Job It Strikes Another Iron Horse.

Ironwood, Mich., June 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two switch engines collided near the "D" shaft, East Norrie mine last evening, just before 6 o'clock. Conductor Pulman was coming up with a load of empty cars attached to engine No. 837, and Conductor Mollitor was coming down grade with a number of loaded cars attached to engine No. 249.

The engineers could see danger ahead and tried their utmost to avoid the wreck. They saw that nothing could be done, so they jumped and thus escaped injury. The firemen and brakemen also jumped. The tank of engine No. 837 was pushed about two feet off the truck, but only slight damage was done to No. 249. The engine No. 837 and driven by Pulman was only put on the mine work yesterday.

CONGRESSMAN FIGHTS NEGRO

Speaker Clark Helps Stop Fistic Battle on Washington Car.

Washington, June 2.—Representative S. A. Roddenbery of Georgia came to blows with a negro in a street car last night. No great damage was done by the combatants. The incident, however, caused no little excitement.

Mr. Roddenbery, Speaker Champ Clark, Representative Ollie M. James, and Representative Ben Johnson of Kentucky were among a number of members who had boarded the car on the conclusion of the Democratic caucus shortly before midnight. A negro man and woman got on and the woman sat beside Mr. Roddenbery. There remained between her and the Georgian a few inches of the longitudinal seat. Her escort sought to fill the space with a bulk fully twice that of Mr. Roddenbery, who is in the "bantam class."

As the negro seated himself and shoved back Mr. Roddenbery, he remonstrated. The negro made some reply and poked an elbow into the representative's ribs. In an instant the Georgian was on his feet and had landed three or four stiff blows upon the negro's face. The negro aimed two or three blows at Mr. Roddenbery. The Georgian was quick as lightning and ducked or side-stepped them all.

Speaker Clark, Mr. James and Mr. Johnson then rushed between the combatants. The conductor and motorman also appeared and offered to put the negro off the car. The representatives, however, decided that Mr. Roddenbery had asserted himself vigorously enough to teach a lesson and intervened on the negro's behalf. He was permitted to remain on the car.

BUILDING WHERE FIRE DID DAMAGE

Structures Burned in Fergus Falls Are Being Built Up Again.

The law will be strictly enforced according to a decision made by the county superintendents at their annual conference and every teacher wanting a certificate to teach will be required to pass a state examination on one of those subjects.

FREE SAMPLE OF LAXATIVE CURED THEIR CONSTIPATION

When a person has become discouraged through years of failure to find a cure, and finally, perhaps, gives up trying, it is small wonder that he becomes skeptical. And yet, to all who have constipation, we would say, "Try just one thing more."

We wish you would try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a laxative tonic that has been used for a generation. Thousands are using it; surely some of your friends among the number. You can buy it of any druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, but better still, send your name and address to Dr. Caldwell for a free sample bottle. He will send you enough to convince you of its merits, and then if you like it you can buy it of your druggist. Mr. J. J. Petty of Unionville, Mo., Mr. George W. Zimmerman of Harrisburg, Pa., and many others of both sexes and in all parts of the country first used a sample bottle and now have it regularly in the house.

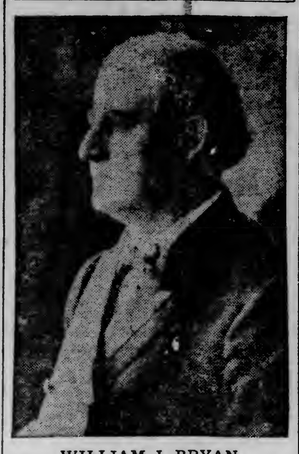

You will learn to do away with salts, waters and cathartics for these are but temporary reliefs while Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is guaranteed to cure permanently. It will train your stomach and bowel muscles so that they will do their work again naturally without ouside aid. Cast aside your skepticism and try Syrup Pepsin.

Dr. Caldwell does not feel that the purchase of his remedy ends his obligation. He has specialized in stomach, liver and bowel diseases for over forty years and will be pleased to give the reader any advice on the subject free of charge. All are welcome to write him. Whether for the medical advice or the free sample, address him Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 541 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

DEMOCRATS ENTHUSE OVER PARTY OUTLOOK

Bryan Denounces Decisions of Supreme Court in Trust Cases.

Governor Burke of North Dakota Is Boomed for President.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN.

St. Paul, Minn., June 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The 800 progressive Democrats of the Northwest, who gathered last night at the banquet held in the Auditorium to celebrate the party's victories in the last state and congressional elections, were enthusiastic in the belief that the next president will be a Democrat. But no action was taken to show the preference of the party in the Northwest as between the various candidates for the nomination in 1912.

William J. Bryan, who was the last speaker of the evening, did not indicate his preference, but he took the opportunity to speak in high terms of Governor Burke of North Dakota and Former Governor Folk of Missouri, both of whom were present. He referred to them as "candidates for the presidency" and said, should either be nominated, he would travel about the country and work in their behalf.

Col. Bryan denounced the decision of the supreme court of the United States on the Tobacco and Standard Oil cases, saying that Chief Justice White had been waiting for fifteen years to write the words "reasonable" and "unreasonable," to throw his protecting arms around the trusts, and to tell them how to escape.

Col. Bryan said conditions in the United States senate are still bad, though not so bad as last year. "Senator Martin, the minority leader, spends his time trying to lead the Democrats into the Republican net. If Democrats are going to stand for protection, let them be honest everywhere and not be scared by a few sheep. If they are scared by the bleats of a few sheep, what will they do at the roaring of the bulls and lions of Wall street?"

Praises Burke and Folk.

In speaking of the presidential possibilities in the early part of his address, Col. Bryan said:

"If the people of the East knew the people of the West as well as the people of the West know the people of the East, it would not be hard to nominate a man like Governor Burke for president. If he should be nominated and elected, there is no one in whom I would have more confidence than in Governor Burke of North Dakota. I would travel throughout the land in his behalf.

"I am glad that Governor Folk's name has been mentioned. I have known him for a long time and I know that he does not have to go to Wall street each morning to get his opinions."

When the delegates arrived at the banquet hall they beheld the usual decorations with the portraits of the party celebrities liberally interspersed with the colors. When the living embodiment of some of the portraits walked into the hall there was the usual cheering heard at political gatherings.

After the dinner had been disposed of, M. J. Wade, acting as toastmaster, read a telegram from Judge Alton B. Parker expressing his regrets at not being able to be present. Judge Wade also read a message from Former Governor Lind of Minnesota, who was recently operated upon for a stomach trouble and had not sufficiently recovered to be out. The subject assigned to Governor Lind was "The Voice of the People."

Governor Burke Speaks.

Governor Burke was the first speaker and his subject was: "The Democracy of the Northwest." Governor Burke told of the many defeats he and his party suffered before victory finally came. "Why, in the number of defeats, my friend Bryan is an amateur compared with me," he said. Governor Burke said that times have now changed and that Republicans and Republican papers are now being convinced that the Democratic party offers the only relief from Republican misrule.

"It now seems almost impossible to lose the presidency at the next election. If we do lose, we have only ourselves to blame. But we do not want to win unless we win right. We are not entitled to the confidence of the people unless we convince them that we have a remedy for existing evils. We must be constructive. We must be in a position to redeem pledges made."

Hammond Talks.

Congressman W. S. Hammond of Minnesota, a member of the ways and means committee, reviewed the work of the first session of the sixty-second congress. He outlined the legislation that has been passed by the house as indicative of the ability of the Democrats to stand together and redeem party pledges. He said that while Democrats often disagree among themselves, as in the instance of the vote on the lumber schedule and the efforts of the Democrats in the last congress to reform the house rule, chaos does not rule, confusion does not reign.

"We have been able to carry out our program so far as we have because of the unity in the Democratic ranks and to no man is greater credit due for the unification of the Democratic party than to Speaker Champ Clark," he said.

An incidental reference by Mr. Hammond to the Canadian reciprocity bill aroused a storm of applause, indicating that the Democrats of the Northwest are strongly in favor of reciprocity.

Iowa Heard From.

T. C. O'Connor of Viola, Iowa, brought a message of hope from the Democrats of Iowa. He made a plea for harmony in the party, commended the work of the Democratic house, and spoke with optimism of the outlook for victory in 1912. He said that the Democrats of Iowa had troubles and dissensions in the past, but now they are united and harmonious on the fundamentals and incidentals.

JOSEPH W. FOLK.

Former Governor Folk of Missouri spoke on "Progressive Democracy" and aroused much enthusiasm.

Early in the day the Northwest states began to be represented by arrivals from Iowa and North and South Dakota, who flocked to the St. Paul hotel, where W. J. Bryan, Governor Burke of North Dakota and Former Governor Folk of Missouri had preceded them.

The North Dakota delegation came with a well-defined boom for Governor Burke as the presidential possibility in 1912, some wearing buttons setting forth their desires.

Martin J. Wade of Iowa was willing to have it announced that the Iowa delegation was for Burke for the second place on the ticket, inasmuch as it was highly probable that an Eastern man would be named to head the ticket.

North Dakota Delegates.

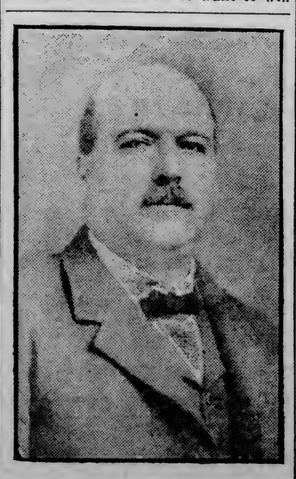

The North Dakota delegation met in the afternoon to talk over matters before the dinner. They came sixty strong. Prominent among them were Halvor Halvorson, Minot; D. H. McArthur and F. W. McLean, Fargo; J. M. Kelly, Devils Lake; J. P. Baker and F. O. Helstrom, Bismarck; T. D. Casey, Grafton; Senator Purcell, Governor Burke, E. H. Stenvick, G. H. Hollister, Fargo; George Wilkinson, Judge Fisk, Grand Forks; Judge Carmody, Grand Forks; Mayor B. R. Lovell, Fargo; and Mayor John Bruegger of Williston.

Minnesota Democrats were represented from outside the Twin Cities by about 400 men. A. C. Weiss of Duluth, Senator Works, Bert Fesler, Fred L. Ryan, Tim O'Connor of Renville and a number of other leaders, were on the scene early. Jay La Due of Luverne, more than 80 years old, was probably the oldest Democrat at the gathering.

Prominent among the Ohio delegation were Judge Wade, former congressman; C. A. Walsh, Nicholas Reed, Ottumwa; E. R. Moona, Anamosa; Frank S. Merrill, Osage; J. H. Dalton, Tim Donovan, Earl Bronson and H. Rigleman, all members of the state central committee.

GOVERNOR JOHN BURKE.

WINFIELD S. HAMMOND.

BRYAN IS DEFIED BY UNDERWOOD

Author of Wool Bill Says He Will Stand on Record.

Washington, June 2.—Replying to an attack on the Underwood wool bill at St. Paul yesterday by William J. Bryan, in which he charged that an effort was being made to betray the Democratic party into the hands of the protectionists, Representative Underwood declared last night that he would stand before the country on his tariff record in congress.

"I never bolted a caucus or scratched a ticket," said Mr. Underwood. "I am willing to stand on my record in congress on the tariff and defy any one to find it inconsistent. I have always voted in any tariff legislation for the lowest duties, and if that is protection, Mr. Bryan is welcome to make the most of it.

"I was first elected to congress as a Cleveland Democrat, and on a platform which advocated tariff for revenue. I have kept the same position, and voted as did Mr. Bryan for the Wilson bill which was a tariff for revenue measure."

Asked what effect Mr. Bryan's attitude would have on the wool bill, Mr. Underwood pointed to the house chamber where the Democrats were in caucus, and said:

"Mr. Bryan will get his answer in there in a few minutes."

SECOND VICTIM OF SHOOTING IS DEAD.

Denver, Colo., June 2.—With the death of George E. Copeland, one of the bystanders shot by Harold Henwood, when he opened a fusillade that killed Sylvester L. Von Phul, the St. Louis amateur balloonist, Henwood stands charged with murder on two informations. The district attorney contends that Copeland, who was a wealthy mining man of Victor was shot twice after Von Phul had fallen from three bullets, and that this fact will be offered to prove that Henwood was not shooting in self-defense as his attorney claims.

ONLY BATH HUSBAND TOOK

Was By Wading in a Stream, Says His Wife.

Marion, Ohio, June 2. — Recently the wife of Jacob Scharber, a farmer, asked for divorce on the ground he was the meanest man on earth. This week the wife of Charles S. Winch, a farmer, sued for divorce. She says her husband, who is 41 years old, and in good health, never took a bath during all the years she lived with him except by wading in a stream when they lived near the Whetstone river. She further says he objected to her bathing their baby, and cursed her when she did. He never changed his clothing, the petition recites. He put it on and never took it off until it was worn to shreds. The plaintiff claims her husband compelled her to live in a shack in the heart of a dense woods, in Tully township.

The defendant owns a 175-acre farm.

NEW CHISHOLM BUILDING FINE

Finnish Home Structure in Range Village One of Largest.

Chisholm, Minn., June 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The event here this week is the opening today of the new Finnish home building, one of the largest structures of the kind in this part of Minnesota and most complete.

The building is 120 by 46 feet, the basement being arranged for lodge and other meetings. The ground floor has a stage with all the latest improved methods for scenic display. The hall and gallery will seat about 800 people, and folding opera chairs have been put in.

The upper story has a library and rest room and will be occupied also by the caretaker of the building.

Own Electric Plant.

The building has its own electric light plant and no expense has been spared to set in an abundance of lamps all over the building. The lamps have globes of different shades, allowing the display of the various colors to intensify the beauty of any evening special program.

The heating plant consists of a big steam boiler, easily capable of creating such a steam pressure that on the coldest day in winter the pipes and radiators will be hot in the fartherest end of the building.

The building was begun late last fall; the cornerstone laid during January last, and it was expected that the building would have been completed before April 1, but on account of putting in improvements and making changes in the building as the progress of its construction furnished different suggestions, gives reason why the home had not been opened sooner.

The building has a fine location, near the corner of Maple street, on Central avenue. It cost about $25,000, which is about $8,000 more than the proposed original outlay.

John Cellander has charge of the business management of the hall.

Virginia, Minn., June 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—President N. B. Arnold of the Commercial club last evening was instructed to appoint a committee of five to have charge of preparations for an old-time celebration of the Fourth of July, beginning with the national salute early in the morning an all-day program, and ending with profuse fireworks at night.

A committee of the club was instructed to arrange a meeting with the board of Nichols township to take steps to construct a three-and-a-half-miles road, which will connect Virginia with the Wolf farming country west of the city.

YOUNG BOY FALLS INTO HOT WATER

Being So Badly Burned That Death Results at His Elba Home.

Gilbert, Minn., June 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—A distressing accident happened at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mohar at the Elba location Monday, when their 6-year-old son Tony was scalded and received injuries from which he died Wednesday.

The boy had returned from the Elba school, of which he was a pupil, and was engaged in wheeling his baby sister up and down the kitchen floor. In some way he tripped and fell into a pan of boiling hot water and was scalded all over the lower portion of his body. Medical attention was at once secured, but the boy died after having suffered terrible agony until Wednesday.

The funeral was held from the Catholic church this afternoon, the teachers and children of the Elba school attending in a body.

SHOEMAKER SAYS HE WAS ROBBED

Evelethian Claims Boarding-house-Keeper Doped Him, Then Took Roll.

Eveleth, Minn., June 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Martin Pasquin, a shoemaker, says he was robbed and doped Wednesday evening at Marco Erkovich's boarding house. He claims he delivered a pair of shoes to the boarding house and then bought two glasses of beer. In paying for the beer, he took out a roll of money. After drinking a third glass he says he became dizzy and fell asleep, being unable to awake for two hours. He had $45 on his person when he fell asleep and when he awoke found that the money was gone, as was the boarding boss. He had $15 in gold, $20 in paper and the rest in silver when the robbery occurred.

Yesterday he made a search for Erkovich and learned that he had left for Hibbing. A warrant will be sworn out for Erkovich's arrest, and if caught he will probably be tried for blind-pigging in addition to the robbery charge.

Judge McInnis had a busy day yesterday. Andrew Jackson, Andrew Johnson and John Anderson were fined $5 and costs for being drunk, while Hank Rossiter drew a $10 fine on the same charge. Herman Elko, arrested for a small theft, was fined $20 and costs. John Shrebe's interference with a police officer cost him $10 and costs, while John Johnson drew a $10 fine for being disorderly.

VORBANICH WOULD ENJOIN LUMBERMEN

His Attorney Will Apply to District Court for a Restraining Order.

Virginia, Minn., June 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Peter Vorbanich furnished a bond of $1,000 Thursday for his appearance in district court and was released from custody. With Mrs. Vorbanich he left for their home on the Waterhen river, where they will attend to the farm work interrupted by his arrest.

Attorney McMahon stated that he would at once apply to the district court for an injunction restraining the lumber company from floating logs through the property of Vorbanich.

Vorbanich insists that he did not fire a shot when it is alleged that he did by the state, and a strong effort will be made on the part of the defense to impeach the testimony of Deputy Sheriff Charles Lirette, who claimed that he felt the sizzle of a bullet from Vorbanich's rifle as it passed by his ear.

Hibbing, Minn., June 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first term of the regular session of the district court to be held here will convene on Tuesday next, in the city hall, Judge Martin Hughes presiding. Both the grand and petit juries will be called. The civil calendar contains fifty-one cases, of which twenty-eight are to be tried by the petit juries, and five will be tried by the court. The calendar also contains eight divorce cases and several are of considerable interest locally on account of one or both parties being well known. The criminal calendar contains four cases, including one for murder in the first degree. It is possible that the grand jury may add one or a dozen to this list when they meet at the beginning of the session. The criminal cases on the calendar have been adjourned from the Virginia term. Sam Kacich is charged with murder in the first defree, the accused being one of the principals in a fatal duel alleged to have been fought near the railroad tracks not far from the Missabe depot. Marino Steffano is charged with two separate indictments of assault in the first degree, Steffano also is alleged to have got into some trouble with a man by the name of Miller, and Dan Becco, Italian interpreter, and is charged with having fired two shots with a revolver with intent to do serious bodily harm.

Two charges of grand larceny are on the list. Louis Pederson is alleged to have stolen ten tons of hay from a farmer, and H. Benesovitz is charged with having tried to obtain goods under false pretenses from a jeweler by the name of Izzadore Mark. It is alleged that Benesovitz bought some jewelry from the complainant and gave a check dated ahead in payment; when this was due it was not paid, and the defendant gave another check also dated ahead; this was not paid either, and the man was arrested

Item Welcomed By Many Men

This recipe can be filled at home, so that no one need know of another's troubles, as the ingredients can be obtained separately at any well stocked drug store. They are in regular use and many different prescriptions are constantly being filled with them.

This will prove a welcome bit of information for all those who are overworked, gloomy, despondent, nervous and have trembling limbs, heart palpitation, dizziness, cold extremities, insomnia, fear without cause, timidity in venturing, and general inability to act naturally and rationally as others do, because the treatment can be prepared secretly at home and taken without any one's knowledge.

Overworked office men and the many victims of society's late hours and dissipation will, it is said, find the restorative they are in need of.

If the reader decides to try it, get three ounces of ordinary syrup sarsaparilla compound and one ounce compound fluid balmwort; mix and let stand two hours; then get one ounce compound essence cardiol and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom), mix all together, shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring.

A certain well-known medical expert asserts that thousands of men and many women are sufferers all because of dormant circulation of the blood and a consequential impairment of the nervous force which begets the most dreadful symptoms and untold misery.

OWES HER HEALTH

To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Scottville, Mich.—"I want to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash have done me. I live on a farm and have worked very hard. I am forty-five years old, and am the mother of thirteen children. Many people think it strange that I am not broken down with hard work and the care of my family, but I tell them of my good friend, your Vegetable Compound, and that there will be no backache and bearing down pains for them if they will take it as I have. I am scarcely ever without it in the house.

"I will say also that I think there is no better medicine to be found for young girls to build them up and make them strong and well. My eldest daughter has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for painful periods and irregularity, and it has always helped her.

"I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for the Lydia E. Pinkham's Remedies. I tell every one I meet that I owe my health and happiness to these wonderful medicines."—Mrs. J. G. JOHNSON, Scottville, Mich., R.F.D. 3.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases.

JACKS EASY FOR DULUTH

Sox Defeat Biddy's Crew By Pathetic Score of 10 to 3.

Errors of Visitors Were Closely Mingled With Local Hits.

Yesterday the Sox, like father in the woodshed with a thin lath and a son, were in a hitting mood. During the matinee, which dragged because an umpire by the name of Griffith permits the players to loaf and get away with any old thing, the hitting Harps gathered twelve blows, and these coupled with eight errors can easily explain the victory that came so easy.

One day a ball team will look like an aggregation of citizens suffering from rheumatism and the various complications that come with brittle and unyielding old age. The next day the same aggregation may gambol over the green with gazelle-like speed and grace and sureness of touch.

In the soiree of yesterday the Sox made the Jacks from the dreary town of Wausau look as foolish and generally as unsteady as a man with prohibition habits who has imbibed deeply of malt with disastrous results. No fan could blame Dunbar for becoming disgusted and retiring to right field, there to contemplate and reflect deeply on the uncertainties of life.

After the visitors had been retired in the first we gathered one by three errors. Two were dead when Menelce got on through Brown's bobble. Mister Brown had read that little brain beat that says consistency is a swell jewel, and on the next play made another error. Following Brown's faux pas, Stark heaved the pill far over Brown's nut in an effort to catch Sam off second, and Sam promptly came home.

The next inning was scoreless. In the third the enemy gathered two, their last stand, and we doubled that number.

Mister Dunbar started the inning by a single, trying no doubt to win his own game. He was sacrificed by Mr. Brown, who no doubt thought that he should render some service to his teammates. Monsieur Du Chien doubled out to Holstrom's garden and Dunbar beat the throw home. Rhodes also singled in this inning, the hit availing nothing.

Kramer started the fat third by going safe on an error by Dusty Rhodes. Then Henning, who was lately with Eau Claire, let one from the bat of Sam Menelce get away and Kramer was on third.

Johnson hit one to Brown and that gent headed Menelce off at second. Holstrom drew transportation and Col. Altermott singled, sending Kramer and Johnson over.

Miller hit to Dunbar and the large man threw Holstrom out at the third corner. Hardgrove and Woodburn singled, sending the colonel and Miller across, Leber ending the general hilarity by going out on an infield hit.

In the next inning a screaming triple by Mr. Menelce and one by Mister Holstrom, also a single by Col. Altermott, produced two more runs.

Following the general line of attack, we added one in the seventh, though there was not the least need for it. It came through a single on Miller's part and that ever present error upon the part of wobbling Walliser and another single upon the part of Kramer. The errors of the enemy came at the right time for us.

To make the score look impressive to the delegates attending the development harangue, we added two more in the eighth. It came through the third pass to Chesty Holstrom, who has the Wausau heavers buffaloed. Right here it might be remarked that in the two games this boy has drawn four passes, every one of them being issued with malice aforethought. Yesterday they put one over for him and he hit it nearly to the flag pole in center pasture. Maybe there is method in their madness.

But returning to the thread of the narrative, Col. Altermoot got his third hit after the Holstrom parade, Miller stopped one with his carcass and an error upon the part of Walliser permitted Holstrom and Altermott to cross.

That was all, and enough for the day.

EAU CLAIRE WINS FROM SUPERIOR

"Bugs" De Lave Applies Calcimine to the Chesty Taylorites.

Eau Claire took the second game of the series from Superior yesterday afternoon, through the great pitching of De Lave, who shut the Taylorites out by the score of 5 to 0. As the victory puts the Sox back in second place, the fans of Duluth are thanking the "Bugs" person.

While Superior gathered seven blows off the Eau Claire twirler, he shut up when hits would have been damaging, and pitched great ball.

NEW ATHLETIC EPOCH, SAYS JAMES SULLIVAN

New York, June 2.—"The greatest series of games the world has ever seen," says James E. Sullivan, the referee of the intercollegiate track meet held Saturday at Cambridge.

"We have always looked back at the 1895 internationals as about the limit of perfection in the world of track and field, but really a new athletic epoch was created by the many who competed in the games.

"With one world's record, five intercollegiate marks broken, and three others equaled, the sports stand unrivaled in performances of excellence. Of course, the work of Jones eclipses that of any athlete who ever participated in a double event.

"It is my idea that the Cornellian can, under the climatic and track conditions which prevailed last Saturday, and without a previous race under his belt, go to the tape in a half-mile race close to 1.51. Again, in a mile event, a man with his pace would have no trouble in going to the half-mile mark in 2.03, and come home in time better than even the world's professional record, viz., 4.12¾, which has stood the test of time, having been made over a generation ago.

"Then again, there's that sterling performer, Harry Babcock, the backbone of Columbia's athletics, who ten days ago failed to vault over 10 feet 6 inches. Yet he cleared 12 feet 8⅝ inches, and who will say that he has not 13 feet within his reach? And he did this great work with a borrowed pole, loaned to him by Harry Hillman.

But Once Before.

"Only once before Saturday have we seen a man run 100 yards in .09 4-5, and come back and do .21 1-5 for the furlong, this being when Bernie Wefers did the trick in 1896, and it was duplicated by Ralph Craig of Michigan. The new shot put and two-mile marks, accomplished by Horner and Berna, were looked for, but the possible surprise in the runs was the work of Young, the Amherst man who tied Taylor's record in the quarter.

"The so-called minor teams cut more figure in the point column than is usually the case, and worked havic with the aspirations of the big fellows. I am glad to see this phase of the competitive situation, and trust that they will continue to send in entries to the games, and not be scared out by the presumed prowess of those whose wants are supposed to be catered to in more advantageous fashion.

"With the advent of keener competition, I notice that the idea of fairness in their dealings with opponents is more eminent in the work of the college men now engaged in track sport.

"It was unnecessary for me to take any action which touched upon the proposition of fouling, unwitting or otherwise, and the various coaches and managers are to be thanked for bringing about such a condition of affairs, which is, of course, probably helped by the rules."

MILLERS GET ONLY THREE HITS BUT WIN.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 2.—Waddell was invincible in the pinches and the visitors won, 2 to 1. Nicholson and Gilligan who pitched for the home club were hit for but three hits, two of which were bunched with Milwaukee errors. Waddell struck out nine men. The home club did not score until the ninth when Lewis walked after two were out and scored on Marshall's triple. Score: R. H. E.

MURPHY SAYS HE WAS DOPED

Claims Oliver Offered Him $10,000 to Throw the Fight.

New York, June 2.—For several days; in fact, ever since the Knockout Brown-Tommy Murphy fight at the Madison Athletic club last Thursday night, there have been mutterings and whisperings among the alleged wise guys that the fight was a fake.

Yesterday Tommy Murphy, the picture of physical health, added the fire to what until then was only a faint and discredited smoke, when he gave out the following signed statement:

"Johnny Oliver came to me before my second fight with Knockout Brown and offered me $10,000 to lay down to Brown. I refused and after I got into the ring I felt dopey. I know that I was not right and am sure that I was doped. How they did it to me I don't know, but I know I was doped. They wanted to get the money. I ate dinner at my home in Flatbush that night before coming to New York to take part in the fight. I ate at about 5 o'clock and felt all right. Then I came over to New York. I don't remember anyone giving me anything to eat or drink between the time I entered the ring. But I was doped. I don't remember anything about what happened just before the fight. Oliver offered to put up the $10,000 in anybody's hands I'd say, but I refused.

"Thomas Murphy."

STRAIGHT TALK FROM COACH

Ten Eyck Says Duluth Can Win Race This Year.

"You can win if you will work hard," said James E. Ten Eyck to the D. B. C. oarsmen after the practice last evening.

"You have been getting it rubbed into you for a long time; you have been saying what fine crews St. Paul and Winnipeg have. Get out and work hard and you will have just as good.

"You have fine material, fine boats, and it is up to you to work and win. You have just as good a show as the other fellows. We are under a handicap because of the weather conditions, and every man in the squad should work the harder for this.

"Starting in with June 12, I am going to work you fellows mornings. You will sleep down here and will have a nice little spin before breakfast. It will do you lots of good and make you feel right for the rest of the day.

"Either win this year or quit rowing. It is up to you, and with the chances you have, you ought to make up your mind right at the present time that you are going to finish in front or just about die in the boat."

Iowa City, Iowa, June 2.—By defeating Iowa yesterday Minnesota won fourth place in the conference games. McGovern's three-bagger and home run netted four scores.

CONFERENCE MEET TRIALS

Elimination Events for Saturday's Big Contest, Are Being Held.

320 Athletes Representing Nineteen Colleges Gather in Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 2.—Elimination events for the eleventh annual meet of the Western Intercollegiate conference athletic association were held this afternoon on Northrop field.

Over 320 athletes, representing nineteen colleges, arrived today and yesterday to participate in the elimination events today and the meet proper tomorrow afternoon.

The following institutions were represented: University of Wisconsin, State University of Iowa, Purdue university, University of Minnesota, Northwestern university, University of Illinois, University of Indiana, University of Chicago, Notre Dame university, South Dakota State college, University of Missouri, Iowa State college, Ohio State university, Oberlin college, University of California, University of North Dakota, Kansas university, Coe college and Morningside college.

The preliminary heats in the dashes were run off this afternoon, the winners of the first two places in each qualifying for the final heats tomorrow afternoon. No qualifying trials were held for the distance runs or the field events as the entire field will compete in these events.

Notre Dame university, winner of last year's meet, is the favorite contender for first honors again this year but the supporters of the University of Chicago say their athletes will give all others the hardest kind of a contest. It is the general opinion, however, that this year's meet will be won by a closer margin than last year and that the teams will be more closely bunched.

Among the athletes who competed today and will compete tomorrow are several record holders and it is freely predicted that a number of new conference records and even new world's records will be made at the meet tomorrow. Dr. George K. Hermann was the referee and Martin A. Delaney, starter.

PITCHER BLANCKE HAS ARRIVED

Clay Blancke, the pitcher who worked with the Sox last season, arrived this morning and is ready for work. Blancke is accounted one of the best twirlers in the league, and if his arm is right, and he says it is, he should prove one of the strongest members of the staff.

It is very probable that Blancke will be seen in one of the games against Superior. The Superior series starts tomorrow afternoon at Hislop park.

AMERICAN TEAM WINS

But English Challengers for Polo Cup Show Surprising Strength.

Second Match of the Series Will Be Played Monday.

New York, June 2.—The American grip on the international polo cup was given a lively shaking yesterday by the challenging English cavalry officials, who in the first of the matches for the trophy outplayed and outhit the Meadowbrook four for three-quarters of the match, only to be outridden by the defenders until the score finally stood 4½ goals to 3 in favor of America.

As the Americans were five to one favorites, the strength of the English team astonished the big crowd and the game was replete with thrills for the greatest attendance of expert polo ists ever seen in this country. The second match will be played on Monday, for neither team cared to renew hostilities on Saturday after yesterday's hard struggle.

Meadowbrook scored five goals, principally through the great riding of Devereaux Milburn, while Lieut. A. Noel Edwards drove the ball four times between the American goal posts, but three fouls for crossing cut each score, the Americans by a half and the Englishmen by a full goal.

It was a keenly contested game and played faster than was anticipated after a heavy rain. Throughout three-quarters of sixty minutes of actual play, the pace was set by the English officers and the ease with which they scored goals, especially in the fifth period, caused amazement.

Until they rallied in the sixth period, the much talked-of team work of the Meadowbrook quartet was lacking, while the two Waterbury forwards seemed nervous and uncertain. J. M. Waterbury came two choppers, the first one a few seconds after play was started. On the other hand, the English challengers, after hiding their ability for several weeks, broke forth as stars and uncovered a game that was surprisingly effective especially in the soft dribbling taps that almost invariably preceded a long drive out. Their display of team work also was a revelation.

In the seventh period Milburn stiffened the American offense, dashing into the game and leaving Whitney to defend the goal. This turned the tide and his two goals with that of L. Waterbury brought final American success.

Umpire Suspended.

New York, June 2.—Announcement was made from National league headquarters today that Umpire Jack Doyle had been temporarily released from duty "for not knowing the rules." The official announcement runs—and that Robert Emslie, who has been acting as an extra umpire will be for the present in his place."

Manager Dahlen of the Brooklyn club has been fined $25 for an argument with the umpire in the morning game on Decoration day.

EFFICIENT HEAD NEEDED

Representative T. Kneeland Would Create Department of Public Domain.

Advocates Constitutional Convention as Means of Furthering Development.

Thomas Kneeland of Minneapolis, representative in the state legislature, spoke at the development association meeting today on "Development of Public Domain." He said:

"In the several states of the Union as well as in the federal government there is a restless undercurrent of thought breaking out at times with vehemence and threatening to dissolve old party lines. The line of cleavage exists on many great public questions and policies including not only the tariff and trusts but as to the proper management and disposal of our federal public domain and even the continuance of our form of representative government. These policies are created and fostered by two powerful antagonistic forces—the progressive and constructive. Although, perhaps, not so clearly defined, a similar division exists in this state with reference to the proper control and disposal of its public domain. It seemingly is not confined to the diverse views of individuals and state officials but enters the legislative halls and is a dominant factor in the enactment of laws touching the control or disposition of the public lands, mines and water-powers of the state. The conservative group adheres strongly to the laisses-faire doctrine and carry it to the extreme of thinking that Influentia is not only well enough but the best possible solution of the problem of development. In other words, it is thought that the public lands will naturally and without any encouragement through laws or the administration thereof be settled and improved and that nothing can be gained by any progressive measures hastening the process. This view is not confined to Southern Minnesota alone, but many influential persons in the northern part of the state—both in and out of the legislature—seem to be infected with it.

REPRESENTATIVE THOMAS KNEELAND

Sold At Random.

"Indeed, this conservatism has been carried to such an extreme in the making and administration of the laws that public lands are sold in a dispersed fashion without reference to settlement or improvement, thus ignoring the most obvious principle in economics of building up a community and enhancing the values of surrounding lands and also augmenting the wealth of the state through production from the lands disposed of. This, too, at only a small advance over the constitutional minimum price of $5 per acre, and only in rare instances to actual settlers. For example, of the 5,500 odd acres sold in Koochiching county during the past three years—including 1911, heralded in the newspapers as a very successful sale—it is asserted that only one piece was sold to an actual settler. This is the whole tendency of existing laws and their administration which seems to have been aided rather than thwarted by the laws of the last session providing for more frequent sales and abolishing the requirements for fencing and cultivation. Frequency of sales should be coupled with conditions of settlement and improvement and the tracts to be sold should be selected after an expert soil survey, determining their character and value. A classification of the different kinds of lands with prices fixed according to the value of each should be made and kept open for examination at all times by the public and prospective settlers. Then in the selection of tracts for sale the primary object should be the concentration of settlement with a view of building up communities and thus insure the construction of roads and other public improvements. This also would create a social life so essential to long habitation in the woods of Northern Minnesota. For it must be remembered that much of the public domain, especially in the central north and northeastern part of the state, is essentially a wilderness. Of the 3,000,000 acres unsold there are $36,250.28 in Koochiching county, of which 652,840 acres are swamp land; 522,743 in St. Louis county, of which 253,560 are swamp land; 255,339.06 in Itasca county, of which 135,000 acres are swamp, making a total acreage of 1,614,333.44 in these three counties alone, of which 1,041,400 acres are swamp.

Swamp Land Acreage.

"The total acreage of unsold swamp land in the state is 1,515,906.14. No valuation is placed thereon by the state auditor, but it is interesting to note that he values the 950,868.42 acres of unsold school lands at $5,140,338.11, and this does not include any part of the 600,000 acres of swamp and indemnity school lands to be hereafter received from the general government. If we add to this the value of the swamp lands and the untold millions of tons of ore that may be hidden therein some idea of the importance of conserving the same may be conceived.

"It is feared, however, in many quarters that the state is releasing its control over the most valuable portion of the public domain—including its water powers—without receiving anything like commensurate compensation. The waste and losses of timber from illegal cutting, under-measurements and forest fires run into the millions. Even its expenditures, principally for drainage and irrigation, subserve no public interests. Aside from benefit to railroads and a few individual purchasers of lands along the same, mostly for speculation, what but harm to the state results from the construction of miles upon miles of ditches through the muskegs of Northern Minnesota—remote from settlement—leaving the adjoining lands dry and uncultivated so as to be itself a food for fire and a menace to public and private forests.

Bureau Is Helpless.

"Then, again, under existing laws the immigration bureau is comparatively helpless. The railroads can do more for Montana and the Far West in a week than this bureau for Minnesota in a year. Immigrants induced to come here seeking for bread receive only a stone—returning home disappointed, contagion of dissatisfaction is spread so as to deter future immigration. Until a soil survey and classification of the lands are made and a business plan established for their disposal, further expenditures by the state for either drainage or immigration will be a total waste. The legislature taking this view in the last session reduced the appropriations accordingly. But strange to say, it failed to pass any vital constructive legislation to remedy the conditions. Even the joint resolution to appoint a committee to investigate and report needed legislation at the next session, and the one proposing an amendment to the constitution divesting the state auditor of the power of sale and appraisal and devolving it on a state administrator—although passed by the house—failed in the senate; whereas, a bill creating a new office for deputy at a salary of $2,500 to sell and appraise lands easily passed both houses and became a law—although only of minor importance.

"Ways That Are Dark."

"The ways of legislation, especially in the senate, are certainly mysterious. Why the one bill should have been pressed to enactment and the others left in limbo is a proper subject for inquiry. Perhaps the blame for failure to pass a general public domain bill attaches largely to this association in not preparing a bill for the beginning of the session and pressing it to enactment. The association as such did not seem to be represented at all. So far as it was concerned the whole work devolved upon your Messrs. Craig, Hughes and Mackenzie, whose time was largely engrossed by reapportionment. No funds to secure a competent man to prepare a bill were provided them. With Mr. Spooner of Morris, who took an active interest in the development of Northern Minnesota, we had several conferences in which the deans of the Colleges of Mines and Agriculture joined. A tentative form of bill was agreed on conforming somewhat to the suggestions of your Mr. Craig at the Brainerd convention. We had no time to draw a bill but through the kind offices of Duluth citizens Mr. Craig was authorized to secure a competent lawyer who promised to do so but failed at the last moment. Near the close of the session a bill was prepared which I introduced and is known as H. F. 1146. It was recommended for passage by the committee and made a special order for the last night of the session but was not reached because of premature adjournment of the house.

"Having as it did the support of Mr. Spooner and others from the Central West and also good support in the senate, we felt assured that if it had been prepared for introduction earlier in the session it would have became a law. The bill avoids all constitutional objections and not only remedies many defects in existing laws, but provides an entirely new method for their administration.

"One general commissioner, appointed by the governor with the consent of the senate, is made administrator of the public domain. Subordinate to and created by him are six separate departments: First, Agriculture and immigration; second, lands and drainage; third, timber and log survey; fourth, mines; fifth, game and fish; sixth, waters and water powers.

"The following boards and commissions are abolished: Drainage, timber surveyors general, immigration, reclamation and game and fish; and their powers and duties are devolved upon the commissioner of public domain. The commissioner is directed to make a survey and classification of state lands as to soil, timber, minerals and water powers, giving priority to agricultural lands lying in contiguous tracts near settlements. He is empowered to clear and drain desirable tracts and add the cost thereof to the selling price of lands benefited. He is required to report such lands as he finds desirable for sale to the auditor who is to sell same only to actual settlers and as directed by the commissioner.

"The deans of the colleges of mines and agriculture are to co-operate in matters touching their departments. Except as in the bill provided, existing laws are continued and enforced by the commissioner. He takes the place of all the boards abolished and has complete charge of the public domain except the naked acts of sale and appraisal left in the hands of the state auditor by the Constitution.

"It was intended to include forestry as a department in the domain bill, but as several of us had already spent much time in the preparation of a forestry bill regarded as a model and its passage was assured, we concluded not to hazard its enactment by delay.

"The general design of the so-called public domain bill was to place all branches of the public domain under one responsible head and to insure an efficient, scientific administration of the same. It would have revolutionized the present lame, defective system both in respect to settlement and income to the state by the establishment of a scientific basis of values on the lands, as well as prevent the unceasing waste going on in timber districts. The soil survey and classification provided for in the bill are indispensable to any adequate utilization of the resources of the state. It is also essential that there be an efficient, responsible head created to take immediate charge of the hundreds of contests pending touching the titles to lands as between the state and federal government which by mere dereliction may be lost to the state.

"Time and circumstances are ripe for such a law. As stated by the governor in his message and confirmed by the auditor in his report, the ordinary routine work in their offices necessitate the immediate unloading from their shoulders of the business relating to the public domain to which they can give but scant attention and as to which in the nature of things they can become only superficially informed. Supervision of the lands and mines now largely devolves upon the auditor who in his regular office business is charged with the duty of auditing accounts representing about $15,000,000 yearly in addition to his other duties too numerous to mention; besides, the duties of auditing being wholly foreign to the handling of a large land, timber and mining business, efficiency in both is unlikely to be united in the same man.

Governor Is a Busy Man.

"The governor states that he is an active member of not less than sixteen boards, some of which handle millions of money. In matters relating to the public domain alone, he, in common with the auditor is a member of the board of immigration, drainage commission, timber and investment boards. He necessarily pleads of the drainage, mining and timber business ignorance, because neither an expert therein nor with time to devote to their study. With a drainage board composed of the governor, auditor and secretary of state, each overcrowded with his other duties, no wonder there needed to be a drainage investigation and still greater wonder that it resulted in only a whitewash.

"Each of the departments demands at its head a well-equipped expert who can devote his whole time and energy thereto, and over all, the commissioner must be a man of great business capacity devoted to the public welfare, and with judgment in the selection of his subordinates. In this way only can the state realize on its resources anything commensurate with their actual worth.

Constitutional Convention.

"Whether this can be accomplished without revolution in the entire political regime of the state—legislative as well as administrative—is a grave question, for on all other political lines conservative and predatory interests are ever on the guard to check any radical innovation. For the last two legislative sessions they have succeeded in killing the proposition for a constitutional convention which is the first essential to any broad constructive legislation in state development. Without it no internal improvement can be inaugurated. In 1881 the people adopted a constitutional amendment entirely diverting the proceeds of the sales of swamp lands from the purposes to which they were consecrated under the Federal grant, to-wit, the reclamation of the same. Ever since, you people of Northern Minnesota have had to bear the burden of a wilderness much of which might have been changed into a garden, if you had not been so unjustly robbed of your own. At the last session I presented to the public lands committee of the house a resolution drawn by your Mr. McPartlin to do away with the iniquity but it did not get a reception warranting its introduction. Some action should be taken in reference thereto early in the next session. Even a moiety of the proceeds would be a great boon to this section and by enhancement of the value of the unsold lands benefit the state at large.

Sale of Bonds.

"Another matter of special interest to your section was the failure of the senate to finally pass the bill providing for the sale of the foreign 3 per cent bonds now held by this state. There are now filed hundreds of applications for loans with the state investment board which it cannot fill and this bill would have provided the necessary funds to loan at 4 per cent interest to your newly formed municipalities and school districts and have given the state an increase in interest of about $50,000 yearly—or $500,000,000 in a decade. The bill passed the house, and the senate once—readily, but on motion for reconsideration in the latter, coming from some secret underground influence, the bill was finally lost.

"So, the Spooner waterway bill H. F. 103 authorizing investigation as to the feasibility of canals running through the northwestern part of the state and from the Twin Cities to Lake Superior and incidentally developing water powers therefrom and providing adequate drainage, was lost in the senate after passing by an overwhelming majority in the house. It is claimed that this as also his water power bill H. F. 1146 was slaughtered in the senate by the active interference of large special interests which, as our recent national idol says, should be eliminated from the political life of the nation.

"These defects should be remedied in the next session. To accomplish this, your association must lay out a complete program beforehand and take an active, aggresive stand in not only formulating but pressing to enactment legislation of interest to your section.

Good Men Needed.

"Not only must your legislators be the best and brainiest your section can furnish, but they will need all the support from the outside that can be given them. Then with the able assistance of such men as your Messrs. Craig, Mitchell and Mackenzie from this section, Madison and Robertson from the Northwest, Spooner and Holmberg from the Central West; with the aid of the Twin Cities from the South, needed legislation should be easily secured.

"And it is worth while. If, as stated by Mr. Iverson in a recent conversation with me, the public domain of the state will yield $100,000,000 under the present antique method of realization, its value would be doubled under an efficient business administration. Its resources in mines, timber, with reforestration, water powers and agriculture are almost unlimited. They await only the process of development. This country with its beautiful lakes, numerous streams, valuable mines and woodlands will become one of the rich beauty spots of the world."

LAG BEHIND EUROPEANS

American Farmers Lack Thorough Knowledge of Soil Conservation.

Prof. A. R. Whitson Addresses Delegates to Development Congress.

Prof. A. R. Whitson of the University of Wisconsin spoke on "Conserving Soil Fertility" at this morning's session of the development convention. He said:

Mr. Whitson spoke as follows:

"No greater problem ever presents itself to a people than that of its food supply. The importance of this problem at the present time is universally felt. The high cost of living is the subject of discussion in the newspapers, in our legislatures, and in congress. The factors which influence the cost of living are many and complex, but in the ultimate analysis the all-controlling factor is the productivity of the soil. And productivity of the soil depends on three factors; first on its fertility, second climatic conditions, and third on the thoroughness and skill with which the soil is tilled.

"The development of a large population in the western hemisphere has taken place under new conditions in each of these respects. An enormous territory with the wonderful fertility of virgin soils and a favorable climate has been developed by a vigorous people during a time when the invention of entirely new kinds of farm machinery has made human labor in the cultivation of the soil many times as effective as it had been at any time in the world's previous history. These conditions have up to the present, produced an abundance of food and clothing and should continue to do so for generations to come. In this very wealth of natural resources however, and in man's control of nature's forces, there lurk serious dangers. The farmers who have moved westward with the advancing wave of civilization have formed their ideas of soil fertility from their experience on virgin soils. It is very rare indeed that a farm is found anywhere in this country which has been in the same family more than fifty years. The agricultural experience in the region east of the Missouri where the rainfall is normally sufficient to meet the demands of most crops has induced farmers to believe that such conditions prevail indefinitely westward and the larger rainfall of occasional short periods of years has encouraged them in this belief. Sooner or later a large amount of suffering must undoubtedly result from the extension of agriculture over a region in which the rainfall is too small normally to support such agriculture. And lastly the development of farm machinery has permitted a single farmer to do the work which formerly required from five to ten to accomplish, thus permitting the development of a large non-agricultural or city population.

Too Few Farmers.

"The great part of the energy of this country has for years been devoted to the development of manufacturing enterprises of great complexity which has enhanced the growth of the city population. This development has led to a condition in which an enormous population in the cities must be supported by a much smaller population in the rural districts and the limit of capacity of this rural population to support the urban population will undoubtedly, when it is reached, be reached with considerable abruptness. The commercial and manufacturing tendencies of this people are such as to lead to the development of the non-agricultural population to the very extreme and only when a larger rural population is absolutely necessary to the production of food will the relatively rapid growth of the cities in proportion to the country be checked. The checking of so strong a tendency will undoubtedly be accompanied by very considerable suffering. For these reasons the people who are today leaders in the development of public opinion should do all within their power to encourage the growth of the rural population. It is true that the present agricultural population can support a somewhat greater urban population than now exists as is shown by the continued exportation of a considerable amount of agricultural products. This exportation, however, is relatively diminishing and ere long must entirely cease. When it does cease, the rural population must begin to increase or lack of food will result.

Conserve the Soil.

"Let us then briefly consider the ways in which the fertility of the soil can be conserved and increased, our agriculture adapted to climate and a more efficient and numerous farming population developed.

"It is well known that the average yields of most crops grown by the European farmer are from two to three times the average in this country. The European farmer who has inherited the farm on which he works from his ancestors knows well that permanent fertility of his soil is dependent on a number of essential conditions. He knows that he must maintain a considerable amount of organic matter in his soil and that he cannot do this except by turning under vegetable matter in some form or of leaving the ground in pasture during a definite period in each rotation. The American farmer knows practically nothing about the conditions under which humus or organic matter can be retained. He is told in the Agricultural Press that the use of barnyard manure is all that is necessary for this purpose, while it has been abundantly demonstrated that much more is necessary. The European farmer knows that he cannot continuously sell the products of his farm without in some way returning the essential elements of the soil to supply plant growth. The farmers of Minnesota and other portions of the West have for years sold wheat and with this large quantities of phosphorus without considering that they are reducing the quantity of that most essential element, which always exists in small amounts in the soil. The European farmer has learned that each different class of soils has its own crop adaptations and each has its own fertilizer requirements. The American farmer undertakes to grow any crop on any soil and treats all soils alike. The fact that marshland does not produce good crops has led to a very widespread opinion that it is of relatively little value, while the European farmer has discovered that this same soil is abundantly rich in the most costly element, nitrogen, and by the use of moderate quantities of the mineral elements, phosphorus and potash, only can be made remely productive.

Difference in Soils.

"It must be distinctly recognized that every class of soils is a law unto itself, and it must be studied carefully in the field and the chemical condition must be determined in the laboratory before we are in a position to know how to maintain it in a permanently fertile condition. All this means a great deal of hard study before we can hope to understand our local conditions. An illustration can be seen in the large area of clay loam soil of North Central Wisconsin which is spoken of as the hardwood belt. The soils of this area are of splendid crushing and for a few years after clearing and breaking show a high degree of fertility. Such abundant crops of grass and clover are grown that they are spoken of as the home of the grass and clover. A few years of cropping on such lands, however, has very generally led to the development of such a degree of acidity that it is difficult to get a good stand of clover on these lands. The use of lime in some form will be necessary before these crops can be grown successfully.

"The lands of Wisconsin bordering on the southern shore of Lake Superior have a heavy red clay soil. This same red clay covers a considerable area in the vicinity of Green Bay and Fox River valley and also along the shore of Lake Michigan. It is a somewhat difficult soil to manage physically, but when properly handled, can be made to produce large crops and is well adapted to small grains and grasses. The only respect in which it is at all deficient is in its supply of the element phosphorus. Its content of this element is considerably below the average of other clay loam soils of the state. With a view to determining whether an application of phosphate fertilizer would be profitable, experiments have been conducted on the Ashland sub-station during the past five years in which two plats have been compared, one treated with barnyard manure alone, and the other with barnyard manure supplemented with rock phosphate. In these experiments the yields of the plat receiving the phosphate treatment have been from fifteen to fifty per cent greater than those on the plat receiving manure alone, thus showing that the deficiency of phosphorus indicated by the chemical analysis is supported in practical experience and that the highest development of this type of soil can only be reached when its weak point is distinctly recognized. The use of phosphate on these soils will be very profitable.

Marsh Soils.

"In the management of marsh soils great progress has been made. On the Portage county drainage district in Central Wisconsin last year, yields of thirty to thirty-two bushels of wheat per acre and of eighty to ninety bushels of oats and two to three tons of mixed timothy and alsike clover hay were harvested, while on other similar land in the same section of the state unprofitable small yields were secured. The difference in the returns may have been due in part to inherent differences in soil fertility, but were unquestionably to a considerable extent the result of expert management on the one hand and of unskillful management on the other. Experience running over five years on four different marsh farms in Wisconsin has abundantly demonstrated that such lands can be profitably cultivated when their special requirements and adaptations are recognized. Moderate applications of potash and phosphate fertilizers, costing from $2 to $3.50 per acre have made it possible for these previously waste lands to produce 150 to 200 bushels of potatoes and two to four tons of excellent hay per acre and good yields of other crops to which this land is adapted.

"The improvement of sandy soils requires another special line of treatment and their special need is for the development of a larger supply of vegetable matter or humus, both to increase the fertility and to add to the water holding capacity. But, how few farmers understand at all fully the methods adapted to the increase of humus in sandy soils.

"The drainage of clay and marsh lands is another line along which our farmers have much to learn. Relatively few are careful even to open up the dead furrows or to dig ditches in such a way as to aid in the removal of the surface water, much less to know how tiles sould be placed to effect thorough under-drainage.

"Erosion of the surface soil is far more serious than is ordinarily realized. Seldom is the farmer attracted by erosion unless this developes to such an extent as to produce washouts which interfere with the cultivation of the field, but greater damage comes from that slow surface wash which removes the organic matter of the surface soil without the development of such water channels. Only when it is realized that on such lands some adequate provision must be made for removing the water in such a way as to prevent erosion will this difficulty be met. These are a few of the lines which make it evident that we are just beginning the study of the conditions that determine the productivity of our land.

"There is abundant evidence that the yelds of most of our crops can be doubled by an intensive system of farming in which all of the necessary conditions are fulfilled. But these improvements imply not simply more knowledge of what should be done on the part of the farmer, but a greater number of laborers and the use of more efficient machinery in its execution.

"In this connection it is important to note a great difference which exists between farming on the one hand and modern manufacturing, commerce or trade on the other hand. The wonderful advances in manufacture, commerce and trade which constitute our modern civilization are largely the result of two things; organization and invention. The labor which can be done by man and beast has been greatly increased by the invention of the engine and dynamo. But an even more powerful agent has been developed in the business organizations which have grown up in the employment of these new forces.

"Agriculture has so far been relatively little benefited by either of these two agents. The invention of farm machinery has done a great deal to increase the farmer's efficiency, but in no sense can this machinery be said to have reached that perfection in detail which is seen in many machines in use in factories and the power of organization is still practically unfelt in agriculture.

The power of organization lies in the specialization which it makes possible. Think of the specialization of a great organization such as that of a railroad system. From the engineer with his transit in finding the most practicable route to the train dispatcher who directs the movement of trains; from the president to the laborer who sets the rails. The work of the system is done by men each of whom has his definite part to perform. Hundreds of specialists contribute to the efficiency of the organization.

The Business of Farming.

"Now think of the business of farming. Here one man must do a hundred things. He has need to know as much of chemistry as a doctor, as much of mechanics as a railway engineer and as much of business methods as the manager of a department store. This is, of course, impossible and some method of securing to agriculture the advantages of organization must be found.

"But, do you ask, must large tracts of land be brought under one ownership as in the case of railroad and other corporations. The reply is that either in that way or in some other must the advantages of organization be secured to agriculture. To avoid the development of large estates such as those of Europe with their system of peasantry and to maintain the individual ownership of the small farm has been the hope of American statesmen.

"But, those who are familiar with the agriculture of Central Europe today know that the large estates are far more productive than the small farms. They can afford to employ experts to operate their machinery, experts to combat the diseases of plants and animals and experts to buy and sell. The small farmer is being drawn to the city to become a part of the great manufacturing systems of those centers. Unless we in America can find some way to secure the benefits of organization and still retain the small farm it will in all probability disappear. The hope of the small farm today seems to lie in co-operative organization and in direct aid by the state through the experiment stations and agricultural education.

"The work of the experiment stations has already been of great service to agriculture, but its possibilities have scarcely been dreamed. Properly trained men are still rare and the salaries paid are too small to attract men of the highest ability. The work of director of a state experiment station is as important as that of a railroad president and his compensation should be proportionate. The opportunities for the improvement of agriculture by a thoroughly organized system of agricultural extension work directed from the central station are enormous.

"And it must be distinctly recognized that the benefits of such state aid are not for the farmer alone, but that the improved farming which it makes possible benefits the city as well as the country. It is in no sense class aid.

"To make possible this highly developed system of public service improvement in public opinion must take place in two directions: First, the sense of duty in the discharge of public work must increase and second, the rights of the public as outweighing those of the individual must be recognized.

"If it becomes possible to develop as high a degree of efficiency in conduction the public work as shown in that of private corporations, the possibility of adding agriculture through state organizations will be immensely increased. We believe there is already a high degree of efficiency in the work of the experimental stations, but it can undoubtedly be improved.

Rights of the Public.

"An even more important matter is the recognition of the superior rights of the public over those of the individual.

"There are many lines of improvement connected with agriculture in which this principle must be distinctly recognized before advance can be made. The principle has already been well established in the use of water in irrigation in the West and is being gradually worked out in connection with drainage of lands in the humid regions. This same principle, however, must in time be greatly extended. It must be distinctly recognized that the ownership of agricultural lines does not carry with it the right to seriously reduce the permanent fertility either by neglect or by intentional exhaustion. The maintainance of the race depends so completely on the conservation of our agricultural lines that it would be simply race suicide to permit the present generation of farmers if they were disposed to do so, to rob the soil of its natural store of fertility and by so doing change nature's wealth into a portable form which can be removed from the land. To this extent, the idea of absolute ownership of land by individuals must in time be abandoned. There are certain rights which the public holds which requires the proper management of these lands and the maintainance of their fertility. This same fertility applies to a variety of problems with which agriculture has to deal which it is not our purpose here to discuss. Among them, however, we might mention the inauguration of laws to control diseases in livestock, a good illustration of which is seen in the management of tuberculosis.

"We believe it preferable to secure this high sense of duty to the public and to future generations by education rather than by compulsion as far as practicable and would not, therefore, deem it wise to undertake at present by direct legislation to compel farmers to protect the fertility of their soil by replacing a pound of every essential element removed from the soil in crops as has been undertaken in some states. But this result must in some way be reached.

"Another great force for increasing the efficiency of those engaged in agricultural pursuits lies in the education of the country children. While it is true that there should be to some extent a rotation from country to city and from city to country, and there should be no thought of in any way attempting to prevent farm boys who have a marked inclination toward any other pursuit from leaving the farm, it must still be recognized that as an equilibrium between rural and city population is developed, the number of boys leaving the farms will decrease and that the great majority of farmers will be men who are raised on farms. This will in itself greatly increase the efficiency of our farming population. It is a well known principle of pedagogy that the child learns vastly more in the first few years of his life than is commonly supposed though largely unconsciously both to himself and to his parents. When adequate provision has been made for the instruction in agriculture in the common and high schools of the country, it will be found that the efficiency of our farmers has been greatly increased. There is to be no thought of limiting the course of study offered to farm boys to agriculture or to any other so-called practical line. The country boy has as much right and as much need of the widest knowledge of history, mathematics and pure science as the children of any other class and opportunities should be given them for this education, but it is well known among educators that the great difficulty is keeping boys in school as they begin to develop into men is because they do not realize the distinct practical advantage of an education. Nature develops in them the feeling that they should begin to take part in the practical work of the world, that they should become producers and only by seeing to it that part of the curricula offered them consists of studies which have a distinctly practical value can they be led to go further in the educational system. It is for this reason that the introduction of agriculture in the rural and high schools of the state is a matter of such vast importance. Minnesota should be congratulated on the advanced position she has already taken in this matter. It should extend until every public school in the state from the primary to the university includes agricultural work of the grade adapted to the age of the students.

"The last item having an important bearing on the improvement of agricultural conditions and therefore on the conservation of the soil to which I would call your attention, is that of the general attractiveness of rural life. It is well known that the city population is rapidly increasing while in many states the country population is actually decreasing and there can be no question that the high cost of living is due in considerable extent to this marked tendency. A large part of the energy of the people is being used in the production of what should be regarded as luxuries rather than necessities. This is due to a great extent to the greater attraction of life in the city than in the country and to the opportunities offered to shrewd business managers of exploiting this tendency along a multiplicity of manufacturing lines. To such an extreme has this come, that the actual cost of our food is much more largely determined by the cost of preparing it in final form than of growing the agricultural products from which it is manufactured. Of the fifteen cents which we pay for a package of breakfast food the farmer receives but one or two cents for the grain which contains the entire food value represented in the package. Of the eight or nine cents which the city resident pays per quart for milk, the farmer on the average receives not more than one-third, the remaining two-thirds being expended in the cost of distribution. There is an immense waste of energy in all this. The doubling of our rural population would in all probability be followed by a doubling of the supply of the agricultural products of the country.

"Probably nothing would have a greater economic result on all this relationship than the development of a distinctly higher rural life among larger numbers of people. Already movements are on foot which will tend to develop this, such as state aid in the construction of good roads, a system of package delivery, consolidated rural, elementary and high schools. Too great importance cannot be placed on these matters for they are matters in which not only the resident of the country but every citizen is interested and by which he is profoundly effected and there is probably no matter now before the American people of greater importance than that of doing everything which can be done to make country life attractive. For it must be distinctly recognized that the conservation of soil, its efficient management and the economical distribution of food to the people of the country as a whole are problems which are inseparably connected with those of education and of life in all its aspects."

NEWSPAPER BOOSTING

President of Editorial Association Tells What It May Accomplish.

Says Aid of Press Is Enlisted in Every Progressive Undertaking.

"Newspaper Boosting" was the subject of Harold Knutson, president of the Minnesota Editorial association.

Mr. Knutson said:

"Mr. President, delegates and ladies and gentlemen:

"The word 'Boosting' had lain dormant in the dictionary from the time of its invention until rescued from oblivion by the newspapers. Mankind had been waging an up-hill fight for progress until the press took up the cudgels. From that time the aid of the press has been invoked in every great and important undertaking.

"When Secretary Mackenzie extended to me an invitation to address what is perhaps the greatest boosting organization the Northwest has ever known, I felt that he had not only honored me but also the Northern Minnesota Editorial association, beside affording me an opportunity to speak upon a subject upon which I have very strong convictions.

"The two organizations embrace identically the same territory. Both are enlisted in the same case. With both, 'Boosting with Northern Minnesota' is a creed that almost amounts to fanaticism. This splendid body of boosters, this Northern Minnesota Development association, in the one year of its existence, has done more toward advertising our wonderful resources than any other single agency had done in all time before. Behind you, in every charge against prejudice and sectionalism, you have been ably aided by the press of Northern Minnesota. They have made your cause their cause; they have made your fight their fight. You have set a pace unsurpassed by any similar organization in America, but you must agree with me that the press has stood shoulder to shoulder with you at every turn.

Optimist and Pessimist.

"Not long ago I met an old acquaintance and by the way of greeting asked how affairs were with him. 'All right,' he replied, 'business is looking up, the drouth has been broken, the legislature has adjourned, this is a beautiful day, a beautiful world, and everything is all right.' What a blessing such a man is to a community. Everything, living and without life, is affected by the spirit radiated by such a personality. Price of real estate goes up when he walks down the street. On the other hand there is the pessimist. Cold, sour, depressing—trust him to find the flaw if there be one; leave it to him to unearth gloom, sadness and the bitter, listen to him and in spite of yourself you begin to feel that the world is going to the demnition bow-wows; that all that is worth while has been lost or destroyed; that the only good days are the days gone by; where once there was integrity now all is dishonest; that no man but what has his price; that virtue is a thing of the past, and if there be any good in anyone or anything, it is so deeply hidden as to be out of sight. These are the types, by nature diametrical opposites. As with individuals so with business concerns which reflect the business spirit of the men at the helm. Some are positive, constructive helps to the community and state while others discourage and depress. It may be said that every institution as well as every individual is either constructive or destructive in his or its influence.

"To me has been assigned the task of pointing out how we, as newspaper men, may help in the upbuilding and development of the great territory in which this association is interested. And how vast an empire! And how rich in resources! Reaching from the Red River of the North to the shores of Lake Superior, and from the forty-sixth parallel to the Canadian line lies a territory almost untouched, much of it absolutely in its primitive state, just waiting to respond to the magic wand of the pioneer who has worked such marvels in the older portions of the state. Here we have what is probably the greatest wealth in the world. Unaided by the hand of man, nature has produced here some of the most beautiful and useful woods; the most nourishing grasses grow wild and the rich soil has power and capacity to yield the most bountiful of harvests. But nature bestows her bounties only upon him who by his untiring labor strives to win her favors. For centuries the Indian roamed over this land and obtained for himself only his food and raiment. Prosperity and development comes only when man comes, and by his pluck and daring, intelligence and enterprise, he forces nature to open her gigantic store houses, filled to the overflowing with her bounties. To develop this land of our interest men are needed. Strong men with a purpose and a will, men with far-seeing eyes who can draw aside the veil hiding the future and thus catch glimpses of a land filled with prosperity and happiness, the result of energy, faith and intellect of the sturdy pioneers who as if by magic have transformed a wild, untilled, unused empire of primeval forest into a land of comfort and golden opportunity. But as yet Northern Minnesota is unsettled and the great need of today is for men to develop her resources. Right here is where the men of the newspaper profession can be of inestimable value. Let us first come to a realization of the marvelous opportunities this empire offers, then let us tell the world what we have, talk it, write it, preach it in every issue and on every day between publications. Let us keep our eyes and ears open to learn of the progress and success of those already on the ground and by systematic publicity scatter broadcast the news. There is no one within the sound of my voice who does not know that it is only ignorance of the facts, a failure to advertise and make known to the world the magnificence of the opportunities this empire offers to the settlers that has prevented Northern Minnesota from being well settled, today.

Growth Retarded.

"The growth of Northern Minnesota has not been rapid. Its development has been retarded from the want of favorable legislation and naturally the very first efforts of Northern Minnesota boosters have been directed toward securing at the hands of the legislature such laws as would aid us in developing our resources. We have encountered as the first, and seemingly all-sufficient obstacle—want of just representation. We cannot hope to secure laws which will make this country attractive to the settler and investor if the section of the state most interested, is so blindly discriminated against as is Northern Minnesota at the present time. Until we secure the representation to which we are entitled our progress will be slow and vexatious.

"We must have every member in the senate and house to which we are justly entitled.

"Reapportionment is a prime necessity to Northern Minnesota.

"Let reapportionment continue to be the first demand of Northern Minnesota boosters, and of Northern Minnesota's boosting newspapers, ever remembering that it is only by unity of effort and concentration of activity that we can accomplish what we desire.

"However, while we are making our fight for reapportionment we must not lose sight of the other wants of Northern Minnesota. Among these none stands out more boldly than drainage. When proper drainage laws are placed upon our statute books we will see thousands of now useless acres of lowlands reclaimed and earning millions in wealth for the future home-makers of Northern Minnesota. We will be surprised how effective drainage laws, resulting as they surely will, in saving the wasted acres of our low lands, will divert emigration. For the past twelve years a steady stream of landseekers, which contained all too many of our sturdy citizens, has been pouring into Canada. Drain the low lands which are to be found in many places in this section of the state; drain them at as small an outlay as possible to the settler, yet effectively and according to the best and most scientific methods, give the landseekers who are passing through the very heart of our state the opportunity to make farms of these lands and you will divert the tidal wave of emigration from the Canadian Northwest to the great empire of Northern Minnesota.

Making Dynamite.

"Another subject of proper legislation for Northern Minnesota—and for that matter all Minnesota—is the so-called state manufacture of dynamite. Some years ago the state established at Stillwater a plant for manufacturing binding twine and the cheap twine which the farmers of Minnesota have thereby secured has been the means of saving them a vast sum of money. I believe that if the state of Minnesota would engage in the manufacture of dynamite and furnish it at cost to the settlers it would give a new impetus to the clearing of timber and cut-over lands. The grub hoe and stump-puller have outlived their usefulness. There is nothing more effective than dynamite in the clearing of land. The great draw-back to its use at the present time lies in its prohibitive cost. Place it within the reach of the man of small means and in ten years you will find fields of golden grain and luxuriant grasses where we now have vast acres of cut-over lands.

"Let the press of Northern Minnesota insist upon the enactment of this legislation at the hands of the next legislature. By continual publicity only, can we hope to win. Publicity means education and enlightenment—two forces that will drive prejudice and sectionalism to cover. While the press of Northern Minnesota has already done a great deal for the cause I feel that they are capable of greater things and that a great work lies before them. Let us all take increased devotion from this meeting and return to our homes with a renewed determination not to rest upon our arms until a complete victory shall have been won."

STRONG MEN ARE NEEDED

State Development Demands Best Thoughts of State's Best Men.

Senator Works Urges Warmer Feeling Between City and Country.

"State Development" was the subject of the speech by Senator S. D. Works at the development convention this morning. He said:

"The very great magnitude of the state renders development very difficult, and it demands the very best thoughts of her best men. It is not very difficult for the gardener to develop a small garden plat, for there can be grown the various crops for which the soil and climate are best adapted, but an imperious state like Minnesota which projects itself practically 400 miles into the nation with a variety of climates and commercial conditions, demands something of an effort to understand how it can all be developed to its highest possibilities as to productiveness and commercial life.

"It does not require any particular ability to fell the trees of our splendid forests, to cart away her vast beds of ore, or to turn the virgin soil and for a time raise dazzling crops, but to maintain her forests for present and future generations, to smelt her ore, and make our cities roar with the industries of our people, and to make her great farms increase in value and to produce vast crops should be the aim of every one who has the idea of development in mind. The condition of our state is one of tremendious reserve and while the south half of the state may be considered in a fairly well developed condition, yet the north half is largely an undeveloped domain at the present time. In a discussion of this subject it is impossible for us to get at it without a careful examination as to its needs at the present time.

SENATOR S. D. WORKS Of Mankato.

State as an Entity.

"Let us therefore take the state as an entity and compare us to her relations with her sister states of the republic and carefully examine into the things that we need above all for her development at the present. We need to educate the people of the South and the East. The old theory used to be that people moved westward along practically the same lines of latitude. That may possibly explain why the regions of the South were developed before our own regions. They moved westward across the Mississippi attracted by the fertilities of the soil of Kansas, Iowa and Nebraska and inevertedly the further westward they continued to extend they settled what seems to me the most undesirable region of the middle plateau and have overlooked the fertility and the conditions of Minnesota.

"I have even observed that certain people purporting to be the wisest of the Minnesota legislature have apparently had a very crude conception of the conditions of Minnesota, their own state. While speaking upon this matter of education it might be well if the people of our Twin Cities were educated to some extent as to the possibilities of Northern Minnesota. I have many times been impressed with the apparent lack of intelligence and understanding which they have. They have got in some quarters at any rate the idea that the only value Northern Minnesota has is to preserve the water sheds of the Mississippi river. Even the newspapers have often times suggested that there should be a vast forest preserve covering the very heart of Minnesota, which should remain so that the river would lose none of its power or glory. In other words, something to protect all this entire splendor with all its reserve to the one purpose of making the Mississippi navigable so that about once in four years a flat boat might be able to cast anchor in the splendid harbor of Minneapolis.

Need Better Railroads.

"We need better railroads. In this age of the world it is an impossible proposition to people the country without railroad facilities. Our people have been educated and they demand that they should have favorable locations as to railroads; otherwise they will not consider the settlement of any district. To our forefathers going into a region twenty-five to fifty miles from a railroad was considered no very serious hardship, but the people of the younger generation have more wisdom and possibly less strength and are not willing to do this. It may be an extremely presumptious thought to put yourself against the great railroads of the Northwest but I cannot help feeling that they have made a great mistake in their mad effort to cover every available inch of territory in the Dakotas to the neglect of to my mind, a far better region, ours at home. If the Great Northern can traverse the territory adjusted to our line and be able to pay dividends upon its stock in North Dakota, can it not do the same thing in Northern Minnesota and open up a vast region where housed can be planted and at present a rough territory converted into a veritable garden? In this connection we need not only better facilities but better railroad rates.

No Rates to Minnesota.

"You can go to any point in Iowa, Illinois or in fact any part covered by the so-called Western association and secure from them rates to Dakota, Montana, or Washington, but not a reduction of a penny to Minnesota. Some of our agents who have been bringing in people to the Red River valley have adopted a plan of securing rates to Grand Forks and then coming back into Minnesota to show Minnesota lands. James J. Hill is the greatest railroad builder of the state, if not of the nation. The state of Minnesota is greatly indebted to him for what he has done but James J. Hill is also greatly indebted to the state of Minnesota for what it has done for him and while I am not overly enthusiastic of the reciprocity of Canada I believe it should be used by Mr. Hill in relation with his own state. In connection with these rates are the freight rates which have hindered the development of our state.

Need Better Roads.

"We need a better system of public highways. I have traveled the greater part of every county in Northern Minnesota, and in no part of the world that I have ever visited is road building more hindered than in this region. As the population is sparse, consequently, the roads are in a fearfully crude condition. Draw a line east and west from Bagley to Duluth and there is a small protion of the country north of this where it is possible to travel with any comfort. The same condition is true in the counties of Cass, Crow Wing, Aitkin, Pine and Carlton. A settler who goes over ten miles away from the railroad is apt to be during the greater part of the year, marooned from his fellow men. While there may be foot paths through the woods the roads are hardly passable. We have a bill, the so-called Dunn law, recently passed, by which these conditions will be carefully investigated, but it will require a great deal of energy and a great deal of fight to put our road system into a condition that will be practical.

"We need a constitutional convention. We are spending $30,000 approximately to extend an immigration bureau, whose first duties are to explain and advertise the state. Should people become interested in the advertising and visit the state they will be coolly met with the proposition that while we have an immense amount of state lands the immigration commissioner has no power to sell this at any price or at any time and the best they can do will be to suggest to the would-be purchaser to examine the lands, and that at some time in the future he may have the opportunity of purchasing them at one of the public land sales. We need a system of public advertising. I believe that if I have goods to sell I must so set forth the value of these goods that the prospective purchaser will become interested and purchase my wares. We can hardly expect people to come into our state to make homes where the value of these homes is presented to them in such a way that it shall be attractive and the interest shown to such an extent that perforce he will become a purchaser.

"The mistake that has been made in many quarters concerning advertising of this state has been to advertise it as a fish and game preserve. The people of the South and East would naturally infer that it was valueless for any other purpose. Minnesota is a agricultural state, pure and simple. Whatever fish may swim in the waters or whatever game may rove or fly within its confines are simply incidents. I would a thousand times rather see a No. 1 hard wheat advertised than all the moose heads or big fish that can be found in the state. I believe her possibilities as a corn raising state are worth more than all the deer that roam in her forests as an attractive element for the prospective settler and home buyer.

"There should be something of the "get together" disposition manifested throughout the entire state. I am not in any sympathy with any mentioned feeling between the North and the South. I will be glad to see a warmer feeling between the cities and the country and when that can be brought about with the other matters mentioned, the development of our state would get to be rich in bounds and leaps so that not a part of the state, but the whole state from the Northwest to Fillmore county with time would prosper. Our railroads would boom with the fruits of the field and our factories taxed to their utmost capacity to supply the demands of our people."

MEETING OF DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION COMES TO CLOSE

the state, and especially to the northern part, are touched upon in the resolutions. Drainage, reclamation, good roads, agricultural education, advertisement of the state, and other matters were again brought forth and the association took a stand in regard to them.

Constructive work toward the aim of the association, the development and settlement of the lands of the northern part of the state, was started in the creation of an immigration bureau. Dissatisfied with inadequacy of the appropriation for the tsate immigration bureau and the consequent restrictions on its work, the association has decided to work independent of the state in advertising the resources of Minnesota and presenting its possibilities and advantages to prospective settlers now living in other states. The commission will engage an immigration commissioner, who will maintain an office in St. Paul and will carry on his work from that central point.

The Resolutions.

The resolutions committee was appointed at the session yesterday afternoon, and met immediately after the afternoon session. The organization was effected with C. A. Albright of Crow Wing county as chairman and Charles T. Kelley of Wadena county as secretary. The following sub-committees prepared the resolutions, which were adopted by the general committee this morning, and brought to the meeting shortly after noon:

Advertising and publicity—M. N. Koll, Cass county; C. F. Serline, Kanabec county; B. M. Hungerford, Aitkin county.

Good roads—J. S. Pardee, St. Louis county; F. J. McPartlin, Koochiching county; O. J. Johnson, Marshall county.

Education—A. R. Ritchie, Beltrami county; C. G. Selvig, Polk county; W. B. Mitchell, Stearns county.

Drainage and reclamation—A. K. Stauning, Roseau county; C. M. King, Itasca county; F. A. Walker, Carlton county.

Forestry—C. F. Serline, Kanabec county.

Preamble and compilation—C. A. Albright, Crow Wing county; John Dwan, Lake county; C. T. Kelley, Wadena county.

The change in the weather and business calls which took some of the delegates out of the city cut down the attendance at this morning's session, but about 400 people were gathered in the Armory when the speaking program began. Among those called out of the city was H. J. Maxfield of Wadena, president of the association, and M. N. Koll of Cass Lake, a member of the executive committee, presided at this morning's session.

Morning Speakers.

The speakers this morning were Thomas Kneeland of Minneapolis, who spoke on "Department of Public Domain," Senator S. D. Works of Mankato, who discussed "State Development," Harold Knutson of Foley, who talked on "Newspaper Boosting," and Prof. A. R. Whitson of the University of Wisconson, whose subject was "Conserving Soil Fertility." L. T. Sterling of Iron Mountain, Mich., who was on the program, was unable to come to Duluth.

The session was a protracted one and Prof. Whitson, the last speaker on the program, did not go on the platform until about noon. The delegates remained in session until the business of the convention was completed about 1:15 this afternoon. Although the attendance at today's session was somewhat smaller than that of yesterday, there was no decrease in enthusiasm. The speakers were frequently interrupted by applause, and the resolutions were adopted with a show of enthusiasm.

The weather disorganized the entertainment program arranged for the visitors. The boat ride was held yesterday afternoon on the U. S. S. Gopher, but a chill wind came up soon after the ship started for the trip around the horn, and many of the visitors were driven into the ward room by the cold. The steamer trip planned for last evening was abandoned, as was that planned to run to Two Harbors this afternoon. A number of the visitors went out in automobiles after the adjournment today to visit the Jean du Luth and other farms in the vicinity of the city.

The smoker at the Commercial club last night was one of the best sessions of the convention. Representative W. I. Nolan of Minneapolis, an entertainer who entertains, was the feature of the program. J. H. Beek of St. Paul, secretary of the Association of Commerce, addressed the gathering on the subject of the Northwest Land show, which will be held in St. Paul in December.

He told of the development of the sentiment for the land show and the calling of the developmnt congress, which was held at Helena last month. He pointed to the results accomplished for other states by land shows in Omaha and Chicago and said that similar results may be accomplished for the Northwest states by the land show in St. Paul.

Mr. Beek said that the land show will attract many visitors to St. Paul and that the opportunity for making a comprehensive exhibit of results of agricultural development should not be neglected. He said that every county in Minnesota should begin to prepare now to make an exhibit at the land show. The committee will meet in St. Paul next Monday and he urged the association to get into touch with the committee and formulate plans for a good exhibit of Northern Minnesota agricultural results.

having capitulated in the interest of a Democrat scheme of turning the investigation over to a sub-committee. This charge was based upon the fact that the author of the resolution adopted was Senator Martin, the Democratic leader.

"Mantle of Aldrich."

Mr. Bristow also claimed that the old guard Republicans had formed an alliance with the Democrats and that they had placed the "mantle of Aldrich" upon the shoulders of Martin.

That the committee on privileges and elections had shirked its duty in the former investigation was charged unreservedly by the supporters of the La Follette resolution.

Senator Lea of Tennessee said he would no more turn the case over to the elections committee for another trial than he would submit to a second operation for appendicitis by a surgeon who had failed on the first operation to locate the appendix.

Senator Kenyon of Iowa, recently assistant to the attorney general, intimated that the great trusts had busied themselves with the election of senators so as to influence the selection of United States district attorneys whose friendship might be useful in the case of prosecutions.

The defense of the Martin resolution was conducted by Senators Dillingham, Martin, Bacon, Stone and other senators from both the Republican and Democratic sides of the chamber.

Clapp Against Martin Plan.

Most of the insurgent Republican senators voted against submitting the Martin resolution. Of the twenty negative votes, thirteen were cast by Republicans — Borah, Bourne, Bristow, Brown, Clapp, Crawford, Cummings, Dixon, Gronna, J. Kenyon, La Follette, Perkins and Poindexter—and seven by Democrats — Davis, Hitchcock, Lea, Martine, Newlands, Owen and Pomerene.

The resolution adopted merely provides that the investigation shall be conducted by the elections committee. It was in connection with the understanding on the part of many that a bi-partisan and bi-Lorimer committee was to be named that brought out most of the criticism.

hours after it had been made public by the ways and means committee. Its indorsement followed some rapid maneuvering by the Democratic house leaders, who devised a scheme which effectually disposed of the opposition of the free wool advocates.

Through a resolution which leaves the Democratic party open in the future to renew its advocacy of free trade in raw wool, but which commits all Democrats to the support of the present bill as a revenue measure, the divergent interests were brought together in the caucuc shortly before midnight and almost unanimous agreement was reached.

The final vote on the approval of the Underwood bill was made unanimous, but the following members were excused from a pledge to support the caucus action: Representatives Rucker, Colorado; Ashbrook, Francis and Sirp, Ohio; and Gray, Indiana.

The resolution agreed on in a conference of the free raw wool advocates, was introduced in the caucus by Representative Kitchin of North Carolina, who had advocated free raw wool. His resolution declared that the support of a duty on raw wool should not be construed as an abandonment of the Democartic policy of free wool. The need for a duty, the resolution stated, was due to Republican extravagances, which made necessary large revenues.

Speaker Clark took the floor immediately and supported the resolution, which had been framed in the conference participated in by himself and Representative Burleson of Texas; James of Kentucky, Fitzgerald of New York, and Kitchen of North Carolina. The resolution was then unanimously adopted by the caucus.

Statement By Bryan.

St. Paul, Minn., June 2.—When shown the Associated Press report of the action of the Democratic caucus on the wool schedule, William Jennings Bryan early this morning gave out the following statement:

"The Democrats in congress are responsible to the country and to their constituents and it remains to be seen whether their action will be indorsed. The brief report which I have seen shows that the matter was fought upon a false basis, and I shall be mistaken if the public is deceived by the pretense that it was levied for revenue. The amount raised by a tax on wool could be raised by a tax on raw silk or raw rubber with much more justice.

Call It Dishonest.

"I mention these two ways of making up the amount. There are many other ways. The tax on wool would never be thought of but for the protective benefit it is supposed to bring to wool growers. I think the party would have done better if it had honestly stated its reasons and declared itself in favor of protection to that extent.

"However, in expressing my opinion, I am only speaking for myself, and the caucus may find the public more gullible than I think it. The declaration that this is not a surrender of the free wool doctrine is adding insult to injury, and I was surprised that any advocates of free wool accepted it as a reason for indorsing the committee bill."

Iowa Veterans Parade.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, June 2.—The annual reunion of the Iowa members of the Forty-ninth regiment was one of the features today of the state encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans participated. Tonight a banquet will be held.

the university and started up the hill back of Millard hall. As he walked along, a man sprang out from behind a tree on the bank of the river and, leveling a revolver at Mr. Bren, ordered him to throw up his hands.

Disregarding the pointed pistol, Mr. Bren started to run. The bandit, who was not masked, closed in and grabbing him by the collar, attempted to throw him down. Mr. Bren broke away from the man and again started to run, but the way was uphill and the ground was muddy, and the bandit caught and grappled with him.

Three of Them.

At this juncture, while Bren was struggling with his assailant, two other men, evidently accomplices of the first, rushed out of the bushes along the river bank and joined in the fray. They wrested the satchel away from Mr. Bren, and while the first bandit kept him covered with his pistol they rifled the satchel of its contents. They also took Mr. Bren's gold watch.

When they had completed their work they dropped the empty satchel and all three turned and fled toward Washington avenue. In a few minutes they were lost to view.

Covered with mud from head to heels, his clothing torn and his hat smashed, Mr. Bren dragged himself to the administration building at the university and notified those in the building of the affair.

Police On Lookout.

E. W. Decker, secretary to the board of regents; W. M. Hayes, the new comptroller of the university, and several others ran to the scene of the holdup, but could not find a sign of the bandits.

In the meantime the Minneapolis police were notified and a dragnet was spread for the robbers. Mr. Bren has not a good description of the three men.

told 'em I voted against it. I wanted to get out of there."

Senator C. F. Cook of Austin likewise knew little of the bill other than that it was recommended by the state tax commission.

"I read it through," he said, "and not being long on moneys and credits, didn't pay much attention to it because I didn't understand just what it did. I got the idea that it was intended to get to the big merchants in the cities who had great stocks of goods on hand but who told the assessors much of them had been sold for future delivery. It was on this theory I voted for it. And, too, everybody else seemed to favor it and I decided they knew more about moneys and credits than I so I helped 'em out. If it's a lemon, it should be repealed, and the merchants at home have been telling me that's about what it is."

Many Protests Received.

Senator A. A. Poehler of Sibley declared he voted for the measure, but he didn't know when. Senator Julius A. Coller of Scott voted against the bill, hence has no explanations to make. "I'm right proud of that vote," he said.

From many sections protests against payment of a 3-mill tax on moneys and credits are coming, when the merchants are not allowed to charge off their debts in equal proportion. Not one state senator was seen who did not favor repealing the act just as soon as the legislature re-convenes.

IDENTIFIED BY NOTEBOOK

Man Whose Body Was Found on Lake Shore Was H. E. Brett.

"Tired and Old and Weary of This Life," He Wrote.

"My name is H. E. Brett."

"Tired out and old and nothing but aches and pains. I am weary of this life and don't want to become charity, so will ring."

These few words, scribbled on an old notebook, are probably the last words written by the man whose body, early this spring, was found in the lake a short distance from Lester Park.

Bert Magie and R. J. Chrudinsky, who are camping on the lake shore, found the book a few days ago in an old lean-to which had evidently given shelter at one time to some one. As the shack is close to the spot where the body of the man was found, it is presumed that the body taken from the lake and buried at the expense of the county, was that of the man who occupied the shack.

About the shack there were a number of old cooking utensils and places where small fires had evidently been built. The notebook was found in the shack.

The man must have shot himself and jumped into the lake at the same time for there was a bullet hole in his head. The name H. E. Brett does not appear in the city directory.

The shack was constructed of short boards which were evidently picked up along the shore. It was built into the side of a small hill and is only visible on coming directly toward it. It was barely large enough to shelter a man, and was filled with straw, evidently used for bedding.

KILLED WHEN CABLE BREAKS

Structural Iron Workers Meet Instant Death on Superior Dock.

Two structural iron workers were killed and one was injured by the breaking of a heavy wire cable yesterday afternoon at the new steel ore dock of the Great Northern railroad at Allouez.

John McGilvary, aged 42, and Elmer Max, aged 35 years old, employes of the Pittsburg Construction company, were knocked from their stand on some temporary staging and fell headlong seventy feet. Both died almost instantly, the fall breaking nearly every bone in their bodies.

H. E. Carter, who was also on the staging with McGilvary and Max, was also struck by some steel which fell when the cable gave away, but he was not knocked off. He was seriously injured internally. Several ribs were broken and both shoulders were badly wrenched.

The bodies of McGilvary and Max were taken to the Le Sage undertaking establishment and Carter was removed to St. Francis hospital. McGilvary was known in Duluth, where he has relatives. Max was a former resident of Lincoln, Ill., and relatives there have been notified of his death. No funeral arrangements have been made.

The cable which snapped was an inch and an eighth in diameter and had a normal carrying capacity of thirty tons, while the load which broke it was less than half of that. It had been in use but two weeks. The cable was used on a locomotive crane.

The accident was the second fatal one to occur at the dock since its construction was begun.

SERENADED BY GLEE CLUB

Adams Association Members Attend Wedding of Their Former President.

When Albert M. Olsen, former president of the Adams Athletic association joined the ranks of the benedicts last evening, he and his bride, formerly Miss Selma E. Lundberg, were serenaded by the Adams Glee club. The members of the Adams association attended the wedding reception in a body.

The wedding was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Lundberg of 2114 West Second street. Rev. W. E. Harmann, rector of St. Peter's Episcopal church, read the service. The bride was given away by her father. The attendants were Miss Esther Eckholm, Miss Elizabeth Hudson, Miss Alice Lundberg, maid of honor and Miss Laurice Olsen, flower girl for the bride, and Ray Olsen, Axel E. Lundberg and William F. Weston for the groom. Mrs. P. Miley played the wedding march. The room was decorated in the colors of the Adams association, blue and white. Palms and ferns were also worked into the decorative scheme.

The bride is a well known West end girl and the groom, who formerly resided at 1905 West Fourth street, is employed by the National Candy company. Mr. Olsen was president of the Adams association in 1910. After June 10, Mr. and Mrs. Olsen will be at home at 1728½ West First street.

Mortgage Burned.

A mortgage for $3,000 was burned last vening at the First Norwegian Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street. The mortgage was recently paid off and leaves but $5,000 indebtedness against the congregation for the handsome $27,000 structure. The congregation has two years in which to pay this off.

J. J. Moe touched a match to the paper which was held by the pastor, Rev. Edward Erickson, while the congregation sang. The Normanna Male chorus and Thomas Morck of Superior, pianist, contributed to the musical program and Miss Mary Shesgren gave a reading.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED AT THE DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION MEETING

The resolutions adopted at the meeting of the Northern Minnesota Development association this morning follow:

"The Northern Minnesota Development association embracing the thirty-one northernmost counties of the great commonwealth of Minnesota, in its fourth convention assembled at Duluth, Minn., the metropolis of this great area, on June 1 and 2, 1911, looking backward over the field of its accomplishments and forward to the achievements that must result from like continued effort, do hereby adopt the following resolutions:

"Whereas, This organization, now firmly established and recognized far beyond the boundaries of the area especially intended to be affected thereby, had its inception in the minds of a few earnest unselfish and far seeing progressive citizens thereof, who saw and recognized more clearly and distinctly than did others equally interested, the natural advantages, the needs and handicaps, the possibilities and the future development of that empire in extent and in versatility of opportunity and industries, now known as Northern Minnesota, and

"Whereas, Pursuant to this definite recognition, seeking expression in effective form, the Northern Minnesota Development association, thus conceived, was born at Bemidji in February, 1910, was cradled in Crookston of the same year, stood forth a sturdy youth in Brainerd the following December and arrived at man's estate fully equipped for yeoman service in, this its Duluth meeting, with armor downed and adjusted to do battle if need be, for the cause it has espoused and,

"Whereas, The aims and objects of this association as outlined at its Bemidji meeting embraced among other things, the reclamation of great tracts of land heretofore inaccessable and untillable for want of drainage and roads, the increase of tax levies for road purposes, the monthly or frequent sale of state lands, increased appropriation for state immigration department, schools for instruction in agriculture and other proposals for development of this, nature's greatest field for human endeavor, and

"Whereas, But one session of the legislature has intervened since the formation of this organization, yet, with a single exception, there has been measurably accomplished through the efforts of this organization something along the line of practically all of the matters originally contended for, notably:

"1. The Dunn law, raising the tax levy for roads to ½ of a mill.

"2. The proposed constitutional amendment authorizing 1 mill levy for roads.

"3. Provision for state rural highways, the state to pay one-half of the cost, the county one-quarter and the property benefited one-quarter thereof.

"4. The increase in number from ten to thirty of the high schools entitled to state aid of $2,500, for teaching agriculture, manual training and home economics in high schools.

"5. Provision for consolidation of rural schools and the teaching of agriculture therein, and provision for aiding school districts of limited means.

"6. Increased, though still inadequate, appropriations for state immigration department.

"7. The holding of monthly instead of annual sales of state lands in certain counties.

"8. The creation of a reclamation board, thus making at least a start in that fruitful field; also the provision for more efficient forestry service and other beginnings had in the right direction, and though disappointed and delayed in the vital matter of proper representation it is confidently believed that the matter will become an accomplished fact during the next session of the state legislature, a proposition to which this organization stands irrevocably pledged, and

"Whereas, With all the efforts thus far put forth to better the conditions of Northern Minnesota, to break down the barriers of prejudice long existing between the two sections of this state so favored that each section offers in itself more advantages to the settler than any other entire state, and to advance the material prosperity of the whole state, and with all of the things thus far accomplished, the work of the organization is but fairly started, and while generally fairly satisfied with accomplishments to date, we earnestly deplore the failure of the legislature at its 1911 session to pass a just and a suitable reapportionment bill conformable to the Constitution; its failure to enact into law an act abolishing certain commissions and the creation in lieu thereof a department of public domain to more effectively carry out the functions of such commissions; the repeal of the compulsory improvement clauses in the law providing for the sale of state lands, as such an act will hinder the settlement of the lands now or hereafter purchased; the failure of passage of a law authorizing the sale of securities in the permanent trust funds of the state; the failure of passage of a law providing for a deep waterway between Lake of the Woods and Lake Superior.

Reapportionment.

"Resolved, That in the judgment of this association a great injustice has been done Northern Minnesota with its rapidly growing population, through the failure of the last legislature to pass a fair apportionment bill, which would have given to each part of the state the representation to which it is honestly entitled. There can be no justification for giving to a citizen in one part of the state a weight and an influence in matters of legislation double that of a citizen, equally intelligent and equally honest, in another part of the state simply because of a difference in locality.

"This is a wrong which now exists and is being perpetuated by the action, or non-action, of the legislature. Against this discrimination we most vigorously protest, and we pledge ourselves to use all honorable means to have the rights of Northern Minnesota properly recognized by the legislature at its next session. The representation throughout the state should be based on population.

"Resolved further, That this association unqualifiedly condemns the passage, by the legislature, of the so-called seven-senator bill, and would earnestly urge its rejection by the people.

Advertising.

"Resolved, That this association expresses its appreciation of the advertising of its resources performed by the state immigration department, the transportation lines, commercial bodies and other public and private agencies and that it invites activity in this direction.

"Resolved further, That the railroad companies be urged to extend their permanent and traveling exhibits of the resources of this region and that every community be likewise urged to co-operate with them by thrusting upon them such abundant illustrations of its production that fully adequate representation be made of Minnesota's wealth of opportunity.

Publicity.

"Resolved, That the Northern Minnesota Development association appoint a commission of five men to be known as the immigration commission of the Northern Minnesota Development association, whose duty it shall be to establish an information and advertising bureau with a competent man in charge, with headquarters at St. Paul, Minn., who shall be known as the immigration commissioner of the Northern Minnesota Development association.

"This commission shall consist of the following persons, to-wit:

"W. A. McGonagle of Duluth, St. Louis county, chairman; C. M. Sprague of Sauk Center, Stearns county; John Rundquist of Grasston, Kannebec county; A. G. Wedge of Bemidji, Beltrami county; J. P. Foote of Crookston, Polk county; Dan Shaw, Thief River Falls, Pennington county; P. H. Konsen, Hallock.

"This commission shall meet at Bemidji, Minn., Saturday, June 17, 1911, at 8 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of perfecting an organization and appointing a commissioner, and to make such provision for permanent organization as shall seem best.

Good Roads.

"Resolved, That this association commends to the attention of the people interested in good roads, (its members) Chapter 254 of the general laws of 1911, sometimes known as the Elwell bill, as providing the means for a complete and coherent system of rural state highways, the cost to be fairly apportioned between the state and county treasury and the property immediately benefited, with such provisions that counties by voluntary action may unite in developing through highways most convenient for the district to be served.

"We recommend further, That to obtain the most complete benefit of this law, a permanent committee be appointed by the executive committee of this body, to work out, in co-operation with the county boards and the state highway commission, a system of roads connecting the several localities with their principal markets, and to initiate the proper proceedings for the execution of this scheme.

"Resolved further, That this association commends to the voters the pending constitutional amendment authorizing a state road tax not to exceed 1 mill.

Education.

"We unqualifiedly indorse the forward steps taken by the legislature relating to our schools. We strongly urge that communities avail themselves of the recent act granting liberal state aid to consolidated schools. Such schools afford the country children educational advantages second to none, of well graded schools, of instruction in agriculture and home economics and in providing rural social and recreation centers, thus overcoming the present greatest disparity between rural and urban opportunities.

"The introduction of agriculture and industrial subjects into our graded and high schools, and the opportunities afforded at the special state schools of agriculture located at St. Anthony Park, Crookston and Morris in giving advanced training are heartily commended. We urge the importance to the farmers of acquainting themselves with the work of the experiment stations and urge the establishment of county demonstration farms in every county to assist in accomplishing this end.

"We believe county crop improvement associations should co-operate actively in season and out of season, in promoting agricultural education as a means of developing the great agricultural interests of the state.

Forestry.

"We recommend that every assistance be given the state forest service by lumbermen, railroad companies and settlers in preventing forest fires, in order to preserve the growing timber for use as well as to make the state a safer place to live in.

Drainage and Reclamation.

"Resolved, That we indorse the act creating a reclamation board for the improvement of state swamp lands, as not only justice to the people of Northern Minnesota, but a good business investment for the whole state, bringing the state land into production years sooner than otherwise — production that is of more value to the state than the purchasing price of the land.

"We therefore pledge the support of this organization in behalf of this work as fast as its expenditure proves of value and to all matters best calculated to advance the work of the reclamation board in effecting permanent settlement and cultivation of all state lands adapted to agriculture.

"It is the belief of the association that every purchaser of state lands should have at his disposal for the easiest and least expensive examination a correct and comprehensive description of the soil and agricultural conditions of all state lands; it is the sense of this association that the state auditor be requested to cause such a survey and report on such lands to be collected to the extent that funds for such purpose are available.

"Be it resolved, That the state drainage commission be urged to reconsider its action in rejecting the drainage project for the northeastern portion of Roseau county, and that the said commission be asked to proceed with the drainage of the vast area of good, fertile lands that would be affected, and that it may be reclaimed, settled and developed; and

"Resolved further, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the state drainage commission.

Acknowledgement.

"Resolved, That this association expresses its acknowledgment of the enterprise and efficiency of its officers and standing committees, and especially to W. R. Mackenzie, the life of the organization, and to the newspapers, for their hearty and liberal co-operation; and

"We further express our thanks to W. H. Mylrea of the Wisconsin Improvement association and the other speakers, and to the Duluth Commercial club and other citizens, for their abundant hospitalities; to the Gopher, to the owners of Jean Duluth, Annandale & Trianon farms, and to all who have contributed toward making the convention an unqualified success."

BELIEVES GOVERNMENT MUST CONTROL EVEN PRICES OF PRODUCT

licity and governmental control of corporations must come, even as to prices.

"Personally I believe the Sherman act," said Mr. Gary, "does not now and never will fully prevent the organizing of great combinations of capital. I believe we must come to enforce publicity and governmental control of corporations."

"Do you mean government control even as to prices?" Mr. Stanley asked.

"Yes, even as to prices. So far as I am concerned, speaking for the United States Steel corporation, I would be very glad, if we could know exactly where we stand and could be free from the dangers and criticism of the public."

As to World-Wide Trust.

In explanation of the reported world-wide trust, Mr. Gary said that a conference would be held in Brussels July 5 and 6 next to organize an international steel institute similar to the American Iron & Steel Institute. The latter, he asserted, was formed to prevent demoralization in trade and to permit an exchange of ideas for the betterment of the steel industry.

In no instance, Mr. Gary said, had there been any attempt at an unlawful combination or an expressed or implied agreement. Mr. Gary said he would do all he could, morally and legally, to further the proposed international institute.

Would Welcome Control.

Referring to govenmental control, Judge Gary said:

"I wish we could go to some responsible governmental source and say, 'Here are our facts; here is our business; here is our property and our cost of production,' and could be told just what prices we could charge and just what we could do."

Mr. Gary said the real problem was not the making of big profits, but it was rather the establishment of a definite understanding of the legal situation.

"Do I understand that you believe in strict governmental supervision of corporations?" asked Representative Littleton of New York.

"Yes, I do," said Mr. Gary; "I know that is a radical position, but something must be done."

Sherman Law Archaic.

"Is it your conviction," Mr. Littleton inquired, "that the Sherman anti-trust law is archaic and unable to deal with the modern situation?"

"Yes."

"Do not the interpretations of that law practically order a continuance of the old competitive system as opposed to co-operative modern methods?"

"I am afraid they do," Mr. Gary replied. "We do not want a condition of uncertainty in which we do not know just what we have a right to do."

Representative Young of Michigan asked Mr. Gary if he thought the national government had a right to fix prices of commodities in interstate commerce.

"My opinion," said Mr. Gary, "is that so far as it relates to interstate commerce, the federal government has that right."

Can Influence Prices.

Mr. Gary, asked if the United States Steel corporation was in a position to fix prices, said that co-operative business methods which had succeeded highly competitive methods, had made it possible for the big corporation to influence prices.

"We cannot dominate them," he said. "It is not the big corporations that change prices so much as the small corporations that cut prices and force the big ones to come down."

"The Gary Dinners."

Taking up the subject of the reported international "trust" and the "Gary dinners" at which it had been intimated prices were fixed, Mr. Gary said:

"At the time of the panic in 1907, there was a great demoralization temporarily in the steel business. The fear existed that it would extend and become dangerous. The iron and steel industry has been recognized as one of the barometers of trade. It was believed highly important, if practicable, to prevent a greater demoralization in trade."

The situation, Mr. Gary explained, caused jobbers all over the country to appeal to the corporation to do something to prevent business chaos. Mr. Gary called the steel men of the country together in New York at a dinner to discuss business conditions.

On International Scale.

He said these dinners of consultation had proved so beneficial in maintaining the stability of reasonable prices, that representatives of the steel interests would meet at Brussels July 5 and 6 next, to determine whether an international steel institution similar to the American institute should be organized. He said he would participate in the organization of this institution unless he became convinced that morally or legally it would not be well to form such an organization.

In elaborating the idea of the Gary dinners, the chief executive of the Steel corporation explained that when the panic came the jobbers held large quantities of material for resale, and if prices were reduced failures were certain and a prolonged panic would ensue.

Trust in a Dilemma.

"The United States Steel corporation, with 50 per cent of the steel business of the country," said Mr. Gary, "thus was confronted with two propositions. We had no right to endeavor to prevent a reduction in prices and maintain the equilibrium of business by means of an expressed or implied agreement, nor had we a lawful right to agree with our competitors to maintain prices.

"On the other hand, we believed that we had no moral or legal right to become involved in a bitter and destructive competition such as follows any kind of depression in the iron and steel industry, for the reason that if we did, it would mean a war for survival of the fittest and many persons engaged in the business would be forced into bankruptcy.

"Therefore it was believed, by me at least, that it was not for the best interest of the manufacturers or the laborers or the people generally that prices be reduced. The question was how to get between the two extremes —one of securing a monopoly by driving out competition in a bitter fight, the other of maintaining prices without making an agreement, expressed or implied.

"So I invited a large percentage of the steel interests of the country to meet me at dinner and presented to them these views."

Suggested a Remedy.

Mr. Gary said he told the exact situation and suggested a remedy which was accepted by the steel men as wise.

"I suggested that the only way we could lawfully prevent such demoralization and maintain reasonable steadiness was for the steel men to come together occasionally and disclose to each other all the circumstances of their business. Such interchange was done and continued and prevented demoralization. We haven't done more than that because we could not do more."

Iron Ore Supply.

Chairman Stanley directed Judge Gary's attention to the question of the supply of iron ore. The latter denied that his organization controlled the ultimate supply of iron ore in the United States, despite his statement in 1908 to the ways and means committee of the house, seemingly to that effect. Independent manufactuerrs of steel, according to Judge Gary, have large holdings.

After the discussion as to the supply Judge Gary's attention was directed to the manufacture of steel rails. He denied that the Steel corporation controlled the prices of rails, adding that they could not be sold for less than $28 a ton.

"In this country," interrupted Representative Barlett.

Rail Prices Abroad.

In reply Mr. Gary undertook an explanation of why steel rails could be sold abroad cheaper than at home. He said that, like the merchant who clears his shelves once a year by selling his goods at cost, so the steel manufacturer could sell his surplus abroad at $26, or at cost. The result was the mills were kept running, reducing the cost of production, keeping together a compact organization and bringing to this country large sums of money. The ultimate effect, he added, was to reduce the price to the domestic consumer. All countries practice "dumping," Mr. Gary declared.

"How long has it been since any countries 'dumped' rails on to us?" inquired Chairman Stanley.

"In about 1904 or 1905 or 1906," came the response slowly. "Last year some rails were 'dumped' on the Pacific coast."

OPERATIC POULTRY.

Toledo, Ohio, June 2.—Surrounding the poultry yard of Councilman Philip Smith of Maumee, is a wire fence. Smith noticed that the head of the restless goose household picked at the wires. While the gander looked on, Smith adjusted the wires so they would give the tones of the scale. Then with a profound bow the old gander meandered up to the fence and began to pick the wires, running his bill deftly up and down over them and produced a "concord of sweet sounds" that drew forth a chorus of rahs rahs from the other birds. Smith does not know exactly what to call the new instrument, but named it a "lyre."

LESS THAN 100 SOLDIERS KILLED

Revised Figures Are Given on Explosion at Managua.

Washington, June 2.—The latest estimate of the number killed in the garrison explosion at Managua, Nicaragua, is between sixty and seventy, according to a telegram today from Minister Northcott. The confusion and excitement resulting from the disaster is reflected in the minister's dispatch.

Various conflicting rumors soon arose as to the causes. Some maintained that it was part of a revolutionary plot, others held the garrison had been struck by lightning, while a third contingent believed it was due entirely to carelessness within the fortification.

COMMISSION APPOINTED

Executive Committee Loses No Time Naming Good Roads Workers.

Delegates Take Two Harbors Trip in Spite of Weather.

The executive committee of the Northern Minnesota Development association lost no time in acting on the suggestion that a good roads commission be appointed to work with the state officials in preparing a system of roads and furthering road-building work in the northern part of the state.

The commission was appointed immediately after the meeting today with C. M. King of Deer River, Itasca county, as chairman, and the other members are: Christ Burns, Cass Lake, Cass county; John Stone Pardee, Duluth, St. Louis county; Col. F. A. Green, Stephen, Marshall county, and D. P. O'Neill, Thief River Falls, Pennington county.

The commission will meet in the course of a few weeks and prepare for its work. Each member of the commission is deeply interested in the subject of good roads. Mr. King is a county commissioner in Itasca county, Mr. Burns was formerly a commissioner of Cass county. Col. Green is the original good roads man in the northwestern part of the state and Mr. O'Neill is also a practical worker for better highways. Mr. Pardee has made a study of the good roads question and should make a valuable member of the commission.

The desire on the part of several of the delegates to visit Two Harbors caused the Commercial club officers to reinstate the boat trip on the entertainment program this afternoon. Many of the delegates took the automobile trip around the city and to the farms in the vicinity.

SOME SIDELIGHTS ON THE CONVENTION OF THE NORTHERN MINNESOTA DEVELOPMENT ASSN.

Baudette and Spooner Rebuilding—The Governor Is No Caruso—Why Senator Works Was Hoarse—F. X. Gravel, the Original Glad-Hand Artist—"Dick" Interrupts—Some Visiting Newspapermen.

Among the delegates to the convention was Charles T. Kelley, editor of the Menagha Journal, in Wadena county. Mr. Kelley is a live booster for Northern Minnesota and believes in the cause of the Northern Minnesota Development association.

Governor Eberhart is a singer, and he plays his own accompaniments. When the chill wind caused the visitors to seek the shelter of the ward room on the good ship Gopher yesterday, the governor displayed his musical ability. He sat down at the piano, played the accompaniments, and sang a few old ballads. The governor couldn't work Caruso out of a job, but there are worse singers. Governor Eberhart left for St. Paul on the late train last night.

Senator S. D. Works was under a strain of hoarseness when he delivered his address this morning. He was one of the guests at the Democratic pow-wow in St. Paul last night, and he says he hollered so much that he stained his voice.

Senator Works is a staunch Democrat, but he says, partisanship aside, that the big pow-wow last night was about the finest get-together political meeting Minnesota has had in some time. Every holler he let out was called forth by real enthusiasm-producing developments, he said, and there was no forced applause.

F. X. Gravel was the reception committee. Others were on the committee, but F. X. was it. He stood at the door of the Armory, and every man who appeared was just the man F. X. had been waiting to see for years and years. Long experience has given Mr. Gravel hand-shaking ability that knows no capacity and no fatigue, and he worked it to the limit during the meeting of the association. His genial smile, a smile that is always spread on his face because it was there when the wee F. X. was born and has never come off, diffused good feeling through the assemblage. After basking in the sunshine of that smile and getting a touch of Mr. Gravel's friendly hand clasp, each visitor took his seat in the Armory with a feeling that he was really welcome in Duluth. F. X. is the original, unadulterated, unsurpassed and even unequalled, "Welcome to our City" boy. When he's on a reception committee, the others may as well drop out of the race. They're beaten before they start.

Al Kaiser of Bagley, a candidate for the Republican nomination for state treasurer, last year, was one of the delegates from Clearwater county. Mr. Kaiser says that the fact that the successful candidate for treasurer was from St. Louis county took most of the sting from his defeat.

"Dick" Cullen was an interested listener at today's session at the Armory. He was so interested that, during one of the speeches, he did not agree with the speaker, and interrupted to get some facts cleared up. It was an entirely friendly controversy, and when Mr. Cullen was convinced on the point in question, the speech went on in its set form.

Digressing from his prepared speech, W. J. Brown of Warren paid a tribute to the Duluth & Iron Range railroad's colonization work. He said that if the state of Minnesota used the same intelligence and energy in exploiting its lands that the Duluth & Iron Range road uses, there would be no doubt of the speedy settlement of the now undeveloped region in the northern part of the state.

J. S. Arneson, editor of the Chisholm Tribune-Herald and secretary to Lieutenant Governor Sam Y. Gordon, was at the convention. W. Hitchcock of the Hibbing Tribune and A. E. Ptremmer of the Eveleth Star and News.

SEVEN TONS OF BAD VEAL

City Meat Inspector Has Condemned Meat Valued at $1,150.

Health Department Will Send Out Circular Letter to Shippers.

In the last year nearly 14,400 pounds of veal shipped into the city has been condemned by Meat Inspector Leo F. Bernhardt of the health department force. Last month 3,345 pounds were ordered sent to the incinerator.

At the rate of 8 cents per pound, the loss to the shippers, who have had to bear practically all the expense, has been over $1,150, rather a costly item to be entered into the debit column, particularly when it could be prevented with proper care.

The meat inspector states that the veal should be cooled before it is sent into the city. In many instances it is thrown into the express cars while it is still warm and the blood has scarcely dried. In addition to the cooling he advises that it be shipped in refrigerator cars, where it can be hung on hooks and kept at a temperature which will keep it for a considerable length of time.

When the report was submitted to Health Commissioner H. E. Webster, he stated that he would send a circular letter to all the shippers giving them the necessary information relative to the proper shipping of veal. He believes that the large amount of spoiled veal coming into the city is due to the fact that the farmers and others who ship it are ignorant of the right manner of handling and shipping it. He states that the loss is unnecessary and is confident that if the information is placed in their hands they will quickly see the advantage and profit by it.

In addition to the veal, 205 pounds of pork, 260 pounds of mutton and forty pounds of miscellaneous meats were condemned by the meat inspector. He also made 200 visits to retail shops and checked up all the wholesale houses.

Files List of Assets.
A schedule of assets and liabilities was filed this morning in the United States district court by the attorney for the Little Duluth Clothing company, a corporation, which went into involuntary bankruptcy. E. Abelson, president of the company, claims the assets amount to about $3,500, an estimate, while the liabilities are $6,293.32.

Building Increasing.
During the month of May 198 building permits were issued by the building inspector for improvements to cost $268,579. These are largely for dwellings scattered throughout the city. Building activity has been steadily on the increase in the city since the first of the year, and it is expected that the total this month will show a decided increase over May. The first part of the year it was extremely quiet in building circles. The totals for the first five months of this year are still considerably below for the corresponding months of last year.

WILL MAKE NEW CITIZENS

Judge Morris Will Act on Nearly Forty Applications.

Upon the return of Judge Page Morris of the United States district court, many citizens will be added to the list of voters. There are now pending in the United States court over fifty petitions for second papers, but of these only between thirty and forty will be acted upon.

Judge Morris has been visiting in Utah for several weeks, and many of the petitions which were to have come up before have been postponed until June 15, when they will be disposed of.

While the United States court has not been doing as great a business in the way of naturalization as the county courts, still the number of petitions for both first, or declaration of intention, and second papers, have been very large since the passage of the new law which went into effect in September, 1906.

During this time 2,018 declarations of intentions to become citizens have been filed with the clerk of the United States court and 705 petitions for second papers were signed. Of the latter about 650 certificates have been issued giving full citizenship.

St. Paul, Minn., June 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Extended life in prison appears to be the lot of Edward Watkins, alias J. F. Dowd, who has been in the Minnesota prison and for whom requisition papers from the governor of Indiana were honored by Governor Eberhart today. Watkins, or Dowd, was sentenced from St. Louis county for forgery in the second degree. When his term expires today, he will be rearrested at the gates of the prison and taken back to the state's prison in Indiana to serve time for breaking a parole.

In Four Prisons.
Records in the governor's office show that Dowd was first committed to the Indiana prison in 1892 for perjury and to Sing Sing prison in New York for grand larceny in 1896. He was committed to the state prison in Virginia in 1898 for forgery and to the state prison in Indiana again in 1901 for a similar offense. He is now in the Minnesota prison and tonight will be on his way back to the Indiana prison.

Sentenced Four Years Ago.
Watkins, or Dowd, was sentenced from Duluth to a five-year term, about four and a half years ago, but his sentence was cut down for good behavior. He bought a phonograph and gave a forged check in payment, and pleaded guilty to the charge.

MONEY GOES TO WIDOW

Court Decides Insurance Case Against Children in Her Favor.

A three-cornered fight in which an insurance order, Mrs. Sarah J. Nelson of West Duluth and three step-children are involved was won in district court today by Mrs. Nelson, who will collect $1,000 from the Grand Lodge, Degree of Honor in which her husband, the late William J. Nelson, was insured.

Judge Dancer today handed down a decision in favor of the widow and against the children and insurance company. The Degree of Honor is a branch organization of the Ancient Order of United Workmen. The suit was brought to trial before Judge Dancer without a jury on May 20.

Mrs. Nelson sued for $1,000 which she claimed was due on a life insurance policy held by her husband, William J. Nelson, was was killed by a railroad train on the Fifty-seventh avenue west crossing on Dec. 23, 1910. The original defendant was the insurance company, but the Degree of Honor paid over to the court $1,000, for the person whom the court should find was entitled to it.

The insurance company having dropped out of the case, the three step-children, Rachel B. Nelson, John A. Nelson and Gladys Nelson, were substituted as defendants. Alexander Sang, guardian of the two last named, appeared as a defendant in their behalf. The contention of the children was that the money due on the policy should be paid over to them.

The suit hinged on the question of who was the real beneficiary, this point not being made clear in the policy. The policy was taken out by Mr. Nelson on April 28, 1902 and his first wife, Anna, was named as beneficiary. She died Nov. 13, 1903, and although Mr. Nelson remarried on September 21, 1905, he neglected to have the beneficiary changed in the policy.

Harry W. Lanners, who appeared in Court for Mrs. Nelson, contended that under the laws of the order, the policy was payable to the present widow and that the will which was left by Mr. Nelson in 1905 did not specify any beneficiary and in addition that the will was void, on account of his second marriage. He asked the court that the money be paid over to Mrs. Nelson.

Rachel B. Nelson and Alexander Sang, guardian for the two minor children, represented in court by Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell, contended that the money should be paid over to them. This, however, was not upheld by the court, which held that the plaintiff was not only entitled to the face of the policy but also the costs of the case, which will be assessed against the children and not the original defendant.

The case is one which may establish a precedent. A stay of thirty days was granted by Judge Dancer and the case may be appealed to the supreme court. The suit has been of general interest to many West Duluth people.

Mrs. Nelson is also suing the Northern Pacific Railway company for $5,000 for the death of her husband.

COPPERS ADVANCE; TRADING IS ACTIVE

Rails Are Leaders---Specialties Work Higher, the List Trailing.

The copper market was higher today, the specialties pulling up the general list. The rails were the strongest feature of the big market and shorts were run to cover. The buying was good, however, and of excellent volume. The news was featureless except regarding the specialties.

It is reported that four feet of solid ore carrying native copper and cuprite in the 1,200-foot level of the cross-cut was uncovered about thirty-five feet from the Alpha shaft of the Giroux property late yesterday. The cross-cut is still in ore. Giroux was strong and the trading was heavy. Giroux opened at $7 and sold to $7.37½, back to $7 and then at $7.31¼.

Giroux sold here at $7 to $7.25, Denn at $6, Carman at 90c and 88s, North American at 93c to 95c, Warren at $2.50, Calumet & Montana at 42c, 43c and 44c.

Amalgamated sold at $66.62½, $67.75, $67.12½ and $67.62½, Butte Ballaklava at $5.50, Butte Coalition at $20 to $20.25, Calumet & Arizona at $58.50 to $60.50 to $60.37½, Ojibway at $8, North Butte at $35.25, $36.25 and $35.50, Greene at $7.12½ to $7.31¼, Shattuck at $17, $17.37½ and $17, Superior & Pittsburg at $17, $17.37½ and $17.

HANSON CAN HAVE HIS MOOSE HEAD

Supreme Court Sustains District Court in Duluth Case.

St. Paul, Minn., June 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—"The possession of the untagged head of a moose which was lawfully killed, is lawful," says Chief Justice Start in an opinion handed down by the supreme court this morning.

The case was one wherein Henry G. Hanson of Duluth had killed a moose, cut off the head and had a taxidermist mount it. While in course of mounting, John Green, a deputy game warden, confiscated it. The municipal court of Duluth gave the head to the deputy warden, the district court gave it to the man who killed it and the supreme court today backs up the district court.

SHERIFF HAZEN CANNOT BE FIRED

That Is the First Opinion From State's Legal Department.

St. Paul, Minn., June 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The charges filed against Sheriff A. B. Hazen of Beltrami county by the chairman of the board of county commissioners will not be deemed sufficient grounds on which to base an action for his removal. This was the oral opinion given by Attorney General Simpson this morning before starting on a trip to the Pacific coast. Sheriff Hazen is charged with having mailed jury subpoenas to citizens called for that service and then charging mileage up to the county as though he had served the subpoenas in person.

"The acts complained of were alleged to have been committed in 1909 and 1910," Mr. Simpson said, "and the laws say plainly that an officer cannot be removed for acts performed during a preceding term. Sheriff Hazen is serving a different term now and I believe cannot be removed by the governor for acts of a previous term."

Assistant Attorney General L. A. Smith is looking further into the matter and will write the opinion in the case.

COMMERCIAL CLUB ASKED TO SEND DELEGATE TO EUROPE.

The Duluth Commercial club has received an urgent invitation from the Boston Chamber of Commerce to send a delegation on a European tour with representatives from other commercial bodies of the United States, the purpose of which tour is to promote the acquaintance of leading business men and organizations abroad, and to broaden the relationship between the two countries.

The tour is especially urged because next year the International Congress of Chambers of Commerce will hold its next session in the United States in 1912, the meeting to take place in Boston, at which representatives of industries all over the world will gather.

Some changes have been made in the original plans for the tour to Europe, owing to the wrecking of the steamship Ivernia, of the Cunard Steamship company. The Carmania, of the same line, has been secured and will sail from New York on June 17, arriving at Liverpool on June 24. This steamship is far better than the Ivernia, and makes the trip in two days less time.

PROMINENT IN GOSSIP CIRCLES

MAJ. ARCHIBALD BUTT, MRS. THOMAS LAUGHLIN, PRESIDENT TAFT AND MRS. LAUGHLIN'S TWO CHILDREN.

Washington, May 29.—It all grew out of the fact that Archie Butt bought a bed quilt. Archie is from Georgia. Recently he decided that he wanted the comforts of a home and one of those comforts, as he understood home, was an old-fashined bed quilt. So he commissioned a friend in Georgia to buy one for him. Then Dame Rumor got to work and bought Archie a house and furnished him a wife. According to rumor the wife-to-be was Mrs. Laughlin of Pittsburg, the sister of Mrs. Taft. Mrs. Laughlin's husband died suddenly a year ago, leaving her a very large fortune. During his travels with Mr. Taft, Maj. Butt has necessarily been much in Mrs. Laughlin's company. But he says there is no such luck for him as to marry the beautiful Pittsburg woman.

WANT TO PROBE WHITE EARTH

Two House Committees Are Contesting for That Task.

Washington, June 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—The proposed investigation on the White Earth Indian reservation this summer has stirred up something of a row between the house committees on Indian affairs and expenditures in the interior department. Both of these committees are anxious to conduct the inquiry.

It became known today that during the Democratic caucus yesterday, Representative Stephens of Texas, chairman of the Indian affairs committee, endeavored to secure caucus indorsement of the sub-committee selected by him to probe conditions at White Earth. Representative Graham of Illinois objected on the ground that the house committee was given jurisdiction by the rules of the house over such an investigation as was proposed. Consequently the subject was dropped and will have to be settled later.

Representatives Miller of Minnesota and Burke of South Dakota, both of whom were selected by Chairman Stephens as members of the sub-committee of inquiry, think that the Indian affairs committee should be recognized on the ground that this committee is the only subordinate body of the house which has a right to enact legislation affecting Indians.

WOOL BILL SENT TO COMMITTEE

Favorable Report Is Expected on It Next Tuesday.

Washington, June 2.—The bill to revise the wool schedule as reported to and approved by the Democratic caucus, was introduced in the house today by Mr. Underwood and referred to the ways and means committee. It is expected it will be reported when the house meets next Tuesday with the favorable recommendation of that committee.

SUMMER CAPITAL FREE TO NATION

Nye of Minneapolis Offers Joint Resolution to Accept Deed.

Washington, June 2.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative Nye of Minneapolis today introduced a joint resolution providing for the acceptance by the United States of a summer home for the president at Wayzata on Lake Minnetonka. The resolution authorizes the secretary of the treasury to examine the proposed site and plnas for building, and if agreeable to accept a deed of conveyance without expense to the government. The resolution was referred to the committee on public buildings and grounds, and Representative Nye will appear before that committee some day next week.

FOR SOLDIERS' GRAVES.

The United States government has provided 600,000 markers for the graves of soldiers. From two marble quarries, one at Lee, Mass., and one at Rutland, Vt., all these tombstones have been taken. Lee has furnished 300,000 markers in the last thirty-five years and is turning out gravestones at the rate of 20,000 a year, says the New York Sun.

Each marker is three feet long, one foot wide and four inches thick, and weighs 200 pounds. Just under the rounded top is outlined an inlaid shield and within this is cut the name, age, company, rank and regiment of the soldier, sailor or marine whose grave it is to mark.

From two quarry pits at Lee these stones are taken. On the grounds at the quarry they are cut, polished, marked and crated for shipment to a central distributing point. A force of twenty men is constantly employed by a contractor, who obtains his contract in competition semi-annually from the government.

A block of marble 3 by 3 feet is the average size used for headstones. It is run into the mill on a short truck and fastened under a gang of saws which slowly descend with a swinging motion and cut through it. Then the block is rolled out, chained together, turned over and sent through the same process again. The saws are simple bands of iron an eighth of an inch thick and the cutting is done by sand, which is well wet and kept dripping on the work.

The next process is coping or rounding one end of the marker and smoothing it by grinding by sand and water on a revolving iron table. Then the marker is ready for lettering or numbering.

A government inspector examines every headstone and condemns all that have flaws or discolorations or are wrongly lettered. The discarded stones are in the main good marble and workmen cut them up into what are known as marble bricks, which are used for building purposes.

Application blanks for headstones are sent out from the quartermaster general's office. Any deceased soldier, sailor, marine, nurse or scout who served under regular enlistment may have his last resting place marked by the government on request of a relative, a Grand Army post or a private citizen.

The stones are shipped usually by the carload to certain distributing points named by the war department. For the New England states Boston is the distributing place, New York for the Middle states, Chicago for the Middle West. Denver, San Francisco, Atlanta and Houston, Tex., are other points of shipment.

Washington has received the greatest number of these markers. Thousands have been set up in Arlington and other government cemeteries; how many no one seems to know.

Not only does the government furnish the tombstone free, but it pays the freight to its destination. All that has to be done when the stone has been delivered is to have it carried to the grave from the freight office and set up. Many Grand Army posts look after this.

Hundreds of stones have been supplied to mark the graves of women nurses who served in the Civil war. Nearly all the applications come in the names of privates or sailors. Occasionally there is found the name of a line officer, and there have been occasions when the grave of a staff officer have been marked. Two generals and perhaps half a dozen colonels are buried in cemeteries of the United States and have over their grave the small white stones provided by the government.

DEADWOOD DICK AN OUTCAST

Man Who Was With Custer at the Massacre at Little Big Horn Has Had Remarkable Career.

"ALL the world's a stage, and all the men and women only players; They have their exits and their entrances."

And no one believes this more today than Walter Richard Morrison, at present an inmate of the county jail, says the Chicago Inter-Ocean. As Deadwood Dick his entrance on the stage of the world was to play a leading part in one of the most exciting dramas the West has ever known. As Walter Richard Morrison his exit in the world is to play the lowest part on the stage of the life as it is found in every large city in the country. Today he is a vagrant in the West side jail.

From the honored place of scout to Gen. Custer up to almost the very time when the fighting commander of the Seventh cavalry fell with his men on the bloody battlefield of the Little Big Horn, Morrison has fallen to become a figure well known to the police and jail officials of Denver.

His life history is one full of romance and pathos. In his younger days he was one of the men who aided in the making of the great West. Today he is an old man, past three score and ten, for whom life seemingly holds but little. But even in his present condition he is not disheartened. Although, to use an every-day expression, he is "down on his luck," he still finds something to live for, but his greatest joy and pleasure is in telling of the days when he was a scout with Custer.

Deadwood Dick has been a familiar sight in Denver for fifteen years. He was at one time wealthy, and until seven years ago he was in comfortable circumstances. But since that time he has been eking out an existence by manufacturing and selling an insect powder. The old man is a pitiful sight as he sits in the jail. He has long, black hair that almost reaches to his waist, and this he says is the pride of his life.

"I stood it all right when I lost my money," he said, "but it would kill me if I should lose my hair. It is the only comfort I have."

Deadwood Dick tells a remarkable story of his experience with Gen. Custer. "I was with him during all the trouble on the Little Big Horn," he said. "On the night before the massacre I told Custer that there was but one way to get away from the Indians. At that time we thought there were only about 1,500 red men. But instead of that there were more than 3,000. Most of these men were under Sitting Bull. Custer told the men that there was no danger, and the best thing for us to do was to stay right where we were.

"A scout by the name Texas Jack and my self left the camp to take a look about. This was on the day before Custer and his men were killed. Texas Jack and my self rode for some distance up the river. I felt sure we were about to be captured. So I told him I would give the Sioux war cry for him to answer with the coyote yell, for by doing this all the Indians would go in the direction of their chief. It worked out just as I thought it would.

"All the Indians started in the direction of the chief and we started up the river, which was the only means of escape. We ran across one small group of Indians headed in the direction we were going. We made up our minds that the only thing to do was shoot until our ammuition was gone and then run. We did this and managed to get through. On the next day the Indians, under Sitting Bull, killed Custer and his men. We were the only two who escaped. If Gen. Custer had taken my advice Custer's last fight would never have been."

Morrison refers to many of the principal warrior chiefs.

While Sitting Bull was the big chief and the ruling spirit over all the Indians, Crow King, Black Moon, Low Dog and Crazy Horse, along with many others, were to be feared. These Indians which Morrison speaks of are all mentioned in the history of Custer's last fight.

Morrison, or Deadwood Dick, and Texas Jack stayed together for some time. They went into Mexico in a prairie schooner, which they obtained by trading their ponies. They got one horse and a mule with the schooner for their ponies.

"The mule was a fast one," said Deadwood Dick, "and I entered him in a race. There was considerable money up and when the mule came out in the lead I cleaned up a lot of money. Texas Jack left me soon after that and I don't know what became of him. He was much older than I was. I guess he must be dead.

"I started to travel after he left me and I have been all over the country. I went back to Montana and got a lot of sheep. I was very wealthy twice, was almost a millionaire once, and the second time I was worth more than $300,000.

"I married and had one child, a daughter. My wife died about a year after we were married. After my daughter was married I did not see very much of her. I married again and my wife and I worked in the mine. She was killed by falling rock. I was struck in the head by another rock and badly hurt. Since that time I have not been able to remember very well. I cannot remember the dates of Custer's last fight, or many other things that were very interesting to me. I have had two farms, one in Montana and one in Dakota. I sold both of them and everything else I had and started to follow the races.

"My travels took me down into Texas; I don't remember the name of the place. It was a little town. I went into a saloon to inquire the shortest trail to a certain place. The place was filled with cowboys. One of them, whom I recognized as a tenderfoot, stepped up to me and asked me to drink with him.

"I told him that I had some business to attend to and I could not take the time. He told me that if I did not drink with him he would fix me. I was without arms, and I told him that I did not want any trouble. As I talked with him I recognized him to be a man by the name of Dave Leahy. I had known him in the East, and I remembered of whipping him.

"I recalled the incident, and told him if he would come outside until I got my gun I would repeat what I gave him in the East.

"By this time his brother stepped up and placed a gun at the back of my head. I told the two men that I would fight them a duel. We got on our horses and started. I killed Dave after the second shot had been fired. I don't remember the brother's name, but he shot me in the left hand and I had to have it amputated. I killed him with the next shot. Texas was a small place then. The boys took up a collection for me, and I had almost $500.

"I then bought two race horses, I took the horses to all the big meets in the East and made good money with them. I brought them to Denver from St. Louis. Then I took them up to Cheyenne. When I came back to Denver some one stole the horses from me. One of them was worth $8,000 and the other I was offered $12,000 for. After I lost the horses I was practically broke and have been ever since."

"Deadwood Dick" has been in the county jail once before. He was sentenced to thirty days on a vagrancy charge, and his time expired last Saturday. He was arrested again Sunday and started his new sentence yesterday.

When arrested before he received a letter from a man in Colorado City asking if he were one of the scouts under Gen. Custer. The man said in the letter that if he were he would give him something to do and see that he never wanted for anything. "Deadwood Dick" never answered the letter. In referring to it yesterday he said: "I have always been able to take care of myself, and although I am almost 80 years old I will not live off any one. When I can't work I'll go to the poorhouse."

"Deadwood Dick" is also quite a poet and the last verse of a composition he wrote in the jail yesterday reads as follows:

"The truth is I am old and discouraged,
My clothing is seedy and poor,
And the merchant, God knows I don't blame him,
Refuses to trust me for more.
But I'll pay the last cent and be honest;
No mortal on earth will I rob;
Then toddle away to the poor farm
The John Smiths will give me a job."

BUSINESS VALUE OF BEAUTY.

Five million women are today employed at wages in the United States. The greater number of these—those employed in mills and factories at rough manual labor, or women engaged in routine clerical work in great business houses where they are screened from the public view—can be as plain as ill-fortune choses to make them and their positions are not thereby endangered.

But there have grown up certain kinds of work from which the girl minus good looks and a good figure is absolutely barred, says Miriam Finn Scott in Success. In consequence there has developed an almost separate profession which can rightly be entitled "The Profession of Being Good Looking."

"There is not a stenographer who is not aware that a pretty face is a commercial asset," says Miss Scott, "and none appreciates this more keenly than the plain girl. A friend of mine, very clever, very quick and exact, with excellent references, but unfortunately with a plain face, recently tried to secure a position by calling in response to want advertisements.

"At the first place she applied she found nine girls ahead of her. Each one of these girls was to take a dictation. She and one other girl took the simple business letter of about 200 words in about a minute and a half and typed it quickly and accurately. The other eight were girls of very mediocre ability; but it was the prettiest of these who got the job, for she had dimples and a catching smile, an easy manner and pretty clothes.

"Perhaps in no other kind of work, barring the stage, has the commercial value of a woman's face been so well proved as by the demonstrator, especially the demonstrator of toilet articles, who with her fine complexion, wealth of hair or good teeth, advertises alleged merits of face creams, powders, eyebrow growers, hair growers, wrinkle preventers and the like; the milliner's model, who tries on hats before the fashionable customer and whose pretty head and handsome face make the headgear more attractive in the eyes of the customer; the figure model, who tries on rich, ready made gowns and cloaks and whose form and beauty emphasize the style of the garment; the girl who poses for fashion plates, the manicure and hairdresser in public shops, the stenographer in many positions, saleswomen in certain departments, the ticket seller at cheap shows, and a number of other varieties that will suggest themselves to the average woman shopper.

"Skill, of course, is required in such work, but as one girl said to me: 'It's your looks that hold your job.'

"I know one of these commercial beauty models whose likeness is seen almost everywhere—in cars, in railroad stations, in drug stores, on fences through the country roads, in magazines and newspapers. Nature had endowed her with a wonderful head of beautiful golden brown hair, naturally wavy, thick and long.

"Before she became a model and while employed as clerk in a wholesale drug business a customer noticed her hair. She wore it simply, in two braids circling her head. He asked her to pose for an advertisement of a hair tonic which he had discovered. She posed in a dozen different ways with her hair down.

"'But of course,' she told me, 'in each pose the artist retouched my face slightly—changed my nose, my chin, my eyes, to make it appear to the public that a number of consumers of this hair grower had testified to its merits.'

"'And did you like the tonic?' I asked.

"'Like it?' she sniffed. 'I never tried it!' she added, 'I never use any of the goods I demonstrate.'

"But how does a 'green' girl break into this profession? How are they chosen by their employers? The story of a milliner's model now employed in a shop on Fifth avenue will suggest the usual method. The beginning of the story is identical with that of almost all working girls—her parents were poor and she had to leave school at 14 to help earn a living for the family.

"I started as a cash girl in a department store and was assigned to the millinery department. Even then I had a good figure for my age, and I always had lovely hair, which I wore in two braids down my back.

"One morning just before the spring millinery season opened the superintendent of the department ordered me to come into his office at noon. I did not know what was going to happen to me. I thought that I had done something wrong and that perhaps I was going to lose my job. Frightened and nervous I entered his office.

"'There I found a number of girls trying on hats and the superintendent looking them over carefully and saying 'You are too short.' 'No, you won't do; your hair is too thin.'' Without a word of explanation a hat was placed on my head and I was ordered to take a certain pose. I felt the superintendent's sharp eyes go over me and the next moment he snapped out 'The rest of you can go.' And then to me: 'You're all right—just the type of girl I want. You've got the hair, the complexion and the figure I am looking for—but you must put on more style. Understand? More style!'"

OUR GROWING APPETITE.

In 1899 the American hen laid eggs in sufficient numbers during the calendar year to amount to seventeen dozen for each inhabitant of the United States. Omitting all thought of adding a single egg to the individual share of eggs, but merely to maintain the 1900 proportion of eggs to population the hens of the United States in 1910 must be laying annually 221,000,000 dozen more eggs than they laid in 1899.

The per capita product of milk in the year 1899 was 95.6 gallons per annum. To maintain this per capita for the benefit of our increment of population, says the Atlantic, the milk supply in the year 1910 must exceed that of 1899 by 1,242,800,000 gallons.

To maintain butter, of which the per capita amount produced in 1899 was fourteen pounds, at the same per capita in 1910 the aggregate production must exceed the former figure by 182,000,000 pounds.

Of potatoes, that other staple of human consumption, the per capita product at the last census was about four bushels; hence in 1910 to maintain the potato supply for our newcomers but not to increase it for the rest of the community to the extent of even one potato each (one potato apiece means approximately 180,000 bushels), there must be raised 52,000,000 bushels more of this homely but useful vegetable than were reported in 1899.

What this product means is best noted by observing that to supply it would consume the entire potato crop as reported at the last census of the states of California, Colorado, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Maine, Maryland and North Carolina.

Missourian Refuses to Tell of Balances in Bank.

Springfield, Mo., June 2.—Following his refusal to give information regarding the cash balances of certain depositors on June 1, 1910, W. B. Sanford, cashier of the Holland Banking company, was ordered committed to the custody of the sheriff by the county board of equalization here today. He was held to be in contempt of the board.

The order of the board was that he be kept in jail until he was willing to answer questions asked him. The filing of a writ of habeaus corpus prevented the order from being carried out. The board adjourned until June 7 and by that time the case will have been tested in court.

MADERO GOING TO THE CAPITAL

Will Consult With De La Barra About New Government.

El Paso, Tex., June 2.—Francisco I. Madero will begin his journey today to the City of Mexico, where he will discuss with President De La Barra the problem of forming a new government for Mexico. Senor Madero is due to arrive in the city at 10 a. m. next Wednesday.

Those selected to accompany him included Raoul Madero, his brother, and Francisco Madero, Sr., his father; Col. Guiseppe Garibaldi, and many minor officers who participated in the revolution.

Senor Madero himself was greatly pleased with the prospects of his reaching the City of Mexico.

"It is, of course, the climax of the revolution," he said. "It seems our triumph is complete; we began our fight in the open field; now we are marching in peace to the stronghold of those who were once our foes.

"No one, six months ago, would have believed that so great a change could come to a country. Then the country was divided between bitter enemies. Now I trust all the hatred will be forgotten, for after all, it was a hatred merely for a social condition. As Mexicans we are all brothers. I trust tranquility will spread throughout the land."

MOISTURE IN NORTHWEST

Wheat Opens Weak, Bulges, Then Declines—Scalpers Take Profits.

Hessian Fly Scare in Southwest a Factor---Precipitation Lacking.

Duluth Board of Trade, June 2.—Wheat opened easy, declined and then worked higher on account of the strength at Winnipeg and in Chicago July, declining toward the close when scalpers took profits. The rains of last night extended into Northern Nebraska. Unsettled weather is predicted for tonight in the Northwest. In the Southwest the skies will be clear. July wheat closed unchanged and September was ½c off. Cash was ½c over July. Durum July lost ¼c; oats lost ¼c; rye was unchanged.

Linseed was firm. July gained 1c, September walked forward 3c and October gained 2c. Cash equalled July. Foreign markets were unchanged. An Antwerp letter said: "The tendency of the market is quiet and there are no pressing offers from shippers. The new crop quotations in Duluth have drawn general attention and the weakness shown in America has had a quieting effect on sentiment on this side. The sensational break of old crop quotations has had comparatively little influence except to give an unsettled feeling all around. There is little ambition among sellers to make concessions. There is some disposition to sell the new crop Azov seed. An offer of Duluth - Manitoba seed for October-November, at the parity, $2.08, is probably of speculative origin. September-October Azov seed is quoted at $2.03."

Wheat was influenced more by crop conditions in the Southwest than in the Northwest and after the early weakness caused by rains in the Northwest, values advanced steadily. The market was nervous but the pressure on September wheat which was insistent in the early hours subsided and the market yielded to the support which was given the nearest delivery.

The Hessian fly is becoming a market factor. Whether it is causing the damage that is reported is not now consequential. The important fact is that the reports of damage from ravages by this insect in Indiana, Ohio, Missouri and Illinois are being used by the bulls as a market factor with some degree of success. The dry weather in the states indicated is conducive of the propagation of these insects. Indiana is more widely affected than any other state. The damage this far is not severe but the presence of the pest seems to be noted in many and widespread localities.

Snow wired that the rains of last week were insufficient in the Southwest and that a return of hot weather will work further damage to the winter wheat. Precipitation has been scant in the last two or three weeks in the Southwest at a time when the wheat was filling. The Oklahoma and Texas crops are conceded to be partial failures and the excellent promise that was manifested by the winter wheat in Kansas seems to have been reversed. The government's report as of June 1 is expected to show great deterioration in the leading winter wheat states.

Receipts of wheat at primary centers are fairly large, but have taken a sharp slump from the large receipts in the last week of May. Minneapolis stocks decreased 225,000 bu this week, and Duluth stores are expected to decrease 250,000 bu compared with an actual decrease of 480,000 bu a year ago. Stocks of linseed will increase about 2,000 bu compared with an actual decrease of 69,000 by a year ago.

World's shipments of wheat are liberal and may be 2,000,000 bu in excess of last week, or about 16,000,000 bu. Exclusive of North America, the shipments of wheat and flour are estimated by Broomhall at 12,400,000 bu compared with 10,472,000 bu a week ago. Argentine and Indian shipments will be higher.

Foreign Crops.

Foreign crop advices continue favorable except from France. In that country dry weather is reported to be injuring wheat. Crop reports from Roumania and Russia continue excellent in tone. Foreign shorts evince an inclination to cover because of fear of manipulation of the July option in the Chicago market.

Riding of Toledo wired the Kentucky report on winter wheat as 95 per cent of normal compared with 97 in May, 82 last June and the government's May report of 92, which indicated a crop of 16,000,000 bu. There is some complaint in Kentucky of rust and dry weather. The Modern Miller's report was bullish, deterioration in most of the winter wheat states being claimed.

There was no expert business today. The bears are watching closely and demand that may transpire for the "corpse" held by the recent bulls in the May deal. A leading St. Louis long defaulted about 225,000 bu and the Chicago Board of Trade will investigate the so-called May "corner." The defaulting long claims the closing price of May was fictitious.

It is not liable that much of the cash wheat held by the recent bulls in May will be exported. The bulls, claim, however, that the winter wheat crop in this country will be short of normal and that there will be a demand for their supplies. If the winter wheat crop makes a normal yield and the spring crop comes along in good shape the cash supplies held by the leading holders would ordinarily be regarded as great menace to buyers. The trade is watching closely the situation as it shapes itself. The next few weeks will doubtless bring out many determining factors to influence values.

The St. Louis Modern Miller said: "Reports of milling correspondents on the condition of winter wheat indicate a good deal of deterioration since May 1st, the greatest loss in the Southwest being caused by drouth and heat. The dry hot weather also unfavorably affected the more easterly states to a more or less extent. Numerous reports are of small heads and long straw and of thin stands, but just as numerous reports are of fine prospects. Hessian fly has caused material damage. The average condition by states on June 1 compared with May 1 follow: Michigan 89 vs. 91, Ohio 84 vs. 88, Indiana 87 vs. 90, Illinois 84 vs. 86, Missouri 90 vs. 92, Nebraska 86 vs. 88, Kansas 70 vs. 76, Oklahoma 56 vs. 67, Texas 65 vs. 83, Kentucky 90 vs. 92, Tennessee 88 vs. 88."

Chicago wired The Herald: Directors of the Chicago Board of Trade at a secret meeting have recommended changes which, if adopted by the board, will prevent manipulators from cornering the wheat market. The action was the result of an investigation following an effort of dealers here to corner May wheat. The proposed change will be proposed in the pit and provides that in the event "a short" defaults in his deliveries, the board shall appoint a committee of three to determine at what price he must settle with the buyer. It also provides that a defaulter can be penalized not less than 5 nor more than 10 per cent for damages to the purchaser.

Minneapolis wired Baker: Cash wheat steady, elevators and mills buying. There are better inquiries for flour in the market and millers are hopeful that the stronger tone in the wheat market will stimulate activity.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: Wheat—The market opened steady and ½d higher, partially reflecting the advance in America yesterday. There was covering by nervous shorts on fears of manipulation at Chicago. Following the opening an easier tendency developed and realizing took place and prices declined ½d to ¼d from the opening. Pressure was the result of the unexpected liberal shipments from Argentine, no response in the Buenos Ayres close to the American advance and continued favorable Argentine Russian and Roumanian crop advices. Spot markets were quiet and cargoes were more freely offered and estimates are for world's shipments over 2,000,000 bu in excess of last week and continued liberal shipments from Argentine to the United Kingdom. At 1:30 p. m. the market was easier and ¼d to ⅝d higher than yesterday with the general disposition to realize over the holidays. Corn—The market opened ¼d higher and later advanced an additional ¼d to ¼d on the strength in America, firmness in Buenos Ayres and the bullish Agentine estimate on the yield. At mid-day the market was firm with sellers few. On account of Whitsuntide holidays this market will be closed from tonight until Wednesday morning. Spot markets—Wheat and corn both quiet and unchanged. Cargoes—Wheat arrived off coast nil and awaiting orders, two. Wheat to distant positions dull with a limited demand. Corn quiet with more pressure to sell. Broomhall estimates the wheat and flour shipments for the week, exclusive of North American at 12,400,000 against 10,472,000 bu actual last week. Of this Europe will take about 11,200,000. The total shipments last week, 13,440,000; last year, 9,184,000 bu. Arrivals of breadstuffs into the United Kingdom will aggregate about 4,000,000 bu. He predicts a fair increase in the quantity of breadstuffs on passage. Argentine shipments this week, 3,752,000; last week, 1,800,000; last year, 560,000. Corn shipments nil; last week, 17,000; last year, 1,292,000. Visible supply in chief ports wheat now 2,464,000, week ago, 3,128,000; year ago, 880,000. Corn now 587,000; week ago, 686,000; year ago, 3,910,000. The wheat market is quiet with buyers reserved and the demand small. The corn market is firm owing to the small receipts and the poor quality of arrivals from the interior.

SPRING WHEAT IN FIRST CLASS SHAPE

WHEAT ACREAGE.

	Herald's Estimate.	Government for 1910.
Minnesota	5,580,000	5,580,000
North Dakota	7,621,000	7,221,000
South Dakota	3,867,000	3,650,000
Montana	410,000	195,000

Seldom has the wheat crop of the Northwest been in a more favorable position than at present. The acreage is larger than ever before. According to reports to The Herald the acreage sown to spring wheat in the four Northwestern states is approximately 17,888,000 compared with the government's estimate of 16,946,000 for last year, an increase of about 5½ per cent over the government's figures for 1910.

As of June 1, Herald reports indicate that the spring wheat showed a condition of 94.1 per cent of normal. Since the report was compiled heavy rains have fallen in North Dakota. That state has sufficient moisture to enable most parts of it to go without moisture for the next thirty days. The entire state was drenched last night. The western part got a soaking rain. The middle portion got the heaviest rainfall of the year and the eastern part received a fair supply of moisture. The wheat situation in North Dakota could hardly be improved upon and prospects point to the biggest crop in the history of the state if the present promise can be maintained.

In Montana rains fell in the agricultural districts in the east last night. That state has plenty of moisture and further rains will not be needed for two weeks. The nature of the soil is such that moisture will be needed frequently, however. On account of dry farming methods, however, the state can get along with less rain than its neighbors. The acreage sown to spring wheat increased more than 100 per cent. The winter wheat is in excellent condition.

In this state conditions are almost ideal. The temperatures were hot only for a week. Since seed went into the ground there has been sufficient cool weather to enable the wheat to send its roots down deeply. There have been scattered reports of grasshoppers in the Northwestern part of Minnesota but careful inquiry fails to reveal any damage from the pests.

In South Dakota wheat is not in as good condition as in the other three states. In many places it is spotted and the growth is thin on account of early dry weather but it is not seriously damaged and if good rains come in the near future it should make a normal crop. The South Dakota acreage is slightly under the figures given above as some ground has been ploughed up following the hot dry winds of three weeks ago.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Fear of Manipulation Makes Wheat Options Unsettled.

Chicago, June 2.—Fear of manipulation brought about an irregular unsettled market for wheat this morning. The July and September options pursued different paths, and during a good deal of the time one delivery was up when the other was down. Predictions, however, that world shipments would be more than 2,000 bu, in excess of liberal advances. The opening was ¼c lower to ⅛c up. July started at 90⅝c to 90⅞c, the same as last night to ¼c down, rose to 91c, and then fell back to 90⅝@90¾c.

Scorching dry weather southwest caused later a decided return of strength which was added to by news of grasshoppers in Minnesota and of Hessian fly in Indiana. The close, however, was easy on profit-taking. July sold finally at 91⅜c, a net gain of ⅛c.

Corn rallied because country sales were only fair. The easy tone at the outset was attributed to absence of any notable demand. July opened unchanged to ⅛c off at 53⅞c to 54⅛c, and recovered to 54⅛c.

With weather and crop conditions favorable to sellers, the market subsequently eased off. The close was steady at 53⅜@53⅞c, a net decline of ⅛@⅜c.

Strength developed in oats because of dry weather complaints from France. Sellers were scarce. July started at 36¼c to 36⅜c, last night's level to ⅛c below, and then climbed to 36½@36⅝c.

An unexpected increase of local stocks made provisions weak. First sales were 2½@5c to 10c lower, with July pork at $14.70 to $14.75 and September lard and ribs respectively $8.17½ and $7.82½.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Is Firmer on Unfavorable News of Winter Crops.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 2.—Wheat was firmer on unfavorable news from the winter wheat states. The Northwest news was better than ever with crops fine and an inch of rain last night at Bismarck in the dry country. Minneapolis July held back and only partly followed the advantage elsewhere and was quick to go back down when selling came on. Minneapolis received 129 cars against 159 cars last week; shipments, 58 cars.

July opened 96⅜@96⅞c; high, 97½c; low, 96½@96⅝c; closed, 96¾@96⅞c. September opened 91⅞c; high, 92⅝c; low, 91½c; closed, 92c. December closed 91¾c.

The cash market was better. Premiums ranged ½-2½c over July for No. 1 northern, but the wheat sold more readily and millers took more of it. Closing: Cash No. 1 hard, 99¾c; No. 1 northern, 97½@99¾c; to arrive, 97¼@99c; No. 2 northern, 94¾@97¾c; to arrive, 94¾@97½c; No. 3 wheat, 92¾@95¾c; No. 1 durum, 87¾c; No. 3 yellow corn, 51¼@51¾c; No. 3 white oats, 34½@35c; No. 2 rye, 90c.

Millstuffs—Shipments today, 1,863 tons. Unchanged but in better tone and firmer at the figures. Demand a little better; close: Bran in 100-lb sacks, $20.50@21.00.

Flour—Millers found a change for the better in the market, but the output remains very light with less than half the capacity operating. Prices went up 10c on the higher wheat cost, although there was no round lot business, sale better than for some time past. Shipments 44,765 bbls. Second patents, $4.70@5.00; first clears, $3.30@3.60; second clears, $2.30@2.95.

Barley—Receipts, 7 cars against 35; shipments, 13. Only one car of good malting barley. Sellers contended that the situation has changed and any good demand would advance prices, but buyers refused to be scared and still held off. It is thought that the run of California barley is about over. Malting barley, 68@86c; feeding barley, 58@68c.

No. 1 flaxseed, $2.22; to arrive, $2.22.

Liverpool Grain.

Liverpool, June 2.—Close: Wheat—Spot steady; No. 1, Manitoba, 7s 5¼d; No. 2, Manitoba, 7s 3¾d; No. 3, Manitoba, 7s 1½d; futures easy; July, 6s 10½d; October, 6s 8¾d. Corn—Spot new American mixed, no stock; old American mixed, quiet, 5s 3d; new American kiln dried, easy, 4s 9½d; futures, firm; July, 4s 9¾d; September, 4s 10⅝d.

New York Grain.

New York, June 2.—Close: Wheat—July, 97¾c, September, 95⅝@95¾c. Corn—July, 61¼c; September, 61⅝c.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Reactionary Tendency in Last Hour, But Recovery Followed.

New York, June 2.—Pronounced strength was shown in the opening transactions in stocks today, with especial activity in the steel group and the Hill stocks. United States Steel opened with a block of 2,500 shares at 76⅞ to 77¼ compared with the close last night of 76⅝. Republic Steel preferred gained ¾ and Colorado Fuel a point. Great Northern preferred advanced 1¼ and Northern Pacific a point. The general list was active with a number of substantial gains, including advances of ¾ by New York Central and Union Pacific.

Operations for the long account were conducted with great confidence and the eager absorption of all classes of stocks impressed the short interest sufficiently to retire some of their outstanding contracts. Certain stocks were influenced by special developments such as the projects for listing abroad of Atchison and American Telephone & Telegraph, and the financing of the Hill group, but the market in general reflected the change in sentiment that has been the outgrowth of opinions expressed in the supreme court decisions in the trust cases. The feature of dealings was the heavy buying of various bonds in blocks of $100,000 and $200,000. Advances in the first hour ran between 1 and 2 points for many of the principal stocks.

A number of stocks were carried to the highest level of the year this morning, in a movement which embraced all the important issues. The feature of the movement, regarded as most significant, was that from its beginning on Wednesday, the lead has been held by railroad issues, the industrials, prominent recently, dropping into the background. The market showed less evidence of manipulation and seemed to reflect a more confident spirit.

The demand for railroad issues was inspired largely by April reports, demonstrating that effective steps had been taken to expedite traffic.

Further weakness in American Tobacco securities had no effect upon the general list. The common stock dropped 12 points to 400 on the curb and the bond issues were also sold freely.

Bond market firm with a large inquiry for various convertible issues.

The government's report on cotton furnished more ammunition for the bulls and was directly reflected in the Southern group of stocks, Louisville & Nashville, Atlantic Coast Line, Chesapeake & Ohio and Illinois Central making advances of 1 to 2 points. Renewed interest was also shown in the copper issues. Amalgamated Copper, American Smelting and Tennessee Copper gained 1 and National Lead 2½. The market took an immense amount of realizing during the morning, but its ability to digest all offerings and the varied character of the demand were highly gratifying to the bull leaders.

The market closed strong. A reactionary tendency developed in the last hour, Pacific and Northern Pacific declining a point, with substantial fractional recessions elsewhere in the active group. There was further weakness in the American Tobacco issues, the preferred stock falling 1 point, with a 2 point decline in the 4 per cent bonds. In the final trading there were almost complete recoveries.

HOUSE COMMITTEE IS NOT SATISFIED BY GARY'S STATEMENT

Will Call Other Men to Tell About Steel Corporation Doings.

Roosevelt and Root May Be Asked About Tennessee Deal.

Chairman of Directorate Flatly Contradicts What Gates Said.

Washington, June 3.—Because of the marked discrepancies in the accounts of the absorption of the Tennessee Coal & Iron company by the United States Steel corporation in the panicky days of 1907, as given by John W. Gates and Elbert H. Gary, the Stanley "Steel Trust" committee of the house has determined that further light on that deal must be obtained and that every person who had anything to do with it should be examined.

The committee is again considering the necessity of summoning Former President Roosevelt and Former Secretary of State Elihu Root for verification of the conferences with Messrs. Gary and Frick on the Tennessee transaction.

Hearings Again Wednesday.

Chairman Stanley said today that the steel inquiry would be pushed forward as rapidly as possible, although no further hearings will be held until next Wednesday, when Mr. Gary, chairman of the Steel corporation directorate, will continue his recital of organization and methods of operation. John Lambert of the Republic Iron & Steel company also will be a witness on that day. Mr. Lambert was in Washington yesterday ready to testify.

The committee also is considering the advisability of holding sessions in New York, where there are many witnesses and much material of the Steel corporation which Mr. Gary frankly told the committee it could have access to. One of the men summoned to testify said today that he had been informed that he might not have to return to Washington, but could hold himself

VETERANS' BAN ON GIRLS "ASTRADDLE"

Ex-Confederates Disapprove of Way They Rode in Parade.

Nashville, Tenn., June 3.—Because several girls were mounted astride in the recent Confederate parade at the Little Rock reunion, the local bivouac of Confederate veterans last night adopted this resolution:

"That no woman shall appear in the parades of the camps, the state divisions or the general association astraddle, and, should any so appear, the officers in charge of said parade shall politely request that they retire."

The resolution requested generals not to appoint young women as staff officers.

LIGHTNING FIRES BIG OIL TANKS

Quarter of a Million Dollars Damage Done Near New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., June 3.—Eight immense oil tanks of the Indian Refining company, several miles below this city on the Mississippi river, containing 30,000 barrels of gasoline and 2,000 barrels of kerosene, valued at $250,000, were destroyed by fire last night and this morning. The fire was started when a bolt of lightning struck one of the tanks.

CHURCH AGAINST THE LAND AGENTS

Brethren Ministers May Be Forbidden to Do Such Work.

St. Joseph, Mo., June 3.—Two important questions to be taken up early next week in the business meetings of the world's conference of the Church of the Brethren, in session here, are those of members of the church voting, and acting as land agents.

In the past it has been the policy of the Brethren not to vote. But lately many of them have voted and a statement of the position of the church may be made.

It is said much harm has been done by Brethren ministers engaging in the land business, which the standing committee characterized as "considered, even by the world, a questionable vocation."

The standing committee of the conference has agreed upon the Southern Pennsylvania district as the place for the 1912 conference, and Washington, D. C., in that district has invited the church to meet there.

CAMORRIST TRIAL SUFFERS DELAY

Defendants Declare They Are Being Dealt With Unfairly.

Viterbo, Italy, June 3.—Owing to the illness of one of the jurors, the sittings of the Camorrists' trial, it was announced by the president of the court today, have been postponed until June 7.

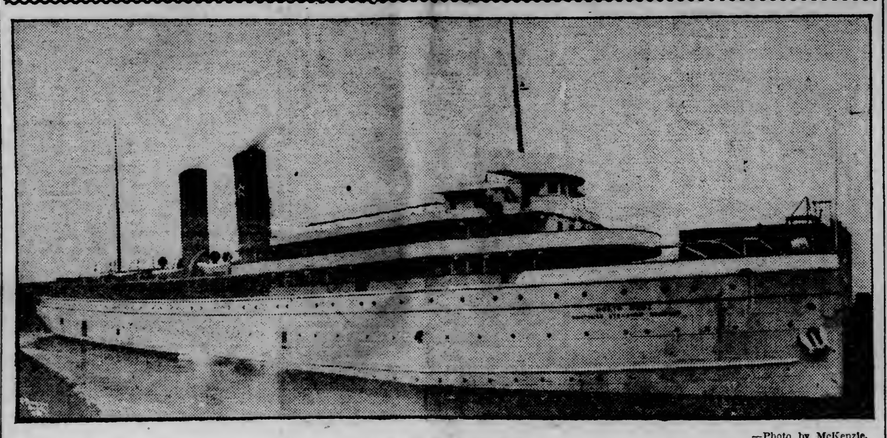

The Camorrists were plainly dissatisfied at the interruption of the trial, it being understood that the real reason for the delay was to give the court officials, jurors and lawyers an opportunity to go to Rome to witness the unveiling on June 6 of the monument to the late King Victor Emmanuel II. They protested energetically aginst the postponement, saying that the trial had lasted long enough. Ciro Vitozzi, the priest prisoner, exclaimed:

"These are the effects of Italian unity."

CINCINNATI HOTEL DAMAGED BY FIRE.

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 3.—Fire early today caused damage estimated at $5,000 to the Hotel Walton on Walnut street between Fifth and Sixth avenues. About fifty guests in the hotel became panic stricken when aroused from their sleep and fled to the street in their night clothes. All have been accounted for.

The request was telegraphed to the senate committee on privileges and elections by Mr. Lorimer, who is in Chicago. The committee, it was said, would be glad to hear him.

MARK TIME IN MURDER CASE

Chemist's Report Awaited in New York Bath Tub Mystery.

New York, June 3.—Until they receive a report from the chemists examining the contents of the victim's stomach, the police expect to make little progress toward finding the perpetrator of the bathtub murder.

Henry A. Scheib, husband of the young woman, whose body lay at least four months in the tub of an East side flat before it was discovered, will be arraigned today.

The finding of a half empty bottle of ether in the bathroom where the body lay has added to the complications of the case. The coroner says that if Mrs. Scheib was first drugged and then, while insensible, allowed to drown, decomposition has advanced so far that it will be difficult to detect such evidences of foul play. Physicians differ as to whether the woman was dead before her body was put in the tub.

Release Is Denied.

In denying Scheib's application for release yesterday, the court laid stress on the fact that he had failed to report his wife's death, although evidence indicated that he had visited the flat several times after she died.

It will be ten days or two weeks before the analysis of the contents of the woman's stomach is completed.

PLAGUE AND SMALLPOX CAUSE SIXTY-ONE DEATHS.

Amoy, China, June 3.—Fifty-four deaths from bubonic plague and seven fatal smallpox cases were reported by the health officials here during the fortnight ended yesterday.

Managua, Nicaragua, June 3. — The steamer Eureka, which is reported to have cleared from San Francisco, May 13, with a cargo of munitions of war destined for Nicaraguan revolutionists, arrived yesterday at Amapala, Honduras. The vessel was light and the ship's papers apparently correct.

At the meeting when consolidation was considered, the vote was 55 to 13.

Prof. Robinson of Minnesota Addresses Chicago Conference.

H. Parker Willis of Washington Also Defends Taft Agreement.

Chicago, June 3.—Prof. E. V. Robinson of the University of Minnesota, addressing the Western Economic Society conference on reciprocity today, said in part:

"The fundamental fact underlying the argument for reciprocity is that the benefits of commerce are ever mutual. Neither side gains at the expense of the other; both gain in that their wants are better satisfied through the exchange of products than if each country endeavored to produce everything needed for its own consumption.

"The whole economic activity of man, indeed, amounts to an attempt to supplement the spontaneous products of nature (which would support at most a few score thousand savages in the

ONE KILLED IN SOO WRECK

Eight Coaches Plunge Into Washout Near Vergas, Minn.

Wife of President of N. O., M. & C. Railroad the Only Victim.

Vergas, Minn., June 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. L. S. Berg, wife of the president of the New Orleans, Mobile & Chicago railroad, was killed, and Berg was seriously injured in a wreck of the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie, No. 109, northbound for Thief River Falls, at 11 o'clock last night. A few other passengers sustained slight injuries. The wreck was caused by a washout in a cut a mile south of Vergas, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. Berg were en route to Winnipeg in their private car, which was destroyed. Mrs. Berg's body is still at the depot at Vergas. Mr. Berg, who had not lost consciousness, was taken south in a relief train, probably for treatment at the nearest hospital, at Henning. He may, however, be taken to the Twin Cities. It is thought he will recover.

Stockholm, Sweden, June 3. — The second squadron of the American Atlantic fleet, composed of the battleships Louisiana, Kansas, New Hampshire and South Carolina, arrived here today for a week's visit. MINNESOTA "U" STUDENTS TO FLY

Will Try Out Home-Made Aeroplane at State Fair Grounds.

St. Paul, Minn., June 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Students of the engineering college of the state university will test the ability of man to fly through the air in heavier than air machines when they attempt to operate a monoplane of their own construction tomorrow at the state fair grounds. Robert C. Oram of Willmar, M. S. Larson of Red Wing, and Irving D. Bishop of Minneapolis, three senior engineers, who built the monoplane as their graduation thesis, finished its construction yesterday.

An attempt at flight was made Monday with a smaller engine than is now connected with the machine, but the horse power was not sufficient and the engine was supplanted by another of 26-horse power taken from an automobile. Fred Parker, the amateur St. Paul aviator of Hamline, assisted the students in installing the engine in the aeroplane.

North Land Scorched But Is Saved By Being Towed Away.

Mammoth Passenger Boat Probably Will Be Rebuilt.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 3.—The mammoth lake passenger steamer North West, owned by the Northern Steamship company, was damaged to the extent of nearly $600,000 by fire early today. Nothing but her steel hull remains.

Both steamers were at their dock in this city, being overhauled for the season opening June 31.

The fire was caused by an explosion of oil. Four watchmen narrowly escaped serious injury and were able to get ashore and turn in an alarm. When the fire tugs arrived the North West was a mass of flames, and it was with difficulty that the North Land was towed out of danger.

It is said that the North West, which plied between this city and Duluth, probably will be rebuilt. The steamer was valued at $1,000,000 and was one of the finest afloat on fresh water.

The North West was built about fifteen years ago and had a passenger capacity of more than 500. Her length over all is 386 feet. She is of 5,000 tons, with 8,000 horsepower.

Covered by Insurance.

The damage done by the fire is covered by insurance. Repairs on the North Land, which will be necessary to the extent of about $2,000, probably will be completed before the scheduled date for her initial trip to Chicago and Duluth. The advance bookings on both steamers had been unusually heavy. With the exception of the commissary department both boats were fully stocked for the season.

The rapidity with which the fire spread through the North West probably is explained by the fact that 200 gallons of paint were stored in the

BANKS DO NOT GUARANTEE BILLS

Cotton Brokers Lose Suit Over Knight, Yancey & Co. Losses.

New York, June 3. — The cotton brokers have lost their test suit to make the banks pay losses the cotton firms suffered through spurious bills of lading issued by Knight, Yancey & Co., the bankrupt Southern cotton brokers. The appellate division here unanimously affirmed a supreme court decision setting aside a verdict for $39,910 in favor of the cotton exchange firms of Springs & Co., against the Hanover National bank, and ordering a new trial.

The court holds that banks discounting drafts or presenting them for payment do not "guarantee the genuineness of bills of lading attached to them as collateral security."

Springs & Co. paid a draft for the amount sued for, which was collected by the Hanover National bank for Knight, Yancey & Co., with bills of lading attached separately found to be fraudulent.

CASTRO NOT ON SHIP AT HAVANA

He Is Believed to Have Disembarked While at Las Palmas.

Havana, June 3.—Cipriano Castro, the former president of Venezuela, could not be found on board the steamer Legazpi, which arrived last night from Las Palmas, Canary islands.

It had been reported that Castro was attempting to return to Venezuela, from which country he is an exile.

According to the officials of the ship, a passenger who unquestionably was the ex-president, under an assumed name, boarded the Legazpi at Cadiz April 14, but left the ship on arrival at Las Palmas three days later.

The second consignment of 144 tins, worth over $3,000, has never been accounted for, although it is believed that it reached the American side and is concealed somewhere in this city. Wagner will have his examination June 12.

It is alleged by the customs officials that there is now in the Canadian Soo $30,000 worth of opium awaiting an opportunity to be brought across the border. They also state that the operations are in the hands of an organized gang of smugglers, who until recently made their headquarters in Albany, N. Y., but that things got too warm for them there and they were obliged to change their base. The loss of 144 tins leaked out through correspondence between the Eastern parties and those having charge of operations here. It is expected that other arrests will follow soon.

CLOQUET OPERA HOUSE CROWDED

At Annual Commencement of Cloquet High School Graduates.

Cloquet, Minn., June 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Long before 8 o'clock last night crowds were turned away from the Nelson opera house, the seating capacity of the house having been already taxed to the utmost to accommodate those who desired to witness the commencement exercises of the graduating class of the high school. The program opened with two selections by the high school male quartet, "Far at Sea" and "Ching-a-Ling." Ambrose Frederickson, as class salutatorian, gave an address entitled, "The Call of America," being followed by Gladys Wright, who gave the class history, enumerating the funny stunts and experiences of four years' high school life. "The Negro, His Relation to Civilization," was the subject of an earnest address by Arvid Nelson, and the young man showed considerable feeling for his subject.

Miss Anna Michaelson, well known as a soloist in Cloquet, very beautifully rendered "Crossing the Bar." Miss Lottie Wilson gave, with exceptional ability, an oration entitled, "The Age of Democracy."

Class Poem Is Read.

The class poem followed, written in the style of Hiawatha, and surpassed anything of the kind given in school circles here. Miss Lillian Ryan was the author. Louise Swenson looked into the approaching future and prophecied the events of the coming years, and William Johnson read the class will. John Moody rendered a beautiful violin solo. Mr. Moody is one of Jens Flaaten's pupils and recently played first violin at a concert given by the Flaaten orchestra in Duluth. Cloquet is generally proud of his abilities. Herbert Sell, as valedictorian, give an excellent address with the class motto, "We Have Crossed the Hills, the Mountains Lie Before Us," as his theme.

Superintendent's Last Address.

At the close of the program City Superintendent of Schools Peter Olesen addressed the class for the last time as their instructor. He was accorded an expressively respectful attention by the class and the audience. He spoke of the several vocations which members of the class have chosen to follow, music, hospital service, teaching, the law, medicine. Of the latter he said: "Remember that a physician to be worthy the name, should be at the service of his people twenty-four hours in the day and 365 days in the year." Of the law he counseled that Lincoln be the model, that they take no case in which they do not believe that their side is the right, and then to go into it body and soul. Of teaching he urged that the highest motives be incentive to the vocation; told them not to mind the knocks and discouragements, but to go cheerfully on knowing that it is often thankless work, but to remember that "The Great Teacher of mankind was nailed to a cross." Mr. Olesen's address to the class was touching and kindly and bespoke the pleasant relationship of superintendent and pupils. It is generally felt that the graduation this year has been very successful as not one of a class of twenty-seven, the largest ever graduated, failed to come up to grade, and in the eighth grade fifty-five out of about sixty students were given diplomas, the per cent of promotions being larger than ever before.

Lunch For Graduates.

Following the commencement exercises at the opera house Mrs. John McKenna served an elegant banquet to the students of the graduating class and the faculty of the high school, in honor of her son, Evelin, who is president of the class and its star athlete. The rooms were decorated in blue and white, the class colors and school pennants, and the tables were beautifully appointed and decorated with carnations and smilax. Peter Olesen acted as toastmaster and toasts were responded to by Mr. Persinger, the principal of the high school, and Miss Kuntz for the school, and by Evelin McKenna and Florence Blair for the high school.

Woman's Happiness

The highest point of woman's happiness is reached only through motherhood, in the clasping of her child within her arms. Yet the mother-to-be is often fearful of nature's ordeal and shrinks from the suffering incident to its consummation. But for nature's ills and discomforts nature provides remedies, and in Mother's Friend is to be found a medicine of great value to every expectant mother. It is an oily emulsion for external application, composed of ingredients which act with beneficial and soothing effect on those portions of the system involved. It is intended to prepare the system for the crisis, and thus relieve, in great part, the suffering through which the mother usually passes. The regular use of Mother's Friend will repay any mother in the comfort it affords before, and the helpful restoration to health and strength it brings about after baby comes. Mother's Friend is for sale at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

Read This, Mr. Taxpayer

If YOU own any property in Duluth and pay your taxes, YOU know whether the present tax-rate is high or low and YOU know whether YOU want that tax-rate made higher.

Well, a Municipal Electric Lighting System, which a few well-meaning but misguided persons are so eager to have this City build, would inevitably cause a higher tax-rate—would compel YOU to pay MUCH HIGHER TAXES on the same property you pay taxes on now.

Would a Municipal Lighting plant enhance the value of YOUR taxable property? You know that it would not.

But you want to know how and why a Municipal plant would make YOUR taxes higher. Here are the FACTS:

The City has no ready money to build such a plant, but would have to sell new bonds to get the necessary money. The City has authority from the State Legislature to issue bonds for this purpose, in an amount not to exceed $700,000.

We know that an adequate Electric Lighting system that would provide the kind of Service Duluth is entitled to CANNOT BE BUILT FOR $700,000. The Assessor's records show that the Duluth-Edison Electric Company is paying taxes on an actual valuation of $1,187,900—and that represents only the value of this company's physical or material property; good will and going value are not included in this figure, but they have a very real value.

But, even supposing such a Municipal plant could be built for $700,000, the bonds would have to pay 5 per cent (otherwise no market could be found for them), and 5 per cent on $700,000 is $35,000 a year. The cost of operating the plant would amount to several thousand dollars more every year. And there would have to be a heavy depreciation charge, because Electrical equipment depreciates faster and becomes obsolete sooner than any other kind of machinery.

The total yearly cost to the City of a Municipal plant could hardly be less than $100,000—far liklier it would be more than that. Where is all that money to come from, but FROM THE POCKETS OF THE TAXPAYERS?

Now the City pays the Duluth-Edison Electric Company, for all city lighting, incandescent as well as arc lights, ONLY $31,658.31 A YEAR. Under our offer for a new lighting contract the City can get 93 MORE ARC LIGHTS than are now in use, without paying one cent more than that $31,658.31 a year.

Do YOU see any good reason why YOU should be called on to pay still higher taxes simply to let the City play a losing game?

Think for yourself on the FACTS of this question—and read the next "Lighting Talk," in next Tuesday's Herald.

STUDY AUTO ROAD TO TWIN CITIES

St. Paul Men and Secretary Cooley Go Over the Entire Line.

St. Paul, Minn., June 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Murray of the St. Paul Automobile club, accompanied by two friends and a mechanician, left St. Paul this morning by automobile for an inspection of the road to Pine City, Minn. At that point he will meet George W. Cooley, secretary of the Minnesota Highway commission, who, with members of the board, has been inspecting highways in the vicinity of Duluth.

Mr. Cooley and his party were expected to leave Duluth this morning in an automobile and both parties expected to arrive in Pine City about the same hour. Mr. Cooley will report on the condition of the roads between Duluth and Pine City, so that complete data will be available for the use of Twin City autoists on the road from here to the Head of the Lakes.

"The Best in the World"

As the bride led her friends into her cool, spotless kitchen, they broke into a chorus of approval.

"Well, I am proud of it," she said, "and proudest of all of my stove. It's a New Perfection Oil Cook-stove, and I think they are the best in the world. They toast, roast, broil and bake equally well—really to perfection—and the kitchen stays much cooler and cleaner than with any other range. This stove cuts my kitchen work almost in half."

There is no wood or coal to carry for a New Perfection; no ashes to clean up. It is ready for use as soon as lit; out at a touch of the fingers—economical as well as quick and convenient.

New Perfection WICK BLUE FLAME Oil Cook-stove

Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners, with long, turquoise blue enameled chimneys. Handsomely finished throughout. The 2- and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without a cabinet top, which is fitted with drop shelves, towel racks, etc.

NEW BOARD STARTS WORK

Selection of Tracts for State Reclamation Project Is Begun.

State Forester William T. Cox Looking Over North Country.

W. J. Brown of Warren, A. J. McGuire of Grand Rapids and W. R. Mackenzie, the members of the state reclamation board, left this morning for Two Harbors to select in Lake county one of the ten tracts on which they are to make a demonstration of the possibilities of reclamation work in Northern Minnesota.

The members of the board will return to Duluth this evening. Tomorrow they will go out over the line of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad to view the work the railroad is doing in developing its land. At the samo time the board will probably select a tract for the reclamation work in St. Louis county. It was originally intended to select the tract near Floodwood, but the board found that no state land was available in that district, so the selection will be made in this part of the county.

Monday the board will split, Mr. Brown going to Roseau and Marshall counties to locate tracts, while Mr. Mackenzie and Mr. McGuire will visit Itasca, Aitkin, Cass and Hubbard counties. The three members will meet again next Friday at Park Rapids, where the Northern Minnesota Editorial association will be in session. After the editorial association meeting they will go to Beltrami and Koochiching counties and make the final selections.

After the ten tracts have been located the board will hold a meeting and lay plans for future action. No time will be lost in getting to work, as the board members want to complete their demonstration work in plenty of time to report results to the legislature at the next session.

There is no doubt on the part of any of the board members as to the results that will be shown. All are confident that their work should not be regarded as an experiment, but rather as a demonstration of what can be done by intelligent handling of state lands.

The reclamation board was accompanied on the trip to Lake county this morning by State Forester W. T. Cox. From Lake county Mr. Cox will go to Virginia, then to Koochiching county, back to Bemidji and then to Park Rapids for the editorial association meeting. Mr. Cox intends to get into intimate touch with present forestry conditions in the state as soon as possible. He has a good knowledge of conditions from his work in the United States forestry service, but he is anxious to supplement it with personal observation in the different counties in the northern part of the state.

FAKERS LOSE INCOME.

"Art" Frauds Are Unearthed at Atlantic City.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 3.—Hundreds of visitors to this resort will be interested to learn that the beautiful sand statues, modeled on the beach by supposed impecunious artists, are rank frauds and have been built on completed frameworks of steel and cement, with only a thin covering of sand.

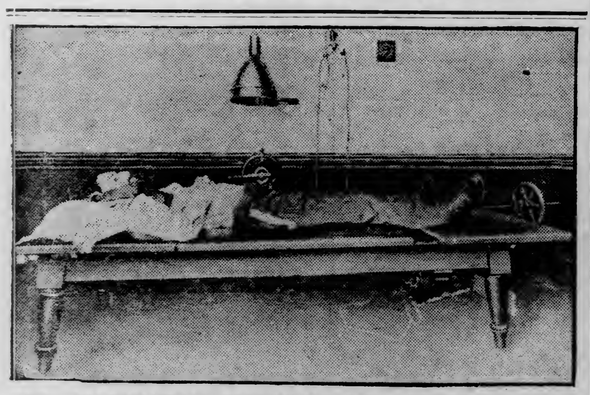

The frauds were unearthed when Mayor Stoy ordered the beach cleared. Tons of steel and iron framework and cement were removed amid the protests of the "fake" artists, whose appeals to visitors to help pay their way through art schools, always brought them a generous response.

DULUTH MEN GUESTS AT RECIPROCITY MEETING.

G. G. Barnum, D. T. Helm and George Spencer will represent the Duluth Commercial club at the meeting of the Western Economic association, which will be held in Chicago this evening. The association will hold a banquet and speeches will be made in favor of reciprocity. The meeting is a form of protest against the activities of the so-called "protected interests" which are fighting reciprocity.

SCANDINAVIAN LANGUAGES PROPOSED FOR HIGH SCHOOL

Committee Asks Board to Have Elective Subjects Introduced.

Little Accomplished at Long Session of Board of Education.

The big hand on the clock in the board of education meeting room in the Central high school building was well on its way toward the midnight hour before the board adjourned last night. Very little was accomplished, the evening being given over almost entirely to the hearing of petitions and discussions on routine matters.

The placing of Swedish, Norwegian and Danish as elective subjects on the course of study in the Central high school and also in the Irving Industrial high school, if possible, was requested by a committee of Scandinavian residents of Duluth, representing the Scandinavian people of the city. The committee presented twenty-nine resolutions, adopted by churches, societies and clubs of the city, urging upon the school board the advisability of taking that step.

The committee was headed by Rev. Carl Solomonson, and the other members were John J. Moe, Dr. J. J. Eklund, Rev. Swaney Nelson, George M. Jensen, Rev. John K. Bjerke, Anton Ringsred, Dr. D. E. Seashore, Gust Mattson and Rev. J. H. Stenberg.

In urging that the board take the action requested, Rev. Solomonson pointed out that credits are given at the state university for study in the Scandinavian languages, while the Minneapolis high school has had the three languages on the course of study for some time. He also pointed out that the employment of teachers for those subjects alone would not be necessary, as teachers who could teach the Scandinavian languages, and other subjects as well, could easily be obtained.

Rev. Solomonson gave figures showing that in 1906, there were in Duluth 17,308 people of Swedish birth and descent, 9,952 of Norwegian birth and descent, and 1,773 of Danish birth and descent, making a total of 31,460 Scandinavian people, counting in the Swede-Finns. The population of Duluth at that time was 64,942, making the percentage of Scandinavians, 48.4 per cent.

Other members of the committee addressed the board, calling attention to the beautiful literature of the Scandinavian peninsula. They declare that the study of any language is intended to give the student access to its literature in the original, and that the children of Scandinavian parents should be given the advantage of studying their mother tongue, in order that they might enjoy its literature. The literature loses much in the translation, they said, so that anybody who does not know it in the original, does not appreciato it.

The practical side of a knowledge of a Scandinavian language in a community having such a large Scandinavian population was also pointed out to the board.

No action was taken last night, as three members of the board were absent, as was Superintendent Denfeld. The matter was referred to the committee on schools and teachers for a report at a later date.

It looked for a few minutes last evening as though the subject of dancing in the schools might be reopened. When the resolution prohibiting dancing was adopted by the board a year ago, alumni associations were specifically mentioned. Last night petitions from several alumni associations came in, requesting the use of the schools for alumni association meetings. The board decided to grant the petitions, each association to be warned that there must be no dancing in connection with the meetings.

L. A. Barnes opened up the question of the nine-months' school year. He said that although the school year was to be nine months, the board has been splitting the difference and making it thirty-eight weeks. He moved a reconsideration of the action of the board in fixing the next school year at thirty-eight weeks. There was a tie vote on the motion, Directors Barnes, Stevens and Evered voting for it, and Directors Cobb, Campbell and Magner voting against. Directors Brewer, Crosby and Boyer were absent. The motion was lost on the tie.

Dr. Codding, former chairman of the board, appeared and asked that the plot of ground at the northeast corner of the high school property be not made a playground, but that it be seeded or sodded and made a beauty spot. It is too small for a good playground, and playing ball on it only causes a window expense, he said. The contract for the graveling of the tract had already been let, but the contractor had agreed to cover the tract with loam and seed it for $25 less than the contract price, $255, and the board decided to amend the contract to conform with his offer.

Bids for the erection of a storehouse for the Washington Manual training school were received as follows: Jacobsen Bros., $653; William Fawcett, $656; E. H. Lovald, $681; J. A. Robert & Co., $683; Richard Hanson, $765, and Theodore Nauffts, $850. The bids were referred to the committee on buildings and grounds, and a report will be received at the next meeting.

Bids for equipment in the manual training school were also received as follows: Burgess Electric company, $433.75; Richardson Electric company, $290. They also were referred to the committee on schools and teachers.

A communication from an insurance agency, asking that it be given part of the insurance on the new Jerome Merritt school, caused Alderman Barnes to break out against what he characterized as "the damnable monopoly that prevails in fire insurance matters in this district." Mr. Barnes said that the insurance should be distributed among different agencies instead of among five agencies.

The report of Supt. R. E. Denfeld on the enrollment in the schools caused something of a thrill at the board meeting. The report for the month ending May 5 showed an enrollment of 14,522, against 12,999 for the corresponding period last year, an increase of 1,523.

The board showed an economical streak last night. Treasurer Cobb said that the board should be very careful about making expenditures that are not absolutely necessary at this time, as he would consider the board fortunate if it did not come to Aug. 1 with a heavy overdraft on the general fund. The fitting out of rooms for manual training, one in the Irving school for grade work, and the other in the Jackson school, came under the ax last night, the board deciding to hold the matter up for economical reasons. The purchase of additional equipment for the Washington manual training building was also held up.

The following new teachers were engaged: Frances J. Quilliard, domestic science; Florence Gaumnitz, domestic science; Force Aikin, domestic science; Ethel Rockwood, Carrie I. Castle, G. A. Wyly and Edith L. Maichel, high school. The following resignations were accepted: Helen M. Shaver, Prudence Scriver, Cordelia Essling and Lottie Dwyer.

Clerk C. A. Bronson will decide the location of the Ensign school as a voting precinct. The voters of the Third precinct of the Seventh ward have been using the school as a voting place. The voters of the First precinct of the same ward claim the school is in their precinct and requested the board, last night, that they be allowed to use it.

How you may profit by it. Take Foley Kidney Pills. Mrs. E. G. Whiting, 360 Willow street, Akron, Ohio, says: "For some time I had a very serious case of kidney trouble and I suffered with backaches and dizzy headaches. I had specks floating before my eyes and I felt all tired out and miserable. I saw Foley Kidney Pills advertised and got a bottle and took them according to directions, and results showed almost at once. The pain and dizzy headaches left me, my eyesight became clear, and today I can say I am a well woman, thanks to Foley Kidney Pills. For sale by all druggists.

TAFT TELLS KNOX TO DENY REQUEST

House Committee Is Refused Access to Papers About Missing $1,600.

Washington, June 3.—A lively controversy over the executive's right to withhold confidential papers from a congressional probing committee has been precipitated at the capitol by a flat refusal of Secretary of State Knox, on the instruction of President Taft, to lay before the house committee on expenditures in the state department, books showing the record of the payment for the portrait of Ex-Secretary of State Day.

The committee is seeking to discover what became of the $1,600 balance on the $2,450 voucher drawn for the payment of the portrait. Artist Rosenthal received only $850 for his work and the $1,600 is yet unaccounted for.

From Emergency Fund.

The president held that the $2,450 was paid out of the emergency fund for unforseen emergencies in the diplomatic and consular service and for extending diplomatic intercourse with foreign nations, which congress had provided need not be accounted for if the president certifies that an item should be paid from this fund. President Roosevelt had made a certification and President Taft hesitated to go back of that certification. Furthermore, Secretary Knox explained to the committee that it was improper to produce the books because thereby undisclosed items of expenditure would be revealed. Secretary Knox said he was directed to complete his investigation as to what became of the money and to report the facts to the president.

Chairman Not Satisfied.

Chairman Hamlin of Missouri took issue with the secretary's asserted right to refuse to produce the record of the expenditure.

"Do you mean to say that $2,400 may be spent for a portrait and congress refused all information in regard to it?" he asked.

Secretary Knox replied that it was proper when a former president certified to the expenditure from the emergency fund.

Mr. Hamlin threatened to take the matter to the floor of the house. A colloquy between Chairman Hamlin and the secretary finally resulted in the decision that the chairman might be allowed personally to inspect the particular record. This course will probably be followed. Mr. Knox said that the books showed no further information than the committee was in possession of.

Mr. Root, who was secretary of state about the time the portrait was paid for, will testify next Tuesday as to what he may know about the case.

OIL COMPANY DENIED THE USE OF THE MAILS.

Washington, June 3.—Fraudulently exaggerated prospectuses have led to the issuance by Postmaster General Hitchcock of a mail fraud order against the Haiwes Pacific Oil company of Oakland, Cal. This company was investigated at President Roosevelt's direction in 1908 and soon discontinued the use of the name and picture of Mr. Roosevelt.

The secretary, C. Howard Merritt, was recently indicted, found guilty, and sentenced to six months imprisonment and to pay $1,000 fine, but on appeal gained his liberty. The report to the postmaster general says the company was continuing its activity.

FIRE COMMISSIONERS AWARD THREE CONTRACTS.

The Pittsburg Coal company was last night awarded the contract for supplying the city fire department with its next season's coal by the board of fire commissioners. The estimated cost is $3,000. The laundry work was divided between the Acme and Peerless laundries. The board approved the appointments of E. G. Swanson, F. E. Gustafson and M. L. Lewansfkori to the fire fighting force.

UNCLE SAM'S CATSUP.

He Gets 798 Cases of Relish By Confiscating It in Federal Court.

"The United States vs. Seven Hundred and Ninety-eight Cases of Tomato Catsup" was the title of a case decided in the federal court yesterday afternoon in which the government was decreed the victor. It was found that the catsup was misbranded within the meaning of the law and ordered confiscated.

Upon providing a bond of $1,000 not to sell the stuff it may be returned to the makers, the Harbauer-Marleau company of Toledo, Ohio. The government recently started a similar action against a barrel of vinegar.

TWO RESCUED AFTER FLOATING FOR HOURS.

McAlester, Okla., June 3.—After floating on a log in a flooded stream nearly twenty hours, Mrs. Sallie Tripp, who with her mother and brother and sister were swept into the Canadian river by a freshet, was rescued in Gaines creek, two miles above where that stream empties into the Canadian.

A few hours later her brother, Tilton Glover, 12 years old, was rescued in Long Tom creek.

The bodies of the mother and a sister, Roxie Glover, aged 18 years, have not been found. Roxie Glover was to have been married yesterday. The family was fording the river in a wagon when a wall of water swept them away.

GROWING CONFIDENCE IN TRADE REPORTS

New York, June 3.—R. G. Dun & Co.,s Weekly Review of Trade today says:

Continued conservation, combined with growing confidence, appears in trade reports. The fact that one after another of perplexing uncertainties is passing and that crop prospects are increasingly favorable, create the distinctly better business sentiment, although curtailment, readjustment of prices and moderate purchases in satisfaction of immediate wants still characterize the actual trade movement. The most active trade movement is at present in exportation to foreign lands and this constitutes a strong situation. The fact that in Canada business is moving briskly is also a good augury.

Significant developments in iron and steel are still confined to the matter of prices and recent events in this respect have tended to accentuate the feeling of uncertainty. Announcement of reductions ranging from $1 to $4 per ton on various classes of finished products closely followed the lowering of qoutations on steel bars, but this has appeared to restrict rather than stimulate buying. Considerable activity, however, is noted in the structural division. Demand from the railroads for bridge and other construction made up less than half that aggregate, but the rail mills have secured additional orders for 20,000 tons of standard sections and a contract for double that amount is pending. Export business is also more satisfactory. Pig iron shows little animation in the Pittsburg district, as consumers pay little attention to future requirements, but furnace interests are not offering below $15 valley.

Cotton goods are holding the slightly higher values recently established and more business is passing. Curtailment has become drastic, probably more than representing the decreased volume of distribution and consumption and is due mainly to the disparity between the cost of production and selling prices. Dress goods trade is very quiet. Despite some adverse factors, merchants in the dry goods trade manifest a larger measure of confidence in the future than they did a month ago. There is good business in wool at eastern centers, through tradine is checked by the higher prices demanded.

Improvement continues in footwear, but wholesalers display conservatism owing to the many styles offered.

The leather market gradually improves, although the buying is still largely for current needs.

DENVER BANDITS IN BATTLE WITH POLICE.

Denver, Colo., June 3.—Trailed to their room in a hotel, two highwaymen made a stand against three detectives late last night, and in the battle which followed one of the bandits, James Lynch, was perhaps mortally wound. Both admit holding up street car conductors and pedestrians recently, the police say. Frank Ince, companion of Lynch, was taken into custody.

Ince declares he came here with Lynch about three weeks ago from Omaha and that Lynch is an ex-convict, having served a sentence in the Nebraska penitentiary.

MINNEAPOLIS SWINDLER FOUND DEAD ON COAST.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 3.—A body found floating in San Pedro harbor Saturday has been identified as that of C. Caddigan, wanted in Minneapolis, Minn., on a charge of having operated a gold-brick swindle. The body was identified by Caddigan's wife's son. Extradition was granted on him this week.

MASTERS OF MEN'S DISEASES

The study of men's ailments is as broad as life and as complex as nature. It is therefore impossible for any doctor to master the treatment of all human ills. The man who attempts to do so is able to cure only the most simple ailments. The ordinary physician is like the man who attempts to master every branch of mechanics, from watchmaking to shipbuilding. Such a man becomes neither a good watchmaker nor a successful shipbuilder. When the ordinary physician treats men's ailments, HE RARELY EFFECTS A CURE.

We Are Specialists in Men's Ailments

Established In Duluth for 20 Years.
NORTHWEST'S MOST RELIABLE SPECIALISTS IN DISEASES OF MEN.

Our practice is confined wholly to the ailments of men, and the fact that we invariably cure every case that we accept for treatment PROVES that our methods are correct. Indeed, we have for twenty-five years made a specilty of men's ailments and have so closely studied them that we are able to meet every phase and condition of each individual case, and to effect a permanent cure in a very short time. We are never for a moment in doubt as to our course. We know just what to do and HOW to do it, to obtain satisfactory RESULTS. This explains why our practice has grown to be by far the largest in the Western part of America.

So confident are we that we can effect a thorough and LASTING CURE in each case that we accept for treatment, that we will give a Written and Binding GUARANTEE TO CURE YOU.

Bear in mind that we could not afford to do this if we did not KNOW that our treatment would not fail. We are the only doctors who dare to make such a proposition. Under no circumstances do we ever take cases for treatment that are doubtful. Hence, if we accept your case for treatment you may absolutely rely upon it that we will cure you.

Our Methods Are Original

with us, and the result of many years of special study and experience. Instead of filling our patients up with powerful drugs and stimulants, we apply soothing, healing and absorbent electricity and X-ray DIRECTLY to the AILING REGION, and thus aid nature in overcoming the trouble. The best that human skill can do is to ASSIST NATURE. It is nature that performs the cures. Powerful drugs taken through the stomach do not cure. They merely set up a new disturbance in the system, which, for a time, diverts the energies from the old trouble to the new attack. This process is invariably attended with a reaction, and in consequence, leaves the patient in a worse condition than before treatment. Another method employed by another class of physicians is to dose the sufferer with tonics, which exhilarate the patient so that he actually believes himself improving under such treatment. But after a very short time these stimulant medicines cease producing the desired effect, when the ailment gains a new and firmer hold upon the patient.

How We Cure

Our method of treatment overcomes inflammation and congestion, rheumatism and stomach trouble, kidney and bladder disease, by aiding the tissues of the ailing region to throw off the poisonous secretions and the deadly toxins caused by the ailment. Some of these toxins are more poisonous than the virus of the rattlesnake's fangs. Thousands of the cases of sudden death which occur with alarming frequency in every city in the land, are directly due to toxic poison, although such cases are usually pronounced "heart failure," or heart disease. Our treatment completely eliminates every trace of ailment and accumulated poisons from the system, and thus allows nature to perform a COMPLETE CURE.

Do Not Be Deceived

Our methods have revolutionized the treatment of ailments peculiar to men, and consequently altered former medical theories. Imitators of our system of practice have sprung up everywhere. A pronounced success in any field of human endeavor begets imitators. The facts are that NO OTHER PHYSICIAN ANYWHERE TREATS MEN'S AILMENTS BY OUR METHODS. Our treatment is the ORIGINAL and ONLY GENUINE Direct-Method Treatment for the Ailments of Men. We will build up your physical strength; brighten your mental faculties; restore your powers by promoting increased nervous energy and good circulation to weak organs. Our methods in other Pelvic disorders are just as satisfactory. Varicocele, Hydrocele, Urethral Obstructions, Unnatural Discharges, Blood Poison, Sores, Ulcers, Prostatic Troubles, Painful and Distressing Symptoms that accompany Kidney, Bladder, Rheumatism, Skin Diseases, Sciatica, Tumors, Stomach Trouble, Prostatic Affections, Piles, Pimple Eczema, and Urinary Diseases cured by painless methods. Every man who has the misfortune to be afflicted with any of the above ailments should at once face the seriousness of his malady. Don't experiment with disease. Come to us at once. You want the best medical treatment obtainable.

We have cured thousands of patients for the last twenty years in Duluth. We stay right here and never move from city to city, like other so-called specialists.

We are permanently located at No. 1 West Superior street, corner Lake avenue, Duluth, and can be consulted free of charge, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 8 p. m. daily. Sundays 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. Consultation and correspondence free and confidential

A city never "happens;" there is always a need for it. The need may exist a long time before the city comes, or it may be so suddenly insistent that it will cause the birth of the city almost over night; but a real need MUST be there.

This is the rock upon which cities are founded.

Given the NEED for a city at some point—spread perhaps over many score square miles—the next thing is to determine JUST where that city will grow.

A city always follows the line of least resistance.

Let us apply these axioms to the Head of the Lakes.

The great, dominating industry at the Head of the Lakes is to be the steel industry; that is an established fact.

Where, then, has this industry located? When we know that we know also the location of the future business center. And we know that NOW.

But wait; there are complications here: BEFORE the location of the plant was decided upon, a prosperous city was already established at the Head of the Lakes; will not the tens of thousands of steel workers with their families choose rather to live in an established city than to build one for themselves? NO! That is economically impossible.

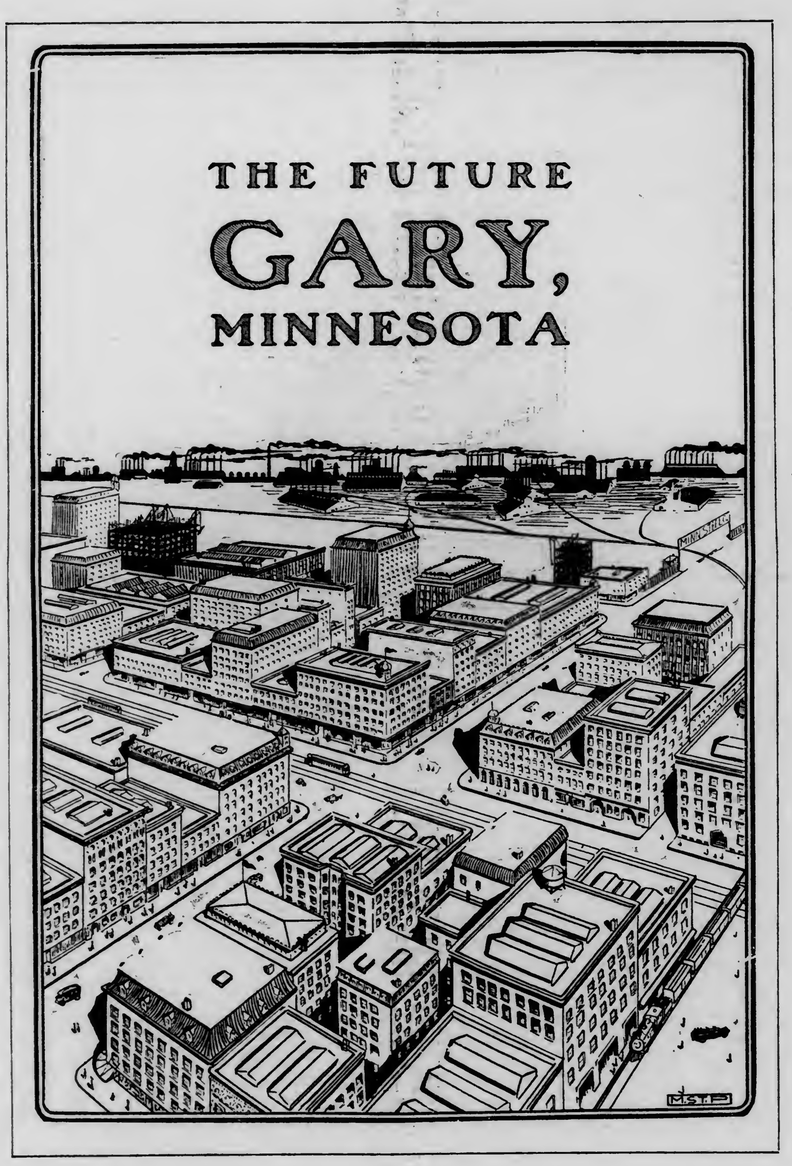

A twelve-mile strip of land, over which never more than one street car line can ever pass, must always divide the business centers of the two cities—Duluth and the Steel Plant City—hemmed in by tree-clad bluffs on one side and the river on the other. It would cost many hours of precious time daily to traverse that twelve mile one-line car system (stopping at every other block, as a one-line car must, to accommodate its passengers).

The need for a place for the steel workers and their families to LIVE is the primary cause of GARY, MINN.

Where there is the most land; where the land is most easily obtained from the original owners; where it is most readily prepared for building purposes; where it is easy for railroads to reach it, and for ships, if it is to be a harbor city; where all natural road and waterways converge: THERE the great industrial center will infallibly establish itself, and after it the city.

AFTER it, because a city requires population; and population is impossible until every unit of it can find a place to work and earn the wherewithal to LIVE.

GARY, MINN., is situated at the very gates of the Minnesota Steel Plant, in the heart of a fine, level plateau; shut in on one side by magnificent, tree-clad, rocky bluffs; on the other by the St. Louis river and the property of the Steel Company.

The topography of the country is this: Gary to the south; on the north the rock wall; on the west the St. Louis river; on the east the 1700 acre site of the Minnesota Steel Plant.

Midway through the heart of the city runs Gary Street; the only street that can ever reach the entrance to the Steel Company's property.

In the center of the city, Commonwealth Avenue, the only street along which Duluth and Superior can ever reach the Steel Plant, bisects Gary Street at right angles. Every human being having business at the Steel Plant MUST pass the point where these two streets intersect.

The Minnesota Steel Company, alone, calculates on employing between ten and twelve thousand permanent employes within the next five years. Add to this number the employes at the Universal Portland Cement Company, which has already decided upon a half-million dollar plant adjoining the Steel Plant; add also the employes of the countless other industries which will be economically forced to locate close to this vast steel-producing plant.

—It means a population of between fifty and sixty thousand, at least, at GARY, MINN., and that within five years!

GARY, MINN., is absolutely under the control of ONE firm:—the same who induced the Steel company to locate at Gary, and who sold them their site. The lifelong aim of this firm has been to see a great city at Gary, Minn.; and to this end they have looked far into the future in laying out the townsite of Gary; reserving an amplitude of dock frontage and frontage on the Belt Line R. R. (which connects Gary directly with 40,000 miles of railroad; is the KEY to all, yet is owned by none).

To this end, also, they have declined to sell Gary lots to any save legitimate investors, who buy to build, either for themselves, or for others.. The object of this policy is to prevent the townsite from passing into the hands of small speculators, who, by methods of exploitation, would heavily discount the future of the city; and seriously retard, if not permanently hinder, the growth of the city.

Lots in Gary, Minn., will be sold only as developments warrant; there is a need for three hundred business houses and dwellings this season—very well then, only three hundred lots will be sold!

Because, while necessity commands a city at Gary, Minn., and nothing can prevent that city from growing; yet it can and would be immensely held back and marred by attempting to outgrow natural requirements.

St. Paul did that:—property there split up into divided ownership too rapidly. That's why Minneapolis is nearly three times as large as St. Paul today. Because when railroads and great industries wanted to come into St. Paul, they found that they would have to dicker with, and pay the exhorbitant prices of, hundreds of small speculators.

Up the river lay Minneapolis, with thousands of acres of fine lands under undivided ownership. Minneapolis made it very easy for the railroads and great industries to come over to her:—and they came!

The same situation is hampering and holding back Duluth today; too diversified ownership. It is a fundamental fact that the city in which it is difficult for a railroad or plant to get a right-of-way or a site will never get either if there is anywhere else, equally good, to go, where the same condition does not obtain!

Hence the resolution to hold Gary, Minn., back from destroying its own prosperity; hence the resolve to sell exactly enough of it, and no more than enough, to cope with present-day requirements.

Gary, Minn., is going to be a great city—the commercial and industrial center of the Northwest—that is her certain destiny; an attempt to force the growth of the city could only result in the passing of great sections of it into the hands of speculators, and in consequent great harm to the future prospects of the city; to the interests of the pioneer business men, and to the great interests behind the whole.

About one thousand men will be employed at the Steel Plant this summer; and a need therefore NOW exists for homes, boarding houses, hotels, lumber and coal yards, planing mills, etc., and for business houses sufficient to care for the needs of that number.

A restricted sale of lots in the First division of Gary, Minn., will therefore be held on Saturday, June 10th.

Applications can be made either at the office on the grounds, or at the Duluth office of A. C. Volk & Co.

(Arrangements have been made with the Walton Company of this city to erect homes on the small monthly payment plan for all who desire them and who purchase lots in Gary, Minn.)

LONG CUT NEAR SHORTLINE PARK.

Higgins & McDonald, contractors for the rock cut work on this end of the Canadian Northern railway's new line to Duluth, take a most important part in the building of the new railroad.

The railroad entering the city from the north has to contend with a good many natural obstacles, chiefly the rock formation along the lake shore and river front. For eighteen miles out of Duluth the Canadian Nothern line traverses a country which necessitates many deep rock cuts and fills to ovecome precipices and chasms.

The Shortline Park hill has to be tunneled. The tunnel job is not handled by Higgins & McDonald, Foley, Welch & Stewart having sublet this contract to another contractor. However, the approaches, 500 feet on either side of the tunnel and several other important cuts and fills are being made by Higgins & McDonald.

The cut at Smithville, known as the Stewart creek cut, has been finished. About 7,000 cubic feet of rock was taken out and has been dumped alomg the right-of-way where it is needed. The Stewart creek cut was a high one in places. At its highest point, the cut is 29 feet deep. The cut at the tunnel approach, Shortline Park, necessitates the removal of 40,000 cubic yards of rock.

E. G. Pake Victim of a Fatal Accident at Madera.

Had Just Completed Erecting a Saw Mill at That Point.

E. G. Pake, a former West Duluth man and well known lumberman, who built the Alger-Smith mill in West Duluth and the Mitchell-McClure mill in Superior, back in 1890 and operated them for many years, was killed Thursday at Madera, Mex., according to advices received yesterday at West Duluth.

Mr. Pake was 69 years old and was a resident of the Head of the Lakes for many years. He had recently finished superintending the erection of a large mill at Madera, Mex., and was to have left in two weeks for California to build another mill in that state.

The death of Mr. Pake was due to an accident in the mill of the Madera Lumber company. He has a son, Dr. S. G. Pake of Superior, who has left for Madera, to get the body which will be brought to Superior for burial.

NEW TRIAL IS REFUSED

West Duluth Man Convicted of Arson, Fares Prison Term.

Judge Cant refused Henry C. Henriksen a new trial this morning after his attorney, John Jenswold, Jr., had made the motion and argument.

Henriksen is the West Duluth man who some months ago was tried and found guilty in district court, of arson in the third degree. He was found guilty of having set fire to his dwelling house, a brick structure at 331 North Sixtieth avenue west.

Henriksen's attorney claimed that there had been at the time of the trial, misconduct on the part of the county attorney. The county attorney is said to have intimated to the jury that Henriksen lied on the stand and declared that if the Henrikesn dog could talk, he could be put on the stand and the true facts of the case be disclosed.

The attorney for the defendant objected to this. He also claimed that the evidence in the case did not justify the verdict; that the verdict was contrary to law and that the court erred in charging the jury.

Immediately after hearing the arguments of the attorneys, Judge Cant denied the motion for a new trial. Henriksen is out on $1,000 bond. The county attorney attempted to have the amount raised but the court refused to allow the increase.

OPINION IS REQUESTED

The water and light department has asked the opinion of the city attorney on its right to grant a special rate to charitable institutions, and also the right to consider anything but business in the fixing of rates.

The request for the opinion grows out of the petition of the Children's Home for a special rate for water. After the petition was received, Manager Case wrote to the other cities, under the instructions of the board, and inquired as to the course pursued. It was found that in some cities special rates were given, while in others the water charges for charitable institutions were paid out of the city funds.

Assistant Engineer Kelly of the water and light department put on a diver's suit for the first time in his life this week. He entered the intake pipe at the Lakewood pumping station and examined the first and second joints. He found them in good condition and his report, recommending the acceptance of the work on those joints, was presented to the board at its meeting this week. The contractor is now working on the placing of the rip-rap.

Race Meet July 4.

The first racing matinee of the season will be held on July 4, according to plans made yesterday at a meeting of the Lake Superior Driving association. Plans were made to secure a larger and better list of entries than ever before and the track will be placed in the best possible condition. The annual meeting of the association will be held June 15, when officers will be elected. C. H. Mason is acting as temporary president.

Home Talent Entertainment.

The local talent production "The House That Jack Built," staged by 250 school children and under the direction of Mrs. Woodward Kirkpatrick, made a big hit with a large Superior audience at the Grand Opera house last evening. Almost every seat in the house was taken and the crowd was a responsive one. The performance will probably be repeated.

School Annual Out.

The "Gitche Gumme," the official organ of the student body of the Superior normal school is off the press. The journal, this year, is a 100-page book and is filled with many pictures of the class members, faculty and views about the school, besides interesting data concerning the school. Florence Perrin was editor-in-chief.

Improving System.

The Superior Water, Light & Power company will rush work on the improvements to the system, which have been started at the East end. A concrete addition, 40 by 70 feet, is being erected. It will cost $7,000. A new reservoir will also be installed. H. G. Porter, an engineering expert from New York city, is in Superior to superintend the work in conjunction with W. C. Lounsbuy.

Large Graduating Class.

About 300 children will graduate from the public schools this month, eighty of this number being from the high schools. All of the schools are busy with preparation for commencement exercises. Rev. R. A. Barnes will deliver the baccalaureate sermon for the high school students on June 11.

Parsons-Howell.

Miss Adelaide Parsons of the Superior Normal school faculty and E. L. Howell, a business man of Chicago, will be married in Superior Monday. Miss Parsons is supervisor of practice in the normal faculty and is a graduate of the state normal school at Plattsburg, N. Y., and of Columbia university, N. Y.

A jury in district court thing morning brought in a verdict awarding Matt Charron $5,000 in his personal injury suit against the Northwestern Fuel company. This is the fourth trial of the case and it is understood that it may be appealed.

SCHOOLS TO CLOSE SOON

Nearly 1,000 Pupils Expected to Complete Grade School Work.

Central High School Class Expected to Number About 105.

The public schools of the city will close June 16. About 105 students will complete their course at the Central high school, about thirteen will be graduated from Irving Industrial high school, and over 700 children will complete their eighth grade work in the various public schools. The parochial schools are expected to swell the number of grade school graduates to about 900.

The grade school kraduating exercises will be held this year at the various schools instead of at the Central high school, as in former years. It has been the custom to have the grade school exercises on two days, one day for the schools west of the Point of Rocks, and the other day for the buildings east that dividing line. Teachers, students and parents had to make the trip to the Central high school for the exercises, so that the crowd was often too large and the program too long.

This year, exercises will be held at the various schools Thursday afternon, June 15. There may be some difficulty in assembling the crowd in some of the schools, but the buildings so handicapped will be few, as in this, buildings which have no assembly hall, the wide corridors will accommodate the crowd, except in one or two cases.

The Irving Industrial high school graduating exercises will be held at the school on the evening of Thursday, June 15. The number of graduates has not been definitely settled, but it will probably be thirteen.

The exercises of the Central high school will really begin with the alumni play for the benefit of the Charles A. Smith memorial scholarship fund Friday evening, June 9. The play is arranged and given by the alumni and is not a part of the school exercises, but the entertainment and the cause for which it is given are so intimately connected with the school that it is counted in the list of school exercises.

Wednesday, June 14, will be class night, and the commencement exercises will be held Friday, June 16. The junior-senior gathering will be held on the evening of Thursday, June 15.

The suspension of the year's work and the closing exercises in the parochial schools of the city will be as follows: Cathedral high school, June 15; St. Anthony de Padua school, June 16; St. Clement's school, June 18; Christian Brothers' high school, June 19; St. Jean Baptiste school, June 21.

The Council Meeting.
The council meeting Monday evening promises to be rather quiet, with routine business largely occupying the attention of the aldermen. The resolution for better street car service during the rush hours will be brought up, but it is not likely that any action will be taken on it which will be of a drastic nature. The question of purchasing an automobile for the board of public works and the engineering department is also scheduled under unfinished business.

Customs Report.
The imports of the local harbor for the month of May according to the report now completed by the customs officers shows that merchandise valued at $6,750 was received, of which $1,491 was duty free, while $5,259 worth of goods carried a duty upon it. The direct imports amounted to $2,281, while that from exterior ports was valued at $4,469.

The Figure

How Too Much Fat May Be Safely Reduced at Home.

"Oh, that this too, too solid flesh would melt!" cry the ladies nowadays as they try to squirm into a princess frock. How much would the too generously proportioned dame not give up for four inches less in the waistline as she compares herself with the more fortunate one hundred and twenty-five pound sister. Various devices are suggested to arrest the flesh producing tendency and keep the figure trim, including exercising, walking and dieting as well as numerous patented remedies, but there are objections to all of these. Exercising is hard work and takes up precious time; dieting is distasteful and a real punishment, and most of the patent remedies are dangerous to health.

The very best thing for the overfat, whether male or fmale, is a simple home receipt: ½ oz. Marmola ½ oz. Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, 3½ oz. Peppermint Water, which can be obtained of any druggist at small cost. This should be taken a teaspoonful at a time after meals and at bedtime, and results will be both speedy and certain. This is a harmless mixture that cannot bring on any stomach troubles nor cause the dried-up wrinkled appearance of those who starve or take "patent reducers" to get thin. On the contrary, although it often takes the fat off at the rate of a pound a day, it is really very beneficial to the system, cleansing the blood and causing the complexion to become fair and beautiful. The cost of the three ingredients is a mere bagatelle, and one may, if they prefer, get them separately and mix them together at home.

'Cascarets' Best for Biliousness

You know when you need Cascarets. You feel a certain dullness and depression—perhaps the approach of a headache. You say, "I am bilious and I must take somthing tonight." But why do you waste the day? It is easy to keep at your best at all times if you'll do it. The way is to carry a box of Cascarets with you. Take one just as soon as you need it. Then the clouds rise at once.

The need for Cascarets is a natural need. Don't think that you are drugging yourself. We must get a laxative some way. If we don't get it through exercise and through proper food, we must get it otherwise. Cascarets are the next best way.

Ask your doctor about it. He will tell you that the day of the violent purgatives, such as calomel, pills, salts, castor oil and catharties, is past. This is the day of the gentle in medicine, the natural, the pleasant. Cascarets act just as certain foods act—just as exercise acts — on the bowels—on the liver. Get a 10 cent box and take one now.

It is Criminal to Neglect the Skin and Hair

THINK of the suffering entailed by neglected skin troubles — mental because of disfiguration, physical because of pain. Think of the pleasure of a clear skin, soft, white hands, and good hair. These blessings, so essential to happiness and even success in life, are often only a matter of a little thoughtful care in the selection of effective remedial agents. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment do so much for poor complexions, red, rough hands, and dry, thin and falling hair, and cost so little, that it is almost criminal not to use them.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a postal to "Cuticura," Dept. B, Boston, will secure a liberal sample of each, with 32-page booklet on Skin and Scalp Treatment.

CROOKSTON TAKES PRIDE IN HAGEN

Native of City Who Graduated Fifth at Annapolis Academy.

Crookston, Minn., June 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ole O. Hagen of Crookston who stood fifth in the seven "stars" of the graduating class of the United States naval academy at Annapolis this year as announced in press dispatches, is a product of Minnesota, having been born here twenty-one years ago. He is a brother of County Attorney E. O. Hagen, his brother, Chris O. Hagen is chief clerk of the bureau of education in the Philippines, and his third brother, Edward, is municipal court stenographer in this city. He has two sisters, Mary and Thora, both teachers, who are in Annapolis attending the social functions at the naval academy this week and the graduating exercises today.

lar with his fellow students and other associates. His father, Ole Hagen, Sr., was judge of probate of Polk county for several terms and a remarkably well read man and vigorous writer.

The splendid record of Ole O. Hagen at Annapolis is regarded with the greatest pride by friends here, and plans are already being made for an elaborate reception for the record he made, and the honors he has brought to Crookston, Polk county and Minnesota by finishing fifth in a class of over 200 of the brightest young men to be picked up throughout the United States, where merit is required to enter such an institution and ability and close application necessary to make such a brilliant showing. The Crookston high school alumni, with the class of '06 in charge, will also give a reception and banquet in his honor upon his return during the summer for a short vacation before he resumes his duties with the United States navy, beginning with the rank of ensign after his graduation.

Will Call Ledyard.

Today the committee made thorough examination of the long testimony given yesterday by Mr. Gary and planned to summon many more witnesses, suggested by the disclosures of the steel magnate. Lewis Cass Ledyard, the attorney for Oliver Paine of the Tennessee Coal & Iron company, who, Mr. Gary declared, conducted the negotiation on behalf of Grant B. Schley for the sale of the Tennessee company, will be asked to appear in the near future.

An agreement was reached by the committee with R. V. Lindabury, counsel for the steel corporation, whereby at least two of the steel company witnesses who have been summoned will appear each day of the hearing until all have testified. Norman B. Ream, W. B. Dickson, Percival Roberts and James Gayley were excused yesterday, subject to call.

Stood Behind Morgan.

Chairman Gary of the United States Steel corporation direcorate told the Stanley committee yesterday that his corporation stood behind J. Pierpont Morgan in averting a disastrous financial panic in 1907.

He insisted, challenging the statements of John W. Gates before the committee, that the purchase by the steel corporation of the Tennessee Iron & Coal Co., at that time, was made at the price more than it was worth for the express purposo of preventing the crash of the New York banking firm of Moore & Schley. Mr. Gary related a dramatic story of the momentous events which preceded the absorption of the Tennessee concern. He described in detail how he and Henry Frick, at the instance of Mr. Morgan, had revealed the plan of buying the company at a price greater than its value, to President Roosevelt and Mr. Root, then secretary of state. He told how he had concluded after their interview with Mr. Roosevelt that any government prosecution of their act would have been an "outrage."

Made Full Statement.

Mr. Gary was then permitted to make a full statement regarding the acquisition of the Tennessee Coal & Iron company by the steel corporation.

"Several offers," said he, "had been made to us by people representing the Tennessee Coal & Iron Co., to sell at different times prior to the fall of 1907. The steel corporation had always been opposed to the purchase of the property and distinctly said so on various occasions.

"About Oct. 23, 1907, Mr. Morgan asked me to come to his bank and told me that Grant B. Schley, managing director of the Tennessee company was much in need of money to use at the bank, the firm of Moore & Schley. The matter finally resulted in my accommodating Mr. Schley with a loan of $1,200,000 par value of United States Steel second bonds and taking from him an agreement to return the bonds, and I received as security for the fulfillment of that agreement $2,000,000 par value stock of the Tennessee Coal & Iron company. This agreement provided that if the loan was not returned by April 23, 1908, the ownership of the $2,000,000 Tennessee stock should remain in the control of the Steel corporation. That loan, you see, was taking Tennessee Coal & Iron on the basis of 60."

To Avert Panic.

Mr. Gary submitted this loan agreement to the committee.

About Nov. 2, 1907, amid a financial panic, the matter came up again. The Trust Company of America was in difficulty. Mr. Gary referred to the possibility then of suspension of many banks and failure of many people. He told of the Morgan library conference with Mr. Morgan, Louis Cass Ledyard, counsel for Col. Oliver Payne, one of the syndicate that purchased the controlling interest in the Tennessee company. Mr. Gary said that Mr. Ledyard told him Moore & Schley were largely indebted to Mr. Payne and had many of his securities. They had deposited with their securities on their indebtedness of $30,000,000 many shares of the Tennessee Coal & Iron stock with many banks.

"The banks had called these loans," said Mr. Gary, "and were insisting that Moore & Schley take up the Tennessee Coal & Iron stock. It was not salable.

Suggestion by Morgan.

"Mr. Morgan said to me, 'I don't know whether the United States Steel corporation can afford to purchase this stock or not. You know best as to that. If it does not buy it, if the United States Steel corporation or some one else does not furnish relief, no man can say what the effect will be on the financial situation throughout the country. The situation is extremely critical.'

"I said I would not consider taking any action without going to Washington and taking the situation up with the president or the department of justice."

Mr. Gary said Mr. Frick agreed with him that the stock was not worth more than 65. Not until Mr. Morgan told him what he thought about the panic did Mr. Frick give any encouragement to the plan. The finance committee of the Steel corporation was summoned to the Morgan library.

"I have heard since," said Mr. Gary, "that Schley has made statements that he could have got through all right but anyone who heard him at that time would not have thought so. Therefore, I began to talk to Ledyard about purchasing the stock at 90 and we finally agreed to it, subject to the objection that might possibly be made in Washington.

Denies Gates' Story.

"After the agreement had been made to take the Tennessee stock at 90," said Mr. Gary, "Ledyard came to me and said that Schley had told him that the price of 90 could not let them out of their difficulties. I notice that Gates says in his testimony that when he got home from Europe he made them raise the price in the transaction. If he made that statement, it must have been made by Marconigram, because the whole transaction was closed before his arrival from Europe.

"On Nov. 4, at a meeting of the finance committee of the corporation, the entire matter was again referred to the chairman and I agreed with Ledyard to raise the price to 100 in order to let Moore & Schley pull through. My bargain was entirely with Ledyard. Mr. Morgan certainly did not participate in any way to induce the buying or selling. I hold no brief for Mr. Morgan, but I state this because of the sensational statements that have been made."

Put It Up To Roosevelt.

After the agreement to buy the stock at 100 the finance committee of the Steel company met and discussed putting the deal up to President Roosevelt. Mr. Gary said that at 10 o'clock Sunday night, Nov. 4, he called up the secretary of the president from New York to arrange for the conference. He and Mr. Frick left that night, traveling on a special train and hurried to the White House ahead of the appointed hour, as "Mr. Morgan had told me that the conditions were so critical he would like to hear the result of our conference at the earliest possible moment."

"After hearing our story," continued Mr. Gary, "the president said he would like to consult with the department of justice. Mr. Bonaparte was out of town and the president called Secretary of State Root into his office. The president asked me again to state the case. I did and the result of that interview I immediately wired to New York.

"Did the president ask Senator Root's opinion as to the legality of the transaction," asked Mr. Littleton.

Was No Disagreement.

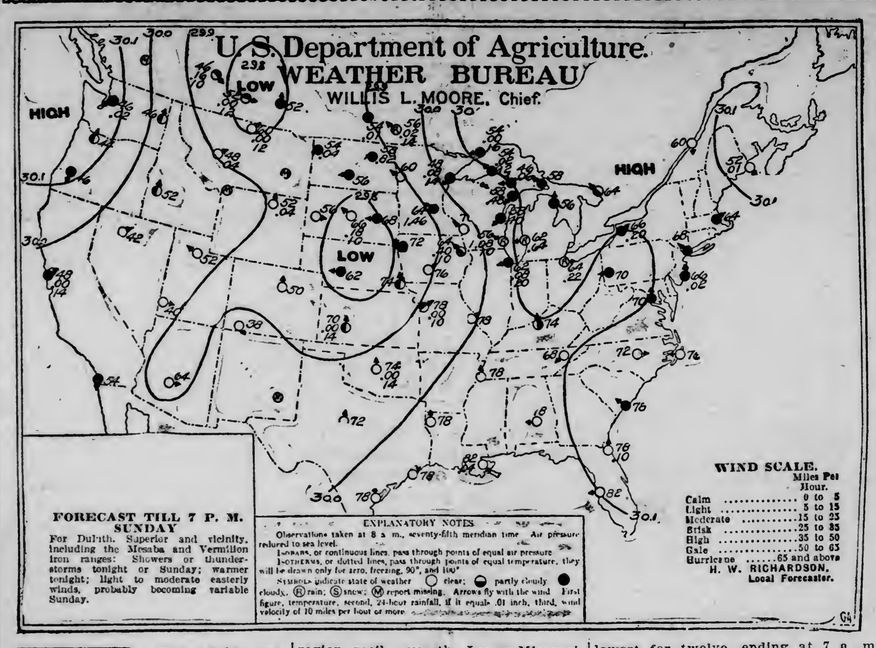

"He did," said Mr. Gary, "and there was no disagreement between any of us." Mr. Gary told the committee that he had a record of what took place on that occasion.

Mr. Gary was also questioned concerning the apparently "phenomenal" earnings of the railroads in the Lake Superior ore region owned by the United States Steel corporation. Figures of the earnings were read to him and he assumed they were correct.

The Duluth & Iron Range railroad, of which Mr. Gary is a director, declared dividends from 40 to 80 per cent since its absorption by the United States Steel corporation and had net earnings of more than $3,000,000 annually in late years. Mr. Gary explained that this was largely because of the advantage in location of the roads and because they were connected with enormous interests which enabled the companies to keep the roads in perfect condition and furnish transportation facilities at a minimum cost.

Mr. Stanley asked if the steel corporation roads which hauled ore to the lake did not haul coal and coke back at a rate 100 per cent higher than the rate charged to haul ore from the mines. Mr. Gary said he could not deny that.

RAIN

The weather man didn't want the delegates to the N. M. D. A. convention get away without a touch of real Duluth weather, so he sent along a northeaster that held forth all day yesterday. The highest temperature was 53 deg., while the mercury dropped to 43 deg. during the night. This morning dawned gray and cold. Showers and warmer is the prediction for tonight. Let us be thankful for the warmer part of it at least.

Cold weather also prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 4:15 and it will set at 7:56 this evening, giving fifteen hours and forty-one minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"During the last twenty-four hours light to heavy showers or thunderstorms occurred in the Lake region, Upper Mississippi and Northwestern border states in connection with the low pressure areas centered over Nebraska and to the northward of Montana. The temperature changes have generally been unimportant, but the weather is cool near Lake Superior and throughout the Rocky Mountain region, while over the Lower Missouri, Lower Mississippi and Ohio valley the weather is very warm. At the Head of the Lakes the weather will continue unsettled during the ensuing thirty-six hours with conditions favoring local thunderstorms."

SHOWS HOW RECIPROCITY WILL BENEFIT FARMERS

whole continent of North America) through co-operative production, each man and each district producing what can be produced most economically and then exchanging their products, so that each profits by the natural resources and skill of all."

Free Admission of Wheat.

Continuing, the speaker said:

"The free admission of Canadian wheat could not do either of the striking and opposed things which some of the advocates and some of the opponents of reciprocity predict. It could not benefit the consumer, since a considerable and prolonged fall in the price of wheat is necessary to reduce the price of flour; nor could it damage the producer of wheat, since such local corners are of necessity engineered after the grain has largely left the farmer's hands, so that the amount available can be calculated with considerable accuracy.

"The chief effect of reciprocity in wheat, so far as concerns price, would, therefore, be to maintain greater stability and diminish the violence of local speculative fluctuations. Such stability would certainly be of advantage to all concerned, except possibly to wheat speculators.

Benefit to Farmers.

"Another benefit of reciprocity, and one which concerns directly the farmer, is free admission of Canadian wheat for seed, which would add appreciably to the yield throughout the spring wheat belts of the United States.

"A further advantage to the farmer as well as to the miller would be the encouragement given to the milling industry on both sides of the border by access in case of need to larger and more reliable supplies of wheat.

"The whole question thus seems to resolve itself to this, from the viewpoint of the farmer, no less than of society at large: Shall we have the courage to follow established economic principles and extend to a neighboring and closely related country that commercial policy which has long been approved in our own domestic practice, or shall we suffer protection, like conscience, to make cowards of us all?

Some Other Advantages.

"In connection with the farm products other than wheat, barley and flax seed, the advantages of reciprocity to the American farmer are still more marked. Similar advantages may reasonably be attributed to reciprocity in animals and animal products.

"Finally, there remain a considerable number of articles whose admission free, or at a reduced rate, would benefit the farmer chiefly as a consumer. Such are fresh, cured and canned meats, fish, vegetables and fruit; also wagons, agricultural implements, motor cars, barbed wire and rough lumber.

"The benefit of reciprocity would come, not so much in the actual importation of such commodities from Canada, except fish and lumber, as in fixing a lower limit than exists at present to the exactions of the combinations which control most of these industries in the United States. Special importance attaches to free lumber. For the farmer, it means better farm buildings and fences at less cost, and greater comfort in the home."

Its International Aspects.

"The International Aspects of Reciprocity," was the subject of an address by Prof. H. Parker Willis of Washington, D. C. Prof. Willis said in part:

"President Taft in his message to congress of Jan. 26, 1911, has stated with the utmost cogency the general reasons which call for a closer commercial union between the United States and Canada. His exposition of these broad and statesmanlike considerations which should control the action of the two countries in this matter leaves little to be added.

"It seems to me that the advantages to both countries certain to flow from the operation of the agreement are of so evident and considerable a nature as to make the desirability of its adoption unmistakeable. I think it should be passed by the senate without further delay, and that when it has been so adopted it will constitute one of the most creditable acts of the present administration.

Is Not Perfect.

"I believe in the agreement, not because it is perfect, or even satisfactory in its scope, but because it is a step toward the establishment of those equitable trade relations with Canada which can be reached only by a very marked reduction if not actual abolition of tariff restrictions upon the mutual interchange of commodities.

"There is another aspect of the Canadian agreement, however, in which it constitutes an important innovation upon past and present commercial policy, and which suggests the introduction of a new attitude toward foreign countries, more in harmony with existing conditions than the selfish and exclusive international position heretofore accepted by the United States. The reciprocity agreement, if adopted, will without doubt be an important step toward the revision of our system of international tariff treaties.

"Most Favored Nations."

"That the United States would, without a struggle, surrender its traditional interpretation of the 'most favored nation' clause in our treaties is hardly to be expected. The question would, therefore, remain, whether the United States could refuse to open negotiations for the extension of reciprocity arrangements to other countries which might demand such arrangements. Should it so refuse, it must expect to see the present minimum rate basis granted by foreign countries withdrawn. In fact, it may be expected that almost immediately upon the completion of the Canadian agreement, Germany will withdraw from us certain of the minimum rates now enjoyed by the United States.

"Germany, it is well understood, has already made inquiries regarding the probable answer of the United States to a request for the extension of the lower rates of the Canadian agreement to her, and is apparently prepared to carry her point to the logical extreme. The question of England's position has already been raised in parliament and will also be pushed as opportunity favors. Such demands could not be refused, nor could we expect to secure much attention for the former threat that we shall apply our maximum tariff rates to countries which grant a special preference to others."

Statement by Hoard.

In a statement sent to the Western Economic society and read at today's session, Former Governor Hoard of Wisconsin declared that most of the opposition against reciprocity with Canada was based on politics and that reciprocity would help the farmers. He wrote:

"Back of all this confusing cry of clamoring politicians, of high protectionists on one hand, and the insurgents looking for political advantage to their group on the other, lies the great basal recollection with me that always in the history of this country has the farmer prospered best when the manufacturer prospered best; when the great army of workmen were employed and their families consuming largely of the farmer's food.

"Never once have I seen agriculture prosper when labor was idle. For that reason I have faith that reciprocity with Canada will stimulate a demand for the products of labor this side of the line, and, as day follows night, will it help the farmers.

Have Had a Taste.

'Already have the farmers been given a taste of declining prices for their food products. Do they like it? Do they want more of it? Then let them follow the counsels of those politicians who are fighting President Taft for political purposes only, and in my opinion they will get a belly full of it.

"Surely, we as farmers ought to have enough common sense to know a patriotic president when we see him. We ought to know which side of our own bread is buttered. We ought to know that our interests and prosperity are indissoubly bound up with the general industrial interests of the whole country, and that anything that promotes the food consumer's ability to purchase our food is a play into our own hands.

"If we do not know these things—if we have studied the economic history of our country so little that we are ignorant of its lessons, then all I can say is that we are mighty poor farmers and unworthy of the interests we are called on to defend.

Opposition Is Political.

"I wish I could get the farmers of the country to see that the most of this opposition to reciprocity is based on politics and mighty little of it on any regard whatever for their future welfare. Already the business interests of the country are beginning to show signs of shrinkage and suffering because of the assaults of these contending politicians.

"The farmers of the land must carry a steadying hand. They must hark back to the lessons of the past. They must see their true position in relation to all the other industries of the country. They must see that the primary thing for them to do is to promote the purchasing power of the consumer and not allow themselves to be hoodwinked into opposition to that great basic proposition.

"The effect of reciprocity, in my opinion, will be to promote the business interests of both countries. In this the farmers must not stand aloof. If they do, the day of their sore punishment is not far off, in my judgment.

"As a farmer I am not at all afraid of letting the above principle of reciprocity 'have free course, run and be glorified.'" eling salesman, jumped through a window and cut his hands. Other minor injuries were reported.

Eight of the eleven cars in the train left the track. The engine plunged with the rest of the train. Three cars burned completely, including the private coach in which Mr. and Mrs. Berg were traveling. Of these only the iron sub-structure was left. The wheels were stripped clean from every car except one.

The cut in which the washout, caused by the heavy rain of last night occurred, was on a curve, and on the east side the level beside the track had been lowered about four feet.

Ripped up 400 Feet of Track.

It was down this incline that the cars plunged. The engine, in toppling over, partially drew one of the baggage cars with it. This coach came to a stop crosswise of the track, and half of it was burned off. The washout was twelve feet wide, and as deep as the bottom of the lower cut at the side of the track. When the train hit the open space and jumped sideways, the track was stripped from the ties for a distance of 400 feet.

Two relief trains were rushed to the scene of the wreck, one from Glenwood, from the south, and the other from the north. The train from the south returned with Mr. Berg and about ten passengers, who had been shaken up. The other relief train, returning northward, carried more than 100 passengers.

At the latest report, the line was still tied up on account of the stripped track, although the fire had ceased burning.

Lived in New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., June 3.—Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Berg, the former injured and the latter killed in a train wreck near Vergas, Minn., were residents of New Orleans and well known throughout the South. Mrs. Berg was born at San Antonio. Mr. and Mrs. Berg left here last Monday for a trip to Vancouver.

STEAMER NORTH WEST BURNS AT BUFFALO DOCKS

room where the explosion is supposed to have occurred.

Cabins All Consumed.

The flames quickly covered the entire superstructure, and within two hours much of the upper works and interior of the big steel steamer were in ruins. The cabins, which are of unusually elaborate mahogany finish, were reduced to ashes. Partial examination of the wreckage later in the day indicated that the handsome dining room in the bow was only partially destroyed.

The hull, into which tons of water were poured, settled to the bottom of the slip and rests straigh up. Damage to the steel plates is thought to be comparatively slight.

Owned by Hill Interests.

St. Paul, Minn., June 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the office here of Howard James, president of the Northern Steamship company, the news of the burning of the steamship North West was a surprise.

No report of the fire had been received, hence no statement regarding the plans of the company to build another steamship to replace the North West was forthcoming.

The Northern Steamship company is a part of the Great Northern railway, owned by the Hill interests.

By the destruction of the passenger steamer North West at Buffalo this morning, Duluth is robbed of one of the finest passenger vessels sailing between this port and the Lower Lakes. This boat has been in service since 1894, in which year it made the first trip to Duluth, and since which time it has been running to this harbor on a regular schedule throughout the navigation summer, bringing here many notable persons.

The North West was built in 1894, and had a steel hull, of 4,244 gross tonnage, 358 feet long and 44-foot beam. She was arranged in a most completed and most up-to-date manner, and offered a passenger service equal practically to the best ocean liner.

The first trip made by the North West to Duluth was a memorable one in lake traffic to Duluth. On this trip she carried a large passenger list of distinguished people, and was met at the Soo by a boat from Duluth, which had aboard representative business and professional men, from Duluth and the Twin Cities, who welcomed the new vessel to the Zenith City.

This year's business on the North West was looked forward to as a record breaker. Her first run was to have been started on June 24 from Buffalo, arriving in Duluth on June 27. Without this boat, or her sister ship, the North Land, built the year after the North West, this city will lose a valuable line. It is possible that the Northern Steamship company of Buffalo, which owns the two boats, will place the North Land on this run.

FORMER ASYLUM INMATE ATTEMPTS WOMAN'S LIFE.

Hillsboro, N. D., June 3.—Austin Hauge, a bachelor farmer, was captured near Shelly, Minn., yesterday afternoon after he had tried to kill his housekeeper, Mrs. Vigness, a widow. He had ben acting strangely and Mrs. Vigness, who was afraid of her life, left him. He went after her and fired one shot, which missed its mark. Then he pounded her over the head with his gun. Officers pursued him, and when he resisted arrest, shot one of his horses and overpowered him. He is undoubtedly insane. He was once an inmate of the asylum at Fergus Falls. He is about 50 years old.

WHITE EARTH MEN UNDER INDICTMENT

Ten Well Known Men Charged With Conspiracy in Land Matters.

Fergus Falls, Minn., June 3.—Ten prominent citizens of the White Earth country appeared in the United States court here yesterday to answer to charges of conspiracy in connection with Indian land transfers. Criminal prosecution in these cases was undertaken by direction of Attorney General Wickersham, and indictments were returned by the grand jury here last Saturday, but the names of the accused were not given out until warrants were served.

The service was made by Deputy Marshall Buckman Friday.

Those arrested were: Gus H. Beaulieu, editor of the White Earth Tomahawk, an Indian attorney prominent in reservation affairs; M. J. Kolb, banker and real estate dealer at Ogema and Bagley; Robert G. Beaulieu, brother of Gus Beaulieu, and also prominent in reservation affairs; B. L. Fairbanks, merchant at White Earth; John Leechy, merchant at White Earth; L. S. Waller, banker at Wauban; Lewis D. Davis, attorney at Wauban; Joseph A. Perrault of Ogema, former government scout; William Uran, farmer of Ogema; Andrew Vanoss, banker and land man at Wauban.

Indictments Have Many Counts.

The indictment against the two Beaulieus, Fairbanks and Leechy, contains thirty counts, that many alleged deals being specified. The indictment against Waller, Davis and Van Oss contains fourteen counts, and the indictment against Kolb, Perrault and Uran, fourteen counts.

When arraigned all of the defendant's entered pleas of not guilty, but several of them entered them with the request that they be permitted to withdraw them later, in case they decided to demur to the indictments. Judge Amidon gave them thirty days in which to file demurrers, understanding that if demurrers were to be filed, they should be disposed of before the November term of court, so that the cases could come to trial at that time if the demurrers were overruled.

JACKS TAKE SLOW GAME

Final Contest Goes Ten Innings and Is Won By Wausau.

Hits Are Plentiful and Sox Errors Are Unhappily Intermingled.

There is little to say regarding the game of yesterday. Darby's men fought hard for the game and made a great rally in the ninth, tying it up, but the Jacks hooked it in their half of the tenth, and as Baker's curves and confidence were restored, the game was over. Wausau 10 and us'uns 7.

Advice often falls unheeded, except where it begins to cut into the box office receipts. To the man hanging safely on the limb of a tree, it does look as if Duluth needs a new outfielder. It might also be added that in eight games Altermott has made fifteen glaring errors at shortstop.

It is not in the province of a writer always to advise; rather his mission often lies in pointing out. The playing of Altermott and Holstrom in the past few games has been comedy richer and more varied than some of the humor of Raymond Hitchcock, who is paid solely for being funny and not for playing baseball.

Coming around the corner and driving into the blithesome sunshine it might be stated that one swallow does not make a summer nor does one baseball game make a season. Jawn Desmond & company are out to give us good baseball and the loss of a game or two does not mean at all that we have a bad team or are going down the percentage chutes.

The Sox have shown that they can both fight and bat, and with the return of the Orator to the infield, and he is badly needed, and Blancke in good working order, we should be ready for the coming of the Winonas, when it is expected that the Sox will show some real class.

With the kind of weather that is being served up at the present time, baseball attendance and baseball playing suffer. It is both hard to play and enjoy a game when you are blue from cold and dark with the despair of suffering from long depression. With the coming of the sun there may be a difference. How many of us sigh for sunshine and sweet carrolling of the blithesome birds!

Baker had lots yesterday, in spots, and at other times he seemed to have nothing on the pill. WE gathered enough hits to win the ordinary game, but they were gathering some themselves. The hit gathering was a ripe harvest.

At that Baker is one of the most imposing little heavers in the league, and if he behaves himself and comes in nights before 10:30 he should do right well.

The Scoring.

In the first a single by Johnson and a home run by Duchien gathered two runs. In the third three more came on singles by Crangle and Rhodes, the over-error upon the part of Mister Altermott, who believes in being consistent, and another kick upon the part of Holstrom, not to mention a passed ball. When the smoke of this inning had cleared away, Crangle, Henning and Duchien had crossed.

In our half of the third Mike Kramer doubled to center, went to third on a passed ball and scored when Cummings singled past first base.

Wausau dented the rubber and calloused our feelings in the fifth by adding one more. This was brought about by a shining triple on the part of Dusty Rhodes and a single by large Dunbar. One more single came, but like the pardon, was too late.

Our half was productive of two runs, and one fan jumped to his hoofs and rent the air with a yell.

Hargrove singled and Leber doubled, after Kramer had struck at some where they were lurking not. Hargrove was scored by Leber and Little Eva in turn sneaked across on the second single of Cummings.

In the ninth a pass to Duchien, a sacrifice by Rhodes, a single by Dunbar and singles by Meister and Baker, after Duchien had been nipped at the plate on Walliser's little offering to Cummings, sent Rhodes over the plate.

We gathered four in the ninth, though Baker struck out four men. Miller was hit by a fast shoot and Hargrove singled past second. Kramer doubled to right, and as both runners had moved up on a passed ball, they scored on Mike's swat. Leber struck out, but Johnson dropped the third strike and then made a low throw to Henning, Kramer counting on the misplay. Leber swiped second, coming home on Johnson's clean welt to right, this after Cummings and Menefee had struck out. Holstrom was up and fanned, leaving the score tied.

The first two up in Wausau's half of the tenth singled, were advanced on a sacrifice and scored when Rhodes doubled. The double coming after Worman had been called and had "came." A wild pitch sent Rhodes to third and he made the third score when Walliser singled over Holstrom's head.

After two were gone Kramer grabbed a single in our half, but Leber grounded weakly to Henning, and the doleful game was over.

Final Game of Series Is Captured By Score of 9 to 0.

Superior won the final game from Eau Claire yesterday by the score of 9 to 0. Chase and Gregory were hit rather freely by the Superior batters, while Gilchrist held the champions to four scattered hits.

Both sides played well in the field, and the game was fast, if not interesting. Scout Tom Daley of Cleveland watched the game from the grandstand.

TRACK MEET AT MINNEAPOLIS

Seventeen Colleges Have Representative Teams Entered in Annual Event.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 3.—A heavy rain last night and early this morning thoroughly soaked the track at Northrop field where the eleventh annual field and track meet of the Western Intercollegiate Conference Athletic association will be held this afternoon. As the track is made of cinders a hot sun this morning will dry it so fair time can be made, but the chances for new records have been greatly lessened.

Last year only the first three winners were credited with points while this year a first will count five points, a second for three, a third for two and a fourth for one. It is thought that this arrangement will result in closer competition among the teams.

The first event, the preliminary heat of the 120-yard hurdles, was scheduled to begin at 2 o'clock and at 5:10 the relay teams were to be sent off on the circuit for the last event. In the nineteen events 150 men, representing seventeen colleges and universities were entered. Notre Dame, Chicago, Illinois and Wisconsin were picked as the most likely winners.

CINCINNATI TEAM IS A DISAPPOINTMENT THIS YEAR

CLARK GRIFFITH.

Great things were predicted of the Cincinnati National league team this year. It was claimed that Clark Griffith had got together a winning aggregation of ball players strongly fortified in pitching and with one of the best outfields in the league. These predictions are not being verified. At present the Cincinnati team is in sixth place and according to the indications they will stay there. The "Old Fox" could not land a pennant for New York when he managed the Yankees, although he very nearly did so one year, losing out by one game. He has been disappointed in the showing his team has made this year and expects when they get started they will make a stronger fight.

MURRAY
Of the Giants.

Red Murray is playing great ball for McGraw this year and his batting has pulled a number of games out of the fire for the Giants. Murray, with Snodgrass and Devore make one of the best outfields in the National league. They are all exceptionally daring base runners, all quick thinkers and good batters. Murray is a former Cardinal and came to the Giants as part of the exchange for Bresnahan. Last season he took part in 148 games and batted .277, while his fielding average was .948.

ON THE IRON RANGES

TWO MINERS LOSE LIVES

Cave-ins in Hibbing Properties Early Saturday Claim Victims.

One Fatality Occurs in Laura Mine—Other in the Dale Uno.

Hibbing, Minn., June 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two men lost their lives in this mining district early this morning by cave-ins, one at the Laura mine and other at the Dale Uno.

The dead:

PETER BRODICH, aged 27, married.

ZETO JERRANA, aged 23, married.

Brodich lost his life by a cave-in in the Laura mine, an underground property about 5 a. m. He and his partner were doing contract work and were anxious to complete their work. It is said they were warned by the boss that a cavein was liable to result where they were working but they ignored his advice and Brodich's life was the penalty. His partner, whose name was not given out was injured. Brodich's funeral will be held at Chisholm tomorrow under the auspices of the Servian Orthodox society, of which he was a member.

Zetto Jarrana was killed by a cavein at the Dale Uno mine about 3 a. m. It is an open pit mine and the bank caved down on Jerrana. It took the others about three hours to dig him out. Jerrana has a wife and one child in the old country.

HIBBING JEWELER GIVEN LICENSE

Permitted to Conduct Auction By Council After Long Discussion.

Hibbing, Minn., June 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Last evening's session of the village council was taken up chiefly with the discussion of whether an auction license should be granted to John A. Miller, the Third avenue jeweler, who wishes to dispose of his entire stock of goods by auction within the next two weeks. The council finally decided to grant the license.

Quite a little opposition to the proposed auction developed among the merchants, as it became known that the jeweler intended selling his goods by means of importing an auctioneer for the purpose and also that he was going to freshen up his present stock by the buying of new goods.

Mr. Miller was present, and assured the council that it was not his intention of buying more than $300 or $400 worth of new jewelry and also that he would get through with the auction sale in fourteen days. With these provisos the license was accordingly granted.

A communication was received and placed on file from Police Secretary C. E. Everett asking that the council take some action in regard to the smoke emanating from the Mesaba laundry chimney, as the letter stated that several complaints had been lodged with the police against it.

Would Build Driveway.

The Merchants Warehouse company sent a letter asking that it be given permission to construct a driveway across the sidewalk on the south side of its building. The matter was referred to the committee on streets and alleys to investigate and report to the council at the next meeting.

The application of Frank Allegrazzi to build a frame one-story addition to the rear of his bakery on Fourth avenue and North street and to be used as a storehouse was referred to the fire warden. The bakery is within the village fire limits.

The renewal of the liquor license of Mario Sanaglio, who conducts a saloon at 225 Pine street, was granted.

The monthly pay roll was passed, after which the council adjourned until June 6, at which time several bids for village improvements will be opened.

TWO LIVELY GAMES ARE ANTICIPATED

Hibbing and Virginia Nines Expected to Afford Fans Lot of Sport.

Hibbing, Minn., June 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Today and tomorrow it is expected that two of the fastest baseball games and also two games in which more than ordinary interest is apparent, will be played when the Hibbing Colts and the newly organized Virginia teams will meet on the home grounds. The rivalry between the two clubs is most pronounced and it is expected that for tomorrow especially, when a special train bearing the Virginia fans will arrive, the home grounds seating capacity will be taxed.

Last Sunday the Virginia team met with defeat at the hands of the locals on their home grounds. The occasion was the opening of the new Oliver ball park, and although the Great Northern refused at almost the last moment to run the special train that had been advertised from this place, many fans went to Virginia on the regular Mesabe noon train. The game resulted in the score of 5 to 2 in favor of the Hibbing team.

For tomorrow's game, Oscar Graham is slated to occupy the slab. Graham will undoubtedly prove a tough proposition for the Hibbingites, and the result of the fracas is a matter of doubt. Oscar is well known hereabouts. In 1907 Graham was allied with the Washington team in the National league. He was farmed out to Minneapolis, from which team he is said to have jumped his contract to play with Virginia the next season. In 1909 he was sold to Minneapolis in the association. Later he went to Milwaukee in the same league and then back to Virginia again.

He has not played on the range since that time and whether he has retarded any in his twirling qualities, is a matter of conjecture.

VIRGINIA GETS SUNSHINE.

Record of Seven Years Shows City Is Especially Favored.

Virginia, Minn., June 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Supt. Lafayette Bliss of the city schools during his residence here for the past seven years has kept an accurate daily record of the days when the sun has shone in this vicinity. The result has been a remarkable discovery, which ought to prove fruitful in the development of the range country and make it especially attractive to those people afflicted with nervousness during cloudy weather. Mr. Bliss has discovered that the average number of days during the year when the sun shines in Virginia is 214, while the average number of days over the entire state in each year during which the sun shines is 150. That means there are over two months more of days of sunshine in Virginia during the year than the average throughout the state. Of course the record has been kept for only seven years, but that leaves Virginia a year and two months ahead of the average for the state in days when the sun shines.

ANGORA SETTLING UP.

Nearly All Available Land in That Locality Has Been Taken.

Angora, Minn., June 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—B. Brisden's sawmill, which was burned down last summer has been rebuilt and is again in operation. Nearly all the available farming land around Angora has been settled upon by good practical farmers, and judging from the amount of implements, wagons and farming machinery they are buying this season, they are very prosperous.

A forest fire started by a spark from a railway locomotive burned over about 200 acres of timber lands belonging to C. H. Sherman recently.

Mrs. W. H. Bristol was agreeably surprised Monday, her birthday anniversary by a party of about thirty of her neighbors and Sunday school scholars. Mrs. Bristol is superintendent of the Angora Union Sunday school and received many gifts as token of the esteem of both her neighbors and scholars.

Negaunee, Mich., June 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Downing, former janitor of the city building, has returned from a three-weeks' visit to his sons, Case and Henry Downing, on the Mesaba range in Minnesota. It was his first visit to the Mesaba district. He was astonished at the size of some of the mines there. The Canisteo mine, operated by the Oliver Iron Mining company, of which his son Henry is superintendent, is fully a mile in length by some 1,200 feet in width, and in places the open pit is 200 feet in depth. The opening is all in ore. Mr. Downing spent a day looking over the Oliver Iron company's ore washing plant at Coleraine. MAYOR MAY BE ACCUSED BY JUDGE

McCarthy of San Francisco in Trouble Over Police Chief.

San Francisco, Cal., June 3.—For a time yesterday San Francisco had two chiefs of police and for the moment it looked as if Mayor McCarthy's long fight to depose Chief John F. Seymour would be successful. By means of a writ of prohibiton, however, Seymour averted the blow and this morning holds office, while the mayor's temporary chief, D. A. White, is seeking advices as to his status.

The campaign against Chief Seymour resulted from his alleged failure to co-operate with the mayor in his announced policy for a more liberal administration of dance halls, saloons and cafes and the charge by the mayor that Seymour has been using his department for political purposes.

Last week the board of police commissioners suspended Seymour pending trial. The chief secured a writ from Judge Sewell which kept him in office. When the board met yesterday, Commissioner Sullivan resigned and the mayor appointed J. F. Sewell in his place. The charges against Seymour were formally dismissed and a new suit brought in. It was on these charges that Seymour was suspended and White appointed. Later Judge Sewell issued a supplementary writ directing that the records of the commission be brought before him, intimating that proceedings aginst the mayor and board for contempt of court might result.

Indictments have also been returned against E. Silverstone, a hotel proprietor, and J. A. Kettlewell, chief clerk in the navy pay office here.

Conspiracy is charged in restricting bids on supplies for the Puget Sound navy yard and the assignment of the award by the Fowler Metal company to the Great Western company.

Silverstone was indicted for forgery and Meyers and Kettlewell, the navy clerks, for conspiracy in connection with the alleged manipulation of bids for supplies.

are told by the guard which was accompanying Lopez. One is that the former insurrecto leader had been shot while attempting to escape, another that he pleaded to be executed rather than be taken to prison.

It is alleged also that Lopez has confessed having received $4,000 for the surrender of Agua Prieta to the federals.

After taking Doan's Kidney Pills about two days, I noticed that the secretions from my kidneys were clearer and more natural. AT THE THEATRES

AT THE LYCEUM

Julius Caesar is a worthy subject for Shakespeare's genius. It is so vast in its scope, so complex in its relations and obscure in its final meaning. This play is a subject for thought for students of affairs, as conditions existing in Rome in Caesar's time bear many similarities to the conditions of today, and in this tragedy Shakespeare has shown that the unchecked lust of power and moral inertness in the strongest and more intellectual members of society, combined with the apathy and unreasoning hero worship in the masses, are the causes that do most to destroy liberty and turn back the forces of civilization on itself.

The tragedy rests almost entirely upon the character of Brutus, and some commentators even claim that it should be called "Marcus Brutus" instead of "Julius Caesar." Brutus is the hero but the power and death of Caesar form the subject matter. Caesar fills the foreground with the vastness and horror of his power, and the necessity for deliverance from it. Shakespeare while historically faithful, has made a grand mental creation in the character of Brutus. The busy spirit, busted in self-examination, and the disturbance of his stern conscience when he is doubtful, and the calm, resolute firmness when he sees the removal of Caesar as a duty. This play has always an appeal to thinkers and public men, and is extensively quoted in the speeches of all great orators. Nothing of Shakespeare's, with perhaps the exception of Hamlet's soliloquy, has been as widely quoted as Antony's oration over the body of Caesar.

Frederick Warde and company will appear at the Lyceum in "Julius Caesar" Monday and Tuesday with a special matinee Monday for teachers and students.

Mr. Warde belongs to "the old school," and he has imbibed its finest traditions, one of the most delightful of which is a splendid modulation of voice and perfect enunciation, two things which the modern school seems to have discarded, for most of the actors of the present day seem to think that realism is the alpha and omega of acting.

"Mr. Warde has given the play an elaborate setting and merits the highest admiration for his artistic endeavor," says the Galveston News in a recent review.

A production of Marie Corelli's beautiful drama of the Northland, Thelma, will appear here on Sunday night at the Lyceum. The cast includes such well known people as Lillian Mertyer, Blanche Paus, Ellen Brown, Robert Phelan, G. L. Race, Harry Constance and several others.

The story of Thelma has to do with a convent-bred girl, accomplished and beautiful, the only child of a descendant of the ancient Vikings. Her father, the Bonde of his native village, still clings to the religion and mode of life of his ancestors and worships still the Gods Odin and Thor, but solicitious of the happiness of his only child, has suffered her to be educated a Christian.

She has but recently returned from the completion of her studies when an Englishman, Sir Phillip Errington, cruising the coast of Norway in his pleasure yacht, meets Thelma and they fall in love. He marries her and takes her to England where his relatives, prepared at first to tolerate one whom they imagine a rustic, become at last ardent admirers of an accomplished and beautiful woman, whose charm and distinction arouses the envy and jealousy of a society woman, formerly an admirer of Errington.

Through plots and petty intrigues she directs against Thelma, she causes the separation of husband and wife, and the flight of the latter, the pursuit of the husband, and their happy reunion and reconciliation, make a story, which, while it is simple and unadorned with plot, is nevertheless fraught with keen-hearted interest which holds the attention of the audience to the last.

"In Wyoming," which comes to the Lyceum soon, is not a melodrama, as one might be led to suppose, but a striking story of Wyoming ranch life by Willard Mack, with some strong situations and a splendid western atmosphere. The hero is a veritable young Lochinvar, and his success in both life and love makes a stirring and vital play. H. E. Pierce & Co., who are presenting the piece, have spared no expense in assembling a cast of considerable strength, and the scenic equipment is said to be entirely adequate.

As a type of the highly amusing play, "Mrs. Bumpstead Leigh is evidently entitled to the enthusiastic commendation which has been bestowed upon it during Mrs. Fiske's season at the Lyceum theater, New York, and there should be a lively interest excited by the announcement that the play is to be given in this city soon. Local appreciation of this gifted woman's art is deep-seated and sincere, and there will doubtless be an added interest in her engagement when it is known that the character assumed by Mrs. Fiske is as different from any other she has ever portrayed as darkness is from daylight. The play and the role have but one appeal, and that is to the laughing propensities of the audience.

AT THE EMPRESS

The show which comes to the Empress commencing Sunday is the first of the summer season and is considered one of the best on the circuit. Patrons of the Empress are getting vaudeville that is worth seeing and the Sullivan and Considine circuit is lending every effort to give Duluth as good vaudeville as any city can boast of and this show ranks well up with the best that has been presented in Duluth for a long time past.

As the feature attraction for the week, the circuit has secured Budd Snyder, who has been called "The World's Greatest Cyclist." Mr. Snyder has been abroad for the past five years and returns to this country for an exclusive tour of the Sullivan and Considine circuit. Although an American by birth, he has attained greater popularity in foreign countries, where he has been several times commanded to appear before the royalty of different countries. The czar of Russia was especially delighted with Mr. Snyder's performance and made him an honorary member of one of his crack regiments and also bestowed numerous other honors upon him. For the lovers of the sensational, Mr. Snyder's work will prove a rare treat as he is known the world over as one of the most reckless riders before the public and his routine of tricks includes numerous tricks that are extremely hazardous. For the most part, the feats performed by this daring cyclist are original and of his own invention and are such that few bicycle riders possess the courage to attempt. Many of those who have attempted them have failed because of their lack of skill. Like all other daring men, Mr. Snyder has become deeply infatuated with the now reigning sport of "aviation," and at the conclusion of his engagement with the Sullivan and Considine circuit, he will retire from the stage to take up aviation. Mr. Snyder has imported a large aeroplane from France, which was built after his own design, which he intends to enter in the Atlantic to the Pacific contest, next year. It is doubtful if Duluth will ever have the opportunity of seeing this wonderful rider again.

An act that is bound to please is the one presented by Hanson and Bijou. These young women are products of the musical comedy field where they made a big reputation for themselves and since their appearance in vaudeville their success has been phenomenal. Miss Bijou is a very pretty girl and is also a very clever comedienne and it falls to her to present the comedy of the act. This she does in her own inimitable style and she never fails to secure her share of the laughs. Miss Hanson's dainty songs and dances contrast very neatly with the comedy of her partner and add an unusually attractive effect to their clever offering. Both of these girls are beautiful singers and clever dancers and in addition are blessed with more than the ordinary share of good looks. The following is a recent notice from the Milwaukee Sentinel: "Hanson and Bijou, two clever misses, came in for a large share of the applause last evening. They render a number of popular songs in a very pleasing manner and also present some very good dancing. Running through their entire act is a pleasing vein of comedy which adds greatly to the success of their act. Their work as a whole is exceptionally clever and they were big favorites with the audience last night."

"Probst," the whistling virtuoso, who is known as the human canary, will offer somewhat of an innovation in this style of entertainment. He gives imitations of several species of birds and as their calls are given, the birds are shown on a picture sheet with all their gorgeous plumage and elaborate coloring. Mr. Pobst is one of the most remarkable imitators of birds in vaudeville and his novelty is a distinct departure from the conventional. In addition to his imitations, Mr. Pobst will whistle some selections from grand opera and some popular music as well. His part of the program never fails to please, and he should be one of the favorites during his engagement in this city.

The musical luster and beauty of the minstrel show including its rich environment is depicted minutely in the spectacle presented by the Markee Brothers. Both are talented musicians and one is an unusually clever comedian. Their offering is a combination of mirth and music and is highly pleasing and entertaining. The Markee Brothers were recently with Lew Dockstader's Minstrels and are the latest of the minstrel stars to harken to the call of vaudeville. The St. Paul Pioneer Press has the following to say of their act: "Markee Brothers attempted and really succeeded in giving a minstrel show all by themselves. There was not a detail lacking and at the conclusion of their act they were called before the curtain several times. The boys are both clever musicians and the comedy they inject into their work is both pleasing and refreshing."

The big added attraction for the week will be an episode of city life, "On A Side Street," which is presented by Homer Miles. New York's palaces and slums have both formed the environment for many theatrical stories but it remained for Homer Miles to exploit the humble dwelling street as the realm of romance. "On A Side Street" has stepped immediately into popular favor, and the novel idea and unique features of the sketch have made it stand out like a cameo on programs of international repute. The title is reflected in the staging, the scenery depicting the brownstone front boarding house, typical of the West side of Manhattan, with a sky-scraping apartment house towering alongside. Clancy, the janitor of the apartment house, a "plain clothes man," and a young couple from Leesburg, Va., types recognizable by every New Yorker, constitute the dramatic personae. The theme likewise is one with which New Yorkers are all too familiar, the police orders permitting any uniformed officer or plain clothes man to challenge any woman on the street, forming the basis of the plot. Popular disgust at the tyranny of this system, with its potentiality for evil, and the exactions of "fly cops" clothed in a little brief authority, make "On A Side Street," one of the most vital playlets in vaudeville. Clancy, the janitor's, droll humor and repartee, directed at the complaining tenants offstage, the love idyll of the maiden and youth from Leesburg, and the bungling brutality of the officious detective, constitute a thrilling ensemble. The cast of this little playlet includes some of the best talent obtainable in vaudeville and "On A Side Street," has been well received wherever it has been presented.

The moving pictures will be up to the usual standard and will close one of the best bills of vaudeville ever presented at the Empress. A matinee is given daily at 2:45 and evening performances at 8 and 9:30. Seats may be reserved one week in advance by either telephone. A special school children's matinee is given every Saturday at 2:30, when all scholars under 14 years of age are admitted for five cents. Special attention paid to the comfort and entertainment of ladies and children at all times.

Orpheum Closes.

The last performance of the season will be given at the Orpheum theater this evening.

Following tonight's performance the theater will remain closed until early in August.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

Otto Hauerbach has just completed a serious drama, upon which he has been working for some time. Al H. Woods has bought the producing rights to the new play, which will be called "The District Attorney," and will produce it next season in New York. The theme of the play is taken from an actual case.

Daniel Frohman is looking about for other new plays. He acquired one last week when he arranged with an American author for the rights of a comedy entitled "Thy Neighbor's Wife."

The piece will be produced at the Lyceum theater about Sept. 1, with Arthur Byron, Frederick Tyden, Parmela Gaythorne, and Alice John in the important parts.

Miss Gaythorne was a member last season of the New Theater company. Miss John is at present appearing in "The Seven Sisters." Mr. Tilden has been a member of John Drew's companies for several years.

Eliabeth Brice and Charles King have arrived in London, to begin an engagement abroad for six weeks only. At the conclusion of this engagement they will return to America in time to play one week in the New Brighton theater during July.

That will be their one vaudeville engagement for next season. Immediately following their Brighton week they begin rehearsals with the new Lew Fields musical comedy show.

The leading roles in the present revival of "Pinafore," on May 30, will be played by Marie Cahill, De Wolf Hopper, Louise Gunning, Henry E. Dixey, Eugene Cowles, George J. MacFarlane, Arthur Aldrige, Alice Brady, Christine Nielsen and Harold Crane. The rehearsals, which are now in full swing, are being conducted by Mr. William A. Wilson.

One of the important features of this "Pinafore" production will be the chorus. Several hundred chorus people applied for positions in the company, and from this number a careful selection was made, not only on the basis of personal appearance but also on the basis of vocal ability. The scenery and costumes will be entirely new throughout and specially designed for this production.

Back from the long and tortuous route covered by "The Paradise of Mahomet," Maude Odell was summoned to the offices of Henry W. Savage and given a contract for the leading part in a new play, the details of which are being kept secret.

Charles Klein, author of "The Gamblers," has ensconced himself at his summer home at Rowayton, Conn., since his return from Europe, and is working on his new play which will be produced by the Authors' Producing company next October.

When Alla Nazimova inaugurates her season under Charles Frohman's banner it probably will be in a new play, entitled "The Witness for the Defense."

The engagement of "Next," announced to begin at the Garrick theater last Tuesday evening, was indefinitely deferred since, after the first performance in the East Saturday evening, the star, Miss Helen Lowell, became indisposed. The Garrick, therefore, was dark last week.

Emma Carus will return to vaudeville this week at the New Brighton theater after two years in the legitimate as co-star with Eddie Foy. She has a monologue written by Vincent Bryan and five new songs which are characteristically of the Carus kind. Several of them were written by Irving Berlin.

Florence Reed, who had two seasons in "Seven Days," will create a new role next season in a play which Wagenhals & Kemper will produce at the Astor theater in October.

A. H. Woods returned from Europe Friday, May 19, on the Mauretania, with many new theatrical offerings for the coming season. During his seven weeks' stay abroad he arranged for a number of new things and for the season of 1911-12 he will have no less than twenty important productions. Mr. Woods' plans are as follows:

Julian Eltinge in "The Fascinating Widow" will open at the New Amsterdam theater on Labor day; Marguerita Silva in "Gypsy Love," by Franz Lehar and Dr. Wilner, will be presented in Philadelphia and Boston prior to its opening at Dillingham's Globe theater, October 30; Eddie Foy will inaugurate his first season under the Woods regime at the Olympic theater, Chicago, Labor day, in a new musical comedy; Dustin and William Farnum, in "The Littliest Rebel," at the Chicago Opera house, Labor day; Blanche Walsh, in a new play at Trenton, October 15. In conjunction with Frazee & Lederer there will be five "Madame Sherry" companies, and under Mr. Woods' personal direction there will be two "Girl in the Taxi" companies. The new productions from the other side are "Tantalizing Tommy," a musical comedy by Michael Morton and Hugo Felix; "Modest Suzanne," now playing in Vienna. This is a new musical comedy by Jean Gilbert. Mr. Woods controls both the European and the American rights of this big European success. "The Pretty Little Milliner," now running in Berlin; "Dame Nature," a drama by Henri Bataille; "The Antelope," a new play, by Hugo Feltx "Miss Dudelsack," adapted from the German of Greenbaum and Reichert, by Patrick Bidwell, with music by Rudolph Nelson. Among the other American productions which will be produced by Mr. Woods are: "The Greyhound," by Paul Armstrong and Wilson Mizner; "Slumming," a big musical extravaganza, and "The Pet of the Petticoats," also a new drama by Otto Hauerbach, entitled "The Prosecuting Attorney." Between 600 and 700 actors will be under the A. H. Woods banner the coming season.

BOY GIVEN LONG TERM.

Twenty Years in Reformatory for Killing Stepfather.

Stillwater, Minn., June 3.—George Sears was found guilty Thursday by the trial jury of manslaughter in the first degree as charged in the indictment for killing his stepfather, was sentenced to the reformatory at St. Cloud under the indeterminate sentence law. The crime is punishable by imprisonment from five to twenty years.

Arraigned for sentence Judge P. H. Stolberg made a lengthy record under the new law, covering the history, age, occupation of the young man and a list of his near relatives with their residences. The names of the jurors who tried him and of the witnesses for the State were made part of the record.

The boy stated that he was 17 years old Dec. 17, last. He had been employed at the transfer railway yards at Merriam park and in this city.

When asked if he had any thing to say why sentence should not be pronounced, Hollis Comfort as his attorney stated that the shooting was claimed to be justifiable. He had shot his stepfather, William Elias under provocation when he was assaulting the mother of the boy and the wife of the dead man.

AMERICANS IN LONDON

Consul General Griffith Estimates That They Number 7,000.

Thousands of Londoners Gather to See and Cheer Kaiser.

London, June 3.—The American consul-general, J. L. Griffith, asked by the state department for a report on the number of Americans residing in London has given an estimate of about 7,000, but candidly says this is simply a guess. Several attempts have been made to determine the number of Americans living permanently here, but never with any great success. Only 375 Americans are today registered at the consulate general. American directories have also been published but they contained even fewer names and those only of the well known Americans.

Mr. Griffith's estimate is considered quite conservative. Americans are found in every walk of life in London. They are, however, widely scattered. In the first place there are a great many Americans in business in London, but only a small proportion of these are members of the American society or kindred organizations and the others, not generally known to their fellow-countrymen, are swallowed up in the great vortex of London's population of seven millions.

Another element adding greatly to the American population of London is the large number of young men employed as managers or experts, in British business houses and factories. This is particularly true of electrical concerns. The headquarters staff of the United Railways, which controls a great underground system, miles of tubes and connecting street railways, is composed for example largely of Americans, while the Central London railway, the original tube, now being extended in several directions, is being developed under the guidance of an American. Then ule estimate must include the Americans of means, totaling many hundreds, who are making their homes here, and last but not least, the American women, who have married Englishmen.

In addition to London almost every city of any importance in the country has an American colony, and outside the cities many a country house has an American for owner or tenant.

There are men whom the London crowds will cheer more enthusiastically than they do the German emperor, but there is nobody they will turn out in greater numbers to see.

Ordinarily there must be a pageant of some sort to attract the Londoner. During the recent visit of the German emperor and empress and their daughter, however, they were greeted wherever they appeared, by thousands of spectators, many of whom stood for hours simply to see the visitors. On the night of the gala performance at Drury Lane, which did not conclude until half an hour after midnight, the Strand and other streets through which the royal carriages passed, were lined with people, although the carriages were closed and only the merest glimpse could be caught of the royal occupants.

While Anglo-German rivalry continues, the bitterness is disappearing, largely due to the efforts of the members of the royal families and men of influence in the political and commercial world. The visit of the German crown prince to India and his wholehearted expressions of admiration of British rule and of the Englishmen he met, had a good effect in helping to overcome the anti-German prejudice which there, a movement which has been taken a step further by the visit of the emperor and his family. The visit reminded the British public that the emperor is closely related to their own royal family, and his attentions to the young prince of Wales, in whom every Englishman takes a great pride, were very warmly appreciated. On the whole a distinct improvement can be noticed in the feelings of the British people toward Germany, even if the governments have not succeeded in bringing the points of view of the two foreign offices into harmony on world politics.

London, in late years, has become rather well acquainted with the prime ministers of the over-sea Dominions. Sir Wilfred Laurier has attended all the colonial and imperial conferences and other big functions since he came into power in Canada in 1895; Sir Joseph Ward, premier of the Dominion of New Zealand, is almost as well known; Louis Botha, who led an army against the British forces in South Africa and now comes to England as premier of the federation of South Africa, was here for the imperial defense conference and was made much of.

The only premier who is attending his first conference is Andrew Fisher, prime minister of the commonwealth of Australia, the picturesque figure in the present gathering of over-sea statesmen. Mr. Fisher was one of several sons of a poor Scottish miner, every one of whom has made his mark. The youngest of the family Mr. Fisher, started as did the others, as a pit boy in a coal mine at Kilmarnock, when ten years of age. At 20 he was a labor leader and at 23 he was "blacklisted" for his activities as an organizer. This drove him in the early eighties to Australia where he went to work in the gold fields. Less than ten years later, in 1893, he was elected to the Queensland legislature, and in 1901 took his seat in the first federal parliament; became a cabinet minister in 1904 and in 1908 became the first labor prime minister of any British parliament. His party was defeated the next year but was returned to power in 1910.

The "first labor premier" has achieved ustinct popularity with all parties in England. He announced upon his arrival that he had no intention of interfering in home politics and in his first public speech he made it clear that, while he was one with the British labor leaders in the matter of social reform, he differed very materially from them on the question of imperial defense.

The sale of the Zeniths has been unavoidably delayed and the students will not be able to purchase the 1911 annuals until Tuesday afternoon, instead of Monday, the proposed date of the sale. As the time draws near for the appearance of the Zenith a great deal of interest is being shown concernig the dedication which has been kept a secret.

From the present outlook, the alumni may expect a large number of high school students to attend the alumni entertainment, which will be given next Friday evening in the assembly hall of the high school. The fact that the proceeds of the entertainment will go to the Smith memorial fund has decided a large number of students to be present. This is especially true among the juniors and seniors who were in high school while Mr. Smith was principal. All those of the alumni who will take part in the program are well known among the high school students, and it is certain that the high school pupils will not be the least interested members of the audience next Friday evening.

The time is drawing near for the last two social functions of the year. Next Saturday evening the seniors will enjoy the annual senior farewell spread. After the banquet the seniors and members of the other classes and of the alumni will enjoy the last dancing party given by the senior class in the high school halls.

On Thursday, June 15, the juniors will entertain for the seniors at the annual junior-senior ball. The affair will be held at the new Masonic temple. A large number of the alumni and other Duluth citizens, as well as the high school students, will attend the dance.

During the chapel exercises Monday Dr. Seymour gave the last of a series of lectures to the high school. On Monday Dr. Seymour spoke on "Lady Jane Grey," and the worth of the lecture was shown by the interest taken by the students.

The girls of the gymnasium classes gave a very pretty dancing program in the gymnasium last week. Miss Smith, who has been instructing the girls, joined in several of the numbers, which were warmly applauded by a large audience.

Examinations have been coming regularly during the past week and the seniors especially have been kept busy in preparing for the last tests of their high school course.

Miss Alva Patenaude, Larry Boyle, '10, and Dave MacFarland, '09, were visitors at the school Friday.

The class night program, arranged by Stanley Lamb, is progressing favorably and the seniors may be heard rehearsing their parts any afternoon.

The comencement exercises are being arranged by Mr. Sprague, and the musical numbers by Mr. Custance. The senior essays have been critisized and the following seniors will read their essays on commencement night:

"What Becomes of the Immigrants" Ethel Smith.
"Richard Wagner" ..... Lydia Woodbridge.
"The Home; Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" ..... Enid Freimuth.
"Conservation of the Natural Resources of the United States"..... Rolf Hovde.
"The Yellow Peril—The Probable Intentions of Japan's Plans in the Pacific and Her Ability to Carry Them Out" ..... Clarence Johnson.

The last meeting of the Anonia was held in the assembly hall Thursday afternoon, at which a very pretty program was given. The Anonia was formed at the beginning of the present school year and the members need only be proud of the success of the society since it was founded.

The debate between the juniors and freshmen to decide the championship of the high school will be held next Wednesday during the chapel exercises. The question for debate is "Resolved, That Capital Punishment Should Be Abolished in the United States." The freshmen will take the affirmative and the juniors will uphold the negative side of the question. The freshmen will be represented by Irving Grover, Seward Kempton and Edson Miller and the juniors by Andrew Johnson, Edward O'Brien and Caldwell Harris.

The choir of the high school furnished a large part of the excellent entertainment given by the Shriners Thursday evening. Miss Viva Foley in the kindergarten scene, impersonated a little child very well, and did exceptionally well for a beginner.

"HORSE'S PRAYER" POSTED IN STABLES OF NORTHERN MINNESOTA

Miss Helen Dahlen of the Humane society has returned from range towns where she established Bands of Mercy in the schools. In all she enlisted about 1,600 new members. Societies were organized in the Biwabik, Buhl and Eveleth schools. The societies formed some time ago in the Duluth schools are said to be flourishing.

The following is the horse's prayer, which is being posted in all the local and range livery barns. Copies are being sent to dairymen and others who use horses each day.

"To thee, my master, I offer my prayer: Feed me, water and care for me, and, when the day's wrok is done, provide me with shelter, a clean, dry bed, and a stall wide enough for me to lie down in comfort.

"Always be kind to me. Talk to me. Your voice often means as much to me as the reins. Pet me sometimes, that I may serve you the more gladly and learn to love you. Do not jerk the reins, and do not whip me when going up hill. Never strike, beat or kick me when I do not understand what you want, but give me a chance to understand you. Watch me, and if I fail to do your bidding, see if something is not wrong with my harness or feet.

"Do not check me so that I cannot have the free use of my head. If you insist that I wear blinders so that I cannot see behind me, as it was intended I should, I pray you be careful that the blinders stand well out from my eyes.

"Do not overload me, or hitch me where water will drip on me. Keep me well shod. Examine my teeth when I do not eat. I may have an ulserated tooth, and that, you know, is very painful. Do not fix my head in an unnatural position, or take away my best defense against flies and mosquitoes by cutting off my tail.

"I cannot tell you when I am thirsty, so give me clean cool water often. I cannot tell you in words when I am sick, so watch me, and by signs you may know my condition. Give me all possible shelter from the hot sun, and put a blanket on me, not when I am working, but when I am standing in the cold. Never put a frosty bit in my mouth. First warm it by holding it a moment in your hands.

"And finally, O My Master, when my useful strength is gone, do not turn me out to starve or freeze, or sell me to some human brute, to be slowly tortured and starved to death; but do Thou, My Master, take my life in the kindest way, and your God will reward you here and hereafter. You will not consider me irreverent if I ask this in the name of Him who was born in a stable. Amen."

FINES FOR BOAT OWNERS

Customs Collector Says Launch Regulations Will Be Enforced.

Two New Inspectors Added and Heavy Fines May Follow.

Owners of motor boats will have a busy season dodging custom inspectors unless they hastily conform to the rules and regulations adopted last year by the government custom house office. These rules and regulations were not strictly lived up to last year, but the reason assigned for the laxity in their enforcement is that the government gave the owners one year to equip their little craft to meet the requirements.

L. M. Willcuts, collector of customs of the local harbor, has been instructed by Washington authorities to abide strictly to the rules and enforce them to the letter. This means that there will undoubtedly be a number of fines imposed upon motor boat owners unless they make some radical changes.

Mr. Willcuts is prepared to give all the owners copies of the rules so that no reason can be offered for not knowing what changes should be made to the boats.

"I am afraid some heavy fines will have to be imposed upon some of the owners of the motor boats," said Mr. Willcuts today, "for they do not seem inclined to carry out the rules and regulations of the department. On June 1, I put on two more inspectors and have instructed them to watch out carefully for all the motor boats and see that they are properly equipped. The owners were allowed a year in which to fix up their boats, but many, however, have not done so, and probably will not until a few fines have been made on some of them."

URGES ACTION ON SUMMER CAPITAL

Nye Wants Early Hearing on Plan to Take It to Minnetonka.

Washington, June 3.—Minnesota has not given up the fight to have a summer White House on Lake Minnetonka. Representative Nye of Minneapolis today appealed to the house committee on public buildings and grounds for an early hearing on his resolution providing a summer executive mansion in Minnesota. Na date was set for the hearing. President Taft stated several days ago that he was not at liberty to designate a summer home for presidents and that the matter was one for congress to dispose of.

OSLER RIGHT; YOUTH SUCCEEDS AGE

Osler isn't the only man who turns down old age. In the business world the "young man" is always the one who picks the plums. It is an age of "new thought," "new talent," etc., and the old man is passed by in the race.

One of the first signs of coming age is the appearance of gray hairs. When you see them, act promptly. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy will correct this sign, which so often deceives people into thinking that age is really upon them. It is a well-known fact that Sage and Sulphur will darken the hair. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur combines these old-time remedies with other agents, which remove dandruff and promote the growth of the hair.

The manufacturers of this remedy authorize the druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

Judge Dibell Refuses to Transfer Sensational Divorce Case to St. Paul.

Abraham Saloom Replies to Foot Kissing Episode With Cross Bill.

Judge Dibell refused to transfer the case of Abraham Saloom against his wife, Rosie Saloom, a divorce action, to St. Paul, after the arguments in the case had been presented by Attorney H. W. Hall of that city. Attorney B. M. Goldberg appeared for the plaintiff and argued against transferring the case.

Some time ago Abraham Saloom brought the action against his wife. He asked a divorce on the grounds of desertion.

Mrs. Saloom in her answer and cross bill, alleged that she had been cruelly treated and cited instances. Today Saloom filed a reply to the answer and cross bill with the clerk of the local district court, in which he denies all which she has alleged, and states some more charges. The case will be tried during the September term of the district court.

In her cross bill Mrs. Saloon claims that she was forced to peddle notions to support herself and children; that she was treated in a cruel and inhuman manner; that she was called vile names; that she was threatened with death; that her husband threw her on the floor, placed one foot on her head and brandished a knife over her; that he pulled her out of bed by the limbs; that when ill and unable to leave her bed, he refused her water; that after he had taken up his residence in a shack back of the house, he beat on tin pans under her windows at night; that he was filthy in his habits; that he refused to eat what she had cooked.

She stated further that on one occasion he told her that if she would visit him at his shack and kiss his foot seventeen times, he would consider the matter of forgiving her and would take her back to live with him.

In his reply to the cross bill filed this morning Saloon denies all this and further alleges that one George Toby, who lived near them, is directly responsible for the breaking up of his family. He declares that his wife has an ungovernable temper and that although he has asked her many times, she has refused to come to Duluth and live with him.

CHANGES IN TIME CARDS

Northern Pacific Now Making Faster Time to Twin Cities.

Three changes in time have been announced by two Duluth roads.

Though the official bulletin announcing the time change was issued only today, ever since last Sunday the Northern Pacific afternoon train from Duluth has been cutting off 15 minutes of its running time between here and St. Paul, reaching there at 6:10 instead of 6:25.

Another change announced by the Northern Pacific is in the arrival of the train from Ashland. The train that formerly reached Duluth at 11:20 a. m. now arrives here at 11:45 in the morning, the change in time enabling the train to connect at Ashland Junction with the Omaha train, which in turn permits the passengers from the Omaha to make the connection for Duluth.

The third change in time is that of the Soo, which leaves here at 6:45 in the evening and arrives at Chicago at 8:45 the next morning.

It is stated, though unofficially, that the shortening of the time on the Northern Pacific between here and St. Paul is an experiment that may eventually lead to the shortening of the time to something like an hour from the old time card.

KENDRICK RESIGNS.

Former Vice President of Northern Pacific Retires From Santa Fe.

J. W. Kendrick, vice president of the Santa Fe in charge of operations, formerly vice president of the Northern Pacific, has resigned. His successor is William Storey, who has been vice president in charge of construction.

Mr. Kendrick will probably devote himself to his inventions which bring him a large income and to a railroad supplies company. He visited this city many times as vice president of the Northern Pacific.

TRAINS DESPATCHED BY TELEPHONES NOW.

The Duluth & Iron Range is trying out a new system of operating trains by telephone instead of by telegraph. The method has been used in the East and has been pronounced much more satisfactory than the telegraph, being noiseless, time-saving and generally more satisfactory.

The Iron Range has not abandoned the telegraph using it for the transaction of ordinary business.

BAD WEATHER FOR CLEANING DAY

The weather man did not treat Duluth as favorably as had been hoped for its "cleaning day." Instead of a bright, clear day, the skies are cloudy and overcast. But despite that fact many yards in the city are getting a final trimming up and they will show a great improvement. The health department officials have announced that after this date warrants will be issued for the arrest of those who are responsible for any dirty or filthy premises which may be found inside the city limits.

VISIT CROSBY MINES.

Chicago and Duluth Men Looking Over Cuyuna Range Properties.

Crosby, Minn., June 3—(Special to The Herald.)—Among the prominent visitors in Crosby this week were A. Cochrane Armour, a brother of J. Ogden Armour of Chicago, who with General Manager Chester D. Tripp of the Rogers, Brown Ore company and the superintendent, H. J. Krause examined the Armour No. 1 and No. 2 mines, as well as inspecting the workings and exploration work in other parts of the range.

Another visitor was David T. Adams of Chicago, deeply interested in the Cuyuna range and who has made a fortune from his Mesaba holdings. Mr. Adams and Mr. Armour prophesied that Crosby would have a population of 12,000 people in 1916.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

PAPKE WILL FIGHT SULLIVAN

World's Middleweight Championship Will Be Decided Next Week.

Chicago, June 3.—It will be necessary to wait a while for the Billy Papke-Jim Sullivan returns. The battle, described in the English sporting papers as being for the world's middleweight title, has been set back to June 8, and will be decided under the McIntosh auspices at the Palladium in London.

It is probable, too, that this contest will be the last the cockey Australian promoter will attempt to decide on English soil proper. He hasn't been a success over there and more people daily are getting sore at him and his methods. He hasn't made any money with his battles, either, and this will be a big factor in his early clearance.

It may interest American readers, too, to learn that Bob Armstrong, the crap-shooting kid, who was the real life and joy of the Jeffries camp at Reno almost a year ago, when Jim was training for Jack, has mixed up with Papke in England, and is training the Kewanee man for the Sullivan scrap.

Armstrong also prepared Bill Chase, the big butcher "hope" for his battle, set for last night in London, with Fred Strobeck, the South African ex-amateur. So Bob is in right, a condition that usually is attended to carefully by the big black.

NO CHANGE IN POLO TEAMS.

New York, June 3.—That there will be no change in the lineup of the English and American polo teams when they face each other on Monday in the second match for the international cup, was the statement of the commanding officers of the teams today.

A few of the ponies still showed bulging socks and forelegs today, where they had stopped hard driven balls. The veterinarians expected no serious results.

Southern Field Meet.

New Orleans, La., June 3.—One hundred and sixty-five athletes entered the junior championship meet of the Southern Association of the A. A. U. at Tulane university field this afternoon.

Win Polo Cup.

London, June 3.—The royal horse guards won the polo cup, presented for annual competition by Harry Payne Whitney, defeating the Pilgrims by 9 goals to 5 in the final match played this afternoon at Roehampton.

BREN ACCUSED OF EMBEZZLING

Minneapolis, Minn., June 3.—J. D. Bren, cashier of the University of Minnesota, who reported that he had been robbed by three men of $14,000 near the campus yesterday, was placed under arrest at 1:05 o'clock this morning and taken to the central police station, where he was charged with embezzling.

WOOL BILL FAVORED BY HOUSE COMMITTEE.

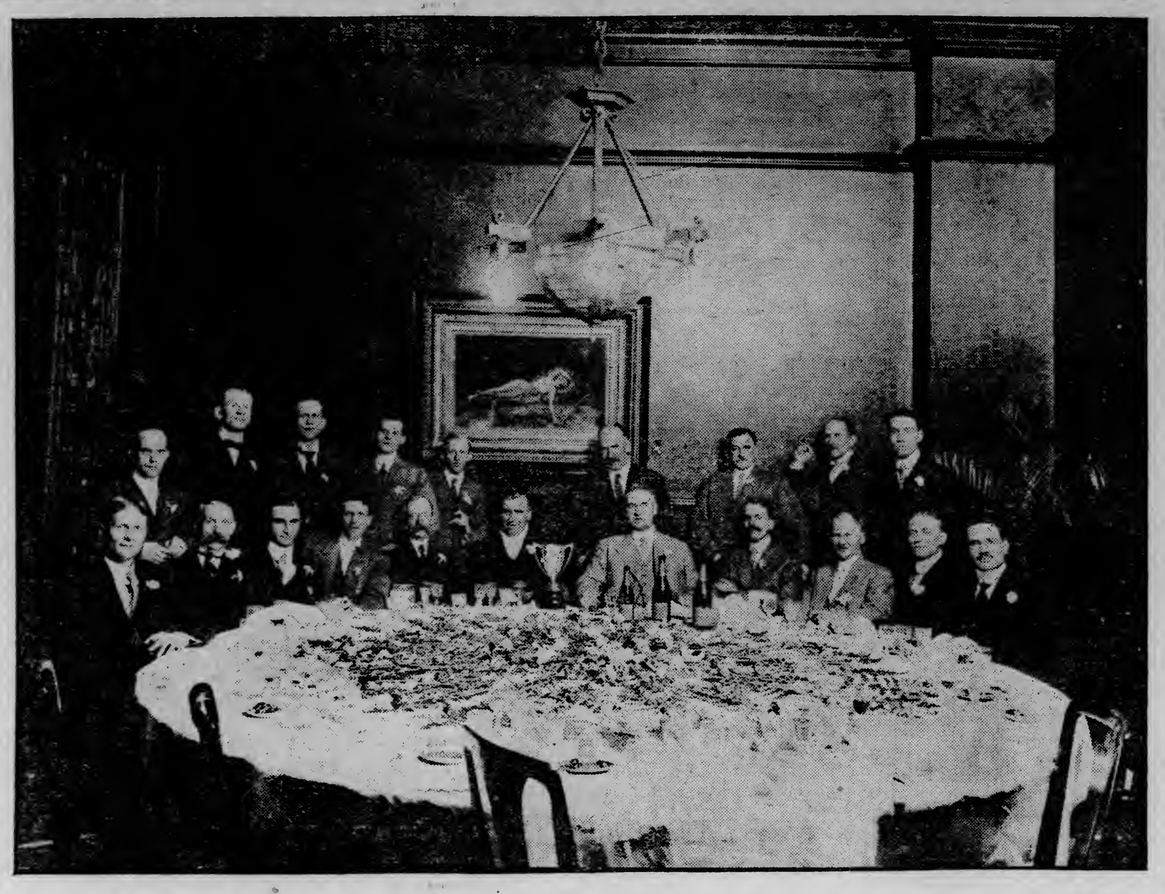

Washington, June 3.—The wool tariff revision bill will be reported favorably to the house when it convenes Tuesday, the ways and means committee decided today. There was a strict party vote on the bill. Debate will begin Wednesday.

Ironwood Near-Suicide.

Ironwood, Mich., June 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Disappointed in a love affair Harry Dillion, a civil engineer, aged 25, from Indianapolis, whose mother and sister live in Quebec, Can., swallowed a mercury tablet in Foley's saloon here Thursday night. He was rushed to the Oliver Iron Mining company's hospital, where two doctors applied a stomach pump and saved his life.

Ore shipments from the docks at the Head of the Lakes are near 2,000,000 tons behind the shipments at June 1 last year. The biggest falling off is from the Missabe docks here, shipments for the period from the beginning of the season to June 1 being 1,610,030 less than for the same period last year. The Duluth & Iron Range also shows a falling off, while heavy shipments from the Allouez docks in May nearly wiped out the big decrease shown in April.

Heavy shipments from the Allouez docks will continue to be the rule, while the Missabe and Iron Range docks are expected to remain behind last year's shipments for some time. The Soo, the new shipper in the field, shipped only 15,200 tons during May.

CARRIES ALL HIS SUPPLIES

Cook Settler Says He Packs All Goods for Fifteen Miles.

Came to Duluth to Tell Development Association About It.

"How would you like to pack all your supplies fifteen miles through the woods?" asks H. B. Ellsworth of Cook, who was in Duluth to attend the sessions of the Northern Minnesota Development association.

Mr. Ellsworth says that there are from 250 to 300 settlers living from one mile to twenty miles from the station. He states that the roads are so bad that it is impossible to get over them with horses and wagons and that the settlers are forced to carry all their necessities of life to their farms on their backs.

Mr. Ellsworth has a sawmill at Cook and has a farm about fifteen miles out in the country. He came to Duluth especially to tell the delegates to the recent convention of the conditions about Cook. He was much disappointed that he did not get a chance to talk as he says that he does not think many know how bad the conditions really are.

He says that he has a box car of provisions on a side track at Cook and that he will be forced to tote the contents to his farm on his back.

The wet weather of this spring is largely responsible for the conditions of the roads, he says, and adds: "How can you fairly invite settlers until you give them roads? The country near Cook is very rich and productive but absolutely valueless without roads."

ABSOLVES UNION FROM HIS CRIME

Chicago, June 3.—Maurice Enright, business agent of the Steamfitters' union, charged with the murder of Vincent Altman and William Gentleman and thought by the police to have been implicated in other shooting affairs and labor sluggings, has confessed, according to the police, that she shot and killed Gentleman in a downtown saloon, May 22.

Enright absolved labor union officials of any responsibility in the murder.

Kimberly Depot Destroyed.

Brainerd, Minn., June 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lightning struck the Northern Pacific depot at Kimberly this morning. The building took fire and was totally destroyed. No one was injured. There were heavy rains here last night but no damage reported.

WILSON IS FAVORITE

New Jersey Man First Choice in Minnesota, Says McEwen.

Governor Burke for Vice President or a Cabinet Place.

W. E. McEwen, former state labor commissioner, returned today from the banquet of the state Democrats with the opinion that the Democratic ticket has a very rosy chance for victory at the next national election.

Mr. McEwen seemed to believe that Wilson is a general favorite with the Democrats of this state, and is also of the opinion that John Burke of Dakota does not stand any chance to head the national ticket, though there is a very strong chance that he will be considered as vice presidential timber or for a member of the cabinet, in the event of success crowning the efforts of the Democrats.

According to the statement of Mr. McEwen, there is a general belief among the Democrats of this state that an Eastern Democrat will stand more chance for the nomination and election. That is one of the reasons for the general sentiment for Governor Wilson of New Jersey, in addition to the fact that the Democrats of Minnesota recognize in him a very strong and able man.

Democrats in general throughout the state consider the prospects of the national ticket very bright, according to Mr. McEwen, and for that reason the gathering of the state Democrats who have been prominent in the councils and work of the party took on a joyous aspect, every one attending the banquet and general meeting being free in optimistic predictions.

CHEER MADERO ON HIS RETURN

Mexicans Welcome Him at Border—Murder Plot Is Revealed.

Piedras Negras, (formerly Ciudad Porfirio Diaz), Mex., June 3.—Re-entering Mexican territory after a 600-mile journey through the United States, Francisco I. Madero, Jr., was welcomed by an immense throng at the international line here today.

Tried to Kill Madero.

El Paso, Texas, June 3.—Soon after the departure of Francisco I. Madero for the City of Mexico, details were made known of an alleged attempt to dynamite him. The plot, according to the insurrecto police, was to have been carried out during the ball which Senor Madero attended in Juarez last night.

Crezrey, formerly jefe politcio of Guadeloupe, has been locked up in Juarez and placed incommunicado, and insurrecto secret service men have been detailed to make other arrests. Had the dynamite exploded in the ballroom 500 people would have been injured.

President Dick Ferris.

Tijuana, Lower Cal., June 3.—The insurrectos in Tijuana have severed connection with the Mexican liberal party junta, elected Dick Ferris, a former actor, president of the new republic of Lower California and decided to await word from Gen. Pryce before choosing a new general, Gen. Pryce to have the preference if he returns. He is expected Sunday. Ferris now is a promoter of Los Angeles.

WANT NEW RATES TO MINNEAPOLIS

Traffic Association Files Petition With Commerce Commission.

Washington, June 3.—Freight rates in the Northwest were attacked today before the interstate commerce commission by the Minneapolis Traffic association. The petition alleges that the general freight rates between Minneapolis and points in South Dakota and other points in the Northwest, which take the same rates are excessive and in some instances exorbitant.

The complaint is framed by all of the great shippers of that section, who assert that the rates from Minneapolis to South Dakota and continuous points are so high as to render them unable to do business. The commission is asked to prescribe just rates and to make the conditions of shipments equitable.

TAFT TO TALK ON RECIPROCITY.

Fort Wayne, Ind., June 3.—President Taft and his party passed through here this forenoon, on the way to Chicago, where the president is to speak on reciprocity.

FIRST ENGLISH ACTRESS

The Strand: No English actress made her appearance before the Restoration. On Jan. 3 Pepys records:

"To the theater, where was acted the 'Beggar's Bush,' it being very well done; and here the first time that ever I saw women come upon the stage." These, it is suspected, were mere "walking ladies."

The distinction of being the first English actress has been variously ascribed to Mrs. Davenport, Mrs. Knipp and Mrs. Davies. They all appeared the same year (1661), Mrs. Davies, together with the principal actresses in Sir William's Davenant's company, being boarded in the manager's "own house."

ILLUSTRATED VISITING CARDS.

Lady's Pictorial: It is to be hoped the illustrated visiting card, if it may be so called, which is making some advance in popularity on the other side of the channel, will not "catch on" with us. Time was of course when elaborately engraved and pictorial visiting cards were absolutely de rigueur and today they are attractive to collectors, but in those days there was far less possibility of such a fashion being vulgarized. It is to be feared that the danger is all too great at present, when visiting cards are used even by one's domestics. One shudders to think of what atrocities might be perpetrated in the name of fashion if our Gallic neighbors send us over the etched visiting cards.

GREAT OUTPUT OF BUTTE MINES OF THE ANACONDA

Ten Thousand Tons of Ore Sent to Washoe Smelter Daily.

Vein Cut Recently in North Butte Mine Widened Considerably.

Butte, Mont., June 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—While it is quite generally known that the mines of Butte owned by the Anaconda Copper Mining company turn out an immense quantity of copper every day in the year, few have any adequate idea of the amount of ore which is hoisted every day and shipped to the smelters at Anaconda and Great Falls. The ore output of the original group of Anaconda properties is sent to the Washoe Smelter at Anaconda, and the ore taken from the mines formerly owned by the Boston & Montana company is nearly all sent to the plant at Great Falls over the Great Northern railway. Under normal conditions some 10,000 tons are hoisted to the surface and sent to the Washoe smelter over the Butte, Anaconda & Pacific Railway company line, a road owned by the Anaconda, and which has a perfect network of tracks about the mines. This ore is transported in large steel cars, weighing eighteen tons each and carrying fifty tons of ore. It is figured out that each day in the 365 days in the year the combined weight carried over the rails to the smelter is 20,000 tons, and reduced to pounds, 14,600,000,000 are hauled to the smelter each year. Taking into consideration the custom ore and the supplies, other than coal and coke, a combined tonnage of 14,000 is brought to the Anaconda smelter every day in the year. An official has figured out that counting an average ore car at thirty-two feet, this enormous tonnage, if made into one train, would, excluding the locomotives, reach more than 600 miles. If made into one train when the first car was at the smelter the last car would be somewhere about 250 miles west of Spokane. This gives an idea of the immense amount of business carried on by the Butte, Anaconda & Pacific railway, which is only twenty-six miles in length. In addition to this the road hauls all the general merchandise to the Anaconda people and carries on a general passenger business.

But to come back to the amount of ore hauled and the work necessary to treat the same: To treat the 10,000 tons of ore from the mines, 2,000 tons of crushed lime rock and about 1,000 tons of coal and coke are required. The lime rock is used as fluxing material for the treatment of the sulphurous ore and comes from quarries owned by the company, six miles west of Anaconda. The company railroad runs to the quarries, where there is an almost inexhaustible supply of the rock.

North Butte.

The North Butte management is very decided in its determination not to let any one know from an official source the results of development work. While there is no doubt whatever that there have been several fine bodies of ore opened up in the past few months, not a word officially can be ascertained. About two weeks ago a vein was cut on the 2,200-foot level, which is the same vein which was cut on the 1,800-foot level, but nothing will be given out. From some of the miners it was learned at the time that it was ten feet wide and showed copper ore of from 7 to 8 per cent. Since that time miners report that the vein has widened considerably, and that it is now about fifteen feet wide, with ore running about 12 per cent. It is stated that it is the Berlin vein, and is believed to be one of the largest and richest ever opened in the district.

Butte Central.

The cutting of a station on the 800-foot level of the Ophir mine of the Butte Central Copper company is about completed. A pump has been installed and the sinking of the shaft to the depth of 1,000 feet will be commenced in a few days. Supt. McConnell is very well satisfied with the way the work is progressing, and says that by the first week in August at the latest the 1,000-foot mark will be reached and a station cut.

Diamond Mine Closed.

The Diamond mine of the Anaconda company has been closed down and the work of equipping the big engine with the new cylinders for the hoisting of ore by the compressed air plant has been commenced. This is another assurance that the company is perfectly satisfied that the new system, as being operated at the Mountain View mine, is a complete success. The company stated a short time ago that, until it was demonstrated beyond a reasonable doubt that the plant was in every way satisfactory at the Mountain View, the Diamond would not be closed down and the necessary changes made. It will require about five weeks to make the changes, and in the meantime the St. Lawrence and High Ore, which have been recently started up, will fully make up for the closing down of the Diamond. The West Gray Rock, which had to be closed down through an accident to the engine, will be in a position to resume in the course of the next two weeks.

Pilot Butte.

As much of the stock of the Pilot Butte company as is required to equip the property and carry on development work for some time to come has been subscribed, and now the work of installing the machinery is progressing at a rate which warrants the management in stating that actual mining will be commenced by the middle of the month. The shaft is down 520 feet and notwithstanding that it has not been in use for three years is, so far as can be observed, in excellent condition. An arrangement has been entered into with the Butte & Superior company whereby a cross-cut is to be run from the Black Rock of that company at a depth of 1,200 feet, to a point beneath the Pilot shaft and raise to the present level. By this means the work will be more rapid and economical and will result in proving the veins of the Pilot company at great depth before the close of the year. The fact that the Pilot Butte is located immediately south of the Elm Orlu, a Clark zinc property, and a good producer with fair copper values, with the Berlin claim of the North Butte company on the south and the Badger State on the west, makes the management full of confidence as to the outcome. It is in the Berlin claim that the North Butte only a week or so ago uncovered a very rich body of ore, while from the Badger State some of the richest specimens of copper ore ever seen in the district have recently been taken.

Radersburg District.

The Radersburg district is occupying considerable attention just now, especially from those who have money to invest and believe that the gold mining prospects are better than the copper mining as an investment. The older mines, such as the Keating, the Ohio-Keating and the Black Friday, are working with a large force of miners and are turning out large quantities of good shipping ore. Another feature of the district is that the operators are beginning to realize that electricity is the coming motive power. Some people of experience claim that it is 50 per cent cheaper than steam. However that may be, the Keating has installed an electric plant and built a power line from Boulder to the camp. The Black Friday, the Rena and the Ohio-Keating are now securing power from the Keating, and other companies are making arrangements for the power. All the concerns named are shipping ore, and inside of two weeks at least two more companies will be added to the producing class.

East Butte.

W. A. Paine of Paine, Webber & Co., brokers, has been in the city for several days. Mr. Paine has large interests in the East Butte company and during his stay in the city he made a thorough examination of both the underground and surface workings of the company and also the smelter. He expressed the belief that the improvements arranged for several months ago during a trip of inspection made by President Gross would undoubtedly prove of considerable benefit in the way of effecting economy in handling and treating ore.

To Treat Republic Ore.

J. L. Harper, a prominent Washington state mining man, spent several days in the city recently and while here inspected the underground workings of some of the mines. Under the guidance of General Supt. Gillie of the Anaconda company he made an examination of the new compressed air plant and asked many questions as to the details of operation. He also visited the Washoe smelter at Anaconda. Mr. Harper's principal business here was to consult with Mr. Gillie as to the handling of a large portion of the ore from the Republic mines in his state and before leaving was able to close an agreement with the Anaconda for the treatment of the ore at the Washoe smelter. Mr. Harper and Mr. Gillie were enabled to reach satisfactory terms through the Great Northern railway making a rate of $4 per ton direct from the mine in Washington to the Anaconda smelter. The ore of the Republic mines was previously treated at the Grand Forks, British Columbia, smelter, but owing to a coal strike the smelter people refused to accept any ore, so Mr. Harper immediately took the train and came to this city and made his arrangements as stated.

DEEPEN GRAND GULCH MINES

Main Shaft Is to Be Sunk to About 850 Feet.

Bisbee, Ariz., June 3.—The Grand Gulch mines in Mohave county are to be developed to deeper levels that are now reached by the main shaft, which is down 650 feet. The mines contain large bodies of very rich copper ore and regular shipments have been going out for several years. It is said that the average value of the ore has been close to 50 per cent copper, twelve to fifteen ounces of silver and $4 to $10 gold a ton. The main shaft will be sunk to about 850 feet.

The Manitou Hill Copper company has purchased the Five Points mine on Lower Pinto creek, Gila county, for $400,000. The stockholders of the purchasing company reside at St. Joseph.

The recent destruction by fire of the large leaching plant of the Warrior Development company in the Globe district will not affect the operations or standing of that concern, it is said. The plant was erected about eleven years ago at a cost of $200,000, but it was found to be impracticable and has never been operated successfully. It was closed down two months after it was finished and has been idle ever since. It is said to have been wiped off the books of the company as an asset.

The Calzona Mines company recently encountered a body of rich ore at the bottom of its 196-foot shaft in its mine in Yuma county. Two cars of the ore that were shipped to the Humbodit smelter netted $250 a ton.

The discovery recently of a bed of rich placer gold on a ranch thirty miles south of Yucca, Mohave county, by Harry McClair has caused excitement among mining men of that section. Some of the gold is in nuggets as large as wax beans.

The Arizona-Rio Tinto Mining company, that was recently formed, has taken over the John A. Duncan group of mining claims in the Paradise district, the Taylor-Caldwell group of claims, fifteen miles south of San Simon, and a number of other claims in that section. Capt. John Duncan of St. Joseph, Mo., is president. The properties are in a fair state of development.

AT THE NEVADA CONSOLIDATED

Dividends for First Quarter of the Year Were $745,150.

Tonopah, Nev., June 3.—Operations at the Nevada Consolidated for the first quarter show production: January, 5,268,954 pounds; February, 4,992,533 pounds; March, 5,632,250 pounds; total, 15,892,743 pounds. The ore treated averaged 1.84 per cent. The cost per pound was 6.99 cents. Dividends for the quarter were $745,150.

The annual statement of the Tonopah Extension shows: Ore treated during the year, 44,524.30 tons; mine production, 34,470.77 tons, and 10,053.53 tons taken from the surface dump; value of ore milled, $12.96 the ton; average price received for silver, $0.53725 per ounce; net returns from milling operations, $501,322.47; cost of mining, including all development wrok, $157,684.99; cost of milling, $162,517.02; total, $320,202.01; excess of receipts over disbursements, $181,120.46.

Operations at the National show that the high grade ore has gone to depth. High grade continues on the 860-foot level, the deepest such rock has been known to go.

A dividend of 25 cents the share has been declared by the Tonopah-Belmont Development company, distributing about $375,000 and making a total since organization of $1,718,000.

H. G. Walker and J. S. Hanawalt of San Francisco have taken a lease on the old Borland property in Black canyon, near Imlay, and they are now drifting on the 150-foot level along the vein. Two years ago leasers extracted $40,000 in high-grade ore from this property, conning their operations to the surface and shallow workings.

ROYALTIES INVOLVED

Interesting Suit in Which Virginia Man Is the Plaintiff.

Steel Corporation and Other Iron Companies Reducing Forces.

An interesting suit involving royalties on iron ore has been filed in the circuit court for Iron county, Mich. John P. Carey of Virginia, Minn., is the plaintiff and the Gleason Exploring & Mining company the defendant. The iron ore concerned is that contained in two deposits north of the village of Iron River, Menominee range, and which the Davidson Ore company, subsidiary to the New York Steel company, is now developing. The Gleason company is a corporation organized under the laws of Arizona, but has as its stockholders Mesaba range and Upper Michigan men. The deposits in question are contained in two properties known as the Gleason and Goodman, one in section 23 and one in section 14, 43-35. The Gleason company took the tracts under option and after testing them with diamond drills acquired them under a lease which subsequently was transferred to the New York State Steel interests. It is the claim of Mr. Carey that it was he who executed this latter transaction. He recites that the properties were placed in his hands for disposition, with the understanding his commission would be whatever royalty he procured over and above 47 cents a ton in the case of one deposit and over and above 45 cents in the second case. He asserts further that 9,000,000 tons of merchantable ore have been proved up in the section 23 property and 4,000,000 tons in the adjoining tract. The New York State Steel company took over the lease on the basis of a royalty of 50 cents a ton for the section 23 ore and a royalty of 45 cents for the section 14 product. Mr. Carey thus claims a commission of 3 cents a ton in the one case and a royalty of 5 cents in the other. He asks the court to give him an interest in the lease to that extent. Mr. Carey's suit is based, he says, on a verbal agreement which he alleges President Gleason of the Gleason company made with him the latter part of 1909. An interesting feature of the litigation is the statement that the two tracts together contain not less than 13,000,000 tons of merchantable ore. This has caused no little surprise in Western Menominee range mining circles. It has been known the deposits were of goodly proportions, but that they contained as much ore as alleged was hardly suspected. Providing the estimate is approximately correct the mine of the Davidson Ore company will prove one of the most important of the Menominee range producers. As showing his authority to negotiate the deal, Mr. Carey avers that with the lease transferred to the New York State Steel company he was paid $15,000 by the latter corporation. The Gleason company will fight the suit, which promises to be long drawn out and hotly contested.

Reducing Forces.

The policy of retrenchment adopted by the United States Steel corporation involves mines on the Menominee range as well as properties in the Marquette, Gogebic and other districts. The working forces have been curtailed both at the Chapin mine at Iron Mountain and the Aragon mine at Norway, and in addition night shift work has been suspended. On the other hand, the company's Dober and Mansfield mines, at the western end of the Menominee, are employing more than the normal forces of men and will increase their shipments this season. The crew at the Dober comprises 180 men, whereas 110 usually are employed. At Ishpeming, Marquette range, the Steel corporation has put into commission its big ore-crushing plant at the Hard Ore mines. The crusher had been idle since last fall. It is one of the largest in the Lake Superior region. The capacity is 5,000 tons of ore daily, but as production at the Hard Ore properties has been scaled down this year that amount is not now being treated. The Cleveland Cliffs Iron company, the largest operator on the Marquette range, has announced no curtailment, as yet at least. It is, in fact, maintaining its working forces on the scale in effect for months past and recently has resumed operations at its South Jackson property at Negaunee. This latter mine is an open pit, active only during seasons of navigation.

The Cambria Steel company has materially reduced its forces at the Penn group of mines in the Norway and Vulcan district of the Menominee range, as well as at the Republic property in the Marquette district. On the Gogebic range, the Jones & Laughlin Steel company has reduced by one-half the crew at its Pence & Snyder property. Rogers, Brown & Co., it is stated, will ship from the Mesaba range this season practically as much ore as was forwarded last year. The concern's principal producer in that district is the Buffalo & Susquehanna mine, an underground property, now being transformed into an open pit. While the Mesaba's record production of 29,000,000 tons, achieved last year, will hardly be equalled this season, the operations are quite as vigorous and in the aggregate practically as many men are employed. A large volume of preparatory work is being done, and if some mines are not producing as heavily they are being put in condition to send out larger outputs in seasons to come. In the Virginia district, to mention a case in point, the Steel corporation and the Republic Steel & Iron, Jones & Laughlin, Corrigan-McKinney and Pickands-Mather companies are operating practically with full forces. At Pickands, Mather & Co.'s Minorca mine a new shaft is being sunk.

To Sink Second Shaft.

The Spring Valley Iron company, controlled by Ohio independent furnace interests, is preparing to sink a second shaft at its Kinney mine, in the Iron River district of the Menominee range. This is preparatory to operating the property more vigorously. There is one shaft now down 350 feet and at which a good-sized stockpile has been accumulated. The Kinney has developed satisfactorily and its ore is of somewhat better grade than the average ore mined in the Iron River country, its metallic content assaying very close to 60 per cent. A force of eighty-five men is employed at present. The Breitung interests of Marquette have been conducting exploratory work in the Paint river valley at Crystal Falls, Menominee range, since last winter and with such satisfactory results that additional lands in the same locality have now been taken over and also will be tested. The property at which operations have been in progress is known as the Kimball tract, in section 20, 43-32. The lands now optioned are directly across the river. Exploration is by means of a diamond drill. The Breitung interests have been very successful in their search for ore and eventually will be numbered among the largest operators in the Lake Superior region. They have large deposits at Negaunee, Marquette range, now being developed and mined, and they have important holdings in the Randville district of the Menominee range. The Dessau company, in which the Lake Superior corporation is interested, is sinking its Millie shaft at Iron Mountain, Menominee range, another 100 feet and will open a new level. The property was out of commission last season, but has recently resumed operations and will ship 35,000 tons of ore this year.

An exceedingly difficult task is the work of sinking to the rock ledge at the Rogers-Brown Ore company's Rogers mine in the Iron River district. As the overburden is of quicksand and 130 feet in depth, a concrete shaft is necessary. This has been carried down practically to the rock, but as it is to be anchored firmly in the ledge and in such manner as to make it impervious to water it probably will be a few weeks yet before the work will be concluded. The work is being done by the New York Foundation company. It has been possible during much of the sinking to accomplish the excavation by means of a clamshell bucket, but during the latter stages the inrush of sand and water has been so great that resort to the cassion method has been necessary and at present the men at work in the bottom of the shaft are working in an air passage of thirty-five to forty pounds to the square inch. This pressure is sufficient to keep out the water, but as is to be expected it is very severe on the men who are compelled to labor in it. One-hour shifts are worked by relays comprising fifty men, and in some instances it is found impossible to remain underground even that brief length of time. The shaft is 19 by 14 feet in dimensions, with very thick walls reinforced both vertically and horizontally with bars of steel. It will be practically indestructible and will stand until the mine is exhausted and abandoned, many years hence. With the concrete portion of the shaft completed, there will remain a great deal of work before the property becomes a producer. The ore is down hundreds of feet. Not until next year will the Rogers enter the shipping list.

Novel Drill Operations.

Diamond drill operations with a somewhat novel purpose have recently been conducted at Eveleth, Mesaba range. Usually the ground is punctured with the hope of finding ore. In this case the boring has been done in the hope that no mineralized deposit would be encountered. A site for a school building has been sought, one of which there could be assurance no future mining operations would invade. Ore has been found in localities where in the early days it was not dreamed it existed, and consequently as mines have been developed it has been necessary not only to remove a large number of individual buildings in the Mesaba district, but even entire towns. No permanent improvements, such as the erection of school buildings or villages, are undertaken now until the ground has thoroughly been tested.

An ore-washing plant similar in design but of smaller capacity than the Steel corporation's big concentrator at Coleraine is to be built in the vicinity of Nashwauk, Mesaba range, by the Wisconsin Steel company. It will treat sandy ores from the Hawkins mine. The washery will occupy a site on the shores of O'Brien lake. It will have only one unit at the start, with the probability that a number of others will be added later on.

The Lake Superior Iron & Chemical company's chemical plan operated in connection with that corporation's charcoal iron furnace at Manistique, Mich., is to be rebuilt at an expense of $250,000. The kiln system is to be supplanted by the retort system. The new buildings will be of steel and concrete and of majestic proportions. The company has been rebuilding its plant at Newberry, Mich., in similar manner the past year. The results will be much larger outputs and materially smaller costs.

BIG CHUTE OF SOLID GALENA

Discovered on Property in the Rimini District of Montana.

Helena, Mont., June 3.—What will probably prove one of the most important strikes made in years in the Rimini district has been reported from the mining property owned by Joseph Davis, clothing merchant of Helena, and the Swan brothers, mine operators. A big chute of solid galena running several thousand dollars to the car has been reported. The strike was made on the bottom of the tunnel and is now being stoped out for shipment. Simultaneously with this report comes the announcement that the Twin City Mining company, composed of St. Paul and Minneapolis men, of which Allen McNaughton is manager, is preparing to install a steam plant on its property at the head of Telegraph creek, just across the range from Rimini. The shaft on this claim is down eighty-five feet and will be sunk much deeper. A cross-cut was run from the bottom of the shaft and a vein twenty feet wide cut which carries high grade gold, copper, silver and lead ore excellent for concentrating.

The Davis property, which consists of three claims, lies two miles south of the Lee mountain and has been developed steadily since last September. A tunnel 400 feet in length has been run, giving a vertical depth at the face of 250 feet. The vein at the face of the tunnel was not satisfactory, and after careful examination a vein was discovered on the bottom of the tunnel at a distance of thirty-two feet from the portal. Only a little work had been done at the point when a big chute of solid galena ore six feet in width was encountered. The stuff is now being blocked out and a carload will soon be ready for shipment.

F. S. Rexford, 615 New York Life building, Kansas City, Mo., says: "I had a severe attack of a cold, which settled in my back and kidneys, and I was in great pain from my trouble. A friend recommended Foley Kidney Pills, and I used two bottles of them and they have done me a world of good." For sale by all druggists.

Keweenaw Company Sinking Shaft on the Kearsarge Formation.

Houghton, Mich., June 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The New Baltic Copper company is drifting both ways at the 360-foot level in the big amygdaloid disclosed in the diamond drill exploratory operations a year ago. A considerable showing of heavy copper is being obtained. The drill borings were also rich where made in this immediate vicinity. Little is actually known of of the lode which occupies a position far to the eastward of the Kearsarge bed, the most easterly of the several best known lodes worked on the North Range. Presumably it is an extension of the Baltic lode which has given the South Range such mines as the Champion, Baltic and Superior, five and six miles further south. It strongly resembles that formation and seemingly lies in the same geological horizon.

Indiana.

The Indiana Mining company has resumed shaft sinking after a period of two months suspension during which time the shaft was concreted from surface to ledge and a steel headframe was erected over the opening. Power drills actuated by steam are in service. The shaft is nearing 150 feet in depth, and at 300 feet will likely stop for the purpose of cross-cutting the formation in search of the copper deposit revealed by previous drill borings. A diamond drill is operating in the western limits of the property engaged in making a geological cross section.

Keweenaw.

The Keweenaw Copper company continues to confine its activity to shaft sinking on the Kearsarge formation. A depth of 980 feet has been attained. The formation has not been opened to any extent by horizontal openings, but what has been seen of the lode in this work gives much encouragement, and it does appear as if the ground had the makings of a mine, a likely low grade proposition. The Keweenaw acreage carries this formation for upwards of twelve miles along its strike and to practically unlimited depth. Quite all of the copper-bearing amygdaloids and conglomerates of the Lake Superior district traverse this territory which drill borings show more or less promising, and some of these are to receive further attention shortly. An idea of the immensity of the Keweenaw acreage can be gained from the number of shafts that would be required to mine the Kearsarge bed alone. If spaced 1,500 feet apart, as is the common practice, there would be no less than forty-five shafts which is but thirty-five less than the total number of active shafts in the entire district today.

Victoria.

The Victoria Copper Mining company has secured desirable riparian rights in Lake Gogebic, the principal source of the company's water supply, and is now in position to raise the water level in that lake an additional two feet, a step that is expected to result in a larger and more regular supply of water for the operation of the huge hydro-pneumatic power plant. This plant is the sole source of power at the mine, no fuel of any kind being used in power generation, and is a most economical producer. The limited and erratic water supply of the past has at all times prevented the full operation of the plant, and in a dry season was barely capable of generating sufficient power to operate the mines and mill single shift. In consequence mining operations and development work are seriously retarded. The mine is looking exceptionally good in the bottom and in many places on the twelfth and sixteenth levels, but the general situation leaves much desired. The average yield of copper is but eleven pounds per ton of rock milled. Production is at the rate of 100 tons copper mineral per month.

Allouez.

The Allouez Mining company is developing high grade copper ground in both shafts the like of which is seldom seen in our Lake Superior mines. Practically none of the vein stuff is waste, and where other mines make a discard of from 10 to 45 per cent in the ground broken down, Allouez rejects less than 3 per cent before milling. The bottom in No. 1 shaft is particularly improved, and is all copper ground between the walls. The No. 2 shaft has shown some excellent copper ground since it came first into the lode and, opened on the underlay of the Kearsarge lode below the Ahmeek No. 1 shaft workings, is duplicating the copper ground developed in that mine. Both shafts are sinking below a depth of 3,000 feet. The rock output of the mine has not greatly increased since No. 2 shaft began production, and is now around twenty to twenty-five cars daily, about 800 tons. The yield has shown steady improvement and in recent months has been as high as forty pounds copper mineral per ton of rock milled. The average, however, is nearer thirty pounds, equivalent to eighteen to twenty pounds of refined copper.

SAYS TOO MUCH HAS BEEN SPENT

Wiley Recommends Further Work on the Davis-Daly Mine.

Butte, Mont., June 3.—In accordance with the recommendations of W. H. Wiley, who inspected the property some time ago in the interests of Eastern stockholders, development work on the 1,700-foot level of the Davis-Daly mine will be continued in an effort to locate some ore bodies which earlier work has led the company's engineers to believe exist. During the examination of the property Mr. Wiley found a shoot of ore running about 10 per cent copper on the 1,700-foot level, but did not feel justified in advising the directors to make arrangements for regular shipments of ore until the ore body had been further developed.

Mr. Wiley is stated to have been rather favorably impressed with the property and strongly advised against ceasing operations. Therefore the development work will be pushed along as rapidly as possible and it is expected that next month will largely determine the future of the mine. In addition to exploring for ore bodies on the 1,700-foot level, it is understood that attention will be given to other unexplored territory in the Davis-Daly ground. The cross-cut on the 1,400-foot level, for instance, which was run in a westerly direction to a point eighty feet under the original cross-cut into the Davis-Daly ground, will be extended to the boundary line.

In his report to the Eastern stockholders, Mr. Wiley expressed approval of the line of development work which thus far has been carried on, although he declares that the value of the ore in sight has not been in proportion to what might have been expected from the amount of money expended.

McKINLEY MINE CHANGES HANDS

British Columbia Company to Develop By Means of Tunnel.

Spokane, Wash., June 3.—James Breen of Spokane, who holds 75 per cent of the stock in the McKinley Mining company, operating on the north fork of the Kettle river, thirty-four miles from Grand Forks, B. C., announces that the bond given recently to the British Columbia company is for $100,000, conditioned upon the continuous development of the property during the next twelve months. The property was originally promoted by P. A. O'Farrell, who spent about $30,000, supplied by F. Augustus Heinze in diamond drill development work.

"Owing to its remoteness from transportation at that time," said Mr. Breen, "and the fact that Mr. Heinze had disposed of practically all his interests in British Columbia, he threw up the proposition. Mr. O'Farrell then appealed to me for assistance and I put up some money. I kept getting in a little bit deeper, until I finally owned three-quarters of the stock of the company. Not having time to give the property my personal attention, I was glad to have the British Columbia Copper company take hold of it. They are going to develop it by means of a long tunnel and I believe it will prove to be a big mine."

The property is about eighteen miles from the present terminus of the North Fork branch of the Kettle River Valley railway.

REPORT GIROUX IN ALPHA ORE

Ore Alleged to Be Found on the 1,200-Foot Level.

The New York Mining Age says: Local bankers assert that they are in receipt of news from Ely stating that the management of the Giroux company has caught the Alpha ore body on the 1,200-foot level. They also assert that the minute this ore was run into, the crew was immediately taken away from these workings and put into another part of the property. They also assert that this ore was caught about the time when Giroux shot up from $5.75 to $6.62½.

The new work on the 1,000-foot level shows that in 500 feet cross-cutting veins have been cut aggregating over fifty feet in width, and averaging 10 per cent copper. There is also forty feet of ore on the 700-foot level which carries copper. The Giroux management considers that the 1,000-foot level is about the top of their ore body.

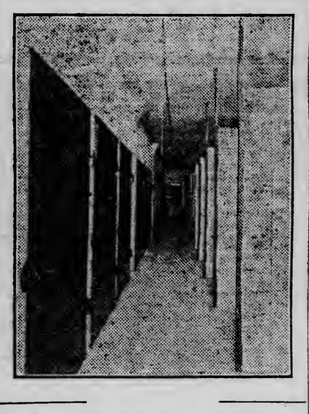

The new p ups on the 1,400-foot level have gone into commission and the cross-cut on that level has been forced rapidly ahead toward the Alpha ore bodies. Work is also progressing on the 1,200-foot cross-cut, but the ground is still soft, rendering progress difficult and slow. The management has decided to deflect this cross-cut about twenty feet to the west of the old Alpha shaft, for the reason that the shaft was bottomed in soft ground. The crosscut will therefore strike the old workings several feet west and north of the Alpha shaft. As soon as the old workings are reached the force of miners can be materially increased.

THE COLLEGE PRESIDENT AS A POLITICIAN

(Copyright, 1911, by E. J. Edwards.)

WHILE a successful college president must be a good executive and something of a politician and diplomatist as well as a scholar, a college presidency is generally regarded as the goal of an academic career and not as a stepping stone to politics and public office. There are, nevertheless, among college presidents or former college presidents several who have gone into politics and have held public office, and some also who might have had high political honors had they cared to accept them. On the other hand there are some notable instances in which politics has proved a stepping stone to academic life and the presidency of a college.

Two of the three leading candidates for the next Democratic nomination for president of the United States are former college presidents. Woodrow Wilson gave up the presidency of Princeton university to run for governor of New Jersey, and he made the step from the academic world to that of actual politics with what appeared to be consummate ease. In his campaign he outgeneraled the most astute and experienced politicians of his state, and in his administration as governor up to date he has succeeded in accomplishing all the reforms of his program. In a word he has shown himself as skillful in the practice of politics as a candidate and governor as he was illuminating in the exposition of its theory when he sat in the professor's chair.

Speaker Champ Clark of the house of representatives, the other possible Democratic presidential nominee referred to, presents a different case. While Governor Wilson's incumbency of the presidency of Princeton appears now as an essential part of his career, Mr. Clark's tenure of academical dignity was merely episodical. Most college presidents have gained their title in the middle of their career at least. Mr. Clark has the unique distinction among men now in the public eye of having started out in life as a college president. He was only 23 years of age when he became president of Marshall college in West Virginia. That institution is now extinct. Mr. Clark remained at the head of it but a year or so. His career really began when at the age of 25 he was admitted to the bar, and along with the practice of the law plunged into the thick of politics.

A College President as State Senator.

A striking example of the college president in politics is presented by President Flavel Sweeten Luther of Trinity college. For two terms he has served as a member of the Connecticut state senate. President Luther's specialties are mathematics and astronomy and his interest in politics is not of a theoretical but of a practical sort, namely, that of a good citizen. His experience in politics serves to recall by way of contrast that of the late Prof. William G. Sumner, who for nearly forty years held the chair of political and social science at Yale. Prof. Sumner was interested in politics as a student and a theorist, but in the early years of his professorship he decided that some practical experience in politics would be valuable to him. He communicated that idea to N. D. Sperry, the Republican leader in New Haven.

"That will be all right," said Mr. Sperry. "You can be nominated for the board of aldermen from the Sixth ward."

Prof. Sumner was nominated and elected from the Sixth ward and he entered upon his duties in the board of aldermen with the keenest interest. His enthusiasm lasted just three months. Perhaps he had learned all there was for him to learn in that time. At any rate he became unutterably bored and sick of his job as an alderman, and declined a renomination. Nor was he ever afterwards tempted to repeat the experiment of officeholding.

President Luther, on the other hand, approached officeholding not as a theorist seeking experience, but as a practical citizen remained interested in it, and became one of the most prominent and effective members of the legislature. It was his political record quite as much as his high position as an educator that made him last fall a very formidable candidate for the nomination of governor of Connecticut.

From College to the German Court.

Dr. David Jayne Hill, who recently resigned the post of ambassador to Berlin, is a former college president. He was president of Bucknell university for eight years, resigning that position in 1888 to become president of the University of Rochester. Dr. Hill did not jump immediately, as some others have done, from a college presidency into diplomacy. Before entering upon his career in international politics he gave up everything to devote himself to special preparation for it. Some time ago along in 1895 Dr. Hill said in confidence to some of his friends: "I am going to resign the presidency of Rochester and give several years to the study of diplomacy and the public law of Europe."

His friends tried to dissuade him. "Stay where you are," they said. "There is no reason why you can't go from the presidency of the university to a diplomatic post."

But Dr. Hill resigned, and the next three ears he spent in Europe, searching the archives and libraries and making himself master of international law and diplomatic usage. He returned to this country to become first assistant secretary of state during President McKinley's administration, and was appointed successively by President Roosevelt minister to Switzerland and to the Netherlands and ambassador to Germany. Within six months after he had accepted the ambassadorship Dr. Hill might have been nominated for governor of New York if he had consented to the use of his name. The Republican leaders who at the Saratoga convention of 1898 were trying to prevent the renomination of Governor Hughes at least made overtures to Dr. Hill, which he promptly rejected.

The College Head Sent to China by President Hayes.

James Burrill Angell, the venerable president emeritus of the university of Michigan, had a career in diplomacy which was due not to any special preparation on his part, but entirely to his reputation as an educator. In 1880 President Hayes was much puzzled about finding just the right man to send as minister to China. Owing to special conditions existing at the time he felt it necessary to give the matter very particular thought. It is understood that it was John W. Foster, afterward secretary of state, than whom there was no American who understood better the then exisiting conditions in China, who suggested President Angell for the post.

"Why not name Angell?" Mr. Foster said to the president. "He is a wonderfully successful educator and probably the greatest university builder we have today. In his work he has shown that he has just the qualities needed for this post."

"That is so," Mr. Hayes is understood to have replied. "I wonder that I did not think of him before."

President Angell served two years as minister to China. Nearly twenty years later President Cleveland appointed him minister to Turkey. He resigned that post after serving in it a short time.

Two University Executives Interested in Politics.

President Jacob Gould Schurman of Cornell university had political office thrust upon him when President McKinley in 1899 appointed him a member of the first Philippine commission. Several times in the past few years he has been very seriously considered as a possible Republican nominee for governor of New York. He is one of the college presidents who take much more than an academic interest in politics, and in campaign times he frequently discusses live political issues with vigor and effect.

Although he has a good many times declined offers of public office, there is probably no college president today who takes a keener or more active interest in politics than does President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia university. In one sense it may be said that he is in politics, for he is consulted and his advice on political questions and public affairs is valued by those in power in the Republican party and official life. Dr. Butler wrote two of the planks in the Republican national platform in 1896, and he was a delegate to the Republican national conventions in 1888 and 1904. He was the first choice of the Republican organization of New York state for the gubernatorial nomination in 1906, but declined to permit the use of his name. He could have been nominated for mayor of New York two years ago if he would have taken it, and twice he has declined offers of high diplomatic office.

The Chancellor Who Advocated Free Silver.

About the time that William J. Bryan came into power in the Democratic party, the most conspicuous college president in the United States was E. Benjamin Andrews, then president of Brown university and now chancellor emeritus of the University of Nebraska. His prominence was political, and he exerted a very marked influence on the trend of national politics at the time. After the Civil war, in which he fought on the Union side and lost an eye, he entered the Baptist ministry, but he soon gave up pastoral duties for teaching. He was professor of political economy and finance in Cornell university when in 1889 he was offered the presidency of Brown university.

It was while he was president of Brown that he began his advocacy of bi-metalism in such a way as to attract the attention of New York bankers like Colgate and John Thompson, and to catch the ear of the country at large. It has been supposed, and is very likely the fact, that Andrews was largely instrumental in causing Bryan to make silver his chief issue. At any rate, Bryan had begun his public career as a free-trader, and he did not push the silver question to the front until after Andrews, by his bi-metalistic crusade, had stirred up intense interest in the subject.

A very warm personal friendship between Mr. Bryan and President Andrews was the result of their common views on the money question, and it was believed that if Mr. Bryan had been elected in 1896 he would have appointed President Andrews to one of the first places in his cabinet.

The opinions advocated by President Andrews were never popular in New England, and when in 1898 he left Brown to become chancellor of the University of Nebraska, it was pretty generally believed that his activity in politics had something to do with the change.

From Politics to College and Back Again.

The career of Seth Low is singular in that he quit politics for a college presidency and then quit a college presidency for politics. He had been twice mayor of Brooklyn when he became president of Columbia college in New York. Seven years later, while remaining president of Columbia, he ran for mayor of Greater New York on a Republican fusion ticket, and was defeated. Four years later he resigned the presidency of the university to run again for mayor, and that time he was elected. He was a candidate for election two years later, but was defeated.

President McKinley offered Mr. Low the position of minister to Spain, which Mr. Low declined, and also appointment as a member of the first Hague tribunal, which Mr. Low accepted. Mr. Low has continued active in politics, has been considered within the past few years as an available candidate for mayor or governor.

How Politics Brought a College Presidency.

The career of Cyrus Northrup, president emeritus of the University of Minnesota affords a notable example of politics leading to a college presidency. He was graduated from Yale soon after the organization of the Republican pary and he took part as a stump speaker in the first campaign of the party. He was quickly recognized as one of the most brilliant and promising of the young Republicans and it was predicted that the highest honors in the gift of his party in Connecticut would be his. He studied law, which was the natural thing to do for a young man with ambition for a public career. His interest in politics extended to the details of party work, and he would sit up all night on election night in the old statehouse in New Haven helping to count the vote. He was a superb speaker, a born orator whose powers had been trained to perfection. In 1867 he was very prominently mentioned for governor of Connecticut and would probably have been nominated at that time but for the fact that he had not attained the required age. He had made a great impression in Lincoln's second campaign, and a speech that he delivered in Brooklyn during that canvass has become traditional.

President Grant appointed him collector of customs in New Haven, and he subsequently ran for congress, but although he made a splendid campaign he was beaten as his district was overwhelmingly Democratic.

The extraordinary ability as a speaker that he had exhibited in his campaigning and his mastery of English language and literature brought him the offer of the chair of rhetoric and English literature at Yale just at the time when he seemed to be launched on a brilliant career in politics. He accepted this offer, and though for a while he continued his active interest in politics, his career became more and more confined to academic lines. He became president of the University of Minnesota in 1884, and there he began the longest and most distinguished period of his career.

"One of the things I look back upon with especial satisfaction," the late Senator Cushman K. Davis once said to a friend, "Is the fact that it was I who brought about the calling of Prof. Northrop to the University of Minnesota."

From Professor of Politics to Head of Williams.

Remarkably similar to that of President Northrop has been the career of Harry Augustus Garfield, who is a son of President Garfield. As a young man he began the practice of law in Cleveland, Ohio and at the same time became actively interested in politics. He was one of the organizers of the Cleveland Municipal association, and later became its president. For some time it looked as though he would create for himself a political leadership and influence in Ohio comparable to that which his father had possessed, and high political honors seemed to be in store for him. He became known not merely as a political force in Cleveland, a reformer with practical ends in view, but also as a student of politics, who approached political problems not only with the common sense attitude of the politician, but also with the analytical attitude of the philosopher. It was for this reason that when Princeton university wanted a professor of politics eight years ago, the position was offered to him.

Mr. Garfield accepted the offer, and held the position five years, resigning it finally to become president of Williams college. Politics made him a college professor and a college president, and it now seems likely that his career will run on in strictly academic lines.

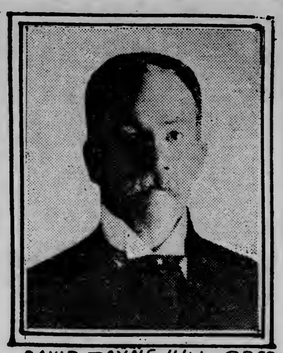

Some Other Political and Academic Exchanges.

One might speculate as to whether George B. McClellan's career is going to take a similar turn, whether after a brilliant record in politics he, too, is going to become a college president. For nearly twenty years of his life Col. McClellan has held public office, eight of them as a member of congress and six of them as mayor of New York. He recently accepted the chair of politics at Princeton. Col. McClellan has had a lot of exerience in politics and he knows the game. But he is also a scholar, a proficient linguist, a man of literary tastes and ability; and he is capable of taking a scholarly as well as a practical interest on any subject. In view of all this, it might be assumed that the position of president of a college would not be distasteful to him.

There was a time in the career of Associate Justice Hughes of the United States supreme court when it looked as though he was more likely to become the head of an institution of learning than he was to become governor of the state of New York. That was when he was professor of law in Cornell university. Governor Simeon E. Baldwin of Connecticut, like Governor Hughes, was a professor of law before he became especially interested in politics. Shortly after the Civil war, he re-organized the Yale law school, which had become almost defunct, and became one of its professors. It was more than ten years later that his active interest in politics began. He became a Mugwump.

"When a man becomes a Mugwump he is looking for office," said N. D. Sperry, the shrewd Republican leader of New Haven. But Mr. Sperry apparently guessed wrong. Baldwin became a regular Democrat, but it was twenty years before he was put in office, being then elected a judge of the Connecticut supreme court. After his retirement from the bench, which was made necessary by his reaching the age limit, he continued his association with the law school. Nor was that association broken by his recent election to the governorship.

There have been some notable instances recently of college presidents being called into public service as members of commissions in which some peculiar expert knowledge is necessary. These public services they perform without relinquishing their university positions. President David Starr Jordan of Leland Stanford, Jr., university, whose specialties are biology and zoology, for example, was appointed U. S. commissioner in charge of the fur seal and salmon investigation, and he is now international commissioner of fisheries. In the same way President Hadley of Yale, whose specialties are political science and railway administration, was appointed a member of the commission to investigate the question of railway rates. President Eliot of Harvard was offered the ambassadorship to Great Britain at the time of his retirement from the university, but he declined it.

CROWS' RAID ON GOLF BALLS.

London Daily Mail: A golfing incident is reported from St. Jean de Luz, Pyrenees. David Scott and M. Carlos de Candamo were playing a match a few days ago on the Nivelle links. Both had driven on to the second green and were walking toward the hole when a crow swooped down, picked up Mr. Scott's ball and flew away with it.

The players had nearly reached the green when a second crow picked up M. de Candamo's ball and made off in the direction of a neighboring tree. Pursued by the golfers and caddies the bird dropped the ball, but pounced down and secured it again while the pursuers were still fifty yards away.

Neither ball was seen again. Golfers are asking, "What if it had been a four-ball match?"

AN APPEAL TO THE PEOPLE.

The resolutions adopted yesterday by the Northern Minnesota Development association were wisely broad-gauged, constructively progressive and dignifiedly insistent. They set forth Northern Minnesota's needs, they congratulate the state on the achievements already scored by the association in its brief history, they condemn emphatically the shameful selfishness that denied reapportionment, and they set forth the broad program of improvement and development in which the association asks the co-operation of the state.

Nor is the association to content itself with passing resolutions asking the legislature and the state to help Northern Minnesota. Northern Minnesota needs help from the state and from the people of the commonwealth; but while it is waiting for that help it is going to help itself. The creation of an immigration committee and a good roads committee are constructive measures that will accomplish great good for the state.

As to reapportionment, the association appeals from the legislature, drunk with selfishness, to the people who make and unmake legislatures. It does this in no spirit of bitterness, but out of a desire to dissolve Northern Minnesota and Southern Minnesota into one Greater Minnesota, and inspired by a confident belief that the legislators who refused reapportionment do not represent the justice-loving people of their districts.

These resolutions have the right ring. They have behind them the united sentiment of all the people of the thirty-one counties constituting the Northern Minnesota Development association. They have more than that behind them—they have the aggressive energies and the organized enterprise of a people who are making a wilderness into an empire; and that's a mighty force.

Courage tempered with discretion and tact, determination made firm by confidence, wisdom made strong by knowledge and enterprise made bold by belief in the future, characterize these resolutions. The Herald hopes that every one of its readers read them with care, and thereupon determined to do his share in carrying on the splendid work in which the association is engaged.

Above all, it is to be hoped that those of Southern Minnesota to whose notice they will come will read them in a spirit of open-minded patriotism, and will realize that it is impossible to carry out a single item of Northern Minnesota's program of state development without benefiting every section of the state. Northern Minnesota can do much alone, but not everything; nor should it be asked to work alone. It needs the sympathy, the counsel and the active help of every public-spirited citizen of Minnesota.

THE OTHER FELLOW AGAIN.

Sometimes misunderstanding seems to be about as universal a law as the law of gravitation.

The underling, working long hours for meager pay at the bottom of the ladder, looks enviously at the man at the top, noting that he has plenty of everything and that he keeps banking hours at the office; and the man at the bottom thinks the man at the top leads a life of luxurious ease, without a worry on earth and hardly any work to do.

But the man at the bottom doesn't stop to think that every man has his troubles, be he high or low, mighty or weak, rich or poor. The man at the top, who seems to have such a soft snap, may be engaged in a deadly fight with competition that threatens to defeat him. He may have a hard struggle to make earnings stay up above operating expenses, where they belong. He may be selling something that is about to go out of fashion and leave him stranded. His wife may be extravagant, and about to ruin him, or she may pick at him at home and make life miserable for him.

It's the habit of most people not to realize the other fellow's situation, and to forget that everybody has troubles of his own.

The farmer thinks the banker has a snap, and the banker envies the doctor. The doctor thinks the lawyer lives a life of ease and gaiety, while the lawyer wishes he had gone into trade and become a merchant prince. The merchant thinks he sees very clearly that he would have made a greater success in the hotel business and the hotel man wishes he were running a theatrical company or an opera house. The plumber wishes he were a bookkeeper and the bookkeeper wishes he had gone into the profitable plumbing business. And nearly all of them—except maybe the farmer—cherish a dream that some day they can get back to the land and live on a tidy little farm.

Don't forget that the other fellow has his troubles. Don't forget that nobody's life is a bed of roses, and that even if anybody did fall in a bed of roses he would be kept busier with the thorns than he would with the blossoms.

The other day a railroad man, chaffing a newspaper man, said: "Oh, every newspaper is edited from a garret in New York, anyway!" He didn't more than half mean it, and yet he probably knew little enough about the newspaper business to believe it if somebody has told him so emphatically enough.

The newspaper man might have said: "Oh, every railroad is operated from a bucketshop in Wall Street." That wouldn't have been true, either; but it would have been near enough the truth to hurt.

The point of it is that if you do your own work well, you won't have much time to bother about how the other fellow is doing his. If you do your own work well, that fills your life for you, and there ought to be no room in it for envying the other fellow or for thinking what a soft snap he enjoys. You haven't a soft snap yourself. You know that, and you laugh if anybody says you have. And the next minute you probably will talk about the soft snap somebody else has, without knowing much of anything about it.

Misunderstanding of the other fellow's position is a lot easier than making the most of your own chance to give an excuse for living by the way you handle your own job.

"DO IT FOR DULUTH."

A striking illustration of what The Herald has been saying for years about the benefit in buying Duluth-made goods was provided in a local article in The Herald the other evening.

The Herald has been saying that while it is good and promising work to reach out after new industries, much the same result could be achieved by a larger patronage of industries already located here.

The local story referred to told how that would work on one industry alone—the cigar manufacturing business.

Duluth is now giving steady employment to about fifty-eight cigarmakers. It is smoking cigars enough to give employment to give employment to five hundred cigarmakers. Four years ago it was giving employment to one hundred and fifty-two cigarmakers.

The fifty-eight cigarmakers, at an average of $20 a week, are earning $60,320 a year, every dollar of which is spent with Duluth merchants.

If the former number of one hundred and fifty-two were employed still, they would be earning $158,080 a year, every dollar of which would be spent with Duluth merchants.

The loss in four years takes away from Duluth merchants the earnings of ninety-four men, which would amount to $97,760 a year. The loss isn't due to more moderate smoking of cigars. It is due to the fact that Duluth smokers are giving preference to cigars made elsewhere; for the total consumption of cigars must be very much more than it was four years ago, the city having grown in that time.

Those who are smoking cigars made in other communities are giving employment to cigarmakers just as surely as are those who smoke cigars made in Duluth. Only the cigarmakers they support live in those other communities, and not in Duluth. They pay taxes there and support the merchants of those communities.

The cigar dealer who pushes his trade in cigars made out of town is actually reducing his own chances for trade by sending the money he pays for cigars to other towns.

A local cigar manufacturer, who was quoted in that article, said that Duluth smokers use enough cigars to support five hundred cigarmakers instead of only fifty-eight.

That means that if Duluth smoked Duluth-made cigars, the payroll of the local cigar manufacturing industry would be $520,000 a year instead of $60,320 a year. There would be $459,680 in wages, now going to support other communities, that would go to support Duluth. There would be that much more clinking merrily in the tills of Duluth merchants.

As it is in the cigar manufacturing business, so it is in all other industries that are represented by local factories. There is not one of them that has Duluth's full trade. There probably is not one of them that has more than a small percentage of Duluth's trade. There is not one of them that wouldn't have to put on more men if its Duluth trade increased. There is not one of them that couldn't be doubled, trebled or quadrupled in capacity and in payrolls if they could get the full trade of this city.

They can't, probably, hope to get Duluth's full trade, for there are always the thoughtless and those who have no public spirit. But they can hope to get much more of Duluth's trade than they are getting.

Won't you give them yours? Wouldn't you rather keep your money at home instead of sending it away?

DO IT FOR DULUTH!

JUSTICE FOR WHITTIER.

The artificially stimulated hullabaloo against Whittier, superintendent of the boys' training school at Red Wing, has subsided, and it will now be possible for his case to have a full and free and fair hearing.

The legislature refused to be stampeded to suit the purposes of those back of the anti-Whittier crusade, and the supreme court, gravely but with a twinkle in its eye and wisdom dominating its mind, has refused to become a party to the absurd proceedings. The governor, who has been more than willing to do the will of the schemers responsible for the hue and cry against Whittier, is now forced to proceed in a lawful manner, though it has been evident enough that he would have been glad to accomplish the purpose in any practical way if he had dared.

It is a sardonic turn of political fate that compels those who wish to make of Whittier a bloody sacrifice to the god of political greed to rest their case with the very body against which their deep laid scheme was aimed—the board of control.

That is where the charges against Whittier should have been lodged in the first place. That is where they would have been lodged had the purpose back of them been anything but to undermine and destroy the board. The board of control has full charge of the Red Wing training school. It is responsible for the conduct of that institution, and Whittier, its superintendent, is merely its agent. If there was wrong in Whittier's methods of handling it, it was the board of control that should have been informed, and it was the board of control that should have heard the charges and investigated them.

Instead of lodging the charges with the board, they were laid before the legislature and an investigating committee which was practically a prosecuting committee was appointed. Notwithstanding its vigorous indictment of Whittier, the legislature refused to recommend his dismissal. The governor then sought to have the supreme court hear the case. Failing in that, he sought for colorable means of discharging Whittier without a trial. Failing in that, he and Whittier's enemies have at last done what they would have done in the first place if they had been in good faith—they have lodged their charges with the board of control and that body will investigate them.

Whittier is entitled to have and shall have a fair trial. The charges are serious enough to warrant a trial. If they are proved, Whittier will be dismissed. If they are not proved, Whittier will stay and his enemies will retire in confusion.

Now that the passion artificially stirred up by Whittier's enemies has cooled, a fair trial will be possible. It wasn't possible before.

The Herald is glad to see that the press of the state, outside the Twin Cities, is taking note of the very obvious motives back of the persecution of Whittier. When this newspaper asked for a fair hearing for Whittier, it was practically the only newspaper outside of Red Wing that was not joining in the ridiculous mobbing of Whittier. Now a majority of the newspapers stand for a fair and full hearing, and are rebuking the scheme to drag the board of control into politics by making a sacrifice of Whittier.

A LOT OF TROUBLE TO SHOW GOODS.

The motto of the man who has things to sell is, usually, that "it's no trouble to show goods." He has goods to sell, he wants people to buy them, and he is glad to show them because he knows that that is the way to sell them. It's wise, too; just plain common sense. A merchant who hated to show his goods and made his customers prowl around and stumble over the dustpan and the coal scuttle in dark corners looking for them would be thought mad. Certainly he would be bankrupt in a short time.

It's different with the state of Minnesota.

The state of Minnesota is a merchant. It, too, has goods to sell. Its motto is not "It's no trouble to show goods." Its motto is "It's too much trouble to show goods."

So the mercantile business of the state of Minnesota hasn't been prospering as it should.

The state's goods are lands. It owns a large amount of land—good land, too, the best out of doors. It wants to sell these lands; wants it in a kind of languid way that doesn't spur it into enterprising action. It ought to want it a lot harder than it does; and when it does want it hard enough it will go about it differently. Maybe it isn't hoping too much to hope that it will want it that hard pretty soon.

The state's goods are scattered all over an empire—the empire of Northern Minnesota. Some of them are hard to get at. There are no roads to them, and the way is beset by swamps that overlie rich soil waiting to be made available by drainage.

The state has nobody to show prospective customers what it has to offer. Nor is that the worst of it. Bless its blundering old soul, it doesn't even know itself what it has! Oh, of course, it knows how many acres it owns—at least it could go over the books and find out—and it can point them out on the map. But that's about all. It doesn't know what the character of the land is, what its soil is made of, what grows on top of it now and what could be grown there to the best advantage by farmers.

At the Duluth meeting of the Northern Minnesota Development association A. J. McGuire of Grand Rapids, a never-tiring booster for Northern Minnesota and a practical worker for its development, said: "Minnesota needs a survey of its state lands—a survey that will give full and accurate information that every sensible man wants to know before buying. The state should have a resurvey of its land and sell land only when said land in character and location would prove profitable to the purchaser."

That's true, most emphatically true. The state's attitude is absurd. With land to sell, and lots of it; with its greatest need that of settlers to till this land and pay taxes on it and contribute wealth from it and earn independence from it; with these conditions it does not even know what it has for sale. It does not know, and it isn't trying to find out. It can't tell an intending purchaser where is the best place to buy, or where he can find land best suited to his needs, whether it is for dairying or poultry-raising or fruit-raising or market-gardening or general farming. It can't even take him out and show him its goods.

An individual in business who handled his affairs that way would be thought incompetent if not insane. He wouldn't succeed; he would certainly go bankrupt. The state isn't succeeding; that it will not go bankrupt is due only to the fact that it has the resource of taxation to keep it going.

But after awhile, maybe, people will get tired of paying taxes that ought to be shared by the millions of rich acres in Northern Minnesota. Then the state will make a survey of every tract of its land; it will determine the character of every acre; it will have a means of showing intending purchasers what it has to offer; it will adopt as its motto "It's no trouble to show goods." Then the state will be a success as a land merchant—and not until then.

THE TAX SHOULD BE PAID.

A local story in The Herald last evening said that hundreds of owners of vehicles have not yet paid their wheelage tax. The officer in charge of the collection of this tax promises speedy and frequent arrests, and since that seems to be the only way to collect, he should make them as speedily and as frequently as he can.

No tax is agreeable to the payer of it; but this tax is right and fair and necessary, and its payment should be rigidly enforced. Vehicles use and wear out pavements; therefore they are taxed, for using the pavements, a sum that will help to keep them in repair. That is fair enough, and the tax is not so heavy that it is burdensome to anybody.

Besides, the city needs the money. By neglecting to keep its pavements in proper repair, the city has wasted money. The wheelage tax goes into a special fund for street maintenance, and the establishment of that fund is one of the wisest things the city ever did.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

WANTS ELECTRIC LINE FROM IOWA.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I write you in reference to a public want: An electric railroad through Iowa and Minnesota to the lakes. Several years ago there was a line of road surveyed, called the Three Falls railroad, from Sioux Falls to Redwood Falls and Beaver Falls on to Hutchinson, McLeod county, Minn. That survey and profile is still on hand and can be easily got. Now that electricity is the future power, I think we can easily get a company to take hold. The farmers are anxious for it and could help. We have all the power wanted for two such roads. Redwood Falls has a surplus that ought to be taken advantage of. A north and south line through Iowa and Minnesota to the lake shore is one of the best paying investments in the state and ought to be a chance for some capitalist or railroad company. This line would bring grain and stock north and connect with the iron industries. Would like to hear how this suits the people in your flourishing lake capital and surroundings. Yours truly, JAMES S. ANDERSON.

Beaver Falls, Minn., May 31.

Let Us Have War.

The peace advocates are making a great mistake. What we need in this country is war; not one of those namby-pamby Mexican or South American things, but a real war, full-gauge and properly destructive, and one in which the enemy shall be worthy of our steel.

No nation can live (or, dying, take its proper place in historical chronicles) without a constant supply of excitement-compelling events. It is not always necessary to go to war. On the contrary, war should be put off as a last resort. War should be kept in reserve to fall back on when everything else fails.

That time has now arrived. We have lost interest in the commonplace things. Politics finds us blase. The country is filled with strikes, but we pay no attention to them. Factories may burn down, killing many people. Mines and buildings may explode. Banks may break. Many things that once set us agog may and do happen every day, but they do not arouse us from our lethargy. We do not drop our daily tasks to haunt the bulletin-boards or gather in serious little knots on the street corner. We hardly ever stop to buy an extra. If we are interested at all, we wait until the regular edition of our regular newspaper.

It would not be so if we had a war. The little things that now occupy us would sink into insignificance. We would interrupt our monotonous daily pursuits for a war, when we wouldn't do it for anything else.

The time is at hand. We are ready for it. We have worked hard, and may now take a rest from wealth-gathering. The newspapers are ready for it. The novelists and correspondents and special writers are ready for it. The army and navy are ready for it. The boy scouts are ready for it. The merchants and capitalists are ready for it, for loans and sales to the government are always profitable. Everybody is sighing for something to happen. In our extremity, we stood the Roosevelt excitement as long as we possibly could.

It is all very well for Mr. Carnegie to advocate peace and give us back some of our earnings for the furtherance of that aim. But we should not be influenced. "Get thee behind us, Satan," should be our motto. We should remember that he—Mr. Carnegie, not Satan—has reached a time of life when men retire and lay down the strenuosities of existence. Old men for counsel, but young men for war, and most of us are still young. Young men without war are no better than old men. What right have those men who have fought their fight, industrial or otherwise, to say to us: "You shall now settle down to a life that is easy-going, uneventful and hum-drum?"

It is asking too much. We must have war. The monotony is palling upon us. Something, if not Carthage, must be destroyed.

—Ellis O. Jones in June Lippincott's.

Very Much Better.

Red Wing Republican: One of the very few decent things done by the last legislature was the passage of the Keefe bill prescribing the method of choosing United States senators. It is amusing enough that congress at Washington should be tearing its hair over an attempt to get the Constitution so amended that senators may be elected by popular vote, when the states have the matter all in their own hands and some of them are already choosing their senators in a far more appropriate manner than by having them voted for as representatives now are.

This new method, now the law in Minnesota, is one of the few good things among the so-called progressive election laws. The law for electing senators is a really practical adaptation of our electoral machinery to a practical problem. We have seen that the choice of United States senators by members of state legislatures results in a senate that is the servile tool of large monied interests and no friend of the people. We know just as well, however, when we survey our governors and congressmen as a whole, that the improvement would not be great if we nominated senators at party conventions and put their names on the general ballot. The new plan is an improvement on either method.

Beginning Early.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch: Some Republican newspapers are beginning to treat Governor Woodrow Wilson with as much asperity as if he were already the Democratic nominee for the presidency.

Restraint of Trade.

Collier's: The decision of the supreme court saves the Sherman act. If that statute meant that, in this age of communication and mechanical advance in industry, every kind of combination were to be prohibited, it would merely interfere with business until it was inevitably repealed. As, however, restraint of trade had at the common law a perfectly settled implication of an effort toward monopoly, the Sherman act is left expressing the attitude of reasonable men today. The United States is not absurd enough to believe that any combination of two grocery firms or little country express companies should be illegal. It is merely fighting monopoly, and the decision of the supreme court, in making that distinction clear, is of service to business and to the whole community.

All Right Without Assistance.

June Lippincott's—It is probable that many queens of the kitchen share the sentiment good-naturedly expressed by a Scandinavian servant, recently taken into the service of a young matron of Chicago.

The youthful assumer of household cares was disposed to be a trifle patronizing.

"Now, Lena," she asked earnestly, "are you a good cook?"

"Ya-as, 'm, I tank so," said the girl, with perfect naivete, "if you vil not try to help me."

Byron's Grammar School.

London Globe: J. Pittendrigh Macgillivray, sculptor, has informed the committee that he will have the Byron statue for Aberdeen completed by June, 1913, so as to coincide with the jubilee year of the grammar school's entry on its present builders.

The poet was a pupil at the grammar school when it stood on Schoolhill. The figure, which is to be of bronze, will be nine feet high and placed on a granite pedestal twelve feet high. The movement for a statue to commemorate Byron's connection with the seminary was originated by Dr. Morland Simpson, the present rector.

La Follette Now and Tomorrow.

Boston Transcript: All the currents political today are running strongly in the direction of anti-bossism and anti-conservatism when La Follette typifies. He is a peculiarly lonely figure, a sort of Ishmaelite it may be, but a powerful one withal. He is not popular; he gains nothing by indirection, and he is only the absolute intellectual force and truthfulness of his statements that win his points. If the next election should result in continuing a Republican majority in the senate there needs no ghost come from the grave or anywhere else to tell us that this majority will not be composed of the sort it contains today. By means of the uprising of the insurgent movement the revolt against the old Republican bosses has gone so far in many states as to carry them over to the Democracy entirely. This happened in the states where well known reactionaries went out last year, such as Maine, Montana, New Jersey, Ohio and New York. It carried Nebraska over with it, which defeated a somewhat lukewarm insurgent, and it almost carried over Michigan, where a near insurgent succeeded Burrows. But if there is a return at all to Republican prospects in the election of next year, the senate, as we have said, will be even more filled with these insurgents than it is now. In the house about one-third of the Republicans are insurgents, a proportion which naturally is larger than in the senate.

So far as the presidency of 1912 is concerned, Mr. Taft seems to us sure to receive the renomination. This part of the country cannot understand the strength of the La Follette movement. That there is the remotest chance of his being nominated for president by the Republicans next year is incredible, and yet Senator Bourne, who was here a few weeks ago, has told friends that he believed that La Follette would be nominated. There is a report that two of the most influential Republican papers of the Middle West have decided to come out in his favor in a short time. It would be one of the greatest miracles in all political history if this movement should succeed, and it would mean the entire recasting of political lines, even more so than the era of Roosevelt effected. It would also make the problem of the Democratic nominee one of exceeding importance. Few doubt today that the Democratic nominee will be a radical of one kind or another, and the battle has seemed likely to be that of a radical on the Democratic side, against Mr. Taft, who is more conservative than radical. But with two radicals leading the opposing parties the conservatives of the country would be face to face with such a political dilemma as they have never met before. This seems remote to an infinite degree, but nevertheless the persistency of the La Follette boom and the strength of La Follette in the senate are factors that cannot be ignored.

Shortcake.

Collier's: Wistfully viewing the map, in this season of wanderlust, we see the state of Arkansas printed in strawberry red, and also fragrant with thousands of shortcakes:

Much have I travel'd in the realms of gold
And many goodly states and kingdoms seen * * *

But oh, rare Arkansas! Once one has lived a week in the Strawberry belt of that land in the height of the season, he never may again behold a shortcake without emotion. Katie, with her hair in two long pigtails tied with huge pink ribbon bows, served in Bergman the honest Arkansas shortcake, and when it came time to leave that speck of a town we felt almost as homesick as if we were about to say farewell to half a doen or more blood relatives. Katie's pa, who owned the hotel, had traveled much; and there were lonesome Charlie who dwelt in a shady valley close by an old-time water-wheel mill, and Dr. Nameless, who ran the drug store and loved his family horse. At Mountain Home, ten miles from any railroad, where we didn't know a soul in town till two minutes before the bell rang for 6 o'clock dinner, we had another pretty shortcake, luscious as the Bergman brand; and there it was that Editor Shiras told us how he came to Arkansas looking up some mining lands, fell in love with purple hills, and couldn't leave again. Jerry South had us over to his house after dinner and quoted Walton for a page. We asked Jerry: "You've been an attorney?" He said, yes, he represented a railroad in that section of the country. "And you've mixed in politics a little?" we hazarded. "Yes," said Jerry, "I've been lieutenant governor of Arkansas."

We were forgetting about the shortcake. Physicians say the strawberry is the most injurious of fruits, but that is when it has been kept. Fresh from the patch its charm may be enjoyed in innocence of heart, and around few eatables lingers as much desire.

"Monickers."

Kansas City Times: "James Harrigan, a Russian, fell thirty-five feet this morning," says a news story.

"Jim Flynn is dodging his fellow countryman of sunny Italy, Jim Barry," reports a sporting writer.

Tommy Ryan, Kansas City's former champion prize fighter, is a French-Canadian. But who ever heard of an Irishman named Slopoffski, or calling himself Garibaldi or Lafitte?

Let's see. "Monicker" is a word now, isn't it? Well, there is certainly a lilt to the Irish monickers that is mighty fetching.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

Life Investments.

When the gallant soldier, the versatile writer, the intrepid reformer and the cultured gentleman who bore the name of Thomas Wentworth Higginson, died recently in Cambridge, Mass., at the ripe age of 87, the warmth of the tributes to him in the press, on public platforms and on many individual lips proved that one of the comparatively few distinct figures in American life had passed on.

Honored as the author of delightful essays and stirring poems, appreciated because of the nimble wit and lively imagination that imparted peculiar charm to all his public speaking, it is doubtful whether Col. Higginson now would be held in such fond remembrance were it not for the width of his sympathies and the devotion of all his powers through a large series of years to the welfare of his fellow-men.

Americans of the older generation do not forget that in the early days of the Civil war this polished gentleman and fine scholar forsook his studies and the refined society to which he had been accustomed from childhood and willingly underwent the hardships of the camp and the march. The sincerity and depth of his passion for freedom was shown by the alacrity with which he organized the first regiment of negro troops in tre service of the nation and the skill and courage with which he led them until he himself was disabled by wounds. And since the war Col. Higginson has lent his forceful aid to many a worthy and needy cause.

The day before he died, there passed away in the ancient city of Sendai, Japan, a man considerably his junior, who had rounded out 67 years of eventful and fruitful living more than half of which he had given to Japan. He went thither as a young man, not in the service of a narrow proselytism but to bring to bear, as tactfully as he might upon the plastic life of a people just emerging into a new and glorious era the moral and spiritful forces associated with all that is best in the Western civilization.

So generous was his attitude, so wise were his policies, so disinterested his work that in time he won the hearts of Japanese, many of them prominent in public life. He was the favored guest of the army when it was on duty in Manchuria. He was officially commissioned to study the conditions in Korea and twice was he decorated by the emperor.

He belonged to that company of men and women so often misunderstood, not infrequently divided and seldom appreciated at their true value, who are called missionaries. He himself was proud of his calling and a noble exponent of a broad Christianity, of a far-reading humanitarianism was John Hyde De Forest, whom not a few Japanese thought of as almost a Japanese. But he was also one of our great modern Americans.

Two very different men, and two very different careers. But each invested his life in behalf of his fellowmen. And both considered money, ease, fame to be of little moment compared with the outpouring of self on the altar of the world's needs. Is there any other investment of life that pays such large dividends? THE PARSON.

MASTER AND MAN.

New York World: Senator La Follette is so much in a hurry to be rid of Mr. Lorimer that he wants to name a committee himself to try that person. There is no doubt that the committee on privileges and elections has been packed by the old guard in favor of Lorimer, but that is hardly a reason why Mr. La Follette should be permitted to pack one against him. The senate is perfectly able to dispose of this case on its merits without following too closely the recommendation of any committee.

Meantime many people would like to know why it is that Mr. La Follette can be so courageous in assailing the senator who was "put over" by the lumber trust at an expense of $100,000 and so backward about attacking the lumber trust itself. He speaks for hours against the man whose election, it is believed, was purchased by the lumber trust. He has nothing to say in favor of Canadian reciprocity, which the lumber trust is opposing. It is to kill just such measures as the Canadian agreement that the lumber trust finds it convenient to have men like Lorimer in the senate. If they succeed they are worth all that it costs to elect them.

We find it necessary to say to Mr. La Follette and all other insurgent Republicans in the senate that their attitude toward the lumber trust is not to be estimated wholly by the treatment of Lorimer. To resent his election by corrupt practices and to expel him will be praiseworthy so far as he is concerned, but a larger question presents itself and it must be met.

Shall the servant be punished and the master rewarded? Shall a lumber trust senator be unseated and the lumber trust itself enthroned? Shall the senate of the United States reject Lorimer and then accept a policy of tax extortion which was all that the men who made him a senator asked of him?

A Wet Sheet and a Flowing Sea.

A wet sheet and a flowing sea,
A wind that follows fast,
And fills the white and rustling sail,
And bends the gallant-mast;
And bends the gallant-mast, my boys,
While, like the eagle free,
Away the good ship flies and leaves
Old England on the lee.

"Oh, for a soft and gentle wind!"
I heard a fair one cry;
But give to me the snorting breeze
And white waves heaving high;
And white waves heaving high, my boys
The good ship tight and free;
The world of waters is our home.
And merry men are we.

There's tempest in yon horned moon,
And lightning in yon cloud;
And hark the music, mariners—
The wind is piping loud!
The wind is piping loud, my boys,
The lightning flashes free—
While the hollow oak our palace is,
Our heritage the sea.

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1891.

•••The date fixed for the laying of the cornerstone of the new First M. E. church is July 11.

•••The northeast storm which started yesterday is the heaviest that Duluth has seen for several years. Several vessels are anchored out in the lake, unable to make the harbor entrance. The Mayflower was wrecked off Lester river yesterday afternoon. She was on her way here from Portage Entry with 500 tons of red stone, worth $5,000, for Quimby & Owens. Shifting of the cargo in the sea caused the wreck. The Mayflower was owned by Capt. Sheldon of Houghton and was in tow of the tug Sheldon. She was valued at $4,500 and had a crew of five men. All of them, except the captain, Peter Zerbot of Houghton, were saved by the tug.

•••Miss Eva McDonald, the Alliance lecturer, who is known to many in Duluth, was married on June 1 to Frank Valesh, who is prominent in labor circles in St. Paul.

•••R. J. Wenker, a dentist from Chicago, is looking over West Duluth and will locate there.

•••Ringling Bros.' circus will be in Duluth June 29.

•••Fred H. Pelton of Duluth and Miss Lola M. Ethbridge of Superior were married on June 1, at the residence of Dr. L. B. Sheehan at Superior by Rev. D. B. Cheney. They will reside in Duluth.

•••Fire broke out at 11 o'clock last night in the old National Iron works building, used lately as a boarding-house and a wood turning and sawing shop. J. M. Lewis lost $1,300 worth of furniture, insured for $1,000. Christenson & Jugens, wood sawyers and turners, suffered a loss of $500, covered by insurance. The National Iron works estimates its loss at nearly $5,000 on building and stock, and it has $5,000 insurance.

•••Mrs. W. B. Hickox has returned from a visit to New York and Connecticut.

COWAN, OF TEXAS, AND HIS TEXAS COW

By SAVOYARD.

"The prudence of the pismire is a lesson to Aflatoon."—Hajji Baba.

But when it comes to the very genius of thrift, Horatio, commend me to an American interest that holds out its hat to a committee of congress begging tariff graft. Boies Penrose, a senator in congress from the plum orchard, which is the state of Pennsylvania, and the successor of Nelson W. Aldrich as chairman of the committee on finance of the United States senate, is conducting the greatest show on earth with the more or less valuable help of his fellow-members of that council board. Daily witnesses appear before the committee to relate the doleful story of the utter helplessness and hopeless impotence of the American people, as they establish by statistics and demonstrate by absurdity that a little mite of reciprocity with Canada will reduce our republic to industrial prostration and throw the American union into a proceeding in insolvency. The paper trust says reciprocity will ruin it, which many of our solons of both houses of congress hold with as they pretend to run with the hounds in a big octopus chase. The lumber trust, that is a greater malefactor than Steel or Standard Oil itself, is fighting reciprocity tooth and nail, for well it knows that if this pact is enacted every farm house and outbuilding will cost its builder less. Same with everything that wood enters into the construction of. The plate glass trust deposed that while no plate glass is now made in Canada, if reciprocity goes through, it is possible that Canada will take up the plate glass line, and thus put our beggar of a glass monopoly on shorter commons. Then we had a band of agriculturists before the committee, resplendent in fine raiment and diamonds, faring sumptuously at the New Willard thrice daily, possibly at the expense of the butter trust.

They had the effrontery to say they spoke for the farmer when they opposed reciprocity, though we sell more farm products to Canada than Canada sells to us, which stubborn fact would shut up any squad of less impudence and less insolence.

Perhaps the most brilliant, certainly the most audacious, of the economic acrobats who testified before the committee was S. H. Cowan, of Fort Worth, attorney for the Cattle Raisers' association of Texas and the National Live Stock association. This gentleman appeared to be personally conducted by the Hon. Joseph W. Bailey, a member of the committee from Texas. At least Lawyer Cowan was under convoy of Statesman Bailey. Mr. Cowan has been a regular attendant on the proceedings of congress for many years. Impolite folk might be rude enough to call him a lobbyist.

Well, Cowan reeled off his harangue like shoeing horses, pleading the inferiority of the United States as a cattle-raising country. I did not follow his argument as satisfactorily as I had hoped, possibly because of the violent hands laid on common sense. As I gathered his story he sought to make the committee believe that Canada is a better cattle raising country than the United States because it is colder, and Mexico a better cattle country than ours because it is warmer. This tremendous way of putting the thing seemed to have startled my friend Bill Stone, a member of the committee from Missouri, who interjected the remark from what the cow-lawyer from Texas said, and other things told the committee, the United States must be a very inferior country.

The Hon. Smoot, a member of the committee from Utah, assured the Missouri statesman to this effect: "Senator, it is inferior as a ranch for cattle." Stone muttered something in reply that sounded like incredulity, and some 90,000,000 others of us are ready to hold that the thing is an invention to promote the shameless vocation of tariff mendicancy.

It is a great comedy—this show Penrose is ringmaster of—and some saucy things are visited on the universally accepted canons of physics, as for example, it was asserted that the food a Canadian ox consumes, solely to prevent freezing, makes him fat and ready for the butcher, whereas in the United States a great deal of the food fed a steer, especially in winter, is wasted in the preservation of animal vitality. And the committee was as solemn as a convocation of owls while this sort of rot was hurled at them by this Mr. Cowan.

Mr. Cowan went on to say that our sales of fat cattle to Great Britain were constantly dimishing, while the sales of fat cattle by Canada to Great Britain were steadily augmenting. Doubtless that is true. There are reasons for it. Canada is a part of the British Empire and under the British flag. Canadians are subjects of the British crown and loyal to the British flag. That is one reason. But there is another and stronger reason. We have erected a great tariff wall against England, and Canada's tariff gainst her is insignificant. Then what is more natural than that England should not buy a single steer from us if she can get an adequate supply from Canada or elsewhere? England will not buy from us and pay cash for cattle as long as she can get them from Canada in exchange for goods. Would a farm wife buy a broom from a cross-roads merchant who refuses to take eggs in exchange, if another merchant across the street would sell her the broom and take the eggs in payment? Certainly not. It were better if Lawyer Cowan would assail the tariff, or get his friend Dalley to fight it, a real, not a sham fight.

And let me tell you another thing. There is not a nation on the globe, not a people between earth and sky, who will buy one thing from us that can be had at the same price and under as favorable conditions from anybody else. Economically we are a pariah, a leper. We wage commercial and industrial war against all tongues and peoples. As to trade we seek to be a hermit nation and what foreign trade we have is because we must and not because we would. The cotton crop is our salvation, and human ingenuity cannot construct, human imagination cannot conceive, a tariff that will protect the cotton planter. On the contrary, your cotton planter is a hand-and-a-half when it comes to paying the protection. Now reciprocity with Canada, or with Mexico—nay, absolute free trade with both of them—would vastly promote the material interests of the cotton planter and the corn planter as well, and he that tells him else insults his intelligence. Even this little dab of free trade with Canada will vastly benefit every farming community of every state of the Union. How any man can oppose it and claim to be a Democrat staggers effrontery itself.

But to get back to Herdsman Cowan. He went on to predict in dolorous phrase how free trade in cattle would stop the breeding of cattle in the United States and transfer to foreign countries the production of our meats. John Sharp Williams was sitting there, deep down in his big chair as the late Senator Vest of Missouri was fond of reclining, but now he roused up to ask about the effect free trade in England had on the cattle industry of the United Kingdom. Cowan said he didn't know. In truth, England, after more than three score years of free trade in cattle, has vastly more cattle to the square inch than we—11,000,000 on 120,000 square miles, while we have 71,000,000 on 3,000,000 square miles. And mark you, our cattle friends say the high price of our lands will prevent us growing cattle in competition with Canada and Mexico, but the lands in England are vastly higher in price than our very cheap lands.

And such is the bosh Cowan fed the committee, such the bosh that is scattered before it daily. There never yet was an interest that came begging to congress that couldn't give you a reason for it. The poor down-and-out devil on the street asks you for a dime, saying he is hungry and wants to buy a breakfast. You give it him, knowing he wants to, and intends to, get drunk. And so with the "interests"—they beg for protection, not that they may live, but that they may oppress.

When congress met April 4 the senate was largely for reciprocity. I'll be satisfied if it gets a bare majority—also surprised.

WORKING CHARITY FOR JOY RIDES

Armies of Wanderers With Paid Transportation—"Passing on" the Halt, the Lame and the Blind—Simple Way to Remedy Evil.

By ALICE WILLARD SOLENBERGER.

(Exclusive Service of The Survey Press Bureau.)

(The author of this article, whose life of service came to an untimely close at her death last December, was for some years agent of the Central district of the Chicago Bureau of Charities. In her office was mustered daily a ragged regiment of the homeless. She studied intimately the life history of over 5,000 homeless men. It is such facts as are set forth in this article which have led over 400 organizations to enter a voluntary agreement to abide by the "Rules Governing the Issuance of Charity Transportation" of the National Conference of Charities and Correction.)

The fact that thousands of boys, unemployed workmen, tramps, and vagrants are stealing rides on the railroads is one with which all are familiar, but that a second army of wanderers, almost as large, is traveling from Maine to California, and back again, with its transportation paid out of charity funds, is a fact which is probably not so well-known.

The most striking differences which exist between the two armies are first, that the "paid for" group includes hundreds of women and children, while among those who beat their way women are rare, and, second, that although among the men who are traveling on charity tickets some are capable of self-support, the great majority are old, crippled, defective, or for some other reason chronically dependent, while in the other group the majority are young and able-bodied, and when dependent are as often so from choice as from necessity. Certain states which have not yet protected themselves by legislation have been heavy sufferers from the unregulated migration of dependents from one section of the country to another.

Chicago, on account of the non-resident dependents thrust upon her for care, has been afflicted with an enormous expense. Unless there is a state law which empowers it to return dependents at the expense of the railroad which brought them into the state, a city cannot rid itself of this burden. It may return dependents to their homes if they are willing to go, but if unwilling, it cannot compel them to leave.

In 1902 a large family of paupers came from Pennsylvania to Chicago. The man was blind, the woman crippled, and there were seven children, the oldest of whom was feeble-minded. The next child was only ten, so that it would be four years before he would be legally able to work. We ascertained that these people had never been self-supporting. They had received aid for fifteen years and they had been aided to reach Chicago by the poor relief agents of their own county and of a chain of counties extending across three states. In spite of our definite knowledge of these facts, we were unable to return this family to Pennsylvania. They refused to go. This one family has cost the public and private charities of Chicago, not less than $9,000 or $10,000 since their arrival, and the amount is probably much larger, for they are professional beggars and have undoubtedly secured more than the actual cost of their support.

There are a great many cases where the granting of charitable transportation to an applicant who requests it not only does no wrong to the community to which he is sent, but is by far the best method for caring for the man himself. Runaway lads; men who have met with crippling accidents away from their homes and wish to be returned to them; men who have definite promises of employment in other cities and are dependent where they are—all these and many others are manifestly greatly assisted by being sent to the places to which they wish to go, and if they are sent clear through to their destinations, after the facts in regard to their means of support upon arrival have been ascertained, no possible wrong will have been done to any one.

The "if" clause in the last sentence is, however, very important, and upon the failure of private citizens and public authorities to abide by its simple provisions hangs much of the wrong connected with the system of sending dependents about the country as it is at present generally practiced. Just what the system referred to is, and how and why it causes suffering as well as an enormous waste of charitable funds, can perhaps best be illustrated by the stories of a few men.

One bitter December day a feeble, tottering, almost maudlin old man was brought to us by the police. "Somebody," "somewhere," had bought him a ticket for Chicago. That was all he could tell us except that he had been to "lots of places." Every clue of any sort which he gave us we attempted to trace. We finally found, in a small village in Illinois, a brother-in-law of the old man, who was unable to take care of him, but who gave us the addresses of some relatives in Cincinnati. These, when appealed to, claimed to be unable to care for him. No one knew where the sons or daughters lived, or how long the old man had been wandering about uncared for. He was not a resident of Cook county, but as we could not learn where he really belonged, the only thing that could be done was to place him in the poor house at Dunning, which we did six weeks after his arrival in Chicago.

One sturdy beggar, almost all of whose income was spent for whisky, came from San Francisco to Chicago on charity tickets and asked us to send him to Philadelphia. We refused, and offered him well paid work but he declined it and a few weeks later came and boasted that he had begged from relatives enough to pay his full fare to Philadelphia. There was no reason for doubting his story, since two Episcopal ministers had telephoned the office about the man.

In another case a man who had also come from California, and who might be blind in one eye and paralyzed, asked us to send him to Rochester, N. Y. He claimed that a wealthy brother had died there leaving him a large legacy, but that he had not received it and must go at once to look after his interests.

We found that this man had been almost a year in making the trip from Los Angeles to Chicago. The Rochester charity organization society advised us not to send the man, as he would at once be dependent upon charity, because the brother had died in poverty, leaving nothing for his own family. We refused, under the circumstances, to send him East to certain dependence, we offered to send him back to his sister in Los Angeles, who was willing to care for him. In five days he could have been in Los Angeles, where he could have remained in comparative comfort, but he refused and said he would secure help elsewhere and push on to Rochester. He arrived there four weeks later and has ever since been an inmate of the local almshouse.

How can states regulate the granting of transportation to paupers who wish to go to communities upon which they have no claim? It is the almost unanimous opinion of those who have given attention to the problem that these are questions which cannot be satisfactorily answered by state legislation. Only two states have identical laws, and unless the laws are uniform certain states will be imposed upon. What is needed is a federal law, which shall regulate the interstate migration of paupers and dependents.

In the meantime, until such a law has been passed individual states should protect themselves by passing laws excluding non-resident dependents, and citizens may do much to lessen the evil by refusing to contribute towards the purchase of railroad tickets for any applicant until they have assurance from the point of destination that the person who asks transportation will be cared for there, and also by refusing to contribute to any charity society which sends unfortunates about the country without investigation and without purpose.

ALISE OF ASTRA. By H. B. Marriott Watson. Boston: Little, Brown & Co. $1.50.

It seems almost safe to predict that if Alise isn't one of the favorite heroines of this year's summer fiction readers, it will be because they do not happen to "meet up" with her. There is nothing conventional in the story, either in plot or development. It combines the characteristics of the middle ages with the more modern idea of the fitness of things, and you find yourself mingling with princess, baron, count, secretary and traveler with equal freedom.

The story is of Sir Philip Temple and his adventures in Eisenburg, an independent state treatened alike with domination by Germany and France. Sir Philip enters Eisenberg via a railroad wreck, at the hour when the widowed grand duchess is expected to bring an heir to the throne, an heir who shall be the last of the line of Wolfgangs. By means of agencies that in themselves are natural enough, he becomes an inmate of the ducal palace on the eventful night, and the result is that after the birth of the male heir is proclaimed and the duchess is dead, the Englishman finds himself an object of suspicion on the part of the chancellor of the state.

Efforts to get Sir Philip out of the place only intensify his resolve to "stick around" and study the people and their rather tense politics, and in the course of the next few months Sir Philip has adventures that would have discouraged anybody but the hero of a summer novel.

"Alise of Astra" is not exceptional in any particular way except that it is more readable than the average work of fiction. It has plenty of action, the movement is rapid, the descriptive portions are not too long drawn out, and the dialogue is well handled. It is not of classical cast, but it is a good yarn for a bit of idle reading for pure amusement.

OUT OF RUSSIA. By Crittenden Marriott. Philadelphia: J. B. Lippincott company. $1.25 net.

Yes, it is nihilists and plots and intrigues and all the rest, but they are worked out a little differently than usual. There are three heroines, and they reap a husband apiece, who might as well be classed as heroes. The scene opens in New York, with a wealthy young clubman coming home at midnight to find his rooms occupied by a beautiful young woman who has come all the way from Russia to head off a special delivery letter that was mailed to him "by mistake." He ungallantly doubts her word, and the ensuing dialogue is overheard by his valet. Meanwhile the letter arrives, is claimed by the valet, and he proves his claim. Having got the letter, he is persuaded to sell it to the girl for close to $2,000, and leaves the room. She discovers that he played a trick on her—made off with the letter and sold her a blank sheet of paper—and she and the clubman start out to hunt him up, but in the meantime he has had time to be murdered and robbed, and the first act curtain drops with the gong of the police patrol around the corner.

All told, it is a worthy companion of many other stories that deal with the struggle of the Russian people from the old rule, and the author, though he has taken a chance by the multiplicity of sub-plots that he has included in the story, handles them so as to avoid confusion. Most of the action takes place out of Russia, which may have been the reason for giving the book the name it bears.

A CONTRIBUTION TO THE CRITIQUE OF POLITICAL ECONOMY. Translated by N. I. Stone from the second German edition of the work of Karl Marx. Chicago: Charles H. Kerr & Co.

The present translation," explains the preface, "has been made from the second edition of the 'Zur Kritik der Politischen Oekonomie,' published by Karl Kautsky in 1897 with slight changes from the original edition of 1859; changes that had been indicated by Marx on the margins of his own copy of the book."

Whatever one may think of the works and philosophy of the great German, including his theory of the materialistic interpretation of history, there can be no denying that his writings have exerted a wide influence in this country as well as in Germany. The work here produced in English was originally intended by the author as a first installment of a complete treatise of political economy, a plan that was abandoned later for the publication of his book on Capital. The present volume includes, as an appendix, Marx's introduction to the Critique, recently published among his posthumous papers.

PEOPLE OF POPHAM. By Mary C. E. Wemyss. Boston: Houghton Mifflin company. $1.20.

If you ever have lived in a small village and learned to appreciate the extent to which the minute details of each person's daily life make up the daily life of every other resident, you will appreciate "People of Popham." Popham is a small British village, and Mrs. Wemyss sees it in much the same light of sympathy that Mrs. Wilkins has shown in her views of New England people, though the style of handling the subjects is rather different. Mrs. Wemyss makes the personal observations of the writer the means of narration rather than telling it all from the standpoint of the omniscient third person. Peggy, who tells the story of life in Popham, is bright and in many ways charming. The lives and interests of the people are vividly portrayed and there is always a thread of good cheer connecting the various incidents.

MEMORIES OF A MANAGER. By Daniel Frohman. Garden City, N. Y.: Doubleday, Page & Co. $1.00.

Just imagine yourself sitting somewhere in a cozy place chatting informally with the famous manager about whatever scraps of experience might linger in his memory, and you will get a pretty good idea of what the book of "Memories of a Manager" is like. The author disclaims any idea that he has done anything with a literary merit, and his disclaimer is well founded, as far as flowery literature is concerned. But for a plain, simple statement of facts and impressions it would be hard to beat this book. It is decidedly conversational in tone, and therefore decidedly natural.

It is impossible that some well known names should not creep into such a book, and here we find them in profusion—E. H. Sothern, Edwin Booth, William Gillette, Richard Mansfield, Bronson Howard, James K. Hacket, Maude Adams, Virginia Harned, Ethel Barrymore, Margaret Anglin, Julia Marlow—even Mark Twain. Then there are some paragraphs that are really valuable in which the author tells some inside views on the construction and interpretation of dramas, and the importance of various parts of the work of writing and staging plays. He tells what he has found the public wants, and compares American and English tastes in things theatrical.

The volume is profusely illustrated with scenes from various plays, portraits of actors and groups of famous companies. It has a historical value from its accounts of some of the earlier theatrical productions in this country.

THE IDEAL ITALIAN TOUR. By James Forman. New York: Houghton Mifflin company. $1.50 net.

The name "guide-book" always brings a shiver, and so it seems cruel to call such a volume as this by anything even remotely like that title. And yet that is exactly what "The Ideal Italian Tour" is, except that it is so much more intimate, so much more careful in its choice of adjectives, so much less like a tongue-tied translation and so much more like an informal and enthusiastic verbal account of impressions, given by an intimate friend who has been over the road and remembered everything worth remembering.

Of exactly the right size for the pocket, bound in neat but serviceable leather, illustrated in most excellent and generous fashion and written in strongly conversational style, the "tour" is a splendid book to take with one whether traveling in Italy or across one's own country. It is convenient to read anywhere, and interesting in the way that only breezy, gossipy accounts of foreign travel can be. As the publisher's announcement says, "The object of this volume is to serve as a companion book to the traveler in Italy as well as to supply an interesting and readable account of an Italian tour to the general reader. It aims to suggest an ideal tour in the most absorbing country in the world, leading the reader through the myriads of sights to those no traveler should miss and telling him simply, picturesquely and effectively the things all travelers desire to know."

THE GOLDEN SILENCE. By C. N. and A. M. Williamson. Garden City, N. Y.: Doubleday, Page & Co.

One gets the impression that the authors, having traveled in the African deserts and been deeply moved by the lights and shadows of those places, sought some means to convey to others a knowledge of the deserts, and at the same time avoid, both for themselves and their readers, the burden that goes with the avowed historical travel-describing productions. Whether that was the purpose of the authors or not counts for little, however, in this case, for they have turned out a work that needs no apology, that has a quality to it to stand all by itself, and that can be enjoyed thoroughly though the reader have little sympathy with popular fiction. The desert with it's golden silence, its mysterious and its people forms the central theme for a thoroughly excellent piece of work.

The desert comes into it naturally enough. The scene opens in London, but when we find that a girl is about to go on a search for her sister, who has married an Arab officer in the French army, and that she has only a vague notion as to where that sister is, the possibilities open up marvelously for the kind of complication we place enough, and in fact the plot itself is rather open to that charge. But the way the thing is done is sufficient to remove the curse and make the book worth reading. And it certainly is different, whether from the standpoint of the average reader or that of the more thoughtful one who reads that he may study and profit by the way in which others use our language. The authors have hit on a rare knack of blending dialogue and narration, and making their characters live. "The Golden Silence" is one of the most highly enjoyable and best written novels so far this season.

Little, Brown & Co. are now publishing Lombroso's "Crime, Its Causes and Remedies," the third volume in the modern criminal science series, which the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology is translating for American readers. This work on crime contains Lombroso's last general survey of the subject. It has been translated from the French and German editions by Henry P. Horton of Columbia, Mo. The first two volumes in the modern criminal science series, Hans Gross' "Criminal Psychology" and C. Bernaldo de Quiros' "Modern Theories of Criminality" were published early in the year and competent critics have already pronounced the series one of the most valuable and important contributions to the literature of sociology that has ever been made. Lombroso's "Crime, Its Causes and Remedies" will be followed by translations of Ferris' "Criminal Sociology," Saleilles "The Individualization of Punishment," Gabriel Tarde's "Penal Philosophy," W. A. Bonger's "Criminality and Economic Conditions," Raffaelle Garofalo's "Criminology" and Gustav Aschaffenburg's "Crime and Its Repression."

"I haf dined with cabmen and with kings, and haf been happy with both. I half worn de galoshes of Fortune and de galoshes of Misfortune, and dey both fit." Such is a bit of philosophy expressed by Herr Habenichts, the central character in William Romaine Paterson's new novel "The Old Dance Master," which will be published in this country by Little, Brown & Co. The active head of the revived Jellini Academy of Dancing in Tottenham Court Road is likely to become as great a favorite with American readers as he is with Englishmen at the present time.

Among the Magazines.

In spite of the talk of an invasion of Mexico by the United States army, not one American in a thousand has an approximate idea of the actual military resources of the United States. An article full of plain facts regarding the regular army, its equipment and its possible reserves, appears in this month's Atlantic, written by Maj. John Bigelow, an American military critic of the first rank. Our national unpreparedness could not be more dispassionately nor convincingly set forth. This June number of the Atlantic opens with a story really fresh in character, atmosphere and treatment. It is a tale of native life on the Island of Poros, written by one Madame Dragoumis, a native Greek living in Athens who writes in English as idiomatic as the best story-tellers of this country. Another good piece of fiction in this number is Lucy H. Sturdevant's Kentucky story, "An Untrained Nurse." Among the more serious papers in the number are Havelock Ellis' "The War Against War," a virile presentation of the argument for peace, and ex-President Tucker's "Undergraduate Scholarship," an incisive paper quite as interesting to parents as to educators. Among the more debatable topics of the issue are Francis E. Leupp's "The Problem of Priscilla," a discussion of the product of girls' colleges, and William T. Miller's "What is Wrong With Our Boys?"

The Keramic Studio has for its colored supplement for June a study of "Yellow Iris;" also a number of other studies of the same flower in differing colors. This ought to be very useful to the decorators in china. Among other designs offered for this month, is the chanticleer plate, "crab apple," for jelly jar and plate; conventional for chocolate and sherbet sets, bon bon dishes, etc. For the mid-summer issue it should prove interesting to those looking for something new.

The June number of The North American Review presents a table of contents of subjects wide in scope by writers of international reputation. The leading article, by Major-General W. H. Carter, U. S. A., now in command of the United States forces at San Antonio, is a thoughtful statement on the "Relation of Treaties and Armament." John M. Mathews has an able study of contents of subjects wide in scope by writers of international reputation. The leading article, by Major-General W. H. Carter, U. S. A., now in command of the United States forces at San Antonio, is a thoughtful statement on the "Relation of Treaties and Armament." John M. Mathews has an able study of "The New Stateism" as formulated in the constructive legislative work of Governor Wilson. "The New Chinese Currency" is a comprehensive outline of China's effort to reorganize her monetary system and what has been accomplished to reform her currency. The writer, Ching-Chun Wang, is an authority on the subject. "The Destruction of the Battleship Maine," by the former chief engineer of the navy, Rear Admiral G. W. Melville, U. S. N., is a letter written to the late Thomas B. Reed, setting forth this expert's theory as to how the Maine was destroyed. "New York and its Three Libraries," by the late Richard Garnett, the distinguished librarian of the British Museum, is a master's view as to the normal lines of development for a great library.

The American Magazine for June contains five great articles of national interest. "The Conflict Between Religion and the Church," by Bishop Williams of Michigan, is perhaps the most notable article in the number. It will bring heaps of criticism upon the writer's head for its analysis of why the church is losing ground. The author even forecasts the decline of the Catholic church.

Another extraordinary contribution is a baseball article by Hugh Fullerton. It is a description of the experiences and duties of an umpire, and contains all sorts of stories showing the courage of the umpire, the skill, the ethics of the umpire. What an aloof and arrogant man the umpire has to train himself to be! There are few who can do the job. There are many just men who would make poor umpires. In their gentle and judicious manner they might finally determine rightly whether the runner placed his first base, but before they got around to recommend a fair adjustment of the matter a pop bottle applied back of the ear would release them from all further responsibility. The umpire is a curious combination of judge and soldier.

In the same number Walter Prichard Eaton writes a remarkably interesting theatrical article on "The One-Night Stand." Eugene Wood contributes almost a masterpiece of observation and humor on "Hunting a Job In the Wicked City."

The Popular Science Monthly for June contains the following articles: "The Measurement of Natural Selection," by Dr. Arthur J. Harris; "The Relation of Biology to Agriculture," by Prof. F. R. Marshall; "Is Euclid's Geometry Merely a Theory?" by Dr. Edward Moffat Weyer; "The Underlying Facts of Science," by Alfred Sang; "The Vienna Institution for Experimental Biology," by Prof. Charles Lincoln Edwards; "The Relation of the Manual Arts to Health," by Prof. Lewis M. Terman; "What Masterpieces of Greek Sculpture Were Known to the Men of the Renaissance?" by Edward S. Holden; "The Meetings of Scientific Societies;" "The Centenary of the Birth of John William Draper;" "Henry Nathaniel Bowditch."

The leading place in The Engineering Magazine for June is given to the introductory paper of an important series of articles by Robert L. Streeter, which will review, with a wealth o fillustration, modern developments in the machinery used in the iron and steel industry. The present instalment covers iron ore mining and transportation by rail and water, mechanical loading, unloading and handling devices, orebins and furnace-charging arrangements, and coke ovens. Future articles will deal with the machinery used in manufacturing processes. Among other illustrated features of importance ma ybe mentioned Gen. W. A. Jones' description of the troubles caused by dampness in the concrete walls of the seacoast forts of the United States and of the methods of waterproofing available. The third of R. W. Hutchinson's papers on the modification of mining methods by electrical machinery deals with the types, equipment and management of electric hoists.

The story which will attract the most attention in the June month-end edition of the Twice-a-month Popular Magazine is Morgan Robertson's astonishing tale of how a band of twentieth century pirates steal a torpedo boat destroyer and spread consternation on the Atlantic. But in addition to "The Pirates," there are many other stories worth while in this issue. Gardner Hunting's novel, "A Hand in the Game," is printed complete. It is a breezy detective story, told entertainingly. "Grit" is a big, thrilling yarn of the Southwest, by Charles Marcus Horton, of similar strength is Bertrand W. Sinclair's gripping tale of the Northwest Mounted Police, "The Peculiar Nature of the White Man's Burden."

The issue of Harper's Weekly for May 27 makes a prominent feature of the visit to America of the English polo team, Herbert Reed contributes an article entitled "Defending a Famous Trophy," and Alfred Stoddard writes on "Our Polo Ponies and England's." This number contains an article entitled "Central Park and its Destroyers," by Samuel Parsons, for nearly thirty years landscape architect of the department of parks, New York; "Cheating the Dead," by William Hemingway; a further instalment of John Kendrick Bang's humorous "Table d'Hote Talks," an article by Charles Johnston upon the remarkable achievement of Ohio's state treasurer; a story by Victor Rousseau; and many other contributions.

POPULATION GIVEN BY COUNTIES

Census Bureau's Bulletin Shows That in 771 Counties the Population Decreased, While in 2,070 Counties It Increased.

Washington, June 3.—A bulletin giving, for the United States, the population of states and territories, by counties or equivalent subdivisions, as shown by the thirteenth census returns, taken as of April 15, 1910, has been published by order of Acting Census Director Falkner. It was prepared under the supervision of William C. Hunt, chief statistician for population.

The states and territories of continental United States are, in general, divided into counties, but in Louisiana the equivalent subdivisions are called parishes, and there are also a few cities which are independent of any county organization, namely, Baltimore in Maryland, St. Louis in Missouri, and most of the cities of Virginia. There are no counties in the District of Columbia, the county organization having been abolished in 1874. Outside of continental United States, Hawaii is the only territory which has a county organization, but in Alaska recorders' districts, and in Porto Rico municipal districts are used as the equivalents of counties.

The first table in the bulletin shows the number of counties in each state and territory of continental United States which have either decreased or increased in population since 1900, and classifies those which have increased according to the different rates of increase.

Comparisons Between Censuses.

The second table gives the population in 1910, by counties, for each state and territory in continental United States, and, so far as possible, in comparison with similar figures for 1900 and 1890, respectively. In most cases the corresponding percentages of increase or decrease are also given, but in certain counties this is not possible for the earlier decade, 1890 to 1900, because the population of Indian reservations, etc., in 1890 was not distributed by counties. For the state of Oklahoma, formed from the territory of Oklahoma and Indian Territory since 1900 comparison is made with the figures of the special census taken as of July 1, 1907, and also, where possible, with those of the censuses of 1900 and 1890.

The third table gives the population of Alaska in 1910, by recorders' districts, but without comparison for former censuses; that of Hawaii, by counties, for 1910, 1900, and 1890; and that of Porto Rico, by municipal districts, in 1910, in comparison with similar figures derived from the special census taken in 1899 under the direction of the war department.

The organization or changes in boundaries of counties in continental United States which have occurred during the twenty years from 1890 to 1910 are explained in the bulletin.

The states and territories comprising continental United States are divided into 2,956 counties or equivalent subdivisions, but, because of the organization of new counties from parts of other counties since 1900, comparisons of increase or decrease in population are made in the first table for only 2,841 counties or combinations of counties.

Counties Showing Increase or Decrease Since 1900.

For continental United States as a whole, the population has decreased since 1900 in 771 counties or combinations of counties, representing 27.1 per cent of the entire number considered, while in 2,070 counties, or 72.9 per cent, it has increased. In 327 counties, or 11.5 per cent of the entire number considered, the increase in population since 1900 was less than 5 per cent; in 559, or 19.7 per cent, it was from 5 to 15 per cent; in 369, or 13 per cent, it was from 15 to 25 per cent; in 366, or 12.19 per cent, it was from 25 to 50 per cent; and in 449, or 15.8 per cent, it was 50 per cent or more.

In the New England division, composed of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut, there were 18 counties which decreased and 49 which increased. Of the latter, 22 increased from 5 to 15 per cent; 10 less than 5 per cent; 9, from 15 to 25 per cent; and 8, from 25 to 50 per cent, there being no higher rate of gain in this division.

There were 22 which increased less than 5 per cent; 24, from 15 to 25 per cent; 24, from 25 to 50 per cent; and 10, from 50 per cent or more.

How often one hears the above expression upon the lips of some patron entering or emerging from this store. Especially do strangers in Minneapolis feel this way, after having seen all that the Flour City has to show in up-to-date stores. You, too, will realize what this "difference" means. It is felt the moment you enter the store. Customers and Visitors are made to feel that this is THEIR store—one that not only extends the most cordial welcome but backs it up by Achievements that are Unique, and merchandise that is not to be found elsewhere in the Northwest.

People are coming into Donaldson's from all over the state in greater numbers this year than ever before; and we believe it is because they find here the kind of service they want. A Service given —with wide and varied displays,

—with prompt and efficient delivery,
—with assistance of intelligent persons,

—with humane treatment of store employees,
—with newness, originality, distinction in business.

They find in Donaldson's a store that is equipped to do Big things well, and does them; but with time and desire to do little things just as well. As regards "Big Things,"—what does it mean to have—

1. The finest Shoe Store in all America?
2. The Largest Cut Flower Business of its kind in the United States?

7. A Grocery and Provision market second to none anywhere?

CLUBS AND MUSICAL

HAPPENINGS IN CLUBDOM AND THE MUSICAL CIRCLES

Spring Festival a Musical and Financial Success — The Children's Matinee — Alumni Night at the High School — Jane Addams Is Coming — Other Events of the Week.

DULUTHIANS during the past week—or many of them, at least—have felt compelled to choose between "Madame Sherry," Madame Bernhardt and the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, and certainly those who chose the orchestra had no cause to regret their choice after last evening's concert at the Lyceum, wonderful as Madame Bernhardt was, and even considering and weighing carefully the good points of the other French lady of aesthetic dancing fame.

The Minneapolis Symphony orchestra has progressed since Duluth heard it last. It seems to be surer of itself. The vigor, life and fire of a young and enthusiastic organization are there, and it seems to have acquired the precision and finish of the older orchestra.

During the last few years the Minneapolis orchestra has rapidly forged its way to the front, until it is recognized throughout America as one of the four or five leading orchestras of the country. Part of the credit for this is due to Mr. Oberhoffer, the conductor; part of it to the splendid organization of musicians with which he has to work, and part of it to the loyal, enthusiastic support of the citizens of Minneapolis, who have given with a bountiful hand to the support of the orchestra. Mr. Oberhoffer seems to be the ideal conductor. He has rare musical intelligence, exquisite taste in program building, and the temperament of a great musician. He seems to have the power to inspire his musicians with his own intensity. He always did have that power, since Duluth has known him; but another year of experience, another year of hard study and training, and the experience of ten weeks of concert work on the road, have done wonders for the orchestra. When one stops to consider that it has been organized but eight years, the progress made is nothing short of wonderful, and the people of Minneapolis may well feel proud of the organization that represents their city.

The feature of the opening program of the festival last evening was the Beethoven Symphony No. 3, known as the Eroica. It was composed by Beethoven in honor of Napoleon, and when the composer, the greatest of Democrats at heart, learned that Napoleon had declared himself emperor, he tore the title page from his work.

The first movement is easily followed, even by the untrained musician. Following the first clear enunciation of the theme, the entire movement is marked by the simplicity and exuberance of Beethoven. Then follows the second movement, a solemn funeral theme, unmarked by any pronounced melody, but stately and inspiring. The third movement is a bright, unrestrained, joyous scherzo, and the orchestra then swings into the simple but triumphant finale.

The entire symphony is typical of Beethoven, and it was splendidly played by the orchestra last evening.

Undoubtedly the most popular member on the program was Czerwonky's violin solo. Richard Czerwonky has always been a great favorite with Duluth audiences, and he never played better than he did last evening. He was compelled to respond to an encore, playing "The Swan" with a harp accompaniment, and he might easily have taken a second encore if he had so desired.

EMIL OBERHOFFER.

HORACE W. REYNER.

The other two solo numbers were rendered by Marcus Kellerman, bass, and Agnes Staberg-Hall.

Mrs. Hall sang an aria from "Traviata," and responded to an encore with a charming little Swedish folk song. She is a very pleasing soloist, without any affectations or frills. The aria from "Traviata" was given with vim and fire, and she caught the spirit of the Swedish song delightfully.

Marcus Kellerman is a young giant in stature, with a deep, full bass voice, but some very bad mannerisms that detract from the pleasure in hearing him. He gave Wotan's farewell in a finished manner, and for an encore sang Wagner's "Evening Star" delightfully.

The remaining orchestra numbers were varied and showed the rare discrimination of the conductor in program making. Among the most charming numbers were the Goldmark scherzo, and the closing number, "Scenes de Ballet" by Glazounow.

The Lyceum was well filled for the opening concert and the audience was most enthusiastic. A matinee is being given this afternoon, and tonight will be operatic night.

Fancy Dancing.

THE girls of the high school gymnasium classes gave a very pretty exhibition of fancy dances Monday afternoon in the gym, under the direction of the physical training instructor, Miss Edith Smith. A large audience of parents and friends was quite charmed with the graceful lightness and preciseness which the girls displayed in performing the various program of intricate folk and fancy dances, and the little bit of dancing which Miss Smith did in the last number with the girls was a delightful bit which the audience would have liked to see prolonged.

The program contained the following dances which were danced by groups of the different classes.

Ace of Diamonds, Danish origin; Four Little Blackberries; Vafva Vadmal, Swedish origin; Dancing Topsy; Gavotte; Schottische; Ox Dance, Swedish origin; Dainty Step; Cinderella, American School dance; Board Walk; Mountain March, Norwegian origin; Duchess; Pop Goes the Weasel; Minuet; Sylphette (Gilbert dance); Shoemakers' dance, Swedish origin; Omaha and the Minuet.

Children's Matinee.

HUNDREDS of children of all ages, some so small that they seemed lost in the big seats at the Lyceum, were enthusiastically delighted with the concert played by the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra yesterday afternoon at the Children's matinee at the Lyceum.

The program was a beautiful one and the children felt this and honored the players and artists with spontaneous applause, which was sincere.

Emil Oberhoffer, the conductor of the orchestra, likes to play for children and at the close of the program yesterday afternoon he said that the audience was one of the best, for a children's audience, which he had ever played before. "I like to play for them," he said, "and especially here in Duluth, where the management is so good. Really the Duluth children are the best behaved children that I have ever played for."

There were quite a number of adults in the audience, but the children needed no restraint and listened to the numbers with excellent composure.

"I am making my programs a little stronger each year for the children," said Mr. Oberhoffer. "I think they can gradually take heavier numbers and this afternoon I even put in part of one of Beethoven's Symphonies. But I think the children can like it even if they do not really understand it."

The program opened with a Moorish march from "Boabdil" by Moskowski which the children were most enthusiastic over. The overture "Merry Wives of Windsor" by Nicolai came next followed by the lovely slow movement andante sostenuto from "Fate" Smphony No. 5 by Beethoven, which reached the children's hearts if not their musical understanding.

Charles Hargreaves tenor, sang a number from "Il Trovatore" and the young audience demanded an encore to which he responded with the beautiful tenor solo from Verdi's "Rigoletto."

Three dances from Henry VIII the "Morris Dance," the "Shepherd Dance" and the "Torch Dance" were delightfully pleasing and the children made this understood.

"Le Cynge" (The Swan) by St. Saens was so beautifully played on the violin by Richard Czerwonky with a harp accompaniment by Henry J. Williams that the children sat almost breathless to catch every delicate tone. These artists responded with another delightful number.

Lucille Tewksbury beautifully gowned in rose pleased the children with a pretty waltz song and whispers of "Isn't she pretty," were audibly mingled with the applause.

For the last number Mr. Oberhoffer conducted the orchestra through "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," and the young audience rose and relieved some of its pent up young power in the singing of the national song.

It was the best feature of the spring festival todate.

Alumni Night.

ENTHUSIASM for the alumni night at the high school next Friday evening is high and the evening will draw out a large number of graduates and high school students and their friends. Musical vaudeville will be given by well known singers and the high school chorus and other members of the alumni. The program will begin at 8 o'clock and after the close of the program an informal dance will be held in the lower hall. A concert orchestra will play during the evening and the members are anticipating a delightful social reunion after the program. The proceeds of the evening's entertainment will go toward the scholarship fund which the alumni are raising for Duluth Central high school students and those in charge hope to realize quite a sum. Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Denfeld and Mrs. Leonard Young and other members of the high school faculty will be guests of the alumni.

Minot, N. D., June 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—The removal of the body of a woman whose grave had been unmarked, but who had been interred at the side of the remains of her own husband, was brought about by Mrs. E. J. McClure-Porter of Foxholm, Ward county, to make a resting place for herself. When Mr. Porter was buried in the Roso Hill cemetery in this city six years ago, the interment was made during a blizzard, and the grave consequently was unmarked, and it was not until a short time ago that Mrs. McClure-Porter was able to definitely locate the remains of her departed husband, and then it was to find that at his side the body of a woman had been interred.

HEAVY RAINFALL IN NORTH DAKOTA

Precipitation for Five Months of Present Year Is 8.50 Inches.

Grand Forks, N. D., June 3.—(Special to The Herald.) — Rainfall in North Dakota, as indicated by the reports from the weather bureau at the state university, up to June 1, was much above the normal. An excess of 2.11 inches is the showing that is made at the station, the fall since Jan. 1, and for the five months being 8.5 inches. Since 1892, or during a 20-year period, this fall has only been exceeded four times, while the comparison with last year, which was rather dry, is remarkable, there having only been 2.53 inches of moisture up to June 1 in 1910.

Not only has there been a more than normal fall of moisture, but the temperature has also been above the normal for the same period, the average mean temperature being 53.9, while this year the average temperature has been several degrees higher.

Only in the years of 1893, 1896, 1899 and 1902 has the rainfall of this year been exceeded, and the highest record for the period is 14.66 inches in 1896. There have only been eight years in the entire period when the rainfall for the five months has been less than 5 inches, while the rainfall of last year was the second largest experienced.

CAMBRIA MINE CLOSES.

Republic Iron & Steel Negaunee Property Stops Work.

Negaunee, Mich., June 3.—The Cambria mine, one of the properties of the Republic Iron & Steel company in Negaunee, closed down Thursday morning for an indefinite period of time. The announcement was totally unexpected, and has given rise to a great deal of speculation and not a little uneasiness.

The orders to cease operations at the shaft were received in the morning, and at noon in the neighborhood of 100 men were thrown out of employment. The only valid reason for the closing down of the Cambria seems to be that there is too much ore on hand, both at lower lake ports and in this region. The ore movement from this range has not been at all active as yet, and until this condition is remedied the Cambria will probably remain closed.

The Lilly mine, which adjoins the Cambria shaft, will continue to be operated on the same scale as formerly and the repairs at the Hartford shaft will also be carried on without interruption until the shaft has been repaired.

AUTO HANGS IN MIDAIR

Duluth Automobile Party Has Thrilling Escape Near Hinckley.

No Warning Lights at Spot Where Bridge Was Burned.

A Hinckley, Minn., paper contains a thrilling story of an accident to a Duluth automobile party, but inquiry at local garages and among doctors who own automobiles has failed to disclose the identity of the Duluth party. The story follows:

"Tuesday night about 2 o'clock a Duluth doctor whose name could not be learned, with a party of five, among whom was a lady being taken to a hospital, ran off the fill where the bridge known as the second Grindstone bridge in the town of Barry was burned recently and hung by the rear wheels of the machine in midair and the party escaped unhurt.

"The party was on its way to St. Paul from Duluth and took the wrong road in the darkness and went east from Hinckley instead of south. There was no fence, light or anything to indicate the danger of the opening in the road left by the burning of the bridge and the auto ran into it. The driver was going very carefully and must have been moving slowly for he was within six feet of the hole before he saw it, and yet he stopped with only the front wheels over the edge.

"The sudden dropping of the front wheels threw the party into the wind screen but none were injured.

"Sheridan Greig and Jim Stevens, who were coming into town in the morning, helped get the machine out and what damage was done was temporarily repaired and the party left for Pine City for repairs.

"The owner of the machine left threatening a law suit and said he would make the town of Barry sit up and take notice if it cost him $1,000."

The Steel corporation has given the club members the right to cross its land and the stretch across this portion is being worked on at the present time.

Pointers for the Motorist.

Rust is an enemy of rubber. It will pay the motorist to inspect occasionally the condition of the rims on the wheels of his car, especially if the outer surfaces of the envelopes near the beads look rusty. This discoloration is rust caused by rusted rims. This rust if not arrested will gradually eat through the rubber, attacking the canvas of the envelope. In time the edges of the rusted rims will become more and more uneven, tearing and eventually destroying the beads and the rims, leaving space for water which also damages the rubber.

To remove rust from a rim, the tire should be taken off and the rusty parts rubbed clean with coarse emery paper. Then smooth the surface with finer emery paper and re-japan the rim, applying one coat to the outside and two to the inside, making sure first that the surface is smooth and free from rust. Roughness may be quickly detected by running the hand along the edge of the rim. When the edge of the rim is too uneven for the use of emery paper, first use a file, after which emery paper may be used for finishing.

FOR BETTER HIGHWAYS

National Convention Will Be Held in Richmond in September.

Greatest Gathering in Interest of Good Roads Ever Held.

A national convention in aid of improved highways will be held at Richmond, Va., on Sept. 12-15. It will be the first annual congress under the auspices of the American Association for Highway Improvement which was organized in Washington in November, 1910, to stimulate public interest in the good roads movement along practical lines.

The organization of this National Highway association was primarily due to the informal meeting of highway commissioners and automobile officials held by the Touring Club of America, Broadway and Seventy-sixth street, New York city soon after the International Good roads congress in Brussels. The touring club deemed that the time was ripe to form a national association in America which would do for the roads of this country what the International Road congress is able to accomplish abroad, and the success of the American Association for Highway Improvement has justified the movement.

President Taft has been invited to attend the coming conference and his deep interest in the aims of the association may be seen from the following letter recently sent by him to Logan Waller Page, director of the United States Office of Public Roads and president of the American Association for Highway Improvement:

"I am much interested in the work of the American Association for Highway Improvement, and I am in full accord with its aims and purposes. I consider the lines on which the association is working to be thoroughly sound, and with such men as you have associated with you much should be done to better the condition of public roads."

This coming convention will mark the greatest assemblage in the interest of road improvement ever held in the United States. Farmers, business men, highway officials, railroad men, engineers, automobile users, manufacturers of road machinery and materials have signified their intention of take part in the congress. Under the auspices of the Touring Club of America a number of automobile tours are being arranged, with Richmond as the objective point during the week of the convention, and trips will be made to the Virginia capital from New York, Boston, Chicago, Atlanta, New Orleans, St. Louis and many other places. One important feature of the convention will be that it will mark what is regarded as the culminating effort on the part of farmers, railroad men and motorists working in harmony with the United States government to give this country an adequate system of improved highways. The influence of the association has already been felt in this respect through its affiliated organiations, which include: the Ohio Good Roads Federation; the Capital Highway association, embracing the Atlantic seaboard; the International League for Highway Improvement; the Arkansas Good Roads and Drainage association; the New Santa Fe Trail association; Gulf Coast Good Roads association Good Roads Club of Georgia; Montana Society of Engineers; the Southern Appalachian Good Roads association; the South Carolina Good Roads association; the Oregon Association for Highway Improvement; Indiana Good Roads association, and the Aroostook County Good Roads Association of Maine. The American Association For Highway Improvement was formed to act as a clearing house for all existing organizations working for road improvement and maintenance.

ARCHITECTS KEPT BUSY

No Large Contracts in Sight But Many Small Ones Offered.

Work Begun on New Store Building for Lake Avenue.

While local architects are not overburdened with the amount of work that is coming their way, still they are sufficiently busy to have good hopes for the remainder of the summer, and look forward to an active fall and winter.

The plans which they are preparing are all of small buildings, apartments and residences, and little is therefore to be expected in the construction of large business blocks this year.

Considerable activity has been manifested this week in the construction of homes, built on the "easy payment" plan and the Lakeside Land company reports that it has closed up many deals for handsome residences, the plans for which are now being prepared.

Work was started during the week upon the foundation for the Spina building on the southwest corner of First street and Lake avenue by Otto Johnson, general contractor. The block will be a two-story brick and stone structure containing stores on the ground floor and a dancing academy on the second floor. When completed it will have cost about $40,000.

Anthony Puck & Holstead, architects, have let the contract to L. I. Ursin for the construction of the office and flat building to be erected by the Fitger Brewing company at Virginia. The building will be located on Chestnut street near Cleveland avenue, having a terra cotta glazed front, with polychromed ornamentation. It will be the first of its kind on the range, and is a distinct departure from the form of architecture heretofore in vogue there. The cost will be in the neighborhood of $22,000.

Figures will be received today by Puck & Holstead for a bank and office building to be erected at Chestnut and Cleveland avenues of Virginia for the American Exchange bank of that city. The building will be two stories, of vitrified brick and Bedford stone, and will cost about $18,000 when finished.

Frank L. Young and Co. will receive bids today for the remodeling of the school of Normanna, the cost being about $2,000.

Many of the local architects have prepared sketches for the proposed Carnegie public library at Virginia, which are to be submitted to the committee today. Some of the local men left this morning for that city to have an opportunity to meet the committee and explain their plans. The plans call for a $20,000 building of which fund the Carnegie Library commission donated $15,000, and the city is expected to give $5,000.

It is rumored among those interested in the building line, that the commission having charge of the West Duluth Carnegie library has placed the work into the hands of a local architect to prepare plans, but no definte information can be secured from the commission, nor will any architect admit that he has been given the job.

H. C. Brown was awarded the contract for the construction of the bank building for the Central State bank of Gary by Anthony Puck & Holstead, during the past week. It will be a one-story brick, with cut stone trimming, costing about $5,000 and will be used only for banking purposes.

V. J. Price & Co., have finished plans for two bungalows, to be built at Deerwood for H. J. Ernster and G. G. Osterlund, each costing between $3,000 and $4,000.

P. M. Olson will let contracts during the coming week for an apartment building and for a residence.

Plans are being prepared by Puck & Holstead for a two-story brick and stone hotel at Verna, Minn., for a Verna party. The building will cost about $10,000. The same architects are working on plans for a two-room school building at the Adriatic location near Aurora.

J. J. Wangenstein let the contract for the new three-story brick and stone hotel building to be constructed by Joe Rich at Eleventh avenue west and Michigan street, to Charles Danielson, general contractor. The building will cost about $10,000.

SIX-ROOM COTTAGE WHICH WOULD COST $4,500 IN DULUTH

The above sketch is of a typical six-room cottage.

The floor plan is very conveniently laid out, every foot of floor space being utilized. The large living room is entered from the veranda through the vestibule and hall. A coat closet opens from the vestibule. The living room is provided with a large open fireplace and also furnished with a beamed ceiling as shown. The dining room is exceptionally large for a house of this size and is furnished with a built-in buffet, which makes the room a great deal more attractive.

The kitchen is very conveniently arranged, having direct communication with both stairways, as well as the front entrance. There being no pantry, the kitchen is furnished with a very large cupboard.

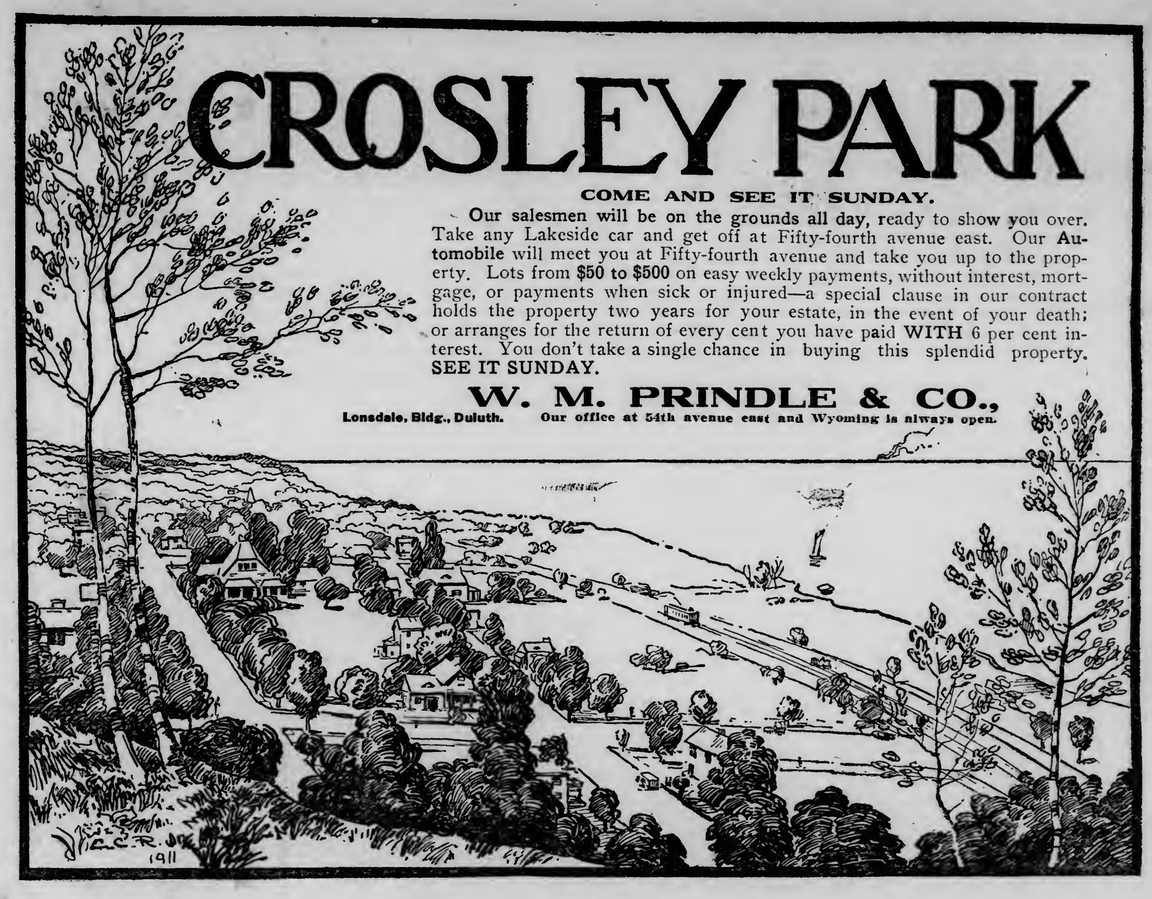

On the second floor there are three bedrooms and a bathroom, also a linen closet opening into the hall. All three bedrooms have separate closets. They are also abundantly supplied with light.

The exterior is shingled up to the second story windows and from there up to the eaves stucco, or rough cast plaster.

This cottage can be built complete, in Duluth or vicinity, for $4,500.

CHIEF DEMAND IS FOR LOTS IN THE SUBURBS

Real Estate Men Are Pushing Their Outlying Divisions.

Renewed Activity Is Reported in Property Near Steel Plant.

Real estate men are confining their efforts to the sale of lots in the outskirts of the city, and from the business being closed and the number of inquiries received the indications are that these outlaying districts will soon be well populated.

N. J. Upham & Co., have started a new method to interest prospective buyers of land in their Home Acre addition, near Duluth Heights. This tract of ground has been platted into one-acre lots, and they are selling from $300 to $200 each. Their new offer is an attractive one and will undoubtedly bring many buyers. They propose to turn over to the first ten men who agree to clear an acre tract each and plant it with potatoes this summer, one acre upon which they will have to make no payment until next fall, when they have taken up the potatoes and disposed of them.

The company claims that the potatoes raised upon one acre during one season will be sufficient to pay for the land.

Whitney Wall & Co., have again started a campaign for the sale of lots in the Homewood addition, which fronts upon the boulevard. Many sales have been made in this section during the past week, and the inquires are still coming in fast. The company has placed a restriction clause in the contracts upon building to be erected on the lots, requiring that no dwelling shall be constructed costing less than $2,500.

In the steel plant locality business is reported to be in excellent condition. A. C. Volk & Co. report much activity in their division. All the land between Duluth and the steel plant will be put on the market this summer by the owners or agents, who are Richardson, Day & Harrison, Stryker, Manley & Buck, T. W. Wahl & Co., and A. H. Burg & Co.

T. W. Wahl & Co. has sold all the land in Ironton, while A. H. Burg & Co. has disposed of all the lots in Spirit Lake, First division.

Spirit Lake, second division, was passed upon this week by the plat commission and by the city council. The lots are 33 feet frontage and 125 feet deep. The company has given to the city a tract of land in the division equivalent to one block for park purposes, according to the requirements of the ordinance.

The northeast corner of Glenwood street and Fifty-fourth avenue east to Ethel Russell for $775, upon which she will build.

To B. Bergerson a lot on lower side of Pitt street near Forty-seventh avenue east for $400. He will build upon it.

To Ernest E. Berg a lot on the upper side of Pitt street near Forty-first avenue east for $400, which the company will improve for him.

WHY NOT OWN YOUR HOME?

WE WILL LEND YOU THE MONEY AT 5% SIMPLE INTEREST

Money invested in house rent receipts is a poor investment, and one that you will never derive any future benefits from. Anybody can pay rent, but it takes energy, economy and determination to own a home. We will lend you the money to buy, build, improve homes or lift mortgages anywhere in the Union. For each $1,000.00 borrowed, you pay us $7.50 per month, together with 5 per cent interest on yearly balances; giving you 10½ years in which to repay loan, with the privilege of taking up all notes or as many as you wish at any time, and by so doing you would get a discount of the 5 per cent interest on all notes taken up before maturity. We allow six months' grace in case of adverse circumstances. Now why do you pay rent when our plan will enable you to own a home with the money you spend for rent?

On receipt of this coupon, properly filled out, we will mail you full particulars in regard to our method of loaning money, or, better still, come to our office and let us explain to you our liberal proposition in detail.

WEEKLY SURVEY OF REAL ESTATE DEVELOPMENTS

Optimism of Real Estate Men Feeds on Inquiries—Increase in Activity Expected—Grain Movement and Business—Erection of Homes for Working Men.

THE month of June ushered in no serious change in the real estate business, which has been exceedingly quiet all spring, but the continued increase in inquiries not only from local people but from people both near and far, lead the real estate men to believe that there will be an awakening in the market very soon, and that this summer will see one of the most active seasons.

This belief is not entertained only by those men who are inclined to be optimistic because of their natural disposition to be so, but also by those whose minds turn toward the dark side of things when business is not continually rushing to them.

Among the dealers there is considerable variation in reports, many claiming that business is still quiet, but, that the prospects for an active season are still bright, even brighter than last month, and that in spite of the difficulty to close up deals, they are keeping a stiff upper lip, patiently waiting for the turn in the tide of business. The others, however, say that business has picked up, and that during the past week they have brought to a close many deals.

The business confines itself principally to the purchase of lots for improvements, although many transfers were made for houses and lots. Practically nothing is being done in the sale of business blocks in the downtown district, with but few inquiries being made, and no offers for sale being posted.

The quiet that reigns in the local real estate market is attributed to the general slump that has occurred in business all over the country. All lines of business seem to be quiet and it will not be before general business picks up, that the great activity in real estate business can be resumed.

LOCAL dealers in real estate believe that the grain production of the Northwest will have the most important influence upon the market this fall. The reports by the United States department of agriculture are most encouraging, the latest of which stated that crops of the Northwest are 9 per cent perfect, which is a high standard. Before the crop reaches maturity the percentage will drop a little, but it is believed that the drop will not be great, and that this fall will witness one of the largest and best crops ever produced in the Northwest.

ONE of the best indications of the prosperity of Duluth people is the continued construction of homes by the working men. The deals which have been closed within the past month or more have been largely in lots about the outskirts of the city, to people of modern means, whose purpose it is to build their own homes. Many of these are now under construction, and from information from real estate men, there will be even a greater building of homes this fall and winter.

The copper market today was steady, many issues advancing while others marked time. The market was a specialty affair in which Calumet & Arizona and other Cole-Ryan issues acted well. Boston Transcript: Negotiations are said to be under way between the Inspiration Copper company and the Miami Copper company, with a view to a merger. E. C. Converse of the Bankers' Trust company, and A. H. Wiggin, vice president of the Chase National bank, are on the directorate of the Inspiration company, and it is understood that a Morgan representative will be added to the board of the Consolidated company. This will give J. P. Morgan & Co. representation in two of the largest porphyry copper companies. There is also gossip that J. P. Morgan & Co. are becoming more closely identified with the Utah Copper company.

The south vein where cut by the Tuolumne on the 1,600-foot level is running from 5 per cent to 12 per cent copper. There is five feet of high-grade ore so far, and the vein has not yet been reached. Tuolumne officers believe the south vein is an extension of the Edith May vein.

BIG MONTANA LAND PROBE LOOKED FOR.

Helena, Mont., June 3.—Criminal prosecution of big men charged with land frauds in Montana is foreshadowed, it is believed, in the calling yesterday of a federal grand jury to report here on June 12.

Less than three weeks ago a grand jury adjourned. Something pressing is believed to have developed, as another grand jury otherwise would not have been again called until next November.

I. O. Pagan, who drew the indictments in the Alaska cases, the Standard, the Morse and Heinze cases, arrived here two days ago from Washington, D. C.

WEALTHY NORTH DAKOTAN PERISHES NEAR CRYSTAL.

Grafton, N. D., June 3.—William Porter, aged 60 years, a wealthy and prominent farmer, residing four miles northeast of Crystal, N. D., was found in an old well on his farm. The old man left the house some time early Wednesday evening and was gone about two hours, when the family became alarmed. A searching party was at once organized and Mr. Porter was found in an old well, evidently having walked into it in the dusk of evening. Gas from the old well had had its effect on the old gentleman, and although not dead when found, he expired soon after.

William Porter was one of the wealthiest and most prominent farmers in this section and leaves a family of six children.

SHOPMEN WORK ON FULL TIME

Employes of Brainerd Shops Get Substantial Increase in Their Paychecks.

Brainerd, Minn., June 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—On June 1 the Northern Pacific railway shops here were put on full time and this additional time when added to the mens' pay checks makes a change of approximately $11,000 in the monthly pay roll and raises it to $60,000 a month. On the car side the men will work ten hours a day and six days a week. On the locomotive side the men will work the regular nine hours and six days a week. With every evidence of good crops in the county, with the constantly increasing activity in the mining industry and the full time at the shops, Brainerd and Crow Wing county are assured of a prosperous season.

According to advance press proof of statistics received Crow Wing county's population for 1910 is 16,861. In 1900 the population was 14,250. Rabbit Lake township, where much mining is carried on, increased.

BOYS DROWN WHEN CANOE CAPSIZES

Bud Frost and Ray Stafford Perish Near Harvey, N. D.

Harvey, N. D., June 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bud Frost and Ray Stafford, sons of prominent Harvey families, were drowned yesterday while canoeing on the Cheyenne river, about a mile from the city. Lloyd Evanson was with the two boys when their canoe capsized about fifty feet from the shore. Evanson says all three started swimming for the shore, but that he turned back to the boat and clung there. The boys continued toward the shore, but their strength gave out and both went down. Frost was 17 and Stafford 22 years old.

"BORROWED" AUTO STICKS IN MUD

Morrison County Sheriff After Alleged Thief at Pine River.

Brainerd, Minn., June 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sheriff Frank Armstrong of Morrison county, has gone to Pine River after R. L. Hopper, who it is said, borrowed a Buick automobile from Charles Farro, of Little Falls to take an eight-mile fishing trip and who has now been gone over a week in his travels, penetrating the northern country where no team has ever set foot. The automobile was found in the vicinity of Remer fast in a mud hole and every resident wonders how on earth the man was able to drive an auto through such country.

It took more than one team to haul it out and the first pair of horses played out dragging it through the mud and over the rocks twenty miles to a passable road. It is said that the man who borrowed the machine was accompanied by his wife and three children and people are at a loss to know why he undertook such a trip. He is being held at Pine River by a deputy sheriff until the sheriff of Morrison county can get him.

CALIFORNIAN KILLS HIMSELF IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, June 3.—Herbert Kullman, president of Kullman, Salz & Co., tanners, of Benicia, Cal., and president of the water company supplying the California city, committed suicide here yesterday by shooting himself in the head. His mother and three sisters live in the Western state.

DRY WEATHER BULL FACTOR

Hot Temperatures in Southwest—Moisture Needed Seriously.

Similar Reports From Russia—Wheat Maintains Advance.

Duluth Board of Trade, June 3.—Wheat worked upward today. July gained ⅞c and September went forward 1⅜c. July durum gained ½c and September ⅝c. Cash No. 1 northern was ½c over July. Oats gained ⅜c. rye was unchanged.

Linseed was stronger. July gained 3c, September 3c and October walked forward 5c. Cash equalled July.

The wheat market was affected by various factors of a bullish nature. The strength in coarse grains, especially oats, helped wheat materially. Speculative sentiment is more bullish than for some time on account of the continued deterioration in the Southwest. There is no rain in sight for Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri, Oklahoma and other winter wheat states. Temperatures are breaking all records for heat at this period of the year and wheat is drooping under the hot sun. Heads are not filling out satisfactorily in many parts of the leading states and a continuation of the present weather is liable to start a bull market that will swing the July delivery upward to a height that will put the recent May deal in the shade of comparison.

With the Oklahoma and Texas crops partial failures interest now centers on the situation in Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri and other heavy producing states. Missouri is in fairly good shape but in Kansas and Nebraska great deterioration is reported. In Indiana and Illinois the Hessian fly is multiplying under favorable conditions for it and damage to fields is reported from many localities.

The unfavorable weather materializing at a time when the government's next report is expected to show deterioration previous to the present hot spell is regarded as bullish factor of considerable weight. Advices from abroad are less bearish, also. Dry weather is reported from many districts in France and both the Central and Southern portions of Russia are reporting hot temperatures and lack of rain with damage to the growing wheat.

B. W. Snow of Chicago commented today on the Southwestern situation as follows: "This return of excessively hot weather in the West and Southwest with the soil dry and wheat and oats filling will further hasten the promise of both crops. Daily advices continue to show further and rapid declines in the condition of oats."

There was heavy selling in Chicago on today's bulge, apparently from the big holders of cash wheat who, it is expected, will take advantage of any advance in the delivery to unload as much as possible of the cumbersome and expensive "crops" of the May deal which represents a loss to holders of nearly $2,000,000.

The spring wheat situation continues favorable. The condition would be greatly improved by an absence of moisture in the next two weeks. Some parts of the Northwest have had so much moisture that rain is not needed for a month.

MARKET GOSSIP

There were no Liverpool cables today on account of a holiday. Broomhall estimates the total world's shipments at considerably over 16,000,000 bu. Argentina—The weather continues favorable and crop outlook is all that could be desired. The early planted has plenty of moisture and seeding is progressing rapidly. Argentine cables say that, although the corn crop is a very small one, still there will be about 8,000,000 bu for export, as reserves were liberal. Russian reports continue to come in of hot dry weather in the east and southeast and Broomhall's agent cables that rain is needed in these districts.

Hicks, the "weather man" in whom some gullible folk believe, predicts a drouth this summer. The bulls put the prediction on the wire from St. Louis.

Weekly summary of foreign crops as compiled by Broomhall, is: United Kingdom and Holland—Weather continues dry. Otherwise crop outlook is favorable. France—Crops are progressing satisfactorily, but indications point to moderate harvest. Germany—Crop conditions show slight improvement. Offerings of native wheat larger. Weather is rather dry. Sweden—Crops are suffering from drouth. Hungary—According to an official report the crops are progressing favorably. Roumania—Crop conditions are generally satisfactory, although there is mention of some damage in early-sown grain. There have been some beneficial rains. Turkey—Beneficial rains have fallen. Damage by locusts is threatening. Italy, North Africa and Australia—Crop conditions are favorable. India—Present indications point to heavy increase in shipments in near future. Russia—Crop outlook shows some improvement as result of general beneficial rains in southern regions. Arrivals at ports small, with stocks light as result of heavy shipments.

Paris Close: Wheat unchanged to ¼c, flour ¼c to ⅜c lower.

Buenos Ayres closed: Wheat—July ½c down. Corn—July 1½c down. Oats—July unchanged.

Primaries: Wheat—receipts 343,000, last year 283,000; shipments 628,000, last year 315,000. Corn—851,000, last year 590,000. Shipments 628,000; last year 317,000.

B. W. Snow wired: Preliminary reports indicate an increase in the corn acreage this year of 1,000,000 acres or more. Weather and soil conditions have been favorable for planting and the crop has gone in under conditions that are in the main satisfactory.

There has been a sufficient current moisture to keep the soil in good condition and to furnish almost ideal conditions for germination and early growth. Warm, dry weather has also given unusual opportunity for clean and thorough early cultivation. The crops starts out under favorable circumstances, the only drawback being a little more than usual activity on the part of insect enemies, particularly cut worms.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Hessian Fly Reports Send Wheat Prices Soaring.

Chicago, June 3.—Worse reports about Hessian fly sent wheat soaring today. Dispatches were at hand from Northern Indiana asserting that 20 to 25 per cent of the crop had been injured. Bullish sentiment was increased by news of hot, dry weather in the Southwest, and because of similar conditions prevailing in Russia and Roumania. According to one authority, two-thirds of the wheat acreage in the Hessian fly section of Northern Indiana is practically worthless. The opening was the same as last night to ½c up. July started at 91⅝@91¾c, a gain of ⅛@½c, and rose to 92⅛@92⅝c.

Good buying here on the part of the foreigners helped push prices yet higher. Hot weather reports from Nebraska had a like effect. The close was strong with July 93¾c, a net gain of 1¾c.

There was good buying of corn on account of the wheat strength, and as a result of prospects of a smaller movement from the farms. Offerings were scarce. July opened ½c to ⅞@¾c higher at 53⅞c to 54@54½c, and advanced to 54¾c.

The market later continued firm with wheat. The close was ⅞@1c up for July at 54⅞c.

A big demand for oats went largely unsatified. Longs who sold out yesterday were active in trying to reinstate holdings, the principal reason being the wheat boom. July started unchanged to ⅜@½c up at 36⅛@36½c, touched 36¾@⅞c and then climbed to 36⅞c.

Provisions, though neglected, were steady. First sales were at last night's level with September lard at $8.15 and January ribs at $7.07½. Pork received no attention whatever.

STRENGTH IN STOCKS

Confidence in Stability of General Conditions Reflected in Trading.

Prices Ease Off in Last Hour But Undertone Is Firm.

New York, June 3.—Recent gains in the stock market were preserved and in some cases extended in the opening transactions today. The Hill stocks made a further advance, Nothern Pacific gaining ¾. Bethlehem Steel moved up a point. Gains elsewhere were confined to small fractions.

Confidence in the stability of general conditions was reflected in the early dealings in the stock market. The specialties which ordinarily figure conspicuously in speculative movements, were relegated to the background, the demand being keenest for representative and middle class railroad stocks. With cheerful prospects for satisfactory crops and resulting large earnings, together with the abundance of money for commercial and banking uses, pool leaders took hold of various issues and bid them up sharply. Union Pacific, Reading and St. Paul were all notable factors in the rise. A block of $1,000,000 Atchison convertible 4's of 1960 sold at 105 with subsequent sales at 105½.

The market closed active and strong. Prices fell from substantial fractions to a point in the last hour under the weight of realizing sales, but the undertone continued distinctly firm.

Of all the active issues, American Telephone & Telegraph and Canadian Pacific alone displayed heaviness.

PASSENGER SEASON OPEN

Steamer Hamonic Arrives With Fifty Passengers From Sarnia.

Octorara and Other Line Boats Are Due Next Week.

The first passenger boat to arrive in the local harbor was the Hamonic, of the Northern Navigation company, which came in at 9 o'clock this morning, bringing about fifty passengers from Sarnia, Ont.

She left again this afternoon at 3 o'clock with about the same number of passengers for the Canadian port.

This marks the opening of a passenger season which promises to be the busiest in the history of this port. The trip was made without mishap, and while the weather on the lakes was cold and somewhat disagreeable, still the passengers reported that they enjoyed it.

Next Friday the steamer Octorara of the Anchor line will arrive in Duluth from Buffalo, which port she will leave next Tuesday. Following the arrival of this boat, many others of different lines will be coming to Duluth, and the tourist season will be in full swing.

BIG SLUMP IN LAKE TRAFFIC

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., June 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Freight traffic through the Soo canals during May showed another big slump, being 2,403,268 tons less than for the corresponding month last year. The total freight for the month amounted to 6,126,015 tons.

The decrease for the season up to May 31, in comparison with last year, was 3,565,594 tons, the total traffic to that date in 1910 being 10,487,199 as against 6,917,605 tons this year. There is an increase in passenger traffic, 902 more persons having passed through the canal this season than to June 1 in 1910.

MAY NOT APPROVE BONDS ON STEAMSHIPS.

Lansing, Mich. June 3.—According to the state securities commission, "in view of the present depression and the changes that have taken place in the last three years in the bulk freight business on the Great Lakes," it is a question whether the securities commission will approve any further issues of bonds on steamships.

DELEGATES SATISFIED

Duluth Meeting Best in History of Development Association.

Work of Commissions Laid Out—Politicians Conspicuous By Absence.

The fourth convention of the Northern Minnesota Development association was the best in the history of the organization, in the opinion of the delegates to the Duluth meeting. The program was a little crowded, diversions offered in a city the size of Duluth prevented some of the delegates from giving their undivided attention to the business of the convention, but the attendance at every session was good and the enthusiasm was at a high pitch all during the meeting.

The appointment of a commission on immigration and of a good roads commission is considered the most important work of the convention. It is believed the association, with its opportunities for gathering data and compiling it in the various counties in the northern part of the state, will be able to do good work in attracting settlers through its immigration bureau at St. Paul.

The good roads commission is intended to be an intermediary between the public, the county commissioners and the state highway commission. The working out of a general plan of roads and the arousing of the county commissioners and the state highway commission to the necessity of building them will be the work of the commission. It is made up of practical good roads men, enthusiasts each one, and is expected to report results at the next meeting of the association.

The resolutions committee showed a disposition to repress those who would have brought forth the club to flourish for the enlightenment of the legislature. Fiery resolutions in plenty were placed before the committee, but they were not brought before the convention. The members of the committee took the position that by arousing sentiment among the people at large, the legislature can be brought to time, and while the association censured the legislature, it also resolved for the benefit of the whole people, in order that there may be a general knowledge of the fact that Northern Minnesota's demands are reasonable and should be granted.

"I am well pleased with the meeting," said Secretary W. R. Mackenzie of the association last evening. "It was the best meeting in the history of the association. Every speech and every paper carried a wealth of information for the delegates. The suggestions made by the speakers will be acted upon, I am sure, not only by the association, but by the smaller clubs forming it and by the state boards called upon to assist in the development of Northern Minnesota. I heard no note of discord, no adverse criticism of the association in any respect and the convention was a profitable, harmonious gathering."

The charge that the assication is political in its nature and control was refuted at the Duluth meeting. The next campaign is far away, but politicians work at it all the year around every year. They weren't working here. Any politicians who were on the ground, were here to assist in the deliberations, not to work at the political game. Those having the development of Northern Minnesota at heart are satisfied that the Northern Minnesota Development association isn't under political control.

Royalton Plays Brainerd.

Brainerd, Minn., June 3.—(Special to The Herald.)—Royalton and the Brainerd Brewsters will play in Brainerd next Sunday. Royalton has made a great showing this season and last Sunday walloped the fast Little Falls bunch to the tune of 13 to 0. They have a paid team and their nine has recently been strengthened by the addition of several university players, including, it is said, McGovern and Johnston, the famous football stars. The Brainerd Brewsters are practicing hard every night and will make Royalton go to the limit to beat them.

Bismarck Wants Land Show.

Bismarck, N. D., June 3.—The Bismarck Commercial club has made an offer of a cash bonus for the proposed land exposition, and it will also make an offer of adequate exhibit space.

DEFICIT OF $80,000 TO $90,000 IS FOUND IN UNIVERSITY FUNDS

Conditions Are Made Public as Result of Bren Affair.

Accountant Is Found to Have Been Requested to Resign.

Says Woman Had Key to Vault Where He Kept State Money.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—As a result of the investigation by Trevor Arnett, comptroller of the University of Chicago, who has been studying the University of Minnesota financial system for the board of regents, it has been learned that the University of Minnesota has a deficit of $80,000 or $90,000, as a result of overdrafts in the university current expense fund, and the accounts of the university are in a condition of confusion.

Conditions at the university, revealed by Mr. Arnett's investigation, have been made public following the alleged robbery of Joseph D. Bren, university accountant, who is in the city today, following his story to the police that he was held up Friday in a secluded spot on the campus and robbed of $13,000 held in trust for university students.

Rush the Investigation.

As a result of the Bren incident a thorough investigation of university finances, already arranged as the result of Mr. Arnett's investigation and at the request of President George E. Vincent and Comptroller George H. Hayes, will begin at once instead of at a later date. The examination will follow a series of conferences between university and state authorities.

Conditions at the university have been made public by the Bren incident. Bren has stated to county and city officials who have questioned him that he kept no separate fund accounts. Comptroller Hayes, who took office a month ago, has told the officials that in his opinion it will take a month to check

CATHOLIC CHARITY SOCIETY MEETS

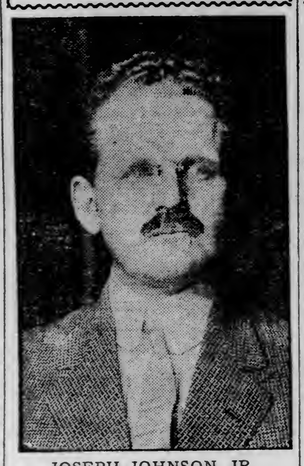

Sessions of Society of St. Vincent de Paul Open at Boston.

Boston, June 5.—Following an early mass at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross today, the delegates to the annual national conference of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul, the great international Catholic charitable organization, thronged Lorimer hall for the first conference of the session. The meeting was presided over by Thomas W. Hynes, president of the particular council of Brooklyn, N. Y., who read a paper on "The General Field of Preventive Charity."

John Reilly, president of the particular council of Philadelphia, presented a paper on "Economy in the Use of Household Supplies," after which the meeting was thrown open to informal discussion.

The final hours of the forenoon were given to the discussion of the care of the sick, intemperance, instructing the poor in household management, tuberculosis and teaching habits of thrift. The afternoon program provided for visits to the various city institutions in Boston harbor.

FOURTH AVIATOR ARRIVES AT ROME

Vidart Completes Second Stage of Long Aeroplane Race.

Rome, June 5.—Vidart, the fourth contestant to reach Rome, the end of the second stage of the 1,300-mile Paris-Rome-Turin air race, arrived at 9:15 o'clock this morning.

The aviator reached Orbetello, about seventy miles from Rome, on Saturday. In landing one wing and a propeller of his machine were broken. Vidart secured a new aeroplane and at 7:52 o'clock this morning reascended and flew direct to Rome.

Le Prince, a French aviator, arrived at Genoa at 6:18 a. m. The weather was magnificent, but the airman postponed his departure for Rome pending instructions from the aviation committee. The Roman committee telegraphed Le Prince that his passage over the Italian stage of the race would not be registered, as he was not regularly entered in the contest. Le Prince only asked that chronometer registrations of his arrivals and departures along the route be taken.

PRISONER MAY BE PETER THE PAINTER

Man Caught at Manila Is Held for the London Police.

Manila, June 5.—The Philippine authorities are holding a stowaway found on the British steamer Protesilaus, which arrived here today. The man embarked on the vessel at Singapore while coal was being taken on and it is suspected that he is "Peter the Painter," the Russian anarchist for whom the British police have been searching in connection with the murder of three policemen in Houndsditch, of which "the battle of Sydney street" was a sequel.

The officials of the British consulate here, while skeptical that the man will prove to be "Peter the Painter," are having him held pending an investigation. The Protesilaus left Liverpool April 30 and is bound for Seattle.

Evidence Is Said to Implicate the Leading Men.

Chicago, June 5.—Investigation of the so-called "lumber trust" with a view to criminal prosecution, was begun in the United States district court here today with the impanelling of a special grand jury by Judge K. M. Landis.

Evidence said to implicate the leading men in the lumber industry has been gathered by special agents for the government and will be presented before the grand jury late today or tomorrow.

Especial attention will be paid by the grand jury to methods said to have been made by the alleged combination to keep Chicago mail order houses from purchasing lumber directly from the manufacturers.

PORTLAND VOTERS IN BITTER FIGHT

Strenuous Municipal Campaign in Oregon Comes to An End.

Portland, Or., June 5.—The voters of Portland are today choosing a full list of municipal officers. The center of interest is the mayoralty. A. G. Rushlight, Republican primary nominee for the office of mayor, was chosen to head the ticket after a bitter campaign. So much animosity resulted that the supporters of his two opponents in the primaries declined to drop the fight after the primary election, and combining forces, centered on Mayor Joseph Simon and induced him to enter the race as an independent Republican.

Rushlight and Simon are opposed by Gen. H. Thomas, the Democratic nominee; Charles H. Otten, Socialist; and J. Allen Harrison, prohibitionist.

EIGHT MORE INDICTED IN OHIO LEGISLATURE BRIBE INVESTIGATION

Representative Evans Pleads Guilty and Is Fined $500.

Promises to Tell Grand Jury All He Knows of the Scandal.

Columbus, Ohio, June 5.—The grand jury made a third report in the legislative bribery today, returning eight indictments against as many persons, and three no bills.

Representative Owen J. Evans of Stark county was in the courtroom when the jury came in, and was at once served with an indictment charging him with receiving $100 from T. C. Miller, a loan agent of Akron, in connection with a bill to regulate loan companies. He pleaded guilty and was given a $500 fine by Judge Kinkead.

Evans will go before the grand jury at once and tell all he knows about the bribery scandal.

On Steering Committee.

Evans was a member of the steering committee of the house, of which Representative Nye of Pike county was also a member. Nye was acquitted last week, after a trial on the charge of soliciting a bribe of $500 from State Printer Crawford.

The other indictments are still pending against Evans, one on the charge of soliciting a bribe of $500 from J. F. Weiss, of a brewing company at Canton, and another, returned today with the one to which he pleaded guilty, which charges the solicitation of a bribe of $400 from J. C. Sharer.

Four Persons Are Injured in Smashup on the Rock Island.

Peoria, Ill., June 5.—Inbound passenger train No. 17, with seven coaches, ran into an open switch in the yards of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific this morning, demolishing two local engines standing on the track, besides totally wrecking its own engine. Fred Mills, caught between the cab and coal chute, suffered a broken leg.

While the passengers escaped, with two or three exceptions, with slight injuries, they were badly shaken up.

The responsibility of leaving the switch open has not as yet been placed.

HERMAN RIDDER,

Formerly President of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association.

TAFT ORDERS REPRIMAND

Scores Army Colonel Who Kept Jewish Soldier From Tests.

Says Roosevelt's Protege Must Have Chance to Become Officer.

Washington, June 5.—Col. Joseph Garrard, U. S. A., commanding the cavalry post at Fort Meyer, Va., today was reprimanded by the secretary of war, under orders from President Taft, for reporting adversely an application of a soldier for the right to take examination for promotion to commissioned grade, on the ground of Jewish parentage. The president said it was hard to deal with the matter "with patience and without condemnatory words that had better not be written."

Has Created Sensation.

The president's action has created something of a sensation not only in army circles but throughout Washington.

MARTINEZ TO BE NEW AMBASSADOR

Succeeds Zamacona as Mexican Representative in Washington.

City of Mexico, June 5.—Announcement has been made of the appointment of Gilberto Srespo y Martinez as ambassador to Washington to succeed Manuel De Zamacona Inclan, who who probably will be the government's financial agent.

Since Mr. Zamacona's appointment as ambassador, the London post has been filled by Pablo Macedo. Macedo resigned last week.

Ambassador Crispi is now minister to Austria. He was also minister to Cuba.

Brief Term in Office.

Washington, June 5.—Manuel de Zamacona Inclan's incumbency of the post of Mexican ambassador to the United States has been but brief. Announcement of his appointment was made March 27 last. He succeeded Francisco Leon De La Barra, who was named secretary of foreign affairs at City of Mexico and who now is ad-interim president of his country.

The critical situation in Mexico called for a number of diplomatic exchanges and the most careful attention of the ambassador was necesary to bring to a successful adjustment a succession of delicate questions.

COMMISSION PLAN UPHELD

Springfield, Ill., June 5.—Jugde Creighton, in the Sangamon county circuit court, today handed down a decision holding as constitutional the commission form of government act under which several cities of Illinois are now governed.

The decision is given in the case of the commissioners of the city of Springfield against Charles Edmonds, Jr., treasurer of Sangamon county, who refused to turn over the city funds to William H. Bowe, who was appointed city treasurer by the commissioners.

The case will be appealed to the supreme court by County Treasurer Edmonds.

SENATOR M'CUMBER PASSES THE LIE IN COMMITTEE HEARING

Declares Publisher's Statements Are "Absolutely False."

Other Senators Defend Herman Ridder at Capitol.

Reciprocity Discussion Leads to Clash Between the Men.

Washington, June 5.—The senate finance committee today resumed hearings on the Canadian reciprocity bill, Herman Ridder, until recently president of the American Newspaper Publishers' association, being called to the witness chair. Mr. Ridder had not proceeded far when Senator McCumber of North Dakota startled the committee by challenging one of his statements as an "absolute falsehood."

Senator McCumber's action brought a quick protest from Senators Stone and Bailey, who declared that witnesses should not be insulted.

No Attempt at Suppression.

Mr. Ridder had made the statement that the newspapers of the country and the Publishers' association had not attempted to suppress facts or to color stories sent from Washington on the subject of reciprocity, when Senator McCumber interrupted with his charge of falsehood.

Several senators insisted that Mr. McCumber's remark should be stricken from the record.

"If any witness appearing before this committee," said Senator Bailey, "were to imply that some senator had told a falsehood, I would insist that it be stricken from the record."

Senator McCumber agreed to have his remark changed so as to make it read: "That what Mr. Ridder said was unfounded."

"Of Vital Importance."

Mr. Ridder, in reply to questions from

Washington, June 5.—Postmaster General Hitchcock has decided to increase the extension of the postal savings system from 100 to 150 offices a week, with at least 1,000 depositories designated by July 1. This will be a world's record in the number operated within so short a time after establishment.

On July 1 the system is to be extended to first-class offices in the large cities. Only second-class postoffices have been designated so far.

Fifty additional postoffices are designated as depositories, making a total to date of 450. They will be ready to receive deposits on July 1, and include: Cadillac, Laurium and Manistique, Mich.; Marinette, Wis.; Rochester, Minn.; Bismarck, N. D.; Carroll, Iowa, and Deer Lodge, Mont.

General Synod Will Open Sessions Wednesday in Washington.

Washington, June 5.—The general synod of the Lutheran church in America, the oldest Lutheran body in this country, will begin its forty-fifth biennial meeting in the Memorial Lutheran church, this city, Wednesday night, June 7. The president, Rev. Dr. Harlan K. Fenner of Louisville, Ky., will preach the opening sermon.

Daily sessions of the synod will be held until Saturday, when the delegates will go by special train to Baltimore to participate in the dedication of the new deaconess mother house of the synod, erected as a testimonial to the work done by the mother house in sending out experienced deaconesses for service in the congregations.

The meeting of the synod is preceded by the first convention of the federal council of the Lutheran Brotherhood, beginning in Memorial church today. President Taft is expected to speak at the banquet, which will bring this convention to a close tomorrow night.

WOMAN MAYOR TO MEET COUNCIL

Hunnewell, Kan., June 5.—For the first time since her election as the mayor of this town several months ago, Mrs Ella Wilson and the councilmen of Hunnewell will meet tonight in a regular session of the council.

Following Mrs. Wilson's election the five members of the council refused to co-operate with her. They met without the mayor. The mayor "met" alone. City business has lagged.

There is much discussion as to the probable outcome of tonight's meeting. Mrs. Wilson is for a "dry" Hunnewell.

"I'm sure I do not know what the members of the council intend to do tonight," Mayor Wilson said today, "but I shall be there, and my policy of enforcing the laws has not changed."

BOYS GIVEN PLAIN TALK

Three Youthful Prisoners Promise Judge to Mend Their Ways.

John Crowley, Alton Bates and George Brown, who will be dismissed from the county jail tomorrow morning, were given a heart to heart talk by Judge J. D. Ensign of the district court this morning in his private chambers.

The boys were accused of having attempted to hold up Richard Burkland and to have taken 30 cents from him. The complaining witness could not be found. As the young men had spent seventy-six days in the county jail, they were given an earnest talk by Judge Ensign and allowed their freedom.

Judge Ensign drew his chair close to the one occupied by the boys and talked to them as a father would talk to an erring son. He told them of the probable long lives which they had to live and told them of how much more satisfaction they would get out of a good life. He told them never to do anything that their mothers would not have them do. He inquired into their family life and after finding that each boy had a good home, he told them how much they would hurt not only themselves, but others. He asked each boy if he did not have an ambition to live a straight, honest life and each answered that he had.

All of the young men are under twenty-two years of age and they promised the judge faithfully that this would be their last escapade. After the talk Judge Ensign shook hands with each one of them and wished them well. He told them that if they ever needed help or a friend in which to confide, to come to him and he would advise them to the best of his ability.

Thomas McDonald, who stole a package from the American Express company was given an indeterminate sentence at Stillwater. John Zlence, who took $60 from a fellow worker received two years at Stillwater. ADDITIONAL SPORTS

PROGRAM OF BOAT RACES

Season Will Be Opened With Cruise to Spirit Lake Branch.

With the publishing in The Herald of the schedule of the sailing races that will be held the present season, and with the announcement that rowing races of various sorts will be held every Saturday afternoon that the weather permits, the schedule of the motor boat section of the Duluth Boat club will be of every great interest.

This season the motor boat section is expected to take on more than the ordinary interest. One of the features of the season should be the races during the carnival week, and there are several rumors that some new boats will come up for the free-for-all race, which will have Richard Schell's speeder, and possibly some of the fast boats from Lake Minnetonka and White Bear.

The season for the motor boat people will be started on the glorious Fourth, when the all-day cruise will be a special program up the river and will be some novelty races among the various boats for special prizes.

On the following Saturday, July 8, the first regular races of the season will be held between the one design twenty-six-foot boats for the cup offered by the Ferro Engine company. The rivalry between the twenty-six-foot class boats is perhaps greater than that between any of the boats of the other classes, because so much depends upon the driver, and also because each owner has the notion that he is not only the best driver, but has also the best boat, though they are all constructed from the same model.

On July 15 the race between the 20-foot boats will be held for the cup offered by the club. Though these boats cannot go very fast, the owners have a very great amount of fun out of the races.

The 32-foot boats will have their race for the Bagley cup on July 29, and this is expected to be one of the very best days of the season, outside of the special races that have been planned for the carnival.

There are some very fast 32-foot class boats at the club, and it is reported that there will be a new one at the Head of the Lakes before the race is run for the Bagley cup, which is a beautiful emblem.

It is generally believed that August 12 will be set aside for ladies' day, and for that reason no motor boat races have been scheduled for that day. But on the following Saturday one of the big races of the season will come with the meeting of the 40-foot class boats, which includes the d'Autremont, Jr., Dick Schell's boat, rated as one of the fastest fliers in the Northwest.

The race between the 40-foot boats will be for the beautiful large design cup offered by the Kelley Hardware company, that at the present time is in the possession of Dick Schell.

There are some rumors in connection with the 40-foot class, which do say that there will be a fast boat to dispute the supremacy of the Schell craft. Competition in this class would be very welcome at the club, for the Schell boat has had a walkaway for some time.

On the following Saturday will come the free-for-all for the storage battery. It is expected that some very fast boats will enter this race.

On Aug. 26 the 26-foot boats will clash again for the Northern Hardware company cup. This is a very beautiful cup and the competition for its possession promises to be very keen.

In addition to the races enumerated above, there will be the special carnival races, which will be held on July 20, which will be the first day of the carnival.

There will be races for the three classes, 26, 32 and 40-foot. In the 26-foot class there will be the cup offered by Termaat & Monahan; in the 32-foot class a special cup offered by Bagley & Co., and in the 40-foot free-for-all, which is expected to draw some very fast outside boats, possibly the wonderful La Truda of Buffalo, there will be the beautiful cup offered by French & Bassett.

All of these cups will become the permanent possession of the winners, which is not the case in the cups that are raced for in the regular schedule of boat club races.

WILL PLAY FOR CALVERLY CUP

C. H. Bagley, chairman of the play committee of the Northland Golf club, is at the present time busy selecting two teams. One of these teams will represent the club in the Tom Morris Memorial event, which will be played simultaneously at the clubs of the Western Golf association, each club playing against par on its own grounds.

The first place was won last season by one of the Chicago clubs. It is expected that the present season the Northland club will make a very good showing in this event.

On June 24 a picked team from the Houghton club for the Calverly cup, which will be contested for annually between the two clubs until it becomes the permanent property of one of them. The game will be played at Houghton.

Last spring the Houghton club won the match contested between the two clubs. Last fall the games went to the Northland club. The club winning it six times will become the possessor. Either five or seven players will make up the team. The number has not been decided upon as yet.

It is expected that the team representing the Northland club will be the strongest that has ever contested for the cup.

QUALIFY FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Those to qualify in the spring championship preliminary round of the spring golf tournament of the Northland Golf club, were: Goodell, Silvey, Sprague, Towne, Crosby, Farmer, Finkenstaedt, Ames, Freimuth, Whyte, Moore Walker, Bagley, R. S. Patrick, Cullum and Alexander.

Very good scores were made in the preliminary round, and it is expected that much better scores will be made in the later games.

SECOND POLO MATCH AGAIN POSTPONED.

New York, June 5.—The international polo game scheduled for today was postponed on account of wet weather. The game will be played tomorrow.

A moist east wind, with occasional sprinkling of rain early today, caused the postponement.

Interest in the match has increased perceptibly since last week and the demand for reservations on the field exceeds its capacity, while good locations are at a premium. The social element figured extensively in the first match, but the spectators tomorrow will go to see the game and not to renew acquaintances.

Reports from the English and American camps are assuring. There were no cripples in either, and the two commanders declared again today that the battle lines in the second match would be the same as on Thursday.

Betting still favors the Americans with odds of 3 to 2 or 5 to 3. No long shots were offered after the scare of the first match.

FIRST GAMES PLAYED IN COMMERCIAL LEAGUE.

Two games were played in the Commercial Baseball league, Saturday afternoon. The Rust-Parker-Martin company's team defeated the Northern Shoe company team by the score of 21 to 10, and the Marshall-Wells people downed the F. A. Patricks by the score of 13 to 7. The games Saturday were the first to be played the present season in the Commercial league and brought out a great deal of interest among the various employes of the stores represented. Scores:

SEPARATED BY DEATH

Aged Poor Farm Inmates Came Here Forty-Two Years Ago.

The death of Mrs. Anna Krosky at the poor farm Saturday separates two aged people who have made their home in Duluth for the last forty-two years. Mrs. Krosky was 82 years of age and her husband, John Krosky, who survives her, is 78 years old. They were the oldest couple who have ever lived together in the St. Louis county poor farm. Other older individuals have preceded them, but as man and wife they occupied a niche all their own.

The aged couple came to this city direct from Germany, according to information given out at the poor farm over the telephone this morning, and have lived here continuously ever since. They had no relatives in this country and raised no children here, although it was stated that they had relatives in the Fatherland.

Mr. Krosky has made his living as a laboring man, doing different kinds of work. He and his wife came here when Duluth was still in its swaddling clothes. The first lighthouse was being established; the present ship canal was not then in existence; Superior street was little better than a country road; the buildings were all frame; the travel was largely by dog team; the mines were unknown; the vast forests were still standing on the site of the city, and the Indians were in the big majority when they first made their home here.

When pressed by adversity the aged couple took counsel and saw nothing but the poor farm staring them in the face. That was the latter part of the present winter, as it is little more than three months since they entered the institution. Their meager savings had been exhausted, and too old to battle with the world to make a living, they took the only course open to them without appealing to charity for aid. As they had lived their simple lives together during better days they left together for the poor farm to spend their last days. The old man is heart broken over the loss of his wife, with whom he had lived for three score years.

The funeral took place this afternoon. After the simple services the body was interred in Greenwood cemetery.

ALVINA WILL CARRY TAFT

Cole and the finest steam yacht on Lake Superior, will be placed at the disposal of the Michigan College of Mines authorities in the event that President Taft honors Houghton with his presence at the August reunion and will carry William H. Taft's 250 pounds avoirdupois, as well as his party, to the various places of interest to be reached by water.

Mr. Cole advised the college authorities yesterday by letter of his decision, the suggestion having been made to him last week.

ZENITH FURNACE COMPANY MEETS

Reports were favorable and the outlook for the ensuing fiscal year was said to be excellent.

INJURY CASES ARE ON TRIAL

Before Judge Cant of the district court, David Partikka, as administrator of the estate of Matti Karilainen, is suing the D. G. Cutler company for $5,000 for the death of Karilanen, which it is alleged took place while he was working as a laborer for the company at its Duluth dock.

The plaintiff claims that because the defendants were negligent in the manner in which their cars were handled, Karilanen was caught between two of them and crushed so badly that he died a few hours afterward.

Before Judge Ensign Ollie Nykanen is suing the Swallow & Hopkins company for $17,750, for injuries alleged to have been received while working in the Helmer mine.

He claims that he was employed as powder man and that his duties consisted of lighting fuses which exploded the dynamite charged. He states in his complaint that owing to the defective fuse, he slot one eye and other ports of his body were disfigured.

Both cases were placed on trial this morning.

He, with his father, lived on the latter's homestead, sixteen miles south of town, coming from DeKalb, Ill., last fall. The son had never liked it here, and seemed despondent, telling a neighbor about a week ago that he was tired of living and would like to end it all.

German Lutheran District Meeting to Be Held This Week.

Milwaukee Business Men Will Be Guests of City Saturday.

Duluth will entertain two big gatherings this week. Beginning Thursday and continuing until Sunday evening, the district of Minnesota of the German Evangelical Synod of North America will hold its annual meeting here. Saturday the Milwaukee Business Men's association will be here with about 500 people and a special train.

The German Evangelical synod meeting is expected to attract about 200 people to the city. The business sessions will be held in St. Paul's church, Tenth avenue east and Third street.

The Milwaukee business men, on their annual excursion on a trade-stimulating mission, will arrive at the Head of the Lakes Friday. That day they will spend in Superior, leaving at 5 o'clock Saturday morning for the range territory. They will return to Duluth Saturday evening, arriving at 5 o'clock. They will spend Saturday evening in Duluth, leaving for the return trip to Milwaukee early Sunday morning.

Duluth jobbers and the Commercial club will extend every courtesy to the visitors. The Milwaukee men are the entertainers at the small towns. They invite the whole populace to their train and do the honors as hosts instead of guests. The Duluth visit is one more of fraternity that as business men to patrons, and the program here will be a little different. The Milwaukee men will be entertained at a reception at the Commercial club, and Duluth jobbers and other business men will meet them.

Thursday the synodical council of the Augustana synod will hold a meeting at the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church in the West end, to arrange the business to come before the meeting of the Augustana synod here June 15 to 20. The synodical council consists of the nine presidents of conferences in the synod and one layman from each conference.

Other meetings to be held in Duluth soon are those of the National Association of Food and Dairy Inspectors, the Swedish Good Templars, the Norwegian Singing societies, the Minnesota Retail Druggists' association and the State Bar association.

NEW ROAD TO TWIN CITIES

State Engineer of Highways Is Taken Over the Route.

Believed That Present Road Can Be Shortened By Fifteen Miles.

The good roads cause received a substanial boost last week when George W. Cooley, state engineer of highways, with his assistant, Mr. L. J. Mullen, under the auspices of the Duluth Auto club, were taken over the road between Duluth and the Twin Cities with a view of selecting the shortest and best route.

They left here Saturday morning and were accompanied by E. K. Coe, road engineer to the county commissioners of St. Louis county, and Commissioners Tischer and Overton of the Second and Fifth districts of St. Louis county. Arriving at Pine City that night, the party was met by Messrs. Murray and Harrington of the St. Paul club, going through to St. Paul on Sunday.

The business men of Pine City met the party there on Saturday evening and accorded them a hearty reception, during which the road matter was the all absorbing topic. Inasmuch as Pine county has by far the largest mileage of the entire route, the problem for them offers some difficulties, but the spirit manifested promises to overcome any difficulties that may present themselves.

The general opinion everywhere seems to be that the Elwell bill passed at the last session of the state legislature offers the only feasible solution for the building of roads in this and others in the sparsely settled counties. Under the provisions of this act the entire road can be built at one time issuing certificates of indebtedness payable in the annual installments of which the state pays one-half, the county one-fourth and the territory benefitted one-fourth. Mr. Cooley figures that a first class gravel road with permanent foundation, permitting of being gradually macadamized, can be built for very close to $2,000 a mile, and in the case of Pine county with its fifty miles of this road the annual tax for ten years would be only $2,500 with interest.

Carlton county has the next largest mileage and the commissioners of Carlton county have gone at the matter in a way that promises results. They have already appropriated $6,000 to improve the road from Carlton south.

On the trip from Duluth to Pine City is was evident that some changes can be made without cutting out any of the large cities, that will shorten the road some twelve or thirteen miles and it is thought that altogether that something like a total of fifteen to sixteen miles can be cut out between Duluth and St. Paul. The improvement of the road on the west side of the Northern Pacific track from Wyoming through Centerville, in Anoka county, giving the choice of two routes in that territory, is also part of the plan.

The interest of St. Louis county in the road is comparatively small, having only five miles in this county, but inasmuch as St. Louis county will pay in $70,000 to the state road fund during the coming year, and can only get back something like $9,000, the county is particularly interested in seeing that the adjoining or nearby counties secure their fair share of the state road fund.

Mr. Cooley evinced his very great interest in the subject of a road west from Duluth, through Carlton, Aitkin and Crow Wing, Cass and Wadena counties and any move made in that direction will receive his heary support as well as that of the state highway commission.

The last legislature appropriated $150,000 from the general fund of the state which will be used to prepare plans for roads and bridges and to supervise their construction in the counties other than St. Louis, Hennepin and Ramsey which have road superintendents. The construction of all work costing more than $500 must be done under the supervision of assistant engineers appointed by the state engineer's department when the work is paid for by money received wholly or in part from the state. This takes the work out of the sphere of local political influence.

JUNE 14 WILL BE OBSERVED AS FLAG DAY IN AMERICA

The 144th anniversary of the adoption of the Stars and Stripes will be celebrated all over the United States on Wednesday, June 14. The American Flag association has issued an appeal to the American people to fittingly commemorate this day, and the president of the United States and the governors of the different states have been asked to issue proclamations to the people calling for a proper celebration.

On June 14, 1777, congress enacted "That the flag of the thirteen united states be thirteen stripes, alternating red and white; that the union be thirteen stars, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation." The nation's representatives soon realized that the United States would rapidly grow, and on April 4, 1818 congress enacted "That from and after the fourth day of July next the flag of the United States be thirteen horizontal stripes, alternating red and white; that the union be twenty stars, white in a blue field, and that on the admission of a new state into the Union one star be added to the union of the flag, and such addition to take effect on the fourth day of July next succeeding such addition."

HARVARD GRADS WILL MARCH THROUGH STREETS OF MINNEAPOLIS

"See where the crimson banners fly!
Hark to the sound of tramping feet!
There is a host approaching nigh!
Harvard is marching up the street!
Onward to victory again!
Marching with drumbeat and with song—
Oh, hear the refrain as it thunders along!"

That's what the bunch of Harvard grads from Duluth will sing when they parade through the streets of Minneapolis June 9, when the annual convention of Harvard clubs will be held.

As the graduates march up town from from the union station they will sing that old battle hymn:

"Hard luck for poor old Eli!
Tough on the Blue!
Now all together,
Smash them through and through!
'Gainst the line of crimson
They can't prevail!
Three cheers for Harvard
And down with Yale!"

Among the distinguished visitors at Minneapolis will be George von L. Meyer, secretary of the navy; James F. Curtis, assistant secretary of the treasury, and Augustus E. Wilson, governor of Kentucky.

CLARITY OF VISION.

Rev. Black Says Only the Pure May Hope to See Christ.

That before man may see even the hem of Christ's garment, it is essential that the inner consciousness must be purified from evil thoughts, and love for mankind reign paramount, was the conclusion of Rev. Bruce V. Black in his address at the Union church, K. of P. hall, 118 West Superior street, yesterday afternoon.

"How to Meet Him Face to Face" was Mr. Black's subject, and he spoke on the necessity for clarity of spiritual vision before one may gaze on the spiritual Christ and he urged the necessity of purity of heart to the attainment of clarity of spiritual vision.

"Perhaps tomorrow or next week we shall find an unexpected evil thought rising to our mastery," he said. "Whence did it come? Surely we did not invite it. Make it your vocation to be pure. Count all suggestions that refine soul expression. Soon we shall begin to see just a little. But this little is worth all effort. Like the afflicted woman it may be only the hem of His garment that we see at first, but the soul rejoices because He is revealing Himself."

OPEN BIDS FOR ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

The bids for the building of St. Paul's Episcopal church on East Superior street, were opened this afternoon at 2 o'clock, but the contract will not be awarded until late this afternoon or probably tomorrow, as a large number of bids were received. The architects, Crane, Goodhue & Fergusson, of Boston and New York, are represented by B. G. Goodhue, who arrived in the city this morning. It is estimated that the building will cost about $115,000.

D. V. Case & Broomhall will open bids at 3 o'clock this afternoon for the construction of a new school at Hill City, Minn., the cost of which is in the neighborhood of $27,000. These architects awarded the contract for the building of a two-story brick structure for Joseph Flower at Keewatin, Minn., to C. A. Killander & Co., of Hibbing. It will cost about $8,000 when finished.

Printers Beat Barbers.

Brainerd, Minn., June 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The barbers' ball team was wiped out by the printers Sunday morning, by the score of 20 to 9, the printers of three papers of the city defeating a team recruited from all the barber shops of the city.

BULLING WHEAT IN WINNIPEG

Traders on the board of trade commented today on the strength shown at Winnipeg. July wheat sold up to $1.02¾ while the highest price hit in this market was $1.00.

Agricultural and other interests have been losing their campaign against reciprocity chiefly on the comparative prices between the Northwestern markets in the United States and values at Winnipeg, claiming that wheat is so cheap in Canada that American wheat could not compete with it.

Today, however, the Winnipeg market was the highest on the North American continent. A Winnipeg miller has been "bulling" wheat but the same "bull" campaign has been in progress in this country so conditions are not dissimilar.

USED HAMMER AS WEAPON

William Monroe and Peter Paulson were arrested this morning on a charge of disorderly conduct by Patrolman Oscar Olson.

It is claimed that Monroe struck Paulson over the head with a hammer, inflicting two painful scalp wounds. It seems that Monroe had boarded at the Denver lodging house on Sixth avenue west, where Paulson is employed as a clerk, and that Monroe left about a week ago, taking some keys with him. It is claimed that the clerk refused to let him go upstairs when he wanted to go to his room this morning, and that he attacked the clerk with the hammer. The clerk said that he was afraid that he might have some of the other keys and use them for other rooms. Both pleaded guilty to being disorderly when arraigned in police court and their cases were set over until this afternoon for further investigation.

FAIR DEMAND FOR LABORERS.

There is a fair demand for laborers at fair wages in Duluth at present. River drivers are in demand at from $2.50 to $3 a day. Several employment agencies are advertising for river drivers at these wages and promise long jobs.

Wages for woodsmen range from $26 to $30 a month. Cooks are offered $50. Men to load ties are offered $1.50 a day. All these jobs include board.

There are more men than jobs at present, but it is expected that this condition will be reversed. Haying time is near, and then the farmers will begin to call for help. Soon after that comes the call for men on the Western farms and then there will be work for all.

STATE JEWELERS TO MEET AT GRAND FORKS SOON.

Grand Forks, N. D., June 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—North Dakota jewelers and opticians who are members of the two state associations will hold their annual meeting in Grand Forks June 13, 14 and 15, and the program for that occasion has just been completed. Some new ideas have been injected into this year's meeting by the executive committee, and it is expected that there will be a very large attendance.

"There's a Reason"

GARY OPPOSED CUT IN STEEL

New York, June 5.—The arguments with which Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the directors of the United States Steel corporation, addressed iron and steel manufacturers whom he had here as guests at a recent luncheon to discuss the independent action of the Republic Iron & Steel Co., in reducing prices, became public when Judge Gary made public the text of his speech and threw more light upon which occurred behind the closed doors of the dining room at the Metropolitan club.

Judge Gary argued for continued cooperation among the steel makers and for stability in prices, but his apparent wishes on the price question were overruled by a general decision to meet the cuts of the Republic company. Judge Gary touched upon the possibility of wage reductions, the value of fair dealing and frankness among the manufacturers and the rights and duties of great corporations in view of the recent supreme court decision in the Standard Oil case.

Concluding, he said that "the supreme court, instead of saying that there may be reasonable restriction of trade or reasonable monopolies, he believed, intended to say that in the application of the law to the facts in a case, there must be reason exercised.

Attitude on the Sherman Law.

"If the business interests generally should reach the conclusion that the Sherman act, so-called, has been overthrown; that it is of no importance so far as our future conduct is concerned; that we are not obligated to go ahead on right lines; that we are relieved from the necessity of conducting ourselves in such a way as to evidence a regard for the interests of those with whom we come in contact—with our neighbors, our customers, our employes and the public generally—that we may go on, step by step, becoming more and more unreasonable instead of better; we shall find that as a result, and in the long run, we will suffer by reason of such an attitude."

WILSON GOES HOME.

Talks With Many Congressmen While in Washington.

Washington, June 5.—After a day of political conferences Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey left Washington last night to resume his gubernatorial duties at Trenton, following a tour of the West and South. His visitors were from all sections of the country, including senators, representatives and private citizens. Senators Martine of New Jersey and Gore of Oklahoma were among the first callers on the prospective presidential candidate.

All the conferences were open. To the members of the house, particularly, Governor Wilson expressed repeated congratulations. He said that the vigor with which the house had taken hold of its work had inspired the country with renewed confidence in the Democratic party. The action of the caucus of Democratic representatives in voting for a reduction of the tariff on wool only to 20 per cent ad valorem received his hearty commendation, despite the fact that William J. Bryan had warned the Democrats against any other course than taking off all the duty.

Favors Reciprocity.

Trenton, N. J., June 5.—Governor Woodrow Wilson favors reciprocity with Canada; he saw no substantial opposition to it throughout the West. This sentiment was expressed upon the governor's return from his extensive Western trip. The governor also said that the thing most noticeable to him was that there were no differences of political opinion between the extreme West and New Jersey. All over the country, he said, it was the one thing people were discussing—men and measures—and that they did not care a rap for parties. He stated that he had made no plans for a trip through the Southwest as had been suggested.

WOMAN'S REALM.

Mrs. F. L. Barrows, who is in Albany, N. Y., for the graduation exercises at Dwight school, where her daughter, Miss Margaret, will graduate this year, met Mrs. Caroline Bartlett Crane on her way East. Mrs. Crane was just returning from Saginaw, Mich., where she had been on a tour of inspection similar to her visit here last fall. The Saginaw News printed an editorial on Mrs. Crane's work there, which praised her report as a conservative and fair criticism of the city from the standpoint of health and sanitation. Among the things which she censored were the water and sewerage systems, wells, police headquarters, county jail and milk supply, and she commended the well paved streets, parks, lawns and prosperous looking homes.

The editorial said: "Mrs. Crane's visit to Saginaw has been of great value. It has had a powerful educational effect. It has set people to thinking about their food supplies, the sanitary condition of their homes and premises and about the things which promote their health and happiness. We believe Mrs. Crane's report and recommendations will be received in the right spirit—which is, that they are offered for our own good—and that they will stimulate our pride in what we have that is commendable and quicken our desire to improve that which is not commendable."

Mrs. Crane had also recently returned from a trip to Rochester, N. Y., where she had been enthusiastically received and her criticism well taken. Mrs. Crane's report on Minnesota, which will be a complete resume of her inspection here, will be published soon and copies have been ordered by the Women's Council and Commercial club and copies may be obtained from them.

THE EVENING STORY

HARD LUCK

By C. D. Leslie.

Mr. Farr was looking for work. The season being summer he found the occupation (so long as he avoided getting it) not uncongenial. Gifts of food, bread and butter, and tea at kitchen doors sustained his bodily needs, a few cents from sympathic strangers (he could pitch a tale skillfully) enabled him freely to sample the beer of the numerous hotels he passed in his wanderings.

He sat in the bar attached to The Fisherman's inn, engaged in the sampling mentioned above, alone, save for the barman who had served him with open, though silent disapproval.

Mr. Farr was, it must be confessed, painfully shabby, and not the class of customer this particular bar desired to encourage. Into the peace of the saloon three anglers broke noisily in quest of a drink before embarking for a day's sport. Three gins and ginger beers was the order, which the barman hastened to fulfill with civil alacrity. Three tumblers were raised, but one set down prematurely to a cry of "Oh, the dickens."

"What's the matter?" queried one of the other men.

"Forgotten something," was the reply. "I've just remembered," and then, this to Mr. Farr, "Here my man, like to earn a quarter?"

"Yes, sir," said Mr. Farr.

The speaker took out a pocketbook, wrote a few lines on a page of it, and folded and addressed the sheet. "Can you read that?"

Mrs. Jenkins, 349 Main street," read Mr. Farr.

"It's not two miles away, a red house on the right hand side before you come to the village. Take the first road on your left as you leave here and go through Pagton. There's no answer, but give it into Mrs. Jenkins' hands yourself."

"And the quarter, sir?"

"My wife will give you that. I've added a line telling her to. Off with you, be as quick as you can," and he impelled Mr. Farr out into the road, indicating the way with extended arm.

With a show of alacrity he was far from feeling, Mr. Farr set forth. It was pleasanter to sit over a tankard in the cool saloon overlooking the verdant lawn that stretched to the water's edge, and he intended to spend at least an hour there before voyaging further.

He strode along moodily, the sun beat down on him and passing motors dusted his shabby clothes and aroused a raging thirst in their owner. He thought enviously of the man who had given him the job, he would be fishing from a boat, sitting no doubt in close proximity to a well-filled luncheon basket and a stone jar of beer. That was real enjoyment. Fishing was better fun than tramping the road to earn a quarter. He felt he disliked Mr. Jenkins for all that he was to make 25 cents out of him.

Presently it began to dawn on him that a quarter was a poor wage for the commission. He had been walking some time, three-quarters of an hour he guessed, and he had passed through Pagton and was on the road to Jenkins', but no red house gladdened his eyes.

Mr. Jenkins in stating his house was not two miles from the Fisherman's inn had said that which was not true. Mr. Farr's sense of injury deepened and he began to ask himself if anything over and above the quarter could be made out of the job, and as he pondered the idea took him suddenly like a blow between the eyes, so that he halted instinctively, and grinned. It was a great idea, the inspiration of a great mind. And it stood examination.

"Him and me are jest of a size,, too," he mused.

Slipping a hand into his pocket he produced the note, unfolded and read it. It ran as follows:

Dear Madge—I forgot to post the letter of Roberts and Co. They must have it tonight. You'll find it under my blotter in the library. G. J. Please give bearer the quarter I have promised him."

Having read the missive three times, Mr. Farr calmly and deliberately tore it into shreds and scattered them abroad.

Half a mile further he came to the house. The Jenkins' residence was a snug little place standing well back from the road amid green lawns and gay flower beds. Mr. Farr strode up the gravel approach and rang the front door bell.

A trim servant answered. "Well, what do you want?" she began tartly at sight of him.

"Mornin', Miss!" was the amicable reply. "I want to see your missus, Mrs. Jenkins that is, an' my business is immediate and important, so just hurry along and tell her."

"Oh, is it! Well, she's not receiving tramps this morning. Wednesday's the day; so you can clear out!" and she made to shut the door in his face, but Mr. Farr deftly interposed a battered shoe.

"Look here, miss, I'm a messenger from Mr. Jenkins, and I've brought a note for Mrs. Jenkins. Straight, I have."

"If you've a note, give it to me."

"I'm to give it to Mrs. Jenkins myself."

Grudingly the maid admitted him, and, tapping at a door, opened it. "Will you please come here, ma'am, there's a messenger with a note from the master in the hall?" she said.

Promptly a pleasant looking lady emerged into view and came towards Mr. Farr with a glance of inquiry on her face.

That gentleman moistened his lips and plunged blibly into his tale. "Don't be alarmed, mum," he reassured her, "there ain't nothing to get excited over, but your husband, mum, has met with a slight misfortune."

"Whatever do you mean?"

"He fell into the river," said Mr. Farr.

"Good gracious! George fell into the river." The speaker's voice betrayed absolute incredulity.

"Oh, he was out again quick enuff, mum, but he went right in and under in about seven feet of water and come out dripping naturually, so he's gone to bed in a room in the Fisherman's inn till he's got dry clothes, and one of his friends told me to hurry here as I happened to be standing on the bank—and fetch a suit of clothes and underclothes in a little bag and take 'em back to him at once." Mr. Farr paused and coughed, eyeing the lady expectantly. He saw doubt in her face and added hastily:

"I nearly forgot, mum. As I was going Mr. Jenkins calls out, "An' tell my wife," he says, "as I've forgotten to post the letter to Roberts & Co., and she'll find it in the blotter in the library."

With a troubled mien the lady hurried away, verified the statement, and, all doubt at rest, returned. "Sit down," she told him. "I'll be back directly."

In a very short time she reappeared, followed by the maid carrying a small bag. "Are you sure he's not injured?" she asked him. He doesn't want me to come to him?"

"I assure you, mum," replied Mr. Farr, snatching eagerly at this opportunity of speaking the truth. "He's as well as you or I—barring the wetting he got," he hastened to fib.

"How did he come to fall into the river? It's so unlike him to do anything so silly."

Mr. Farr had been prepared for this query. "He was on the landing stage about to get into the boat," he explained, "and I think one of the planks was a bit greasy and his foot slipped, anyhow, and at once he tumbled in. Was out again in about a minute and told the other gentlemen he wasn't any the worse. Treated it as a joke."

"Well," said Mrs. Jenkins, "hurry back with the bag. I expect he's waiting impatiently."

Mr. Farr knew better, but murmured respectfully, "yes, mum!" and obeyed. Fearful of being watched from the windows he went back a way by the bushes in vain. The fields on either side were grass, bare of cover. He trudged on, bag in hand, growing tired and hotter and exceedingly cross.

According to his own estimation, though he possibly exaggerated, Mr. Farr had walked several miles along this aggravating road unable to put his wishes into practice, when he suddenly emerged upon the river again. it wound gently by. Over on the other side he saw a stretch of green that included several thickets, and it occurred to him to cross the stream. The idea suggested itself through the medium of an empty boat, moored conveniently by; he saw no one near but two cyclists on the road so its commandering would be safe and easy.

Mr. Farr stepped into the boat, loosed the painter, and pushed forth from the bank; he had little skill in oarsmanship, and as he clumsily rowed the current carried him round the bend and he was aware of the proximity of a fishing punt in midstream. He looked at it over his shoulder pulling harder to clear it, but the sun shining full in his eyes prevented him from seeing it and its occupants at all clearly. At that moment, as he had assured himself there was no fear of his drifting into the punt, there came from it a cry and simultaneously a loud splash. Then more shouting. An answering "Yes" rang out to the question "My dear fellow, are you all right?"

"Hi, there," some one shouted, "look out! Pick him up."

Dazed and confused Mr. Farr tugged at the oars. Suddenly a hand shot up and seized the side of the boat; next moment (more or less) like Venus rising from the sea, emerged the head and shoulders of Mr. Jenkins—Mr. Jenkins, hatless, but clothed and dripping like a water spaniel. His eyes blinked at Mr. Farr, and Mr. Farr blinked back. There was a tense moment of silence.

"Hello!" ejaculated Mr. Jenkins. "You're the fellow I sent with a note, aren't you?"

"Yes, sir," confessed Mr. Farr.

Holding on with one hand, the half submerged Mr. Jenkins turned and gave a reassuring call to his friends in the punt, and then, with the ease of a practised swimmer, swung himself out of the water and into the boat. Mechanically Mr. Farr turned the boat's head towards the bank. The intruder made the inevitable discovery.

"Why, that's my bag you've got there."

"Yes sir. I was bringin' it to you!" Mr. Farr gulped. "It's—it's got a suit of your clothes, sir, and underclothes. Mrs. Jenkins bid me bring 'em to you."

"But why?" asked the amazed husband.

"She said, sir, as she had a presentiment you'd need 'em," replied Mr. Farr. "This beats anything! Why, I've never before, all the years I've been on it, fallen into the river. What a wonderful guess of hers! You've come in the nick of time, my man, and you shall have another quarter for your labors when I've changed."

"Thank you, sir," said Mr. Farr, and he chuckled inwardly as he rapidly pulled ashore.

AVERAGE OF TWO FAMILIES HELPED DAILY BY ASSOCIATED CHARITIES

There are at the present time as many dependent people in the city as there were during the winter months, according to reports on file in the office of the secretary of the Duluth Associated Charities.

Through the different societies, the Associated Charities has been helping on an average of two families a day.

Some are furnished clothing, others food and others necessities of life which they are unable to purchase.

Many men who are out of work are furnished meals and lodging but not until their case has been thoroughly investigated. Many have a trick of coming into the office late on a Saturday afternoon and trying for lodging over Sunday. This has worked in some instances where the cases have been found to be worthy, but many have been turned down after telling stories which have been found to be untrue.

The work of the charitable societies usually falls off at this time of the year and this is unusual in that there are as many cases at this time of the year as there were during the colder months.

CUSTOMS COURT STARTS TROUBLE FOR TRAVELERS.

Washington, June 5. — The customs court has given a decision which promises to bring customs collectors into even more unpopularity. Treasury officials declare it will entangle the government in no end of disputes unless congress amends it.

Three words in one section of the Payne-Aldrich law have been construed to mean that any American born animal, once taken out of this country, must pay duty to return. It is held that the law applies to all animals, from pet poodles to draft horses. Heretofore customs collectors have been allowed to exercise some discretion in enforcing this provision.

Duty on Dogs and Horses.

Hereafter they will have no alternative, and the following will be some of its effects:

An American woman who takes her pet poodle to Europe will have to pay duty on it when she returns.

A Niagara Falls hackman no longer will be allowed to drive his fare across the gorge to the Canadian side of the waterfall unless he is prepared to pay full duty on his horse when he comes back. There is no provision by which he might put up a bond guaranteeing his return. An American merchant in Detroit who drives to Windsor must pay duty on his team before he can return to Detroit.

DISAGREEMENT IN BIG BOSTON BROKERS' TRIAL.

Boston, Mass., June 5.—After a trial lasting thirteen weeks, in which charges alleging the larceny of nearly $1,000,000 from customers, were considered, the jury reported a disagreement in the case of Arthur B. Sederquist, D. Eustace Bigelow and John E. Barry, members of the brokerage firm of Sederquist, Barry & Co.

Earlier in the day the jury reported it had found Harry F. Curtis, a fourth member of the firm, not guilty on the two counts with which he had been charged. Arthur B. Sederquist was also cleared on the same two counts.

The original indictment named 102 counts, but the court only allowed evidence on fifty-two to be considered.

Mr. Egan's petition stated that the finances of the company were in a serious condition and that it would soon be unable to meet heavy obligations. J. MARINE NEWS

WILL INSPECT WORK ON LAKES

Maj. Shunk on Committee to Adopt a Standard Cement.

Maj. Francis R. Shunk of St. Paul, in charge of the United States corps of engineers of the St. Paul district, and temporarily in charge of the Duluth district, is in the city today, for a short business trip. He expects to leave for St. Paul this evening, but will return again in a week or ten days, at which time he will make a trip over the lake to inspect the work being carried on there.

Maj. Shunk is a member of the special board appointed last week by the war department to investigate the matter of the possibility of adopting a standard cement to be used in all work, not only for public improvements but also for private work. This committee met at Detroit last week, and will hold another session in New York in September, when a delegation from the American Society of Civil Engineers will meet with them. Shortly after that a final meeting will be held at which the recommendations of the board will be made and submitted to the war department.

HURONIC DUE TUESDAY MORNING

Passenger Boat Bringing a Fair List of Tourists on First Trip.

The Huronic, passenger vessel of the Northern Navigation company, will arrive at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning with a fair sized list of passengers. She will leave in the afternoon at 3 o'clock with about fifty passengers. This boat will be the second passenger ship to come to the local harbor this season. She will make a regular weekly trip between Sarnia, Ont., and Duluth.

DREDGE DULUTH STARTS FOR THE HEAD OF LAKES.

Marquette, Mich., June 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The dredge Duluth has finished the year's contract in the Marquette harbor and left for Duluth. The trip is a long one for a dredge to make, and the voyage will necessarily be made slowly and with many stops. Only three miles an hour can be made with the assistance of a tug. The Duluth has a large contract at the Head of the Lakes.

WESTERN LUMBER.

Big Shipment Is Routed to the East Via Duluth.

It was announced today that 12,000,000 feet of lumber is on its way from Washington to Duluth, to be shipped from the Duluth harbor down the lakes. Part of this large shipment is for foreign trade.

Timber has been shipped through this port before, but the large shipment of inch boards that is on the way here is, according to the statement of a shipper and dealer, one of the very first instances where Pacific coast lumber in that shape has been shipped this way for transportation down the Great Lakes.

If the shipment means that Pacific coast lumber is in the future to be routed via Duluth and the Great Lakes route, the fact that the lumber product of this part of the state is diminishing, may not after all mean that lumber shipments from this port are going to decrease.

A large boat will take about 1,000,000 feet of lumber in one load. Figuring that way, the shipment that is on the way will make probably sixteen average loads.

From Buffalo the lumber will go to New York and by canal to the ocean port. The biggest item in the transportation of the lumber from Washington will be the price paid between Washington and Duluth. The all-rail trip between these two points will cost something like $250 a car load. From Duluth to the ocean, by the water route, will be very much cheaper.

CHANGES MADE IN HARBOR BUOYS.

Changes made in the local harbor reported by the hydrographic office consist in the discontinuance of a spar known as Ohio Central Coal Dock Buoy 2, and of the East Gate Basin Light No. 5, and of the spar known as Superior Front Channel Buoy 13. The East Gate Basin Buoy 15, a spar, was moved 200 yards northward, and the spar known as East Gate Basin Junction Buoy 17 was moved 140 yards eastward and its name changed to East Gate Basin Buoy No. 17, while the spar Superior Front Channel Buoy 2 was moved 35 yards northward. A spar, Superior Front Channel Buoy No. 4-A, was established in twenty feet of water to mark the eastern limits of the dredged channel at its junction with the Quebec channel.

Obstructions in Harbor.

The United States lake survey steamer Search has made a recent investigation of the harbor and approaches thereto at Naubinway, Mich., northern end of Lake Michigan. Several obstructions were discovered just outside of the harbor, which have not hitherto been correctly charted.

The harbor may be entered from the southeast with no less than eighteen feet at the present stage, by steering on Mile Coquin's Point, north 58 deg. west, until the refuse burner bears north 29 deg. west, then steering for the burner until within 1,000 feet of the end of the dock.

There is an available depth of water at the dock at the present stage of from twelve to fourteen feet. The bottom in the vicinity of the dock and in the harbor is soft.

Investigate Shoal.

The shoal reported recently by Capt. E. Miller of the tug Bayfield, in Chequamegon bay, Lake Superior, has been investigated by the Duluth office of the United States corps of engineers and found to be 700 feet in length, covered with boulders, having the least depth of 9.8 feet.

District Extended.

Buffalo, N. Lieutenant Colonel James G. Warren, head of the Buffalo district, received word to that effect this morning. Warren will remain at the head of the enlarged district.

Captain W. L. Guthrie will report at Leavenworth, Kan., on Aug. 15. He has been assigned to duty there.

The amalgamation of the two districts means that Lieutenant Colonel Warren will have supervision of the south shore of Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence river to the international boundary line.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 5.—Special to The Herald.)—According to the official customs figures for May, which were compiled today, there has been a decrease of 69,545 tons of coal shipped from this port during the last thirty-one days, as compared with the corresponding period last year. CALUMET & HECLA GAINS VICTORY

Injunction Asked By Stockholders of Ahmeek Is Refused.

Houghton, Mich., June 5—Judge Streeter, sitting in Houghton county circuit court, on Saturday, refused a temporary injunction to W. A. Chadbourne and F. W. Denton, minority Ahmeek Mining company stockholders, to prevent the consummation of the Calumet & Hecla copper mine merger.

He likewise ordered the dissolution of the restraining order obtained by these interests some weeks ago from County Court Commissioner C. A. Marsch. In effect, the decision is a legal victory for the Calumet & Hecla interests and the merger plans.

There are, however, two other restraining orders outstanding against the consolidation, one before the federal court in Detroit and the other before the Ingham county circuit court at Lansing. Hearings in both these cases have been held, but decisions have not been announced.

101 Years Old--Hale, Hearty and Vigorous

Mr. W. B. Yohn is a Remarkable Man. He Has Lived a Very Active Life, But at This Advanced Age Still Retains His Health and Strength.

William B. Yohn, of 128 North Seventh Street, Reading, Penn., celebrated the one hundred and first anniversary of his birth on May 4. Mr. Yohn was born in 1810, and recalls many of this country's early struggles along the frontier. In 1837 he went to Reading, and has resided there with his family ever since. Since 1846 he has resided in the same house, which he built for his own use.

He has always been actively engaged in business, following pursuits that called for physical endurance and bravery, being at various times a miller, constable, deputy sheriff and auctioneer. Notwithstanding this vigorous life, he looks and feels as fine as his photo shows.

Mr. Yohn attributes a considerable part of the wonderful length of his life to Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, which has been consistently used by him whenever he felt the need of a tonic stimulant. In a letter to a friend recently he said, in part:

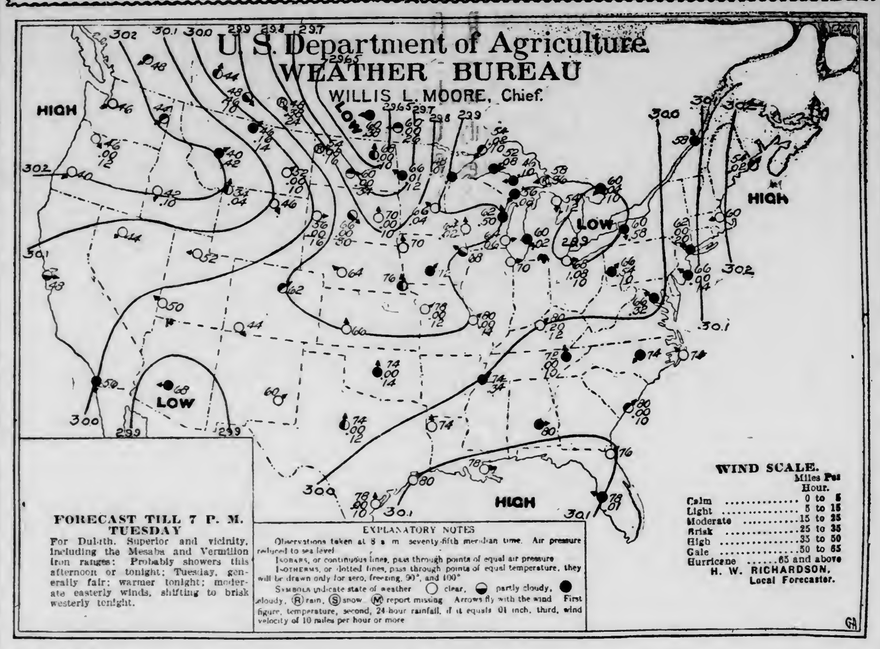

"I was 101 years of age May 4th, having been born in 1810. For a good many years I have used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, with very fine results. I always felt much better and stronger after using it. I attribute my long life to the use of pure liquors taken moderately all my life. As a medicine I could recommend nothing better than Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey."

When men and women pass the age of sixty they need a remedy that will quicken the circulation, bring restful sleep, invigorate the brain and prevent decay. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the only agent that will produce these happy results. It improves the digestion and assimilation of the food and gives tone and vitality to every organ in the body.

It has been used with remarkable results in the prevention and cure of all throat, lung and stomach troubles and all wasting and diseased conditions. It is invaluable for overworked men, delicate women and sickly children; makes the old feel young, and the young strong and vigorous; recognized as a family medicine and prescribed by physicians everywhere.

Sold in sealed bottles only by all druggists, grocers and dealers, or direct, $1.00 a large bottle. Medical booklet, containing rare commonsense rules for health and testimonials, also doctor's advice, sent free to any one who writes The Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

RAIN

The weather man is just about three months behind the times. One who didn't know his vagaries might be surprised at what weather in June, but the true Duluthian, who knows what to expect, nurses his disgust and says nothing. The low temperature last night was 44 deg. No, little one, not below zero—above. It may have felt like below to the boy with the knee-length and equatorial suit. Showers tonight. Get that? Showers. The prediction is tempered by the cheering information that tomorrow will be fair and warmer.

Cold weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose at 4:14 this morning and it will set at 7:58, giving fifteen hours and twenty-four minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"During the last twenty-four to forty-eight hours light to copious rains fell over Montana, most of Canada, North Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Michigan and Ohio valley states in connection with a disturbance central over Saskatchewan and Manitoba. Very warm weather continues in the Lower Missouri and Ohio valleys and throughout Southern states generally. Somewhat cooler temperatures prevail in the plateau region, Montana and the Upper Mississippi valley. At the Head of the Lakes the temperature will rise tonight but there is a probability of further showers this afternoon or during tonight."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, June 5. — Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday:

Upper Michigan—Generally fair tonight and Tuesday; warmer tonight in west portion.

Wisconsin — Generally fair except probably thunder showers tonight or Tuesday; warmer in east portion tonight; cooler Tuesday.

Minnesota — Generally fair tonight and Tuesday, except probably showers in east portion this afternoon and night; cooler in south and west portions tonight.

Iowa — Generally fair tonight and Tuesday; cooler Tuesday and in northwest portion tonight.

North and South Dakota — Generally fair tonight and Tuesday; cooler tonight.

Montana—Fair tonight and Tuesday; cooler in southeast portion tonight; frost in northwest portion.

YOUNG MAN DRINKS ACID

Robert Harps Commits Suicide While Coming to Duluth From Range.

Motive for Act Unknown—No Warning Given to Friends.

Robert Harps, 24 years of age, took his own life by swallowing carbolic acid in the toilet room of the Duluth & Iron Range train which reached Duluth at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon, as the train was approaching Lakewood. He was hurried to St. Luke's hospital from the Endion station in an automobile, but he had taken so much of the deadly poison that he was beyond medical aid and died a few minutes after reaching the institution.

No cause for Harps' rash act can be learned. He came down on the train from Ely with friends, and they assert that he was pleasant and cheerful during the entire journey, not giving them the slightest intimation that he intended to commit suicide.

He has recently been employed by the P. N. Peterson Granite company. He has been in the city some time, making his home with his brother-in-law, Oscar Forseth, 619 East Fifth street. His mother resides at Stillwater, Minn.

As the train was pulling into Lakewood he excused himself and went to the toilet, where he was discovered a few minutes later by a brakeman. He was hurried to the city and everything possible done to save his life.

STATE BOARD IS CRITICIZED

Barbers' Examiners Have Disobeyed Law, Says Mr. Fritz.

St. Paul, Minn., June 5.—Following a report on the affairs of the state examining board of barbers by Andrew Fritz, public examiner, announcement has been made by Governor Eberhart that the criticisms would be forwarded the attorney general for action.

Mr. Fritz found that from the period beginning with Dec. 14, 1909, and ending May 27, 1911, the board had received $3,725.63 and spent all but $91.34.

Then, in a letter to G. H. Becker, president of the board, he araigned him for allowing the money to be spent in such a manner.

"The fact that you made no report to the last legislature is a direct violation of the law," he said, "and subject to severe criticism. It seems that you have a system of arbitrary allowance for each member of the board, to be paid when the funds on hand are adequate, and when the funds do not reach, each member stands a pro rata cut. This condition is entirely out of keeping with the recommendations of this department and I am sure it was not the intent of the law."

Duluth Man on Board.

The board consists of Mr. Becker of St. Paul, Walter Dunlop of Duluth, secretary, and William Hamlin of Minneapolis, treasurer. Each member is under a $5,000 bond.

Mr. Fitz says that the law under which the board operates does not provide for a practical business administration, benefiting both the public and the barbers' trade at the same time.

"The authority of the board is confined to the prevention of non-unoin or non-licensed barber shops," he continues, "but the more important question of protecting the public is not considered."

Summing up his findings and recommendations, Mr. Fritz says:

"It is evident the board has by resolution agreed that the Duluth member is not to serve more than three days a week; the Minneapolis member not more than four and the St. Paul member not more than five."

Cannot Get Evidence.

It is impossible to obtain any evidence from the records in regard to the work performed by each member.

It is the custom for each member to receive application fees and have the money charged up to him by the secretary. This procedure makes it impossible for this department to make a reliable check of the receipts and is not in conformity with the law.

FARGO TO GREET TRAVELING MEN

Important District Gathering of U. C. T. During the Present Week.

Fargo, N. D., June 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fargo is anticipating a great crowd this week at the district meeting of the United Commercial Travelers. The district is composed of Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan, both Dakotas and Minnesota.

One of the events will be the probable division of the district, as the three Canadian provinces now feel they have a sufficient number of councils for a district of their own. There are thirty-five councils in the district as it now stands. The division will be favored by the states if the provinces insist on it.

There will be a lot of serious work during the three days' session but the program includes a sufficient amount of entertainment to preclude the possibility of many dull moments. There will be a number of receptions, theater parties, baseball, a grand ball and the climax will be the aviation and racing exhibition at the state fair grounds. Four big bands will furnish music.

The program includes addresses by the governors of North Dakota and Minnesota.

DEATH DUE TO KICK FROM HORSE

Body of Floodwood Settler Is Found By Nearest Neighbor.

The body of the man found dead several miles from Floodwood Friday afternoon was that of George W. Barrett, a homesteader. The body was brought to the city Saturday evening and removed to the undertaking rooms of Flood & Horgan. Death is believed to have been due to a violent kick from one of his team of horses. One of them was found in its proper stall in the stable and the other was running loose about the premises.

Barrett was found fifteen or twenty feet from the stable door. He was last seen alive Wednesday afternoon when he left Floodwood to drive to his home. He is thought to have been kicked while stabling the team and to have started for his cabin when he fell to the ground. He was found lying as he had fallen by Peter Mylykangas, his next neighbor, who became alarmed when he failed to see him for a couple of days and went to investigate.

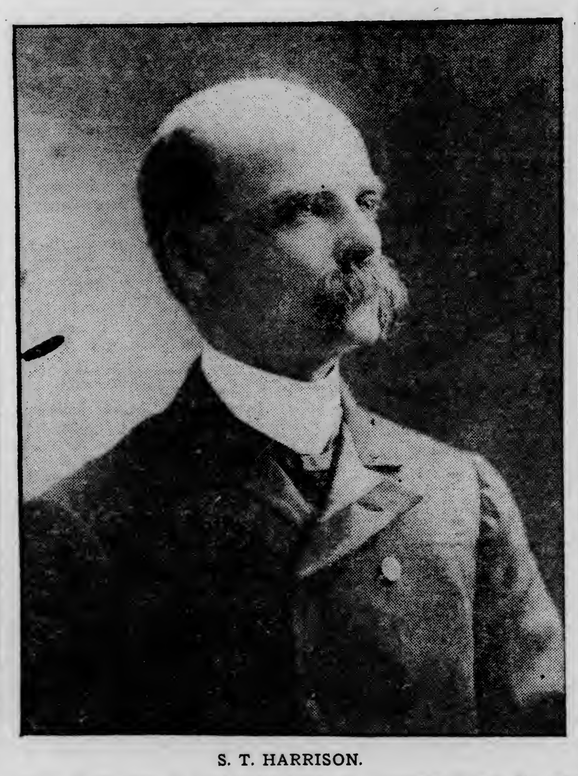

Dr. J. A. McCuen, county coroner, was notified, and he ordered the body removed to this city. He is said to have a brother, John Barrett, and his mother, residing at Sauk Center. They have been notified of his death.

GRAND FORKS CONCERN BUYS INTO FARGO HOUSE.

Fargo, N. D., June 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the largest commercial deals made in Fargo for some months was the entry of the Nash Bros. of Grand Forks into the local wholesale field. They had made several attempts during recent years to purchase an interest in existing fruit or grocery houses and at one time planned the establishment of a new house. The death of the senior partner of Park, Grant & Morris some weeks ago gave them a new opportunity. They have purchased a big interest in the local house and also in the Grand Forks house of the same firm. They also secured an interest in the Grant Candy factory, the biggest west of Minneapolis.

Nash Bros. are interested in sixteen wholesale houses in the Northwest.

S. T. HARRISON PASSES AWAY AT PINE CITY SANITARIUM

S. T. HARRISON.

Samuel T. Harrison, 57 years of age, one of the foremost attorneys of the St. Louis county bar and one of the leading lawyers of the state, died yesterday morning at 7 o'clock at a sanitarium in Pine City. He was a member of the law firm of S. T. & William Harrison, and was indorsed by the bar association this spring as judge of the district court.

Death was due to tuberculosis resulting from a cold which he contracted early last winter. He was taken seriously ill while on his farm in Missouri, where he had gone to recover from a nervous breakdown, and was removed to Pine City. He was at once taken to the sanitarium, where he died. Mr. Harrison had a severe attack of typhoid fever about five years ago, from which it is said he never fully recovered. His weakened condition is believed to have been partially responsible for his recent illness.

At his bedside at the time of his death were his wife, his three sons, Joseph, William and Thomas, his daughters, Virginia and Marjorie, and his brother, William Harrison.

Mr. Harrison was one of the best known citizens of Duluth. He always took a deep interest in its affairs and was one of the most zealous guardians of its welfare. He came here in 1888 and has practiced his profession here constantly since that time. He was a member of the local school board for several years, and of the First Presbyterian church, of which he was a deacon for a number of years.

Mr. Harrison was born on a plantation in Calloway county, Mo., and graduated from Westminster college at Fulton and the law department of the University of Missouri. He practiced his profession at Fulton a short time before removing to this city. He was of the famous family of Virginia Harrisons. He was a direct descendant of one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence; his grandfather was a brother of Gen. William H. Harrison, president of the United States in 1841, and he was a second cousin of the late President Benjamin Harrison. His wife, who survives him, was Miss Gorin, a niece of Proctor Knott.

The funeral was held from the home at 3:30 o'clock today. Rev. Robert Yost conducted the services, and interment was at Forest Hill cemetery. The pallbearers were: George W. Buck, W. B. Richardson, E. G. Church, J. B. Adams, C. H. Bagley and W. E. Whipple.

SAY THEY SAW A SEA SERPENT WITH WINGS.

New York, June 5. — Passengers and crew of the White Star steamship Celtic brought with them to New York a revival of the sea serpent tales of other years. They reported having passed early Saturday morning a formidable looking creature which was going at high speed in pursuit of a school of young whales. The monster, they said, had wings, although it appeared to be an aquatic animal, and rose frequently ten feet or more from the water. Whales and pursuer faded from sight within a few minutes.

up the university funds and ascertain the exact financial status of the items over which the accountant had jurisdiction.

Asked to Resign.

Bren, who is a prisoner in the city jail as the result of his story that he was held up, was told a few days prior to the alleged robbery that he must end his connection with the university. This was one of the many changes planned by university officials in the financial system of the institution. While this disclosure was taken by the police and the county attorney's office as significant, and while they still point to apparent inconsistencies in Bren's story and to peculiar circumstances in connection with the affair, they admit that they are at a standstill and that they still lack evidence to warrant formal charge against the man they have locked up.

Norton M. Cross, Bren's attorney, called on Assistant Chief of Police Riviere and on learning that no warrant had been sworn out for his client intimated that he would begin habeas corpus proceedings for Mr. Bren's release unless a warrant issued.

Woman Had Key To Vault.

According to Mr. Bren, certificates of deposit amounting to $30,000 and belonging to the University Athletic association, of which he was treasurer, are deposited in his personal vault. To this vault Mrs. William Eddington, 2509 Third avenue south, had a duplicate key, which was given her by Mr. Bren. Mrs. Eddington is a sister-in-law of Former Attorney General E. T. Young.

Among the developments in the case was the production of a letter received by Public Examiner Fritz last February, in which charges are made against Mr. Bren. The letter was signed "S. U. Jones," and dated Feb. 30. Because of the date and the fact that the name of S. U. Jones does not appear in the Minneapolis directory Mr. Fritz paid little attention to the letter at the time. Yesterday he showed it to the county and police officials.

The letter is in long hand and ten pages long. It says that Mr. Bren has been keeping the university accounts in such condition that it is impossible to make an accurate check. Charges are made against Mr. Bren's conduct of the office and the examiner is advised to make an investigation.

Attacks Bren and Hayes.

A large part of the letter is devoted to a personal attack on Mr. Bren and to a criticism of the manner in which D. W. Sprague, former accountant at the university, was treated when Mr. Bren succeeded him in his position. George Hayes, now university comptroller, was at this time purchasing agent and the criticism of Mr. Sprague's treatment extends to Mr. Hayes. Several statements in the letter are being investigated by the police.

members of the committee, declared that he, as president of the Publishers' association, had sent out word to the members of the association telling them the reciprocity agreement was of vital importance.

"But I would not have favored the agreement," added Mr. Ridder, "if I had not thought it would be of good to the whole country, independent of my interest in it as a newspaper publisher."

Mr. Ridder declared that, while he was in favor of reciprocity as a whole, his reason, as a newspaper man, for urging its passage was so that he might get out of the clutches of the "paper trust," which, he said, was robbing the newspaper publishers of the country.

Tried to Get Legal Action.

"Have you ever made an effort," asked Senator Bailey, "to have the 'paper trust' punished by the department of justice?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Ridder, "I had fifty-two paper makers in New York indicted and they paid $2,000 apiece. These were manufacturers of various kinds of paper, although it has not been possible as yet to prove legally that a white paper trust exists. Mr. Wallack, vice president of the International Paper company, swore before the Mann paper committee that there was no combination of any sort, although reports were being made to him every month as to what the various paper mills of the country were doing."

"Would you be satisfied," asked Senator Hayburn, "if the 'paper trust' were punished in some way other than by the passage of a reciprocity agreement?"

Wants Open Market.

"I want help during my lifetime," said Mr. Ridder. "I have not yet seen any trust magnates go to jail. I favor the measure so that I may buy paper in the open market. I do not intend, if I can help it, to let the 'paper trust' dictate to me what I must pay for paper."

Mr. Ridder said he was opposed to all trusts.

Taft Wants no Amendments.

To Senator Stone of Missouri, President Taft again made it clear today that he is opposed to any amendment whatsoever to the Canadian reciprocity agreement. Senator Stone had heard a report that administration opposition to the Root amendment was not entirely sincere and that Senator Root had been assured privately that the president would not be displeased if his amendment were adopted.

"I came to the White House," said the senator, "to find out for myself whether the president was in earnest in opposing the Root amendment. And I found out. He told me that he was against the amendment proposed by Senator Root and would be against any proposed by any other senator, Democrat or Republican.

"That settles it for me. I am going back to the senate to carry the fight along those lines. Every true friend of reciprocity will do the same thing. If we begin by tacking on 'harmless amendments' we will end by attaching others which will destroy the bill."

SAYS CRIME IS DECREASING

Superintendent of Society for Aiding Prisoners Speaks in Duluth.

Dr. F. Emory Lyon, superintendent of the Central Howard association at Chicago, who spoke at the First Methodist church yesterday morning, stated that in his opinion, crime has not increased during the last few years in proportion to the increase in population as seems to be the popular belief. The association which he represents is for the purpose of aiding prisoners after their release.

Dr. Lyon took as his subject: "The Hope of the Prisoner." Last evening he spoke on "The Making of a Man" at the First Presbyterian church.

He said: "At last the emphasis has been shifted from the cure of crime to its prevention. While the statement is often made that crime is increasing, there are no statistics to support the assertion. On the contrary there are many evidences of a considerable decrease of crime in proportion to the increase of population. Every penal institution in Illinois has about 25 per cent less inmates than it contained five years ago. It is known that organized gangs of professional criminals can no longer be found in Chicago to ply their trade systematically as they did ten or twelve years ago.

"These facts should give new courage to all who believe in good citizenship and human progress. Much credit for this condition is due the juvenile court, the municipal court, all agencies for the care of children, and to the parole law and the better care of worthy ex-prisoners. Still other problems in this direction are pressing for solution, such as the abolition of a pernicious jail system, the injustices on the fee system, the deprivation and suffering of innocent families of offenders, and the influence of politics in the administration of penal institutions."

Dr. Lyon will remain in the city today. He will confer with Secretary Courtney Dinwiddie of the Associated Charities on the work being done in Duluth.

CHICAGO HAS ANOTHER DAY OF INTENSE HEAT.

Chicago, June 5. — Chicago sweltered Sunday in what was the hottest June 4 recorded for this city. The temperature rose to 95.3 deg., more than 1 deg. higher than the next hottest day of the year, in which many heat records have fallen. One drowning and a number of prostrations were reported. Following a day of suffering, the mercury dropped suddenly at night, falling 30 deg. to 65 deg. by 9 o'clock.

Kiosk Showed 104.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 5. — One prostration was reported Sunday as a result of a sudden heat wave which the kiosk, near the federal building, registered 104 deg. The official maximum temperature as reported by the weather bureau was 94 deg. at 2 o'clock. A wind storm, accompanied by rain and hail yesterday afternoon had little effect on the temperature.

Want Pink Cheeks—Red Lips?

Some unfortunate men and women are prone to wonder why some of their friends are blessed with an abundance of color—pink cheeks and red lips—while theirs are always colorless. The reason for this last named condition is—there is not enough red blood corpuscles in the blood—under a microscope the blood is thin and watery. The flesh is flabby too. Well known physicians assert that the regular administration for several months, of three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets will greatly improve the color, add to the weight, make the cheeks pink and the lips red, and in general be very beneficial. For self-administration, obtain from any of the best apothecary shops.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

PIONEER TO LEAVE POLK

Ben Dolbec, Trail Blazer of Red River Valley, Will Move.

Frontiersman Who Often Faced Death to Return to Canada.

Crookston, Minn., June 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Polk county and the Red River valley will lose one of the noted characters of this section today when Ben Dolbec, aged 79, still vigorous and keen-eyed, boards the train to leave a section of Minnesota in which he had passed through many stirring scenes since coming here in 1862.

Mr. Dolbec is going to Quebec, Can., to spend his remaining years in the land of his birth.

When the history of the Red River pioneer is written ample space will be given to Ben Dolbec, who came to this section forty-nine years ago after being for three years in the Canadian Northwest in the employ of the Hudson Bay company. He arrived in Minnesota only three days before the Indian outbreak of '62 and enlisted as a soldier to fight the Indians Dec. 13 of that year at St. Peter and went with the Sibley expedition against the Sioux, driving them across the Dakotas and into Montana. Returning he was stationed at Fort Abercrombie, and escorted mail carriers and ambulances between there and Pomme de Terre, Minn., where there was stockade for several months.

Escorted Governor Ramsey.

In the fall of '63 he escorted Governor Ramsey to Louisville township, formerly in Polk, now in Red Lake county, where the governor made the last important treaty with the Indians. In 1879 Dolbec came back to this section and took a homestead in Louisville township where he has farmed ever since. His wife and four children are buried here, and he has just sold out and will go to Quebec tonight.

USES CITY DUMP TO SECRETE HIS CONTRABAND.

Devils Lake, N. D., June 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. H. Busch, under arrest with violation of the prohibition law, stored his liquor in the public dump ground. It is charged that Busch went to East Grand Forks, Minn., and there purchased his supply of liquor, returning here and finding a hiding place at the dump grounds. Each night he would make a trip to the ground, secure as much liquor as needed for the sales and then return to town and make deliveries.

BEMIDJI CHARTER BOARD.

District Judges Appoint Fifteen Citizens to Make Revision.

Bemidji, Minn., June 5.—Judges W. S. McClenahan, B. F. Wright and C. W. Stanton, of the Fifteenth judicial district, have appointed a board of freeholders, or charter commission, comprising fifteen Bemidji men, whose duty it will be to revise the charter.

The charter has long been in need of a revise, the city, seemingly, having outgrown it in its present condition.

During the past few years the city officials have been more or less handicapped by its condition, and on numerous occasions matters have come before the council which would not legally be decided or arranged for by them, as conflicts would occur between the charter and the state law.

The following comprise the charter commission: P. J. Russell, J. C. Parker, L. F. Johnson, F. W. Rhoda, E. J. Swedback, A. P. White, R. H. Schumaker, F. S. Lycan, E. E. McDonald, Andrew Warfield, W. A. Gould, S. C. Bailey, Kenneth McIver, W. G. Schroeder, R. C. Gilmore.

ODD FELLOWS' HOME

To Be Discussed By Grand Lodge at Grand Forks.

Grand Forks, N. D., June 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the important subjects to be discussed at the grand lodge of Odd Fellows which meets here Tuesday will be the establishment of a home.

There is already $27,000 in the home fund, and it is rapidly increasing each year. Quite a number of North Dakota cities are anxious to secure the home and will make a bid for it.

The grand lodge will be in session Tuesday and Wednesday, while the grand encampment takes place Thursday. On all three of those days the Rebekah grand lodge will be in session.

The attendance will be unusually large because of the new features that have been introduced. One of these is the competitive drill for the drill teams of both the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs, these drills taking place Tuesday evening. A number of teams are coming from Grand Forks to enter the competition, and each team will bring from twenty-five to fifty visitors. The Grand Forks lodges are in charge of the entertainment features, which will be unusually elaborate.

The party was making a run in what they supposed was a regularly traveled road in the Bad Lands. When night fell they were making their way slowly along the trail and finally came to a stop when the grade became too steep. While trying to climb it the brake broke, the car sliding back down the grade several rods and finally coming to a stop. KNOWLEDGE? OR MIS-INFORMATION? WHICH?

Have You the Facts Accurately, or Have You Been Misinformed? The Doctor Who Conceals a Useful Truth Is Equally Guilty With the Propagator of An Injurious Falsehood.—Augustine.

You either know what bake oven means or you do not know. That is the long and short of it.

If you do know, why, of course, you are a bake oven advocate, just like—well, all of the folks who have found out, this little mention would grow to be a whole newspaper if it were to tell of all the prominent and competent people who have learned by personal experience what this new healing science can accomplish and who are now its vigorous advocates.

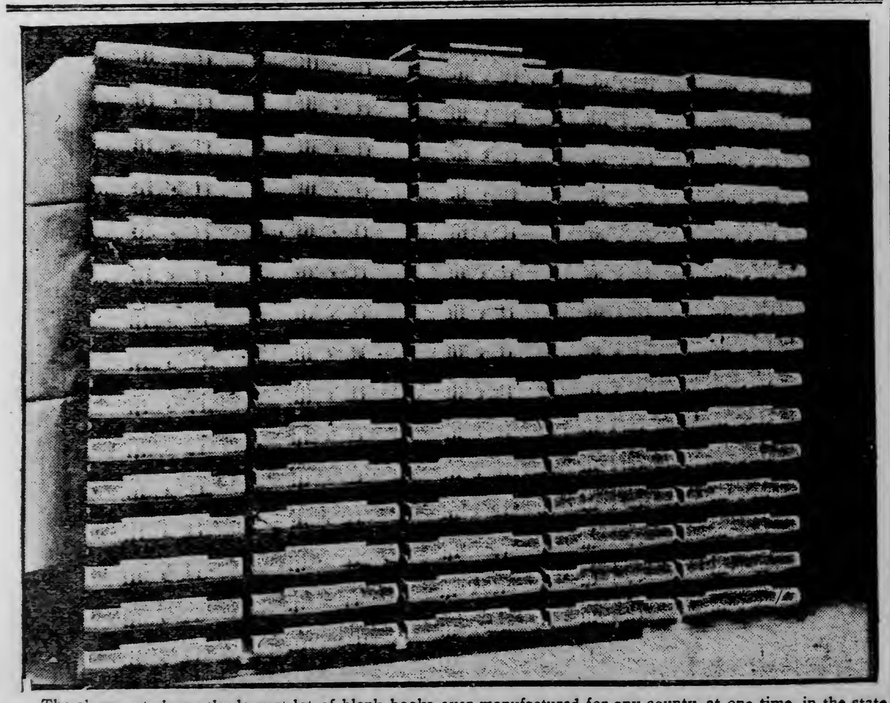

Wouldn't you tell your friends about it if your health was unexpectedly restored by a new and natural method; wouldn't you hand the good news along so that they might share it? Of course, and that's just how the bake oven has grown from an infant thing to its present mature strength, holding its friends by the good it does and through them gaining new ones constantly; its habit of bringing comfort and cure, even in the very difficult cases, fast makes partisans of even unbelievers.

If you are not an advocate of the bake oven, why then you simply don't know all of the folks who have really found out have become enthusiasts just as the writer became an enthusiast after he had seen a number of people made well and had himself experienced marked benefits from the bake oven treatment.

The bake oven is successful because it is reasonable and effective and the most refined and educated people are its champions. If properly applied it is not too severe, and yet it is foreful enough for the most rugged. It is cheapest because it does the work and prevents a dribbling expense for years, or a costly and dangerous operation and it has come to stay. The home of the curious invention is in the Christie building, Duluth, Minn. They are treating and curing scores of long standing chronic cases of Rheumatism, Lumbago, Catarrh, La Grippe, Bronchitis, Colds, Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Bowel Trouble disorders.

Their hours are from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. daily. Sundays from 9 to 12 only.

DEMOCRACY REDIVIVUS.

Last week's gathering of Northwestern Democrats in St. Paul was a significant sign of the times. It shows that the unterrified, still faithful and now facing prospects glowing with hope, have taken heart of grace and wisely are preparing themselves for resuming their long lost mastery.

While the Democrats gather thus to congratulate each other, as they have a perfect right to do, on the kindly fate that is flinging them again to the top of fortune's wheel, partisan Republicans linger dolefully on the outside of the feast, sadly mindful of the misdeeds that have forfeited the power which is slipping away from them.

The St. Paul gathering was strongly characterized by harmony, by enthusiasm and by that great good sense which has come, late but not too late, to the Democracy. Altogether it was a meeting that promises well to the Democratic party and that bodes no ill to the nation. It showed a party that has been long enough living on the husks of defeat in the wilderness to be sobered and chastened, and that has not been shaken from its poise by the prospect of victory.

There were several significant incidents. Congressman Hammond, one of the few Democrats who voted against Canadian reciprocity, happened incidentally to mention the pact and he was manifestly surprised by the storm of enthusiasm that broke out—a storm that was highly significant because his audience came from all parts of the Northwest and represented farming communities as well as cities. Northwestern Democracy, it was made clear, is for reciprocal trade relations with our cousin and neighbor country on the north.

Mr. Bryan's splendid ovation showed that he is still dear to the hearts of the members of his party. This in spite of the fact that undoubtedly the majority of those present agreed more nearly with the tariff policy of the Democratic organization in congress than with that of Mr. Bryan, who in his present attitude is more theoretically consistent than practical. He forgets, apparently, that at present, with a divided congress, it is more a question of how much tariff reform can be gained than of what ought to be done with the tariff. Though the house is Democratic and can point the way, the senate is Republican and can defeat any bill not to its liking. The senate assuredly would defeat free wool, which Mr. Bryan wants. It may possibly agree to the radical reductions in the wool schedules proposed by the Democratic majority in the house. It is true that a tariff for revenue only could be so devised as to provide all the protection any industry needs; but it is also true that cutting off at one blow the artificial stimulation to which the Republican party has made the nation's industries accustomed would be like depriving the drunkard on the verge of delirium of his whisky.

One of the finest things at the meeting was the spontaneous and heartfelt tribute to Governor John Burke of North Dakota that resulted from the mention of his name as a probable Democratic candidate for vice president. It was richly deserved, and it had substance and force back of it.

The meeting was a rich success, and much credit for it is due to F. B. Lynch and those who worked with him to make it so. The attendance, which was large, included many from Iowa and the Dakotas, as well as some from as far west as Washington.

A CONSTITUTIONAL BARRIER.

Some time in the future—and it will not be far distant—this state is going to have a convention for the revision of its Constitution.

It will be worth the while of that convention to examine carefully into a provision of the present Constitution which is responsible for a vexatious situation in Western Minnesota, and which may be responsible in the future for situations even more embarrassing.

In Chippewa county there are 8,000 acres of fertile farm lands which have been regularly overflowed and their crops destroyed for years. For thirty years prior to about fourteen years ago these lands were regularly and profitably tilled. Since then they have been laid waste by floods, and their owners practically ruined.

What happened was that in 1896 the state built the Mustinka ditch, emptying into the Mustinka river, to drain state lands in Grant county. The ditch served its purpose. It drained those Grant county lands and made them valuable.

But the Mustinka river channel is not large enough to carry off the waters thus artificially diverted into it, and the result is annual floods that devastate a wide area of rich farm lands.

So the legislature passed a bill appropriating $35,000 to build an outlet for these waters.

The execution of the law providing this appropriation is being held up because of an opinion by the attorney general that the law is in violation of that provision of the Constitution which says: "The state shall never contract any debt for works of internal improvements, or be a party in carrying on such works."

Doubtless the attorney general is right. This would be an internal improvement, and it would benefit private owners of property. Yet the benefit consists simply in relieving many citizens of the state from injuries inflicted by the state. Technically, it is probably an "internal improvement" that violates the Constitution. Actually it is merely a just act which is morally due from the state.

Why should the Constitution prohibit the state from engaging in internal improvements for the common benefit? Suppose, for the protection of the people from the greed of railroads, it were deemed advisable to build a great canal system. That would be an "internal improvement" and the Constitution would forbid it. There are great water powers in this state, partly on state land. Suppose the state determined to reserve the benefits of these water powers to the people by developing them itself. That would be an "internal improvement" and the Constitution would forbid it.

This provision in the Constitution probably is due to two things: first, the desire to prevent "graft" that might come if powerful private interests were able to induce the state to make public improvements for their benefit; second, the desire to leave to private enterprise all possible profit-making functions. The first reason is sound. The second reason used to be considered sound, and many consider it sound yet; but there is a growing sentiment that there is no real reason why the state should not engage in public service enterprises and keep the profits for the people instead of turning them over to individuals who will reap great wealth out of them at the expense of the people.

Perhaps that constitutional inhibition is wise and should remain. Such a case as that of the Mustinka ditch makes us doubt if it is. Certainly it gives reason enough for considering it thoroughly and for pondering whether or not it might not be better for the common good if the state were left free to do for its people many things which they need done for them, but which the state cannot now do because of that provision in the Constitution.

FORBID THEM BY LAW.

A revulsion appears to have followed the nerve-racking, bone-breaking and man-killing automobile speed contest held Memorial day in Indianapolis, when one man was killed, many were badly hurt and still more were subjected to deadly peril.

Automobile manufacturers, it is reported, say that they will support no more such affairs. Five hundred miles is too long a race, and there is too much danger when so many automobiles compete in a speed contest.

It is good to hear that this is the attitude of those responsible for these contests, in nearly every one of which blood and broken bones and dead men have lined the track.

But there is something better than that: prohibit these contests by law.

There are laws against prize fighting in nearly every state of the Union, and prize fighting has all but been driven out of business because it is brutal.

Yet though the automobile is still young, it has taken more human lives already than the prize fight game has taken in all its history.

Prize fighting is bad enough. It appeals to brute instincts that it isn't good for society to arouse. It isn't good for any gathering of men to witness the spectacle of two men pounding each other's faces into a bloody pulp. The law against it is a good law.

But for every reason for the law against prize fighting, there are two good reasons for a law against automobile speed contests such as that which desecrated Memorial day at Indianapolis.

IN TUNE WITH THE TIMES.

When Governor Woodrow Wilson in Washington yesterday reiterated his approval of Canadian reciprocity, he was asked whether it would help most the Democrats or the Republicans.

"Which party it helps is entirely a matter of indifference," was his characteristic reply. "The party that thinks of itself and not of the country is going down to defeat."

Thus the man of the hour shows himself deeply imbued with the spirit of the hour.

THE SOONER THE BETTER.

Judge Gary, chief of the United States Steel corporation, told the congressional committee which is investigating that organization that he believed in enforced publicity and government regulation of corporations.

"Do you mean government control even as to prices?" was asked by a member of the committee.

"Yes, even as to prices," answered Judge Gary. "So far as I am concerned, speaking for the United States Steel corporation, I would be glad if we could know exactly where we stand and could be free from the dangers and criticism of the public."

Why not?

It has been established in this country that the government should regulate the charges and service of the railroads. If the government should regulate the rates and service of railroads, why should it not regulate the rates and service of the great corporations into whose control have fallen practically all of the great industries?

At one time competition professed to regulate rates. When the protective tariff system was adopted by this country it was made very clear that protective tariff schedules would foster domestic industries by shutting out foreign competition, and that the people of this country would get lower prices because domestic manufacturers would compete. They did compete—for awhile. But competition is war, one of the deadliest manifestations of war and one of the most fatal. It is a "survival of the fittest," and the weaker are inevitably crowded to the wall. The numbers of the combatants thus reduced, the decision to cease competition by the adoption of a "gentlemen's agreement" or the formation of a trust was the natural and logical result.

Competition is dead. It no longer serves to protect the people from high prices. For twenty years the nation has by law attempted to keep competition alive and prevent monopoly by the Sherman anti-trust act, and during that twenty years competition has died and monopolies have become the rule. The attempt by law to prevent combinations of capital and enterprise has failed conspicuously.

The people's old defender against high prices, competition, having been slain, what is to take its place?

Competition is dead. Long live regulation.

Whether rulers of great corporations are willing to meet regulation half way, as Judge Gary of the Steel corporation seems to be, or whether they fight it tooth and nail, regulation is the remedy, and it must come.

Publicity of corporation affairs and the best possible service at the lowest possible prices can be compelled by wise regulatory laws. With such laws capital might combine as it pleased. No matter how great its combinations or how mighty, under wise regulatory laws rigidly enforced they would remain servants of the people and never again would they become the people's masters.

Competition is dead. Long live regulation.

THE BOAT CLUB'S CIVIC ROLE

By the Carnival Publicity Committee.

Some twenty-odd years ago, the Duluth Boat club was organized and in the beautiful language of the Minnesota statute under which it took its corporate existence, its objects were "the instruction of its members in the arts of rowing and sailing boats and the promotion of social culture amongst them."

In plain English, untainted by a legislature, this meant "play." It was a club, organized like a thousand others all this broad land for the purpose of providing good healthy amusement for its members, and as such it served a worthy and useful purpose for many years.

While the boat club was small which was until times which are quite fresh in every one's memory, it was remarkably successful in winning the devotion of its individual members and in developing a club spirit that has become proverbial in the city of Duluth, and this feeling that nothing is too good for the boat club has become one of its traditions; so that today it is said that it is only necessary to assign a duty pertaining to the boat club business to one of its members in order to feel perfectly certain of is accomplishment in the most faithful manner.

As the membership grew big and the equipment large, costly and hard to handle, the internal organization of the club developed and became adequite to the task of handling large matters easily and without friction.

As yet, however, it was a self-supporting, private amusement-club, owning no obligation except to its members, although there was a growing consciousness that such a large well-knit organization of American men must in the nature of things American develop in some manner as a force in public affairs.

It was fortunate that during the period of the club's best growth and organization, there has been an increasing contention in the mind of every one that a civic "setting of the house in order" is on its way and that it is every man's business as an individual to help.

The Commercial club had felt this tendency and had graduated from a purely social and commercial institution into an organization for civic improvement along broad and permanent lines, wholly dissociated from the so-called "sporadic reform movements."

It had long been felt by the public affairs committee that a stronger emphasis should be laid on the resouces of Duluth as a place for summer enjoyment, but that in order to properly get the matter before the country at large, some characteristic summer event ought to be inaugurated, so that there might be what advertising experts call a "talking-point."

The boat club appeared to have the germ of the right idea in its annual "Venetian Fete" given each year for the pleasure of its members and their immediate friends; but a certain diffidence was felt in making overtures to a prosperous private club, which was even then taxed to the utmost to take care of its own membership.

The "civic idea," however, was doing its work all this time in the boat club itself, from the inside out, as it were, and when the fact of Duluth's need of something that the club had to give was realized, the response was instantaneous and enthusiastic, every member agreeing with the directorate of the boat club that whatever sacrifice of time and personal convenience was necessary to help the city on its way to better things should be cheerfully made. In other words, if Duluth stood in need of a big show for this summer and the summers following, the boat club would provide it, and would willingly devote its magnificent organization and expensive equipment to the purpose.

The boat club by this move on its part now has become a working member of the community and entitled to all the added consideration that the worker of any community has accorded it, in distinction from the idler.

It will also get its reward in this respect; that hrough having some serious purpose, beyond mere amusement and recreation, it will achieve a permanance of support that a mere recreation-club never can hope for.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the acts of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

SAYS IT SEEMS TO BE "TROUBLE TO SHOW GOODS."

To the Editor of The Herald:

There was so much sound sense in your editorial tonight, "A Lot of Trouble to Show Goods," in which you criticize the state's land policy, that I cannot help calling the attention of Duluth merchants to it. There are some half dozen stores in Duluth, big places, too, where one would expect something entirely different, where at least a part of the clerks seem to think it entirely too much trouble to show goods. I have gone into these places and asked to see certain lines of goods and been directed, in effect, to hunt around till I found them. The clerks appear too indolent to help a customer, and it often is almost impossible to get a look at more than one article in a given line. Result: I sometimes have left my buying to be done when I had occasion to go to the Twin Cities, where I was sure of a chance of selection.

I do not make this complaint of all Duluth stores, but in some of them it is disgustingly true. Perhaps the managers do not know of it, but if that is the case they keep very poor watch on their business. It might help a little if they would have the motto "It's No Trouble to Show Goods" printed on cards and hung in prominent places in their stores, both as a reminder to some of the clerks and as an offset to the receptions the would-be customers get.

Duluth, June 3, 1911.

We Are Indorsed, Too.

Toledo Blade: A weekly periodical has a distinct advantage over a daily newspaper in forming its views. It has leisure wherein to study all angles of a question, to note the points developed by many minds, to perceive directions and results, before its comments are set upon paper. Many days after the United States supreme court handed down the memorable decision in the Standard Oil case, Collier's states its opinions:

"The decision of the supreme court saves the Sherman act. If that statute meant that, in this age of communication and mechanical advance in industry, every kind of combination were to be prohibited, it would merely interfere with business until it was inevitably repealed. As, however, restraint of trade has at the common law a perfectly settled implication of an effort toward monopoly, the Sherman act is left expressing the attitude of reasonable men today. The United States is not absurd enough to believe that any combination of two grocery firms or little country express companies should be illegal. It is merely fighting monopoly, and the decision of the supreme court, in making that distinction, is of service to business and to the whole community."

We have reason to feel pleased that this statement of the case is no more than a scholarly reflection of our own position, which was developed, perforce, in haste and written in competition with the clock. We believe it is important that the Sherman act stand and, at the same time, that its extreme interpretation not be made to throw this country into the distress and turmoil of industrial upheaval. We can behold no profit in the institution of persecutory suits against manufacturing and commercial organizations, labor unions and such combinations of newspapers as the league at present ungratefully engaged in throwing hydrophobic fits in denunciation of the decision.

It is not merely incidental that Collier's boasts the La Follette brand of radicalism and that it has been leader in the movement for the regneration of the courts. Collier's shows itself reasonable and sensible.

Fatigue.

Dodged a trolley car,
Got wet by a sprinkling cart
Before I traveled far.
Nearly got run over
By a passing train.
Had to step from underneath
A capsized aeroplane.
Motor car came whooping
As it turned a curve;
Managed to get past it,
But it surely took my nerve.
I love my work sincerely,
There isn't any doubt;
But getting down to do it
Is what wears a fellow out.
—Washington Star.

Woodrow Wilson Luck.

Chicago Evening Post: Those who are watching the race for the Democratic presidential nomination in which Woodrow Wilson, Champ Clark and Judson Harmon are supposed to be swaying along more or less neck and neck—with William J. Bryan scouting along on an adjoining track—will be interested to learn of the great good fortune that has befallen the Jersey man. Dr. Wilson has been absolutely deserted by the New York Sun. This stroke of luck which seemed to impend when he first hrdaoirdlraoirdlaoirdlu when he made his first fight for the people of New Jersey against the old bi-partisan machine has now definitely arrived. The Sun is very angry at the doctor's Western trip. It calls him "the governor itinerant" and brands him a demagogue, though of "a rather conservative sort." The Princetonian thus shakes off one great handicap to his political success, and places it, if we mistake not, upon the shoulders of Mr. Harmon.

JUSTICE FOR WHITTIER.

A Boomerang for Sure.

Glenwood Gopher-Press: It is estimated in certain quarters that the real animus of the Red Wing rumpus is not so patriotic as it might seem but has for its real object a reorganization of the board of control by the dismissal of the Johnson appointees and placing as their successors Andy Stephens and Dan Shell—Breckenridge Telegram.

Should this prove to be true Governor Eberhart will probably find that he has launched a political boomerang which will return to plague him sorely.

Wise Court.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: The state supreme court says it would be an embarrassing precedent for it to get mixed up with the investigation of Superintendent Whittier. Oh! most wise court!

The Cry for Whittier's Blood.

Preston Times: It seems to be established that Mr. Whittier chastised refractory boys, perhaps with unnecessary severity, but it does not appear that any of those punished were injured, nor that punishment was administered where it was not deserved. His critics seem to lose sight of the fact that the boys sent to the Red Wing institution are not little Fauntleroys with correct manners, or known for their obedience to parental authority, but rather they are as a rule embryo toughs who have defied all home influences. In other words incorrigibles who are consigned to the care of the state for the double purpose of safe keeping and reformation. The trouble with many of them is that they have not felt the chastening rod with sufficient vigor at home and are so constituted mentally that only severe bodily punishment can make any impression upon them. It is fair to presume that the officials in whose charge they are placed will only administer punishment as a last resort and after all other efforts have failed, and for one the Times stands ready to take the word of the legislative investigating committee who are supposed to be men of both feeling and judgment. We can see neither sense nor justice in the continued cry for the blood of Superintendent Whittier and feel much like indorsing the stand of The Duluth Herald.

The Time of His Life.

Winona Independent: Governor Eberhart is having the time of his life in his attempt to oust Superintendent Whittier of the state training school. His appeal to the state supreme court to act as arbiters between him and Whittier was very properly turned down as being out of the jurisdiction of the court. The governor is discovering that it pays to think twice before he speaks.

Press Waking Up.

Northfield News: When the Whittier matter was first broached the press of the state was practically a unit in condemning the superintendent. Since the politics of the scheme has been exposed and it has come to be viewed in the light of a disgraceful and shameful attack upon certain men in order to secure the appointment of Eberhart tools the press has awakened and some of the leading papers, in fact the majority of such, are so wdemanding a fair and impartial trial for Mr. Whittier.

In this week'e exchanges we note the following papers, each of which is the leading paper of its section, which insist upon a square deal for Whittier: Duluth Herald, Breckenridge Telegram, Wadena Pioneer-Journal, Owatonna Tribune, Albert Lea Standard, Albert Lea Times-Enterprise and Tribune, Walker Pilot, Fergus Falls Free Press, Perham Enterprise, Winona Morning Independent, Detroit Record, Red Wing Republican; and that list by no means represents the total.

A Political Game.

Belview Independent: The newspapers that are having such a spasm over Superintendent Whittier's conduct of the Red Wing school ought to consider that they are simply advocating the course of getting their heads off at the under dog in a shrewdly played political game. The testimony before the committee, some of which was unprintable, showed that some of the young men needed more than they got because of their utter disregard of the decencies of life. The investigation had its inception as a political game and that is all there is about it.

Recreations of Science.

Chicago Tribune: The appearance of a book of uproarious humor by Stephen Leacock, professor of logic in a Canadian university, calls attention once more to humor as a safety valve to a career devoted to the more serious things of life. It is a fact, not usually recognized but easily believed, that minds which are concerned with philosophy, mathematics, statistics, or other absorbing intellectual pursuits find their recreation in something quite the reverse of these topics.

The late Sir Campbell-Bannermann, the British premier, found solace in reading innumerable French romances of the most modern type. "Lewis Carroll" was a mathematician, deeply expert in the science, and it is related that when Queen Victoria became charmed with his "Alice" stories, she sent out for all his previous works. They brought her several books on calculus logarthms, etc.

A few years ago a nonsense book, "How to Tell Wild Flowers from the Birds," delighted us. Its author proved to be a professor of some dull science at Johns Hopkins. And thus it goes. Extremes meet. An astronomer, when away from his eyepiece, throws himself with ardor into pingpong. A mathematician in private life holds the tiddle-de-winks championship. The law of compensation works, and nature provides a safety valve which prevents the boiler from blowing up.

La Prairie is the town near the pesent end of the Duluth & Winnipeg road, and between it and Grand Rapids there has been a visitant fight. Last year Bernard was elected village treasurer of La Prairie. Evidently wearying of the fight against the other town, Bernard sold the Magnet to R. C. Mitchell and other Grand Rapids capitalists, and last night attempted to move the plant to the Rapids. The La Prairie people at once secured an attachment on the plant and its removal was prevented.

The feature of the entertainment was the presentation to ex-Chief Simon Clark of a life-size portrait of himself and a silver fruit dish, richly mounted, with the inscription: "Presented to Simon Clark, Chief of the Clan Stewart, 1887-90." Chief Wilson made a happy presentation speech, and Mr. Clark responded warmly.

Duchess—Oh, I expect he would; but I shan't let him know, you know.

"Yes," said the old man, "and I don't just know how to handle the mutt. Shall I be friendly with him and lose my dignity, or shall I hold myself aloof and be considered an old grouch?"

Method of "Painless" Dentist.

Tit-Bits: Before the use of chloroform had become so general as it is in our days, a quack advertised that he would draw teeth painlessly. A patient was placed in the chair, the instrument applied to his tooth, with a wrench, followed by a groan from the unpleasantly surprised sufferer.

"Stop!" said the dentist. "Compose yourself. I told you I would give you no pain, but I only gave you that twinge to show you Carter's operation."

Again the instrument was applied to the tooth, and another tug and another roar.

"Now, don't be impatient. That is Logan's method," said the dentist.

Another application, another tug, another roar.

"Now, pray, do be quiet. That is Tate's way. I see very well that you do not like it, and I am not surprised."

By this time the tooth hung by a thread, and, whipping it out, the operator exultingly exclaimed: "That's my mode of extracting teeth. You are now able to compare it with the operations of Carter, Logan and Tate."

Logical Theology.

Youth's Companion: A negro known as "One-Eyed" Walling was, and probably is now, a preacher in Virginia. His ideas of theology and human nature were often very original, as the following anecdote may prove.

A gentleman thus accosted the old preacher one Sunday:

"Walling, I understand you believe every woman has seven devils. Now how can you prove that, I'd like to know?"

"Well, sah, did you ebber read in de Bible how de seben debbles were cast out 'er Mary Magdalen?"

"Oh, yes, I've heard of that; but what does that prove?"

"Did you ebber hear of 'em being cast out of any odder woman, sah?" and the old man assumed a wise look.

"No, I never did."

"Well, den, sah, de odders has sure got 'em yit!"

LUMBER AND LORIMER.

New York World: There are two ways of killing most of the trusts. One, direct and sure, is to take away the monopolistic privileges conferred upon them by the tariff. The other, laborious and less certain, is to proceed against them in the courts. The first named remedy might properly be applied by a people in earnest. The last named sometimes looks like a mere diversion by a people listless, uncertain or indifferent.

The Canadian reciprocity agreement is exceedingly distasteful to the lumber trust. It makes a break in the tariff wall under shelter of which most of the trusts were formed. It remits lumber taxes that amounted last year to $1,323,630. It makes rough lumber and wood free. To this extent reciprocity is tariff revision "one schedule at a time," which everybody claims to have desired, and lumber chances to be No. 1 on the list.

A coincidence worthy of note is the fact that at the very time when the lumber trust is rallying all the other trusts to rescue it from the perils of reciprocity, one of its principal agents in the senate, William Lorimer of Illinois, is confronted by the charge that he was elected by bribery, and, similarly enough, it is shown that the lumber trust collected the money that was used in his behalf. While this might be supposed to embarrass the embattled trusts which are trying to save lumber, in fact it does nothing of the kind.

So lumber and Lorimer stand together, both exposed, both under charges, both practically convicted, but both supremely representative of the tariff system. Lorimer is in the senate because lumber bought him his seat. How is lumber to contribute its quota of members to the old guard if it is to lose its protection against Canadian lumber, and if the other trusts do not stand by lumber now in its peril, what will lumber do to them by and by when the opportunity comes?

The holdup of Canadian reciprocity by lumber and Lorimer is so scandalous that it almost seems as though the people of the United States should take some notice of it. They often denounce the courts for their trust decisions. They work themselves into a fury over the immunity which the trusts too often received. But here is a case where one of the meanest of the trusts is in a corner fighting for life and plunder, with its sturdy henchman Lorimer at its side, and there is more popular interest in a ball score or a boxing match.

Too Much For the Ghost.

London Chronicle: There are more ways than one of exorcising a ghost. Dr. Thomson, when archbishop of York, was put into a "haunted room" to spend the night. Next morning his hostess asked eagerly, "Well, did your grace see anything last night?" "Well, yes," replied the archbishop. "At about 12 o'clock I heard a knock at the door." "Oh, that would be the ghost; that is exactly what he does. What did you do?" "I said, 'Come in.'" "And did he?" "Yes; an old sallow-looking man. I got out of bed and went up to him. 'Do you belong to this house?' I asked. He nodded assent. 'Are you a parishioner?' I asked. Again he nodded assent. 'Then, said I, 'I am anxious to build some new schools. Will you give me a subscription?' And, my dear lady, he immediately vanished and I saw no more of him."

Mrs. Bywell—No. I mean that I stand by him while he is cutting the meat.

NINETEEN DIE BY VIOLENCE

Many Fatalities Occur in Various Places on Sunday.

Six Die Together in Utah Lake and Four in the Mississippi.

Salt Lake City, Utah, June 5.—Six persons were drowned in Utah lake Sunday when the launch Gallilee, on which sixteen persons were attending a party given in honor of the approaching marriage of Miss Vera Brown and Edward B. Holmes, capsized. Among the drowned were the prospective bride and groom and two other children of Capt. Edward Brown, owner of the launch. The drowned:

FRANK BROWN, aged 23.
VERA BROWN, 21.
HELEN BROWN, 18, all children of Capt. Brown.
EDWARD B. HOLMES.
BENJAMIN W. RAYMOND.
SHERWOOD RAYMOND, his 5-year-old son.

All of the victims of the accident lived in Salt Lake City.

Drowned at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., June 5.—Four men were drowned and three rescued from a similar fate at noon Sunday, when a gasoline launch capsized in the Mississippi river here. The identified dead:

JOHN A. DIETRICH, 16 years old, clerk.
AUGUST MASTERBROOK, 35, grocer.
CHARLES TOTSCH, 42, butcher.

The name of the fourth man drowned has not been learned, and the bodies of the dead are unrecovered.

The accident is attributed to overcrowding of the launch. Seven men were seated in the stern, and when it dipped under a wave all rushed forward, and in the excitement capsized it. One man was rescued by ferry hands in their lifeboat and two others by a party in another launch.

Killed With Fiancee.

Mitchell, Ill., June 5.—Henry E. Knolle, vice president of the Mound City Chair company of St. Louis, and his fiancee were run over and killed by an electric interurban car on the Alton, Granite City & St. Louis Traction company's road here last night. The woman, known only to Knolle's mother, who lives in St. Louis, by her first name, Millie, was dragged 250 feet along the track, her head severed from the body and her body mangled. Knolle was knocked from the right-of-way down the embankment and into Long lake, from which the body was recovered by two fishermen.

Man Dead; Women Missing.

Canton, Ohio, June 5.—One man is dead and two women are believed to have been drowned in a squall which struck this city and Meyers lake, near here, Sunday afternoon. Os Kearney was standing under a tree when a bolt of lightning struck it, killing him.

Two women in a rowboat on Meyers lake are believed to have gone down in the gale. Several boats are reported missing, but this is not confirmed by the police or Meyers lake officials.

Stage Coach Runaway Fatal.

Yosemite, Cal., June 5.—In a stage coach runaway in the Yosemite valley Sunday one man was instantly killed, three women were seriously injured and several other persons sustained minor injuries. The dead:

R. S. LEISENRING, Allentown, Pa.

Seriously injured—Miss Martha Weber, Boston, arm broken; Miss ——— Diesendefer, Boston, shoulder broken; Mrs. A. J. Jaeckel, New York, gashed over eye.

The injuries sustained by the others were slight. All were tourists.

The accident occurred on a steep grade between the big tree grove at Wavona and the floor of the Yosemite valley. The party, numbering forty persons and occupying four big mountain stage coaches, left Camp Ahwamee early in the morning for the trip to Awanana, which was made safely.

At a steep grade the horses on the front stage became frightened and unmanageable. The brakes failed to hold and the team galloped down the winding road with the stage swinging from side to side between a high bank and a sharp precipice, while passengers screamed with fright. Convinced that he could not stop the animals, the driver finally turned them straight into the wall of the cliff. The stage turned completely over and several of the passengers were caught beneath it. Leisenring was thrown clear but struck in his skull and was instantly killed. The stages following carried the injured and Leisenring's body to camp Ahwamee.

Bicycle Squad Man Electrocuted.

Idianapolis, Ind., June 5.—Within view of several hundred persons, Arthur Barrows, member of the bicycle squad of the Indianapolis police force, was almost instantly killed late Sunday by coming in contact with a broken electric light wire which sent 4,000 volts through his body.

Fall Kills High Diver.

New York, June 5.—Edward Ver Pault, a legless high diver, was killed in an amusement park in Bayonne, N. J. The cripple pulled himself to the top of a fifty-foot ladder and prepared for the plunge into a six-foot tank below, when the ladder wobbled and Ver Pault fell. He struck the edge of the tank and rolled into the water and was dead when picked up.

Lightning Kills Ballplayer.

Norwalk, Ohio, June 5.—Frank Van, a ballplayer, was struck by lightning and killed on the ball grounds yesterday afternoon. Several other players who sought shelter under a tree were knocked down when a bolt struck the tree. The storm did much damage in this vicinity.

Anamoose Market Day.

Anamoose, N. D., June 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Anamoose is entertaining a big gathering of farmers today, attracted here by the first farmers' institute and market day held this year. The speakers are Superintendent T. A. Hoverstad of the North Dakota Institutes; Prof. W. C. Palmer and Prof. H. L. Bolley of the North Dakota Agricultural college.

ORPHANED CHILDREN LIBERALLY PROVIDED FOR BY CORPORATION

The Oliver Iron Mining company will care for the seven children of Paul Paulson of Virginia, who was killed at the Norman mine several months ago.

The company has paid $5,000, the maximum legal death claim and in addition has paid off an indebtedness on the Paulson home and agreed to pay $10 per child per month for their education and maintenance until they have reached the age of 18 years.

The father, Paul Paulson, was killed with thirteen other miners, March 11. The walls of the mine caved in and all who were working under the walls lost their lives. The cave in was due to the sudden thawing of the frozen ground.

The mother of the children had died the year before and left the little children, ranging in age from 2 to 12 years. The father made only about $50 a month, but it was enough to live upon. The eldest daughter acted as a mother to the younger children and she stayed at home, did the work and prepared the meals. She is very ambitious to become a school teacher and her ambition may be realized now, for the mining company has provided in its agreement that all the children be sent to school. Under the new arrangement the children will have a home clear of indebtedness, $5,000 and an income of $70 a month.

W. J. Olcott, president of the Oliver Iron Mining company took the matter of providing for the family up some time ago with President Farrell and Chairman Gary of the corporation and they heartily agreed with Mr. Olcott that the family should be provided for liberally and promptly.

Of the fourteen men killed in the accident twelve were citizens of the United States, and the company has settled with their heirs, paying the full $5,000 in each case. The other two cases are being adjusted through foreign consuls, and the company will also settle them in full.

GILBERT MUNGER PAINTING OF DULUTH FOUND IN WASHINGTON

Covered with dust, and reposing in the storeroom of a Washington art dealer, one of Gilbert Munger's paintings, showing Duluth in the early days, was unearthed by C. H. Syme of Washington, sold by him to Z. T. Mullin of Washington, and shipped by Mr. Mullin to his son, H. J. Mullin of this city. It now hangs in Mr. Mullin's office in the Lonsdale building, and the owner invites any Duluth pioneers interested to call and inspect it.

The painting is a rare and valuable historical relic of Duluth. It was evidently painted by Mr. Munger about 1870, and it is surprisingly accurate, according to the pioneers who have already inspected it. It was apparently painted from Mr. Munger's former home on the hillside, just east of the present incline railroad, and it shows the central part of the city in great detail. The canvas is about 4 by 3.

The history of the painting is interesting. It formerly hung in the old Wormley hotel in Washington, and it is believed that it was taken there as an exhibit at the time an effort was being made to secure a land grant for the old Lake Superior & Mississippi railroad, on the occasion of Proctor Knott's famous speech. The Wormley hotel was torn down, and the picture went to an art dealer's shop. There is was found by Mr. Syme, who bought it for the frame. When he had washed off the dust and discovered what the picture was, he showed it to several Duluthians who visited Washington. Mr. Mullin ran across it, and tried to interest some Duluthians in its purchase, but failed, and as the years went by Mr. Syme kept raising his price, until it was finally about five times his original price of $25. Mr. Mullin finally decided to buy it himself, and he sent it to his son. Mr. Mullin will probably hang the picture in the Commercial club for a time, after taking steps to preserve the painting, which shows some signs of age. The name of the painter is quite plainly visible on the back.

Old time Duluthians who have seen it are most enthusiastic over it, and say that it should become the property of the city and be preserved among the historical relics of Duluth.

SEVERE STORMS IN THREE STATES

Michigan, Ohio and Pennsylvania Points Sustain Much Damage.

Detroit, Mich., June 5.—Lightning and wind caused extensive damage throughout Lower Michigan last night and demoralized telegraph and telephone service to such an extent that Detroit was practically cut off from communication with cities outside of the state. Lake St. Clair and the Detroit river were directly in the path of the storm and sensational occurrences marked the marine end of the storm. No lives have been reported lost, but the property damage will reach many thousand dollars.

The wind struck Detroit without warning. The telegraph poles were blown down on railroads and interurban traffic is tied up.

Blew Dishes Off Tables.

One of the largest downtown hotels had the dishes blown from the tables in the cafe, awnings were ripped off buildings, windows blown in and soon several sections of the city were in darkness, the power lines having been cut off. Extra policemen were called out to protect pedestrians from hissing, sizzling live wires that sputtered on the streets.

Shiawassee county was also swept by the storm and is now cut off from outside communication. At the village of Lennon in that county, nine freight cars were blown off the track. No one was injured.

Houses and barns were struck by lighning and whole orchards up-rooted. Many points visited by the storm have not been heard from and it is impossible to estimate the property loss out in the state until some means of communication is obtained.

Three Storms in Ohio.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 5.—Cleveland and Northern Ohio was swept by three storms Sunday and last night, which did great damage to property in cities and the farming districts. Several persons are reported to have been injured.

A deluge of water resembling a cloudburst fell in the business section of Cleveland, but it did little damage.

One Man May Die.

Wooster, Ohio, June 5.—One of the most disastrous wind and rain storms in the history of this city struck Wooster late Saturday, doing enormous damage and injuring several persons, one probably fatally. Louis Brown was carried in the ruins of a small outbuilding for some distance and may die from his injures.

The spires of the Baptist and St. James Episcopal churches were wrecked and the roofs of the First Presbyterian church and the main building of the county infirmary were blown off. The St. James' church rectory was badly damaged when the spire fell.

All wires suffered and it is reported that there is a big loss to crops in the rural districts.

Live Wires Burn Children.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 5.—Wind tore down the electric light wires in Braddock Sunday and Mary Colona, aged 6 years, and her brother, aged 4, ran into one of the deadly things. Mary fell unconscious, the wire burning into her little body. John was thrown against a curb and it is thought his skull was fractured. Mary is dying and John may not recover.

Joseph Colona, father of the children, rushing to the rescue, seized the body of his daughter and was stretched out on the pavement. Four friends, one after another, suffered a like fate. A fifth, Andrew Bulosh, who wore a rubber coat, grasped the wire with it and drew it from the searing flesh of the child.

EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

NEW VAUDEVILLE AT THE EMPRESS

Three Large Audiences Were Well Pleased With the First Performances.

The Empress theater offers this week a vaudeville bill of more than ordinary merit. The first performances were given yesterday and three large audiences were sent away well satisfied with the class of entertainment served by Sullivan & Considine.

There is fun, nonsense and acts of a more serious nature this week at the Empress and they are all good of their kind. All in all, it is well balanced and one of the most entertaining offerings for some time.

Markeo brothers follow the first part moving pictures and open the bill proper with a musical act. They play all sorts of instruments. Besides furnishing good music, they have some good comedy. One of the Markees is dressed as a minstrel man and to him falls the burden of furnishing the fun. If laughs are any encouragement he surely gets away with it.

Probst is a whistler. He calls himself "the human canary." He imitates many different birds. The pictures of the different birds are thrown on the canvas and Probst imitates them. He has evidently made a special study of birds, for he imitates many that are not seen in this part of the country.

"On a Side Street" is the title of a one-act play which is being presented by Joseph Creaghan. It is a lively skit and deals with the adventures of one who has a date on a side street with the only girl in the world. There are four in the cast and all the parts are well taken. Joseph Creaghan takes the part of Packey Clancy, a janitor, a character part which is well done.

Alice Hanson and Gladys Bijon have a dainty little singing and dancing act that made a big hit with yesterday's audiences. They are graceful dancers, have good voices and in addition furnish some comedy by means of clever dialogue.

Bud Snyder is a bicycle rider. He does some of the most difficult feats ever performed in the city. His act is different than most bicycle acts in that he rides but a very little. Most of his tricks are done while standing still. It is his first American tour in a number of years. He was a sensation across the water and is going back to fill another engagement as soon as he finishes a tour of this country.

The performance ends with the usual moving pictures. There will be three performances daily, one each afternoon and two each evening during the week.

ARTISTIC SUCCESS.

Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra Well Received By Duluth Audiences

The Minneapolis Symphony orchestra gave its last concert in Duluth Saturday night and will play in Superior tonight.

The performance Saturday afternoon presented a classical program. Saint-Saens' "Danse Macabre" was splendidly played. The playing of Death on his old fiddle, the graveyard dance and the panic of the ghosts as the cock crows were well emphasized. As an encore to the four movements of the "Ballet Suite" from Massenet's "Le Cid," the orchestra played a gavotte from "Mignon."

The evening performance was operatic to a pronounced degree. The program was begun with the prelude to Wagner's "Die Meistersinger." Hadley's "Angelus," and its sonorous tolling of the bells brought an encore in a "Barcarolle" from Offenbach's "Tales from Hoffman. Chabrier's "Spanish Raphsody," and Kaun's "Festival March and Hymn to Liberty" completed the orchestral program.

Charles Hargreaves, tenor, sang "La Donna Mobile," from "Il Trovatore." Miss Genevieve Wheat, contralto, sang "Die Lorelei," by Liszt, in the afternoon and "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," from "Samson and Delilah," in the evening. Her evening encore was the "Flower Song" from "Faust." Marcus Kellerman, basso, sang the aria from Wagner's "Flying Dutchman," and Schumann's "Two Grenadiers." Miss Lucile Tewksbury, a favorite in Duluth, was encored and the audience clamored for a third song but did not get it.

The concerts were artistic successes and music lovers are gretful to Horace W. Reynor, Stephen H. Jones and others who had a hand in bringing the Minneapolis orchestra to Duluth.

"THELMA" AT LYCEUM.

Capable Company Presents Well-Known Drama of the Northland.

A large an appreciative audience saw a capable company present a dramatization of Marie Corelli's romance of the Northland, "Thelma," at the Lyceum theater last evening.

The cast was evenly balanced and the stage management was excellent. The production was well staged.

Miss Ona Le Claire as Thelma was a charming Norwegian girl, apparently ingenious but versed in the deeper emotions of woman. She received excellent support. Howard K. Race as Sir Philip was a typical English country gentleman. Allan Longstreet, a Duluth boy, made a hit as Valdemar, the Viking. Harry Constance was Sigurd, the hunchback. He played the famous death scene realistically. Miss Ellen Jane Brown as the Swedish girl, Grito, played a comedy part well.

The first and last acts picturing the home of Olaf Guldmar in Norway in the summer and winter, respectively, and the third act, showing the Falls Njedergore, were beautifully staged. The scenes were faithfully represented.

Frederick Warde.

Frederick Warde left the stage for a brief while, not to abandon his career nor the classic drama, but to bring before the people from the lecture rostrum the wonderful characters he has so admirably portrayed.

But the theater needed him. One by one the great players have been gathered to that final world beyond the curtain. It seems that the classical inspiration has departed with them. It rests with such scholars as Warde to keep burning the spark of genius to show that in the past there was a better and brighter day.

Frederick Warde has played many parts. He has given life to many of the heroes of Shakespeare. When last seen in "Julius Caesar" here, he played Marc Antony. Tonight he will be Brutus in Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar," at the Lyceum.

HONOR CARDINAL GIBBONS.

Prominent Men Will Take Part in Celebration.

Baltimore, Md., June 5.—As a tribute to Cardinal Gibbons for his distinguished public service as an American citizen, a non-sectarian celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood and the twenty-fifth of his elevation to the cardinalate, will be held in the Fifth regiment armory here Tuesday afternoon. Governor Crothiers will preside and the principal addresses will be made by President Taft, Vice President Sherman, Former President Roosevelt, Speaker Clark of the national house of representatives, Chief Justice White of the United States supreme court, Senator Root of New York and Former Speaker Cannon. Mayor Preston and the cardinal also will make addresses.

Among others who have accepted invitations to be present are a number of United States senators, representatives and diplomatic representatives of foreign countries. Bishop John Gardner Murray of the Protestant Episcopal church is chairman of the reception committee and associated with him are clergymen of various denominations. The general ecclesiastical celebration of the dual anniversary will be held next October.

BRILLIANT MIDNIGHT RAINBOW IN CANADA.

Emerson, Man., June 5. — An exceptionally brilliant rainbow was witnessed here at midnight by a large number of people. Light rains fell early in the evening, followed by a violent electrical storm. The night became very dark. Suddenly it brightened in the west and a rainbow appeared, stretching from earth to earth. For half an hour it was visible and then faded away as the clouds blackened the sky.

IMMIGRANT WOMAN GIVES BIRTH TO FOUR.

Calgary, Alta., June 5.—A Russian woman named Kowalosky yesterday gave birth to four children, all of whom are alive and doing well. The woman previously had given birth to triplets and twins and now has a family of nine. She is 21 years of age.

JOSEPH LONG WILL BE BURIED IN DULUTH.

The body of Joseph F. Long, who died last week in Dallas, Tex., will arrive in Duluth this afternoon at 3:30. It will be accompanied by Lawrence Long, a brother, who went to Dallas from San Francisco.

The body will be taken to the home of Mrs. Richard Long, the young man's mother, at 10 West Fifth street. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning, with services at Sacred Heart cathedral at 9 o'clock.

Joseph F. Long left Duluth about five years ago and has been located in Hot Springs, Ariz. He died suddenly while on a business trip to Dallas. He was 30 years old. Richard Long, the young man's father, and a pioneer in Duluth, died only a short time ago.

S.S.S. FOR SUMMER SKIN DISEASES

During the summer most persons are annoyed with pimples, boils, rashes or eruptions, while others suffer more severely with Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, or some kindred skin disease. All skin affections come from humors and acids in the circulation. The blood, as it circulates through the system, deposits these humors and acids in the sensitive membranous flesh which lies just beneath the outer skin. This acrid matter causes inflammation and a discharge which breaks through the delicate cuticle, and skin diseases are the result. To cure any skin trouble the blood must be freed from all acids and humors, and for this purpose nothing equals S. S. S. It removes every particle of the impurity, enriches the blood, and in this way permanently cures skin diseases. Book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice free. S. S. S. is for sale at drug stores.

O'BRIENITES LOSE SECOND

Errors and Passes Give Another Game Away By 4 to 2 Score.

Schuler Helps Cause of Superior By Some Poor Decisions.

(BY BRUCE.)

Before one of the largest crowds that ever gathered at Hislop park, Kid Taylor's Red Legs yesterday took the second straight game from the White Sox, the contest going to our hated rivals by the score of 4 to 2.

Worman and Jensen were the opposing pitchers, and both in the matter of hits and control the Superior Swede had the better of the man who is working for the White Sox. Worman issued nine passes, while in the matter of free walks to first, Jensen was so right that he had an oyster looking as wide open as a Mississippi river saloon.

With the kind of support that Jensen was accorded, the red-topped twirler might have won the game. It might be needless to say that Altermott broke into the error column. He was there with two. Miller also did something very unusual, in dropping a fly in center. He made a swell one-handed spear of a liner, that partly atoned for his error.

Worman was the third offender in the error line. While the support of Worman was not what it should have been, the playing of the eight men behind Jensen verged on the sensational. The playing of Bancroft was nothing less than wonderful, and his exhibition of highway robbery yesterday goes far to stamp him as the best shortstop in the league.

Umpire Schuler has done very well in the games played on this side of the bay. Yesterday his work had a saffron tinge in it a mile wide. He gave the Sox the worst of every close decision, and made one decision at second base that was so plain a case of robbery that even the Superior rooters stood up and called the erring umps for his lack of either fairness or eyesight.

Over on this side of the bay we have been afflicted with Griffith, one of the most incompetent umpires who ever called them wrong, and guessed at 'em when he called a strike or ball right. Now it seemed that we must cross the bay and lose a close game, some of the responsibility of which may be thrown on the shoulders of Mister Schuler.

Both teams scored one in the second. Landry drew a pass. Lippold struck out and Landry moved up on Taylor's infield hit. He scored when Jensen singled.

In our half Johnson hit one into the crowd that lined the outfield, for two bases. Holstrom hit to center for a single, Johnson falling as he rounded third. Miller's single scored him.

In the fifth the enemy tied up the game with three runs. McCulloch opened with a walk. Landry smote a two-base hit to right field. Altermott made an error on Lippold's hit and the bases were full. Jensen hit a clean two-base hit to right field and three runs came over the pan.

Our last came in the ninth. Hoffman dropped a fly from the bat of large Sam Menlece. The big fellow stole and scored when Holstrom hit for two bases.

O'Brien was back in the game and the presence of the manager showed an improvement in the team play. While Darby still limps some from his injured pedal, somebody with the experience is needed in the infield, and he will also fill a gap that has been yawning at second.

DAHLGREN BLANKS SOX IN SATURDAY'S GAME.

In the game of Saturday the Sox were blanked by Dahlgren, the score being 6 to 0, in favor of the Suburbanites. Blancke worked in his first game of the seasqn and issued ten passes. While not hit hard, the hits of Superior were coupled with passes and errors, and therefore counted. The Sox got but three hits off the delivery of Cyrus Augustus Dahlgren.

CHAMPIONS WIN FROM DOWNCAST RED WING.

Eau Claire, Wis., June 5.—The Champions took a pitcher's battle from the Cookies yesterday, by the score of 2 to 0. The locals scored their two runs in the eighth, and until that time Joanson proved invincible.

DAUSS WINS HURLING BATTLE FROM HOOKER.

La Crosse, Wis., June 5.—Winona took the second game of the La Crosse series here yesterday by the score of 3 to 1. It was a hurling hill fight between Hooker and Dauss, and the former Duluth twirler won. In addition to great hurling Dauss received good support.

Saturday's game between La Crosse and Winona was a joke, the Killian crowd walking away with the game by the score of 11 to 0. Brenton was easy for Winona, while Baillies proved a puzzle. Bumpus Jones of La Crosse protested the entire series with Winona, on the ground that the Winona team is far over the salary limit.

CLOQUET DEFEATS HINCKLEY.

Pine County Aggregation Is Shut Out By Score of 4 to 0.

Cloquet, Minn., June 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Cloquet defeated Hinckley here yesterday in a well played and interesting game by a score of 4 to 1. In an attempt to catch Blinn, who was stealing second in the fourth frame, Olson threw wild to second and Blinn completed the circuit on the overthrow. In the next inning a combination of two errors, a hit by pitched ball, a single and a sacrifice netted three more runs for the locals. Carlson pitched good ball and received fine support especially in pinches. Swanstrom, playing shortstop, starred for the visitors. Cloquet has won six consecutive games, and as yet has not been defeated. The score:

MISSOURI WINS MEET

Has Little Trouble Taking Western Conference Event at Minneapolis.

Chicago Second and the University of California Third.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 5.—The University of Missouri, a dark horse, won the eleventh annual field and track meet of the intercollegiate conference Saturday afternoon, scoring 9 2-3 points more than its nearest competitor, the University of Chicago. The other principal winners were: University of California, 20; University of Wisconsin, 19¾; University of Illinois, 19 5-12; Notre Dame, 14; Minnesota, 11¾; Coe college, 8; Purdue, 5; Northwestern, 2; Morningside, 2.

The heavy rains of the early morning did not leave the track in the best of shape, but in spite of this, one conference record was broken and two others were tied. The new record was made by Allen of California, whose mark of 23 feet 1 inch in the broad jump was one-quarter of an inch better than the mark set by Frind of Chicago in 1905. Davenport of Chicago tied his own record of 1:56 3-5 in the half mile and Steel of Missouri equalled the record of 9:50 flat for the two-mile made by Rowe of Michigan in 1905. One of the suprises of the meet was the result of relay race, which was won by Illinois in 3 minutes 12 1-5 seconds. The Illinois runners were Herrick, Setsteel, Counter and Cortis. Chicago was a big favorite in this event.

Aside from the dashes which were all closely contested, the most interesting events were the half-mile and two-mile events. In the half-mile Skinner of Chicago and Bermond of Missouri led until the last 100 yards when Davenport gradually cut down their lead and nosed them out by a foot.

In the two-mile race, Johnson of Missouri at once took the lead, closely followed by Steele, his teammate. When they had out-distanced the entire field, at the mile, Johnson dropped out and Steele was never headed, winning by a big margin over Cleveland of Wisconsin.

ABE ATTELL MAY QUIT THE RING.

New York, June 5.—Abe Attel has about decided to abandon the prize ring this summer, and it is more than likely that proposed matches in which he was to figure as one of the principals will be called off.

When Abe tipped this off thermometers were registering 88, and it was fancied that Attell's decision with regard to these matches was largely influenced by the torrid heat. It is not any too pleasant to face two weeks' hard work in a training camp even in pleasant weather, but when the sun is sizzling and blistering hot it becomes intolerable.

Abe fears, too, that hot weather would cut down receipts so much that his share would hardly be worth the work involved. And Abe is an astute chap when it comes to figuring the probable receipts of a boxing match. There is just one thing that may induce the little champion to change his mind and re-enter the ring at once. Now that Knockout Brown has decisively defeated Tommy Murphy, Abe may reconsider his determination not to box anybody until next fall. Attell a few months ago was really desirous of tackling Brown. He felt that he could beat the East side youth, and he also knew that Brown was then a drawing card. But things are different, far different at this moment, and nobody knows it better than Abe.

The champion figures, too, that if he postpones his return to the ring until next fall, he will be cocksure of the fact that his injured arm will be sound as ever. He thinks it is all right now, but cannot be certain of it until he can give it a genuine test.

PROCTOR JUNIORS LOSE WELL PLAYED GAME.

In a pitchers' battle between Westholm and Reneaud, the Twin Ports won yesterday by the score of 3 to 2. The game was fast and snappy from start to finish and kept the fans on their toes throughout the game. Morris Westholm, who signed up early in the season with the Twin Ports Clothing company team, was on the mound and pitched a superior article of ball, striking out twelve men and allowing but two hits. Homer Reneaud, the pride of Proctor, did the slab work for the Proctor aggregation, striking out eight men and allowing three hits. The Twin Ports Clothing company wishes to arrange a game with the Grand Rapids Juniors and the Towers of Superior. The manager of the Duluth clothiers has written several letters to the manager of the Grand Rapids Juniors, but he expresses no desire to meet them.

TAFT MAKES STRONG PLEA FOR CANADIAN AGREEMENT

President Says Lumber and Paper Trusts Are Chief Opponents.

Declares Farmers Are Being Buncoed Into Fighting Against It.

Chicago, June 5.—President Taft, in his speech before the Western Economic society here declared that the principal opposition to the Canadian reciprocity agreement came not from the farmer, but from the "lumber trust" and from American manufacturers of print paper.

In one of the most comprehensive addresses that he has ever made on the subject, the president outlined some of the methods employed by the opponents of reciprocity, practically telling the farmers that they were being "buncoed" by special interests, and said that the fate of the agreement rested not so much with the United States senate as with the people of the country.

If the farmer and the country at large, he said, could be brought to understand that this treaty was in the interests of the majority of the people, he would no longer fear the coming vote in the senate.

The president was not sparing in his words. He told the reasons for the opposition to the treaty by the "lumber trust" and by the paper manufacturers, and without using names scored a New York firm, some of whose members recently appeared at the hearings before the senate finance committee in Washington, ostensibly in behalf of the National Grange, and objected to the enactment of the agreement.

Believes It Will Be Ratified.

In spite of the forces that are arrayed against it, the president expressed the belief that the agreement would become law.

"The bill," said he, "will pass, if it passes at all, because of public opinion in its favor."

President Taft spoke in part as follows:

"The reciprocity agreement is pending in Washington, and the decision must be made in the senate of the United States. The question naturally arises why should I come out from Washington to Chicago—a matter of 1,000 miles—to speak on an issue like this when the persons to be reached are so much nearer my usual place of residence. The bill will pass if it passes at all, because of the force of public opinion in its favor.

Cuba an Example.

"Under reciprocity with Cuba, which reduced the duties on each side 20 per cent, our trade with that country has doubled. Under complete reciprocity, or free trade with Porto Rico, our trade has increased nearly fifteen times, under reciprocity with the Philippine islands, our mutual trade has nearly doubled in less than a year, and yet, in the case of each of these changes, there was vehement discussion, bitter opposition and wild prophesies of disastrous results.

"For ten years I engaged in the struggling for Philippine free trade and for ten years I was regarded as the enemy of the agricultural interests of this country engaged in raising beet sugar, and yet, since the adoption of the Payne tariff bill, which extended free trade to the Philippines, I have not heard a single complaint as to the effect of that feature of the Payne tariff bill.

"A careful analysis of the arguments pro and con over the Canadian agreement will convince any fair-minded economist, who is both informed as to conditions in both countries, that six months after the agreement is adopted, there will be no complaint from any quarter.

Source of Opposition.

"From what source does the opposition proceed? In the first place, it comes from the classes of the business interests of the country, those who own and control the lumber supply of the United States and those who are engaged in the manufacture of print paper, and of whom the largest manufacturers own much of the spruce wood supply of the United States from which print paper is made, and the third class opposed to the treaty consists of those who claim to represent the farmers and agricultural interests of the country.

"It is perfectly evident, from the statistics, that our general lumber supply and our supply of spruce wood for paper making, are being rapidly exhausted and that the effect of the diminution of supply and the increase of the demand is to put too high a price upon the rough lumber and wood pulp. Under the Payne tariff bill, rough lumber is dutiable at $1.25. Under the reciprocity agreement that duty is removed.

"I submit that as lumber is essential to all classes, farmers and merchants, as the price has gone far beyond what it ever was in the past, and as our supply is being exhausted, we ought, when we can, to enlarge the sources from which our people can secure it at a reasonable price.

"The third class of opponents of the bill are those who claim vociferously to represent the whole farming industry of the United States. This, of course, is much more formidable opposition than the special interests, to which I have referred, and it is but natural that these special interests should be found co-operating with those who claim to represent the farming interest in arousing the farmers to the horrors and disasters that are to follow reciprocity.

Importation of Grain.

"The only real importation of agricultural products that we may expect from Canada in any considerable amount will consist of wheat, barley, rye and oats. The world price of those four cereals is fixed abroad, where the surplus from the producing countries is disposed of and is little effected by the place from which the supply is derived. Canadian wheat nets 10 cents less a bushel to the producer than wheat grown in the Dakotas or Minnesota, due to the fact that the cost of exporting that wheat and warehousing and marketing it in London is considerably greater than the cost of the Dakota farmer of disposing of his wheat to the millers of Minneapolis or sending it abroad.

"A material benefit to all farmers of the country, especially the stock and cattle raisers and dairy farmers, will be the by-product of bran and shorts from the flour mills likely to follow the free export of wheat from Canada to those mills. These by-products are now so scarce and so high priced that many farmers are unable to procure them.

"What is true of wheat is also true of the other cereals. The trade between Canada and the United States cannot but increase the sale of agricultural products across the border both ways to nearer markets than they now reach in many instances.

The Countries Compared.

"We have a people numbering 90,000,000, occupying the best part of the North American continent with the widest variety of products and with an unexcelled fertile soil. To the north of us are a people just like ourselves in descent, in wealth per capita, in education, in traditions, in ambitions and aspirations. They have a country nearly equal to ours in area, not so fertile generally and certainly not so rich, in the wide variety of agricultural products. There are 7,000,000 of people there "With them we have a trade of $325,000,000 a year. We export to them $225,000,000 a year. If we deduct from our exports to Germany, which is nearly twice as populous as Canada, the value of cotton and copper that we send there, it will be found that we export more of our manufactures and agricultural products to Canada than we do to Germany and that England is the only foreign customer we have that takes more of our goods than this comparatively small population of Canada.

"If that be true, and Canada continues to grow, what may we expect to sell her if we reduce the tariff wall, introduce as nearly as we can, free trade, and she increases her population from 7,000,000 to 30,000,000? Shall we not be flying in the face of providence to maintain a wall between us and such a profitable market as she will furnish us? The conditions between Canada and the United States are the same in the point of labor cost, in the point of general conditions prevailing in both countries. If either country has the advantage, the United States has it, and yet for both the opening of the markets of each to the other is certain to introduce a measure of prosperity that we have never before known."

RAINY RIVER GOLD MINES

Mining Around Mine Center Promises Strongly to "Come Back."

Electrical Drill Being Investigated By the Foley Management.

Mine Center, Ont., June 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Canadian activity in lumbering, agriculture and railroad construction promises to expand to all avenues of endeavor in the dominion. Mining will occupy a front rank in this general activity and expansion.

Cobalt has made mining reputable and attractive with Canadians. Porcupine has attracted heavy operators from England, Continental Europe, Australia and the United States. Already there's an overflow to other parts of Canada and to other metals than gold and silver.

At last the British Isles have surrendered to the Canadian call and money bags are being opened for general and heavy investment. W. Leonard Palmer, a prominent member of the editorial staff of the London Financial News, recently stated in Toronto that $375,000,000 of British capital will seek investment in Canada during the present year. If superior investments are offered and those lacking merit are placed under a ban, this stream of capital will continue for several years at least

Some of the heaviest investments are being made in Canadian mines—gold, silver, iron, nickel, copper, asbestos, pyrites, and others. There is an overflow from Cobalt and Porcupine very pronounced. Old camps, idle for many years, are being investigated and revived. With ample capital, improved methods and economical management, many of them will have years of prosperity as marked as the long years of neglect and idleness.

Mine Seekers Increasing.

As The Herald's correspondent has previously stated, seekers for mines are rapidly increasing in the Rainy River district. Denver men are busy around Dryden. An English representative of London capital recently visited Mine Center. Men from England, Germany, France and Australia recently have seriously examined property around Kenora, Port Arthur, the Upper Seine river area, as well as other localities.

The Ontario government is alive to the situation. Dr. Willet G. Miller, provincial geologist, recently spoke encouragingly of work under way at the Mikado, Ophir, Cameron Island and other mines around Kenora. This summer, A. L. Parsons, lecturer on mineralogy at the University of Toronto, will make an official tour of inspection through the Rainy river district, accompanied by a party of young geologists. Dr. Miller, himself, and Cyril K. Knight, assistant provisional geologist, will make personal visits to several camps and a portion of their work will be preparatory to the World's Congress of Geologists, which meets in Toronto in the year 1913.

The Mackenzie & Mann interests are very much alive to mining. Years ago, when comparatively a poor man, William Mackenzie acquired the Princess gold mine at Kenora, then Rat Portage. Since the rise of the Mackenzie & Mann star, special attention has been given to iron mines and lands. Holdings in all the Ontario iron fields are heavy. Only a few months ago, plans to benefit from iron mines in Northern Minnesota leaked out and the Ontario representative of the United States Steel corporation was coaxed over to the Mackenzie & Mann banner by means of flattering financial inducements. The Canadian Northern railway will benefit from copper and nickel at Sudbury. Close watch is being kept of Gowganda. Train service, trackage and equipment are being improved in the Rainy Lake goldfields. There is a disposition to make that great region between Port Arthur and Lake of the Woods yield a revenue from sources other than lumbering and carrying Indian river drivers up and down the line.

New Process of Extraction.

Now comes word that Sir Donald Mann has acquired control of a new process of mineral extraction, worked out by Dr. J. S. Island, a Toronto dentist with a taste for scientific research.

This is a chemical process and, so far as tests have gone, there are no refractory metals under it. It consists, briefly, in the application of hydrochloric and sulphuric acid to ores whereby the mineral salts are converted into soluble salts.

It is understood that a corporation capitalized for $10,000,000 will control the process and that the former owners will receive $7,000,000 for their rights. These include Toronto men and a sprinkling of Americans.

Mining around Mine Center promises strongly to "come back." At the Foley the work of cordwood cutting continues. A good garden has been planted. Capt. John Hosking recently went to Duluth to order fittings for some of the hoisting machinery and to discuss plans for future work with the company.

The electrical drill, manufactured by the Fort Wayne Electric works, is being carefully investigated by the Foley management. This drill supplanted air drills in the Canadian Northern tunnel near Duluth, and the makers claim that it will do effective work with one-tenth the power cost required by the air drills. Fuel and power are important items in this district and any saving in that direction means the working of some mines that, otherwise, would remain idle.

Although no regular boat service is expected between the Foley mine and Fort Frances this summer, Capt. Hosking states that plans are being worked out for frequent excursions. As Commodore George A. Graham will run the boats of the Rainy River Navigation company between Kenora and Fort Frances, via Lake of the Woods and Rainy river—one of the great scenic trips of the American continent—there is likely to be a considerable number desirous of making the rounds of Rainy lake and the Lower Seine river—another scenic route unexcelled in America. The Foley mine also can be reached by team over a six-mile road from Mine Center station.

The Hunter Lands.

Nothing new has been reported concerning the plans of James C. and Ron M. Hunter of Duluth for the exploration of the iron lands near Grassy Bay, a few miles below the Foley mine, but it is understood that details are being worked out. The C. W. Ericson holdings recently were optioned to the Hunters for $100,000.

At the Olive mine the buildings and machinery are being repaired by Messrs. Preston and Blackwood. They are determined to provide capital for the resumption of exploration and mining.

A shaft was sunk during the winter east of the old workings several hundred feet. At a depth of fifty feet a short cross-cut was started, when water from the old workings came in so heavily as to stop work. The width of the vein was not ascertained but the last shots threw out ore liberally sprinkled with visible gold. A practical miner who saw some of this ore expressed the opinion that a streak about three inches wide would mill $300 a ton.

In prospecting west of the old workings about half a mile Mr. Preston recently struck the Olive vein where it had not been previously uncovered. Under panning tests it gave a long tail of free gold, fully up to the standard of the rich Olive ore mined in early days. When in charge of the property before, Mr. Preston treated 176 tons of ore in a little 3-stamp mill and recovered bullion worth $7,852.50, an average of $44.61 per ton.

An English mining engineer recently examined the Olive mine and, in behalf of his principals, offered Mr. Preston $25,000 cash on purchase price if given a working bond for six months, but the offer was refused.

Up the Canadian Northern line from Mine Center, past La Seine and west of Calm Lake, Charley Gehl has been doing some surface work on a group of claims in which he is interested. His camps are on mining location P. 789 and Milepost 54 is his point for leaving the railroad.

Syndicate May Buy Claims.

A syndicate comprising twenty men contemplates the purchase and development of this group. Last week three representatives of the combination spent two days inspecting the property. They were highly pleased, expected to report favorably to their associates and the outlook is very favorable for purchase and early development.

There are numerous veins. In places, in fact, there's a perfect network of quartz veins and stringers in a schist formation. The proposed plan is to sink a shaft and then cross-cut the formation. Mr. Gehl believes that there is a strong likelihood of cutting an immense ore-body with depth.

Mr. Gehl now lives at Pine City, Minn. He was an early day prospector in this region and, since then, has mined and prospected in Nevada, Colorado, Cobalt and Porcupine. He declares that if he had at Porcupine some of the veins around Mine Center, he would have no difficulty in selling them for $100,000, without development.

High prices for prospects was one of the causes of the decline in mining around here ten and twelve years ago.

A company of New York and Detroit men recently were at the Laurentian mine near Goldrock, north of here. This mine has a bullion production record of over $100,000 but, at present, is idle through legal entanglements, lack of ready cash and other causes.

Capt. Barney Wilcox is very active around Dryden. He is doing work on the American Jack property at present. Tom Hogan, one of the best known explorers on the Mesaba iron range in the early days, has the contract. Mr. Hogan is doing work on three different properties at the present time. He maintains that the ores and gold are in ample quantity all through the Rainy River district and that capital, accessibility and good management will bring great success.

After the great and unusual activity around Mine Center during the winter, due to logging and tie cutting, the town seems rather quiet just now. The Mackenzie & Mann sawmill will run a day shift all summer and that employs a goodly number of men.

Capt. Gilbert soon will begin government road work if men can be found. Appropriations were made for a wagon road from Mine Center station to the Olive mine; the repair of the Mine Center road to the Lucky Coon mine; and the continuation and improvement of the wagon road from the "sandhill" to the Foley mine.

IRON AND STEEL REVIEW

New York, June 5.—The sudden reduction of $1 to $4 per ton in prices of billets, sheet bars, steel plates, structural shapes and black and galvanized and blue annealed sheets last week had an unsettling influence on consumers of finished steel products generally.

The downward movement, it seems was forced by the sensational cut of $3 per ton in the price of steel bars by the Republic company.

Manufacturers of agricultural implements, instead of placing large bar contracts, met the overtures of the mills with bids at further heavy concessions and reports that large bar sales were made on the basis of $1.35, lack confirmation. It is understood that not more than 30,000 tons of bars were sold to such consumers.

Railroads and building interests, recently favored with unusually low prices on fabricated materials, hesitated about placing contracts upon which bids had been submitted because of the slight reduction in the price of plain shapes. The mills anticipate, however, when it is realized that there will be no further concessions, that larger contracts will come out.

Although there was a sharp decline in business placed during the last week in May totals the total volume of orders for the full month exceeded those booked in April by the steel corporation subsidiaries.

Railroads contracted for only 160,000 tons of rails in May but since June 1, new business for 100,000 tons has developed, including 50,000 tons for the Northern Pacific. Car orders last week aggregated 2,500, Grand Trunk ordered forty-five locomotives and the Pere-Marquette wants ninety-five engines. Building contracts placed called for 16,000 tons of fabricated steel.

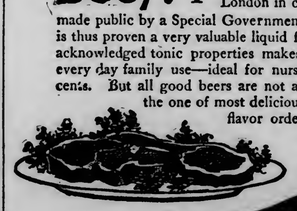

The volume of business in pig iron was sharply reduced but new inquiries for 50,000 tons came out of the eastern territory.

HIBBING COLTS EASY WINNERS

Defeat Virginia in Face of Playing Against Two "Ringers."

Hibbing, Minn., June 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Despite the fact that a Duluth White Sox pitcher and the catcher of the Fitwell independent team had been imported for the occasion, the Hibbing Colts defeated the fast Virginia team by the score of 7 to 3 before a record-breaking crowd at the ball park yesterday afternoon.

Cummings was loaned to Virginia by Darby O'Brien and Schaeffer, catcher for the Fitwells, was on deck aise. A special train on the Great Northern arrived in Hibbing about 2:30 o'clock and deposited a large consignment of Virginia fans, who helped materially to swell the gate rec ts by their attendance on the game.

The visitors put up a cleaner fielding game than did the Colts and had nine hits to their credit, while their opponents made but one more. The latter team, however, bunched their clouts where they counted for runs. In the eighth inning Geiselman, right fielder for the Hibbing team, sent a pretty sky scraper over the right field fence and ambled around the circuit thereby.

Bobby Graham, whom the Virginia management had advertised to do the twirling, did not appear. The box score:

On Saturday afternoon the Virginia bunch met defeat at the hands of the Hibbingites for the second time this season, they being beaten to the tune of 8 to 3. Johnson, whom the visiting team had to perform the stautesque on the slab, was batted all over the lot, a total of seventeen hits being chalked up against him. William, Hibbing's pitcher, allowed but seven.

Eveleth Beats Gilbert.

Eveleth, Minn., June 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Eveleth nine won its second game of the Eastern Mesaba league season yesterday afternoon at Gilbert from the Gilbert city team, by a score of 8 to 6. "Ding" Richards' clever pitching and the ability of the locals to hit at opportune times, made the victory an easy one for Eveleth. Capt. Gaunitz caught for Eveleth, while Bunny Verville and Sullivan comprised Gilbert's battery.

The game scheduled between the Eagles and Elks for yesterday afternoon was called off because of muddy grounds.

The Grand Avenue Stars, who claim the junior championship of the range, scored a 5 to 1 victory over the Jones Street Sluggers Saturday afternoon, with Manny Feldman and P. Junke doing the pitching for the winners.

TOWER WOMAN'S BROTHER BURIED

P. J. Holm Inventor and Manufacturer of Eau Claire Is Laid to Rest.

Eau Claire, Wis., June 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Funeral services were held from the Swedish Lutheran church here at 2:30 this afternoon for P. J. Holm, one of the leading citizens of Eau Claire well known in manufacturing and trade circles as an inventor and a manufacturer, who died Saturday morning at a hospital from gall stones. Mr. Holm is survived by a wife, five sons and two daughters, also four sisters, two residing in Eau Claire, one in Minneapolis and one in Tower Minn. Mr. Holm was engaged in the manufacturing business almost all his life and was an eminently useful citizen, employing a large number of hands. He was born in Sweden Sept. 19, 1851, coming to America in 1880.

Nearly thirty years ago he came to Eau Claire, and for a long time was with the McDonough Manufacturing company as pattern maker and foreman. Mr. Holm is the inventor of the Holm gasoline engine taken over some time ago by the Northwestern Steel & Iron Works. More recently he with his sons went from Eau Claire to Sparta, Mich., establishing a large plant for the Sears, Roebuck company. Still later he returned to Eau Claire and was interested with others in building up the Western Machine Manufacturing company, maker of the Western King gasoline engine.

SPECIAL TRAINS CANNOT BE GIVEN

Great Northern Will Not Furnish That Accommodation to Hibbing People.

Hibbing, Minn., June 5—(Special to The Herald)—Because the Great Northern road has for some reason refused to furnish a special train to Swan Lake, the local order of Red Men will have to make other arrangements for their annual picnic which was to have occurred June 25.

H. E. Schneider, chairman of the committee on arrangements, was advised of the reception of a telegram from F. A. Watrous, general passenger agent of the Great Northern at St. Paul, that it was impossible for the road to furnish the special which had been asked for. No definite reason why it could not be furnished was given. The telegram also stated that positively no special trains could be furnished Hibbing for some little time.

CHISHOLM WILL WELCOME EAGLES

Plans Being Made for the Coming Meet of State Aerie.

Chisholm, Minn., June 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Secretary S. E. Grenthal, secretary of the local Eagles aerie is working like a beaver, aided by committees and members of the order generally in preparation for the annual state aerie of the big order that will be held here June 19 to 21.

Many prominent people, including Governor Eberhart, are expected to be present and the state aerie promises to be a great success.

Avery Cook, craneman on a steam shovel at one of the Chisholm mines, who was accidentally struck on April 29 by the hog rod of the boom and so seriously injured that his life for a time was despaired of, has sufficiently recovered to take up some light work at the shops.

Dr. E. H. Graham of the Chisholm department of the Rood hospital is in New York for a month's vacation. During his absence Dr. Pengilly of Hibbing is to fill Dr. Graham's place.

Twenty-five students in the mining and engineering department of the University of Minnesota are here, receiving practical instruction in iron mining at close range. These students go right down into the mines and perform actual labor with the regular employes.

Harold Olson, formerly porter at the Dorie theater has left Chisholm for Duluth, where he has secured a position.

Messrs. Bey & Stronna are now building their garage and hope to have it completed in time for the arrival of their new car.

Frank Bey, until within a few days ago 'bus driver between Chisholm and Hibbing, in the employ of Matt Borlin, has decided to go into the 'bus business for himself, and to use a large auto instead of horses.

Marco Grosso, formerly with the firm of Gross Bros., is now in business for himself on Maple street.

The Chisholm Independent, a weekly newspaper, managed and owned by E. A. Rydeen, has been discontinued as such and in its place Chisholm has another paper called the Mesaba Miner. Mr. La France has purchased the Eveleth Star, a weekly paper in Eveleth, formerly owned by A. E. Pfremmer and will continue its publication in Chisholm, combining it with the former Chisholm Independent and giving to his new paper the name, Mesaba Miner.

Eveleth Council Plans.

Eveleth, Minn., June 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the council meeting tomorrow evening bids will be considered for a new 2,500,000-gallon pump at the St. Mary's station. Sites will be purchased for a library and fire hall. Many liquor licenses are also to be considered.

Virginia Woodmen Memorial.

Virginia, Minn., June 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—Memorial services were held at Greenwood cemetery Sunday afternoon by the Modern Woodmen of America and the Royal Neighbors, who marched with uniforms and in line from North Pole hall to the cemetery on the North side, escorted by the Boys' Military band.

NOT INCREASING FROM LARGE PITS

Missabe Road Not Sending Down as Much as Expected This Week.

Hibbing, Minn., June 5.—Ore shipments over the Missabe railroad this week practically will be unchanged, the hoped for increase in number of cars loaded at the big pits of the Hibbing district not having materialized.

Four or five trains are being sent down each twnty-four hours from Mitchell over the Missabe and one train from the new Hull yards. The Missabe is shipping from 150 to 200 cars a day from the Shenango pit. The Burt is loading only 40 cars in twenty-four hours, the Pool 40 and the giant Hull pit only 40. The Hull last season shipped close to 500 cars a day and its total product for the season was 3,000,000 tons. The Burt-Pool is one of the largest pits on the range and could easily ship 2,000,000 tons or more a year. The Morris, which is fully as large, is not loading ore this year at all.

Shafts Working Double Shifts.

All the shafts of the district, however, are working double shifts with the exception of the Glen, which is working day shift only.

The Great Northern yards at Kelley Lake,, however, are the scene of mid-season activity. About twelve trains a day of 125 cars each are being sent down to the docks at Allouez. Nearly all the open pits served by the Great Northern are working vigorously, including the Mahoning, Stevenson, Leonard and Dale-Une. The Hawkins is the only Nashwauk pit that is loading and it is shipping thirty cars a day.

MADERO A TOOL FOR INTERESTS

Duluth Man Doubts Motives of Mexican Insurrecto Leader.

Laurenz R. Harris, son of Col. A. A. Harris of this city, has returned from Mexico, where he has spent considerable time before and after the revolution there started. He is now living at 521 West Fourth street. During the Spanish-American war he served in Company G of the Fourteenth Minnesota regiment, and since that time has traveled extensively in Mexico.

Mr. Harris does not believe Madero was sincere in the part he took in the insurrection, but that he had been selected to lead the insurrectos by business interests whose affairs in that country had become extensive. He believes Madero had been chosen because of his influence over many Mexicans who were in sympathy with him in his recent troubles and exile from Mexico. For this reason, Mr. Harris says, the war was a fake, but that it developed afterwards into a real conflict. He believes, however, that the change in the rulership of the country will be but a temporary one, and that Madero's authority will not be one of long life.

BADGER SCHOOL EXERCISES.

First in History of Village Well Attended Despite Storm.

Badger, Minn., June 5.—(Special to The Herald)—Badger's first graduating exercises took place Friday night in Sjoberg's hall. Although an electric storm raged all evening and rain fell heavily from late in the afternoon till early next morning, the great interest of the people in the schools was shown by the size of the crowd that defied the storm and was present. The hall, which holds about 250 people, was crowded to the limit. The orchestra opened the exercises with some fine music and also rendered several pieces at intervals in the program, which were much appreciated. The program was carried out in an efficient manner and spoke well for the talent and training of all who took part. Walter Rankin gave the salutatory and an essay on "The Panama Canal," which surpassed all expectations. All the other graduates delivered their essays and recitations in a fine manner. Rev. F. H. Barnett gave the invocation, Rev. S. L. Tallakson delivered the commencement address, Principal Grace B. Reed gave a short but appropriate address to the graduates, which was exceedingly well framed and showed that her heart was with those with whom she had labored during the year. K. T. Wang, president of the school board presented the diplomas. The schools of Badger have been organized a good many years, but this was the first graduating exercises.

AGAINST NET FISHING.

Menominee, Mich., June 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fishermen along the bay shore in this vicinity are strongly opposed to spring fishing with nets, which, although it is not against the law, is considered a wanton waste threatening to deplete the waters of herring and perch.

It is stated by the fishermen that some few of their number are casting their nets and making hauls of from twenty-five to thirty-five packages daily. They only find enough of proper sized herring and perch to make from three to five packages, and the balance, from a ton to two tons of small fry, is thrown in the offal barrels and scattered out on the lines.

STABBED BY STRANGER

Teamster Victim of Assault While Walking on Lake Avenue.

Man Under Arrest Denies All Knowledge of the Crime.

Frank Grisdale, a teamster, was slashed across the cheek and stabbed in the head while walking along Lake avenue near the American saloon about 9:30 o'clock Saturday evening. The police placed Tiovi Ruokennen under arrest a short time later charged with the assault.

Grisdale claims that the assault was entirely unprovoked and that he was taken entirely unawares by a man who was a stranger to him. He claims that his assailant stepped from a doorway and made a lunge at him with a knife, but that he was able to ward the blow so that he received only a small stab in the head. He asserts that the man then cut his cheek, inflicting a wound several inches long and nearly the depth of the cheek.

He staggered into the Rising Sun hotel and he stated that the man who attacked him went into the American saloon. The police were summoned by telephone and after hearing Grisdale's story, placed Ruokennen under arrest. Dr. Boyer was called and dressed Grisdale's wounds. Ruokennen denies all knowledge of the affair.

RAILROAD NEWS

NORTHWESTERN ROAD OPENS ITS MAGNIFICENT NEW CHICAGO DEPOT

THE NEW NORTHWESTERN DEPOT AT CHICAGO.

The new passenger station of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company at Chicago, which has been under construction for several years, was thrown open to the public yesterday morning at 6 o'clock, and was visited by many thousands of people. Trains from Duluth now run into this depot.

With this station, the West is furnished with one of the finest and most complete railway terminals in the country. The cost of the structure was $24,000,000.

The new terminal is one of the finest architectural features of the city—a splendid structure of classic design, the essential feature of which is a great colonnaded entrance or portico of lofty proportions, monumental in type, that towers to a height of 120 feet above Madison street. Before this imposing front is a broad pavement or esplanade from which rise the granite columns that guard the inner vestibule. The esplanade is lighted by monumental bronze lamp standards, from which clusters of electric lights blaze at night; and four big clock dials, each twelve feet in diameter, look down from the granite walls.

There are six other public entrances to the building, and the stairways are so ample that if placed side by side they would form steps 100 feet broad.

There is an elevated terminal, reached by two elevated approaches of four tracks each, and a train shed 840 feet long and 320 feet wide that contains sixteen tracks, each with a capacity of fifteen cars.

The approaches alone to this structure embrace some thirty acres of ground; fifteen acres for the north and an equal amount for the west approach. This is entirely separate, and in addition to the old main lines.

Between Kinzie street and Madison street and Clinton and Canal streets some thirteen acres is occupied by the tracks and station. It is difficult to comprehend the magnitude of the building; for instance, the area of the basement is over two acres; the street floor of the station building is one and three-fourth acres; the train shed six acres.

There is practically ten acres of floor space devoted to public use.

The new terminal occupies practically four entire city blocks, bounded by Madison street on the south, Kinzie street on the north, Clinton street on the west and Canal street on the east, passing over Washington and Randolph streets by means of brilliant lighted subways.

TEASDALE HAS RETIRED

T. W. Teasdale, general passenger agent of the Chicago Northwestern Railway company, has retired from service, after having held this position for about thirty years.

The reason for his retirement, which takes effect today, is ill health. He is one of the best known railroad men in the Northwest, and has a host of friends in Duluth.

His position will be taken today by G. N. MacRae, who for many years was assistant general passenger agent. E. A. Pardee, traveling passenger agent has been advanced to the position of assistant general passenger agent. No announcement has been made as to the successor of Mr. Pardee.

RAILROAD WILL FOUND SCHOOL

The first agricultural school established and maintained by a railroad is to be built soon by the Northern Pacific Railway company somewhere between Brainerd and International Falls. Soil from this district has been analyzed by the agricultural authorities, who have pronounced it of excellent quality.

The railway company will take an active part in the development of the northern part of the state, and after the completion of the first school, it will have other similar institutions established. It is believed that these farm schools will have an attraction to people interested in farming, and that they will be instrumental in drawing many to unsettled lands in this part of the state.

D. E. Willard of St. Paul, development agent for the company, was in the city during the last two days and explained that the school would be erected somewhere on the M. & I. line, and that the location would be selected by Prof. Cooper of the state university.

ANNUAL MEETING IS POSTPONED.

The annual meeting of the directors of the Duluth & Iron Range Railway company, which is generally held in June, has been postponed until after the arrival of P. E. House, president and general manager of the company, who is now in Europe, and will not return until July 12.

MORE RUMORS ABOUT THE PERE MARQUETTE.

Thompson, Towle & Co., brokers of New York, say:

A prominent banker of the Northwest writes us: "I have read with interest your news bulletin regarding Pere Marquette, and especially what you say as to the probability of the property being acquired by some large system.

"There are quiet but persistent rumors up here that this property is destined to fall into Canadian Pacific hands either directly or through the Soo Line, and a glance at the map would show why these rumors obtain more or less credence in railroad circles.

"The Pere Marquette would thus form a connecting link between the Canadian Pacific at Detroit and the Wisconsin Central at Chicago, besides giving the Canadian Pacific the much discussed entrance into Chicago. In addition to this, a very important through line across Lake Michigan from the Northwest to Eastern points would be established.

"The Pere Marquette operates carferries across Lake Michigan which connect on the Wisconsin side of the lake with the Wisconsin Central road. Freight, such as flour and grain, from the Northwest could be be delivered to the Canadian Pacific at Detroit or could be turned over at Detroit to Eastern lines for an exchange of traffic. The trouble with Pere Marquette seems to be that it needs a feeder for long distance traffic, at one end of it at least, and if the Canadian Pacific people should get hold of it they would be in a position to divert at once a large volume of both east and west bound through freight. It seems to me that Canadian Pacific operating methods such as obtain on the Soo road and, since its acquisition, on the Wisconsin Central, and with the large volume of through business which could at once be diverted to the Pere Marquette, a very valuable property could be made of this road.

"It seems, of course, very easy for one man to run ano her man's business for him, and it seems especially easy lately for outsiders to show railroad men how to 'save their bacon,' but this Pere Marquette proposition certainly looks interesting, and as I said before there are persistent rumors up here that the big road across the border will get the Pere Marquette."

FOUR MEN DRAW FIRE ENGINE

Two policemen and two firemen took the place of a team of horses and hauled the heavy fire engine at New Duluth for several hundred feet to a fire which broke out at 1 o'clock this morning at the Hudson Steam laundry on Commonwealth avenue.

By quick work on the part of Firemen C. H. Pearson and E. Crager and Patrolmen Brouillette and Rook, the blaze was put out before more than $200 damage was done. The blaze, which was confined to the rear of the building, is believed to have started from spontaneous combustion.

After hauling the fire engine to the scene of the blaze it was necessary to go back to the fire hall and haul the hose wagon to the fire. The city fire department furnishes no team for the engine at New Duluth and every time a fire occurs at the suburb, which requires the engine, the first team to arrive is paid $5 for the trouble.

Colossal Use of Sugar

It costs Americans over $1,000,000 a day to keep themselves in sweets, according to statistics. Seven billion pounds each year are consumed in this country, which is more per capita than any other country in the world. Americans are a discriminating nation, and do not deny themselves good things. That is why the output of golden grain belt beers is increasing yearly by leaps and bounds. Their wonderful digestive assistance and tonic effect gain them friends everywhere. Your dealer or duluth branch Minneapolis brewing company will supply you.

ADVANCE IS NEARLY LOST

Wheat Bulges, Then Declines —Profits Taken—Rain in Nebraska.

Showers in Northwest, Foreign Advices More Favorable —Linseed Up.

Duluth Board of Trade, June 5.—Wheat advanced and then declined. July advanced ¼c to ⅝c. September gained ⅛c. Durum July gained ¼c. Cash wheat was ⅝@½c over July. Oats gained ¼c, rye was unchanged.

Linseed was sharply higher. A few buying orders found offerings scarce. July gained 10c, September 10c and October 10c. Cash equaled July.

Wheat opened sharply higher and advanced steadily but toward the close there was a disposition to proceed with caution and longs took profits. The strength at Winnipeg was remarkable. A Canadian miller was said to be bulling wheat. Prices for wheat at Winnipeg were more than a cent higher than in Duluth at Brooklyn time today's session which certainly is no argument on the side of the interests who have been opposing reciprocity.

Bullish sentiment is more general than for some time although many people look for a setback as they think the advance has been too rapid. Even those people who concede that fundamental conditions are bearish admit the swing of speculative sentiment to the bull side. With reports of extreme damage to the wheat in the Southwest from dry weather and heat came buying orders which helped to sustain the market when it gave signs of weakening. Small speculators have not made any money on the short side recently and are willing to espouse the bull side if they think they see any chances of making money. The danger to the longs now lies in the fact that the market is in a position to become quickly overbought. Also, the menace of large cash supplies and a slow demand is continually above their heads.

Wheat in Kansas and Missouri is ripening fast. The yield will vary greatly in different localities and it will be difficult to forecast the yield. Cutting of wheat will begin in Missouri next week. The Texas and Oklahoma crops are practically failures, according to men who returned yesterday from trips to those states, said messages from Kansas City and St. Louis.

Showers fell in some parts of Nebraska today and helped to weaken the market toward the close. In the Northwest there were scattered rains. The Canadian Northwest had good rains and has enough moisture to last a month. There seems to be no relief in sight for the Southwest. However, hot weather seldom hurts wheat when it is heading out and the reports of damage may be greatly overestimated in the meantime the leading speculators have been devoting their money and talent to putting up prices.

A cable from Roumania said that wheat has been greatly benefited by timely rains and prospects are favorable. A cable from Odessa said that the winter wheat crop is approaching maturity in an unfavorable position, while spring wheat is looking good and conditions are favorable for its growth. A semi-official Russian report said that the condition of winter wheat in the Southwest, South Central and Southeast portions of that country is unsatisfactory.

World's shipments are large. The total shipments of breadstuffs up to Saturday night, according to Broomhall, were 16,584,000 bu. The visible in the United States last week decreased slightly more than 700,000 bu.

MARKET GOSSIP

Chicago Tribune: The proposed amendment to the rules to prevent cornering will, it is asserted by its friends, insure a level of prices based on normal supply and demand, thus securing that protection to merchandising and milling interests so absolutely essential to the welfare of producers and consumers, and the disturbance of which by manipulation and cornering is so offensive to the public and so productive of hostile legislation.

Inasmuch as the operation of the proposed rule would be to enforce settlement in case of non-delivery, on actual value basis plus the penalty, the manipulation of the market up or down could not result in profit to the manipulator, for in either case the basis of settlement would be what the commodity was found to be actually worth as judged by its value at surrounding primary and Eastern and foreign markets, or for disposition to interior milling interests.

The committee would bring the price to be settled on to this basis and the penalty, which would not be less than 5 per cent, would fully prevent defaulting and likewise would be effective in preventing cornering, because of its being too small a profit to make manipulation attractive. Care should be used not to make the penalty so high that it would amount to a sufficient profit to invite manipulation when prices are normally high, as might easily be the case if the penalty should be arbitrarily fixed by rule, as some suggest, at 10 per cent. The elasticity allowed the committee of a minimum of 5 per cent and a maximum of 10 per cent, it is claimed, is more comprehensive.

Small specialators have not made any money on the short side recently and are willing to espouse the bull side if they think they see any chances of making money. The danger to the longs now lies in the fact that the market is in a position to become quickly overbought. Also, the menace of large cash supplies and a slow demand is continually above their heads.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Hot and Dry Weather Turn Wheat Prices Upward.

Chicago, June 5.—Unseasonably hot and dry conditions over almost the entire winter wheat belt gave prices an upward swing this morning. Official forecast of a warm week added impetus to the feeling in favor of lifting the market level. Besides, there was at hand a semi-official report which told of an unsatisfactory crop outlook throughout the southern portion of Russia. Cash demand here, however, was reported to be strong, even as compared with futures. Opening figures were ⅜@1c up. Commission business was on such a big scale that individual houses were lost sight of. On the bulge, heavy selling took place, and calmed the market down. July started at 93½@93¾c, a gain of ⅜@⅝c and reacted to 93¼c.

After a fresh advance, the market receded on account of suspicion that the big longs were unloading. The close was easy with July at 93⅜c, exactly the same as Saturday night.

Corn showed strength on account of small receipts and because farmers were not selling freely. There was also complaint in regard to deficient moisture in many districts. July opened ⅛@¼c higher at 54⅞@55c, and rose to 55⅛c.

A further advance followed but prices reacted when wheat fell off. The close was easy at 54⅝c for July, a net decline of ⅛c.

Trade in oats was excited, and the market scored the best advance of any of the cereals. An official statement that the Missouri crop had fallen 27 points under last month and 29 behind last year, formed the chief reason. July started ⅜@1c up at 37⅜@38c, and finally steadied at 37⅝c.

Provisions though rather slow climbed higher with grain and hogs. First sales were 5@15c up with September delivery $14.35 for pork, $8.22½ for lard and $7.90 for ribs.

Cotton Market.

New York, June 5.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 3@6 points on a renewal of Saturday's buying movement, but the initial advance which carried October contracts up to 13.41 or into new high grounds, attracted heavy releasing and there was local selling based on prospects for rains or showers in the Eastern belt. Prices eased off in consequence, and active new crop months sold a couple of points under the closing figures of Saturday during the early trading; but offerings were well absorbed and the market later was steady with prices about unchanged to 3 points higher.

Spot closed quiet, 10 points higher; middling uplands, 15.90; middling gulf, 16.15; sales, 400 bales.

DEMAND IS LESSENED

New York, June 5.—There were few marked changes in the opening transactions today on the stock exchange. United States Steel and Erie were the most active issues, the former varying from ¼ above to ¼ below Saturday's close in the first few minutes on sales of 6,500 shares. The demand for Erie was unusually keen, and the price was forced up ⅝. Canadian Pacific, Consolidated Gas and North American also gained ⅝, while Union Pacific lost the same amount.

Some disappointment was shown over the action of the market after Saturday's display of strength, and there was considerable selling for both accounts after business got well under way. St. Paul, Northwestern, American Smelting and International Harvester were driven a point under last week's close and other stocks a substantial fraction. Subsequently Atchison was marked up briskly to 116⅝ and the rest of the market hardened slightly.

The demand for stocks was lessened today and the market exhibited a slightly reactionary tendency. It was evident at the opening that the volume of orders which had accumulated over the week-end was not as large as has been expected and bear traders seized the opportunity to sell. There was also a considerable amount of profit-taking. The market withstood the selling after the first setback and made some recovery. Specialties forged to the front in the second hour's trading. The accumulation of Consolidated Gas which went up 2⅝, was responsible in large part for the revival of pool activities in other issues. Electric stocks and some of the minor low priced shares were taken at rising prices. Westinghouse, Union Gas, Westinghouse Electric and General Electric gained 2 points each. At noon railroad stocks were improving under the lead of the Hill issues which were selling a point above Saturday's closing. Bonds were steady.

Special movements occurred in a few industrial stocks, but the speculative favorites were without essential changes during the mid-afternoon trading. Underwood Typewriter jumped 6 points to 90.

The market closed firm. Several stocks which had not shared proportionately in the recent rise in prices were taken in hand in the final hour. Norfolk & Western was bought in round amounts and went up 1⅜ to 109⅜. Rock Island pushed up above 34. These movements had little effect on the rest of the list which soon after began to sell off. Toward the close there was a general improvement, the buying of Atchison, United States Steel and Erie being instrumental in rallying prices.

COPPERS WEAKEN; THEN ADVANCE

The copper market opened weak and depressed and values declined. Toward the close shorts took profits and the market rallied closing unchanged to slightly higher than Saturday. The bank statement Saturday was unfavorable and the political situation is causing some unrest. The copper metal situation continues in a fair shape. Foreign reports from the Southwest caused some selling in the Southwestern rails. Reports that prospects for a reciprocity agreement seem brighter, brought buying in the Northwestern rails toward the close, causing the general market to become firmer.

W. A. Eaton, president of the Summit Copper company, has returned from a visit to the mine. He said that intermediate vein on the 600-level carries twenty inches of good milling ore. The vein was only six inches wide on the 400-level which leads Mr. Eaton to believe that an increased width of the Pasquale vein may be expected on the 600-level. The drift in the south Pasquale on the 400-level is in excellent ore. The vein is five feet wide. Between two and three feet of the mineral carries 18 per cent copper.

Plans, said Mr. Eaton, are being drawn for a concentrator which will be constructed at the Summit property.

SENATORS TO AMEND TRADE PACT

Root Reciprocity Amendment Favored in Modified Form.

Seven Republicans and Three Democrats Will Vote for It.

Issue Will Not Come on the Senate Floor Before July 15.

Washington, June 6.—Hopes of the administration that the finance committee of the senate would report out the Canadian reciprocity bill unamended were dashed today when, after a brief executive session of the committee, it was learned that the Root amendment to the paper and wood pulp section probably would be adopted in modified form.

It was said that in addition to seven Republican members of the committee, Senators Bailey, Simmons and Johnson, Democrats, would vote for the amendment, while Senators Penrose and Cullom are declared to be with the three Democrats in opposing it, thus presaging the adoption of the amendment by a vote of 10 to 5. Final consideration of the measure will be begun by the committee tomorrow.

Amendment by Root.

The amendment offered by Senator Root provides that the paper and wood pulp section of the bill shall not be in force until the president "shall have satisfactory evidence and shall make proclamation that such wood pulp, paper and board, being the products of the United States, are admitted into all the provinces of Canada free of duty."

It is contended by its opponents, that the amendment, raising the question of the Dominion government's jurisdiction over the provinces, will endanger the measure, a contention that is refuted by those who believe in the provision. The modification of the amendment may have an important bearing upon the situation.

Knox Unable to Appear.

Secretary of State Knox was expected to appear before the committee today to explain the agreement between the two governments, but he was prevented, he sent word, by important engagements. The secretary said he

CAN SUSPEND REDUCED RATE

Interstate Commerce Commission Rules on Point of Authority.

Washington, June 6.—Power to suspend a reduction in freight rates is vested in the interstate commerce commission by law. This was the determination of the commission in a decision announced today in the Fort Worth, Tex., and Oklahoma City packing house case. The application for a suspension in the case was denied.

SICK FARMER DROWNS HIMSELF

Olaf Jacobson Leaps Into Red River at Grandin, N. D.

Grandin, N. D., June 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Despondent over long-continued illness, Olaf Jacobson jumped from the Red river bridge and was drowned. Jacobson and his wife and five children lived on a farm five miles northeast of here. Mrs. Jacobson was accompanying him to see a physician at Hendrum, Minn., and they had just crossed the bridge when the sick man jumped from the rig, ran back to the center of the bridge and sprang over the rail. His body has not been recovered.

PUMP WATER FROM WRECK OF MAINE

Top and Sides of the Afterdeck Are Coming Into View.

Havana, June 6.—The work of pumping the water out of the coffer-dam which was built around the wreck of the battleship Maine was resumed this morning. At 9 o'clock the water had been lowered to a total extent of 3 feet 2 inches. At that time the top and sides of the wreck's afterdeck were beginning to come into view and the sighting hood of the after turret on the port side was just awash.

The greater part of the afterdeck is now clearly visible, showing the confused masses of wreckage covered with marine growths. The forward part of the ship, upon which the greatest force of the explosion was exerted, is still submerged.

BUSINESS MEN FOR ARBITRATION

One Hundred and Thirty-Eight Boards of Trade Heard From.

Boston, Mass., June 6.—The headquarters of the World Peace Foundation here announced today the receipt of resolutions indorsing President Taft's negotiations of unreserved arbitration with Great Britain from 138 of the leading boards of trade and chambers of commerce in the United States. These bodies, it is stated, represent the almost unanimous sentiment of the leading business men of their several cities, and the cities thus heard from have a combined population of 19,000,000. The resolutions and many of the accompanying letters will be forwarded to the foreign relations committee of the senate.

FRENCH INDORSE ARBITRATION IDEA

Chambers of Commerce Are Acting on American Plan.

Paris, June 6.—The American chamber of commerce in Paris, which transmitted the resolutions adopted by the New York chamber of commerce favoring unrestricted arbitration between the United States and France to the forty-five chambers of commerce in this country, has already received six enthusiastic replies. The chambers indorsing the project include those of Bordeaux, Rouen, Dunkerque and Troyes.

BATTLESHIP ENDS MISSISSIPPI CRUISE.

New Orleans, La., June 6.—The battleship Idaho sailed for Pensacola this morning to refill bunkers and await the return of other vessels of the fleet from Galveston. Sixty thousand dollars was distributed among the crew yesterday.

Before leaving Admiral Ward by wireless congratulated Capt. Dunn of the Idaho upon the successful termination of the 500-mile voyage up the Mississippi river to Vicksburg.

CLAIMS COX IS INDICTED

Prosecutor Seeking to Keep Alive One Perjury Charge.

Arguments Against Action of Court Are Commenced.

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 6.—Whether the attempts of Prosecuting Attorney Henry Hunt to keep alive one of the indictments charging George B. Cox with perjury are to result in success or failure, depends upon the outcome of arguments begun before a special circuit court here today. Three judges of the Second Ohio judicial district—Dustin, Allread and Fernedring—listened to the debate.

The hearing was on the prosecutor's mandamus suit against Judge William Dickson of the court of common pleas, who handed down the decision quashing both Cox indictments on material grounds.

Says Judge Erred.

The prosecutor claims that Judge Dickson should have allowed him to elect upon which of the two indictments the motion to quash was argued, and seeks to have the circuit court so order.

Judge Dickson, Joseph Kinney, who is the clerk of his court, and an attorney allied with the Cox forces have been subpoenaed to appear at the hearing. It is supposed that their testimony, if given, will relate to the manner in which the entries recording Judge Dickson's decision were spread on the court books.

DISCUSS WORK OF CATHOLIC WOMEN

Society of St. Vincent De Paul Continues Its Sessions.

Boston, June 6.—The field and work of the woman's auxiliaries furnished the topic for discussion at the forenoon session of the annual convention of the Society of St. Vincent De Paul, which continued today.

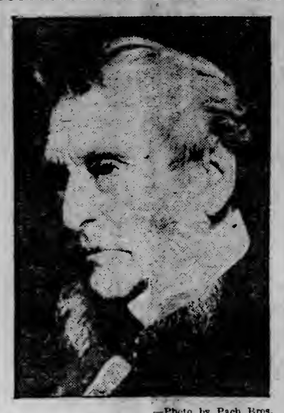

Following the presentation of papers dealing with these topics the meeting was thrown open for the general discussion, the questions of the ladies' guilds, nurseries, settlement houses, hygiene of the home, protection of girls and economic housekeeping being informally considered by the delegates.

Important economic problems were discussed as sub-topics. The varied views of the delegates were brought on the question of a living wage, women as supplementary wage-earners, the relation between income and expenditure, family recreation and social welfare and moral sanitary conditions in the tenement house.

DATE OF BANKERS' MEETING IS FIXED.

New Orleans, La., June 6.—The executive committee of the New Orleans clearing house association announces that the time of the American Bankers' association convention has been fixed for Nov. 21 to 24. The dates are subject to the approval of General Secretary F. E. Farnsworth, who will arrive here June 12 to discuss plans with the executive committee.

INCENDIARY IS SUICIDE

Chicago Police Believe They Are on Trail of Organized Gang.

Leopold Dreyfus Kills Himself After Having Confessed.

Chicago, June 6.—Leopold Dreyfus of the firm of L. Dreyfus & Co., committed suicide today after confessing, the police declare, that he was a party to the burning of his place of business in Market street last Saturday afternoon.

The confession, according to the police, may throw light on other fires in the downtown district, and is regarded by the officials as evidence of the existence of an organized band of incendiaries who, for a stipulated price, offer to set fire to business houses.

Policeman in the House.

Dreyfus and his brother were arrested yesterday afternoon, and after the confession, Leopold Dreyfus was permitted to go to his home in the custody of a policeman. While in another room today Dreyfus shot himself through the head. When the policeman reached him he was dead.

NEW YORK HAS NORTHEASTER

Cool Air and Drizzle in East and Hot Weather in Southwest.

New York, June 6.—Canadian weather reciprocity is said to be responsible for a partial breaking of the drouth in the northeastern part of the country.

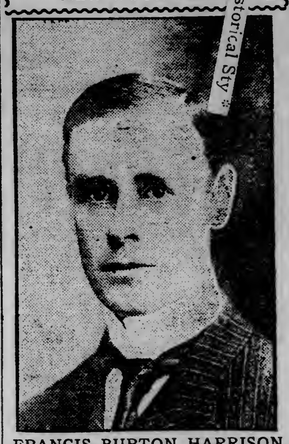

From a big bank of atmosphere over Nova Scotia and Newfoundland a cool, moist northeaster has been slipping down through New England and the middle states for the past twenty-four hours, bringing with it gentle but persistent rains throughout the district, ranging from .42 of an inch in this city to 1.1 inches at Albany.

Hot in the Southwest.

Kansas City, Mo., June 6.—Hot weather was general throughout the southwest yesterday. Few government weather stations reported the temperature to have been less than 90. At Junction City, Kan., the high mark of 104 was recorded. High temperatures at other points were: Muskogee, 95; Topeka, 97.2; Joplin and Wichita, 94. Shortly after 4 o'clock the mercury climbed to 98 here. Prostrations were reported from Muskogee and Wichita.

A heavy rain fell at Montgomery, Mo., following a long dry period. When the rain began falling, the thermometer registered 98. At Kirksville, Mo., the temperature reached 105 in the shade. The same degree was recorded at Phillipsburg, Kan., where rain fell, accompanied by hail.

STATE LOANS AUTHORIZED

Investment Board Grants Cook County's $45,000 Application.

City of Ely Will Get $30,000 and Other Sums Are Provided.

St. Paul, Minn., June 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Although Cook county taxpayers have been complaining against the proposed bond issue to build a new courthouse at Grand Marais, and have threatened proceedings to prevent the collection of their taxes, the state investment board yesterday authorized a loan of $45,000 to the county to be used for the building.

A number of the taxpayers have been complaining lately of the high tax levy. Property values are low and much of the land is public land and not taxable, and therefore a $45,000 building comes high. The investment board thought if the county board had decided to borrow, it might as well borrow from the state as from private parties.

Ely Gets $30,000.

A total of $238,000 was loaned out by the board yesterday. The city of Ely gets $30,000 for municipal buildings. The village of Caledonia gets $30,000 and the village of Clara City $10,000.

School District No. 65, Anoka county, gets $15,000; District No. 1, Le Sueur county, $10,000; District No. 47, Lyon county, $10,000; Districts Nos. 80 and 145, Stearns county, $12,000 each.

WOMAN FREED OF POISONING CHARGE

Jury Believes Man When He Denies Wife Gave Him Strychnine.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 6.—Mrs. Minnie Strohacker was acquitted today of the charge of having administered strychnine to her husband, George Strohacker, on Jan. 7 last.

Strohacker was employed in a local grain elevator and became seriously ill after eating his noonday lunch. Physicians found that strychnine had been placed on a slice of bread.

Strohacker lay at the point of death for a long time. He refused to believe that his wife was in any way connected with the poisoning, and supported her through the trial.

RUSHLIGHT WINS PORTLAND VOTES

Mayor Simon Is Beaten in Effort for Re-Election.

Portland, Or., June 6.—Although complete returns from yesterday's municipal election have not been received, it is evident that the plurality of A. G. Rushlight, regular Republican nominee for mayor, over Joseph Simon, independent Republican, his nearest competitor, will be between 3,000 and 3,500 votes. Mayor Simon was formerly United States senator from Oregon.

George H. Thomas, Democrat, ran third with Charles H. Otten, Socialist, fourth. According to incomplete returns, J. Allen Harrison, Prohibitionist, received less than 1,000 votes. About 27,000 votes out of a registration of 37,655 were cast.

IOWA EAGLES OPEN ANNUAL CONVENTION.

Des Moines, Iowa, June 6.—The sixth annual convention of the Fraternal Order of Eagles of Iowa was opened here today with nearly 1,000 delegates and visitors in attendance. Each train into the city is bringing additonal Eagles and the total number who will participate in the three-days' program is expected to reach 2,500. The opening session was held this morning with State President L. I. Evans of Council Bluffs presiding.

WHOLESALE CRITICISMS IN REPORT

Taft, the Republicans and the Tariff Board Scored.

Democrats of House Committee Submit New Wool Tariff.

Defend Duty on Raw Article By Saying Money Is Needed.

Washington, June 6.—Sharply criticizing President Taft, the Republicans and the tariff board, the report on the Underwood wool bill was submitted to the house today by the Democratic members of the ways and means committee.

Quoting President Taft's address after the passage of the Payne-Aldrich bill, in which he declared that "the woolen schedule is indefensible and I propose to say so," the report says:

"Had the president made these public admissions earlier, while the tariff of 1905 was under consideration by congress, his declarations would have been of real service to the people and would have enabled them to protect against the betrayal of the public welfare to private greed.

Responsibility on Taft.

"The president's silence at that time and his approval of the act of 1909, make it impossible for him to evade his full share of responsibility for the failure of revision which he now admits."

The report deals at some length with the attitude of the administration in not communicating to congress data on the "steel trust," and other industries now being investigated, and the failure of the tariff board to communicate data on the woolen industry.

Tariff Board Rapped.

"The position of the tariff board appears to be," says the report, "that they, in conference with and under the sole control of the president, shall be the sole judges as to what part of the data they collect may be likely to

TWO GERMAN BOYS ARE REAL PIRATES

Capture Schooner and Murder Owner When He Resists.

Cuxhaven, Germany, June 6.—Two youths of 17 years who had carefully prepared an expedition of piracy, seized a fishing schooner here today. They were armed with rifles and plenty of ammunition, and when the owner of the vessel attempted to recover his boat they shot him dead.

Several other vessels in the harbor attempted to capture the schooner, but they were stood off by the "pirates" until the arrival of a force of police in a government steamer, when the young men were overpowered.

MINISTERS ARE HURLED TO EARTH

Wife of Host Waves Kerchief and Scares Horses---One Man May Die.

Ross, Cal., June 6.—The flutter of a woman's handkerchief caused the horses drawing a new fire engine on which a group of ministers were riding to shy, throwing the heavy engine against a tree and precipiating the clergymen to the pavement. One of them, Rev. Cecil Marrack, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal church, San Francisco, died from his injuries. Rev. H. C. Carroll of Ross was perhaps fatally hurt. Four others were painfully bruised. The ministers were the guests of Rev. Mr. Carroll and it was the latter's wife who waved the handkerchief in greeting that frightened the horses.

WATERWORKS MEETING OPENS

Delegates From All Parts of the Country Are Present.

Rochester, N. Y., June 6.—With delegates present from all parts of the United States and Canada, the thirty-first annual convention of the American Waterworks' association was opened here today by President John W. Alvord of this city. The day's program included papers on "Fire Line Meters—a Comparison of Efficiency," by George Houston; "Pumping Station Management," by Thomas McMillan, and a discussion on the subject of "Some Fundamental Consideration in the Determination of a Reasonable Return for Public Hydrant Service."

In connection with the convention an exhibit of all kinds of apparatus familiar to the work of waterworks engineers is on display. The convention will continue in session for four days.

FORMER COUNTY CHARGES ARE SENT BACK FROM NORWAY

After being absent for two years, a former Duluth family, that was supported largely by St. Louis county during twenty years' residence here, is back from a stay in Norway.

They were sent back to the United States by the Norwegian government. As they are citizens of this country, Uncle Sam had to accept them, although he knew that he would have to contribute to their support. It cost the Norwegian government something like $375 to send the father, mother and seven children back to the United States.

It is one of the most unusual cases that has ever come to the attention of Poor Commissioner Charles Shogran. For many years the family had obtained help from the county. The father worked but little. He believed that the world owed him a living. He said that, as there are but few poor people in St. Louis county, the county could all the better afford to take care of his family. He states that it is a pity a county as rich as St. Louis cannot support him, his wife and the few children.

He has been back now just one week and this morning he appeared at the poor office and greeted Mr. Shogran as a long lost brother. Mr. Shogran was not as enthusiastic as he was, but he admitted that he had missed his weekly trips to the office.

Two years ago this man became tired of living in the United States. He went around to the business houses and solicited aid until he had enough money to take his family to the old country. There they again lived off the state. That got tiresome to the Norwegian government and they were finally shipped back here.

The man is able bodied, speaks good English and has a fair education. He still has $40 of the money given him to make the trip by the Norwegian government. He came in this morning to greet Mr. Shogran and warn the county that after the $40 is gone, he will have to be cared for.

Mr. Shogran says that he will have to make himself a candidate for a job for even though St. Louis county is rich, it is not going to support families of this kind.

SALOON KEEPER PAYS HIS FINE

Last of The Proctor Cases Disposed of in District Court.

George O'Toole, the Proctor saloon keeper, who was convicted of keeping his place of business open on Sunday and also of selling liquor to minors, appeared in court this morning and paid his fine which amounted to $200, $100 on each case.

The cases against the Proctor saloon keepers were brought by a Proctor woman and the pastor of one of the Proctor churches.

They claimed that the saloons were kept open each Sunday and that liquor was sold to minors. They proved their assertions and several saloon keepers paid fines. The O'Toole case was the last one to come up. It was tried some time ago.

It is said that prior to the bringing of the cases Proctor ran wide open and men who were too lazy to walk to the saloons were in the habit of sending their children for liquor.

The woman who brought the case claimed also that all her husband's money was spent at the saloons and that as a result she and her children were forced to give up the necessities of life.

She sent her son to each of the saloons with money to pay for liquor and in this way secured the evidence on which the saloon keepers were convicted.

JOHN SULLIVAN PASSES AWAY

Was One of First Members of Duluth's Fire Department.

John Sullivan, 65 years of age, one of the pioneer residents of Duluth, died last evening at St. Mary's hospital of heart disease of long standing. He has been a citizen of Duluth since 1880 and was one of the first members of the paid fire department.

He has been making his home with his brother, J. H. Sullivan of 323 West Third street, and is survived by two other brothers, C. P. Sullivan of Detroit and Dennis Sullivan of Greenville, Mich.; two sisters, Mrs. John McNamara of 23 Second avenue west and Mrs. Thomas Tague of the St. Regis flats, and one son, John Sullivan.

The funeral will take place Thursday morning at 9 o'clock from the residence of J. H. Sullivan, 323 West Third street, and from the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart, Second avenue west and Fourth street, at 9:30 o'clock. Interment will be at Calvary cemetery.

JOSEPH CATHERWOOD IS OUT OF TOBACCO

Joseph Catherwood is out of smoking tobacco.

Joseph is the greatest smoker who ever deigned to grace the St. Louis county inn with his august presence.

The sum of seventy cents which he had when he went into the institution about two weeks ago, is all gone and so is the last of his tobacco.

He called his wife up at the Bethel home this morning and she scurried around in hot haste to get him a pipe mixture.

Catherwood simply cannot live without tobacco and the jailers to whom he appealed this morning expressed their sorrow.

Catherwood is the man who came to Duluth with his family from Winnipeg some little time ago and at once appealed to the Associated Charities for aid. After they had rented a house for him he kicked on the location and when they sent him a bill of groceries he kicked because tobacco was not included.

He is in jail at the present time awaiting to be deported. His wife is at the Bethel home where she kicks because they use green tea, claiming that she is used to black.

CHARGED WITH ROBBERY.

William Wilson Alleged to Have Taken Purse From Man's Pocket.

William Wilson was arrested last evening by Patrolman Andree in a St. Croix avenue saloon on a charge of having robbed Matt Hill of his purse containing $25.20. It is alleged that Wilson took the pocketbook out of Hill's pocket as he was walking along the avenue shortly after 10 o'clock. He is said to have run into the saloon, where he locked himself in a back room. When arraigned in police court this morning, his hearing was set for tomorrow morning. The money he is alleged to have stolen was not found on his person when he was searched at headquarters.

Discriminatory Conditions Corrected in Great Northern's New Tariff.

Northern Pacific's Revised Schedule Is Also Received in Duluth.

A superficial examination of the new tariff schedule of the Great Northern railway discloses the fact that, although rates are generally increased, readjustments under the new tariff give Duluth jobbers commercial advantages they have not had previously and open new territory to competition between Duluth and Twin City houses.

G. Roy Hall, secretary of the Duluth traffic commission, has received copies of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific tariffs, which will become effective July 1. It is thought that the other railroads operating in Minnesota also filed their new schedules with the interstate commerce commission in time to have them become effective July 1, allowing thirty days as required by the interstate law. The Great Northern and Northern Pacific are the only schedules to be received here thus far.

The new Northern Pacific tariff arrived only this morning and Mr. Hall has not had an opportunity to examine it and determine what effect it will have on Duluth. He has given the Great Northern tariff only a cursory examination, but has been able to get some idea of its general effect. Exhaustive comparisons of former rates and new rates will be made by the traffic commission and the effect of the new rates will be determined as soon as possible.

Some time ago the traffic commission requested the railway companies to make certain rate changes to correct conditions which were alleged to be discriminatory against Duluth. Mr. Hall has not yet determined how far the companies have gone in making the changes requested. The Great Northern has made some of the changes and has not made others.

The increases on the Great Northern average about 20 per cent and it is presumed that the other roads have followed a similar course. Some reductions have been made, and some of the increases run up as high as 50 per cent. Class and commodity rates have both been increased in each case, the class rates breaking away from the Minnesota schedule and the commodity rates following.

The rate increases are the result of the decision of Judge W. H. Sanborn that the state railroad and warehouse commission cannot enforce its passenger and freight rate regulations, the court holding that they constitute an interference with interstate business. Although the case has been carried to the United States supreme court, the railroads have decided to take advantage of Judge Sanborn's decision, trusting that a return to the former conditions will not be necessary after the decision of the higher court.

CONTRACT FOR GRAND STAND

Boat Club Will Erect Seats for 1,680 People for Carnival.

The contract for the construction of the grand stand on the dock at the Duluth Boat club, which will be used at the July water carnival, was awarded this morning to I. D. Campbell & Co., on their bid of $1,495, which was the lowest received.

The specifications call for a stand 400 feet long and seven tiers in height. It is expected to hold 1,680 people.

J. Roy was the next bidder, with $1,655 and the highest bid was $2,600. There were nine bidders in all. Construction on the grand stand is due to start in a few days.

About 1,200 seats have already been sold at $2 apiece to club members, and this revenue will be nearly sufficient to pay the expenses of the regatta itself. The regatta expenses are paid by the club and are kept separate from the general carnival expenses.

BALL TEAM FOR COURTHOUSE

The employes of the county are organizing a ball team with which to defeat the employes of the Douglas county courthouse.

The clerks were figuring out the lineup this morning and they found it some job, for there are several candidates for each job.

The last time the two teams met, which was two years ago, the Douglas county men were the victors. It is to wipe out this sting of two years back that the ball team is being organized at the local courthouse.

The county employes have a notion they can beat The Herald team and that is a dispute which will be settled after the courthouse nine wins or loses a reputation in the game with the Douglas county team.

NEW COURTS WILL BE READY SATURDAY

The new tennis courts at Oatka will be ready for play Saturday, according to the statement of Wilbur Kitchil, captain of the field department of the Duluth Boat club.

Tennis at the club is in full blast at the present time, there being crowded courts at the main house Sunday morning and afternoon. With the opening of the new courts it is expected that tennis will become the most popular amusement at the club.

As soon as the new courts are completed some of the crack players of the club will start preparing for the state tennis tournament, which comes in August and will be played on the courts at Oatka.

The lights over the courts at the main house will be lighted next week, if the present plans are carried out, and night tennis and volley ball will be played.

The women members of the club are taking to the game with more enthusiasm the present season, and the few nice mornings that have made their appearance the present summer, there have been a number of women on the courts at the main house.

CUMMINGS LET GO FOR McGRAW

John Desmond Makes Deal That Gives Duluth a New Outfielder.

Muggsy McGraw, who performed in the right garden last season for Superior, will be with Duluth in a short time, according to the statement of Jawn Desmond, who says he put through the deal. Desmond also stated that McGraw is a corking good baseball player and that his presence will add strength to the team.

"We have a very good ball team," said John, "and the boys will hit their stride soon. Darby has been out of the game and this hurt the chances of the Sox in the series with Winona.

"I have not heard of any other additional players, and still believe that the present lineup will prove strong enough to take first division honors."

It is not known just when McGraw will join the team. He has a bad ankle at the present time, and it will probably be at least a week before he gets into the game. As McGraw is a right fielder, the presumption is that he will play that garden.

Lighting Talks

NUMBER 20 DULUTH, JUNE 6, 1911

Consider These Facts

For all the Electric lights, both arc and incandescent, now supplied to the City, the Duluth-Edison Electric Company receives ONLY $31,658.31 A YEAR.

Inasmuch as the public lighting fund is rigidly limited by the City Charter this company cannot hope to receive any materially larger sum from the City for this lighting service for years to come. But Duluth needs more light, and to meet that need we offer to lower the price of each light so that Duluth can get 93 MORE ARC LIGHTS for the streets for the same amount of money.

For the City to build and operate a Municipal plant to supply simply the number of electric lights now in use means that YOU, Mr. Property-owner, would have to pay MORE THAN THREE TIMES WHAT YOU PAY NOW IN TAXES FOR LIGHTING PURPOSES. For, whether the public lighting is done by this company or by a Municipal plant, its cost can only be met by the taxpayers. There is no other way.

While all other leading American cities pay an average of $68.41, we offer Duluth the exceedingly low price of only $45 a year for each arc light (and FREE lighting worth $1,500 a year), because Duluth is our HOME—this is strictly a HOME COMPANY, conducted by Duluth people and operating nowhere else but in Duluth—and we are vitally interested in the progress and development of this City.

Remember also, that our offer to the City includes, for every lighting customer, FREE renewals of all carbon and gem filament lamps (up to 32-c. p.). This amounts to a 5 per cent reduction on all electric light bills; or, in other words, to virtually a reduction of our incandescent lighting rate from 8 cents to 7.6 cents (7 cents and 6 mills) per kilowatt-hour.

There is just one thing that makes such an offer possible, and that is the large volume of this company's total business. We are willing to SHARE OUR PROSPERITY WITH YOU.

Now, understand, we are not posing as philanthropists; we consider this simply good business policy.

Beginning with the next "Lighting Talk" we shall show you the rates charged today for incandescent electric lighting in all the other leading American cities, so that YOU may have a real basis for comparison of this company's rate. Don't miss that next "Lighting Talk," in next Thursday's Herald.

DULUTH-EDISON ELECTRIC CO.

Sixty-first congress, which the Democratic minority could not limit, require that the revenue from customs duties in the immediate future be maintained at approximately the total of the fiscal year 1910."

Classification Plan Useless.

The committee states that there is no sufficient reason for continuing the complicated and troublesome system of classification of raw wools, characterizing it as a "great burden and annoyance to the customs service and adding to the expense of collecting duties on raw wools."

It is asserted that the average ad valorem rate on manufactures of wool, on the imports and duties as estimated for 1912, would be 42.55 per cent as compared with 90.10 per cent under the schedule in 1910, and the average ad valorem equivalent of duties on raw wool, 20 per cent as compared with 44.31 per cent in 1910.

All the Democratic members of the ways and means committee, with the exception of Francis Burton Harrison of New York, signed the report.

Report by Minority.

The minority report is signed by Representatives Payne, Dalzell, Needham and Longworth.

"For purely political reasons," it says, "this coldblooded measure is brought forward. If it should become a law it would slaughter sheep as in 1894 and close the mills much more universally."

The bill is not drawn on lines for the production of revenue on raw wool, the minority contends, and adds that "with a duty of 20 per cent on wool the duty on the manufactured cloth is too low to enable our manufacturers to pay the wool duty and still compete with imported cloths."

"The wool schedule is difficult and intricate, and directly involves the welfare and living of more than 500,000 people," the report continues. "Without any hearing or new data, with no information later than that of two years ago, this bill is forced upon the house at the mandate of a political caucus. There can be no expectation that it will pass the other house or be even considered there before December next at least."

Gives Lie to Democrats.

The minority report charges that the Democrats give the need for revenue as the real reason for the introduction of the measure. It characterizes the Democratic statements with regard to the condition of the treasury as "absolutely false," and presents treasury statements purporting to refute the Democratic charges of Republican extravagance in expenditures.

eign countries have signified their intention to be present.

Governor Austin L. Crothers will preside at the exercises, which will be held in the Fifth regiment armory from 4 to 6 p. m. At their conclusion, Mayor Preston will give a dinner to about fifty of the guests.

President Taft will return to Washington immediately after the exercises.

Special Train From Washington.

Washington, June 6.—President Taft will make a quick trip to Baltimore to speak at the Cardinal Gibbons jubilee celebration this afternoon. He will be accompanied by Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh, Senator Root of New York, Secretary Hilles and Maj. Butt. His car will be attached to a special train that will carry many congressmen and government officials to the celebration.

The president will spend about two hours in Baltimore, and practically all of that time he will be on the platform in the Fifth regiment armory, where the jubilee exercises are held. Reports that there will be a political conference between Mr. Taft and Former President Roosevelt in Baltimore were denied by White House officials.

New York, June 6.—Theodore Roosevelt went to Baltimore today to deliver an address at the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the elevation of Cardinal Gibbons. He will return tonight.

had forwarded to the committee a communication setting forth his views.

The committee endeavored to agree on a date for a vote on the measure. It was apparent that the members favored July 15 and a recommendation probably will be made to the senate to this effect when the bill is reported.

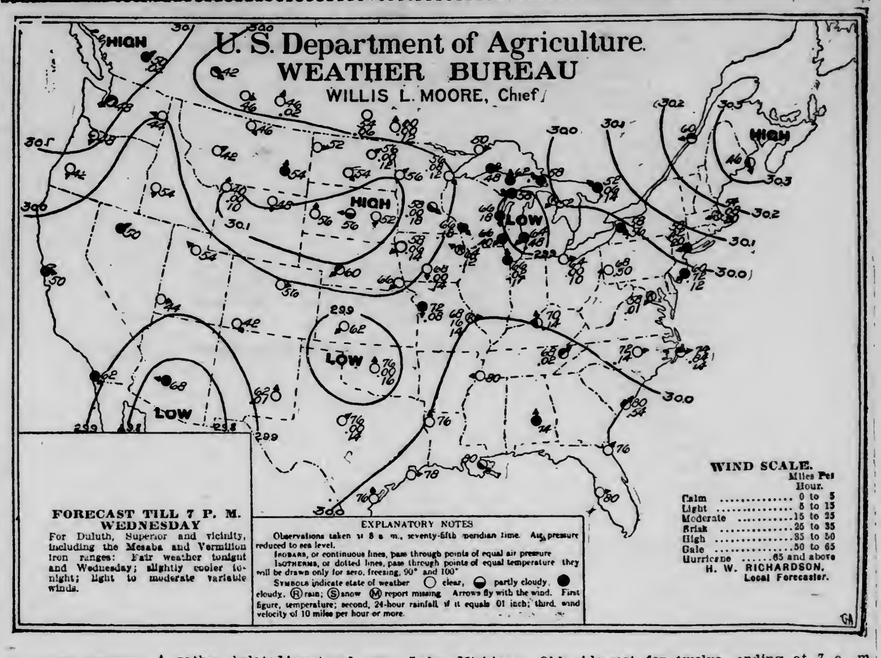

Senator Bailey suggested that July 20 be set aside for a vote on the free list bill and that the wool schedule be acted upon early in August. No definite agreement was reached, however.

The committee will meet again tomorrow, but it is not believed it will be able to take final action on the reciprocity bill at that time.

Both Houses Meet.

This was the first day in many showing both houses of congress in session. The senate was prepared to adopt plans for the new inquiry into the Lorimer case, the committee on privileges and elections having decided yesterday on the personnel of the sub-committee that will actively undertake the investigation. The subcommittee desired at the hands of the senate authority to exercise all the sweeping powers of the full committee.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

FAIR

A rather belated spring arrived today. It's glorious after the brand of weather that has been served to restive Duluthians for the past few weeks. The stores are doing a rushing business in straw hats and it's considered good form to leave off the "weskit" and take to soft-cuffed shirts. It's slightly cool for summer, but let us be joyful while J. Pluvius naps. Cooler weather is promised for this evening.

Fair weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 4:14 and it will set at 7:59, giving fifteen hours and forty-five minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"During the last twenty-four hours light to copious rains fell over the Upper Mississippi and Ohio valleys, Atlantic states, greater portion of the Lake region, Western Manitoba, Southern Saskatchewan, British Columbia and Southern New Mexico in connection with low pressure areas centered over Lake Michigan, Oklahoma and Arizona. Somewhat cooler weather prevails over the Dakotas, Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri, and Lower Ohio valley states as a result of higher barometric pressures over those districts. At the Head of the Lakes fine weather may be expected during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

AGED WRITER SERIOUSLY ILL

no alarming change in the condition of John Bigelow, the veteran diplomat, and author, so far as could be learned here today from his physician. Dr. Milton Powel, upon his return from the Bigelow summer home at Highland Falls last night, said that his patient is suffering from a recurrence of an old malady, which is serious on account of his age, but that Mr. Bigelow is in no immediate danger.

Dr. Bigelow spent last Wednesday morning at his literary labors dictating to his secretary and some times using his pen himself. His present attack came that evening.

Was Ambassador to France.

John Bigelow, United States ambassador to France during the Civil war, lawyer, editor and historian, was 93 years old Nov. 25 last year. Despite his age he has remained actively at work.

On April 30 he returned from a trip abroad, and on May 24 he spoke at the opening of the new public library here as president of the board of trustees. The following day he went to his summer home, "The Squirrels," at Highland Falls, up the Hudson river. There he set to work on his book of memoirs, part of which has already been published.

A book which Mr. Bigelow recently completed is, "Building Temples of Peace with Untempered Mortar." In it he discusses the high cost of living and the tariff. He is president of the board of trustees of the New York public library, a trustee of the American Museum of Art and president of the Century association.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 6.—The New England Furniture & Carpet company yesterday became owner of the half block on First avenue south, between Fifth and Sixth streets, an which stands the building which the company occupies, buying it from the Stewart estate for $700,000.

of the company was $12,000. Fire Attorney Sullivan is co-operating with the police in an endeavor to learn more of the alleged incendiary band.

Suspicious circumstances in the fire, including the finding of several cans which had apparently contained gasoline, in the rooms occupied by L. Dreyfus & Co., clothiers, caused a careful investigation to be made, and Leopold Dreyfus was questioned repeatedly by the police.

Set Fire For $5,000.

The confession, in substance, the police say, was that two men approached Dreyfus and his brother about a week ago and offered to burn the establishment, fixing $5,000 as their price. Dreyfus is declared to have agreed to $2,000 and to have paid down $300, the remainder to be paid when the insurance was collected.

WHOLESALE CRITICISMS IN REPORT

be of service for purposes of legislation; and this situation must be considered with reference to the viewpoint of the president concerning tariff legislation.

"It is therefore not impossible that there may be some such delay in the communication to the congress of statistical information collected by the tariff board concerning wool and woolen goods as there has been in communicating to congress or making public the data by the bureau of corporations concerning investigations of the steel and other industries."

The report maintains that any further delay in the revision of the wool and woolen schedule would be objectionable to the public.

The Duty on Raw Material.

In explaining the determination of the committee not to put raw wool on the free list, but to reduce the present duty to 20 per cent ad valorem, the committee insists, as the Democratic caucus did, that the duty "is not to be construed as an abandonment of any Democratic policy."

"The present situation of the treasury," the report states, "following a long course of unwarranted extravagance by the Republican party and the appropriations already made by the

WHAT TO DO FOR A SICKLY CHILD---TRIAL FREE

Many a mother has written thanks after following these suggestions

It has always been a mooted question just what to do with an ailing child, for mothers disagree and few doctors specialize in it. But this much is certain, that in the majority of cases faulty bowel movement is at the bottom of the trouble.

The first thing, then, to do with a complaining child is to give it a laxative, not a mere fruit-stew or such thing but a genuine, scientific laxative. Many are recommended but few have been found worthy. Among the latter none stands out more prominently than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which mothers in all parts of the country have used for a generation.

It can be obtained of any druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. No child will refuse it as it is not a bad-tasting and violent cathartic pill, but a mild, gentle, non-griping liquid. It has also tonic properties that strengthen and tone the little stomach and bowel muscles so that they begin to do their work naturally again. Mrs. Ella N. Williams of Wathena, Kas., and Mrs. Emma Blakenship of Bedford, Ind., always give their children Syrup Pepsin.

If you hesitate to get even a fifty cent bottle and do not care to ask your neighbor about it (who probably is a user of Syrup Pepsin), then write Dr. Caldwell and he will cheerfully send you a sample bottle free of charge and in this way you can make a test without personal cost. Simply send your name and address to the doctor. A great many thousand mothers have had a free sample in recent years, gave it to the children according to directions and now have healthy, romping youngsters.

Dr. Caldwell does not feel that the purchase of his remedy ends his obligation. He has specialized in stomach, liver and bowel diseases for over forty years and will be pleased to give the reader any advice on the subject free of charge. All are welcome to write him. Whether for the medical advice or the free sample address him Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 541 Caldwell Building, Monticello, Ill.

Stenographer of Former Judge of Probate Sues for $3,240.

The case of Delia Chevrette against Jehu B. Middlecoff for $3,240 salary which she claims never to have received was started this morning before Judge Dibell of the district court.

H. B. Fryberger and James Wharton appear for the defendant and Judge Bonham appears for Miss Chevrette.

Miss Chevrette claims that from January, 1903 until June 28, 1907, she worked for Judge Middlecoff, doing special work, for which he promised to pay when the Tanner case, a case then pending in federal court, should be settled.

She claims that the Tanner case was settled in the month of July, 1910, and that no part of the money has as yet been paid to her.

Miss Chevrette claims that the work done for Mr. Middlecoff was done while she was a clerk in the probate office while he was judge. She asks in addition to the $3,240 that she be given interest on the money at 6 per cent.

Evans of Stark county, who yesterday confessed to receiving a bribe from an Akron, Ohio, loan agent in connection with the salary loan bill before the legislature the last session, afterward going before the grand jury, today resumed his testimony before that body.

Rumors are current that Evans is revealing facts involving several other members of the legislature. Another grand jury report may be made before the end of the week.

CHURCH DEBATES MEMBERS' DRESS

Elder Miller of the Brethren Defends Himself for Voting.

St. Joseph, Mo., June 6.—The first business session of the national conference of the Church of the Brethren was held today and the subjects of dress reform and the exercise of the right of suffrage were discussed. The younger element favors a more liberal policy concerning the manner of dressing.

Elder D. E. Miller of Mount Morris, Ill., in an address, criticized the election of United States Senator William Lorimer. Elder Miller also defended his own action in voting at an election when the closing of saloons was the issue. It has been the policy of the Brethren not to vote at any election. Lately, however, many of the members have been voting and it is probable a restatement of the church's position on this question will be made at this conference.

DRINK ALWAYS BRINGS DISASTER

Creates Craving Which Nothing But More Drink Will Satisfy.

DRINKER MUST HAVE HELP.

Famous "Neal" Treatment Destroys Craving and Leaves Distaste and Aversion.

There may be sucessful men who are heavy drinkers, yet they are successful in spite of rather than by reason of it. The men who can drink and be successful are so rare in strength of character as to make them an unsafe precedent in considering the average man. To the average man habitual indulgence in intoxicants is practically certain to result in disaster. It breaks down his nerve system. It unfits him for business. He loses caste. He loses money. The habit brings sorrow to his friends and poverty, misery and deprivation to his family. The thing to do is stop it and stop it now. Every successive indulgence confirms the habit and makes it harder to break. A man finding himself on the down grade, however, is constantly beset with a craving for stimulants which he in time is no longer able to resist, for constant indulgence not only creates that morbid craving but also weakens the will power so that it is impossible to resist. He must have help. It is such help that the Neal three-day-treatment for the drink habit extends to him. It takes away the craving—destroys it utterly—leaves in its place a distaste for and an aversion to liquor. It brings about this miraculous change in three days. This is no rash statement for it has been demonstrated in thousands of cases. It matters not how long you have been drinking or how much you are drinking nor how many other treatments have failed. It is safe, harmless and positive. There are no failures. No hypodermic injections are given and no powerful or poisonous drugs are used. There are no bad after-effects. Every patient receives a plain written contract. If you are afflicted with the drink habit and really want to be free, write to Neal Institute Co., corner Belknap and Seventh streets, Superior, Wis., for their free booklet giving full information and a copy of their contract. It will be mailed to you under a plain sealed envelope. You can be treated at the Superior Institute, or at the St. Paul, Minn., Institute, 676 Dayton avenue, or the Minneapolis, Minn., Institute, corner Fourth avenue south and Seventh street.

SEVER HELD AT VIRGINIA

Bound Over to Federal Grand Jury for Importing Woman at Soo.

Alleged to Have Brought Woman Into County for Immoral Purposes.

Virginia, Minn., June 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Sever who was arrested here by Chief of Police Walsh Sunday night on the request of the federal authorities at Sault Ste Marie, Mich., on the charge of bringing a woman into the United States for immoral purposes, had a preliminary hearing this morning before United States Commissioner Poirier and was held to the federal grand jury at Duluth. He was taken to Duluth this afternoon in default of bail and will be confined in the county jail until the grand jury disposes of his case.

If he is indicted he will be transferred to the federal court of Michigan for trial.

United States Marshal E. F. Coe of Sault Ste Marie arrived here this morning in response to telegrams telling of Sever's arrest.

Paid Woman's Passage.

Sever is said to have admitted that he paid for the passage of a young woman across the international border at the Soo and brought her over, but he alleges that he is not responsible for her having been turned over to any undesirable parties. The federal officials are said to have confiscated a grip belonging to Sever at the Soo in which were found letters which it is believed will enable them, with other evidence, to convict him of white slavery.

Sever arrived in Virginia last Tuesday and soon came under the espionage of Chief Walsh. When thoroughly satisfied as to the identity of Sever, the chief notified the federal authorities at the Soo and was requested to arrest his man and hold him without bail.

Sever is quite well known over the range. On various occasions he has acted as a blind pig spotter. Once before he was tried on the charge of white slavery at the Soo, but the evidence was insufficient to convict. This time the federal officials feel almost certain they will succeed in stopping the operations of Sever for a good many years. It is expected that the evidence which the young woman will give will prove his undoing.

Wanted to Help Girls.

Before his hearing Sever, in the course of an interview Monday afternoon with The Herald correspondent, talked freely. He said that he did not know what the immigration officers at the Soo wanted him for unless it was because he had sent transportation, while at Hurley, Wis., early in May last, to Margaret Raymond, who resides at the Soo, from the Soo to Hurley, where he assured her she could get work in a laundry or a hotel or a restaurant. He said she arrived in Hurley May 15, and stopped with the people he was staying with, but that shortly afterwards she left there and he did not know where she was. Asked if he had written any other girls he replied that he had sent letters to many girls, getting work for them and had also paid their railroad fares to various points.

Lived At Hibbing.

He said that he resided at Hibbing for five years, during which time he was an interpreter, speaking six different languages. While at Hibbing, according to his story, he had paid the transportation of a good many girls from that place to St. Louis, where they could secure work. He said that he was a married man and was traveling for an Ironwood, Mich., cigar firm, having begun that work two weeks ago and was in Virginia for the purpose of establishing headquarters here, intending to rent a house and bring his wife up from Duluth, where she is staying with a sister, whose husband is a bartender. Sever said that in a letter to a girl friend of his at the Soo he had expressed unconcern as to the whereabouts of Margaret Raymond, as he understood that she had gone with another man and was in an Italian house of prostitution. He supposed that United States Marshal E. F. Coe had gotten hold of that letter. Asked why he wrote to so many girls and furnished them transportation, he replied that he wanted to help them get work and he felt under obligation to them as friends.

CROOKED LAKE MAN ACTING INSANELY

Probably Will Be All Right When He Sobers Up Again.

Nashwauk, Minn., June 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Lehto, a Finnish settler living on a farm at Crooked lake, went insane Saturday and was brought to the Nashwauk hospital by Chief of Police Thomas Vogan Sunday evening where the patient is being treated to await further notice.

Word was brought here Sunday morning by Matt Shoemaker, a farmer in that vicinity, who said he saw Lehto running continuously around through the woods near his cottage yelling and shooting with a gun that he carried. The chief of police was at once notified and with a posse drove to the farm which is about nine miles from town succeeded with a little trouble in capturing Lehto. Lehto is said to be a drinker, and just before arriving at the state of mind had spent a day at Calumet and returned to his home in an intoxicated condition, which undoubtedly caused his insanity. He is reported to be improving at the local hospital. Lehto is about 30 years of age and single.

A number of young people took in the locomotive engineers dance at Marble Saturday evening.

F. Flink and A. Anderson returned Sunday evening after a day's fishing at McCarty lake.

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Anderson of Taconite visited friends here over Sunday.

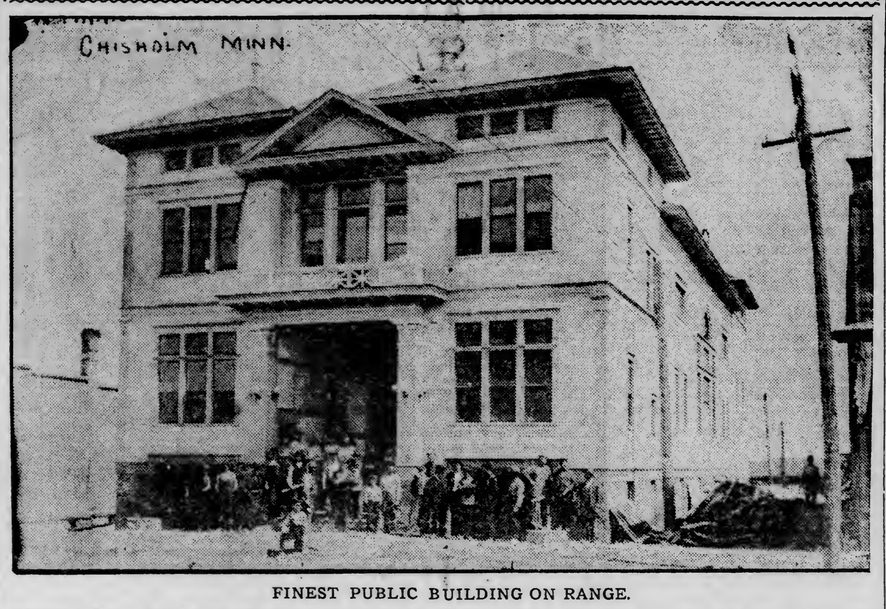

GILBERT SUPERINTENDENT OF THE SEWER SYSTEM.

Gilbert, Minn., June 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The council has appointed Edward Kircher superintendent and inspector of the new sewer system at a salary of $10 per day for time put in. The bond of the Pastoret & Lawrence company for $30,000 was accepted.

C. L. Newberry handed in his resignation as a member of the water and light commission and it was accepted.

Only one bid was presented for lots 1, 2 and 3 of block 15. John Siegel bid $525 but it was considered too low and was rejected. These are the lots that the jail are situated on. The jail was condemned a short time ago and a new site recommended.

CHISHOLM'S NEW FINNISH HOME IS FORMALLY OPENED

FINEST PUBLIC BUILDING ON RANGE.

Chisholm, Minn., June 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The greatest event in the history of this village was the dedication last Sunday of the new Finnish home building erected in the heart of the village, and considered one of the finest structures of the kind in the state. There were about 500 people in attendance upon the formal opening Sunday afternoon. There were visiting delegates of Finnish people from all the range cities, and all were loud in praise of the enterprise shown in the erection of the splendid structure.

Mayor Edward Nelson, who made the speech of welcome, was profuse in his praise of this evidence of the thrift and energy of the Finnish people in Chisholm and the neighboring towns.

Finnish People's Advancement.

Ex-Representative Joseph Austin, who also spoke, dwelt at some length on the rapid advance made by the Finnish people in the light of the opportunity which the American institutions afford them, particularly emphasizing the good use they make of the opportunities on the Mesaba range.

Among other speakers were Rev. Jalmar Ketonen, pastor of the Finnish church, and John Saari, who has been greatly interested in the building of this new home, and who has been a resident of Chisholm for over ten years.

The speaker of the day was Vilho Booman, who delivered an address of two hours' length. Mr. Booman's home is in Helsingfors, Finland, the capital city. He is a member of the Finnish national congress and a representative of the Social-Democratic party.

He directed the main strength of his address upon the relationship between capital and labor, and urged such legislation as would effect a permanent good working basis for both parties. He made a plea for the public ownership of the great industrial enterprises of the world, not specializing at all on the utilities belonging to any one particular country.

Mr. Booman was a former resident of the state of Massachusetts, where he lived in Fitchburg for three years, and upon returning to his native land was soon afterward elected a member of the Finnish national congress.

Mr. Booman has traveled all over the United States and has delivered addresses in almost every section of the country where settlements of the Finnish people are located.

He is a very able and eloquent speaker, but speaks only in the Finnish language.

There was plenty of instrumental and vocal music rendered during the intervals between the different speakers, the new Finnish Choral union, composed entirely of male voices, being especially pleasing.

At 8:30 in the evening a splendid play, entitled "Kankurit," very popular with the Finnish people, was rendered. The play consists of five acts, and had been planned, arranged and delivered entirely by local talent, some forty-five people, of whom about ten were women, taking part, the show not closing until 1 o'clock Monday morning.

Began Home Last September.

The building of the new Finnish Home was begun during September, 1910. Rev. Ketonen and John Saari and Miss Tyyne Kananen laid the cornerstone in November, and from that date until Saturday last it has been under course of construction.

The building is owned by a Finnish corporation; the expenses are raised by popular subscription from the Finnish people who pay in their contributions much the same as dues are paid into a lodge or any fraternal organization.

The management of the home is vested in its board of trustees, who are elected to this office for a term of six months. The board of trustees elects their own president, secretary and treasurer. At present the officers are: Matt Markkula, president; Topias Pilspa, secretary; Andrew Roine, treasurer. Other members of the board are: Iver Ruohomaki, John Pellikka, William Jacobson, Sam Hyyppa, Mr. Wirtanen and Simon Sorvari, the latter gentleman being superintendent of construction as well as the architect of the building.

The building is to be used for the social and moral benefit of the Finnish people, and the management will never rent it to any outside parties who might use intoxicating liquors at the assemblies.

HIBBING'S FOURTH WILL BE OLD-TIME

No Devitalized Affair of Safe and Sane Order Popular in Range City.

Hibbing, Minn., June 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the regular meeting of the Commercial club Wednesday evening tentative plans for a Fourth of July celebration will be discussed.

"I am in favor of lots of noise and lots of lemonade on that day," said D. D. McEachin, president of the Commercial club. "Why, this talk of a safe and sane Fourth of July doesn't make much of a hit with me. I don't believe in robbing the kids of what we enjoyed when we were juveniles. The celebration, however, depends on the public entirely."

"After all the Fourth of July is but a continuation and reminder of the nation's Independence day," continued Mr. McEachin, "and in order to maintain our spirit of patriotism and also to instil it into the hearts and minds of the many foreigners in Hibbing, I believe that a regular bang-up old-time celebration of the day is an absolute necessity."

It looks as if Hibbing would enjoy a Fourth pregnant with three-inch fire crackers, torpedoes, lemonade, pop corn and sky rockets in the evening.

ENGINES COLLIDE AT DULUTH SIDING

Early Morning Fog Blamed —Three Men Severely Bruised.

Two Harbors, Minn., June 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The heavy fog that prevailed early this morning is blamed for a collision that occurred at the Duluth Siding about 5 o'clock, when Engine 59 of the Knife River logging run in charge of Engineer Whiteside collided with Engine 220 in charge of Engineer Foote with disastrous results to both locomotives and injuries to three men.

Brakemen George McGraw and Walter Morrison and Conductor Horace Andrews were severely bruised. The engineers were shaken up but not hurt, according to word received here.

KEPT HIS CHILDREN AWAY FROM SCHOOL

Kittsville Baker Is Fined in Hibbing Municipal Court for Act.

Hibbing, Minn., June 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—For allowing five of his seven children to remain away from school James Spinella, a Kittsville baker and grocer, was arrested yesterday afternoon at the instance of Truant Officer E. C. Booth. In municipal court Spinella was fined $10 and $6 costs, the fine being remitted on the man's promise to see that the children all attended the Kittsville school with regularity hereafter and that he paid the costs of the case.

The children, the eldest of whom is a girl aged 14, have been most irregular in their attendance for the past month or so, assert the authorities. The record of the teacher showed that the girl had only attended the school sessions four half days in the month just passed. It was charged that Spinella kept the children at home to help him in about the store and also in minding the youngest Spinella, who has just turned two months.

Five children, all of whom are living, will be present at the anniversary dinner. They are, besides William Ueber of Hibbing, George H., of Mandan, N. D., John J., of Lake Wilson, Miss Lillian of St. Paul, and Mrs. Emma Sabin of Lake Wilson.

DRUNK WITH BIG ROLL.

Hibbing Inebriate Picked Up Before Losing His Money.

Hibbing, Minn., June 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Peter Johnson narrowly escaped losing his "wad" yesterday and undoubtedly had he been left to wander about the street in the intoxicated condition that he was in, after night-fall last night, he wolud have been "rolled" of a pocket book containing $85.20. He parted with $8.75 in municipal court when he pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness.

Johnson was picked up on Pine street in a condition far from sobriety yesterday afternoon. The Hibbing band on its way to a funeral passed by and the inebriate evidently thinking that a circus parade was passing, wildly whooped and hollered.

Twenty-five hundred children assembled in front of the Roosevelt building shortly after noon and with their teachers, headed by the Boys' Military band, paraded to the grandstand at the city park, where they gave a flag salute and listened to recitations, songs and band music. They then separated into groups over the park and enjoyed an informal picnic.

LOOKING OVER HAWKINS MINE

International Harvester People Inspect Nashwauk Concentrating Plant Work.

Nashwauk, Minn., June 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Some officials of the Wisconsin Steel company, the steel making division of the International Harvesting company are here looking over the Hawkins mine and the work on the concentrator that is being built to treat the ore.

In the party are President Perkins and Vice President Hale of the Wisconsin Steel company, Joseph and R. M. Sellwood of Duluth.

The heavy steel rails and trestle timber have been arriving for some time for the plant. The location of the plant is between the Great Northern depot and O'Brian lake. It is estimated that the cost to complete will be about $600,000. Superintendent Batchelder is in charge of the work.

The Hawkins has millions of tons of wash ore uncovered and when completed the mine will be one of the heaviest shippers on the range. The washing plant means that hundreds of men will be given employment when it is completed both at the pit and at the plant as well as on the railroad. The land purchased by the company at Grand Rapids for right of way purposes and for a dump, from the state, brought a fancy price. For a part $60 an acre was paid.

EVELETH'S NEW THEATER IS FORMALLY OPENED.

Fishing is very good at the nearby lakes. Leo Tobin, Floyd Farnand and Jerry Lavigne returned Sunday from Horseshoe lake, where they made a catch of 100 pounds.

Goes Home on Crutches.

Eveleth, Minn., June 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. Satana, a farmer residing twenty-three miles from here, in the St. Louis river district, who recently broke a bone in his foot as the result of a runaway on a local throughfare, was able to leave the More hospital yesterday where he has been treated for a few days. MAY ABANDON THE CRUISE

Great Lakes Naval Squadron May Not Assemble This Season.

Canada Said to Object to It As Violation of Treaty.

Dispatches from Washington state that there will be no squadron cruise of the naval militia on the Great Lakes this year.

Officers of the Minnesota naval militia are inclined to doubt the truth of the dispatches, as none have had no official order to that effect, and they have orders to participate in the cruise early in August. Plans have been made to bring the naval militia training ships of the lakes together at Chicago to assist in the dedication of the new naval training station there, and the news that no squardron cruise will be held is a surprise to the Duluth officers.

According to the dispatches, Canadian authorities have been aroused to indignation every time the Great Lakes fleet held a summer cruise. It is claimed in Canada that the presence of an armed squadron on the Great Lakes is a violation of the treaty with Canada, that respite the fact that the ships are training ships and not war vessels. One couldn't imagine any one of the ships of the fleet putting up a battle of any kind, unless it might be the Don Juan de Austria or the Nashville, both of which are antiquated and ineffective for anything except training purposes.

However, the navy department is said to have finally acceded to Canada's wishes in the matter and to have decided to notify each state militia to hold its summe rship training by individual cruises. The news is a sad disappointment to the officers and men of the naval militia, to whom the annual cruise is of great benefit, and incidentally a pleasure.

The dispatches do not state whether the intention of the navy department is to abandon the squadron cruises altogether, or merely to pass the cruise this year. The agitation on the part of Canada is more pronounced than ever this year on account of the dedication of the naval training station at Chicago. Although Lake Michigan is altogether out of Canadian territory and the maneuvers there would not be much of a demonstration to Canada, the location of the training station on the Great Lakes and the proposed mobilization of the training ships is taken as an affront.

The navy department has adopted a policy of giving greater assistance than ever before to the naval militia of the different states. If the action reported has been taken, it would indicate that the department fears international complications by a continuance of that policy as it applies to the naval militia on the lakes. As compared with the outlook for the militia of the lakes this year, the naval militia of the coast states will have elaborate maneuvers on ships of the regular navy and the probability that the proposed cruise on the training ships will be abandoned is not viewed with favor by the naval militia officers.

SCENES IN HOTELS INDICATE OPENING OF TOURIST SEASON

Golf sticks and summer flannels and crash hats and people who look summery are abroad. At several of the Duluth hotels the people and the accoutrements for the summer season were to be seen today, marking the first appearance of the season.

While in the face of the weather this spring, the hotel people are rather shy about stating that the tourist season is on, today brought the first evidence of anything like summer travel.

Crash hats, as well as several brands of panama; crash suits and one real decidely distinctive suit of flannels were to be seen in the lobby of the Spalding today, and a man and woman with faces that were as tanned as some local countenances along about the latter part of August were also there.

There have been several unmistakable signs of the coming of the tourist season. There has been a demand for New York newspapers and cigarettes. Another sign, that shows the season is at least near at hand, is the fact that the three Duluth hotels have reservations for rooms for the present month.

In speaking about the arrival of the tourist season, it might be stated that the hotel men of this city are not in the least sorry that the steamer Norh West has burned, valuable and imposing looking as the big steamer was.

They are not sorry in this way—they figure that Duluth will not lose any in tourist travel, and that the tourists that do come will be allowed to at least spend a few hours in Duluth, thus spending some of their money here.

The North West docked here at about 8 o'clock in the evening and left that same evening. That rule was a sore point, not only with the hotel men, but also with many of the merchants of the city. If the tourists this season come on boats that permit them to spend some time in Duluth, there will not be very much regret here that the North West will not operate.

RETURNING TO EUROPE

200 Miners Leave Range for Homes Across the Water.

Exodus Caused By Scarcity of Work in Iron Country.

Over 200 men left yesterday afternoon and this morning for the East from where they will sail to foreign countries to live either for the summer or remain. These men are mostly Austrians, who have been employed on the iron range for several years, and who have been out of work for some time on account of the light operations at the mines.

They came from the range yesterday afternoon over the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad. All spring work on the range has been scarce, and as there were no prospects of renewed activity soon these men decided to leave the country.

Each year there is an exodus of men to foreign countries, but never before has there been one in the spring time. Most of those going at other times leave only for a visit of a year or so, but a large majority of those who left yesterday and today, claim they will not return.

GAS DISCOVERED IN GRANTED LAND

Government Donation to Railway in South Proves Rich.

Mansfield, La., June 6.—It has been discovered here that when the United States government donated public lands in this parish to the New Orleans Pacific railroad, it retained all mineral rights, coal and iron excepted. Discovery that the entire section is a gas field, probably oil bearing, caused a wonderful rise in values, and now, realizing that this land is held by private owners, there has now been a big demand on the Baton Rouge land office for mineral claims of twenty acres each.

Probably half of this tract is held under title based on the railroad's land grant and considerable litigation is expected.

HEALTHY MOTHERS

Women who bear children and remain healthy are those who prepare their systems in advance of baby's coming. Unless the mother aids nature in its pre-natal work the crisis finds her system unequal to the demands made upon it, and she is often left with weakened health or chronic ailments. No remedy is so truly a help to nature as Mother's Friend, and no expectant mother should fail to use it. It relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes pliant and elastic those fibres and muscles which nature is expanding, prevents numbness of limbs, and soothes the inflammation of breast glands. The system being thus prepared by Mother's Friend dispels the fear that the crisis may not be safely met. Mother's Friend assures a speedy and complete recovery for the mother, and she is left a healthy woman to enjoy the rearing of her child. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

CURED TO STAY CURED

Records of Progressive Medical Association Show That If Once Cured the Disease Will Never Return.

Twenty-five years ago, when these scientific specialists settled down in Duluth, they had scores of patients come to them who had been fooled by men who could not cure them. People had parted with their money, but had not parted with their diseases. The principle of the Progressive Medical doctors always has been to do what is right, and if a man could not be cured they have not kept him guessing about it, but told him the truth; they never charged a patient for any disease which they could not thoroughly cure him of. This principle could not fail to lead them to success, fame and reputation.

MISTAKES. People have read of late many glaring ads of so-called specialists in Duluth papers, they promise everything in the way of cures. Some of them stayed for a few months, and quietly disappeared; others have a hard fight to keep up expenses, because it is hard for them to find enough people at the Head of the Lakes who can be fooled all the time. All of these glaring advertisers have fooled people in other cities and states, till they could fool them no more, and then came to Duluth. The doctors of the Progressive Medical association had such tremendous success for more than twenty years in Duluth that they did not need to go somewhere else. They have always been successful in their cures, they avoided operations, charged a moderate fee for their work, and never charged if a cure could not be effected. People they cure stay cured for life.

EQUIPMENT. For the last five years the doctors of the medical association have equipped their offices with every latest machine and instrument which Medical Science has invented, so that people who were in their office fifteen years ago would not recognize it to be the same office. They have invested thousands of dollars in their office, and have by far the best of medicines, of which probably not one ounce could be obtained from any drug store in Duluth or Superior. These specialists go even so far as to give a legal guarantee where they know they can cure a case. They cure all diseases of men, rheumatism as well as lung troubles, catarrh and stomach diseases, strictures and bladder trouble, blood poison, and all acutely contracted men's diseases. Their offices are on Lake avenue and Superior street which are open from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m.; Sunday from 10 to 1. Consultation is always free of charge.

Duluth Boy Says Americans Are Being Well Treated There.

Tells of His Experience in Battle With Government Troops.

Writing to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey Jones of 1702 Piedmont avenue, from a Mexican prison at Chihuahua, James H Jones, a Duluth boy tells of his experiences since his arrest. His letter follows:

"Dear Father and Mother: I am going to drop you a line and tell you a little of my experience in war. I have been in prison two months the sixth of this month. When we went into the battle at Casa Grandes we had 750 men and the government had 1,050 men. We lost 104 men killed and eight wounded, the other side lost 200 men killed and 150 wounded and quite a number of them died, but we were defeated. There were fourteen Americans, two Germans and sixteen Mexicans captured. Out of the 104 killed on our side, some of them were Americans. Now, I do not expect to be here very long, as both sides want peace. The government wants it pretty badly as there are too many rebels in the fold for them. There are 7,000 rebels about thirty miles out from here waiting for the word to come and attack the city of Chihuahua and turn the prisoners out of the prison.

"The American consul is doing all he can to help us. He sent in blankets and clothes and tobacco for us. The writing paper is pretty scarce and no envelopes. I hope you are all well. I am in good health at present. We have fine weather here and plenty of green garden truck that is on the outside. I will have to close. I am,

"J. H. JONES."

The daily average output in May was 59,900 tons, compared with 68,163 tons in April. Further confirmation of the curtailment figures is found in the reduction of the number of active blast furnaces, there being 220 stacks active on the last day of April, and 207 on the last day of May, a loss of thirteen stacks from the active list."

WEST END NEW PHRASE IS COINED

"Ecclesiastical Hoboes" Applied to Those Who Have No Regular Church.

Some West End Pastors Say Duluth Has "Ecclesiastical Hoboes."

Are there too many "ecclesiastical hoboes" in the West end, often-called the "over-churched" district of the city?

The term "ecclesiastical hoboes" incidentally does not have reference to preachers of the gospel. It is a phrase, which was coined by a Chicago pastor, who resigned recently from the Western Avenue Baptist church of that city, because the trustees wouldn't raise his salary. He was getting $1,200 a year, but said that was not enough. He declared that "there were too many ecclesiastical hoboes in the churches of today, who moved in and out without contributing to their support."

Pastors of the West end disagree on this question. Some there are who would severely rebuke the Chicago minister for such a sentiment, others agree with him, and a few are noncommittal.

Rev. J. H. Murray, who has just resigned from Grace M. E. church and will move to New Mexico on account of his wife's health and who will preach his last sermon at Grace church on Sunday next, sides in with the Chicago pastor. He says: "That condition of affairs is only too true in Duluth. There are many church attenders, who are only nominally Christians. They assume that the only obligation that they owe to the cause, is to lend their presence to a church service on a Sabbath."

Rev. J. J. Daniels, who read the statement made by the Chicago pastor in a press dispatch, thinks that the reverend gentleman in the Windy City his missed his calling. "That man ought to be an actor and go on the stage. There is no place for him or his kind in the ministry. If he were a true Christian, in the first place, he would not have asked for a raise. He ought to sacrifice something and wait for the reward instead of demanding it or quitting." Rev. Mr. Daniels is pastor of the Swedish Mission church.

Rev. W. E. Harmann, pastor of the St. Peter's Episcopal church says that he has not been bothered with hoboes of any kind, ecclesiastical or otherwise. There were few regular attenders at his church he said, but those who contributed something to the support of the pastor and church. This conditions of affairs is only normal, he asserts, and has to be met with in any congregation.

Other pastors of the West end did not wish to be quoted in the matter.

Goes to Convention.

Rev. Swaney Nelson, pastor of the First Swedish Baptist church will leave tonight for St. Paul, where he will attend the annual convention of the Baptists of Minnesota, which will begin tomorrow and continue through the week. From St. Paul, Rev. Mr. Nelson will go to Philadelphia, where he will attend the meeting of the Baptist world's alliance meeting, which will be in session from June 13 to 25. Before returning home, he will visit Washington, Baltimore and New York.

SHERIFF HAZEN MEETS ACCUSER

Beltrami County Official Is Alleged to Have Made Some Threats.

Bemidji, Minn., June 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Viggo Peterson, chairman of the Beltrami county board, who preferred charges of malfeasance in office against Sheriff Hazen, was in town yesterday from his home at Puposky and met Hazen on the street. The latter is said to have demanded an explanation and to have made threats which the chairman of the board ignored. Although the attorney general has held in effect that the alleged act of wrongdoing on Hazen's part were committed, if at all, during a former term and that Hazen cannot be removed, it is currently reported that Governor Eberhart will not let the matter drop, but will investigate further, especially when he is here the latter part of the week, on his way to attend the Press association meet.

Charges Against Hazen.

The charges against Sheriff Hazen allege that he has collected money on the pretext that he has personally served subpoenas, when, according to affidavits on file, the papers were served by mail. It also is alleged that the management of the county jail has been improper and that prisoners have been permitted to escape.

To these charges Sheriff Hazen makes a general denial. It is understood that so far as the bills presented by Mr. Hazen to the county is concerned, he is backed by County Attorney Funkley, who, it is said, has advised the county that they might properly be paid, believing that there was no intent at fraud.

"JULIUS CAESAR" AT THE LYCEUM

Small Audience Witnesses Remarkable Production By Frederick Warde.

In Shakespeare's historical tragedy, "Julius Caesar," by Frederick Warde and his most able company at the Lyceum, Duluthians are offered one of the finest productions ever presented on a local stage. It is difficult to say from last night's performance whether theater-goers of this city fully appreciate the opportunity given them to see this foremost American actor, who for thirty years appeared upon the stage as a player and lecturer, and who is the last of a great school of players who have helped make dramatic history of this country.

Mr. Warde's ability as an actor is well known to almost every follower of the stage, and his interpretations of the famous Shakespearean plays are most remarkable and interesting. In his part as Brutus in "Julius Caesar," he gives a new interpretation, showing the man who loved Caesar, and yet murdered him, more humane and of a more lovable disposition than one is likely to interpret it from reading.

Mr. Warde has gathered about him a number of capable actors. This play is one which calls for several able men, and in the filling of the places Mr. Warde has selected those he believed could produce the effect properly.

As Cassius, the instigator of the conspiracy by which Caesar lost his life, Ernest Warde, the youngest son of Frederick Warde, showed his worth as an actor, and the quarrel scene at Sardis is most realistically portrayed. Edouard D'Oixe, the young player taking the part of Marcus Antonius, cleverly carries out the role, and at the burial scene of Caesar gives an interpretation which calls forth an enthusiastic applause from the audience.

The scene in Brutus' garden following the conspiracy of the Roman senators, between Brutus and his wife, Portia, played by Miss Helen Hilton, is a touching one, as enacted by this couple. Miss Hilton, in her plea for information as to the cause of Brutus' disturbed mind, demonstrates her ability as an actress.

Every scene in the play is well enacted and the student of Shakespeare plays is missing much when he fails to see the production of this great tragedy. Last evening only a handful of people witnessed the performance, but it was undoubtedly because of the stormy weather and ignorance of the true worth of the production that this company of great actors was not greeted by a full house. This afternoon a matinee will be given, especially for students and teachers, and again this evening the play will be reproduced.

Roller Skating Popular.

Few Duluth people are aware of the fact that Duluth has an auditorium constructed at a cost of approximately $100,000 that is devoted exclusively to the healthful sport of roller skating. The big Auditorium rink ranks among the very best in America, has one of the very best staff of instructors under the personal direction of Manager W. L. Downer, who has had charge of some of the very best skating rinks in the country, and has every modern convenience for both ladies and gentlemen.

Learning to skate isn't difficult, or it isn't a torture. Under competent instructors who understand their business, it is comparitively easy. Every morning there is a large beginner's class of skaters at the big rink. Individual attention is given to each beginner by one of the staff of instructors, and the number of women who are taking up skating shows that the beginner's class is proving very popular.

At the Empress.

The show at the Empress this week is an exceptionally strong one and does not contain a dull moment from start to finish. A bicyle act that is original is a rarity, but the act which is being presented by Bud Synder is one in a thousand. This daring young man performs several hazardous feats upon an ordinary bicycle. He climbs flights of stairs, plays popular selections on the chimes and hundreds of other novel and original feats. Mr. Synder's work is extremely sensational. He has just returned from a tour of Europe and while across the water, he was called the world's champion cyclist and those who have seen him at the Empress are convinced that he is justly entitled to it. "On a Side Street," is the title of a very pretty little playlet which ably deals with an incident in everyday city life. The story is well told, the comedy is clean and refreshing and running through the act is a pretty little love story. The cast is exceptionally strong and Joseph Creaghan as Clancy, the janitor, presents some of the best character acting seen at the Empress in months. As a whole the sketch is above the ordinary in real merit and should become a favorite this week. Hanson and Bijou are presenting a mixture of singing, comedy and dancing. Both have excellent voices and are good dancers and Miss Hanson presents a line of comedy that is a "knockout." Probst has a whistling novelty that is very clever, and which includes imitations of the calls and songs of various birds, which he gives in a remarkably natural manner. The Markee brothers open the show with a very strong musical act which includes some excellent cornet and trombone solos.

Hurt Boarding Train.

Williston, N. D., June 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attempting to board the caboose of a rapidly moving Great Northern freight train, S. Holmes of this city met with an accident at Mondak, Mont., necessitating the amputation of one foot. He misjudged the speed of the train and was thrown under the wheels, the flesh being stripped from one foot.

SANITARIUM FOR INDIANS

Fully Half of Red Men in State Have Tuberculosis, Says Rodwell.

Dr. T. F. Rodwell of Cass Lake, who is at the St. Louis hotel today, is very much interested in the bill introduced into congress by Congressman Miller which provides for a tuberculosis sanitarium to be built for the Indians.

Dr. Rodwell said:

"There are about 11,000 Indians in Minnesota and I think I can safely say that fully 50 per cent of them are afflicted with tuberculosis in one form or another. Statistics of the disease among the White Earth band disclosed that 52 per cent were affected, and 50 per cent for the entire Indian population of the state is, in my estimation, none too high. The disease has obtained a foothold in the tribe as a result of their lack of knowledge concerning sanitary matters, and its development has been assisted by various conditions. The idea is to build a large sanitarium where those who are curable may be treated, and it is proposed that there be a separate building for the use of the incurable patients. The proposed sanitarium meets with the approval of the Indians, out of whose money it will be built, and they are entitled to the privilege of a scientific fight against the white plague.

"It is proposed to erect the sanitarium on the ten-section reservation close to Cass Lake. The natural conditions will be superb."

DYING MAN PARDONED.

North Dakota Pardon Board Liberates Louis Dale.

Bismarck, N. D., June 6.—Louis W. Dale, who was sentenced to ten years in the state pen as an accessory to the murder of Gina Lien at Minot, was pardoned by the state pardoning board yesterday. Dale was convicted along with Dr. Thor Moeller and appealed to the supreme court who turned down the appeal. It is said that Dale is now dying from consumption, however, and this is the reason he was pardoned. He has only a short time to live.

The board also liberated Philip A. Conroy, who was sent to the penitentiary from Williams county in 1908, charged with robbery and sentenced to serve an indeterminate sentence from ten to twenty years; Conrad Dahl, a young man convicted of arson for burning an elevator in Ward county to cover the theft of a carload of grain.

ARE 2-CENT FARES CONFISCATORY?

One of the reasons urged by the railroads why the Minnesota 2-cent passenger rate law should be repealed by the courts was that the reduction was confiscatory; and that was one of the reasons why the Federal courts acceded to the wishes of the railroads rather than to the wishes of the people of Minnesota.

Is the 2-cent fare confiscatory? The court says it is; but the railroads appear to have made more money under it than they did under the old 3-cent rate, and Senator Julius A. Coller of Scott county, in a statement published in the Shakopee Argus, shows that the railroads admitted that it is not confiscatory by offering, when the 2-cent fare bill was pending, to concede rates which practically amounted to 2-cent fares.

At that time, as Senator Coller says, representatives of several of the leading railroads agreed as a settlement to concede the followig privileges:

> Round trip tickets at flat 2 cents a mile; 500-mile mileage books, good only on roads of issuance and good until used by the purchaser or any member of his family at flat 2 cents a mile; 1000-mile mileage books, inter-changeable and good on all roads, limited to one year, at flat 2 cents a mile; extend to the public, as before, all special and reduced rates such as excursion rates, state fare rates, etc.

This proposal was approved by the conference committee, of which Senator Coller was a member, but later the Northern Pacific refused to abide by it, and a new proposal was made, as follows:

> One way fare at 2½ cents; 500-mile book at 2 cents; other usual mileage books and excursions on same rates as in the past.

The new proposition not being satisfactory as to freight rates, negotiations for settlement ended, and the legislature passed the 2-cent fare bill and the commodity rate bill which the Federal courts have repealed by judicial decree.

Counting free passes and low excursion rates, it was shown in the hearings before legislative committees in this session of 1907 that the railroads were then getting, on the 3-cent rate, less than 2 cents a mile for carrying passengers. The 2-cent fare law was accompanied by a law forbidding passes, and the railroads ceased giving excursion rates. ACCORDING TO THEIR OWN FIGURES THE RAILROADS SHOULD BE GETTING MORE ACTUAL REVENUE OUT OF 2-CENT FARES WITHOUT PASSES AND EXCURSION RATES THAN THEY USED TO GET OUT OF THE 3-CENT FARES WITH PASSES AND EXCURSION RATES.

In spite of this obvious arithmetical fact and in spite of the fact that the railroads were willing to make concessions which practically amounted to 2-cent rates, they pleaded that the 2-cent fare law was confiscatory, and the Federal court has sustained their plea.

Senator Coller's letter completely anihilates the railroad's case, and his remedy is one which The Herald has already approved. He says:

> If the railroads decide to put into effect the 2-cent rate on July 1, it seems to me that the people of this state should be benefited by the increased earnings taken out of the pockets of the taxpayers of this state, and the citizens of the state ought to proceed at once to petition the governor to call an extra session of the legislature at an early date for the purpose of raising the gross earnings tax on the railroads, amending the law in other details and compelling the railroad companies to furnish to the people who are compelled to pay a rate of 3 cents per mile the same passenger service that they have furnished to people who are only required to pay a rate of 2 cents a mile. The law, too, should be changed so that railroads shall pay their share of the cost of local improvements.

Senator Coller, as usual, is emphatically right.

THE FARMER IN BAD COMPANY.

If President Taft had shown the firmness early in his administration—on the Payne-Aldrich bill, for instance—that he is showing now on the Canadian reciprocity treaty, the face of things political might be entirely different.

Once again, in Chicago Saturday, he talked straight from the shoulder about this vital matter which, if it is carried to a successful conclusion, will be the crowning glory of his administration; though its glory for political purposes will be sadly tarnished by the shame of the fact that he had to go to the other party to get it passed, his own party having failed him.

"A careful analysis of the arguments pro and con over the agreement," he said, "will convince any fair-minded economist who is well informed as to conditions in both countries that six months after it is adopted there will be no complaint from any quarter."

That assurance has been given again and again by those who, like the president, have studied the agreement carefully and are able to predict its effects. If they are mistaken, as the president has pointed out the agreement can be terminated at will almost immediately. Why not try it?

Mr. Taft accurately analyzed the opposition to the measure. "In the first place," he said, "it comes from the classes of the business interests of the country that own and control the lumber supply of the United States who are engaged in the manufacture of print paper, and of whom the largest manufacturers own much of the spruce wood supply of the United States from which print paper is made, and the third class opposed to the treaty consists of those who claim to represent the farmers and agricultural interests of the country."

A strange company, this! The lumber trust, the paper trust and the farmer banded together to defend the sacred schedules of the Payne-Aldrich bill! The attitude of the lumber trust and the paper trust is easily understood. They control the situation as to lumber and paper, thanks to the tariff schedules against Canada, their chief competitor. Reciprocity would remove the barrier that makes their monopoly perfect, and would admit the lumber and paper materials of Canada into the American market, to the benefit of every consumer of either.

But what business has the farmer in this motley crew? As the president showed, Canada is a rich market for the American farmer and must continue to be so for generations to come. Practically the only products that Canada could import into this country are grains, the prices of which are invariably fixed in the world's markets with reference to world-wide conditions. Reciprocity would not rob the American farmer of a penny, and it would widen his market and add many dollars to his profits.

How absurb is the fear that reciprocity would injure the American farmer is shown by the fact that the farmers of the Canadian Northwest are quite as fearful of its effects as are the farmers of the American Northwest. Both cannot be right. One, at least, must be mistaken; and the fact is that both are mistaken. Free trade between two countries living in similar conditions, with similar wage rates and similar cost of production, must necessarily be profitable to both or there will be no trade.

The president is right. Reciprocity is right — the rightest thing that has come out of congress—if it does come—in many a year.

COL. JOSEPH GARRARD, SNOB.

Does this country maintain an army as a social organization?

Col. Joseph Garrard, U. S. A., apparently believes it does. With that thought in mind he reported adversely on the application of a deserving private soldier to be examined for promotion to a commissioned office, giving as his reasons the facts that the soldier is a Jew and his father is a tailor.

"The young man," said this insufferable jackanapes in his indorsement of the application, "is undoubtedly honest and upright, ambitious and probably deserving, but for the reasons stated I would not desire him in my command as an officer and a social and personal associate."

"It is hard to deal with this matter with patience," said President Taft in reprimanding Col. Garrard, "and without condemnatory words that had better not be written."

The president's self-restraint is commendable. Few could emulate it. The colonel's case calls very loudly for the application of a handful of burning adjectives. It is just as well the president didn't use them, perhaps. If he had once given vent to his feelings he might have used language unbecoming his high office. Certainly he must have wished that he could step down from the presidency for a moment and talk like an ordinary, redblooded, fairminded plain citizen; talked, for instance, as another Colonel of fairer fame would have talked, president or no president.

Col. Garrard's action stamps him as a snob and a disgrace to the army.

THE LORIMER HEARING.

The make-up of the new Lorimer investigating committee seems an assurance that this shameful affair will have a thorough and a fair examination. It has not had that yet. The first hearing was a farce, its result a joke.

The new committee includes four Democrats and four Republicans. Four of them voted for Lorimer in the previous investigation. One voted against him and three, not then members, are said to be against him. Probably that is about as good an arrangement as could be hoped for. The investigation should be neither a persecution nor a whitewash.

Lorimer is the issue only in the slightest degree. The real issue is the honor of the senate and the good name of the nation. The question is whether or not a man whose senate seat has been bought for him by expectant and greedy special interests can hold that seat.

THE VIEWPOINT.

Here's a curious thing:

In North Dakota the Prohibitionists are preparing to fight the adoption of an initiative and referendum amendment to the Constitution, which the legislature has proposed for submission to the people. Under the North Dakota Constitution the legislature must act twice, and the fight will be against a second legislative indorsement of the measure, which would be preliminary to a vote of the people. Presumably, since the Prohibitionists are opposing the amendment, the "liberal" element is in favor of it.

North Dakota has prohibition.

In Minnesota the situation is exactly reversed. Here the element that would make men sober by law favors the initiative and the referendum, and the "liberal" element opposes it. The reason is that Minnesota has no prohibitory laws, except a very reasonable and very workable local option law.

It seems to make a difference whose ox is gored.

The fact is, however, that direct legislation is too big and too fundamental an issue to be decided according to personal belief in a single measure.

THE UNIVERSITY'S BOOKKEEPING.

It is to be hoped that no dishonesty will be developed by the investigation of the state university's finances that recent developments have made imperative.

It is too much to hope that anything like system or order will be discovered, judging from the developments following the arrest of Mr. Bren.

The university, it has been well known in the legislature at least, has not been living within its means; and that is always a dangerous condition. That its accounts were not kept in the best of order has been suspected, and such a condition is a standing temptation to something worse than disorder and confusion of accounts.

Minnesota thinks well of its university, and rightly. It does not want the stain even of bad bookkeeping to be attached to it. The proposed thorough investigation and complete reorganization are, therefore, timely.

Speaking of the Whittier case and the square deal, one is tempted to drop the "s" and adopt the Irish stage dialect.

If it costs the government $2,400 to have an $840 picture painted, why shouldn't there be a deficit in the postoffice department?

THE SOUTH AND PROTECTION

By SAVOYARD.

In the debate of the Payne-Aldrich tariff in the United States senate the summer of 1909, William O. Bradley, a Kentucky Republican and a successor in that body of James B. Beck and John G. Carlisle, delivered himself of the following:

"I plead not only for Kentucky, but for the entire South. * * * The South needs protection on her lumber, coal, iron, rosin, turpentine, fluor-spar, hemp, tobacco and other interests."

That is a confession of inferiority that is perfectly logical and perfectly natural from the standpoint of a Republican, whose idea is, not only the taxation of one citizen for the benefit of another, but that we shall be made a hermit nation, producing for ourselves alone and consuming what we produce, for that is what protection implies and all it implies, I say coming from Mr. Bradley that preachment is weighty. But when Bailey of Texas, or Simmons of North Carolina, or Martin of Virginia, or Smith of Maryland, or any one of that set, preaches it, or rather practices it, what a hollow mockery it is! Yet they come with fair speech, professing superlative Democracy, paying tithes of mint and anice and cummin, but they invite to whited sepulchre. Did this Republican speak for the South? If so, let us all turn Republican.

Now, in the elder day the Old South was never a hypocrite. She kept the faith. She stood for the compact. She supplicated the senior partner of the firm to obey the terms of the co-partnership, and when her petition was refused, she sought to dissolve the firm, and the struggle to that end was as glorious as it was heroic. Shall that record be smirched by an advocacy of the William O. Bradleyism I have quoted, and the Joseph W. Baileyism that it is? That is the issue before the South, though Ben Tillman expressed it more forcibly in his blunt, "As long as the stealing is going on I want my share for South Carolina."

And the South has her share of the responsibility for the Payne tariff. Daily I saw Johnathan P. Dolliver, magnificent in his splendid fight for the people drive Nelson W. Aldrich to stress, and daily a lifeboat was launched and manned from the Democratic side at the signal of distress and monopoly prevailed. As a Democrat I was indignant; as a Southern man I was humiliated. It is history known of all men. The South is in great measure responsible for the present tariff. But for the assent of Southern Democratic senators the Payne-Aldrich tariff in its present form could not have been enacted.

But the worst of it is that the thing of protection for Southern products is as false in economics as it is corrupt in morals. It is with proud disdain that the South pays her part of the pension appropriation, and she carries the burden as though it were a feather, because every cent of it is a tribute to Southern valor exploited in a war of four years against what was practically the world in arms. But "protection" works a hardship on the South many fold more than the pension fund. When the late Zeb Vance in fierce debate with the late George F. Hoar reproached Massachusetts as a pauper that North Carolina was taxed to support, he spoke the literal truth, for if somebody gains by protection, some other one must foot the bill.

Now then let me argue a little. The South is clamoring for manufactures. Bailey, Martin and Simmons propose to grow them in the hothouse of protection. It can't be done. This country is already over supplied with that sort of thing. The manufactures we have can more than fill the domestic demands, and they sell their surplus abroad for what it will fetch. The one and only way to establish manufactures at the South is to go to a free trade basis, or as nearly that as the demands of the treasury will allow. I mean the free trade that will allow our mills to work for the whole world and not tie them down to the home market. Adopt the English idea of tariff taxation and we will have so conquered neutral markets now closed to us, and when we shall have so conquered them a search-warrant will not find a single protectionist among the manufacturers of America. Every English manufacturer is a free trader. Why? Because he works for the world and trades with the world. Every American manufacturer is a protectionist. Why? Because he works for America only and trades with America only. He prefers to sell to 90,000,000 people rather than to 1,500,000,000 people. It is false economy. It is the genius of monopoly. That fellow who killed the goose that laid the golden egg was a protectionist, and if he lived in our day he would vote with Aldrich and applaud Bailey.

Well, the beginning of the free trade that will make our South the world's workshop is free raw materials. Supplant that with free building materials for plants and machinery, and our Southern purple sunsets, that all of us love so fondly, will be made leaden with the belchings from a million smokestacks, such as will make Birmingham, Ala., a greater Pittsburg, Pa.; Huntsville, Ala., a greater Manchester, N. H.; Nashville, Tenn., a greater Providence, R. I. Why fetter this grand Southern giant?

There is but one reason. Our manufacturers' industries are now trimmed exactly to suit the North, that knows that the South can never rival her unless this country ceases to manufacture for the United States only and goes out to work for the entire world.

I don't say they do it wilfully, or corruptly, but I do say that men of the Bailey, Martin, Simmons stripe are aiding the South more in the future than a thousand Aldriches could do her.

Allow me here to remark that ere the summer solstice I shall write a chapter on wool that will make some mighty great men of the Democratic party now solonizing in this here town hide out.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

IRREGULAR CAR SERVICE ON EAST FOURTH STREET.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I want to register a protest against the poor street car service on the East Fourth street line. Possibly there may be enough cars, but they are run so irregularly that no one can tell when he is going to catch a car. Waits of twenty to thirty minutes between cars are common, and then it generally the case that two or three cars will come along separated by a few blocks, and the first two will be run ahead at excessive speed, after taking on a few passengers, and the last car will pick up the rest of the people until there is hardly standing room in the car. Then when Third avenue west is reached, one of the other cars is found waiting for a West Fourth street car to reach the bottom of the hill, and another long wait ensues. Is it any wonder that the people are exasperated with this kind of service?

Including the time waiting for a car to appear and the time occupied by the car in making the trip, it took one thirty-five minutes to come from Sixteenth avenue east to Fifth avenue west this morning. Rapid transit, was it not? This is not an unusual occurrence and it is time something was done by the city council to compel the street car company to give better service to one of the most populous sections of the city.

But one thing should be kept in mind: East Fourth street cannot be given regular street car service as long as the cars are run through to West Third street. The East Fourth street line should run only between the Y at Eighth avenue west and Twenty-fourth avenue east, in order to secure prompt service. Experience with the present excessively long line has demonstrated this fact conclusively. Yours truly,

EAST FOURTH STREET.

SUMMER WORK FOR SCHOOL BOYS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

A small specimen of youthful America rapped timidly at the rear door of my house yesterday and when I responded a shrill voice piped a demand for work. I escorted the young man to the front lawn and enumerated to him the advantages of digging dandelions, cutting grass and trimming the turf about the walk. I hired the youth two mornings and two afternoons and he worked faithfully and well. I paid him well for his time and he departed for other fields of labor. He can get a job from me as soon as my grass grows again and if he does the work as well as the last time I'll see that he can go to work where there is a future as soon as he leaves school if he shows that he is not afraid of it.

I got off my track, Mr. Editor. What I started to say was, that in these degenerate days the youth of this land of the free and the brave leave the care of yards and other small jobs to the "hired men." Whyfore Mr. Editor; whyfor? I'd like to see every youth in town chasing odd jobs to their lairs as soon as said small boys get out of school. A young chap gets a good idea of money and its value when he has to work for it. It would be a valuable part of his education if every boy had to tend to yards, gather up old bottles and cans to sell, carry papers or do something now and then in his vacation that would bring him money honestly earned.

A boy thus acquires the earning sense. He develops a spirit of independence. He learns, above all, the value of a dollar. If anybody has any suggestions as to work that small boys can do occasionally in their vacations, I'd like to read them in the 'Open Court.'

COOK FARMER'S CASE IS KEY TO SITUATION.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I read with interest in The Herald of a few days ago, the interview with a farmer from Cook, Minn., who told some things on road conditions and the difficulties under which farmers of that place are struggling to make homes for themselves and build up this part of the state. What if we have the greatest clover in the United States, the richest of soils, the most perfect season for the growing of vegetables, the best markets and many other advantages, if we must labor year after year under the same drawbacks—roads? Surely it must be discouraging to tote food fifteen miles into the country. Surely it must be discouraging to raise a fine garden and know that you will never be able to market it. It is no wonder that our farmers become thoroughly discouraged, abandon their homes in the woods and move their families to Western Canada, where upon becoming a Canadian citizen they may have free land and good roads. Why $10,000 will be expended this year on the Miller-Trunk road. I was over this road last year and it was in fair shape. Why not spend this $10,000 this year for the help of those who are struggling under great difficulties to build up the farming community? The discouragements are plenty even with good roads and other favorable conditions. We lack good roads. Even the oldest and best of our roads are not good. There is something wrong. We don't understand road building or else the funds are wasted. I notice they cost as much as they do in other parts of the state. We cannot settle up Northern Minnesota by getting together and passing resolutions. We could do it by insisting that the county boards give the new country roads. Roads, roads and then some more roads. If we would but plug away on this the settlers would come and come fast. Resolutions are all right. So are enthusiastic delegates about the best farming country on earth and it is nice to have enthusiastic delegates from all over this county get together once in a while, but we need roads, not conventions. It is a simple thing and could be worked out in every county. I do not say lots of money is spent on improved roads that could be spent on new roads, thus giving the new farmers a chance. I am not a knocker; I am a booster. That is the reason it seems to me we should have more roads and less talk.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Success Magazine: Mamie attended kindergarten at Christ church and was very much impressed with her surrounding.

"They are so stylish at that church," she explained to her mother. "Every morning two men come down to the kindergarten to say prayers, wearing black hobble skirts with white overdress."

Washington Herald: "How is it I never hear you say a word about your old college days?"

"The college I went to didn't have a very good baseball team."

Toledo Blade: The Client—I won't pay your bill—it's extortionate.

The Lawyer—What will you do? Hire another lawyer to contest my claim and pay his?

Baltimore American: "There is one court proceeding that young lawyer who is courting our Julia is proficient in."

"What is that?"

"Seems particularly successful in getting a stay."

Judge: "Pa, what's an acolyte?"

"Something that grows on the roof of a cave and hangs down like an icicle. Now run out and play. I'm busy figuring up the batting averages of the home team."

Puck: Mrs. Hornbeak (in the midst of her reading)—My goodness! What's this country coming to? Here is an article headed: "A Bartender to Every Two School Teachers?"

Farmer Hornbeak—By hickory! How them professors do drink!

His Threat to a Conductor.

The Wasp: Some time ago a man at Ypsilanti, Mich., became crazed on the subject of hypnotism, and was sent on a Michigan Central train to an asylum. When the conductor asked for tickets the crazy man began telling him of his hypnotic powers.

"I'll hypnotize you," he said.

"Fire away," replied the conductor.

The man made several passes before the man's face.

"Now you are hypnotized," he said.

The conductor looked the part the best he could.

"You're a conductor," the hypnotist said.

"That's right," replied his victim.

"You're a good conductor," went on the hypnotist.

"Right again," said the conductor.

"You don't smoke, drink or swear at the passengers. In fact, you do not steal a cent."

"That's right," asserted the conductor.

The hypnotist eyed him for a moment, then said:

"What an awful fix you'd be in if I left you in this condition!"

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Whitewash Usually Does.

Sauk Center Herald: The whitewash that the late unlamented Minnesota legislature applied so freely is peeling off in spots.

Duluth's Consistent Policy.

Sandstone Courier: Duluth business men are active in boosting for Duluth and Minnesota in general. They don't believe it is to their interest to boom Canada lands when there is plenty of room for settlers at home.

Duluth Practices as Well as Preaches.

Cloquet Independent: There is one thing kind of satisfying about the Duluth boosters; they try to practice what they preach. There is a lot of those fellows putting good money into developing farms around the city, and even if they don't get any good out of them themselves, it helps to show what can be done here, and the stumps they have eliminated will never come back.

A Wise Southern Minnesota View.

Wabasha Herald: The Northern Minnesota Development association, in attempting to turn the tide of immigration our way, is performing a signal service to prospective settlers, and naturally to the state at large. We should hold no grudge against them for what they can get, because their prosperity means our prosperity. Every settler whom they can induce to locate here instead of going farther is a distinct gain to the whole commonwealth. Let's get all we can.

Also, Elsewhere.

Anoka Union: The Republican elephant is getting its hide badly skinned down in Washington.

The Governor on the Wing.

Winona Independent: It is only on rare occasions that Governor Eberhart spends a few days in Minnesota. Not that he is missed much—but do you remember how the late Governor Johnson was roasted by his political enemies because he was on the lecture platform filling dates outside the state? Johnson was on the job at home twice as much as Eberhart now is.

Duluth's Duty.

Gheen Record: Duluth interests cannot afford and should not allow the Brooks-Scanlon railroad to be abandoned. Keep the wheel turning by all means.

Good Advice.

Anoka Union: Be sensible, ye home seeker, and settle in Minnesota, the land of plenty and prosperity.

As It Should Be.

Perham Enterprise: Some Republican politicians predict that the passage of the Keefe bill, for the election of United States senators by popular vote will mean the retirement of Senator Nelson. If Mr. Nelson's record shows that he has worked faithfully for the public good, the people will indorse his work. If, on the other hand, his record shows favoritism toward the special interests (and many claim that it does) he will be defeated. This is as it should be.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: It seems possible to be able to learn to like anybody, under urgent necessity, except your relatives.

A woman can tell a man is an old crosspatch by his not saying anything about her beautiful new hat.

The best way to make it rain is to get far off from any shelter in a brand-new straw hat without an umbrella.

Nothing looks so reasonable to a man as his excuse for something before he makes it and nothing so foolish after he does.

A man can't fool himself about his bald spot the way a woman can herself about how her hair wouldn't be gray even if she didn't put the stuff on it she does to keep it from showing.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Chicago News: The best thing out—a conflagration.

It's a shame the way some people forget to remember.

Some high ideals are as impracticable as some airships.

Woman is apt to be the stronger vessel in the courtship class.

Hard cash is so called because it is hard to get along without it.

In putting his best foot forward many a man has made a fool of himself.

Wolves that come to our doors are never disguised—so they cannot be blessings.

A woman will gladly compromise if her husband is willing to make all the concessions.

Some men don't seem to realize the difference between the simple life and the silly life.

A wise girl is indisposed when a young man calls unexpectedly after she has been eating onions.

There is nearly always some rule at hand that will enable you to prove anything you want to.

In the course of time a woman may forget why she hates a man, but she will continue to hate him just the same.

After a woman gets on the shady side of 30 she would rather have a man tell her how young she looks than how pretty she is.

Stripping Iron Mines.

Robert L. Streeter in the Engineering Magazine: Iron ore is taken from the ground in two ways: mining and stripping, or mining and "farming," as one old miner in Duluth puts it. It goes without saying that where the ore lies near the surface, the cheaper way is to take off the overburden and then load the ore from the pit into railroad cars. Stripping, in the United States, is practiced principally on the Mesaba range, the ore on most of the other ranges being too far below the surface to make stripping pay; and furthermore, the other ranges were opened before the steam shovel and the cableway were developed to the point necessary to make their use in stripping a paying operation. On the Mesaba range the ore lies, as a rule, from 20 to 135 feet below the surface, and a few years ago it was thought necessary to have a vein of ore twice the thickness of the overburden to make stripping profitable, but now it pays to strip the overburden when it is of the same thickness as or even thicker than the vein of ore. The heaviest overburden that has been taken off is probably that of the Susquehanna mine in the Mesaba range, where 125 feet has been removed. Where the refuse can be deposited near at hand, the cable way is used for stripping; but where a haul on cars is necessary, the steam shovel is probably the more economical. With a shovel the earth is loaded directly into small dump cars of 100,000 pounds capacity, in which it is taken to the lake ports, if the ore is to be shipped by water.

The cost of mining varies with the location. On the old ranges ore is valued at about $1.15 a ton, this figure including mining but being exclusive of taxes. On the Mesaba range the cost of mined ore is about 90 cents per ton, while it costs about 30 cents per ton for stripping, bringing the cost of stripped ore to 60 or 70 cents a ton after the royality is paid. A reasonable cost for the average Lake Superior ore ready for shipment from the mines is in the neighborhood of $1.25 per ton.

Males and Modes.

Life: There is talk about new fashions for men's clothes that will make the male garb now in use look out of date. One reads of a detail of raiment called the "corset coat," that is to be narrower in the back than current coats, and a little shorter, and so on, and there is a rumor about trousers, that they are to be less voluminous. Some of the neighbors see in these reports evidences of intention to make all the males who regard fashion get new clothes and send their present clothes to the heathen.

We guess there will be no stampede about it. Women are curiously affected by radical changes of fashion. A large proportion of them, including due share of the most valuable individuals, prefer to conform to the prevailing fashion, and take pains to keep at least within sight of it. When their gowns begin to get out of style, no matter how good the gowns may be or how becoming, they wear them with heaviness of heart. They will sometimes shy at extremes of fashion, and some absurdities like crinoline that have been offered of late years they have refused. But as a rule they like new fashions and accept them gladly, and cheerfully rip up or give away good old clothes to make way for new.

Not so with the average contemporary American man. He has just a little more interest in clothes than enough to satisfy the police. As a rule, he must himself take care of what clothes he has, so he has few. The tailors make minor changes in cut from year to year for their own amusement, and he accepts them if they are not too radical. But his evening clothes, if he has any, often last him ten years without looking out of date, and he does not care if they do look out of date if they are still good. If he feels called upon to do more for the embellishment of creation he asks his wife to buy a new dress.

In Rip Van Winkle's Country.

In the Catskill foothills, a New York traveling man who was making a trip overland, passed an old man who was fishing with hook and line in a small stream. As the drummer drove by in a buggy, the old man never took his eyes off the bobber in the water. When the traveling man returned late in the afternoon, he was greatly surprised to see the old man still in the same position, with his eyes glued on the bobber.

"Hello, uncle!" he shouted. "Any luck today?"

Without taking his gaze off the cork which rested on the surface of the placid stream, the old man replied:

"Had a nibble 'long about noon."

BIG PARTY FOR FARGO

More Than 100 Duluth U. C. T. Members Will Attend Convention.

Will Take Along Band and Visit All Intervening Towns.

Over 100 live boosters for Duluth will leave over the Northern Pacific Thursday night in a special train to attend the U. C. T. convention at Fargo, and incidentally to let the people of Fargo and immediate towns know that Duluth is a live city. Duluth couldn't gather a more enthusiastic party of Duluth people than the U. C. T. crowd and when they start to demonstrate that they are lives ones, the demonstraion is complete.

The convention at Fargo will open Thursday morning and the Duluthians will be on hand with their badges, Duluth booster buttons and the Third Regiment band. Some delegates will leave here Wednesday night to be on hand for the opening, but the special will not leave until Thursday. They will remain at Fargo during the convention and will then start on the return trip, which is so arranged as to give opportunity for missionary work for Duluth and Duluth wholesale houses.

The special train will stop on the return trip at various towns along the way. The Commercial Travelers will parade through each town, with the band at their head, and will spread Duluth enthusiasm around. The towns to be visited include Hawley, Lake Park, Detroit, Frazee, Perham, Wadena, Staples, Motley, Brainerd and Aitkin. The stop at each place will be short, but it will be long enough to allow the visitors to get around town and make an impression.

C. W. Sutton and F. X. Gravel, who are high in the councils of the U. C. T. of the state, left yesterday for Fargo to assist in the arrangements for the big meeting. Any town that has a U. C. T. convention knows that there is a convention in progress. Duluth was favored two years ago and hasn't forgotten the travelers. The Duluth delegation is always in the front rank and it will be conspicuous at Fargo.

SUSPECT CHOLERA ON THE SAXONIA

Hungarian Who Sailed From New York Dies on Shipboard.

Trieste, Austria, June 6.—The Cunard line steamer Saxonia, which arrived here today from New York, is in the hands of the health authorities as the result of the discovery of a case of suspected cholera on board.

The victim was a Hungarian emigrant from America named Bernis. He died at sea. A bacteriological examination is being made and meanwhile permission for communication between the vessel and the shore is withheld by the officers of the port.

The Saxonia sailed from New York May 18. She called at Gibraltar, Genoa and Naples, arriving at the latter port last Friday. Bernis went aboard at New York with the intention of returning to his native land.

The Model Clothing Co. will have a money-raising sale, starting Saturday.

URGE UPLIFT OF THE SALOONS

Wholesale Liquor Dealers Open National Convention in Chicago.

Chicago, June 6.—The sixteenth annual meeting of the National Wholesale Liquor Dealers' association began here today, the members being welcomed by Mayor Carter H. Harrison. A number of addresses opened the day's session, the tenor of all of them being for the uplift of the saloon and for more thorough regulation.

President Morris F. Westheimer of Cincinnati, in his address, followed this line, saying in his opening address:

"We must not try to stem the current of nation-wide investigation and discussion. On the contrary, we should, by every reasonable and honorable way, aid in these efforts.

"We must consistently continue to influence the retailer so to conduct his business as to eliminate those features that may be open to criticism; we must educate the American public to the great evils that statutory prohibition creates, so as to build up sentiment for license, regulation and control, and we must be able and prepared to defend our calling before the greatest of all tribunals—the bar of American public opinion."

TELL TAFT ABOUT THE STEEL TRUST

Full Report of Commissioner Smith to Go to President.

Washington, June 6.—A full report on the United States Steel corporation, which Herbert Knox Smith, commissioner of corporations, has been three years in gathering, will be laid before the president within the next ten days. The president has been informed what the general outlines of Commissioner Smith's report will be.

Upon this report and the report of special investigators of the department of justice, President Taft and Attorney General Wickersham probably will decide what action, if any, shall be brought against the corporation.

Started by Roosevelt.

Commissioner Smith's report is founded upon investigations which were ordered by Former President Roosevelt and which have been continued by direction of President Taft. While government action might be influenced by the report, it would not be based upon it.

It was said today that it may be several weeks before President Taft and Attorney General Wickersham go into conference upon the case. It is understood that Solicitor General Lehman will participate in these conferences.

This sum is to be paid them out of their tribal fund on deposit in the United States treasury, and is to reimburse the Indians for their expenses in coming and returning.

In the summons the doctors are charged with having maliciously destroyed her practice. She asserts that her arrest and imprisonment last winter was the result of the persecution of defendants and that they have caused her to lose her practice in Swedish massage treatments which netted her $100 a week.

STOWAWAY AT MANILA IS NOT "PETER THE PAINTER."

Manila, June 6.—The stowaway found on the British steamer Protesilus, and who was believed to be "Peter the Painter," who is wanted in connection with the Houndsditch shooting affray in London, turns out to be a tramp, a former Pennsylvania railroad brakeman. He has been released.

Cotton Insurgents Lose.

New York, June 6.—An insurgent faction, made up mainly of the younger members of the New York cotton exchange, whose platform is said to be reform in cotton trading along lines suggested by the Federal government, lost in the annual election of the exchange. George W. Neville, the regular candidate for president, won over Thomas E. Hicks, insurgent, by 164 to 145, and Edward K. Cone, the regular candidate for vice president, won by two votes over George F. Jones. James F. Maury was re-elected treasurer without opposition. In the election of the board of managers the insurgents also lost, but generally in close contests.

PLAYED THIRTEEN INNINGS.

Ironwood Beats Ashland in Memorable Diamond Contest.

Ironwood, Mich., June 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Ironwood baseball team met the Ashland nine on Ironwood grounds Sunday afternoon in a very close game, Ironwood winning 2 to 1. The Norrie band played downtown from 1:30 until 2:30 and then went to the ball park and played for the game.

THIRD REGIMENT CAMP PLANS

Duluth Militia Companies Will Leave on Evening of July 2.

The Third regiment, Minnesota National Guard, of which the Duluth companies are a part, will go into camp at Lake City July 5 this year. Dispatches from the Twin Cities indicate that there is a possibility that all three Minnesota regiments will camp together at an earlier date, but Duluth militia officers say that would be impracticable, as the space is not large enough to accommodate all three regiments, and orders have already been issued for the Third regiment camp.

The Duluth companies will leave here on the evening of Sunday, July 2, first going to Minneapolis. On July 3, they will participate in a competitive drill of all the militia companies of Minnesota and on July 4 they will take part in the military parade, which will be coming celebration.

MARRIED NEARLY YEAR.

Ironwood Couple Cleverly Fool Their Friends Abont Wedding.

Ironwood, Mich., June 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Snavely left the last of the week for St. Paul, where they will visit for a time, from which place they will leave for Cedar Rapids, Iowa, where they will reside permanently. The Ladies' Aid Society of the First M. E. church tendered them a surprise farewell before leaving and gave a little piece of silver as remembrance.

Cards have been received announcing the marriage of Howard Snyder and Mary Duncan Snyder on Wednesday, July 6, 1910, at Chicago, Ill. When Mr. Snyder left for Bucklin, Kan., a couple of weeks ago, his many Ironwood friends understood that he was on matrimony bent, as there was no intimation even to his closest friends that he and Miss Duncan had been married almost a year. They are expected in Ironwood this week and will begin housekeeping on Gogebic street in the little cottage Mr. Snyder bought a year ago. Mrs. Snyder was formerly a teacher in the public schools of this city.

MARINE NEWS

TO START WORK AT OGDENSBURG

Duluth Marine Company's Equipment Will Be Taken to New York.

The equipment, consisting of two tugs, two scows, derrick scow and the dredge Lincoln, of the Duluth Marine company will leave this evening for Ogdensburg, N. Y., where it will start upon the work let last Friday by the United States war department to the local concern. The contract calls for the dredging of about 1,000,000 yards in the harbor at Ogdensburg, which will require almost two years to complete, and will cost about $100,000.

TURNED BACK BY THE FOG

Huronic Does Not Get Any Further Than Port Arthur.

The passenger steamer Huronic, of the Northern Navigation company which was due to arrive in Duluth at 9 o'clock this morning, ran into a heavy fog on Lake Superior last night, and sailed into Port Arthur many hours late. The condition on the lake was considered so serious that it was decided to abandon coming to Duluth, because the regular schedule could not be kept, and the boat will sail from Port Arthur to Sarnia, Ont., from where it started. This was her first trip up the lakes, and she was scheduled to be the second passenger vessel to arrive in the local harbor. Not many passengers were on the boat headed for Duluth, and these were given transportation by railway. The passengers who were to have left this afternoon on the Huronic will sail next Saturday on the Harmonic when she comes in.

WILL STUDY LAKE TEMPERATURES

Col. Townsend to Determine Variations By Observations at Ten Places.

Under direction of Col. C. McD. Townsend, engineer corps, U. S. A., observations are to be taken at ten places on Lake Michigan and Lake Huron, in the effort to determine whether warm currents exist in these lakes and the extent of variation in temperature.

Equipment for the taking of temperatures is now being sent out by the engineer's office at Detroit. Through cooperation of Commander C. M. McCormick, U. S. N., and Commander D. W. Blamer, U. S. N., inspectors of the eleventh and twelfth lighthouse districts, keepers of several lighthouse stations will assist in the work.

The points at which daily observations are to be made throughout the summer are Spectacle Reef, Harbor Beach, Port Huron, Sault Ste. Marie, Mackinaw City, Grand Haven, Milwaukee, Chicago river, Chicago lighthouse and some place in upper Lake Michigan, yet to be selected.

The investigation of temperatures is an outgrowth of assertions which have been made by fruit growers of Western Michigan that their industry is benefited by a warm current along the west shore. The possibility that this current may be diverted is one of the objections raised against construction of a deeper channel from the lakes to the Mississippi river. It is possible that E. L. Wheeler, assistant United States engineer, who is now supervising construction of the new breakwater at Mackinaw City, may also make observations to determine the volume and velocity of the current through the Straits of Mackinac.

CLOW & NICHOLSON TO HAVE NEW BOAT.

Clow & Nicholson expect to have a new excursion boat in the local harbor about July 4, to replace the Newsboy, which was sold to a Canadian transportation company four months ago. The Mascotte, which is being enlarged at the Superior shipyards, will not be ready for almost two weeks, and when she has been finished her name will be changed to the Columbia. In the meantime the company has the Plow Boy, which was used at Houghton, in service here.

Dredging at Ashland.

The Northern Dredge company of this city will send a plant to Ashland today, where the company has a contract with private concerns for dredging about the docks. The work will take about four weeks for its completion and will cost about $6,000.

Considerable delay has been experienced in its construction as it was expected to have her make the first trip on Decoration day.

RASH SO BAD BABY CAME NEAR DYING

Head Broke Out. Spread to Arms, Legs and Entire Body. Itched So He Would Scratch Until Blood Ran. One Box of Cuticura Ointment and Nearly One Cake of Cuticura Soap Cured Him. Has Had No Return.

"When my boy was about three months old, his head broke out with a rash which was very itchy and ran a watery fluid. We tried everything we could but he got worse all the time, till it spread to his arms, legs and then to his entire body. He got so bad that he came near dying. The rash would itch so that he would scratch till the blood ran, and a thin yellowish stuff would be all over his pillow in the morning. I had to put mittens on his hands to prevent him tearing his skin. He was so weak and run down that he took fainting spells as if he were dying. He was almost a skeleton and his little hands were thin like claws.

"He was bad about eight months when we tried Cuticura Remedies. I had not laid him down in his cradle in the daytime for a long while. I washed him with Cuticura Soap and put on one application of Cuticura Ointment and he was so soothed that he could sleep. You don't know how glad I was he felt better. It took one box of Cuticura Ointment and pretty near one cake of Cuticura Soap to cure him. I think our boy would have died but for the Cuticura Remedies and I shall always remain a firm friend of them. He was cured more than twenty years ago, and there has been no return of the trouble. I shall be glad to have you publish this true statement of his cure." (Signed) Mrs. M. C. Maitland, Jasper, Ontario, May 27, 1910.

Cuticura Remedies afford the most economical treatment for affections of the skin and scalp. A cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment are often sufficient. Sold everywhere. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., sole props., 138 Columbus Ave., Boston.

Mailed free, samples of Cuticura Soap and Ointment, with 32-p. book on skin treatment.

GOING OUT OF BUSINESS

At no time in Duluth's history was such a sale known. Just think, a stock of merchandise invoicing at the beginning of this sale close to $100,000.00, and not an article in this entire stock that is over nine months old and 85 per cent of which is merchandise bought through the regular channels for this spring and summer trade.

You can always buy odds and ends—shop-worn goods and yearly accumulations at reduced prices but to buy brand new merchandise from a complete stock that is fresh and new at ACTUAL COST of production and in a good many cases for less is an opportunity that does not happen in regular merchandising. It is only a force of circumstances, that compels us to quit business, that has caused this most SENSATIONAL SLAUGHTER of a high-class stock.

TRACTION MEN VISIT DULUTH

Quarterly Meeting of Street Railway Company Held in Duluth.

C. G. Goodrich, president of the Duluth - Superior Traction company, the holding company of the Duluth Street Railway company, and A. E. Ames of Toronto and Horace Lowry of Minneapolis, directors of the company, held the quarterly meeting of the board of directors here today. The usual dividend on the common and preferred stock was declared and nothing outside of routine business conducted, according to the statement of President Goodrich.

"Duluth is looking fine to me," said Mr. Goodrich after the meeting, at the Spalding this afternoon. "We have spent about $250,000 for improvements, the new cars, etc., coming under this general fund. It is looking better all the time to me and to the members of the board of directors. We think that Duluth has a great future. There is no question about that in our minds."

Mr. Ames expressed the opinion that reciprocity would help Duluth and the Twin Cities, and also volunteered the information that in Canada there was a general desire to see the reciprocity measure brought about.

The two directors and Mr. Goodrich plan to leave this evening.

$12.50 to Detroit, Mich., and Return.
Via "The South Shore" and the D. & C. steamers, leaving Duluth June 9, 13, 16, 18. Rate to Toledo, $13; Cleveland, $14; Buffalo, $14.50. Limit three weeks. For reservation and further particulars apply to A. J. Perrin, general agent, 430 West Superior street, Duluth, Minn.

BREN WORKING UPON HIS BOOKS

University Finances Are Being Given Thorough Overhauling.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joseph D. Bren, cashier of the state university, arrested Saturday morning on the charge of embezzlement, following his account of a robbery of nearly $14,000, spent the day at the university making up his trial balance.

It was Mr. Bren's first visit to his offices since his incarceration, and he was warmly greeted by the university officials, including President Emeritus Northrop, who was at the university today for a few moments.

With J. O. Cederburg, Mr. Bren went over the books, taking a trial balance up to June 1. Mr. Cederburg spent yesterday comparing the accounts of the state auditor's office with those of the university with reference to university funds. Discrepancies have not been found, but the comparison will take several days.

Checking Over Accounts.
Frank N. Stacey, deputy examiner, who has been placed in charge of the business offices to effect a complete investigation, this morning looked over the accounts with the purpose of verifying the cash in the three banks with which the university does business. He probably will finish it today. In the preliminary examination of the account at the university a shortage of $2,700 was shown, but this dwindled down to $940 when a second clerical error was discovered.

TWO STATE REGIMENTS WILL CAMP ON JUNE 22.

St. Paul, Minn., June 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—The date of the encampment of the First Minnesota regiment has been changed from June 12 to June 22. This change will bring the First and Second regiments in camp at the same time.

Adjt. Gen. F. B. Wood has made application to the surgeon general at Washington for the inoculation for typhoid of the members of Battery B, stationed at Minneapolis. The battery boys signed a petition for it. Under the plan, each man will be inoculated every ten days for thirty consecutive days.

Getting Too Fat?
People who don't grow too fat are the fortunate exception. But if you find the fat accumulating or already cumbersome, you will be wise to follow this suggestion, which is endorsed by thousands of people who know. Ask your druggist for a large case of Marmola Prescription Tablets. 75c is the price the world over. By doing this you will be safe from harmful drugs and be able to reduce a pound or more a day without dieting or exercise.

FOUND DEAD IN BOARDINGHOUSE

A man, whose name could not be learned, was found dead at 2 o'clock this afternoon in a Finnish boarding house conducted by Otto Santilin on the northeast corner of First alley and Sixth avenue west. He was between 40 and 50 years of age. Last evening he came to the boarding house for the first time, and then, according to employes there, he was in an intoxicated condition. When found, he was lying in the corner of the hall half undressed.

JACK AND GEORGE AT CORONATION

New York, June 6.—Jack Johnson, negro champion pugilist, and his white wife sailed today aboard the steamship Kron Prinz Wilhelm to witness the ceremonies incident to the coronation of King George V. A large contingent of Manhattan's sportive negro population boarded the vessel before it sailed today to say good-bye and their presence with the flowers and other offerings they brought, together with the pugilist's golden smile and his wife's glittering display of diamonds, easily made this the most conspicuous party aboard.

Instead of obtaining a stateroom among those of the other first-class cabin passengers, the Johnsons were assigned to the room ordinarily belonging to the chief engineer of the ship. It was also announced that the chief steward has assigned them to a small table in a rather secluded corner of the first cabin dining saloon.

Johnson said he did not intend to fight while abroad but that if he were offered enough money he would fight a bear.

"I'd fight a bear for about $30,000," he added.

"Will you fight Sam Langford?"

"He ain't no bear," answered the negro, "he's a wildcat."

Do Your Cooking in the Cool

A hot kitchen is little better than a prison in summer. But the range is there, so all the cooking and the washing must be done there, too.

What a relief it would be to move the range where you pleased. You can do this with a New Perfection Oil Cook-stove—cook your dinner out on the porch, if you like. It is the only range that is really portable—that works equally well in any place. There are no connections to be made, as in a gas range; no wiring, as with an electric stove; no sooty flues and ash-filled grates, as with coal or wood.

The long, enameled chimneys carry the heat directly up to saucepans, oven or boiler; you get full value from your fuel, without waste.

Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners, with long, turquoise blue enameled chimneys. Handsomely finished throughout. The 2- and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without a cabinet top, which is fitted with drop shelves, towel racks, etc.

SESSION IS A QUIET ONE

Little Business of General Interest Comes Before the Council.

Millwood Ordinance Passed---Concrete Culvert Will Replace Burned Bridge.

Last night's meeting of the city council marked the beginning of the summer sessions. The volume of business transacted was comparatively light, and it is expected that it will continue so until fall.

The ordinance of Alderman Bernard prohibiting the piling of millwood in the district above Superior street and between Twenty-first avenue west and the ore docks was passed, after a resolution to lay it over for another week had been lost. The residents of the vicinity complained that the large piles of wood were unsightly, insanitary and a fire menace. Considerable objection was lodged against them. The new ordinance does not prohibit the piling of millwood for use on the premises, but is aimed against those who have been jobbing it in large quantities.

The Commonwealth avenue bridge at New Duluth, which was destroyed by an incendiary fire a week ago yesterday morning, will be replaced by a concrete culvert and a partial fill. This will leave a grade on both sides of the gulch, but is considered the most satisfactory and economical method of doing the work. The engineer's estimate of the cost is $6,000. To erect a concrete bridge on grade would cost between $25,000 and $30,000. The board of public works was authorized last night, on motion of Alderman Krueger, to advertise for bids and award the contract for the work, subject to the approval of the council.

The resolution of Alderman Barnes giving it as the sense of the council that the board of water and light commissioners should reduce the guaranty for extensions from 8 per cent to 5 per cent was reported unfavorably by the light and water committee. The committee stated that in its opinion the council has no right under the charter to interfere with the conduct of that department. The report of the committee was adopted by a vote of 12 to 3.

The resolution calling for better street car service was laid on the table for another week, being referred to the committee on railroads, telegraph and telephones. It is anticipated that the committee will report unfavorably on the resolution, as the same committee had a similar matter in charge a short time ago, and after a public hearing failed to make any recommendations of the nature asked for by the resolution.

The ordinance directing the street railway company to sprinkle between its tracks in all parts of the city had its first reading last evening. It was prepared by the city attorney and it is expected that it will pass next Monday without opposition or amendment.

The license granted M. Polinsky a week ago to conduct a poolroom on First street, near First avenue west, was called into question. It seems that he recently pleaded guilty in district court to running a disorderly house on the premises and paid a fine. The resolution calling for a reconsideration was laid over a week at the request of the chairman of the license committee, Alderman Hoar.

The board of public works was authorized to hire an inspector for chloride sprinkling at a salary of $75 per month for not to exceed three months. The members of the board stated that it is absolutely necessary to have such a man to keep track of the spreading of the chloride.

The request of the Salvation Army for the abatement of the wheelage tax on three horses and wagons was referred to the committee on streets, alleys and sidewalks.

A. Gronseth sent in a communication protesting against the ordering of a new walk at Fifth avenue east and Fifth street.

A petition was received for the paving of East Michigan street between Second and Fifth avenues with sandstone blocks, with a vitrified brick walk on the upper side after the necessary underground work has been completed.

The council confirmed the purchase by the board of public works of an E. M. F. automobile for the use of the department and the engineering force.

The assessment for the improvement of Sixth avenue west was extended sixty days without penalty.

PLANTING ALL DONE.

Planting in and about Duluth is about over for this year.

A. B. Hostetter of the Commercial club, who has been out among the farmers, reports that in places the clover is already knee high.

Mr. Hostetter has on exhibition samples of asparagus which were grown at Judge Cant's farm at Fond du Lac this year. The stocks measure 9 inches high.

Indications point to a heavy strawberry crop. The vines are healthy looking and seem to be doing well.

Already Mr. Hostetter is making arrangements for the annual exhibit at the Minnesota state fair.

QUITS PULPIT; PAY TOO SMALL TO MARRY ON.

Chicago, June 6.—A man cannot support a wife and maintain a home on an annual salary of $1,200. At least this is the conclusion reached by William F. Bostwick, pastor of the Western Avenue Baptist church here, who resigned the pastorate because his congregation would not fix his salary at $2,000 a year.

"It is impossible to support a wife on the salary of $1,200 a year I am getting, and I intend to marry," he explained. "On my salary of $1,200 I have not been able to save $150 a year and I have lived economically. What could a married man do? In the old days when the cost of living was not so high, this church paid a minister $3,000 a year, but the membership is not so large now. There are too many ecclesiastical hoboes who move in and out of churches without contributing to their support."

F. S. Rexford, 615 New York Life building, Kansas City, Mo., says: "I had a severe attack of a cold, which settled in my back and kidneys, and I was in great pain from my trouble. A friend recommended Foley Kidney Pills, and I used two bottles of them and they have done me a world of good." For sale by all druggists.

HEAR SIDE OF NEWSPAPERS

Senators Finish Hearings on Reciprocity With Canada.

General Manager of the Associated Press Is Questioned.

Washington, June 6.—Public hearings on the Canadian reciprocity bill were concluded by the senate finance committee yesterday, representatives of the American Newspaper Publishers' association and of the Associated Press being the last to appear before the committee. Secretary of State Knox, at the request of Senator Bailey, has been asked to explain to the committee whether the Root amendment to the paper section of the bill, providing that it shall not be in force until the president is satisfied and has issued a proclamation to the effect that paper and wood pulp are being admitted free into all the provinces of Canada, is in full accord with the agreement, as understood by the commissioners from both countries who prepared the treaty. On Wednesday the committee will take up the bill in executive session to discuss committee action.

Hear Ridder and Stone.

Both Herman Ridder, until recently president of the American Newspaper Publishers' association, and Melville E. Stone, general manager of the Associated Press, testified yesterday in answer to queries from various senators, that in their opinion no effort has been made by the newspapers of the country to present only one side of the reciprocity argument, to color their reports on the question or to suppress any facts which were of new value. Bruce Haldeman, president of the Publishers' association, and Frank D. Noyes, president of the Associated Press, also appeared.

Of Interest to Readers.

The chief interest which the newspapers of the country have in the matter, Mr. Ridder told the committee, is their desire to free themselves from the paper manufacturers' trust which now, he added, has the publishers at its mercy. The readers of the country would benefit by cheaper paper, as well as the publishers, he declared, because the money saved on paper could be used to furnish a larger and better news service.

The hearings wound up with a friendly philosophizing between Senators Bailey, Smoot, La Follette and Clark on the one hand and Mr. Stone on the other, as to whether it would be better for the public if the newspapers gave them more of the serious, solid and instructive sort of news and less of the sensational.

Tells of Associated Press.

Mr. Stone insisted that no instructions had been sent out to Associated Press correspondents as to Canadian reciprocity, except that they had been told to send any important matter connected with it because of the general interest of the subject. He was questioned in detail as to the Associated Press service by a number of senators. All reports, he said, were supposed to be absolutely fair to both sides, to be a recital of facts on their news value only.

ONLY TWO JOIN NAVY IN MAY.

Two men joined the navy at the local recruiting office in May. There were thirty-five applications and all but two were rejected. Usually two men are accepted weekly but May was an unusually dull month. The two new sailors are Fred Miller and Henry J. Neiml who were sent to Newport Island, where they will be given four months of training before entering the service.

IN THE DAY'S WORK AT WASHINGTON

Ask MacVeagh About It.

Washington, June 6.—The house committee on expenditures in the treasury department has decided to seek from Secretary MacVeagh light on the change in the policy of the department in the classification of creosote, transferring it from the dutiable to the non-dutiable list. Mr. MacVeagh, who was absent from Washington when the committee investigated the reversal of the order of Assistant Secretary Andrew directing the collection of a 20 per cent duty on creosote, will be asked by Representative Cox of Indiana, chairman of the committee, to testify some time this week.

Help Sugar Investigation.

President Taft has promised Representative Hardwick of Georgia, chairman of the special house committee investigating the sugar trust, that all information regarding the trust now in the possession of the executive department of the government would be put at the disposal of the committee.

Customs Ruling Protested.

Many border cities which extend their commerce to Canada and Mexico have telegraphed protests to the customs authorities against the decision of the customs court which prohibits the free re-entry of domestic animals which have been taken across the line. In some of the border cities market wagons which daily deliver supplies across the line were stopped by the customs collectors.

Under the court's interpretation of the law, a delivery horse once taken across the border is dutiable when it comes back. Motor trucks pass freely in all such cases, as a provision of the law allows them to be bonded for return.

The court's decision reaches to some high places. Chief Justice White of the supreme court of the United States will take several fine horses with him when he goes to his summer home in Canada. He has prepared to pay duty upon them when he returns.

An old customs regulation permitting the free return of an American animal within three days was dug out of the old files by officials who sought some relief for the cities affected, but it was found that the customs court decision reverses this. Several amendments to the law have been prepared by congressmen who have suffering constituents.

Clapp Mentioned for Committee

Senator Clapp of Minnesota was among those mentioned for members of the sub-committee to conduct the Lorimer reinvestigation, but he withdrew from consideration for such a position.

The resolution providing for the appointment of a sub-committee of eight was proposed by Mr. Bailey, senior Democratic member of the committee, and it named Messrs. Dillingham, Gamble, Clapp and Sutherland, Republicans, and Messrs. Fletcher, Johnston, Kern and Lea, Democrats. This followed the rule of senlority except where senators had refused to permit the use of their names and in so far as impartiality could be assured.

Among those declining to serve on the ground of other engagements were Messrs. Bailey and Paynter, Democrats, and Heyburn, Republican. When the list was read, Messrs. Clapp and Sutherland voluntarily retired in favor of Messrs. Kenyon and Jones. Contending for the rule of seniority, Mr. Bailey suggested that Messrs. Bradley and Oliver should be designated. When, however, it was pointed out that both of those senators were ineligible because in the previous inquiry they had voted for Lorimer, the Texas senator yielded and the Iowa and Washington senators were added to the list.

The sub-committee adopted a resolution for presentation to the senate to clothe the sub-committee with all the powers of a special committee. It is expected that the resolution will encounter practically little opposition.

Harlan Files Dissent.

Associate Justice Harlan of the supreme court of the United States has filed his dissenting opinion in the tobacco case, recently decided by that court. With the exception of a few verbal changes, the opinion is a copy of the "points" he had included in a memorandum from which he delivered an oral dissent the day the case was decided.

COUNTY WILL EMPLOY 1,000 TEACHERS NEXT YEAR.

More than 1,000 school teachers are needed for St. Louis county schools next year. This number is quite an increase over the number employed this year.

New schools have been built in different parts of the county and more teachers are needed to teach in them.

Many applications are coming in to County Superintendent of Schools Young. They are mostly from graduates of the high schools of Duluth and Superior. Graduates of the Duluth and Superior normal schools are also looking for positions in the city schools.

MINIMUM SALARIES OF PASTORS RAISED.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 6.—A resolution was adopted at the Reformed Presbyterian synod making the minimum salary of the lowest paid minister $900 a year instead of $800. The fight for higher salaries was led by Rev. T. J. Allen of Beaver Falls, Pa., who declared that he barely was able to make a living for himself, "let alone providing for a wife and family."

ANTI-RECIPROCITY IOWA MAN SENT TO CONGRESS.

Council Bluffs, Iowa, June 6.—W. R. Green of Audubon was yesterday elected congressman of the Ninth Iowa district to succeed Walter I. Smith, who recently was given a judicial appointment by President Taft. Practically complete returns give Green a majority of 1,192 over W. S. Cleveland, his Democratic opponent.

Green stands opposed to reciprocity, while Cleveland was favorable to the agreement. Although Cleveland cut down the majority given Judge Smith at the last election by 700 votes, the country vote was strong enough for Green to give him a safe majority.

Democratic leaders declare farmers opposed to reciprocity were responsible for Cleveland's defeat.

Has "Fool Proof" Aeroplane.

Sidney, N. S. W., June 6.—Lawrence Hargrave, a box-kite inventor, claims to have constructed an aeroplane which he calls "fool proof." The chief improvement is the substitution of a flexible rope connection between the planes and motor deck for the rigid stays now used. He declares that an aviator might go to sleep in such a machine.

WOMAN MAYOR WILL FIRE MALE COUNCIL.

Hunnewell, Kan., June 6.—Again last night a quorum of the city council failed to meet with Mrs. Ella Wilson, the woman mayor. Two aldermen, F. C. Landers and W. L. Lewis, were in attendance, but it requires three to make a quorum of the aldermanic body of five members.

"You can see for yourself," Mrs. Wilson said to a crowd that had gathered at the hall, "that they do not intend to meet with me. But I'll stand my ground. I'll declare the offices of the councilmen vacant and I am sure the authorities will permit me to appoint men who will serve with me."

Stopping Light Stops Decay

Light starts decay even in pure beer. Dark glass gives protection against light. Schlitz is bottled in a brown bottle to protect its purity from the brewery to your glass.

In the Schlitz Brewery, some say, protection against impurity is carried to an absurd extreme. We don't think so.

We have adopted every idea, every invention to attain and preserve purity.

We scald every tub, keg and barrel—every pipe and pump—every time we use it. We wash every bottle four times by machinery. Even the air in which the beer is cooled is filtered.

It is aged for months in glass enameled tanks. It cannot cause biliousness. It will not ferment in your stomach.

If you knew what we know about beer, you would say, "Schlitz—Schlitz in Brown Bottles."

SUPERIOR WINS AGAIN

Sox Drop Third Straight to Red Legs By 9 to 8 Count.

Errors By Kramer and Cummings Account for the Defeat.

Duluth dropped the third straight to Superior yesterday by the score of 9 to 8. Errors marked or marred the play of the Sox, and in addition Kramer and Cummings were both hit hard. Michael started the game and was yanked in favor of the spitball artist. The pitching of neither was particularly effective.

Before the contest started Thorsen, Richard Brinsley Sheridan, informed Kid Taylor that he had been rehabilitated. After the first inning Kid Taylor called it a shorter and uglier word. We got a flying start off Thorsen, only to be caught and passed.

On the wrangles that punctuated the game and stopped its progress from time to time, like a new Waterbury impedes the slothful labor of a hired man, the less said the better. Adjectives, unless they transgress the barrier of the blue pencil, are quite futile to describe it.

It might be stated right here that the sooner the officials of the Minny league and the executives of the league, realize that incompetent umpiring in the past has been the worst enemy of the league, just that much sooner will the league prosper.

It is very seldom that an umpire in the Minny assesses any real money, no matter how grave the offense, and the consequence has been wrangling and disputes that have been delaying games sometimes over an hour.

We have had Griffith over here, and if they make 'em worse we don't want to see that kind. Superior has been having all sorts of trouble with Schuler and the fans are beginning to get disgusted with this kind of umpiring.

With Leber out in the first inning, O'Brien was safe on Bancroft's error. Menelce, Johnson and Holstrom singled, these hits, combined with a passed ball, giving the Sox four as a pleasant starter.

After this little welcome back to organized company reception upon the part of the White Sox, Mister Thorsen was retired and Kid Parker hopped the mound.

With one down in their half of the first Cy Bennett walked, and Hoffman singled. The pair of runners worked the double steal. Bennett scored on a wild pitch and Hoffman scored when O'Brien erred on McCullach's offering.

To make things look safe the Red Legs scored three in the second. Landry walked and scored on Lippold's triple. Taylor offered one to Kramer and a wild throw to the plate permitted the German Lippold to score. Al Cummings was nominated for relief work in the settlement cause. Parker and Bancroft greeted the coming of Albert with singles and Kid Taylor was over with the third run of the inning.

O'Brien hit a fly that fell in safe territory in the fourth and became familiar with the register when large Sam Menelce doubled. Bancroft walked in Superior's half, was sacrificed and scored when Holstrom made a bubble on Ford's offering.

In the Superior fifth Landry hit one over the fence for two bases, was advanced on an error and scored on Taylor's sacrifice fly.

The Sox batted in two runs in the seventh and one in the eighth inning. With Duluth one run to the good, Superior scored two runs by getting to Cummings for two doubles and a single.

Chicago, June 6.—New York took the lead in the National league pennant race yesterday by defeating Chicago in the final game of the series, 7 to 1. Devereaux doubled and Fletcher singled for the third time in the day. Snodgrass doubled and Merkle, who faced McIntyre for the second time in the inning, got a double which he tried to stretch into a triple and was out. Doyle was spiked in the leg by Devereaux but continued in the game.

SERIES WITH THE PIRATES

Sox Will Play Three Games With the Winona Team.

Killian's Gang Must Be Checked at Head of Lakes.

(BY BRUCE.)

Winona comes this afternoon for a series of three games. The coming of Uncle Joe Killian and his band of marauding pirates, who are at the present time setting the league on fire with their playing should provide the best baseball that the Duluth fans have seen the present season.

Darby O'Brien is back in the game, and while he is not the best mechanical second baseman in the league, he is one of the headiest players and his presence has been missed and his return to the game will strengthen the Sox for the battle with Winona.

As has been stated on this page before, it will have to be at the Head of the Lakes that the Pirates are pulled down from the high standing they are holding at the present time. If the Sox and the Taylorites can make anything like a clean sweep of the series with Joe's gang, the mad gait of the Killianites may be checked.

There is no disputing the fact that Joe has one of the best baseball teams in the league. Some of the astute observers of baseball in the organization have remarked to the writer that the Pirates are traveling too fast. If that is so, then it is up to us to pull them down in the percentage standing.

Duluth has a good baseball team. Jawn Desmond is not the kind of a chap who gives up or gets the least discouraged. He is out to give the fans of this city the very best that the league can provide, and just because the team has lost a few games at this early stage of the league race, it is not the least indication that it is going to be down in the race, or that it will play an inferior article of ball during the season.

Darby O'Brien is a wise leader and if he sees weakness in the team, no doubt he will set about remedying them. It should be remembered that the team that won the pennant in the Minny league the first year of its organization, was down at the bottom of the list until near the middle of the season.

However, that is neither here nor there. The fans want to see baseball and not have a multitudinous lot of details explained. The Sox will stand on their own hind legs, and the series opening this afternoon is due to give the fans the best baseball they have enjoyed since the days when Breen, Marion, Dauss and Count Otto Baron Mueller and Merry McCrone were in all the glory of winning the flag for Duluth.

Killian comes with the best team he has ever gathered for the city beautiful. He has George Dauss, and Georgie has yet to lose a game this season. Baillies is also going fine and the same goes for McNeil. Wagner is also going some for Joe, and with four pitchers working in mid-season form it is not at all surprising that Winona should be up there at the top, making a runaway race of it.

The addition of Swanson and Malloy to the Winona outfield seems to have done a lot of good. Swanson was one of the best throwers in the league last season, and in addition is one of the best hitters. Malloy is one of the very best fielders, and in addition to that is perhaps the very best baserunner.

With the Sox in their stride, and it is time that they played some very good baseball, we are bound to see the most exciting and entertaining games that the present season has brought to us.

MIKE DONLIN IS AGAIN REINSTATED.

Cincinnati, O., June 6.—M. J. Donlin, the heavy hitting outfielder, was formally installed yesterday by the national baseball commission. Donlin promised to report to the New York club immediately. The commission did not inflict a fine.

The claim of the Minneapolis club of the American association against the Cincinnati National league club relative to the exchange by the former of Pitcher Loudell for Shortstop Altizer and Pitcher Schreiber was disallowed by the commission. The Minneapolis club asserted that the exchange of these players had been legally consummated, while Cincinnati denied that the transaction progressed beyond the stage of negotiations. The commission found that the deal had not been completed and would not recognize Minneapolis' claim.

DULUTH OARSMEN WORKING HARD

Coach Ten Eyck Giving Eight Long Practice Rows.

If the promises of Coach James E. Ten Eyck are carried out the members of the Duluth Boat club crew will have the hardest work that any bunch of carsmen have gone through since the strenuous days of Dan Mahoney and the famous pie-eating four.

Starting June 12, Ten Eyck plans morning rows for the members of the eight in addition to the workouts that come every evening. As the evening rows have been much longer than the rows taken by former crews, the amount of the work the men will go through before lining up for the start of the races on July 21 and 22, will not be slow.

While the coach is non committal and refuses to express an opinion upon the progress of the crew, it is generally believed that the eight is making progress and that Ten Eyck is fairly well satisfied with the way things are going.

The long, swinging stroke has superceded the short, more choppy stroke that has been used by the Duluth crews of the past, and the boat seems to be traveling faster between strokes. Considering the weather conditions, for there has been very little rowing weather, it is very early yet.

Those who have watched the work of the coach have come to the conclusion that he knows his business, and that if it is possible to turn out a winning crew, he is the man to do it.

ARGUMENTS WITH UMPIRES COST MONEY.

New York, June 6.—The quarrels and arguments among ball players and umpires at the games between the Chicago and New York teams at Chicago on Friday and Saturday resulted in several fines and suspensions being announced at the National league headquarters.

Pitcher Mordecai Brown was fined $25 and suspended for three days and Zimmerman was fined $25, for their trouble with Umpire Eason. The argument which "Chief" Myers and Becker had with Eason will cost Myers $25 and Becker $10 in fines, and Doyle is suspended three days for his unparliamentary argument with Umpire Johnstone.

RAIN FALLS ON PLAINS

Another Postponement of Second International Polo Match Probable.

Fears Arise That Series of Games May Not Be Completed.

New York, June 6.—The northeast rain storm which swept the Westbury plains all day yesterday was still in progress at 9 o'clock today and the prospect for the playing of the second polo game between England and America was small.

Time is getting very short for the completion of the cup contest this year. All the visiting cavalry officers are under orders to report in London on June 17 for the coronation ceremonies. What is more important to the English poloists is the matter of duties on their string of ponies. The bond of $50,000 given for their stay in this country expires on Saturday. The customs officials said today that only orders from Washington would extend the limit of the bond, and Collector Loeb will step into the international polo situation on Saturday unless he receives such orders.

It was generally admitted today that the match could have been played yesterday afternoon for the heaviest part of the rain ceased a couple of hours before the time set for the game. It was for this reason the polo officials hesitated today for a considerable time before announcnig their decision on the contest scheduled for this afternoon.

NEW FIGHTER IS IN DULUTH

Young Wilson of Calgary Hits Town Looking for Trouble.

Young Wilson, a colored welterweight pugilist, built somewhat on the general lines of Joe Wolcott, the famous Barbadoes wonder, is in the city, healthy, kicking and looking for trouble. He wants a fight with Curley Ulrich, and if his statements be true, has several iron men to bet on the result.

Wilson knocked out Jack McCarthy, who fought several battles around these parts. McCarthy fought Ulrich and was beaten after the battle had gone nearly the limit.

The latest pugilist to bid for publicity and work comes from Canada, Calgary being his former stamping ground. Hearing that there were things doing in the fight game in these parts, he blew in and is here looking for an ante.

At the present time Ulrich is in Canada, where he is negotiating for several fights. In the meantime the new arrival might set sail for Art Godfrey, the boy who made an indifferent showing with Kid Curry in their recent bout here.

Grand Forks, N. D., June 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Today marked the close of the annual meeting of the North Dakota Episcopal convocation, attended since Sunday morning by about seventy-five clerical and lay delegates.

The convocation yesterday elected delegates to the district missionary conference next September in Duluth, and the Sunday school district conference which will be held at the same time. The delegates follow:

Missionary conference: Rev. Albert Edward Clattenburg, Devils Lake; Rev. Chas. H. Brown, Bathgate; Very Rev. DeWitt Dowling, Fargo; Rev. L. J. Moultrie, Valley City; T. M. Husband, Grand Forks; J. Frame, Fargo; E. J. Chamberlain, Devils Lake; C. D. Lord, Park River; Owen F. Ashbrook, Larimore.

Sunday School conference: Rev. E. W. Burleson, Jamestown; Mrs. E. A. Pray, Valley City; E. A. Getchell, Grand Forks; Rev. F. A. Shure, Lisbon, and Miss Lulu Cavalier, Pembina.

Sessions Interesting.

All of the sessions have been exceptionally interesting, the fact that Bishop Cameron Mann closed his first decade of work at the head of the North Dakota diocese adding no little to the interest manifest.

Rev. Geo. Childs of Casselton was re-elected secretary of the convocation, while Bishop Mann is the ex-officio head of the organization. The other officers will be elected today.

In the annual Sunday school competition, carried on for the schools of the state with a banner and a pennant as the prizes, the Larimore school won first, Lisbon won second and Esmond was in third place. The award is based upon the per capita offering of the several schools, and last year the North Dakota diocese led all others in this particular. Rev. E. W. Burleson of Jamestown is the Sunday school commissioner of the state and in charge of this department of the work. He has been in that position eight years.

BICKFORD'S TRIAL COMES UP JUNE 19

Former State Treasurer of North Dakota to Face Jury at Washburn.

Washburn, N. D., June 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—G. L. Bickford, former state treasurer, accused of the embezzlement of $60,000 of the state funds, will be arraigned in the district court of McLean county, June 19 for trial, with witnesses subpoenaed for June 21. A petit jury call of sixty members, twice as large as is ordinarily drawn, has been made. Judge Crawford will try the case.

G. L. BICKFORD.

The removal of the case from Burleigh county, secured by the defendant on the ground of prejudice, with a petition for such removal being directed both against Judge Winchester of the Burleigh district court, as well as against the people of the county.

Bickford is accused of the embezzlement of $60,000, the amount in question has been turned over to the state, a settlement being effected a short time after Jan. 1, when the new treasurer, Gunder Olson, took over the office. Certificates of deposit from the Bowbells bank made up the amount in question, and Treasurer Olson refused to accept these.

In the settlement of the affair Treasurer Bickford went out of the Bowbells bank, with which he was connected, and he is at the present time engaged in the real estate business at Bowbells.

State's Attorney W. L. Smith will prosecute the action, and George A. Bangs of Grand Forks will defend.

'Cascarets' Splendid For Elderly Folks

The rule for old people is—One Cascaret daily. The bowels, like other muscles, grow less active with age—They need help.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. And most of them need them daily. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at sixty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. And there is no matter of choice here. The only such tonic is Cascarets and they cost only 10 cents per box.

VERIFY IT

The Proof Is In Duluth Almost at Your Door.

The public statement of a Duluth citizen is in itself strong proof for Duluth people, but confirmation strengthens the evidence.

Here is a Duluth citizen who testified years ago that Doan's Kidney Pills relieved sick kidneys and now states the cure was permanent. Can any sufferer from kidney ills ask better proof? You can investigate. The case is right at home.

Mrs. M. McLean, 4324 Gilliat St., Duluth, Minn., says: "All that was said in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills by a member of my family when he publicly recommended them in 1898 still holds good. During the past several years this person has not been obliged to use a kidney medicine, for the cure has been permanent. Doan's Kidney Pills effected a cure of kidney trobule in this case and also brought relief from a dull, heavy ache in the loins. The person of whom I am speaking recommends Doan's Kidney Pills highly when anyone asks him about them."

HEALTHY NERVES

Impossible Without Pure, Rich, Red Blood.

A Cure Which Proves the Value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the Treatment of Even Severe Nervous Diseases.

Mrs. Donald Galloway, of No. 1516 Hardesty avenue, Kansas City, Mo., suffered from nervous prostration without relief until she tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She says:

"I suffered for a year from what the doctors called nervous prostration, due to overwork. I was dizzy all of the time and very nervous. I would get short of breath and felt as though I would fall at each step. At times I would be so nervous that I would shake all over and it seemed as though I was being pricked with needles. I could not hold a plate for fear of dropping it. There were severe pains in my side. I was reduced in weight, could not work and was confined to bed for a month. I had sick headaches twice a week and could not sleep nights.

"The doctors did not seem to help me and they said it would be a long time before I would get well. I also tried many medicines but without help and had given up hope of getting well. A friend recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to my husband. I did not see much of an improvement until I had taken three boxes of the pills. From then on I began to sleep and eat better and felt better in every way. The pills did me so much good that I kept on taking them until cured and I have been well ever since."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the most direct cure for nervous troubles because they remove the cause of these diseases by building up and purifying the blood. The pure blood which they make furnishes the nerves with needed elements until they are restored to their normal strength. The pills have made so many remarkable cures in nervous disorders that no sufferer can afford to neglect giving them a trial.

They can be obtained at any drug store or direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., at 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50. While so promptly effective, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain no harmful stimulants or opiates. They are perfectly safe and create no drug habit. Write for a free copy of our new booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System." The booklet describes symptoms and gives much useful information. It will be sent on postal card request.

WOMAN'S REALM.

One of the prettiest events of the season was the wedding of Miss Annie Dale White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William White, to Albert C. Gillette, which took place last evening at the White residence, 1718 East Superior street.

The decorations were beautiful. Green and white were effectively combined with palms, white lilacs, smilax and pretty foliage. The bridal party descended the stairs and proceeded to a prettily improvised altar in the parlor through an aisle made by white ribbons held by little Mary and Josephine Cotton. The altar was made with a background of soft white hangings over which ropes of smilax stood out effectively. Three large tapers were lighted and Rev. Robert Yost of the First Presbyterian church read the Episcopal wedding service at 8:30 o'clock in the presence of relatives and immediate friends.

The bride wore a handsome gown of ivory satin with trimmings of rare handmade lace. The long under sleeves were of chiffon and the neck was made high with the same material. The dress had a long court train and her bridal veil, which covered the whole gown, was caught with a wreath of orange blossoms. Her only ornament was a diamond bar pin, the gift of the groom. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and lillies of the valley made in a shower arrangement.

The matrons of honor, Mrs. Ward Ames, Jr., sister of the bride, and Mrs. A. M. Miller, Jr., were gowned in blue chiffon over blue satin and pink chiffon over pink satin, respectively. They held arm bouquets of pink Killarney roses and the little ribbon stretchers were pretty little frocks of Irish lace over pink silk. Mrs. White wore a handsome grey satin brocade with an overdress of spangled net and trimmings of silver beads. Mr. Gillette was attended by William White, Jr., as best man.

The fire places were effectively banked with the lilacs and smilax and in the dining room the table was appointed with a handsome centerpiece of white roses and lillies of the valley. Green and silver shaded candles were also used and festoons of smilax about the table edge added to the effect.

Assisting about the rooms were

Mrs. R. C. Jamison and Miss Brown of 1526 Jefferson street were hostesses at a 5 o'clock tea this afternoon in compliment to Miss Mae Wylie, who will be one of next week's brides. Zenith Is Dedicated to Miss Margaret Taylor

MISS MARGARET TAYLOR.

The "Zenith" is out. This is the annual publication of the senior class at the high school and the copies were ready for distribution this afternoon.

Miss Margaret Taylor, assembly hall director at the high school has been honored with the dedication of the book. The students have kept this fact a secret until the book was out and only those who counted the ballots knew of the choice of the class. Miss Taylor has been in the school for a number of years and has taken a great deal of interest in the class of 1911 all during their course and the class has elected her "advisor" each term. Miss Taylor was elected as the one to be honored by a very large majority. She has been in the school for many years and is loved and honored by every student. She takes an active interest in all their troubles and pleasures and is one of the most popular chaperones in the city. She has always been the friend of the students and has made things smooth for many a pupil straightening out tangles with faculty and board in the most tactful and fair manner.

Opposite a full page picture of Miss Taylor in the front of the book is written "As the expression of our sincerest regard and deepest appreciation, we dedicate this, our Zenith, to Miss Margaret Taylor."

The book itself is one of the finest ever issued by any class. Credit for this is due to Palmer Bevis, editor-in-chief, and the members of the Zenith board, Chelsie Final, assistant editor; Ray Hancock, business manager; Walter Glass, assistant manager; historian, Marian Mooney, and Helen Smith, Mary Robertson, Gladys Lenning, Lydia Woodbridge, Madeline Cheadle, Florence Olson, Edna Bergquist, Mary Whipple, Stanley Lamb, George King, Bruce Sibbald, David Wanless, Mortimer Bondy, Joe Boyle, and Julius Nolte.

The book has a picture of W. E. Magner, president of the board of education; R. E. Denfeld, superintendent; Principal Leonard Young and the members of the faculty.

The rest of the book is given over to the pictures of the members of the senior class, their history, a calendar for the year, chapters on the lower classes, athletics, societies and advertising.

The book is covered with green buckskin, green and white being the class colors.

HOME ECONOMICS

Will Be Discussed All Over This State.

St. Paul, Minn., June 6.—Minnesota is to be covered in a state-wide campaign to interest women in home economics. The American school of home economics of Chicago has sent Miss Flava Chaudoin here as state organizer to visit all the towns of any size in Minnesota and organize some economic clubs.

This movement originated in New York, the first promoter being Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont, who is an ardent advocate of women's clubs having a department devoted to home building and improvement. The work has become national in scope, and all the Eastern states have taken hold of it energetically, with the result that there have been hundreds of women's clubs formed and associated with the National Federation of Women's Clubs the past six months.

Miss Chaudoin is dividing her time at present between the Fourth and Fifth districts, St. Paul and Minneapolis.

The Doctor

Measles.

The idea that measles is a common disorder of childhood, quite inevitable, and far less dangerous than troublesome, is everywhere prevalent. One is at a loss to understand how this belief was originated and has persisted for so long, for all authorities on children's ailments are agreed that measles is one of the most fatal diseases of early life.

There is no getting over the stubborn facts of the mortality returns in our great cities, and these show that measles ranks third in the death rate among eruptive fevers.

Very little hope of stemming this great waste of child life can be entertained until we see a complete change in the popular estimate of measles.

Of course, there are hundreds of cases known to every medical man where rash has broken out and disappeared without affecting the patient to any great extent. In these cases it is only necessary to keep the child in bed and feed it on light food only.

But they also know many more in which it is not the actual measles that have proved fatal, but the bronchitis, the pneumonia, following measles. In too many cases they can ten us of fine, robust children who could have certainly been saved had the parents realized what a dangerous disease measles is.

At this season, when it is particularly prevalent, parents should be on their guard, and if a child shows signs of a feverish cold, with running at the nose and eyes, he should be kept in bed, or at least indoors, for a day or two.

If the disease declares itself, the utmost care should be taken to keep the child warm in bed and away from draughts. It is far wiser to call in the doctor at that early stage, even in a mild case, than to wait until some serious development occurs.

Neuralgia.

It a person has neuralgia on the right side of the jaw, put the left hand in water as hot as you can stand it. If it is on the left jaw, put the right hand in hot water. The effect of the hot water takes the chill off the nerves.

Tired Feet.

Nothing else rests tired, hot feet so effectually as a bath of warm witch hazel. It takes the swelling down and the soreness soon disappears.

Graduation Exercises In Duluth Schools

Graduation is filling the minds of many Duluth families these days.

This week the students at the state normal school are finishing their course and every day brings some new feature of the program. Last evening and this evening the class plays hold the attention. "A Button," translated from the French, by Katherine Wolf and "Armgart" by George Eliot, were played by a cast composed of Marie Driscoll, Evonne Robert, Winifred Warner, Minnie Hanson, Maude Matteson, Adeline Buckley, Eliabeth Wasley, Elsie Becker and Myrtle Pierce. The senior glee club assisted in the entertainment while Miss Myrtle Pierce sang a solo.

Tomorrow morning closing chapel exercises will be held commencing at 9 o'clock. Tomorrow is also class day and Thursday morning the commencement day exercises will take place, beginning at 10:30 o'clock. The address of the morning will be made by Ell Torrance, president of the state normal board, Minneapolis, and the diplomas will be presented by L. A. Huntoon, resident director of the state normal school at Moorhead.

Friday night of this week the alumni of the Duluth Central high school will hold their first annual "alumni night." It will be an informal evening with a program of music and theatricals, followed by dancing in the lower hall. Mr. and Mrs. Denfeld and Principal and Mrs. Young will be there to greet the old students of the school.

Next week the students in the public schools will close their year's work.

The graduation exercises in the grade schools will be held in the grade buildings, each holding its own on Thursday afternoon. In former years these grades have held their exercises in the high school assembly hall but owing to the growing number each year the new plan has been adopted.

The high school commencement program will be held Wednesday with the class night exercises. The program has been arranged by Stanley Lamb.

Thursday evening the annual Junior Senior hop will be given at the Masonic temple. This will be attended as usual by a large number of former graduates. The final exercises will be held Friday evening of next week with a fine commencement program of songs and papers by five of the seniors.

Students at the University of Minnesota finish this week. Among the number are the following from Duluth: Misses Mary and Bernice Foster, Marie Erd, Pearl Hanson, Viola Lenning, Fern Doremus, Louana Phelps, Laird Goodman and Frank Boerner.

Forbes Stock Company Will Open Summer Season June 27

Gus Forbes and his company will return to Duluth to open the season of summer stock at the Lyceum, on June 27.

Jacob Wilke, the manager of the company, who has been with the Brady forces during the winter, arrived in Duluth this morning, to make arrangements for the season.

"There will be some new faces in the company this year," said Mr. Wilke, "but many of the old ones will be again seen. The players are all under a ten weeks' contract, and there will be no changes in the company during the season, unless additions are made. The tone of the company will be kept up as it was last year, and only the best plays will be given. Some of the plays we are planning to present call for heavy royalties, but merit instead of cheapness will be the deciding factor. The season will open on June 27, but the first play has not yet been decided upon. The same scale of prices will prevail, and there will be three matinees a week, Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday."

THE EVENING STORY

THE GOLD FEVER

By Jos. R. Reham.

What his real name was nobody seemed to know—and nobody cared. He was simply known as Bendigo, because he had so much to say about Bendigo wherever he went. He was a wandering digger, he had never been anything else in his life. He had passed his three-score and ten; every hair on him was snow white; he was wrinkled and bent, but he still had a ruddy glow on his face and the strength to burrow down through rock and granite.

For more than half a century he had padded the hoof from goldfield to goldfield, and from squattage to squattage. He had made fortunes in his time—little ones—and blewed them like a whaler. Every saloon knew him as "the Old Murray Barge," because he had a lumbering gait and had been stranded so often, and because he wandered up and down the rivers and always alone. So he had two names.

At last he drifted into quiet little Narraburra, where a small diggings had broken out. That was years ago. Hundreds had come to it, with money, and had gone away again with nothing. It was a good poor man's field—it kept him poor. Still Bendigo and a few Chinamen stuck to it. Also some grizzled fossickers, who begged "old things" off passing drovers to avoid arrest for indecency. Once a discoverer of fields and the leader of rushes, Bendigo was now content to fall in with the fossickers, working over old ground long after the busy hum of life had departed.

Old men foregather on these fossicking fields, where they can make just enough to live on till their days are numbered. Things got so brisk in the little place that every doorpost had someone leaning against it, waiting for better times or a dog fight. At this stage Downey, the storekeeper, and Rocky Roberts, the publican, offered $250 for the discovery of gold on new ground. It was Rocky, himself, who stipulated that it should be paid to the men who pegged out the first claim.

The reward caused quite a stir among the fossils. They met at Ben's canvas hump at nights to discuss it, and the subject led Ben off into a long history of rewards and lucky finds and rushes that he had known in the course of an extensive career. He filled the whole club of antiques with excitement and enthusiasm, till the gold fever fired their withered fibres and whipped them into renewed energy.

Ben firmly believed there was gold in the neighborhood. Often he would stop in his perambulations and look towards the scrub.

"There's gold in that there mallee," he would mutter, shaking a trembling finger at the bush. "I know there is." And, after a long pause he would add: "But dang me if I know where."

And he never looked. Like the other patriarchs, he concluded that prospecting on an extensive scale was beyond him now, and he just waited for something to turn up. It turned up.

He was sitting in the bar one night, smoking and dreaming, when Rocky's little girl passed through with something in her hand that glittered when the light fell on it. She took it to her father in the next room. Ben watched through the half opened door.

"Look, dad, what I found! Yaller stone. Ain't it pretty?"

Rocky's face brightened. His wife peered over his shoulder, "Goodness, dad, it's gold, ain't it?"

"Three ounce slug!" said Rocky, weighing it in his hand. "Where did you get it, Midgy?"

"In the mallee," the child replied.

"Ah!" said Ben under his breath. "Didn't I say so! Didn't I know it!" Rocky's wife grasped his wrist and whispered:

"Don't let old Ben hear of it. Get a right for the groom to peg out for yer, an' we'll see his miserable old heart break." She peered cautiously into the bar. But Ben wasn't looking. He was asleep.

Ben always drank with the flies, when he drank at all, and frequently he questioned the quality and the measure of the grog, which brought down a shower of abuse upon his head from Rocky. So they thought a lot of each other in a perverse way.

Rocky and Midgy returned from the mallee next morning in high glee, having located the find without difficulty. The groom bought a miner's right, and a kit of tools, and they spent the day getting things ready. His wife ordered seven new dresses on the strength of it. She expected a big rush shortly, and, of course, she must be prepared when the old town felt the first galvanic shock of awakening life.

Rocky started for the malee at dawn, carrying a flask of whisky with which to christen the claim. He would call it the "Midgy Roberts." The groom, who was a distant relation, carried the tools. Rocky waxed generous as he drew near.

"In about a month, Tom," he said, "I expect I' have all I want out o' this claim, and you can have the rest. You can have the saloon, too, Tom, and the gray mare and old Nanny and the sow—"

He stopped short and dropped the whisky. The flash broke, and at the same time the groom exclaimed: "The Murray Barge!" The claim was christened.

In the center of a little square, which Rocky had cleared, stood Bendigo, leaning on a shovel and wet with perspiration. He had been working hard.

"What dirty trick is this?" gasped the owner of the saloon. "You miserable old fraud! What d' yer mean by jumpin' my claim?"

"Your claim?" cried Bendigo, surprised. "Do you mean to tell me, Mr. Roberts, that you knowed of this here?"

"I found it!" Rocky shrieked. "D—— you, you know I did."

"No, Rocky. Them's my pegs, and what's inside 'em's mine. And I hope you'll remember that trifle of $250, Rocky. You're trying to do a shuffle now, which I never thought as you would—"

"I'll screw your cursed neck!" roared Rocky. "Be off!"

Ben raised his shovel. "You step inside of them pegs and your head gets this—sorry though I'd be to hurt her. Go back to her bar, Rocky. That sort of bluff ain't the proper thing in a bizness man. If it got about as you tried to cheat an old man out of his just reward, I'll lay it wouldn't do you no good, Rocky. You'd be done for in Narraburra."

Rocky saw he was beaten, and departed without any further argument. But he left the groom to prospect around the Barge and keep an eye on him.

That evening, Ben, good-naturedly overlooking the little unpleasantness of the morning, dropped in to give him good cheer.

"Have a drink with me, Rocky," he said. "Tain't often I shout, but I've struck it rich this time."

"I hope it strikes you blind, you dog," growled Rocky. "Twon't do you any good, mark me. I'll see you beggin' yet."

"Don't you fret, Rocky. There's whips o' gold in the mallee. And I always said there was. I knew."

Some mornings later Ben came rushing to the local constable with the news that Rocky was lying dead in his shaft, but the local constable merely muttered, "Got-'em-again," and walked away.

The Chows and grizzled fossickers went out, doubting. But Rocky was there, with a pick and shovel and a bull's eye lantern lying near. He had tumbled into the shaft and struck his head on the edge of a shovel which Ben had left standing in the corner.

"Yer see, mates, he was always hankerin' round arter this claim o' mine; seemed to think he had a better right to it, somehow," said Ben to the wondering group around him. "An' he pegged out here arter all!"

Protect Your Memory

By CARA REESE.

Nothing of the sort. You will be precisely like the man in the story. He was the heir to a lordly estate and in his youth had everything at his command.

But he was reckless and a spendthrift and finally drifted far from home and at last all of the possessions had gone to wreck and ruin, fortune squandered and strangers holding right and title to everything. Years passed and the reckless one began to reform. Finally he had built up for himself in a new country a goodly reputation and a fairly respectable income. There came over him a yearning to visit the old domains and perhaps to purchase and restore the same and to live thereafter as a retired lord of the manor.

Before taking any definite steps as to purchase, he resolved to go back as a disguised wanderer and thus ascertain at public house and in village chat, just that degree of esteem in which his memory was held. What he heard made his hair stand on end. He was painted black as the deepest dye by the venerable dames, there were crimes against society laid to his credit, his ne'er do weel ways were held responsible for all evil influence which had flourished. It was supposed that he had ended his villainous career long ago by the customary route. Even his old nurse had nothing to say to his credit.

He left in a hurry and he did not buy the place. In this case the evil certainly was not interred with the bones. He beheld himesif as an abhorred and detested memory. And this will be the same with you. You are cutting lively capers, going a reckless pace and sowing wild oats for a future reaping. Down in the bottom of your heart you are not really dissolute and wicked. You are convinced too, in your calmer moments that some day you will turn a new leaf and become a pillar of society and a valued member of the community. Perhaps you will take a fling in a foreign country first and after you have gained control of yourself and have been successful in a material sense, then turn your face homeward to restore the family name and lares and penates.

But, it might be well to look ahead a little and to make arrangements for a spotless memory during your absence. Youth is so thoughtless. The maidens as well as the gallants go their frivolous gait unmindful of the impressions. The years roll on and by and by the same individuals, steady, cultured and toned down come knocking for a place and a hearing in the domain of their childhood. Somebody brings to mind the foolish conduct or the madcap pranks. Somebody winks and whispers, "frivolous and untrustworthy," and lo, former privileges and hands of fellowship are not renewed or extended.

And it is the same with spirit of adventure. Sometimes the youth or the maiden who leaves home in a temper to try for luck in the world is able to return and make good with worthily accumulated wisdom and fortune. But usually there is distrust where there has been no blessing in the departure. Go forth, but leave a name that will not tarnish during your absence.

RESTORE GRAY HAIR TO NATURAL COLOR

By Common Garden Sage, a Simple Remedy for Dandruff, Falling, Faded, Gray Hair.

The old idea of using sage for darkening the hair is again coming in vogue. Our grandmothers used to have dark, glossy hair at the age of seventy-five, while our mothers have white hair before they are fifty. Our grandmothers used to make a "sage tea" and apply it to their hair. The tea made their hair soft and glossy, and gradually restored the natural color.

One objection to using such a preparation was the trouble of making it, especially as it had to be made every two or three days, on account of souring quickly. This objection has been overcome, and by asking almost any first-class druggist for Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy the public can get a superior preparation of sage, with the admixture of sulphur, another valuable remedy for hair and scalp troubles. Daily use of this preparation will not only quickly restore the color of the hair but will also stop the hair from falling out and make it grow.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

Special agent, Max Wirth, 13 West Superior street.

PROFANE ROOTER AT CHURCH GAME

Bad Decision By Baptist Umpire Indirect Cause of His Arrest.

When one Edward Lowe, baseball "bug," allowed his enthusiasm for the great national game to break loose into a storm of oaths occasioned by what he thought was a "bum" decision by the "umps," he nearly broke up a sociable little exhibition of baseball, which was being staged yesterday afternoon by the men of Westminster Presbyterian and Merritt Memorial M. E. churches on the Fifty-second avenue west grounds.

Mr. Lowe was taken into custody by a policeman, who was called for. The West Duluth police were informed that one of the spectators at the game was using profane language, and that an officer was wanted at once. Sergt. E. H. Barber responded to the call and escorted Mr. Lowe off the grounds. The game was afterwards called on account of rain.

Rev. Hugo J. P. Selinger, Baptist, acted in the official capacity of "umps." He was assisted by Henry Paape. The exhibition only went four innings, Jupiter Pluvius putting a damper on the proceedings and incidentally saving the Methodists from the ignominy of defeat. The score was 13 to 7 in favor of the Presbyterians.

The Westminster gang gathered only sixteen bingles from the followers of Wesley. In the first frame, Bert W. Wheeler, mounted the hill for the Methodists, but he was batted all over the field, Rev. E. E. Stidd supplanted him, but they also "got his goat." Joseph B. Gibson, alderman, hurled the rest of the game. The Presbyterians used A. Anderson and C. Nelson on their pitching staff.

In view of the fact that the game only went four innings, it will not be counted as victory and the affair will be played some time next week. In the meantime, the Methodists expect to strengthen their line-up considerably and expect to get away with the honors. The score yesterday was:

Merritt M. E.	4	0	3
Westminster Pres.	0	9	4

Batteries—Bert Wheeler, Rev. E. F Stidd, J. B. Gibson and Ward; A. Anderson, C. Nelson and P. Olson.

FEAR LEAK IN TRUST PROBE

Federal Attorneys in Lumber Trust Cases Ask More Secrecy.

Crowley of Minneapolis Is Among Those Called to Testify.

Chicago, June 6.—The government's grand jury investigation into the lumber business in the West and Middle West continued today with many witnesses subpoenaed. Following complaint of the government attorneys, however, that too much publicity was being given the inquiry, Judge Landis admonished all connected with the inquiry to observe strict secrecy, and no information was given out.

Three Chicagoans, Henry A. Sellen, vice president of a sash and door company, Harry B. Munger, president of a door company, and George J. Pope, vice president of a local lumber concern, were examined yesterday.

Indictment Expert on Hand.

Coincident with the opening of the inquiry, Oliver E. Pagan, government indictment expert, reached here and began a study of the evidence said to have been gathered by special agents. The case is based on the theory that the various lumber dealers' associations and companies form a conspiracy in restraint of trade. The inquiry will affect only organizations of the Middle West, South and West.

Among the points alleged by government representattives and into which the grand jury will seek are:

That associations have forced consumers to buy lumber products from recognized retail merchants.

Black-List Is Alleged.

That wholesalers and manufactuers who had sold to consumers have been black-listed, and that consumers buying from manufacturers have met the same fate.

That the purpose of the lumber organizations has been to circulate lists of persons violating rules of the trade and to maintain restrictive rules governing the conduct of the business. The effect of these rules, the government says, has been to close the door of the wholesale dealer and manufacturer to the consumer in all parts of the country.

More than sixty witnesses have been subpoenaed, it is said, among them being:

Minnesotans Subpoenaed.

Cornelius Crowley, Minneapolis agent of the Weyerhauser mills at Cloquet, Minn.

Miss Martha Thompson, stenographer of the Northwestern Lumbermen's association.

H. F. White, vice president of the Minneapolis Paper company.

J. H. Queal, president of the J. H. Queal & Co., Minneapolis.

Platt B. Walker, editor and manager of the Mississippi Valley Lumberman.

It is expected the grand jury will be in session at least three weeks.

SAMARITANS IN SESSION

Imperial Council Is Holding Its Annual Session in Duluth.

Rates of Those Joining Prior to 1905 May Be Raised.

The fourteenth annual session of the Imperial Council of the Modern Samaritans began today at the council's hall in the Christie building. There were in attendance about 100 delegates from all the councils in Minnesota, North Dakota, Wisconsin and Michigan.

As soon as the representatives showed up at the hall the meeting was called to order, the report of the last meeting read, the reports of officers heard and committees appointed.

The reports read showed that the order is in a flourishing condition both socially and financially. During the first few months of 1911 nearly as many members have been taken into the organization as were taken in during the year of 1910.

A program of entertainment is being planned for the visitors. This is the last annual session of the Imperial council. The meetings will be held every two years from this time on.

The most important question to be decided is the matter of raising the assessment of those who joined the order prior to 1905. A new scale of rates was put into effect in that year. Plans for the raise were discussed at the last annual meeting and the committee appointed at that time will report at the continued session this afternoon.

No Place For Advertising.

The executive committee of the Commercial club will file objections with the city council to the cabin on the aerial bridge being used for private advertising. The committee takes the position that if any advertising is to be displayed in the car, it should be advertising of a public character. The aerial bridge is one of the points of interest visited by every tourist and the Commercial club committee believes that publicity work for the city as a whole could be furthered by an advertising display in the bridge cabin.

SILBERSTEIN AN OPTIMIST

Says Business Conditions in the East Show Big Improvement.

Bernard Silberstein returned yesterday afternoon from New York, where he has been on a month's business and pleasure trip. Mr. Silberstein reports that business conditions in the East are far better now than they have been for a long time, and believes that this summer will be one of the best this country has seen for three years.

"The East has been looking upon the West for strength in financial matters," said Mr. Silberstein this morning, "and as the business interests there have noted that the West is in good condition and that the crop reports are very favorable, they have taken up renewed energy and in all lines of trade there has been an increasing activity.

"The only thing that stands in the way of progressive busfness today is the politician. The politicians today are devoting practically all of their time to their own constituents and none for the nation at large. This means that they are interested only in their own affairs, seeking another election, and so they are blocking the way of business.

"The banking business in the East is continually improving, and business in general shows a healthy increase. Many of the largest wholesale houses have put on full forces of traveling men, and already many of the men have come in from all parts of the country, and report that business is good. The smaller retailers of the country are buying goods, and this is an excellent index of the prosperity of the nation.

"Two of the large mills of the Steel corporation were started yesterday, which means that there is going to be a greater increase in the business of the country. The awakening in business is not confined to any locality, but is general, and I believe that the condition is better today than it has been for three years.

"A noticeable increase in travel has taken place in the last few weeks, and it is difficult now to secure accommodations. I intended to leave New York last Tuesday, but I was unable to make any reservation on trains and had to wait over until the following day."

The last meeting was held in New Orleans in December and at that time the association decided to meet in Duluth during the summer. It is expected that many city inspectors will attend the meeting and hundreds of visitors will come to Duluth.

COPPERS NERVOUS; TRADING IS LARGE

The copper market today was nervous and active. Following the higher foreign markets the sessions on this side displayed some weakness. Then support came into the market, presumably from banking interests, and the market rallied. Shorts were driven to cover and the market went upward rapidly. Support was withdrawn toward the close when the unusually active specialties began to ease off and scalpers took small profits. The market weakened and closed slightly higher than yesterday.

Amalgamated sold at $67.75, $68.12½, $67 and $67.50, Butte Coalition sold at $19.75 to $20.25, Giroux at $7, $6.87½, and $6.93¾, Greene at $7.12½ to $7.25, North Butte at $35, $35.75 and $35.25, Ojibway at $8, $8.50, and $8, Shattuck at $19.25 to $19.50.

Calumet & Montana gained 9c, selling from 50c to 59c. On the local exchange 9,600 shares of this issue changed hands. Calumet & Corbin sold at 27c, Denn at $5.87½, North American at 93c and 95c.

The annual report of the East Butte for the year ending March 31 shows a surplus for the year of $286,651, one-half of which was earned in the last six months and a total surplus of $349,130.

The annual meeting of the Keating Gold Mining company was held in Radersburg, Mont., today. Julius H. Barnes of Duluth, secretary-treasurer, is attending the meeting.

The monthly meeting of the directors of the Calumet & Sonora was held today. A report was received from the superintendent saying that 4,000 tons of zinc middlings are on the ground and the directors ratified a contract of sale which the superintendent made netting the company $15 a ton at Cananea.

The insurrection is ended, the superintendent wrote, and the railroad has been rebuilt and officials are now engaged in straightening out the freight tangle. The mill which will separate the copper and iron from the zinc is enclosed and most of the machinery has been received. The remainder of the machinery is at the international border and will be set up when it is received. As the letter was written several days ago the machinery probably is at the mine now.

The line for electric power which will operate the machinery is up. The company will get its power from the Cananea Consolidated plant. Reports on the development of the property were flattering.

At the annual meeting of the Amalgamated Copper company yesterday, J. G. Maroney was elected a director, succeeding the late James Jourdan. Other directors were re-elected. Mr. Maroney is the president of the Daly Bank & Trust company of Butte, Mont.

Boston Transcript: The United States cannot get along without the potash supplies controlled by Germany, comments a brokerage house, and the Old World cannot get along without our copper, yet we give them our copper at almost cost price, while for Germany's potash we pay 100 percent premium. Germany protects her potash industry, while our government has prevented any combination which would conserve one of our most important natural resources and at the same time gave this important industry a living profit. This may be changed now that the law of reason is to rule in the management of large corporations under the recent interpretation of the Sherman law. As progress is made along these lines it will naturally be a stimulus to the copper metal, and incidentally to the copper share market.

PAY FOR PICTURE STILL A MYSTERY

Washington, June 6.—Senator Root was unable to give the house committee, which is investigating the state department, much information today on the disbursement of the $2,450 approved for the payment of a picture of Former Secretary Day, for which Artist Rosenthal received $850. While secretary of state, Senator Root said he had the matter investigated. It resulted only in the finding of a paper showing Secretary Hay's approval of the payment of $2,450 from the emergency or "secret" fund of the department. Payments from this fund were made upon approval of the secretary without receipts or vouchers.

The committee may never learn where the remaining $1,600 went. It was said at the state department today that Secretary Knox probably would not testify before the committee on the subject.

Senator Root said Dr. Jacob H. Hollander of Baltimore, in receiving pay from the Dominion government while being paid by the United States for the same service, had done so without his (Secretary Root's) knowledge or consent.

NO POISON FOUND IN MRS. SCHEIB'S BODY.

New York, June 6.—Prof. John Larkin of Columbia university reported today to District Attorney Whitman that he had been unable to discover any traces of poison in the internal organs of Mrs. Scheib, whose body was found recently in the bathtub of an apartment house she and her husband, H. A. Scheib, had formerly occupied. The police have been working to make out a case of circumstantial evidence against Scheib.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL MEN MAKE NEW MOVE.

Chicago, June 6.—Another motion to quash the indictments against Frank B. Harriman, John M. Taylor, Charles L. Ewing and Joseph Buker, former Illinois Central railroad officials, who are accused of defrauding the road through car repair bills, was filed by their attorneys today. Judge Kickham Scanlan took it under advisement.

SUPERIOR WILL DELAY VIADUCT WORK

That work on the Belknap street viaduct, which will cross the Northern Pacific, the Terminal and South Shore railroad tracks, will be tied up for several months, is believed by city officials, following the decision of the state railroad and warehouse commission made public today.

The railroad commission hands down a decision, which provides that the Northern Pacific shall pay 50 per cent of the cost of the viaduct, the city 20 per cent, the Terminal road 10 per cent. cent and the South Shore 10 per cent. The estimated cost of the structure is $25,000.

The damages awarded the Superior Curling club which will have to move in order to make way for the viaduct approach, were set by the commission at $300. This will be appealed from. It is also understood that the city will appeal from the decision of the commission and that both cases will go to the supreme court. In this event, the actual construction of the viaduct will be postponed until next year or until such a time as the case is finally settled by the higher tribunal.

The city will appeal from the decision on the grounds that the municipality should not be put to any expense for the improvement and will attempt to shift its share on to the railroads.

EIGHTEENTH STREET WILL NOT BE PAVED.

The street committee of the common council will not recommend the paving of Eighteenth street this year. This was decided upon last evening at a hearing for the property owners on that thoroughfare. There was considerable dissension in the matter and it was thought advisable to let the improvement go over this year. Despite the opposition from many of the property owners on Baxter avenue, the paving of that thoroughfare between Third and Belknap streets will be recommended by the committee.

AGREE ON DIVISION OF REPAIR COSTS.

If the agreement reached by Mayor Frank Crumpton and other city officials on one side and General Manager Herbert Warren of the street railway company on the other, is approved by the city council, the city will share with the street railway company the expense of repairing the approaches to the Twenty-first street viaduct, which has been in a dangerous condition for wheel traffic for months. The cost will be about $2,000.

Burglary Charge.

Hugh Wilson, caught by a policeman in the act of breaking into a second hand store on lower Tower avenue last evening and arrested on a charge of attempted burglary, was bound over to the circuit court when arraigned before Judge Parker in police court this morning. Wilson is 60 years old. He is at the county jail awaitng trial.

Lieut. Scoon Injured.

Lieut. Darwin E. Scoon of the police department, while driving the police auto last evening, collided with interstate car No. 168, on Tower avenue and was seriously injured internally. The machine front was badly demolished and the officer was thrown out. He was taken to the police station and later sent to his home.

Douglas County Fair.

Dates have been fixed for the holding of the Douglas County fair. The show will begin on Monday, Sept. 25, and will continue through the week, ending Saturday. The exhibit this year will be a comprehensive one, comprising fifteen or twenty departments. W. E. Pickering is heading the committee on arrangements. Other members of the executive committee are N. S. Beardsley, Thomas G. Alvord, Sidney Buchanan and P. A. Glass.

Workman Brings Suit.

A damage suit for $5,000 brought by Anton Billa against the Superior Stevedore company for alleged injuries received through the negligence of the defendants, was started yesterday in circuit court before Judge Rose. J. A. Murphy is attorney for the defendant and W. P. Crawford for the plaintiff.

The Last Twenty Lots in Kenilworth Park Are Now on Sale!

Kenilworth Park is an addition to Hunter's Park, lying between it and the lake.

Men who have traveled widely have proclaimed it as the most beautiful residence addition to any ctiy in the United States.

Lying on the sloping hillside; a magnificent vista of green hollows and sweeping lawns leads the eye down to the wide blue of the lake, capped by the purple shore line of Wisconsin.

Graceful shade trees throng the boulevards of the Park; the boulevards themselves have been curved, leveled and seeded. Everything that could add to the exquisite beauty of this addition has been done; nothing that could mar it has been suffered.

It stands today as a monument to the desire for a city beautiful which has always been the ideal of this firm.

Just twenty building sites remain in the addition:—this is to be a complete clean up. Come to our office any day this week and we will take you out in our auto to view the addition and make a selection. Or

POLITICS IS BEAR FACTOR

Reciprocity Agreement in Senate Tomorrow---Wheat Overbought.

Southwestern Reports Mixed ---Foreign Advices Are Fairly Good.

Duluth Board of Trade, June 6.—Wheat declined sharply today. July slumped 2@2½c. May lost 1⅝c. Cash wheat was ½c over July. Oats lost ⅞c. Rye was unchanged and July durum declined 1¼c.

Linseed was nervous, but closed unchanged as regards July and 5c off for September and October. A few small trades were attempted on spreads, but only a handful were consummated.

Not only was the wheat market overbought but conditions changed radically overnight and sentiment became more doubtful. Reciprocity also became a factor again and contributed to the downturn of values. The reciprocity agreement will be reported to the senate of the United States tomorrow if present plans carry, and then will follow the debate on the subject which may last for several weeks. It is likely that a majority of senators will be heard at length on the subject and the remainder will probably have speeches written and printed in the Record for home consumption. The prospects for the passage of the agreement are more bright than for some time. However, the fate of the bill will be in doubt until the final vote is cast, as the opponents of the measure will endeavor to riddle it with amendments so designed as to nullify its purpose. The hearing before the senate committee came to an end today.

The report of Bradstreet on the world's visible supply showed an increase of 3,134,000 bu compared with a decrease last week of 5,514,000 bu the previous week and a decrease of 2,468,000 bu a year ago. Europe is receiving large supplies of wheat, France taking an especially large amount. The European supply is 97,240,000 bu compared with 93,832,000 bu in the previous week.

An Argentine report was especially bearish, official returns indicating an increase of 20 per cent in the acreage of wheat compared with last year. The acreage last year was 15,452,000.

There was no Liverpool market. The only strength of note abroad was at Budapest, where shorts covered and speculators bought wheat on account of hot weather in Hungary and heavy storms which are said to have resulted in damage to the growing plant. The southern part of Germany is said to be affected by a drought and the Berlin market was strong in consequence. Reports from Russia indicate that arrivals in the Southwest are heavy and that weather conditions are favorable. In the Southeast and East there are fears of damage to the crops on account of excessive rains, cabled Broomhall. In these districts there was complaint recently on account of drouth and it is difficult to reconcile the latest reports with those of a short time ago. The large shipments from Russia indicate that there is no fear in that country concerning the growing crops.

Crop reports from Missouri were very favorable. The yield will be large and the harvest exceptionally early. Cutting of wheat in the south of that state has commenced and will rapidly extend to the north. It is expected that the harvest will be general in Missouri by the middle of next week.

Showers fell in some parts of Kansas and Nebraska but were insufficient. There were also scattered showers in the Northwest, where there is plenty of moisture. Temperatures continue warm to hot in the Southwest, but cooler weather is predicted for tonight and tomorrow.

Following the culmination of the recent bulge the big holders of cash wheat made a feeble effort to dump some of their holdings on the market but the market was not strong enough to withstand the shock. The market is not strong enough nor broad enough to make a buying place for the "corpse" of the May deal. The bulls must continue their efforts strenuously in order to put values up. They may be assisted by Southwestern conditions but the situation is rapidly approaching a crisis and is shaping itself into a definite form. What complexion the situation will have when the harvest has commenced in the Southwest and early returns indicate the favorableness or unfavorableness of the crop is problematical. There is reason to believe that the sensational reports of crop damage were greatly over-estimated.

If crop losses in the Southwest are large, however, and the damage to the growing German, Roumanian, Austrian and French crops is serious there may be some basis for a prolonged bull market. With the largely increased acreage of the world's wheat are it does not seem probable that a bull campaign, however, successful it might be temporarily, could be long sustained.

The government's report on wheat will be issued June 8. It will probably be bullish on winter wheat and bearish on spring wheat. The trade will consider the figures on winter wheat first and will contemplate the spring wheat figures after the smoke of battle has cleared away.

The harvest in Oklahoma is in full swing and reports as to yields should arrive in the next few days.

The Flour Situation.

There have been few developments in the flour situation in the last week to encourage the hope that trading is becoming more active. Occasionally a big buyer enters the market for what, in comparison with the general demand may be considered a fairly large line, but such inquiries are exceptional. The general experience is that buyers are ordering only small quantities of flour, generally of some particular brand of which they are in need. In some instances it is found that buyers have over-estimated their needs and that consequently they are in no hurry to send shipping directions. A pronounced exception to this situation is reported by a large milling interest in the Northwest, probably the largest in the world. This company has started up all of its mills and claims to have enough orders to keep them busy for some time.

Trading at first hands in May was extremely disappointing and the month may be regarded as the smallest in respect of new business that millers have experienced in many years. There has been no development of the usual spring activity and the volume of business has been decidedly under normal. Progress has been made, however, in clearing up old contracts and the situation in this respect is considerably improved. With stocks of distributers' hands at a minimum basis there is some probability that buyers may soon make a move to replenish supplies, especially if the present bull market continues. There is not now an indication of when this revival will begin, unless the reported increase in business done by some Northwestern mills may be regarded as a criterion.

Buyers lack confidence in values as the crop outlook in the Northwest and the belief that the winter crop will make a big yield despite recent damage, encourages the opinion that the artificial conditions which affected the May delivery are now influencing the July and that prices are too high. If the congested condition of the July delivery were not a factor, it might be possible to forecast with some certainty of fulfillment the coming of damage to the crops on account of bountiful harvests, in the belief of the flour trade, warrants a recession of prices to lower levels.

The control of the May delivery by Chicago speculators forced the price of wheat above milling, shipping and export values and demoralized legitimate trading in wheat and flour. The fact that speculators are now trying to bull the July delivery is tending to keep the flour trade in a demoralized condition.

An early harvest of winter wheat is in prospect and millers of winter wheat are shy about committing themselves as to prices of flour for new crop shipment. So far it cannot be learned there has been no new business put through. The demand for winter wheat flour is confined to pastry flour, which has been selling in small lots in the range of $4.15 to $4.30 a barrel, standard straights commanding $4.25 and buyers refusing to move, although some millers ask higher prices. These and other prices quoted here, were mailed from different points centers the last of last week, so that the bulge since then may have added perhaps 10c a barrel to prices. In winter wheat patents there is moderate activity at prices within the range of $4.50 to $4.70 although $4.50 has been seldom exceeded for the bulk of offerings.

Spring grade wheats are expected to maintain a strong position in the remainder of the present crop year. There is no burdensome amount of wheat at Minneapolis or Duluth and there is less on the farms than in previous years. There will be no new spring wheat available for from three to four months.

Standard brands of spring wheat patent toward the close of last week were quoted by millers at prices within the range of $5.10 to $5.50, wood. A few sellers asked $5.10 for first patents. There was not much business by country mills at any price but some of the big mills at Minneapolis report a fairly good trade, the strength in the prevailing wheat situation evidently frightening buyers into line. The market for well known flour has been within the range of $5.35 and $5.40, mills asking higher limits being willing to concede 10c or more. Notwithstanding the decline in the prices of millfeeds there is considerable pressure to sell spring wheat flour and comparatively low prices are being quoted to secure orders.

Offerings for spring wheat flour for new crop shipment are reported. Extremely low prices are rumored, down to $4.50 for first patent in sacks. Millers could take off considerable from the prevailing prices for old wheat flour but it is considered doubtful if such a low basis as that named would be acceptable to most producers.

Foreign interest in American flour is increasing and present values abroad are not far from a working basis. No business of importance has been reported.

THE OPTIMISTS' CORNER

Devoted to the Silver Lining of the Business Clouds.

The government will issue a report on June 8 containing the preliminary estimate of the spring wheat acreage and its condition June 1.

It is expected that the report will show spring wheat to be in better condition than at any similar period in many years. The trade looks for an excellent report. The Herald estimated the condition of spring wheat on June 1 at 94.1 per cent of normal, which is higher than the average condition of spring wheat on that date.

If the present crop prospects are maintained this market will be extremely busy next fall. Vessel men will share in the increased receipts of grain and carriers probably will have all of the work they can attend to. Not only are crop prospects in the Northwest excellent and promise many cargoes in the fall, but the flour market is extremely close to an export basis. If flour in the Northwest is sold for export this summer the lake boats will receive an added tonnage.

The Canadian crops are coming along in fine shape and if the reciprocity agreement is ratified and goes into effect by fall the receipts at this port will be swelled considerably by the influx of Canadian grain.

A Chicago message to a local trader said: O. K. Lyle sends following from Kansas City: "There is complaint of abundance here on the Kansas crop. A high expression is around 75,000,000 bu and estimates run as low as 50,000,000 bu. Reports of damage run from 10 to 60 per cent. Damage generally ascribed to the dry weather in May. In past week the precipitation has been ample to relieve the situation for a time. Some soft wheat will be cut this week and considerable next week. Hard wheat will follow in two weeks. In samples seen today the heads showed better than two grains to a mesh. Looked to be an average around 34 to 36 grains and suggestive of 17 to 18 bu per acre, crop."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Showers Take Starch Out of the Price of Wheat.

Chicago, June 6.—Showers over quite a large territory took the starch out of the price of wheat today. Hardly second, as a bearish influence, was the fact that fair prospects for the passage of the reciprocity bill soon were said to exist. Liberal receipts and a favorable European crop summary added to the weight against the market. Commission selling was general, but resting orders to buy at a decline had a steadying effect. Opening figures were ⅛c to ⅝@¾c down. July started at 92⅝@92⅞c, a loss of ¼c to ½c, and fell to 92⅛c.

Subsequently, through lack of support, further depression developed, owing partly to increase of the European visible supply and the plowed acreage in the Argentine. The close, however, was steady with July at 91⅝@91¾c a net loss of 1⅞@1½c.

Selling, led by a prominent local house, weakened corn. The chief incentive was the declining tendency of wheat. July opened ¼c to ⅜c lower at 54¼c to 54⅜c, touched 54⅛@54½c, and then dropped to 54⅛@54¼c.

Later the market sagged worse because of statements that the elevators here are crowded for room. The close was weak, ¾c net lower for July at 53⅞c.

Oats showed less strength than did even the other cereals. Cash concerns were the principal sellers. July started ⅛c to ½c at 37c to 37⅜c, and kept near the lower level.

Provisions became firmer with hogs. First sales were a shade to 2½@5c higher with September delivery $8.25 for lard and $7.95 to $7.97½ for ribs. There was no trade in pork.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Is Sold on Expectation of Bearish Crop Report.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 6.—With the government report for June two days away, the trade began today to speculate as to what it will show in spring wheat, and there was some selling on the expectation that it would be bearish. The weather southwest was cooler and crop damage news no longer came. Prices declined rapidly and there was much dumping of long wheat my small traders. Minneapolis received 100 cars against 130 and shipped 52. July opened 97⅞@98c; high, 98c; low, 96c; closed, 96⅜@96¾c. September opened 93⅝@93½c; high, 93⅞@93½c; low, 92⅛@92¼c; closed, 92¼@92⅝c. December opened 92¼@92⅝c; high, 92⅝c; low, 92¼c; closed, 92⅝c.

The cash demand was a little better and there was a fair amount of business at the premiums of ½c to 2½@2½c over July. Considerable went to elevators at the lower figure but the big milling company also bought a little each. Cotton Market.

New York, June 6.—Cotton opened barely steady at a decline of 1@6 points in response to lower Liverpool cables than expected and during the early trading active positions sold off to a net loss of 7@11 points under scattering liquidation and local pressure inspired by reports of scattering showers in the eastern belt, including some moisture in the Carolinas. The western belt forecast for generally fair weather checked the offerings, however, and the market steadied 2 or 3 points from the lowest during the miudle of the morning on covering and moderate support from trade interests. Spot closed quiet, 5 points higher; middling uplands, 16.95; middling gulf, 16.20; no sales.

St. Paul, Minn., June 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Minnesota probably will purchase the co-operative creamery at Albert Lea and establish it as the experimental creamery provided for by the last legislature. In future all butter scoring tests will be made there.

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Prices Ebb Away Slowly and Early Advances Are Lost.

Trading Lively in the Afternoon But Close Is Heavy.

New York, June 6.—The stock market was irregular at the opening today, although the greater number of the speculative leaders were inclined to heaviness. Canadian Pacific gained ⅝ and American Smelting and Amalgamated Copper ½. Westinghouse Electric receded 1½ and smaller losses were made by United States Steel, Erie, Atchison, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific and St. Paul.

The movement of prices was uncertain during the first hour, but fluctuations either way were small, and the usual leaders showed evidence of support after they had fallen below yesterday's closing. A few low priced specialties were strong. Tennessee Copper and Distillers' Securities gained 1. Underwood Typewriter lost 3¼. New York city 4¼ per cent bonds sold at 104¾, a record price.

New important changes occurred during the morning on the stock exchange which exhibited the hesitating tone that characterized it yesterday. The market was inclined to sag but sufficient support was offered to prevent any extended losses, and speculation seemed to have reached a deadlock. The copper stocks were almost the only ones to show sustained strength. On the "curb" American Tobacco, which had declined about 120 points since the supreme court announced its decision in the tobacco cases, advanced 24 points to 423. Near midday the strength derived from the movements in special stocks wore off and United States Steel and the principal railroad shares sagged to the lowest. Bonds were irregular.

Prices ebbed away slowly and the advances in the copper stocks were cancelled. Declines reached substantial fractions in the majority of stocks, including St. Paul, Atchison, Reading, Great Northern preferred, Norfolk & Western, Erie, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and United States Steel. America Telephone securities were conspicuously strong.

The market closed heavy. A rise of 1⅝ in Brooklyn Rapid Transit infused a little strength into the market and trading became lively. Later the list sagged again in spots.

KNOX CALLED TO TELL SENATE COMMITTEE ABOUT RECIPROCITY

Secretary of State Goes in Response to Urgent Request.

Friends of Canadian Agreement Plan Fight on Floor.

Democrats Are Insisting Bill Must Not Be Amended.

Washington, June 7.—In response to an urgent request, Secretary of State Knox appeared before the senate finance committee today to explain further the Canadian reciprocity agreement.

The committee hoped to be able to take a final vote on the measure today. An opinion from Secretary Knox as to the effect of the Root and other amendments was sought.

The committee met in executive session. Abandoning hope of defeating in committee the Root amendment to the bill, affecting the print paper and wood pulp clause of the agreement, friends of the measure have begun on the floor of the senate an active campaign to prevent acceptance of the Root provision.

Hope to Beat Amendment.

The principal fight on the floor will be based on the Root provision, but the friends of reciprocity are now hopeful of its rejection. The reason is found in the decision of a majority of the Democratic senators to make no effort to attach the house free list bill to the reciprocity measure.

A decided majority of the Democrats are favorable to reciprocity, but until comparatively recently many of them disposed toward political advantage, made the condition that the Canadian bill should receive no consideration except in connection with the pet Democratic measure.

Attitude of Democrats.

They have abandoned that attitude and now announce boldly that they will oppose all amendments of whatever nature. They have even gone to the extent of rejecting overtures from the progressives which are coupled with a promise on the part of the latter to tack the free list on to the reciprocity bill.

"We want a vote on the free list" they say, "and shall insist on having it, but it must be separate from reciprocity."

HAS TWO RIVALS FOR SEAT IN THE SENATE

JARED Y. SANDERS
Of Louisiana.

New Orleans, June 7.—Congressman Robert F. Broussard of the Third Louisiana district has announced his candicacy for the United States senate for the term beginning March 4, 1915, to be voted on at the Democratic state primary this summer. His opponents will be Governor Jared Y. Sanders and Congressman Arsene P. Pujo.

HOPES TO GET DIAZ TO RETURN TO MEXICO.

St. Louis, Mo., June 7.—Reiterating his original statement that he intends going to Europe, Senor Jose Yves Limantour, former minister of finance of Mexico, upon his departure from St. Louis last night amplified it by saying his mission on the continent was to seek out Porfirio Diaz, fallen president of Mexico, and induce him to return to the country of which he was president thirty-four years. Beyond admitting he had hopes of accomplishing his mission, he declined to discuss it. Of the reported forthcoming meeting in New York city of the old Mexican party, Senor Limantour professed an utter lack of information.

GARY AGAIN UNDER FIRE

Steel Magnate Is Asked More About Tennessee Coal Deal.

Also Questioned About Plan to Control Ohio River Lines.

Washington, June 7.—Judge E. H. Gary, executive head of the United States Steel corporation, was a witness again today before the Stanley steel trust committee of the house. Mr. Gary was interrogated further by Representative Littleton on the absorption of the Tennessee Coal & Iron company by the Steel corporation.

Before the committee met, Mr. Gary was asked if he had any comment to make on the report that the government had determined to review the findings of the bureau of corporations with regard to the steel trust, upon which it was to determine whether or not court proceedings should be instituted.

"I have read several reports," said Mr. Gary, "which are reported to reflect administration views, but I have absolutely nothing to say concerning them."

Control on the Ohio.

Charges alleged to have been made by Senator Oliver of Pennsylvania that the United States Steel corporation is endeavoring to get control of water transportation on the Ohio river through absorption of the Pittsburg Coal & Coke company and the Monongahela River company, were presented to the committee today by Robert C. Hall of Pittsburg.

Mr. Gary, replying to questions by Chairman Stanley, denied that the

SIX THOUSAND GO ON STRIKE

Cleveland Garment Workers Seek Recognition of Union.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 7.—Six thousand union garment workers went out on a strike at 10 o'clock this morning. The strike is an exact duplicate, it is said, of the one in New York a year ago—not so much a question of dollars and cents as a demand for recognition of the union.

SEVEREST QUAKE IN YEARS IS RECORDED ON SEISMOGRAPHS

SAYS TRANSPORTATION ON OHIO IS IN PERIL

GEORGE T. OLIVER,
Senator From Pennsylvania.

Shocks Lasting Nearly Two Hours Are Shown on Records.

Earthquake Is Believed to Have Been on This Continent.

City of Mexico, Mex., June 7.—An earthquake at 4 o'clock this morning wrecked several buildings including the artillery quarters where seventy soldiers were buried in the ruins. The dead and wounded are estimated at between 50 and 70.

Washington, June 7.—Seismographs throughout the entire country were jarred early today by the most severe earthquake that has been recorded in several years. It is estimated to have occurred 4,000 or 5,000 miles from Washington, but in what direction could not be ascertained. Whether the disturbance was located in Alaska or in South America scientists were unable to determine, but they declared news of its location undoubtedly would be forthcoming during the day.

Lasted Nearly Two Hours.

Beginning at 6:05 o'clock this morning, the needles of the seismographs of Georgetown university observatory began to move. The tremors steadily began to record an unusual vibration. The maximum of the north and south movement was reached at 6:22.05 and Reports on Fifty-Six Creameries in the State Are Received.

St. Paul, Minn., June 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The average buttermaker's salary in Minnesota is $924.20 a year, according to figures compiled by the United States department of agriculture and just received by the state dairy and food commissioner.

Reports on twenty-eight whole-milk and twenty-eight hand-separator creameries in the state show that an average of 114,198 pounds of butter were made at each. The average price paid to patrons for butter fat was 30.98 cents and the average cost of making the butter was 2.45 cents per pound.

The highest yearly average price paid for butter fat was 36.40 per pound and the lowest 24.30 cents. The report shows that whole milk creameries received 30.06 cents per pound for butter, while the hand separators received 29.93 cents. The total sum paid for the 3,000,000 pounds of butter handled by the whole milk creameries was $985,200, as against $976,200 received for the product by the hand-separator creameries.

THOUSANDS CHEER AT MADERO'S ENTRY TO NATIONAL CAPITAL

CHEERED BY THOUSANDS AS NATION'S DELIVERER

—Copyrighted by George Grantham Bain.
FRANCISCO I. MADERO, JR.

Demonstration Such as Mexico Has Not Seen in Years.

Aristocratic Element Alone Holds Aloof From Rejoicing.

Spread of Plots Against Diaz's Conqueror Is Discovered.

City of Mexico, June 7.—Amid the wildest enthusiasm, Francisco I. Madero, Jr., today entered the seat of the government which he overturned.

The demonstration was the greatest the capital has known in a generation. Business was practically suspended and the streets through which the revolutionary leader made his triumphal way were gay with flags, bunting and flowers, while from the throats of tens of thousands came roars of acclaim.

The noisy welcome began when the great crowd at the railway station first caught sight of the bearded face and stocky figure as Madero emerged from his private car and stepped quickly into a waiting carriage. Shouts of "Viva Madero!" swelled into a great chorus as the cry was taken up along the streets leading from the railway station throughout the city.

Went to Father's Home.

Bowing and smiling right and left, Madero was driven from the station to the national palace and then to the home of his father at Berlin and Liverpool streets.

Throngs that lined the way fell in behind as the carriage passed, until a great, noisy but friendly procession had been formed. Scores of civilian societies, political organizations, women in carriages and soldiers in parade uniform moved on to the quickstep music of the military bands.

It was a spectacle stirring and unusual, but amid the popular rejoicing could be determined an undercurrent of resentment on the part of unreconciled aristocracy, that looked on silent, though not unmoved.

Rumors of Plots.

Rumors of plots against the life of the hero of the day were rife, as were reports that secret arrests had been made. Antonio Villacencia, former chief of police, was taken into custody last night. Immunity as members of the house of deputies is said to have stayed the arm of the law against others alleged to have been implicated in a plot, the discovery of which was followed by the arrest of W. L. Dunne, an American, at Monterey, and Daniel De Villieres, a former police head. These two men are accused of being at the head of the plotters.

Madero's special train was preceded

HEIR TO EARL OF CADOGAN WEDS

Marriage With Miss Coxon Conducted With Secrecy.

London, June 7.—Viscount Chelsea and Miss Marie Coxon, a niece of Lady Jardine, were married at Christ church, Down street, today. Deliberate secrecy surrounded the ceremony, which was witnessed only by five or six intimate friends.

The announcement on Jan. 19 last of the engagement of the viscount and Miss Coxon surprised society. The bride is a pretty girl of 21 years. The groom recently became heir to the earldom of Cadogan and an income of $500,000 annually, upon the death of his 7-year-old nephew. A short time before he had been declared a bankrupt.

Earl Cadogan, formerly Lord Lieutenant of Ireland and now in his 71st year, married Countess Palagi at Florence a week before the engagement of his heir was announced.

HOUSE FORCES LINE UP FOR FIGHT ON NEW WOOL BILL

Republican Minority Is Prepared for Vigorous Attack.

Underwood to Be Chief Defender of Democratic Action.

Washington, June 7.—General debate on the Underwood wool bill was scheduled to begin in the house of representatives today.

That the Republican minority is to make a vigorous assault on the bill, which reduces the duties on wool and woolen goods more than one-half, was signalled in the minority report of the ways and means committee, signed by Representatives Payne, Dalzell, Needham and Longworth.

Representative Underwood, the Democratic leader and author of the proposed bill, had planned to call the measure up when the house met and make the opening address, laying stress on the arguments embodied in the majority committee report introduced yesterday. This report criticized the president for not objecting to the wool schedules of the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill until after it had been passed, and charged that the tariff board is withholding data from congress on its inquiry into the woolen goods field.

Representative Mann, the minority leader, and Mr. Payne, former chairman and ranking Republican member of the ways and means committee, were prepared to conduct the opposition to the bill.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, June 7.—Children and their elders will march in the parade of the Iowa Sunday School association this afternoon. It is expected this will be one of the greatest features of the forty-sixth annual convention now in progress.

NOTORIOUS THIEF TELLS OF CRIMES

Santafede Is Witness at Trial of the Camorrists.

Viterbo, Italy, June 7.—The trial of the thirty-six Camorrists for the murders of Gennaro Cuoccolo and his wife, which was adjourned last Saturday because of the illness of a juror, was resumed today.

A notorious thief named Santafede was called as a witness and smilingly recounted his criminal adventures. These included an attempt at burglary at the home of Former Deputy Zalmi in 1891, when the witness was arrested together with Gennaro Cuoccolo, who had organized the operation. The booty stake was estimated at $15,000, the witness said.

Another called to the stand was Villani, proprietor of the Mimi-a-Mare tavern at Torre del Greco. His testimony added nothing material to the evidence already submitted by the state.

Ventimiglia Is Recalled.

Ventimiglia, the police officer of Torre del Greco, who was the first to reach the scene of the murder of Cuoccolo, was again called to the stand. He added to his earlier testimony his reasons for believing that Cuoccolo was killed by Camorrists.

"VINCENTIANS" IN LAST SESSION

Catholic Charity Society Delegates Hear Chicago Speaker.

Boston, Mass., June 7.—The final session of the annual national conference of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul in this city was held this afternoon. The delegates listened to an address by Richard C. Gannon, president of the particular council of Chicago, on the "Spiritual Side of the Society," after which the meeting was thrown open for general discussion. Mr. Gannon considered the "Spiritual Advantages of Membership in the Society."

"Members who have a vocation for real charitable endeavor find ever-recurring opportunities of widening the scope of the Vincentian effort," said the speaker. "Today there are social problems, the solution of which require the sympathy and spirit of Vincentians. There is an urgent need of an increase in the number of members—members who possess not alone the sturdy virtues of the pioneers, but who are also more universally blessed with the advantages of education. Men of this type have an almost unlimited field to work for God and neighbor."

RAILROADS

"TALE OF A BUSH FARM"

This Will Be the Subject of a Moving Picture Film.

Northern Minnesota Will Be Advertised Through Europe and America.

How a Northern Minnesota farm is cleared of stumps, will be shown through the medium of moving pictures in every country in Europe, in the crowded cities of America, and in all the smaller vaudeville theaters of the country, according to plans of the Great Northern railroad.

Howard A. Noble of St. Paul, advertising agent of the Great Northern road, and Edward F. Seavolt, a moving picture artist, were in Duluth today arranging for the films.

Mr. Noble outlined the plans of the road in an interview today.

"Louis W. Hill took this matter up nearly a year ago," he said, "and since that time we have been perfecting our plans. The road has engaged its own moving picture artist, and he will take about 10,000 or 12,000 feet of film. Of this about 1,000 feet will be devoted to Northern Minnesota. One film will be called 'A Logged Off Land Story,' or 'the tale of a Bush Farm,' and will show all the methods of clearing land of stumps.

"One of these films will be placed on each of our three exhibition cars, which start out on Nov. 1 and run until May 1, covering the entire country. In addition to these films we will have one special lecturer in Europe and one in America, each with a copy of the film to be shown accompanied by a lecture.

"We have also made arrangements with film booking agents to place these films in all the smaller vaudeville theaters free of charge. They will also be used for church lectures and Y. M. C. A. entertainments.

"In addition to these pictures of land clearing operations, the different cities along the line of the Great Northern may secure films through the railroad at cost. We had so many applications from cities that wanted pictures shown, that we had to turn them all down, but if any city cares to co-operate with the road to the extent of providing a film, which costs about $680 for 1,000 feet, we will put that film in with the others. Duluth would be a wonderfully interesting subject for a moving picture, and I am trying to interest the Commercial club in the project. You could get a picture showing your harbor front, the aerial bridge, a boat race on the bay, and then go right out through the handsome residence district of the East end into your parks and the surrounding country. It would make a great film, and we could show it to literally millions of people through the agencies we have established."

GREAT NORTHERN WILL BUILD LINE

Reported in Fargo New Air Line West of There Is Certain.

Fargo, N. D., June 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Col. D. J. Hull, right of way man for the Great Northern railway, left this city Monday night for the country west. The right of way for the new Great Northern air line, which will eventually be the main line of that road, has been practically secured and his trip is to finish up matters.

Col. Hull states that the information he has received from heads of the department is to the effect that the contemplated line will be completed this summer. No contracts have as yet, however, been let, although he is daily expecting word from St. Paul to begin work.

Jack Smith of this city, who has a $22,000 contract for grading just west of Fargo, says that he expects word to go to work soon. "It is the aim of the company," says Mr. Smith, "to complete the portion of the line just west of Fargo first. I have my teams all ready to put them to work."

WAGE INCREASE THE ISSUE.

Southern Railway Dispute Taken Up By Mediators.

Washington, June 7.—The real stumbling block in the controversy between the Southern railway and its firemen—the question of a 20 per cent increase in wages—is expected to be reached at the fifth consecutive meeting between the mediators under the Erdman act and the firemen, which began here today. Before the session H. O. Teat, acting vice president for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, said that the wage question undoubtedly would be taken up. He reiterated that the firemen would accept nothing less than the 20 per cent increase.

JAMES DALTON DIES.

Pioneer Conductor on Great Northern Passes Away in St. Paul.

News was brought here today of the death in St. Paul Saturday of James Dalton, a conductor who has been making this city for a number of years.

Though Dalton has been missed from his run on the Great Northern, it was not generally known that he was seriously ill. Death came as the result of softening of the brain and heart trouble, the illness being gradual and lasting for several months.

There were few people who knew James Dalton who did not like him. He was well known at the Head of the Lakes for his interest in fast horses. He would travel miles to witness a horse race, and since the days when he first made the Head of the Lakes, there were few horse races either here or at Superior that he missed.

During the years that he made the run to the Head of the Lakes Mr. Dalton stopped at the St. Louis, where he was known to every guest of the house.

ROCKLIN-COLFAX CUT-OFF COMPLETED.

San Francisco, Cal., June 7.—It is announced at the offices of the Southern Pacific Railroad company that the Rocklin-Colfax cut-off, costing $15,000,000 is completed. This cut, which crosses the Sierra mountains thirty-three miles from Colfax, Cal., to Rocklin, Cal., is the most expensive single piece of work that will be done in double-tracking the Harriman lines from the Missouri river to the Pacific coast.

FREIGHT TRAFFIC ON RAILROADS INCREASING.

Freight shipments over railroads continue light, but according to agents of the different companies doing business from Duluth, the prospects for an increase are very good. The outlook, they say is very bright, and within a short time they expect it to reach the normal for this season of the year.

Traffic over all the lines has shown a decided increase within the past week. It is believed that this business will continue all season.

Among the Railroad Men.

A. C. Asterline of Minneapolis, Northwestern passenger agent for the New York Central & St. Louis, is visiting in Duluth.

D. A. Kyle, agent at St. Paul for the Lackawanna road, and E. H. Eden, commercial agent at Minneapolis for the same company, are spending the day in the city.

Frank McCabe, traveling passenger agent for the Omaha, was among the railroad callers in the city yesterday.

G. L. Lovell of St. Paul, Northwestern passenger agent for the Wabash Railway company, is visiting in Duluth today.

W. D. Burr, district freight and passenger agent of the Chicago Northwestern Railway company and of the Omaha at Duluth, left this morning for Ely and Tower on a business trip.

MANY ROAD CONTRACTS

More Work Than Ever Before on County Highways This Year.

Thirty-Five Contracts Under Way in the Little Fork Country.

Eighty-five road contracts are being performed at the present time in St. Louis county.

This means that a great deal more work for good roads is going on throughout the county than many realize and it also means that more is being done this season than ever before in the history of the county.

A. E. Dyer of Hibbing, county surveyor, was in the city this morning and was in attendance at the meeting of the county commissioners.

He says that this is the greatest year in road building in his experience. Thirty-five contracts are under way in the Little Fork country alone.

The Little Fork country is that portion of the county which lies west of Cook and north of Hibbing. It is all new country, having been opened for settlement only about six years ago. It is being rapidly settled and the need for roads is great. Much work is being done, many men are employed and a great deal of money is being spent, which will result in a great amount of good for the farmers.

There are fifty contracts outside of the Little Fork country. The work is scattered all over the county. Many new roads are being built and many of the old ones are being improved.

At this morning's meeting of the county board many road petitions were presented. The commissioners are trying to grant those which will help not only the greatest number of people, but will benefit the county also and save it money in years to come.

In all, $225,000 will be spent during the present season on roads in St. Louis county.

The bridge over the Lester river on the East Duluth and Lester river road is about completed but it will take some time for the cement to set. The bridge over the Amity on the same road, which will cost the county $1,998.60, will soon be under way. The contractors expect to begin work in a few days.

Two crews of men are at work on the Miller trunk road. One crew is at work on the end from Duluth to Pike lake and the other is engaged further up the road. The holes on the Pike lake road are being filled and it is said that already the improvement is noticeable.

VISITING NURSE HAS RESIGNED

Miss Anderson Is Offered Position Under the Mayo Brothers.

Miss Mary Anderson, the visiting nurse employed by the Duluth Associated Charities a few months ago, has resigned to accept a position of the same kind at Rochester, Minn., under the Mayo brothers.

Miss Anderson has been in Duluth but a few months. While here she has shown she is well fitted for the work and the members of the society were reluctant to allow her to go. She has proved herself to be an untiring worker, with the knowledge a visiting nurse should have. The matter of her resignation will come up at the executive committee of the Associated Charities Friday.

Miss Anderson goes to Rochester for the experience of working under the Mayo brothers. The salary is the same, although in her new position she is given her maintenance.

The matter of "Housing" will come up for discussion at the Friday meeting of the executive committee. Plans will be made for the large public meeting, which will be held on the occasion of the visit of Charles B. Ball of Chicago, one of the best authorities in the country on this subject.

Already there are many applications for the position made vacant by Miss Anderson's resignation. The members of the society show a disposition to employ a Duluth woman if one with enough experience can be found. Applications for the position are wanted.

"UNITED STATES OF AMERICA VS. EIGHTY BARRELS OF VINEGAR"

Suit was filed this afternoon in the United States circuit court by Charles C. Houpt, United States attorney, and Egbert S. Oakley, assistant United States attorney, asking for a writ for the confiscation of eighty barrels, more or less, of vinegar, consigned by the Oakland Vinegar & Pickle company of Saginaw, Mich., to the Stone-Ordean-Wells company of this city.

The complaint in the case, which is entitled "The United States of America, versus Eighty Barrels of Vinegar, More or Less," sets forth that there is a direct violation of the pure food and drugs act, in that the barrels have been misbranded. It is claimed by the United States attorneys that the barrels contain an alcoholic distillate and distilled vinegar instead of pure sugar vinegar as is stated on the barrels, and that as such, fraud is being perpetrtaed.

It is asked that the barrels which are now in the city, be confiscated, and that an order from the court be granted for their destruction or sale, and that if sold, the proceeds, after all costs of court expenses have been paid, be turned over to the treasurer of the United States.

MURDER ON LAKE VESSEL

Hungarian Sailor Arrested as Slayer and Another as Accomplice.

Charles McMahon of Chicago Killed on Steamer Dinkey.

Ashland, Wis., June 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Gerses, a 19-year-old Hungarian sailor from Cleveland, shot and killed Charles McMahon of Midland, Ont., last night. The shooting occurred on the ore carrier A. C. Dinkey.

Gerses and another sailor, Walter Rudson of Chicago, got drunk and demanded their wages. A row followed between the captain and mate and the two sailors, who went below and got a gun. The wheelsman, McMahon, follow the sailors below, and Gerses shot him through the heart.

Caught by the Mate.

Gerses threw his gun overboard after the shooting and tried to escape. While attempting to reach shore he fell from the dock, but swam ashore, where he was afterwards held up with a gun by the mate. He was marched back to the boat and held at the point of a gun until officers arrived.

Gerses is held for murder and Hudson as an accomplice.

Octorara on Way.

The passenger steamer Octorara, of the Anchor line, has left Buffalo with a good sized passenger list, headed for Duluth. She will arrive here on Sunday morning about 11 o'clock.

WILL ORDER NEW VESSEL

Northern Navigation Company Will Have Boat Costing $1,000,000.

Will Be Ready for Service in Spring of 1912.

To the list of passenger steamers which will run to Duluth next year will be added what is expected to be the finest vessels on the Great Lakes. The Northern Navigation company, which now has the Hamonic and the Huronic sailing between Duluth and Sarnia, Ont., nas just completed plans for a 500-foot passenger boat, the contract for which will probably be let in the very near future, and which will be completed for traffic next summer.

The proposed boat will probably cost in the neighborhood of $1,000,000. If the plans are carried out the steamer will be about 150 feet longer than the North West which was burned last week in Buffalo, and will carry from 600 to 700 first-class passengers, as well as more than 200 second-class passengers.

It is proposed to make this steamship the finest now on the lakes, and so constructed that for many years to come she will be up-to-date in every particular, and so that any necessary changes in accommodations can easily be made.

Traffic in the summer between the East and the West is rapidly increasing and the company has forseen that there will be a steady increase in the future, and it wishes to be in position to get the business. Sarnia is in a very advantageous position for travel both by land and water, and annually many thousands of visitors pass through this point.

SHIPMENTS ARE INCREASING

Ore Movement Shows Signs of Becoming More Active.

With the opening of two mills at Pittsburg, and the general resumption of steel business throughout the country, the shipments of ore from the Head of the Lakes have been increased, and will continue to increase this month, according to statements from local men interested in ore movements.

The steel corporation has chartered a number of boats, now on the lower lakes to carry ore for it, and these boats are now on their way to Duluth, loaded with coal. Last week the Tomlinson line put six of its boats into operation under contract to carry ore, and it is probable that a few more may be put on, orders for which are now being awaited.

VETERAN VESSEL MASTER DIES

Capt. Thomas Wilford Fails to Recover From Paralytic Stroke.

Word has been received here of the death of Capt. Thomas Wilford on Monday afternoon at his home in Lorain, Ohio. Last Saturday he was stricken with paralysis while aboard the steamer Leonard B. Miller of which he was in command. He never regained consciousness.

He was one of the old masters who began as a seaman on a sailing vessel, and later became a captain. He was well known in Duluth among the mariners, having been up here on many trips.

He was born in Clipston, Northamptonshire, England, June 21, 1841. Twelve years later he migrated to America with his parents who settled in North Amherst, Ohio. When he was 18 he started to sail. Eight years later he went as mate with Capt. Vader in the schooner H. G. Cleveland. He held that position for two years and then went as mate in the schooner Charles Wahl, at that time owned by the Winslows.

His next position was as mate and sailing master with the late Capt. Peter Minch in the schooner George H. Warmington. From the Warmington he went in the schooner Exile as master. When the Exile was purchased in 1880 by Capt. W. C. Richardson, Capt. Wilford remained in charge. In 1882 the steamer John M. Osborne was brought out by him.

July 27, 1883, the steamer Osborne was run down and sunk by the steamer Alberta in Lake Superior. During the last two months of that season he was mate under Capt. William Trinter in the steamer Onoko. In the spring of 1884 he brought out the steamer J. H. Devereux, which he commanded for five years and left to bring out the steamer J. H. Wade. After two years in the Wade he brought out the steamer Samuel Mitchell, which he sailed until he brought out the steamer W. C. Richardson ten years later. In 1906 Capt. Wilford brought out the steamer David Z. Norton, in 1908, the steamer Howard M. Hanna, Jr., and a year ago the steamer Leonard B. Miller, which he commanded up to the time he became ill.

In 1870 he married Miss Fannie Gilmore of Cleveland. Thirteen years later when the steamer Osborne was sunk she and their two daughters were aboard the ship. Capt. Wilford kept his head so well only three persons were lost. He rescued his wife and the mate saved his two daughters one of whom, Ada, died eighteen years ago.

GAYLORD IS MANAGER.

Assumes Active Charge of the Duluth Marine Dredge Company.

E. M. Gaylord, for many years manager of R. B. Knox & Co., real estate, resigned that position yesterday to take up the duties of general manager of the Duluth Marine Dredge company, of which he is also secretary and treasurer. He left yesterday for Ogdensburg, N. Y., where his company secured the contract for dredging the harbor, and expects to remain there the rest of the season, superintending the work.

DAMAGES TO NORTH WEST WILL EXCEED $200,000.

Damage to the steamer North West, which was burned to the hull Saturday at Buffalo, will be more than $200,000, according to estimates made since the fire. The steamer North Land, which was moored alongside of the North West, was moved away from the burned steamer just in time. As it is, she was badly scorched. Paint was raised, windows shattered and lines cut or burned. It will cost about $1,000 to refinish the damaged parts and to replace the destroyed property on the North Land. The steamer North West will be taken to Cleveland to be repaired and is expected there this week.

LAUGHLIN AGROUND AT STAG ISLAND.

The Laughlin, downbound with ore, went aground in the mud at the head of Stag Island Sunday morning in a heavy fog. The tugs Harding, Winslow, Fisher and Sarnia City worked on her again Monday without apparent result. The steamer is reported to be lying broadside to the current, which is very strong at that point. Monday night the tug Rooth and lighter Rescue were sent to her assistance.

OWNERSHIP OF LAKE ERIE IN QUESTION.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Legislation paving the way to a legal opinion on the right of Ohio to assert its title to the land beneath the waters of Lake Erie by an act giving councils authority in the matter of taking over water fronts for public dock and landing purposes and preventing private interests from making land, will probably be offered in the Cleveland council following the appointment of a river and harbor commission by Mayor Baehr.

The plan of railroads and other corporations owning land along the water front for the establishment of a harbor line 2,000 feet inside of the breakwater would be interfered with if such a scheme were followed out by the commission.

ROCK DRILLING STARTED AT BALLARD'S REEF.

Amherstburg, Ont., June 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Michael Sullivan, dredge contractor, who has the difficult job of planing off the rock at the Ballard's reef from nineteen to twenty-three feet, has started his two drill boats, Exploder and Destroyer, on the contract. Mr. Sullivan has the dredges Gladiator and Hercules on the job and the four boats will work a night and day shift. The boats are apt to be struck at most any time by steamers passing up and down, say vessel owners. No patrol boat has yet been put on to protect both the steamship owners and the contractor. Mr. Sullivan intends to put his other drill boat Dynamiter and dredge Old Glory on the job in a few days.

LOWER LUMBER RATES EXPECTED BY SHIPPERS.

Menominee, Mich., June 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lumber shippers express the belief that the high rates prevailing on stock shipped from upper lake ports since the opening of navigation will very likely ease up. The announcement that the Hines company was in the market for more business was made as the outcome of a visit to the Tonawanda and other lake ports during the past few days by Capt. W. D. Hamilton of Chicago in search of contracts.

The Hines company is in a position to offer practically its entire fleet of fifteen lumber carriers to outside shippers. One of the local shippers, whom Capt. Hamilton consulted, stated that a number of contracts has been closed at rates more favorable than some of the vessel owners have been offering of late.

SHORT-LIVED STRIKE AT MARQUETTE DOCK.

Marquette, Mich., June 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—A short-lived strike took place at the South Shore docks Monday morning, the employes refusing to go to work until they got a raise in wages. After a short conference the men were raised from $1.75 to $2 per day, with time and a half for overtime, and before noon the men were at work again as usual.

NEW EXCURSION BOAT ON MENOMINEE RIVER.

Menominee, Mich., June 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Menominee river and the ports of Menominee and Marinette are to have a new steamer which will be operated by Capt. Clow. The Liberty is the name of the steamer and it will be used to take excursions out of Menominee and Marinette.

HINES LUMBER COMPANY HAS WRECKING TUG.

Sturgeon Bay, Wis., June 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The steamer Warrington has been purchased by the Edward Hines interests and will be used as a wreck tug. The firm has a large fleet of vessels and barges and undoubtedly owning its own wrecking tug will prove a profitable investment.

May Lake Levels.

The United States lake survey reports the stages of the Great Lakes for the month of May, 1911, as follows:

Lakes—	Feet above tide water, New York.
Superior	600.90
Michigan-Huron	579.70
Erie	571.87
Ontario	245.60

Lake Superior is 0.29 foot higher than last month, 0.85 foot lower than a year ago, 1.34 feet below the average stage of May of the last ten years, 1.79 feet below the high stage of May, 1894, and 0.11 foot below the low stage of May, 1879. It will probably rise 0.3 foot during June.

Lakes Michigan-Huron are 0.26 foot higher than last month, 0.75 foot lower than a year ago, 1.16 feet below the average stage of May of the last ten years, 3.82 feet below the high stage of May, 1886, and 0.14 foot above the low stage of May, 1896. They will probably rise 0.2 foot during June.

Lake Erie is 0.29 foot higher than last month, 0.70 foot lower than a year ago, 0.76 foot below the average stage of May of the last ten years, 2.27 feet below the high stage of May, 1884, and 0.30 foot above the low stage of May, 1895. It will probably rise 0.2 foot during June.

Lake Ontario is 0.16 foot higher than last month, 0.82 foot lower than a year ago, 1.13 feet lower than the average stage of May of the last ten years, 3.05 feet below the high stage of May, 1886, and 0.60 foot above the low stage of May, 1895. It will probably rise 0.1 foot during June.

Marine Notes.

The latest interpretation of a part of the tariff bill is to the effect that duty must be paid upon all American-born animals which may be taken into Canada. This is stirring up considerable indignation among drivers at lower lake ports, who have occasion to go from one shore to the other.

Excursin business over the Put-in-Bay out of Toledo will be greater than in previous years. The Detroit & Cleveland Navigation company is building a new excursion boat to be known as the City of New York.

SUPERIOR

VIADUCT WILL BE REPAIRED THIS YEAR.

The Twenty-first street viaduct will be repaired this summer, the first steps in the matter having been taken last evening at a meeting of the council. The cost of the improvement will be shared between the Duluth Street Raailway company and the city.

A resolution was passed at the council meeting last evening authorizing the city attorney to appeal from the findings of the state railroad and warehouse commission on the Belknap street viaduct case.

The property committee of the council was ordered to take out $40,000 insurance on the Nemadji river bridge, which has just been completed.

DULUTH MEN BUY BELT LINE ACREAGE.

For a consideration said to be $250 an acre, a sixteen-acre tract in the belt line district near Allouez was yesterday purchased from J. T. Murphy by a syndicate of Duluthians, consisting of W. A. Hicken, Dr. H. E. Webster and Frank Grassweller. The land is located in the southwest corner of section 8-48-13, lying southwest of the belt line right-of-way and southeast of the South Shore line.

BURGLAR CAUGHT AFTER MERRY CHASE.

The police caught a burglar as he was breaking into the store of the Northern Trunk company, 1709 Broadway, at an early hour this morning. Lewis saw the officers before they nabbed him and gave them a merry chase down an alley. After being caught and handcuffed, he struck one of the policemen a blow in the face with the cuffs. He was arraigned in police court this morning before Judge Parker and was bound over to the circuit court. He is in the county jail awaiting trial.

M. Kiley of Duluth was arrested by the Superior police this morning at an early hour, charged with speeding an automobile. He paid a fine of $10 and costs in police court and was released.

Funeral of A. G. Brown.

Funeral services were held this afternoon for Addison G. Brown, aged 49, who died yesterday morning at St. Francis' hospital after a short illness. The funeral was held from the First Presbyterian church to Nemadji cemetery. Rev. H. W. Knowles officiated. Mr. Brown was a native of Superior. At the time of his death, he was purchasing agent for the Pittsburg Coal company. Mr. Brown was a member of Palestine lodge, No. 79, A. F. & A. M., of Duluth.

Falls Into Ore Pocket.

Edmund Ruff, an employe of the Pittsburg Construction company at the new Allouez Great Northern ore docks, fell into one of the ore pockets from the top of the dock yesterday afternoon and narrowly escaped death. He sustained several bruises on his head, arms, and other parts of the body, but was not seriously injured.

Will Launch Cadwell.

The new sand sucker which has been in course of construction at the Superior shipyards for the past few months will be launched tomorrow afternoon with appropriate ceremony. It will be christened the "C. W. Cadwell" and will hail from Duluth.

C. W. Cadwell, after whom the boat is to be named, is a resident of Windsor, Ont., and Mrs. Cadwell, his wife, will be in Superior to christen the steamer at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. After being launched the boat will be taken to Detroit, where it will be stationed.

William Nicholson of Duluth is the managing owner of the new steamer. Mr. Cadwell also holds a large interest in the craft. It is but 165 feet long, but is the most modern, in every particular, of any boat of its kind afloat.

REQUEST THAT WON REPRIEVE.

London Evening Standard: The release of Edward O'Brien from Portland, just announced, recalls a remarkable point put forward in his defense when he was tried in Liverpool in November, 1895, for the murder of Sarah Jenkinson, a domestic servant. Evidence was given that he had three marks of depression of the skull and that people in that state were more easily influenced by alcohol than others. The jury without leaving the box found him guilty and Justice Collins passed sentence of death. Then the prisoner atonished the court by the following request:

"My lord, after I am hanged and done for will you allow my head to be sent to the infirmary to be examined as to the wounds on it?"

The judge remained silent. A reprieve soon followed.

BRANCH OFFICES:
A. Jensen, 330 North 57th Ave. W. J. J. Moran, 316½ North Central Ave.

JOY RIDERS ARE ARRESTED

Police Arrest Party of Five in Stolen Automobile.

Charles McLennan, aged 20, and George Jacobs, 27 years old, are held in custody by the West Duluth police, following an investigation into the alleged theft early this morning of an automobile from the garage of P. Peterson, Raleigh street.

McLennan, Jacobs and three other men were arrested in front of a place on South Sixty-third avenue west at 3 o'clock this morning and were taken to the police station. All but McLennan were charged with drunkenness and he was charged with trespass. The other three men were Ben Larson, Ernest Album and Charles Anderson.

It is understood that the men, or at least two of them, McLennan and Jacobs, may be called upon to face a more serious accusation, that of stealing an automobile.

P. Peterson, owner of the machine, identified the car this morning and declared that it had been taken from his shed during the night. Mr. Peterson is employed by J. E. Foubister, grocer, on Raleigh street.

The arrest of the five men was made by Sergt. Barber and other officers at the home of Mrs. Nelson, 918 South Sixty-third avenue west. It is claimed by the police that there was a beer party at this place and that the noise attendant to it so disturbed the neighbors that the police were called. The men were leaving the place when the officers arrived. Two of them, McLennan and Jacobs, were in the automobile. All were intoxicated except McLennan and the technical charge of trespass was placed against him.

HEARING ON SEWER DISPUTE

Council Members Will Investigate Proposed Fond du Lac Improvement.

The council committee on sewers will conduct a hearing at Fond du Lac tomorrow on the proposed building of a sewer at the suburb. There is a petition for the improvement now in the hands of the council, and a counter petition also has been filed. The original petition calls for the building of the sewer with an outlet at One Hundred and Thirty-third avenue west, where the city dock is located. The opposition to the improvement wants the plans changed so that the outlet will be at about One Hundred and Thirty-first avenue west. Aldermen Krueger and Barnes of the Eighth ward will attend the hearing as well as many of the interested property owners.

Repairs are being made this week to the plant of the Diamond Calk Horse Shoe company, which was recently damaged by fire. New machinery is on the way from New York. The company expects to more than treble last year's output of 1,500,000 calks, this season.

Watch repairing. Hurst. W. Duluth.

STILL TOO WET TO PLAY POLO

Second Game Between English and American Teams Again Postponed.

New York, June 7.—The second game of polo between the English and American teams for the polo championship which was to have been played this afternoon at Westbury, L. I., was postponed until tomorrow at 4:30 p. m., on account of the wet condition of the field.

MORRIS MEMORIAL GAMES NEXT WEEK

Western Golf Clubs Will Play for Trophy on June 16.

Nearly every prominent golf club in the Western Golf association will put a picked team on its own course, June 16, to compete for the Tom Morris memorial trophy. The coveted prize was captured last year by the Los Angeles Country club, the team which finished with 34 down to par of the course. The Oakland club of Pittsburg was second with 41, and the Denver Country club, the 1909 holder, was third with 42 under par.

The Los Angeles Country club will put another strong team in the field and will make a strong bid to retain the trophy. The event is gaining in importance yearly, and it is expected that within a few years it will be regarded as the principal golf tourney of the season.

The Tom Morris memorial trophy competition is an annual contest of eighteen holes against the official par of the course, open to all clubs enrolled in the membership of the association, to be played by teams of eight, all of whom must be amateurs and members of the competing club and bona-fide residents of the district covered by this association, and be at the time of the competition 25 years of age or over.

Each club team will play over its own course each year on June 16, Tom Morris' birthday. When the date of June 16 of any year falls on Sunday, the competition that year shall take place on Saturday, June 15.

The club whose team returns the best total against the par of its own course will be awarded the custody of the trophy for one year, and each player of the winning team will be given an appropriate medal. The trophy will become the permanent property of the club whose team has been five times the winner of the competition, not necessarily, however, in succession.

There is no entrance fee for this competition.

A competition against par is played in the same manner as one against bogey, except that the figure representing the par of a hole of a given length and against which the competitors play is fixed solely by the length of the hole and thus the par of holes of similar length is uniform; and unlike the bogey, does not vary because of other conditions. For instance, a hole 385 yards in length may have its bogey as 4 at one club and 5 at another. The par for a hole 385 yards in length is absolutely fixed at 4, no matter what the topography of the ground may be or the judgment of the club's committee.

The official distances of the association by which the par scores of holes are computed are as follows: Up to 215 yards, inclusive, par is 3; from 216 yards to 400 yards, inclusive, par is 4; from 401 to 575 yards, inclusive, par is 5; from 576 and upwards, par is 6.

Each club must furnish the secretary of the association with a statement showing the playing length of each hole duly certified to by an officer of the club. The distances of holes as reported and played must be from the front of the teeing grounds to the center of the putting greens respectively. The distances of holes as furnished must be those in regular use, and any change in hole distances especially made for this competition will subject the club's team to disqualification. It is the intent of the directors that all clubs shall have the given distances of the holes measured on a uniform basis and play the regular course.

Each club shall mail to the secretary of the association on or before June 14 the names of the eight players who will comprise its team and at the same time the names of not to exceed eight persons who shall be known as substitutes. If any of the eight regular players selected is not at the club on the day of the competition, one of the named substitutes may take his place on the team. Only eight members of the club whose names appear in such list, either as players or substitutes, shall be eligible to compete for the trophy, under penalty of disqualification of the team.

All players must play from scratch, and the competition must be finished on the day of the event, under penalty of disqualification. No postponement will be allowed for any cause whatsoever.

BASEBALL NOTES

Pittsburg fans figure that the Pirates are due for a winning streak now that they are playing at home.

Tom Fisher, the old Southern league pitcher, is now managing the Anniston team in the Southwestern league.

The Chicago Cubs have signed Southpaw Bernie Coss of the St. Viateur college team, at Bourbonnois, Ill.

Sylvanus Gregg, the young Cleveland pitcher, has about everything a genuine big league shooter should have.

The pennant-winning New Bedford team is at the bottom of the heap, being held down by seven husky New England leaugue teams.

If the Detroit Tigers can hold their own during the Eastern trip they will be in a good position for a clean-up when they return home.

The champion Athletics started the season poorly, but when they finally caught the step they lost no time in marching to the front.

Bill Bergen is catching good ball for Brooklyn. The way the veteran shoots the ball around the diamond is as fine scenery as the Yosemite valley.

The Cubs took the lead in the National league on May 25 in 1910, and on May 29 this season, but they are having harder work to stick near the top this year.

The Columbus team has been a big surprise in the American association. The Senators were not considered very strong, but they have been strangling the A. A. teams as fast as they could get to them.

Manager McAleer of the Washington team is trying to land Paul Cobb, a brother of the famous Tyrus. Young Cobb is playing with the Lincoln team and is said to be the real excitement of the Western league.

Knabe Suspended.

New York, June 7.—Otto Knabe, second baseman of the Philadelphia National league club, was suspended for three days by President Lynch for his trouble with Umpire Emslie in the game at Cincinnati yesterday.

NOMINATIONS FOR BOARD

Petitions are being circulated for the renomination of W. E. Magner and E. R. Cobb for the board of education. L. D. Campbell, the other member whose term expires this year, has let it be known that he will not consider a renomination or re-election, so it is certain that the board will have at least one new member.

It is very unlikely that there will be any direct opposition to Mr. Magner or Mr. Cobb. If more than one other name is presented at the election, it will be because there is competition for Mr. Campbell's seat, although all nominees will figure in the voting, the three highest being elected.

Mr. Magner is now president of the board and is considered one of the most efficient men the district has had on the board for years. Mr. Cobb has seen about sixteen years' service and has done especially good service in the capacity of treasurer. Both men are said to be willing to serve the district again—in fact, their friends insist that they do so.

No names have yet been mentioned for Mr. Campbell's seat, but at least one nomination is expected to be made. The nominations must be filed with the clerk by June 30.

Independent Sugar Company Gives Free Trade Pamphlet With Each Sack.

Free Raw Sugar Would Lower Price Two Cents, Says Company.

TARIFF ON SUGAR

Is of Advantage to The SUGAR TRUST And Its Allies Only.

WITH FREE RAW SUGAR This Sugar Would Cost You About 2 CENTS PER POUND LESS.

Urge your Congressman to insist on removal of tariff from sugar.

When the tariff-burdened householder buys a sack of sugar that is put up by a certain aggressive competitor of the alleged sugar trust, he finds the above message stamped on the sack.

The independent company, which styles itself "independent, competitive, aggressive," is carrying the battle against the sugar trust to the consumer and urging the consumer to support it.

"The —— company urges the abolition of the duty on both raw and refined sugar because this duty increases the cost of sugar to the consumer nearly 2 cents per pound, and is of no benefit except to the 'sugar trust' and its allies," says a circular the company incloses in its packages. The consumer is rather pleased that he is considered in the business policy of any corporation and the company is making friends for free sugar.

lasted eight minutes, while the maximum of the east and west movement was recorded at 6.24, lasting ten minutes.

Gradually the tremors subsided and died away at 7:51 o'clock after 1 hour and 41 minutes.

Father Tondorff declared that it indicated the most severe earthquake that had been recorded since the establishment of the Georgetown university two and a half years ago.

Recorded in New York.

New York, June 7.—A severe earthquake estimated at about 3,000 miles from New York, was recorded on the seismograph of Fordham university this morning. The beginning of the quake was at 6:11 o'clock, with the principal shock seven minutes later. The direction of the quake was on lines from east to west as were noted at the time of the San Francisco earthquake and there were slight movements also from north to south.

Prof. Tiznan of Fordham said the earthquake was the heaviest that had been recorded at Fordham in a long time.

None of the telegraph and cable companies reported today any interruption of service which generally follows in the district where the earthquake is severest. The American and transAtlantic cables were working all right and telegraph wires in all directions apparently were not hampered.

May Be in Mexico.

Seattle Wash., June 7.—A violent earthquake supposed to be in Western Mexico was recorded in seismographs of the University of Washington between 3 and 4 o'clock this morning. The sheet recording the east and west vibrations was shaken off the drum.

Steel corporation had any such plans in mind.

"Statements have been made by a senator of the United States, who has a personal interest in the Pittsburg Coal & Coke company," said Chairman Stanley, "that the Monongahela River company is now under the control of the Pittsburg Coal & Coke company; and that there is now pending a proposition to exchange the securities of these two companies for the bonds of the United States Steel corporation, with the inevitable result that the Ohio river will cease to be the medium of traffic for the carriage of this tonnage of coal."

Called Hall as Witness.

Members of the committee and attorneys for Mr. Gary asked Chairman Stanley to name the senator. Mr. Stanley responded by calling Mr. Hall to the stand.

The witness said he was a former president of the Pittsburg stock exchange. He related the history of the two companies and said the Steel corporation has a twenty-five year contract for coal at a price that represented a loss to the mining companies. A deal is pending, he said, for the transfer to the Steel corporation of a large acreage of coal to be paid for in bonds guaranteed by the Steel corporation.

"There is no doubt in my mind," Mr. Hall declared, "that the deal means the ultimate shipment of all coal in our district by rail, and the end of water competition. Senator Oliver agrees with this view."

"Mr. Hall has offered no evidence that we are getting control of these companies," said Mr. Gary.

"Better Than Ownership."

"Your contract is better than ownership would be," replied Mr. Hall; "it is cheaper to get the coal at your price than to own the companies."

Mr. Hall testified that the Pittsburg Coal & Coke company, known as the "rail company" in the Pittsburg coal field, controls the Monongahela River company, which ships by river.

"We have no thought of acquiring control or an interest in either one of these companies," said Mr. Gary. "We have no interest in them except this contract for the purchase of a certain amount of steam coal."

Sanctioned by Roosevelt.

Judge Gary today again declared that President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Root not only sanctioned the absorption of the Tennessee Coal & Iron company by the Steel corporation, but held it to be necessary to avert widespread financial disaster.

Mr. Gary declared anew that financial conditions in 1907 were such that something had to be done to prevent a panic. The conference at the White House, he declared, was the final step in the campaign of prevention, and added that if the administration had declined to permit the combination of the two big steel properties he would have opposed it as a member of the Steel corporation.

He insisted that the impression made on his mind and the minds of those with him was that both Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Root fully recognized the necessity for the merger and accepted it as imperative if a financial cataclysm was to be averted.

Gave "Tacit Acquiescence."

In reopening the line of questioning with reference to the Tennessee Coal & Iron company, Representative Littleton sought to get from Mr. Gary an understanding as to what phraseology they could agree upon to express the attitude of President Roosevelt to the transaction which Mr. Gary and Mr Frick proposed to him in 1907.

"I should say," said Mr. Gary, "that it was a tacit acquiescence on the part of the president."

Mr. Littleton then took up the visit to the White House made by Mr. Gary and Mr. Frick.

"If President Roosevelt and Mr. Root, then secretary of state, had objected to this transaction," suggested Representative Bartlett of Georgia, "would the United States Steel corporation still have purchased the Tennessee Coal & Iron company?"

"I think I surely would have voted against the purchase," Mr. Gary replied.

THOUSANDS CHEER AT MADERO'S ENTRY

to the capital by a score of other trains which went up the line yesterday to participate in the demonstrations on route and escort the rebel general to the city. The occupants of these trains filled the platforms of the stations where stops were made, but the general public remained outside, held in restraint by a cordon of police.

Received Laurel Wreath.

Alighting from his car here, Madero was greeted by Senora Aguilles Serdan, one of the heroines of the rebellion, who handed him a laurel wreath.

Senora Serdan is the widow of one of the first of the revolutionary conspirators to lose his life. His home in Pueblo, in preparation for the revolt, was used as a storehouse for rifles and ammunition. The secret was discovered by the government and Serdan was killed in defending his home.

When the husband fell his wife and his two sisters seized rifles and continued the resistance until they were overpowered. The women were thrown into jail, where they languished for months. With the triumph of the Madero party, a Serdan society was formed here and Senora Serdan was brought to the capital to greet the man for whose cause she and her family had suffered so much.

The little woman tendered the wreath without a word. What Madero said could not be heard above the din that greeted the incident.

Brief Address of Welcome.

A brief address of welcome was made by Dr. Cuthberto Hidalgo, after which a parade was formed. The various bodies participating had been at the rendezvous since daybreak and each had been assigned a position in the line, into which it fell at the proper moment.

Banners bearing Madero's likeness were everywhere mingled with the national colors and slogans of the revolution.

Looming larger than all others were banners bearing the single word "Order."

These were intended to influence the populace to restrain the most turbulent impulses. Shopkeepers, as a rule, were inclined to be on the safe side, and generally the windows of their places were shuttered.

Route of Procession.

From the railway station the procession moved into Calles del Fuente de Alvarado, through the Avenida de Los Hombres Ilustres and into the park at the national palace and thence back through the de San Francisco, the Avenidas Juarez, the Paso de la Reforma and the Calles de Berlin to the Madero home at the corner of Calles de Berlin and Calles de Liverpool.

Here, in the two-story red brick house owned by Madero the older, and distinguished from its neighbor by a tower, the conqueror of Porfirio Diaz rested for the first time since the triumphal entry into the country which he made at Ciudad Porfirio Diaz, now newly named Piedras Negros.

Plots Are Growing.

Juarez, Mex., June 7.—Indications that the plots against Madero are growing in influence and extent were manifest from several quarters today. The loyalty of certain heads of the federal troops have been brought into question, and as a consequence wholesale charges in that direction are expected as soon as Madero gets into full touch with affairs in City of Mexico.

Messages were sent to Madero today advising him of specific circumstances which are alleged to relate to a plot. As a result 1,300 federal troops which were to have left Chihuahua for Lower California to co-operate at once in suppressing the revolutionists, have been summarily ordered not to go. The advices telegraphed to Madero were that if the federal troops go to Lower California the outcome would be doubtful.

Securing United States.

Meantime the United States has become the hunting grounds of Madero's secret service men, who have been sent to New York, San Antonio, Eagle Pass, Laredo and other points to trail and report on the movements of plotters.

A confidential adviser of Madero, who accompanied him throughout his campaign, said:

"Madero, despite his apparent indifference to the plots, is seriously concerned over them. The fact that he had to go to City of Mexico under an armed guard mortified him, especially as it showed to the world the existence of a greatly-to-be-lamented condition in Mexico. Madero, however, is fully determined to deal relentlessly with plotters, and before the elections in October it is likely that either the jails will be full or the colonies of exiles in the United States will have become greatly increased."

Plan to Hamper Leader.

The first purpose of the instigators is said to be the establishment in several Mexican and American cities of juntas, similar to those of the revolutionary party, and then to carry on a systematic effort to hamper Madero and to restore to power a certain political element which was ousted when President Diaz resigned.

Abram Gonzales, provisional governor of Chihuahua, has been compelled to postpone his trip to the capital because of a threat on his life. He said he had received word that an offer of $40,000 had been made to prevent his reaching Chihuahua. The information came from such a source that he did not hesitate to postpone his trip.

"These plots do not detract from the popularity of Senor Madero," said a provisional government official. "It is only natural, after so swift a change in government, that many of the old regime should be reluctant to give up their power and that they should even resort to desperate measures."

Before leaving here, Senor Madero said he intended to deal rigorously with all conspirators when he reached City of Mexico.

Madero Answers Americans.

San Antonio, Tex., June 7.—Francisco I. Madero, Jr., in a telegram to the San Antonio Press club, declines to accord any privilege to William L. Dunne, the San Antonio newspaperman in jail at Monterey, charged with conspiracy against Madero. He declared that the fact that Dunne is an American cannot predicate him rights other than those guaranteed other persons.

ACCUSED WOMAN HAS BEEN REFUSED BAIL.

Ontonagon, Mich., June 7.—Mrs. Laura Stannard, accused of causing the death of her husband, Charles F. Stannard, a well known Rockland business man, March 26 last by administering poison, must remain in the county jail here until her trial in September as Judge Cooper has refused her bail.

Practical Home Helps

Indigestion, Bowel Trouble, Dysentery and Diarrhoea.

Put a nicely browned piece of toast in cold water and let it stand about an hour. To a glass of the strained toast water, add a tablespoonful of Duffy's pure malt whiskey. If desired a little fruit syrup may be added for flavoring.

This remedy has been used with excellent results and is very highly recommended by Dr. E. T. Hewson of Detroit, Mich., who says: "It saved me from a threatened collapse when nothing else had any effect."

WOMAN'S REALM.

"A Button" and "Armgart," the two plays presented by the senior class of the normal school last evening at the assembly hall of the school before a large audience, were considered two of the best amateur productions ever given here.

The former was a light curtain raiser which was prettily acted and was well received, but the latter was the feature of the evening. The girls interpreted their parts beautifully and the two male parts were taken by the girls with a dignity which was charming. The cast was filled by the following girls: Marie Driscoll, Evonne Roberts, Winifred Warner, Minnie Hanson, Maude Matteson, Adeline Buckley, Elizabeth Wasley, Elsie Becker and Myrtle Pierce.

Monday evening the plays were given before the members of the school, while last evening the performance was for the parents, relatives and friends.

This morning the class day exercises were held at the closing chapel exercises and the feature of the program was the singing of "The Lady of Shallott" by the class, with the solo parts taken by Miss Maude Matteson.

The members of the junior class entertained the seniors and members of the faculty at a picnic dinner at 1 o'clock at Lester Park, and this afternoon the seniors and the members of the faculty were entertained at a garden party at the home of J. L. Washburn at Ifunters Park.

After an informal afternoon on the lawn and grounds a supper will be served out of doors with covers for about seventy-five guests, and the evening will be spent with an informal program in the house.

Tomorrow morning the commencement day exercises will be held at the school commencing at 10:30 o'clock.

KINDERGARTEN PROGRAM

Franklin School Children Give Apple Blossom Festival.

A delightful program was given by the children of the kindergarten of the Franklin school yesterday afternoon in the kindergarten rooms of the building.

The affair was an apple blossom festival. The room was decorated with sprays of the blossoms and in the center there was a cluster of the blossoms. The children sang several little songs and went through some pretty drills of dance steps and intricate weaving in and out. They carried garlands of blossoms and in their dancing made a charming picture. Their songs were the "Apple Blossom," "Bluebird," "Creeping Grass" and "Sunshine." They also danced a may pole dance, but instead of using ribbonds they wound streamers of the flowers.

About ninety guests were entertained and during the afternoon Miss Jean Poirier, deputy state factory inspector, talked to the mothers. Miss Poirier was at one time kindergartner in the Franklin school and she talked on the object of kindergartens and told of her work in inspecting child labor and in keeping the children in school. F. N. Burrell, principal of the school, introduced Miss Thiele, the new infant welfare nurse employe by the Masons, and she spoke to the parents. She said that she hoped they would all feel at liberty to call upon her at any time that they needed her help, and she met most of them informally after the program.

The children were assisted by Maurice and Henry Lavik, who played a splendid violin duet, "The Dream of Tyrolene," accompanied by Miss Ethel Molliter. Mrs. Burrell sang a delightful vocal number and responded to an enthusiastic encore with "The Violets."

In all, the afternoon was one of the most enjoyable entertainments ever given by the kindergarten department in this school.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Stains.

In using gasoline, naphtha or benzine as a cleaning fluid, it is invariably found that after the removal of the stain there is a ring of discoloration marking the spot. The following are some good hints to prevent this:

The fabric should be cleaned with a piece of the same goods, rub the cloth lengthwise and with the weave. Continue rubbing until the material is perfectly dry.

If these directions are carefully followed, perfect success will be insured.

To remove ink from wash goods, soak the stained part in buttermilk. This will remove any color of ink, and will not injure the finest fabric. Buttermilk used as a beverage is an excellent blood purifier, and as a wash whitens the skin.

To insure straight edges along linens and damasks, always draw a thread in cutting. After being washed, table linens cut in this way will fold perfectly even and straight.

After spilling hot grease on the floor, dash cold water over it immediately, to harden it, which will prevent soaking into the boards.

To Clean White Paint.

Put one square inch of glue into a jar with just a little warm water, and place on side of stove to melt. Then pour it into nearly a pailful of hot water, and with a piece of flannel commence washing paint. Rinse with cold water and dry with soft cloth. It will be found that the paint needs no hard rubbing, and will give a nice polish to the paint.

Mahogany Stain.

A useful mahogany stain is prepared by boiling together eight ounces of madder and two of logwood chips in a gallon of water. The surface of the wood must be thoroughly dry and perfectly evened by brisk rubbing with sandpaper before the stain, which must be applied hot, is used.

When the stain is perfectly dry, brush it over with a weak solution of pearlash (one drachm to a pint of water is sufficient), and allow to dry again before polishing.

Cleaning White Chip Hat.

All that is necessary for cleaning white chip hats or bonnets is a basin of lukewarm soapy water and a soft nailbrush. After they have been scrubbed, rinse in plenty of cold water.

If the color has been faded by the sun, take a bath or basin that will hold the hat easily. Put a little salts of sorrel in the basin, add enough hot water to cover the hat, immerse the latter, holding it down so that it remains under water. Let it remain in the basin for about five minutes and then dry. If when perfectly dry it is not quite stiff enough, brush it over with parchment size or white of egg.

THE IMPOSSIBLE MRS. JENNINGS

By Anna McClure Sholl.

Horatio Jennings, instructor in moral philosophy in a Western university, possessed all the qualifications for an imprudent marriage—boyish impulsiveness, a tender heart, total ignorance of feminine nature and $1,000 a year. We, who had $3,000, hoped that Jennings would not marry until he had made a name. Certain rare qualities of his mind promised glory to the university. He had captured our imaginations from the first. We saw the star above his brow.

During the college year, Jennings was in little danger of marring the fine simplicity of his scholarly life with the complex emotions attendant upon the experience of loving. He worked early and late. He literally gave himself to the university. He knew women only as students or as the composite wife of the faculty. We realized that we need fear only his vacations. Even then the danger seemed very slight, for he went on long and solitary walking trips through the mountains, avoiding the expensive summer hotels for obvious reasons.

The star above his brow was becoming visible even to the dullest eyes when, to our discomfiture, we heard that he was married. A day or two later the details reached us, suggestive of illimitable dreariness. While sojourning at a lonely farmhouse, Jennings had been seized with pneumonia in consequence of exposure on the mountains. The daughter of his host, realizing, no doubt, the possibilities of the situation, had nursed him faithfully, and had obtained her reward. In quixotic gratitude, Jennings married her, and brought her at once to his little suite of rooms in the barracks on the border of the campus.

"Have you seen her? Poor Jennings! She will end his career!"

The question and the exclamations became the stereotyped form of our despair over the impossible Mrs. Jennings. Those who met her spread ghastly reports of her unsuitability. Then Jennings brought her to the president's first reception, a very young, badly dressed, awkward country girl, with a pretty face and a manner half shy, half defiant.

It was plain that she resented us as much as she worshiped her husband. Her adoration of Jennings touched our hearts, but could in no wise reconcile us to her.

At first the women of the faculty tried to find her a niche where she would be comfortable, and we should be justified in forgetting her, but it was impossible to do anything with her. After a time Jennings began to realize it himself. He woke up from whatever dream he had been in, and saw her as she was. Then he was more kind to her than ever.

One evening, an old friend of Jennings, a kind of father in our university, Israel, was sitting on the stone bench at the back of the library, admiring the sunset, when he heard his name spoken with a kind of sob. Looking up, to his surprise, he saw Mrs. Jennings. She had been crying, and mouth was working nervously.

"Why, my dear!" the old man said with gentle anxiety.

"Don't say nothin' to me; let me talk," she began impetuously. "I'm goin' to ask you a question, and if you don't answer me true and plain, I don't know what I'll do! There's no one else to ask, no one I can trust; you folks here never say things plain like other folks. But I want plain talk now!"

"Calm yourself," said the professor soothingly. "I'll try to help you. What is it you want to know?"

"I was in the library gettin' a book for Horatio he wanted in a hurry. I was in the what you call 'em—stacks. Two stuck-up men were on the other side. They didn't see me. One said, 'Jennings is going to marry when he marries.' She'll stand in his way forever'; the other said, 'He's out of everything now. They can't ask that dreadful wife of his to dinners'—that's all. want you to tell me if it's true, and I'll know in your face if you lie!"

The professor was not a coward, but he trembled like a leaf.

"Oh, my poor little girl!" he cried; then, with a visible effort, he added: "No, it is not true."

"You lie! I know it is!" she almost shrieked; then, before he could restrain her, she was crouching beside him, sobbing out her misery. She saw it all, she said. Would the professor forgive her using such language, but she was so unhappy! She didn't know how to make herself over, and she stood in Horatio's way!

He soothed her as best he could, and then gave her his arm, and led her home as if she had been a princess. He never saw her again. None of us saw her again, for that night the three little children of the chemistry professor, whose wife was in bed with a new baby, came down with diphtheria. They lived in the same barracks as Jennings, and Mrs. Jennings shut herself up at once with those children, and nursed them day and night till she pulled them through. Then she herself sickened, and before a week had passed she was dead.

A few days later, the wife of the chemistry professor met the father in Israel. She had just come from putting flowers upon Mrs. Jennings' grave, she said. She would love her memory forever.

"But I shall never quite understand her devotion at that time," she added. "I scarcely knew her. It seemed unaccountably reckless."

The father in Israel turned away his face.

The Kitchen

A Cup Pudding.

One cup of flour, one cupful of suet, one cupful of sugar, one cupful of milk, one cupful of breadcrumbs, one cupful of strawberry jam, half a teaspoonful of carbonate of soda. Mix well, and boil three hours in a well greased basin.

Stuffed Potatoes.

Choose some nice large potatoes and bake them. When quite done cut off an end and scoop out some of the inside. Fill up the hole with some cold meat chopped fine, season with pepper, salt and mace made into a paste with gravy. With the aid of the white of an egg, stick the end on again and bake for five minutes.

Ground Rice Sandwich.

Four eggs, half a pound of sugar, half a pound of rice. Beat the eggs for ten minutes, then dredge in the sugar; beat for ten minutes longer, and lastly add ground rice, again beating for ten minutes. Bake in a sandwich tin for one hour in a slow oven.

Cheese Souffle.

Yolks of four eggs, four ounces of grated cheese, one teaspoonful of flour, half a pint of milk. Put the yolks of the eggs in a basin with a little cayenne, salt, flour and cheese. Work all together with a spoon until quite smooth; beat up the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth and add with the milk to the other ingredients. Pour into a deep buttered pie dish and bake.

Tomato Sauce.

Take tomatoes when perfectly ripe, put them into an earthenware pot and set them in an oven after the bread has been drawn. Let them continue there until they have become perfectly soft, then separate the skins from the pulp, and mix with capsicum vinegar, and a few cloves of garlic (pounded), a little powdered ginger and salt to taste. Put the mixture into small, wide-mouthed bottles, cork them well, and keep them in a dry and cool place. White vinegar, with cayenne pepper, may be used in the place of capsicum vinegar.

The Doctor

Care With Dangerous Drugs.

Almost every medical man has experience of some lotion intended for outward application being taken by mistake, and such accidents will go on happening until the general public do something for their own protection.

The druggist may label his bottles ever so carefully, but to a child the label conveys no meaning, and if the bottle be left within his reach no one can be surprised if an accident happens. Every house should contain a small safe cupboard out of reach of children where bottles may be kept, for many medicines perfectly harmless if taken as prescribed by the person for whom they are intended would bring about serious results if the bottle were emptied at one draught.

People do not realize what great precautions are taken by dispensers at large hospitals who have the responsibility of dealing continually with many powerful drugs. In most cases all poisons are kept in a special cupboard, so arranged that an electric bell rings loudly as soon as the door is opened, summoning immediately a "checker" without whose presence no dangerous drug can be taken out.

But these precautions, valuable as they undoubtedly are, must be supplemented in the patient's home; it is there for the most part that the accidents take place, and in nine cases out of ten they are due to sheer carelessness.

The Pharynx.

When the mouth is opened wide, and the tongue kept flat by a spoon handle, the middle portion of the pharynx is exposed to view.

From this lead the two channels which convey food to the stomach and air to the lungs. The respirator tract or air channel is a double one at the top, reaching the pharynx by the interior of the nose above, and by the mouth. The back portion of the throat is continuous with the back wall of the gullet or food channel. The pharynx, like the palate, is chiefly muscular in structure, and is covered by a continuation of the same lining or mucous membrane.

It is loosely attached to the spinal column, and continues upwards behind the palate until it reaches the base of the skull, when it bends forward into a vaulted roof.

EBONY USED FOR FUEL.

Ebony is being extensively used as firewood in the state of Sinaloa. At the Fundicion de Sinaloa here great supplies of ebony destined for the foundry fire boxes are to be seen. Francisco Urriolagoitia, manager of this big Mazatlan concern, states that this ebony costs 8 pesos a cord, and that as fuel it is almost the equal of coal.

At the home of Mr. Urriolagoitia here there is a beautifully polished ebony table. This was made from a log delivered as firewood at the Fundicion and later rescued by the manager.

Ebony has been used as fuel for many years at mines and sugar factories in Sinaloa. The construction of the Southern Pacific extension has opened sections where extensive supplies exist and as a result more of the timber is being marketed as firewood.

GROUNDS TO BE IMPROVED

County Board Takes Steps to Beautify the Courthouse Approach.

Settler Complains That Road Foreman Is Misusing Funds.

The grounds and the driveway immediately in front of the courthouse building will be improved.

At the meeting of the county commissioners held this morning in the board room at the courthouse, the county auditor was authorized to call for bids for the improvement of the drive and the grounds. The driveway is large, takes up much space and at present it detracts from the beauty of the building and the grounds. It is planned to put flower gardens in the center and surround them with hedges. The driveway is wide enough and it is believed that the general appearance of the building will be much improved. The resolution was introduced by Commissioner Cummings.

The grounds on which the district court building at Virginia stands, are also to be improved. The county auditor was authorized to call for bids for the work.

Outside the proposition of the improvement of the grounds there was little but routine business transacted by the board. The meeting was a short one, there were but few in attendance outside the members and it was over shortly after the noon hour.

The county auditor was authorized to call for bids for the clearing and grubbing of 3½ miles on the Graff road.

Several liquor license applications were received.

Kicks from local people were registered by letter on the condition of the Pike lake road.

John Bouska of Ely complained by letter that Edward Nixon, employed as foreman on the White Iron road, has been misappropriating the funds of the county. Bouska states that he has used the money to hire men to work on his farm instead of doing the work on the road. The matter was referred to the commissioner of the district who will report at the next meeting of the board early in July.

The county auditor was authorized to call for bids for a bridge to be built over the Little Fork river on the Wakely road.

The sum of $5,500 was appropriated out of the special road fund for the improvement of the roads in the Fourth district. The sum of $2,000 was appropriated out of the same fund for the improvement of the McQuade, Lakewood and East Duluth and Lester River roads.

SMALLPOX REAPPEARS

Period of Immunity Ended By Discovery of Three Cases.

Railroad Camp Laborers Bring the Disease to Duluth.

Following a period of half a year of practical immunity, smallpox cases are again beginning to come into the city. Within the last week three cases have been sent to the detention hospital by the health department authorities.

None of the cases were contracted inside the city limits. The three patients are laborers who have come from outside points. They were railroad laborers, but had been working in different camps. They quit their jobs when they began to feel sick and came to Duluth, where the eruptions broke out on their bodies.

Their cases were diagnosed by Dr. Murphy, who is in charge of the contagious diseases for the health department, and they were ordered sent out to the isolation hospital. They are not in a serious condition. It is stated that they will recover within a comparatively short time. The names which they gave the health department were Andrew Peterson, Carl Nygaard and Edward Flanagan.

Dr. Murphy says that smallpox is more prevalent throughout the state than is generally supposed, and that Duluth has been extremely fortunate that it has not had to care for a considerable number of smallpox patients. As a rule the men are, or claim to be, without funds, and the expense has to be borne by the city and the county, each of which foots half the bill.

POISON GETS INTO WOUND.

North Dakota Woman Has Close Call From Possible Death.

Dogden, N. D. June 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—When Mrs. Planton Evaneks, living near here mixed some gopher poison she forgot she had a sore on one of her hands. This was irritated by the poison and she came very near losing the limb, if not her life.

HUMAN FISH DOES STUNTS

Fully Clad, Sailor on Spree Swims Around in Slip.

Cold Water Doesn't Seem to Affect Him, But Police Step in.

Romeo Jensen, 21 years old, a sailor, this morning went on one of the strangest rampages as the result of a spree which has ever been reported at police headquarters.

Fully clad, including hat and shoes, he tried to imitate a fish in the slips along the coal docks on the east side of Garfield avenue. He cavorted about like a porpoise, swimming from one dock to another across the slips, diving at frequent intervals and going remarkably long distances under water.

He seemed to be as much at home in the water as a member of the finny tribe and appeared to be tireless as well as having the time of his life. The coldness of the water and his clothes apparently didn't have the slightest effect upon him. He climbed one or two docks and took some high dives, after which he clambered on board one of the big ships tied to the dock. He changed his antics and swung about on the rigging with the agility of a monkey.

Fearing that he might harm himself, some one telephoned to the police station that a man acting like a lunatic was at the coal docks. The police patrol was sent out on a hurry call. When the officers reached the dock several men were holding Jensen, who was struggling to get away. He was handcuffed and brought to the police station, where he was booked on a charge of drunkenness.

When he reached the station he seemed quite rational and declared that he had only gone in for a swim. He claimed to have been a member of the swimming school of Denmark, his home. He declared that could stay in the water all day and be none the worse. Jailer Dave Butchard supplied him with dry clothing and he will be arraigned in police court this afternoon.

STICKERS TELL OF CARNIVAL

Business Houses Doing Effective Advertising Incidental to Correspondence.

The Commercial club has received a supply of stickers advertising the water carnival, and is furnishing them to business houses for use on correspondence. The stickers have a blue background and are lettered in white, "Mid-Summer Water Carnival, July 20-21-22, 1911, Duluth. Come."

The big wholesale houses and other business houses of the city are doing their part in advertising the carnival. Thousands of the card enclosures prepared by the club have been sent out in letters from Duluth, and it is expected that many of the stickers will be used. By incidental enclosures and stickers, the business houses reach all over the country where their correspondence goes and they are doing effective work for the carnival in centers where the advertising will do the most good, the inland cities of the country.

The railroads and steamship lines are also assisting in advertising the big carnival. The railroads have been furnished with posters to be placed in their depots. The posters are attractively colored and lettered and will receive attention wherever they are placed.

STATE BANKS BEING PROBED

North Dakota Legislative Committee Looking After State Funds.

Grand Forks, N. D., June 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Investigation of several banks in the state is being conducted by the legislative committee charged with examining the state treasury, Chairman Frank E. Ployhar and Expert Devine being in Langdon, Cavalier county, for that purpose today. The examination, commenced about March 1 and covering a period of eight years back from Jan. 1 last, is dragging out to be much more of a task than originally anticipated, and it will still be some time before a report can be made. Several banks are being examined for the purpose of following up leads and various items that have been discovered by the committee.

The committee's expenses, it is understood, will be paid for easily by the money that is being recovered through the work. This cash has become available through several sources heretofore overlooked.

SOUTHWEST GETS RELIEF FROM HEAT.

Kansas City, Mo., June 7—Cooler temperatures in the Southwest this morning afforded relief from the intense heat of the last few days. The highest temperature reported was at Oklahoma City, where 78 was registered. Rains were reported from several localities in Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma. In Northeastern Oklahoma a drouth of several weeks was broken.

The Model Clothing Co. will have a money-raising sale, starting Saturday.

GLEN ULLIN, N. D., IS AFTER EXPERIMENT STATION.

Glen Ullin, N. D., June 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The establishment of a governmental dairying experimental station is the object sought by the Glen Ullin Commercial club, and for the purpose of securing the indorsement of the dairy officers working in North Dakota, State Commissioner R. F. Flint and Commissioner Pierce were called here to look over the situation. The proposition as it is hoped to be worked through provides for an expenditure of about $20,000 to establish the station.

A KING'S SHOOTING LODGE.

London World: York Cottage, Sandringham park, which is to be the king's shooting lodge, is not a very commodious house, and it bears some likeness to the letter E. In consequence it may be said to be divided into three parts connected by a crosspiece.

The central part is the loftiest, possessing three floors, while the other parts have two only. The house could be easily enlarged by prolonging the arms, and if desirable adding a second crosspiece, so that the whole block would be an oblong built round two inner courtyards, and it is probable that the king will begin some such alteration next year. York Cottage, as it now stands, was put up by King Edward as a bachelor annex to Sandringham and was added to in 1893, when the present king was about to be married. It is Elizabethian in style, with high gables and projecting windows.

NAMING THE BABY IN JAPAN.

Wide World Magazine: Such lovers of picturesque ceremonies as the Japanese do not let an important event like the naming of the baby pass without proper observance. The infant's birth is immediately announced to the relatives and friends, who hasten to send congratulations and presents. Visitors used to insist upon seeing the mother and child, but the spread of medical knowledge is gradually changing this. On the seventh day after birth the child is named. The first born son is frequently called "Ichiro," which means "First." Others, as in Latin, are named "Second," "Third," and so on. Girls are more lucky, receiving picturesque names like "Snow," "Chrysanthemum," "Glory" and the like.

THREE-CENT FARES AND RAILROAD TAXES.

Yesterday The Herald published extracts from a statement by Senator Julius A. Coller of Scott county, one of the oldest and ablest members of the Minnesota senate, effectually destroying the claim that the 2-cent passenger rate is confiscatory, as the railroads claim and as the Federal courts have held, and urging the speedy adoption at a special session of the legislature of an act increasing the gross earnings tax on railroads from 4 per cent to 5 per cent.

Though the experiences of the last session are too recent to make the idea of an extra session wholly palatable at first thought, there is a question of dollars and cents involved that will sugar coat the pill.

The railroads are now paying a tax of 4 per cent on their gross earnings. If you will figure out the taxes on your revenue-producing property you will find that you are paying much more than that—probably 8 to 12 per cent on your gross earnings.

To change the rate of railroad taxes it is necessary for the legislature to propose a law to that effect and to submit it to the people for their ratification. If the legislature at its last session had done this the law could have been ratified by the people at the 1912 election. If legislative action is postponed until the 1913 regular session the increase cannot be ratified until the 1914 election.

Two years' additional revenue would be gained by a special session.

It is worth while examining the situation to determine if it would pay to follow Senator Coller's suggestion.

In 1909 the gross earnings of the railroads on which they paid taxes was $91,014,224. One per cent on that, the amount of the proposed increase, would be $910,142 a year, or $1,820,284 for the two years that would be saved by a special session called for next winter to submit a law increasing the tax from 4 to 5 per cent.

The extra session would cost something, but it need not be long, nor unduly expensive. Even if it cost $100,000, it would be offset by a gain of a million and three quarters in state taxes; which would be a return to the people of the state, in a measure, for what the railroads are about to take from them by increasing the passenger rate from 2 cents a mile to 3 cents.

There is no question that the railroads are undertaxed. No other property in the state pays so low a tax as 4 per cent on its gross earnings. The tax commission has found that railroad property is not taxed enough, and it has so declared. In its 1911 report, after stating that railroad property is under-taxed, the commission says: "This commission does not believe that there is any good reason why railway property should not be taxed as high as other property, and if the revised estimate of the value of such property now being made by the railroad and warehouse commission shows, when completed, that railroad property is not being taxed as high as other property we recommend that the gross earnings tax be increased accordingly."

Any estimate of the value of railroad property in this state will show that it is under-taxed, whether made by the railroads or by the railroad commission. In 1906 the railroads placed a reproduction value of $495,180,630.98 on their Minnesota property.

The tax commission showed in its 1911 report that if this property were assessed at the prevailing average rates—43.48 per cent of actual value on real estate and 28 per cent on personal property—and taxed at the average rate of 25.91 mills, its taxes would amount to 6.09 per cent on the railroad gross earnings—and they are paying but 4 per cent.

An investment of $100,000 in an extra session to submit to the people a law increasing the tax rate from 4 per cent to 5 per cent would gain $1,750,000 in taxes in the two years that must elapse before it can be done at a regular session. It would, too, be a proper answer to the increase in passenger rates from 2 to 3 cents a mile.

Isn't it worth the investment, even at the discomfort of bringing the legislature together again? Isn't it, in deed, an absolute necessity?

THE WEST FAVORS RECIPROCITY.

The Chicago Tribune has completed a poll of the newspapers in twenty-two states of the central, western, southwestern, northwestern and Pacific divisions on the question of approving the reciprocity agreement negotiated with Canada by President Taft.

The vote was overwhelmingly in favor of the ratification of the agreement. Answers were received from 4,303 newspapers, of which 4,240 were definite. Of these 3,113 were in favor of the agreement and only 1,127 were against it. In but one state—North Dakota—was there a majority against the treaty. There it was 66 for and 122 against.

The vote by states was as follows, the first figure in each case being for and the second against: California, 182 to 26; Colorado, 96 to 16; Idaho, 44 to 19; Illinois, 311 to 86; Indiana, 233 to 26; Iowa, 248 to 160; Kansas, 176 to 66; Michigan, 185 to 68; Minnesota, 178 to 125; Montana, 32 to 20; Missouri, 212 to 72; Nebraska, 178 to 60; Nevada, 7 to 2; North Dakota, 66 to 122; Ohio, 331 to 51; Oklahoma, 194 to 47; Oregon, 63 to 13; South Dakota, 99 to 76; Utah, 11 to 3; Washington, 76 to 15; Wisconsin, 177 to 46; Wyoming, 14 to 8; total, 3,113 to 1,127.

Inquiry was made, of course, without regard to the politics of the newspapers. Of the 4,303 newspapers that replied, 1,393 were Republican, 628 Democratic, 1,065 independent, and 1,212 did not state their politics. Many of those recorded against the treaty said they would favor it conditionally—as, for instance, if the farmer's free list bill should pass.

It is fair to say that on the whole these newspapers reflect the sentiment of the territory in which they circulate. It has been charged that support of the Canadian reciprocity treaty comes largely from city dailies. These figures are a complete answer to that charge. For instance, 306 Minnesota newspapers answered the inquiry, and there are but half a dozen city dailies in Minnesota; the 300 are rural dailies and weeklies.

In the territory covered by the Tribune's inquiry lie the states in which there has been reported the greatest opposition to the ratification of the treaty—states largely represented in congress by so-called Republican "progressives" who have stultified themselves by opposing this first and most promising attack on the schedules of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law, against which they were lately launching their oratorical thunders. In these states—Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota and Wisconsin—the vote was 1,154 in favor of the treaty and 675 against it. This is nearly two to one in support of reciprocity.

Says the Tribune: "The newspapers, daily and weekly, which give the verdict are representative of public opinion. They are safe guides to the sentiments of the localities in which they circulate. The weekly papers outnumber the dailies in the proportion of eight to one, and it may be assumed safely that the poll is an expression of agricultural as well as urban sentiment. It has been represented that the general if not universal sentiment of the farmers of the great agricultural states was against reciprocity—an argument which the poll destroys. It gives basis for the statement of friends of the agreement who said that the granges in their opposition do not represent truly the sentiment of the farming districts and that the anti-reciprocity campaign conducted in the agricultural districts was fostered by the 'interests.'"

It has already been shown, by the confession of the "attorneys" who represent the granges in their fight against reciprocity, that the organized opposition is financed by interests outside of agriculture. The Tribune's poll shows why it was necessary to get this outside aid, as the exposure of the delegation of "farmers" from Minnesota that appeared against the treaty in Washington showed how little interest the real Minnesota farmer takes in the crusade against the treaty.

VANISHING BARRIERS OF BIGOTRY.

The splendid tribute paid yesterday to Cardinal Gibbons at Baltimore on the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ascension to the prelacy which he adorns was a fine thing to see for more than one reason. For one reason, Cardinal Gibbons's broad-guaged citizenship richly entitles him to the honor. For another reason, yesterday's tribute was a fine thing because it shows what a far cry it is from today back to the days of bigotry when men in public life deemed it political wisdom to harbor prejudice against the oldest and greatest Christian church organization in the world.

Among those in public life who spoke in heartfelt eulogy of this great man were President Taft, Vice President Sherman, Former President Roosevelt, Ambassador Bryce of Great Britain, Speaker Clark, Senator Root, Governor Crothers of Maryland and Former Speaker Cannon. Among those who participated in the tribute by their attendance were Chief Justice White of the supreme court and more than twenty senators and representatives.

It was a notable honor to one who deserves it well, and it is a credit to the nation that it has risen so far above the petty bigotries of the past.

THE ROOT AMENDMENT.

The Root amendment to the Canadian reciprocity treaty, which it is said the senate committee on finance will adopt by a vote of 10 to 7, is not so bad in itself. What makes it bad is that any amendment is bad because it prejudices the prospects of this most desirable agreement between the two countries.

The Root amendment simply leaves it to the president to make the treaty applicable to paper products when he is satisfied that American paper products are admitted free of duty to all Canadian provinces. This country exports few paper products or materials to Canada, and will export less. The time is coming when Canada will be this country's chief source of these commodities, and it is essential that arrangements be made now to get them on reasonable terms.

But the Root amendment hurts the chances of the treaty in two ways: first, because it opens the door to worse amendments, many of which are pending; second, because it involves the delicate question of the power of the dominion government to dictate to provincial governments—which is about parallel with our national government's relation to matters which are absolutely in the control of the states.

For these reasons, whatever the action of the committee the senate should reject all amendments and ratify the treaty as it came from the president and the house.

MUNICIPAL GARBAGE COLLECTION.

For some time the city has been experimenting with municipal garbage collection. The experiment has demonstrated these essential facts: that city garbage collection is cleaner and better and more thorough than private garbage collection; that it gives the city a better chance to see to it that all garbage is properly cared for; that the city can do it as cheap as if not cheaper than individuals, as well as better; and that it can be done not only without cost to the city, but actually at a profit.

The one garbage wagon operated by the city in the downtown district has not only paid its way, but in one year has practically repaid the original cost of horse and wagon out of profits.

If there is any reason remaining why the city should not take over the collection of garbage it is not discernible.

MORE PAY FOR POSTMASTERS.

The postoffice department yesterday announced many increases in the pay of postmasters, including many in the Northwest. That's very good. We are always glad to see anybody doing better. Postmasters' salaries are graded according to the business they do. When business increases salaries increase. That's a very agreeable system, and it would be well if it applied to more occupations.

What of the minor employes in the classified list? Are their salaries increasing, too? We don't hear so much about that, maybe because postmasterships are still powerful factors in politics. Minor employes ought to benefit as well as postmasters. It is more important that they should because there are so many more of them.

The government ought to set a good example in this matter of fair pay to employes. Now that the deficit has been obliterated, the department is talking about penny postage. First, however, it should see to it that all of its employes are getting living wages. Then it can take up penny postage with good heart.

THE REAL PURPOSE

By the Carnival Publicity Committee.

To help start Duluth as the summer resort of the Middle West is the real purpose of the Midsummer Water Carnival. It is purely a business purpose. Duluth's ablest business men are behind it. The carnival with its splendid water sports and beautiful night scenes will be a delight to Duluthians and to visitors. It is tempting bait to attract outside people to Duluth.

Once here we can win them if we will. During their visit they will read of heat prostrations and sizzling temperatures of 95 to 105 deg. at their home cities—Chicago, Kansas City, St. Louis, Des Moines, Omaha. They will write home in praise of Duluth's sunny refreshing July days. To sleep comfortably breathing fresh cool air in July and August is not a homelike experience to sons of Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Missouri and Nebraska. From the stifling sleepless nights of home, Duluth will seem an oasis of wonderful relief.

There are probably other elements necessary to the success of a summer resort aside from climate. Natural beauty and equipment for the amusement and housing of guests are needed. Duluth has been generously endowed by nature. What man-made fittings she needs can be purchased. Duluth is not poor. But the vital element needed for a summer recreation place is summer climate. Duluth's summer weather offers an opportunity for popularity and riches that we cannot afford to miss.

The Midsummer Water Carnival is Duluth's first definite answer to the knock of summer resort opportunity at her door.

It is well that all Duluthians shall understand the exact meaning of the carnival. It is a progressive movement toward a Greater Duluth.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. BETTER A NORTHEASTER THAN 108 IN SHADE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I just finished reading what you newspaper men call a "story" about the sun setting fire to a box of matches in a Kansas City man's home. If a garden hose had not been readily available, the house would have burned down. It was indeed some hot in Kansas City, Mo.

I read a few days ago that, while Duluthians were enjoying the cool, refreshing breezes off of Lake Superior and were wondering whether they were going to be able to "take 'em off" at all this year, Pittsburgh, Kan., had a touch of summer weather that sent the mercury to 108 deg. in the shade.

We of Duluth are not thankful enough for our weather. We rail at the weather man because winter is prolonged and because spring is an abnormal period, but we don't know how blessed we are. Give me a good old Lake Superior northeaster with the mercury down around the freezing point in preference to a temperature of 108 in the shade. In fact, I'll take 20 deg. below zero before I would voluntarily endure the heat that will set a box of matches on fire in my home.

Duluth's weather is the greatest advertising asset the city has. Let us be thankful for it, and let's spread the good news. L. C. R.

Duluth, June 7.

Five Dollars a Week.

Thus it is down on Beelzebub's books:
"August the seventeenth — Isabel Brooks;
Blonde; splendid figure; big, violet eyes;
Dimples; fair coloring; feet of small size;
Home in the country; her parents quite poor;
Character excellent; morals still pure;
Came to the city today and found work;
Wages $5; department store clerk."

Wages $5! To last seven days;
Three for a miserable hall room she pays;
Two nickels daily the street car receives;
One dollar-forty for eating, that leaves.
One-forty has such a long ways to reach—
Twenty-one banquets at 7 cents each.
There! Every penny of wages has been spent—
Squandered for feasting and riding and rent.
Spendthrift! She doesn't remember life's ills!
How in the world will she pay doctor's bills?
What if she's furloughed (there's always a chance);
Isabel ought to save up in advance.

Hold! We've not mentioned her clothes; she must wear
Dresses, hats, shoes, stockings, ribbons for hair—
How did she get them? Suppose that we stop;
Perhaps it's as well if we let the thing drop.
Your good math'maticians may figure it out;
It's a matter of figures or figure, no doubt.

Carry this picture, it's better, I'm sure:
"Character excellent, morals still pure?"
What else is written, we won't try to see;
Beelzebub thinks much the same way as we.
Why, as I live! There's a tear in his eye!
What in hell can make Beelzebub cry?
Surely the devil is feeling his age;
Look what he's writing on Isabel's page:
"Virtue's a luxury hard to afford
When a girl hasn't money enough for her board."

—Herbert Kaufman, in Woman's World.

The Next Senate.

Mark Sullivan in Collier's: Will the Democrats win the next senate? They now control the lower house, and are making a record likely to commend them to the country. The tariff reduction measures which are passed by a Democratic lower house will be defeated by a Republican senate; this process is likely to be repeated frequently during the coming year, at the very time when primaries and elections are taking place which will determine the complexion of the next senate. The effect of this spectacle on public opinion can not fail to be powerful. The senate is now made up as follows:

Democrats, 42; Republican standpatters, 39; Republican progressives, 13.

During the next two years, thirty-one vacancies will occur and be filled, some of them as early as September. The vacancies will be:

Democrats, 13—Bacon, Georgia; Bailey, Texas; Bankhead, Alabama; Davis, Arkansas; Foster, Louisiana; Martin, Virginia; Owen, Oklahoma; Paynter, Kentucky; Percy, Mississippi; Watson, West Virginia; Simmons, North Carolina; Taylor, Tennessee; Tillman, South Carolina.

Republicans, 18—Borah, Idaho; Bourne, Oregon; Briggs, New Jersey; Brown, Nebraska; Burnham, New Hampshire; Crane, Massachusetts; Cullom, Illinois; Curtis, Kansas; Warren, Wyoming; Dixon, Montana; Frye, Maine; Gamble, South Dakota; Guggenheim, Colorado; Wetmore, Rhode Island; Kenyon, Iowa; Nelson, Minnesota; Richardson, Delaware; Smith, Michigan.

It is generally conceded that the Democrats will be successful in all their thirteen vacancies with the possible exception of Watson of West Virginia. In order to gain control of the senate they must in addition win five Republican seats; the ones that are most vulnerable are supposed to be Briggs, New Jersey; Brown, Nebraska; Gamble, South Dakota; Guggenheim, Colorado; Cullom, Illinois; Frye, Maine. In the case of Curtis of Kansas, it is probable that a Republican will be returned, but not Curtis. Kansas is too definitely progressive to fail to send an insurgent to the senate.

RECIPROCITY.

That "Farmer" Delegation.

Hutchinson Leader: To one who is acquainted with the personnel of the "farmers" delegation which went to Washington last week to protest against the adoption of the Canadian reciprocity treaty, the situation seems peculiar. The delegation was headed by Henry Freig, an employe of the state railroad and warehouse commission, with P. V. Collins of the Northwestern Agriculturist as his right bower. Then came Col. R. A. Wilkinson, a self-styled "farmer-lawyer," whatever that means, who is best known in Minnesota from his intimate association as intermediary between the Great Northern railway and the state legislature. There is no doubt that the farmers of Minnesota are to a large extent opposed to the reciprocity treaty, but that they would send a committee to represent their interests so peculiarly made up as this one was does not seem probable. The opposition of farmers to the treaty to some extent is justified, but it is difficult to reconcile their opposition with some of the support they are receiving. It is particularly significant that the American Protective Tariff league, the organization of the protected manufacturing interests which has fathered every robber tariff law enacted in this country in its history, is also bending every energy to defeat the adoption of the treaty.

Beats Barnum.

Sauk Rapids Sentinel: The editor of a Minneapolis agricultural paper euchred a lot of farmers into following him down to Washington the other day to make a grand stand play against reciprocity before President Taft and the senate finance committee. He got about as far with his "big hit" as a small boy tosses that well-known bull by the tail. But think of the pull Mr. Editor can work up with the unsuspecting farmers. Talk about the farmer being the "fall guy" in the Canadian reciprocity—how about this "personally conducted" humbug tour "on to Washington." This Minneapolis farmer editor sure has something on P. T. Barnum.

Enough Said.

Perham Enterprise: Senator Nelson is opposed to Canadian reciprocity. So is Joe Cannon and his stand-pat associates. Enough said.

A Well-Deserved Grilling.

Princeton Union: One P. V. Collins, who went down to Washington as spokesman for a delegation of Minnesota "farmers" to oppose the reciprocity agreement, was subjected to a well-deserved grilling by the senate committee. It seems that Collins was instrumental in getting this delegation of "farmers" together, and placed himself at its head so that he might go to Washington and parade his self-importance—he was anxious to get into the limelight. But when the senate committee discovered that there was not a farmer in the delegation it gave the upstart a roasting he will not soon forget.

A Laughing Stock.

Elk River Star-News: That "farmer" delegation that went to Washington to protest against the reciprocity agreement is the laughing stock of the state. They were lead by the editor of an agricultural paper and there was not a real farmer among them.

Why?

Albert Lea Standard: If the interests opposing reciprocity are truly such great friends of the farmers as they loudly proclaim, why are they so silent and fail to show any desire to pass the farmers' free list bill which would take the tax burdens off nearly everything the farmers use?

Slaves of the Neighborhood.

Chicago Evening Post: The woman who keeps the delicatessen store gets up at 4:30 o'clock in the morning. During the summer months she closes her place at 10. She wouldn't have to get up so early in the morning but for the fact that her patrons insist upon having "home-made bread." That is, bread baked in her home. They find it too hot to have the work done in theirs and "bakers' bread" they "cannot endure." The woman who keeps the delicatessen store closes late in the summer because, owing to the long evenings, "trade" still shows a languid movement up to 10 o'clock.

The druggist on the corner opens his store at 7 o'clock and closes it between 10 and 11. It is a day of from fifteen to sixteen hours. His clerks help him to shorten it somewhat, but all hands have to be on hand for the soda fountain trade in the afternoon and evening, and the hours pass the twelve mark for all concerned.

The neighborhood tailor, too, is busy. Light summer clothes need constant attention and quick work. Everything wilts on days like these and the tailor is the man who keeps the neighborhood freshened up. He may be seen at work as early as 6 in the morning. Not infrequently he may be seen sponging, cleaning, pressing—sometimes, though rarely, sewing—when the late domestic delegations sent out for a "brick" of ice cream about half past ten are hastening home.

It doesn't improve matters much that these long hours are given with apparent cheerfulness. It doesn't help any that when these trades people are compelled to close early for lack of trade they mourn. The fact is that our homes are hard-driving bosses. The man and woman who serve our home life have to give up much of their own home life to do so. How many of us see in sympathy, sometimes in social indignation, the hardships of every neighborhood but our own?

The thing is wrong. Sometimes it is argued that the trades which serve the neighborhood get a certain compensation—such as quiet and freedom from gang routine. But that is a small argument. The truth is that much of this labor is wholly needless, and, like most wasteful labor, the product of carelessness and lack of thought.

The Republican Awakening.

Indianapolis News: The Washington dispatches indicate that the Republicans—or at least some of them—have at last come to the conclusion that their old reliance, namely, the Democratic capacity for blundering, is likely to fail them. Of course, no one can tell what may happen tomorrow or the next day or the day after. But ever since the session opened the Republicans have been waiting for the Democrats to make fools of themselves and they are evidently weary of their vigil. The program which has been put through, and so far without a slip, is indeed remarkable. The rules of the house have been revised and, what is even more important, the new rules have worked well. That of itself is a most important item in the program. The house has passed the resolution providing for the direct election of senators, the campaign publicity bill, the reapportionment bill, the bill admitting New Mexico and Arizona, the Canadian reciprocity bill, the farmers' free list bill and—practically—the wool schedule bill. Meanwhile the Republican senate has done nothing.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

•••Capt. Alexander McDougall has returned from an Eastern trip and yesterday he witnessed the launching of the propeller A. D. Thomson at the yard of the American Steel Barge company. She is the thirteenth vessel and the fourth steamer of the "whaleback" fleet. Mr. Thomson is one of the few men who believed in Capt. McDougall's patent four years ago and who were willing to back the inventor with hard cash, and the boat which is launched today is therefore more to him than the general run of vessels turned out from his yard.

•••J. K. Redington, a prominent land attorney of Washington, D. C., arrived in the city yesterday to appear in the contest case of Thomas Hyde, Angus McDonald and twelve others vs. Emil Hartmann et al, before the local land office. Mr. Redington, who has represented Duluth parties in this and other cases before the general land office, appears for the Minnesota Iron company's interests.

•••William Spencer has returned from La Prairie and will open a drug store on the corner of Central and Grand avenues, West Duluth.

•••Albert Smith, cashier of the Montana National bank at Helena, is visiting his brother, Harvey P. Smith, at West Duluth.

•••Henry Jacobs and family, who have lived at West Duluth for the past eight months, left yesterday for Cleveland, Ohio, where they will make their home.

•••A. M. Chisholm of Ely, bookkeeper for the Chandler Iron company, passed through the city yesterday for Chippewa Falls, Wis., where he is to be married to a leading society young lady of that city.

•••Samuel C. Miller of Duluth and Miss Emily A. Marshall, daughter of W. K. Reynolds, provincial treasurer of Nova Scotia, were married on June 4 in Andrew Presbyterian church at Minneapolis by Rev. W. M. Kincaid.

•••Rev. Augustus H. Carver, for four years pastor of the Presbyterian church at Tower, has resigned to accept the pastorate of the Lakeside Presbyterian church.

•••Benjamin Gillet returned a few days ago from his winter home in Florida and will remain here during the summer.

•••An old time Duluthian, G. W. Barager, who at the time the center of the city was at Fourth avenue east was a member of the firm of Barager & Potter, located in the Ray building at the East end, is visiting here.

•••L. A. Codding left yesterday for Trinidad, Colo., where on June 15 he will be married to Mrs. Anna Hatch of Buffalo.

•••Mrs. M. R. Gilbert of New London has been called to Chicago by the death of a near relative.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Doctor's Daughter—Indeed he would. He said that he would operate on you any time free of charge.

Harper's Weekly: "Did Hawkins take his punishment like a man?" asked Lollery.

"You bet he did," laughed Dubbleigh. "He hollered and yelled and used strong language to beat creation."

Youth's Companion: "Dear teacher," wrote little Edith's mother, "please excuse Edith for not coming to school yesterday, as she fell in the gutter. By doing the same you will greatly oblige her mother."

Punch: Street corner lounger (to fellow)—I'm orfen thankful I ain't a copper. Must be a tejious life 'angin abaht an' loiterin'.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch: Coddle—I see the Sphinx has finally given up his secret.

Coddle—Great Scott! Do you think a woman could have kept a secret all this time?

Youngstown Telegram: Gadsby limped painfully off the polished dance floor. "It's all right about this 'rings on my fingers,'" he exclaimed, "but hang me if I can stand for the 'belles on my toes!'"

Chicago Daily Socialist: Bobbie saw some puppies for sale. "How much are they, Mr. Brown?" he politely asked.

"Two dollars apiece," replied Brown.

"But I don't want a piece—I want a whole dog," explained Bobbie.

Judge: "Those who dance have to pay the fiddler."

"Who pays the rest of the orchestra, pa?"

Life: 'Wasn't the orchestra too loud for the voices, aunt?"

"No; I heard you distinctly all through the opera."

The Sketch: The First Worker—Manner born be blowed! D'joo mean ter say if me an' you come into a bit o' splosh we couldn't keep our ends up with these 'ere dooks and people?

His Doubting Friend—Oh, we should be orlright; but our missuses 'd give the game away, yer know.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Chicago News: It's easy to call the turn if a man is a crank.

Some people seem to enjoy telling hard luck stories.

A yellow cur may be brave, but his color is against him.

Women want to be flattered; men want to flatter themselves.

Women frequently go up into the air when they jump at conclusions.

Just because a woman has but little to say is no sign she doesn't talk a lot.

If all flesh is grass, a bibulous man in a dry town must feel like a bale of hay.

When poverty comes in at the front door it's up to love to get out and hustle for a job.

A vocal teacher cultivates your voice, if you have one—otherwise he oultivates your imagination.

It's a wonder that more men are not round shouldered from carrying such big opinions of themselves.

A man can enjoy visiting his wife's relatives by thinking how pleasant home will seem when he gets back.

It's easy for a woman to get caught in a shower without an umbrella—and that is all the excuse she needs for getting a new hat.

Reflections of a Barcheler.

New York Press: The balder a man can get, the more pride he can take in his mustache.

When a man can't resist writing insane letters it's a sign it's a love affair.

Fighting seems to be perfectly respectable when it's in the church choir.

Tell a girl what lovely eyes she has and she'll know you mean mouth, teeth, complexion and hair, too.

Some men seem to think they're mighty devoted to their wives if they see them for a miuute at breakfast.

"No Wenuses."

Chicago Tribune: The sentimental adventures of Mr. Tomy Foulkes, the Danbury, Iowa, farmer who is prosecuting a fair enchantress and her brother, contain a rebuke to many notable persons. Mr. Fulkes, pictured as a gentleman of bucolic artlessness, wrote love letters with a dignified and restrained hand. Let Harry Thurston Peck and other victims of ardor look at this and wish that so safe a guardian had watched their emotions:

"Dear Madam—I heard that your uncle was very sick and we wanted to hear how he was. I am hauling fodder all day. Clara has a new beau. Amy still goes with hers. Our pigs are still dying.—Tommy."

Nothing in that to cause Mr. Foulkes to feel a sinking in the pit of his stomach as it comes coyly into court; nothing in that to make it look like a oold, sick pancake which last year had been hot on the griddle, but now presents a soggy, terrifying appearance; nothing in that to make Mr. Foulkes wish that the too, too solid floors would open about an inch and drop him through.

Mr. Foulkes is able to look at that letter and regret the dying pigs, but not the dignified tenderness. No spilling of the emotions here. From "Dear Madam" to "Tommy" it stands up unabashed and unshaming. The writer can look at it with a clear eye and, with unflushed cheek, confess his authorship.

"Dear Madam"—another illustration of perfect epistolary amativeness—"How are you feeling now? Do you still have those pains? You ought to go to the country. We have twenty little pigs. Received draft from your brother.—Tommy."

Nothing to rattle the skeleton of a dead affection here—only a cheerful picture of the innocent young pigs and a pleasing solicitude for the health of the beloved. A safe and sane letter writer was Mr. Foulkes.

"Wot I like in that 'ere style of writin'," said the elder Mr. Weller, "is that there ain't no callin' o' names in it—no Wenuses, nor nothin' o' that kind. Wot's the good o' callin' a young 'ooman a Wenus or a angel, Sammy?"

Wages and Sin.

Boston Traveler: "If you want to stamp out sin, give the worker a decent wage." So spoke the Rev. John Haynes Holmes of New York, delivering a sermon in Dorchester last Sunday.

The idea is rather startling to one who hasn't given much thought to the relation of economics and morals. We are quite familiar with the Biblical truth that "the wages of sin is death," but most of us haven't considered sins as the product of low wages. Seeing "Pittsburg millionaires" and gilded youths of the "second generation" run the gamut of vicious indulgence, we are likely to conclude that money, rather than the lack of it, is the root of all evil. Wherefore it may be worth while to quote some more of the Rev. Mr. Holmes' sermon.

"Sin is mostly the result of misery. Misery is mostly the result of poverty. The antidote of poverty is a livable income.

"Society is not only grinding men to death physically, but it is grasping their souls.

"God intended every man to have economic freedom, light and air to protect him from disease, and plenty of individualism; but society decrees against this. You have got to grapple with society and sin will not disappear until you have cleansed it.

"We may think we are individuals now, but we are not. No preacher ever said falser words than when he said that we are leading a life as we ourselves make it.

"Individuals are members of an organism. The individual has nothing to do with how he shall live. The very clothes he wears, the very air he breathes, the very things he eats, and even the life he lives, are what society lets him have and live.

"A new rule, however, is coming into the world. It is going to establish itself in the hearts of men outside of the church as well as in. The significance of this new religion, I hope, is to be the individuality of men and women and the salvation of the individual man."

A unusual sort of sermon, to be sure, and maybe false doctrine; but at any rate, it's good food for thought.

The Pith of the Trust Decisions.

Cleveland Leader: Wall street showed yesterday how ridiculous the tales told by yellow newspapers were when they said that "big business" had obtained just what it wanted in the tobacco case. And eminent lawyers not without distinction in the muckraking field, such as Louis Brandeis, for example, have come to the conclusion that the action of the supreme court in the tobacco case goes far beyond the ground it took in the Standard Oil decision.

The more the country studies the trust situation, in the light of the supreme court's decisions in two great cases disposed of within a fortnight, the more thoroughly it will be convinced that the Sherman anti-trust law has been given new vitality and usefulness and that real progress, of the utmost importance, has been made in approaching the most equitable and practical settlement of the trust question. Boiled down to its essence, the action taken in the trust cases serves notice on "big business" that it may do these things:

Grow to undefined if not unlimited size;

Prosper as much as it can;

Build up vast and complicated organizations—

Provided, always, that it shall not, in fact or in purpose, do these things:

Smother competition;

Restrict trade;

Take unfair advantage;

Use unlawful methods;

Strive to establish monopolies.

In fact, the position taken by the highest court in the country is that great industrial and commercial organizations must play the game fairly, honorably, lawfully and aboveboard or else get out of business. That is good sense and good morals. The country is glad to believe that so adaptable, flexible, workable a rule of conduct is sound law.

Potato Hill Philosophy.

E. W. Howe's Monthly: A certain woman who is scrawny is always wearing low-neck dresses, whereas her sister, who is plump, never wears them. "You have talent," the scrawny sister often says to the fat one, "but make no use of it."

A woman I know has a wide range in taste. Her first husband was a preacher and her second a barkeeper.

A man who occupies a prominent position has a chance to make an ass of himself every day.

You often hear married women say; "I was married at 16." But I never knew a girl to marry at 16. Did you?

Any one with a little money is nearly always a little offensive with it.

I am 58 years old, and I never know more than half a dozen women who acted natural.

When a man likes gossip he is the worst kind.

The most forlorn-looking object in this world is a man guest around the house in the daytime.

I would rather live my life with its few joys and many disappointments than go through life as a telegraph pole. I am glad I have enthusiasm and intensely admire a great many things, as I intensely dislike others.

Ever remark how the patience of a 15-year-old girl is sorely tried by her mother?

Any woman who will keep quiet can get the reputation of having good manners

SELL YOUR LAWN MOWER AND BUY GUINEA PIGS

A very curious and most successful experiment is being made on a number of private lawns in England and is about to be tried by a golf club in the neighborhood of Greenhithe. The idea is the novel one of substituting the guinea pig for the mowing machine and the weed-killer, and some Duluthians afflicted with the "yellow peril of the lawn" may be interested in it.

Round the lawn is arranged a low wire barrier, and into the enclosure are turned a number of guinea pigs; or better, a passage is made from their hutch to the lawn. The animals at once attack all the worst weeds—the plantains first, then the dandelions and daisies. These broad-leaved plants, which no mowing machine will touch, are killed by the persistent cutting of the guinea pig's teeth.

When they have finished the weeds, which are broad-leaved and succulent they proceed to the grass. In a very short time the lawn looks as if it had been cut by the very closest machine. No harm is done to the grass, it is said.

CIVIL SERVICE MEN AT MADISON

Half Million Employes Represented at National Meeting.

Madison, Wis., June 7.—The spread of the merit system as applied to governmental employes was discussed at the National Assembly of Civil Service Commissioners, whose fourth biennial meeting began here today.

Delegates from the United States and several state, county and city commissions and representing a total of about 500,000 employes were present. They were welcomed by Col. Duncan McGregor, private secretary to Governor McGovern. Joseph C. Mason, secretary of the Illinois civil service commission and president of the national assembly, reviewed the progress of the last year.

FINED $25 FOR DRINKS ON TRAIN

Minneapolis Man Is First St. Paul Victim of New Law.

St. Paul, Minn., June 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first conviction in St. Paul under the law passed by the last legislature making it a misdemeanor to drink liquor publicly on a railroad train, was recorded in police court this morning.

Frank Loni of Minneapolis boarded the Twilight limited of the Omaha road in his home town last night, armed with a flask of whisky, and took liberal "swigs" from it en route to St. Paul. At the Union depot here Conductor Kelly placed him under arrest and turned him over to Patrolman Daly of the St. Paul force. Judge Hanft imposed a $25 fine.

Besides making it a misdemeanor to "tank up" on a train, the law provides a penalty for any train officials who fail to enforce it.

DIOCESE OF DULUTH MEETS AT BRAINERD

About Seventy-Five Lay and Clerical Delegates Present; Dr. Ryan Preaches.

Brainerd, Minn., June 7.—(Special to The Herald.) — The Duluth diocesan convention of the Episcopal church began at 10 a. m. today at St. Paul's church with about seventy-five lay and clerical delegates present. Rev. Dr. Ryan of St. Paul's church, Duluth, preached the opening sermon following communion. Last evening the visitors were entertained informally at the Commercial club. Among the delegates who were first to arrive yesterday were: Rev. Albert W. Ryan, D. C. L., rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church of Duluth and his assistant, Rev. Mr. Reade; Bishop James Dow Morrison of Duluth; George H. Crosby, a prominent lay delegate of Duluth; Archdeacon Parshall of Cass Lake; Rev. A. W. Farnum of St. Cloud; Rev. T. C. Hudson of Painesville; Rev. S. L. Mitchell of Sauk Center and Rev. J. G. Larsen of St. Cloud.

BRAINERD BREWSTERS TO PLAY CUYUNA NINE.

Brainerd, Minn., June 7.—(Special to The Herald.) — The Cuyuna baseball team has arranged a game with the Brainerd Brewsters on Sunday afternoon and a large crowd is expected. Cuyuna is an excellent team and is backed by the whole town. The last game they had with Aitkin the fans got a special train from the Soo to carry the Cuyuna people to Aitkin. Brainerd recently defeated the crack Royalton team by the score of 3 to 1.

TENNIS FOR CITY PARKS

Duluthian Suggests That Courts Be Made on Public Property.

Park Policemen Could Take Charge—Expense Would Be Light.

"I believe that the park board should establish tennis courts in several of the parks and squares of the city where topography will permit without too much preliminary work," said a Duluth citizen this morning.

"For instance," he continued, "they could be put in Portland Square, Lester park or Lincoln park at very little expense. The ground is level enough in many places to be used for that purpose. The park policemen could have charge of the courts and put the grounds in condition. About the only expense would be the cost of the nets. I have seen the tennis courts conducted by park boards in other cities, and they have been extremely popular. The demand for them has steadily increased, and on pleasant days they have been crowded with old and young players. In some places the demand has been so strong that more courts have been added, and still more were requested.

"Tennis is one of the healthiest outdoor sports in existence. It is also one of the cleanest games, and can be played by all, men or women, old and young. There is no danger of injury to a player and the theory is not too difficult of understanding, although it takes years of practice to become an expert.

"Many cities also have municipal golf courses, and such a course might be laid out in the additions to Lester or Chester parks, although that would be more expense."

JUSTICE WEDDINGS VOID.

Ruling of Court in Chicago Causes Consternation.

Chicago, June 7.—The marriage problem as it exists in certain aspects in Chicago came into more than the usual June time prominence when, while one judge was announcing that in his opinion many thousands of weddings of the immediate past were illegal and void, another was hearing how a man applied for a peddler's license, was given a marriage license instead, and was married before he knew what was going on.

Municipal Judge Stewart threw consternation into the thousands of new homes that have been created through the "marriage parlor" conducted in the county building by Justice of Peace William Stacey of Evanston, who has been criticized in connection with so-called child marriages the last week and who was ousted from the county building. The judge volunteered an opinion from the bench that Stacey had no legal right to marry anyone in Chicago, being a justice from outside of Chicago. Since justices were abolished in the city in 1906, the court said, none of the weddings the justice officiated at were of legal standing, and would have to be done all over again.

Didn't Know It.

At the same time Philip Fishmin was was telling Judge Cooper how he was married without knowing it, he wanted the marriage dissolved. He said he inquired of a clerk in the county's office for a peddler's license. With him was a young woman, a friend. He was handed a slip of paper, he said, and taken with the girl to Justice Stacey's "parlor." He told the court he thought he was swearing to something on the permit when he and the girl said the customary "I do." Later on he found he had a wife. They tried to make the best of it, he said, but it was not a success during the year of trial.

Sheriff Michael Zimmer came to the aid of Dan Cupid, however, and is enlising the aid of all Cook county judges in providing June with all the wedding facilities lost otherwise. He has asked them to meet him and hear a proposition that they all agree to perform marriages free of charge for those desiring their services.

HEROISM IN LIGHTHOUSE.

Story of Death and Courage Comes From Brittany Coast.

Paris, June 7.—The attention of the French government has been called to a dramatic incident demonstrating the faithfulness to duty of the family in charge of Kerdonle lighthouse, on the southeast point of Belle-Ile-En-Mer, a wind-swept spot on the Brittany coast.

Matelot, the keeper of the light, while cleaning the revolving lamp, was stricken with illness. He continued his work until he was carried by his wife in a dying condition to his bed. The woman was unable to abandon her post or her four young children to seek help.

As dusk came on, she mounted the tower to light the lamp and returned just in time to hear husband's dying words. One of the children discovered that the light was not turning and the woman, realizing the danger of disaster to mariners who might mistake Kerdonis for other fixed lights, worked vainly for an hour to repair the mechanism. Finally she set the two eldest children, aged 7 and 10, to work, and throughout the night, with a fierce storm raging, they turned the heavy lamp with their puny strength.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

At the Empress.

The bill of vaudeville which is being presented at the Empress this week is giving great satisfaction and is considered by many as being one of the best that has ever appeared in this theater. The feature attraction for the week is Bud Snyder, who has been called the world's greatest cyclist. The feats performed by this daring young man are extremely hazardous and original. The fact that his tricks are original and away from the conventional is a big boost for his act but those who have seen him this week are amazed at the wonderful feats he performs. It is doubtful if a better written and better presented sketch than "On a Side Street," has ever visited the Empress. The characters are true to life and the sketch tells its little story in a natural and pleasing manner and running throughout the entire piece is a vein of comedy that is delightful. Every member of the cast is a finished performer and Joseph Creaghan as Clancy, the janitor, is exceptionally clever and comes in for a large share of the applause.

PAROLE BOARD MEETS.

Thirteen Applications Are Granted at Stillwater.

St. Paul, Minn., June 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new state board of parole, created by the last session of the legislatutre, has been holding its first session at the state's prison this week. P. M. Ringdal, chairman of the board is absent, but Warden Wolfer and the Rev. S. G. Smith, the other two members have acted without him. Forty applicants for parole were heard Monday and thirteen paroles granted. Forty-three applicants were heard yesterday.

The meetings of the board are executive, as were those of the board of control that sat to hear such matters before. No attorney or friend of an applicant is heard by the board under any circumstances. The prisoners asking for parole or discharge stand on their records in private life and in prison. Only a small percentage of those seeking parole are successful on their first effort.

ASHLAND MAN PERISHED.

Articles From Body Picked Up Below Niagara Falls Prove t.

Ashland, Wis., June 7.—The identification of the piece of a collar and portion of a shoe taken from a body found in the Niagara river below the big falls recently established that the dead was John Fay, a former local business man. The shoe contained the name of LaFonde, Ashland, Wis., and the collar a laundry mark. The portion of the shoe was identified by D. J. LaFonde as belonging to a pair that his books showed were sold to John Fay last December.

NAT GOODWIN SUES FOR PRE-NUPTIAL GIFTS.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 7.—Just before the files of the superior court docket closed late yesterday, attorneys representing Nat Goodwin, the actor, filed suit to recover from Edna Goodrich, his divorced wife, stocks, bonds and real estate valued at more than $250,000.

The amount sought represents the sum transferred to Miss Goodrich in a pre-nuptial agreement signed in May, 1908, six months prior to the marriage of the two, which occurred in November of the same year.

Goodwin avers that when the agreement was made he was the husband of Maxine Elliott, and that it is therefore void.

BRAINERD CONTRACT LET.

Brainerd, Minn., June 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ritari Brothers got the contract to do the cement paving on Third avenue northeast, at 84½ cents per yard. Other bidders were J. F. Vaughn, Everett & Hitch, of Brainerd and Pastoret-Lawrence Co. of Duluth.

MAY COLLECT FROM SAGE AND HARRIMAN ESTATES.

St. Paul, Minn., June 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The estates of Russell Sage, E. H. Harriman, Marshal Field and other captains of industry who have died in recent years, are subjects of investigation by George T. Simpson, attorney general, in quest of inheritance taxes. The collection of $14,149 inheritance tax on the estate of E. C. Hegeler, a multimillionaire of La Salle, Ill., has added incentive to the work. It is believed that stocks and bonds of Minnesota corporations were held by Harriman, Sage, Field and others which are taxable under the inheritance tax law.

A $6,000 inheritance tax recently was paid into the Minnesota treasury by an English earl.

ANOTHER NO-HIT CONTEST

Great Twirling and Fast Playing Blanks the Visitors 5 to 0.

(BY BRUCE.)

Winona got not a hit or a run, and only one man went to third base. During the afternoon we collected five runs, taking the first game from the fast-going City Beautiful bunch in a manner so impressive that many of us wondered why we ever happened to drop a game to a team like Rochester.

Rube Woodburn had almost as much as John D. Rockefeller, without that large owner's dyspepsia. His curves yesterday broke as shaply and as persistently as the market the past winter and not even a semblance of a hit was gathered off the benders of the Woodburn wonder.

Reviewing the game in all its glory, plus the warm sunshine, it might be said that the nearest the Pirates came to collecting a hit during the afternoon was when Swanson lifted one to extreme left in the ninth frame, after one man was gone.

Had there been any other fielder but Deerfoot Johnson in that patch, it is very probable that the no-hit record of Woodburn would have been spoiled. Johnny ran like the man in the story, got under the lofting fly, and then dropped it after the hard run.

Not a player of the visiting team threatened, except in the first inning, when Bewer was given a pass, stole and went to third on a poor throw by Hargraves. With smoke, and beautiful benders, Mister Woodburn had the affair settled over and playing dead and at no time was even in trouble.

Yesterday's game was the second no-hit affair that has been pitched on the local lot this season. Michael Angelo Kranepool was the man to twirl the other contest, and there are those of us who are hoping that Michael is due to hurl another near-no-hit matinee during the present series.

Malloy Is Nabbed.

Another glad feature of the contest was the throwing out of Mique Malloy in his attempt to pilfer second. The former manager of the Red Wing team has made the boast upon divers occasions that it was impossible to catch him on the paths. Hargraves did it yesterday, with feet to spare, and after that Malloy was a very quiet boy.

In the first with one down Brewer walked, pilfered and went to third when Hardy pegged low to O'Brien to stop the thief. He was left to expire, as near and yet so far, for Curtis Gus Hilled and Swanson hit a pewee to Woodburn, who relayed to Abraham Lincoln Menelee.

After two were gone in the second Malloy got a pass and tried to steal with dismal results. Again with two of the Pirates gone in the third Graves was safe through Woodburn's wild heave to first base, and was left there in a reflective mood when Brewer went down. Altermott to Menelee.

Two whiffed, in the fourth, Curtis and Swson, and Davey was easy for O'Brien and Samuel. With Fiefhiet on in the fifth through a pass, Malloy hit to O'Brien and was doubled with Fiefhiet. Burke went down on the infield route. With one down in the sixth, Graves drew four that were untended and went to second on a wild pitch. The next two men went out without the least demonstration.

The enemy went down in order in the seventh and the big crowd began rooting for a no-hit game. Burke drew transportation in the eighth, but that was all. In the ninth, the crowd called for a no-hit game. Bewer was an easy out in the ninth. Curtis drew four that were wild from being held in captivity, and right here Swanson, the towhead, turned and to spoil the splendid record of Woodburn. He smacked one to left that flirted with the foul line. Johnson sprinted and grabbed it down by his knees. He dropped it, but saved Woody's record. The next man hit to Col. Altermiot and was doubled with Swanson.

We started gladness and noise in the second when Miller singled, was sacrificed by Holstrom and scored when Shingaard Hargrove doubled cleanly to left center. Mirth margined up and pandemonium turned a handspring.

That was mere piffle to what happened in the next frame. The noble Orator started with a base. Worman ran for him and advanced to second on a wild throw by Fiefhiet. Menelee lofted one to the same offending Fiefhiet and Johnson was safe when Josephus Curtis permitted his offering to dribble through his legs. Miller hit to Bewer and that gent with dispatch threw to Burke, who tagged Worman.

We threatened in the fourth, Woodburn getting to third. In the fifth we got two men on, but they were cut off at the stations. In the sixth we gathered our last shining run of the afternoon.

After Leber and O'Brien were down, Menelee beat out an infield single and scored when Johnson doubled out to Malloy's field, Mique not handling the ball with enthusiasm that should be expected of an ex-manager. Miller failed to hit one out of the infield.

We did nothing worthy of comment in the seventh or eighth, but as the record for the day was a most beautiful one, worthy of emulation by rising young ball players, the fans left with glee and mirth and other pleasant things.

WEATHER BETTER FOR POLO MATCH

Conditions Are Threatening But Second Game May Be Played.

New York, June 7.—The prospects for a resumption of the international polo matches looked brighter this morning, although clouds hung low over the Westburg moors while the breeze clung persistently to the east of north. The rain apparently was over and the polo association officials declared early in the day that every effort would be made to pull off the second match of the series.

Conflicting reports have been received from England as to the length of stay allowed some of the visiting players, but it seemed to be the general view there would be no penalties in case some of the cavalry officers did not report on time.

It was also announced that if the Americans won today's games there would be a third game on Friday, but that in the event of an English victory the deciding game for the cup would be played on Saturday.

BOTH UMPIRES WERE WRONG

President Lynch Throws Out Chicago-Pittsburg Game of May 30.

New York, June 7.—Thomas J. Lynch, president of the National league, yesterday threw out the Chicago-Pittsburg game of the morning of May 30, which Chicago had protested, and ordered the game played over.

"This game," says President Lynch in his decision allowing Chicago's protest, "was won by the Pittsburg club by 1 to 0, and protested by the Chicago club on the grounds, first, that the field umpire called the wrong player out, and that, second, as a result of said decision, a second runner was wrongly declared out by the umpire-in-chief.

"In the eighth inning Shean of Chicago was on first base with one out. Archer hit a fly ball to the infield, which was dropped by Wagner, and the ball was thrown to second for a forceout. With both Shean and Archer holding first base, Field Umpire Doyle called Archer out, claiming that Wagner had intentionally dropped the ball.

"After Doyle had told Archer he was out and had ordered him to leave the base, Manager Clarke of Pittsburg appealed to Umpire-in-Chief Klem that Doyle's decision was wrong and that Shean should have been declared out instead of Archer. The appeal was allowed and Shean was declared out. Archer, in the meantime, having left first base as directed, was touched with the ball and also declared out by Umpire Klem.

"A careful investigation shows that the field umpire erred in calling Archer out instead of Shean, and that Umpire-in-Chief Klem likewise erred in allowing the second putout. The only decision Umpire Klem should have made was to reverse Doyle's decision and call Shean out and send Archer back to first.

"The evidence clearly shows that both umpires erred and that by reason thereof an injustice was done the Chicago club. The protest is allowed and the game as played is stricken from the records and ordered to be replayed."

Further official notice from National league headquarters corrected the standing of the clubs.

O'BRIEN AFTER PITCHER STANLEY

Darby O'Brien is on the trail of Stanley, a pitcher with Fort Wayne at the present time. The Orator says Stanley is a fine twirler, and if he succeeds in landing him, he will strengthen the pitching staff.

Stanley was formerly a member of the Washington American league team, and has been going good the present season. O'Brien is not sure of landing him, but negotiations are being carried on by wire at the present time, and some definite decision will be known in a short time.

SPORTING NOTES

William A. Harriman, Yale 1913, son of the late E. H. Harriman, has been appointed assistant manager of the Yale hockey team for 1911-12.

If the present crusade against playing league baseball on Sunday continues, it is thought today Nashville will experience a return of the blue laws. Mayor Howse expressed the opinion today that according to the Tennessee code it may be illegal to run street cars on Sunday. The crusade was started by the local ministerial association, the members of which refused to officiate at Sunday funerals.

The entry of Ralph de Palma's Simplex in the Dawtlorna races, to be staged at Chicago Saturday and Sunday, was the last filed. De Palma's entry assures a spirited fight between himself, Burman, Dawson, Strub and Kulick and other prominent drivers who have entered.

From present indications it was announced in New York today by officials of the Aero Club of America that Charles Ferres Weymann will be the only representative of this country in the coupe internationale d'Aviation in England, July 1. Weymann will use a special racing Nieuport monoplane with a 70-horse power engine.

Joe Mowrey, a St. Louis product, property of the Philadelphia National Athletics, is in St. Louis with a broken ankle. He has been playing right field with Birmingham, Southern association, having been turned over when Philadelphia went South on the spring training tour.

Sidney Hatch, winner of the recent Missouri Athletic club marathon race from Freeburg, Ill., to St. Louis, probably will enter the modified marathon, June 24, under the direction of the Missouri Athletic club. Joe Froshaw, training St. Louis runners for the ten-mile event, received a letter yesterday from G. Collins, a Chicago runner, assuring his participation. Fifty other runners covered a five-mile course yesterday despite the heat of 97 deg.

"Pop" Geers will arrive in Indianapolis with his string of trotters and pacers next Saturday, according to word received from the veteran driver. In Geers' string will be Dudie Archdale, 2:06¼. Great things are expected of this mare during the grand circuit, as Geers says she has already shown a mile in 2:09 this season.

FROM THE SIDELINES

Uncle Joe Killian was in a genial mood yesterday. Why shouldn't he be? His team has been going fine, has been setting the league on fire, so to speak, and the troubles of Joe are as few as friends when you are broke.

"Oh, yes, I have a pretty good ball club," said Uncle Joe, as he sat on the visiting bench yesterday and watched his boys warming up. "My pitching staff is going good and the rest of my team is as strong as the bunch I had last season.

"I have no kick coming, and naturally think that we have a strong chance for the pennant. I am not making any predictions, however. The rest of the teams are pretty strong, and I might say right here that Duluth has a ball club that the others will have to watch."

It is the mission of an impartial observer to give credit when it is due. Therefore let it be said that yesterday Altermott played a game that was gilt edged in every particular. In the second he raced over and back and pulled down a wriggling Texas leaguer from the bludgeon of Davey. In the first inning he also made a swell catch on an offering from the bat of Graves.

His work around the bag with the Orator was all that could be desired. Such playing as that of yesterday will make the fans forget that he had a slump.

A funny play was pulled in the seventh inning. Holstrom was the first to bat and hit a sizzling liner straight at the head of Wagner. That worthy wisely ducked, but in some manner his glove came in direct contact with the ball. It stopped dead and after Wag come out of his Aurello Herrara crouch, he picked up the pellet and threw Chesty out at first.

Looking the Pirates over, it can be seen that Joe has a strong and evenly balanced ball team. The outfield is strengthened by the acquisition of Swanson and Malloy. Dang and Crangle have gone, and the new members are better performers. Malloy has a weak arm, but outside of that is a swell ball player. Swanson is one of the best in the league.

Bewer hardly looks the ball player that Koepping is, and there are better first basemen in the league than Joseph Curtis. Fiefhiet at third looks better than Goodman did last season, and when it comes to the pitching staff, Killian sure has some classy boys.

Dauss, Baillies and McNeil are good. Wagner did not have very much yesterday, although he has been getting away with his games. With the pitchers going the way they have since the very opening of the season, it will be pretty hard to beat Killian's aggregation. Imagine if we have four twirlers of the class of Woodburn!

After the game was over Johnson came running in and asked the scorers to give him an error and make it a no-hit game. Though the request was unnecessary, as he had both hands on the ball, it shows the spirit of the outfielder.

Johnson is always in the game, is always working for the best interests of the team, and never thinks of himself when the general good of the team is concerned. That is what makes good ball players and good ball teams. It is spirit that counts a lot.

Though O'Brien is still limping from his injured foot, his presence on the infield helps a lot. There were no dumb plays around the second bag yesterday, and in addition the team went better. The Irishman is in the game all the time, and the difference in the playing may be ascribed to his return.

In the third inning with two gone, Graves hit one toward third base that Woodburn went over and nabbed cleanly. Then with plenty of time to make the throw he essayed an underhand heave to first. The ball went by the bag like a Kansas cyclone and Menelee had no chance in the world to grab it. The runner went to second, but the next hitter proved an easy out.

BROWN PEER OF MIGHTY "MATTY"

Figures Show Three-Fingered Marvel Has Won the Most Duels.

"It's funny," growled a Giant rooter during the recent Gotham series between Chicago and New York, "that Matty can never beat them Cubs."

"That's where you're dead wrong," from Mr. Know-It-All, pausing to mop his feverish brow. "Matty's thrashed Brown as often as the three-fingered gent has beaten him—," and the boisterous argument was set a-going.

The season of 1906 found "Husk" Chance and his made-over Cubs boarding the giants in their Polo grounds den for the first time. Incidentally that onslaught sounded the decline of Giant supremacy—a stiff blow in view of the fact that only the season previous, 1905, McGraw had steered his machine to a world's championship. Moreover, the events of the 1906 flag race marked the beginning of one of the greatest pennant runs in baseball history.

Just by way of tilting the lid to this narrative, be it remarked that Brown and Mathewson have clashed eighteen times since 1903, the season of their first combat. During that period the Rosedale marvel has chucked eleven winners as against Matty's seven.

Fourteen times during his association with the Cubs has Brownie been pitted against the fadeaway artist, and in nine battles the West Slider emerged with flying colors, while Matty has reigned supreme in but five tussles. Then pause to reflect upon the other statistics: Eleven pelts for Brown and seven for Matty since 1903 in slab encounters.

This array of cold-blooded facts compiled on the eve of New York's signal 1911 invasion of Chicago shows Matty has tackled the Cubs all told thirty-two times. From this string he has copped fifteen games and dropped sixteen, with one tie. Brown, on the other hand, has opposed the giants thirty-nine times since 1905, with twenty-seven victories and twelve defeats.

Brown in his thirty-nine games against the Giants has been swatted for 119 runs, an average of 3 2-39 scores per game.

Mathewson in his thirty-two encounters with the cubs has allowed 131 tallies, an average of 4 3-32 runs per contest. Hence the three-fingered notable has an edge of about one run per quarrel to date over his blond hurling rival.

Since the day of their first meeting, early in 1906, the two clubs have come together 116 times. From this galaxy of combatting the Cubs have achieved sixty-nine triumphs and two ties, against forty-five for MaGraw's crowd. Here's the whole truth and nothing but the truth:

Year	CHICAGO. Won.	Lost.
1906	15	7
1907	16	6
1908	11	11
1909	11	11
1910	14	8
1911 (to date)	2	2
Total	69	45

By perusing this assortment of dope, embracing 116 meetings (two tied battles), the Cubs have counted 467 runs against the Giants, or an average of more than four tallies per game. During the same period the Giants have compiled 409 runs, or an average of three and three-fourths per game. Briefly the champions have averaged one-half a score per battle above their cherished enemy in five years' fighting.

Here's another startling fact for the Giant enthusiasts: These same records show that New York never yet has won a season's series against Chicago—dating from 1906—and only one Broadway flinger, Otis Crandall, has ever gained so much as an even break during his clashes with Chance's old guard. "Otey" once finished a season with a four and four record.

There have been twenty-four shutouts in the five years' play, and of this number the Cubs held fifteen, as against the Giants' nine. On four occasions Mathewson wielded the calcimine brush, while Brown has six times turned the trick against the foe.

In casting about for the prize lambasting contest of the many campaigns, it is found that Mathewson on June 7, 1906, suffered the hardest thrashing of his diamond career, bowing before the Cubs, 19 to 0. Wiltse retrieved this drubbing in a measure on July 15, 1908, when he downed the Cubs with Brown as slab opponent, New York winning, 11 to 0.

ROOSEVELT WILL SUPPORT PRESIDENT TAFT IN 1912

Promise of Predecessor's Help Reaches the Executive.

Fact Comes Out After Meeting of Men at Baltimore.

Washington, June 7.—President Taft, in his candidacy for the presidential nomination in 1912, will receive the unqualified indorsement of Former President Theodore Roosevelt, which will be uttered just as cordially as it was prior to the campaign of 1908.

This is the best political news Mr. Taft has received in many months, and it comes to him in a manner that leaves no doubt as to its authenticity.

The information that Col. Roosevelt, under no circumstances, will allow his own name to be presented to the Republican national convention, was conveyed to the White House several days ago, but it did not become known until last night.

That Col. Roosevelt feels that the Taft administration should be continued, was brought out partly as the result of cordial greeting between the two men at the Cardinal Gibbons jubilee in Baltimore yesterday. Whether the Roosevelt approval of Mr. Taft's candidacy will go far enough to take the former president into the campaign as an active stump speaker is problematical, but that the force of his personality will be with the president, is assured.

The information that Col. Roosevelt will be found aligned with the president rather than against him, was brought directly to Mr. Taft from Mr. Roosevelt by a mutual friend, high in office, who was connected with both the Roosevelt and Taft administrations in a capacity that enabled him to gain and retain the confidence, in fact, the warm personal friendship, of both men.

Meeting at Baltimore.

The meeting at Baltimore between the president and Mr. Roosevelt was only incidental to the celebration of the Cardinal Gibbons jubilee, but it was an incident that awakened the political interest of the senators and congressmen and others in official life who saw the two men together. They met first in the reception room in the Fifth regiment armory, where the jubilee celebration was held. They talked together there for ten minutes. They shook hands with some old friends; they chatted laughingly and behaved just as they used to do when Mr. Roosevelt was in the White House and Mr. Taft was secretary of war. They carried the spirit of friendship up the platform and, sitting side by side, they conversed in undertones throughout most of the afternoon.

Mr. Roosevelt was glad also to see Uncle Joe Cannon, and he shook hands heartily with Vice President Sherman; he expressed the greatest pleasure at seeing Senator Penrose, and of course Senators Root and Lodge, both old friends, came in for the old-time affectionate greetings. Altogether, the scene resembled a Republican love feast.

Found Roosevelt Waiting.

Mr. Roosevelt reached Baltimore before the president and was waiting for him at the armory.

"Hello Mr. President," said he in the high pitched voice that Washington used to know so well. "I'm glad to see you. I want to inquire about Mrs. Taft."

"Hello, Theodore," replied the president. "How are you?"

"Where's Archie?" inquired the colonel a mute later, looking around for Maj. A. B. Butt, who was his personal aide in his White House days and who is now aide to Mr. Taft.

After he had spoken to Senator Root, been introduced to Secretary Hilles and said some nice things about everybody in the party, he was taken aside by the president. The two men were together about ten minutes, beyond ear range of any other person. Afterwards it was said that they "talked about Mrs. Taft's health." The president invited the colonel to come to Washington on June 19 to be his guest in the White House at his silver wedding anniversary. Mr. Roosevelt said he would try to manage it.

Welcome for Everybody.

When the score or more senators and congressmen entered the reception room, the conference was over. Although some of the men in the crowd were never classed as his friends in the old days, he was ready for them all.

After the meeting broke up, both men walked over to congratulate Cardinal Gibbons. After he had shaken the prelate's hand, the president put out his hand to the colonel.

"Good bye, Theodore," said he. Then he leaned forward on Mr. Roosevelt's shoulder and whispered something. They both laughed and the meeting was over.

CLAIMS TO KNOW ABSCONDER'S LAIR

Trapper Asserts Horace Bennett Is Among the Canadian Pines.

Seattle, Wash., June 7.—James Westerfield, a Canadian trapper from Similkameen, yesterday revealed, in the vivid and picturesque language of the north, what he says is the exact whereabouts of Horace Bennett, who, it is alleged, absconded six years ago from Chicago with more than $100,000 in United States bonds belonging to the Illinois Consolidated Trust company.

At that time Bennett was one of the firm's most trusted employes and had come to the banking house with the best recommendations as a competent and reliable young man, after having worked previously for several years in the larger American banking institutions.

Westerfield asserts that Bennett has lived but a short distance from him for the last five years. During his residence in that vicinity, Westerfield declared, Bennett has made no attempt to form the acquaintance of any of the trappers or other residents. It was not until the last two years, the trapper said, that this would-be hermit was forced into an acquaintanceship with Westerfield, because both men were obliged to use the same trail during the winters.

Makes Friends With Trapper.

In this way a friendship grew up between the two, Bennett, according to Westerfield, did not seem to be doing anything to earn a livelihood. Later Bennett suddenly left the Similkameen for parts unknown, says Westerfield, and was away for six months. He returned in the autumn and told Westerfield, the latter asserted, that he had spent the time he had been away visiting at Long Beach, Cal.

Bennett continued a life of idleness after the unexpected return and seemed to care even less for associates than before, the trapper declared, and furthermore, he moved further back among the pines, where, Westerfield says he told him he intended to live for his health.

According to the trapper, he went to live with the hermit during the winter as it was easier to gain access to his trapping district. It was at this time that Bennett disclosed his identity, Westerfield says, telling the reason of his self-imposed exile and fully detailing how it had been made possible for him to make his getaway through friends.

United States secret service men are now on the hermit's trail as a result of Westerfield's disclosure. The case has puzzled the Chicago authorities for the last six years.

TYPOGRAPHICAL ERRORS IN TOBACCO OPINION.

Washington, June 7.—Correction of several obvious typographical errors in the printed copies of the decision of the supreme court in the tobacco case, has given rise to groundless rumors that the court changed its mind at the eleventh hour. It is announced that the changes were made to make the copies comply with the official opinion of the court. The errors were discovered by Chief Justice White when he compared the printed copies with the original opinion.

LOST CANADIAN BRIDE FINALLY FOUND SAFE.

New York, June 7.—Francis Dubois, the rich miner from Porcupine, Ont., has found his lost bride. Thursday they will sail for Copenhagen to spend their interrupted honeymoon at Mrs. Dubois' old home.

Dubois and his wife were on their way from Porcupine Sunday when he went back for his overcoat at a little railroad restaurant and the train proceeded without him. As soon as he reached New York he began a frantic search for Mrs. Dubois. Meanwhile his wife was trying just as anxiously to find him. They met at a hotel in Hoboken where Mrs. Dubois had been sent by the captain of the steamer on which they had engaged passage.

TWO SUGAR FRAUD MEN SEEK RIGHT TO APPEAL.

New York, June 7.—Charles H. Heike, former secretary of the American Sugar Refining company, and Ernest W. Heike and Gerbracht were convicted on conspiracy to defraud the government through underweighing of imported sugar.

JEWS START CAMPAIGN

Against Law Prohibiting Jewish Officers in the Prussian Army.

Warfare on Projecting Hatpins in Street Railways of Berlin.

Berlin, June 7.—German Jewish organizations have undertaken a campaign against the unwritten military law, prohibiting Jews from becoming officers in the Prussian army. A resolution, unanimously adopted by two leading Jewish organizations, the Union of German Jews and the Central Association of German Citizens of Jewish Faith, at a meeting at Frankfort-on-Main reads:

"Contrary to the custom of all other civilized states, soldiers of the Jewish faith in the Prussian army are at a disadvantage, in the matter of promotion, as compared to Christians and the Christian sons of Jewish parents. The assembly protests against this condition as unconstitutional and illegal and express the hope that the competent authorities will succeed on abolishing this shameful and oppressive injustice and in bringing about the fulfillment of the law."

Enough considerable inroads already have been made on the traditional view, which regarded the higher posts in the army and the commissions in the better regiments as the prerogative of the German nobility, immediate favorable action on the resolution above set forth is not regarded probable.

The Berlin Elevated Railways company has joined with the Consolidated Berlin Street railways and the prefect of police in the wafare against the projecting hatpin, posting in the cars an order that women passengers with long hatpins must place a protective guard over the end of projecting pins. In spite, however, of the orders and the warnings of the supposedly all-powerful prefect of police that women endangering the safety of others by long hatpins would render themselves subject to arrest, no abatement of the menace can be noticed and accidents from this source are constantly reported.

A dangerous but successful balloon landing is reported from Altoona, where the aeronaut, Wilson, fearing that his balloon would be driven by an adverse wind into the River Elbe, which is very broad at Altoona, elected to come down in the middle of the city. He pulled the ripcord when the balloon was above the city fish market, coming down successfully and safely amid the fish dealers in the uncovered square.

The equestrians who exercise early every morning on the riding paths of the Tiergarten, Berlin's central park, are to have an additional attraction in the shape of military music provided for them by order of the emperor, who himself, when in Berlin, takes an early morning gallop there every fine day. A band from one of the regiments of the guard is to be stationed in future at the hippodrome, a circular open space surrounded by a tan bark path, where a dozen riding paths emerge from all directions.

Here every morning gather hundreds of officers of the general staff, anxious to preserve their waistline while detailed for office work in the capital, together with active retired officials taking their "constitutional," ladies with their attendant grooms, and many professional men, such as bankers, lawyers, doctors and actors, who indulge in this form of exercise in order to counteract the effects of their sedentary occupations. The emperor is usually accompanied by a considerable number of attendants, including his principal aide-de-camp, the chief of the royal stables, two or three personal orderly officers, a bodyguard of several gendarmes, and a number of grooms.

A scheme of compulsory physical training for the municipal officials of Schoeneberg has just been introduced by Herr Dominicus, the newly appointed lord mayor of the beautiful western suburb of Berlin, in order to counteract the evil effects of their long hours of deskwork. All the younger officials are granted an hour's leave on one day every week, during which they are put through a course of athletic exercises in the playground of one of the city schools under the direction of the school's gymnastic instructor. Every official is expected to participate in the training if the medical officer reports him physically fit to undergo the exertion, and regular attendance is compulsory.

Herr Dominicus, who was formerly in charge of the evening continuation school in Strassburg, effected by a similar scheme a vast amount of improvement in the health of the scholars. He first started gymnastic classes for the tailors' apprentices, who, he considered, by reason of the close confinement of their occupation, stood most in need of physical training, with such excellent results that the master shoemakers came and requested him to do the same for their young workers. Before he left Strassburg Herr Dominicus had the satisfaction of seeing physical instruction made compulsory for the scholars of all the continuation schools in the city, which all boys are compelled to attend until their 18th year, and he has already secured its partial introduction in the Schoeneberg continuation schools.

The perennial struggle between Germans and Poles for the ownership of the soil in the eastern provinces of Prussia finds a striking illustration in the fact, just made public, that about 42,500 acres of land in the provinces of Posen, East and West Prussia, and Silesia have passed from German into Polish hands within a year. This occurs twenty-five years after the Prussian government inaugurated its great system of colonizing Germans in the Polish provinces, a policy that has cost something like $90,000,000.

The efforts of the government have been partly counteracted by Polish activity in buying land. There are special Polish banks for assisting Poles in acquiring parcels of land, and their work has been so effective that for some years most of the land bought by the Prussian settlement commission for dividing up among German peasants has been acquired from Germans themselves. In order to enable the commission to carry forward its settlement plans in a systematic way and extend the borders of German settlements already established, the diet, or Prussian legislature, passed in 1908, a law permitting the commission to dispossess Polish landholders, within certain limits, under the law of eminent domain. This law, however, has never been enforced. The continued acquisition of German lands by Poles has called forth a strong demand that it be put into operation at once.

MANY HOUSES TO BE BUILT

New Duluth Land Company Preparing Plans for Frame Cottages.

New Streets Will Be Cut Through Heretofore Unplatted Section.

Plans for a large number of frame dwellings are being made for the New Duluth Land company, to be erected in the near future at that suburb. Last evening plans for two cottages were placed in the hands of a local contractor for figures.

Just how many houses the company will build, the officials could not state this morning, although, they said, a large number would be constructed. Contracts have already been let for six houses.

The estimated cost of the houses ranges from $1,000 to $2,000 and when finished they will be valuable additions to that section of the city. They will be of handsome design, and have all the conveniences possible.

The company will also start work upon the clearing of land in that part of the city, after which streets will be cut through and sidewalks built.

The New Duluth Land company is building some of these houses for the people who will occupy them, while some will be sold and others rented. The company reports that there is considerable activity in New Duluth and that with it there is a lively inquiry for property.

STOCKHOLDERS MEET.

Annual Dividend Is Declared By People's Brewing Company.

The stockholders of the People's Brewing company held their fifth annual meeting at the plant, Forty-second avenue west and Traverse street, yesterday afternoon. The meeting was attended by representatives from Duluth and the Range towns. It was an enthusiastic gathering as the second dividend since the company's inception was voted. The meeting was called to order by Frank Sandstedt, president, who was unanimously elected to that office again and was presented by the several stockholders and directors with a handsome diamond ring for the excellent services rendered and the growth and success he has brought about.

The following officers for the ensuing year were chosen: F. G. Sandstedt, president; M. Gleason, vice president; A. W. Anderson, treasurer; Theodore G. Frerker, secretary; directors for three years, Frank G. Sandstedt, M. J. Gleason; Theodore Frerker; directors for two years, A. W. Anderson, C. M. Forest and Henry Towmfor of Chisholm; directors for one year, M. J. Filiatrault, Charles Peterson and M. J. Doyle of Eveleth.

The secretary and treasurer's report shows that the business has had a good gain and that the financial affairs of the company are in excellent shape.

NOBODY TO GRADUATE

No Graduation Exercises for First Time in History of School.

For the first time in the history of the Duluth public schools, there will be no eighth grade graduating exercises for one of the old and established schools. This is the Madison school, 600 Garfield avenue, which this year has no one to graduate. The school is one of the oldest in the city and in former years has had fair-sized classes.

Last year the Madison school graduated seven from the eighth grade, but this year the attendance in the upper eighth grade dropped off and dwindled down to nothing. Since no one will graduate, there will be no graduation exercises. The principal reason for the dwindling away of the class is that most of the children attending were obliged to quit school in order to go to work.

In former years, the average graduation class at the Madison school numbered between ten and twenty-five. There is a lower or B eighth grade at the school, but the members do not finish at the end of the present semester.

In the various public schools at the West end there will be about 175 children to finish the eighth grade work. The graduation exercises in all of the public graded schools this year will be held on Thursday afternoon, June 15.

At the Adams school the graduation class numbers 29, at the Bryant, 50; at the Ensign, 21; at the Lincoln, 56; at the Monroe, 20; and at the Madison, none. The Bryant alumni will hold a banquet in honor of the outgoing class at the school house, Friday evening, and the class day exercises will be held in connection with this affair. The graduating exercises will be held at the usual time. At the Monroe school, the graduating class has planned a banquet and class day affair at the schoolhouse this evening.

The St. Clement's Catholic parochial school will hold closing exercises at the church hall on Third street between Twentieth and Twenty-first avenues west on Saturday, June 18. There are eighteen members in the class. The program will consist of recitations, songs and a play "The Blind Prince," a drama in three acts. Sister Hyacinth, principal, is in charge.

The commencement exercises at the St. Jean Baptiste school will be held June 21.

SEWERS FOR THE WEST END

Several sewers will be laid and alleys improved in the West end this summer. Ecklund & Carlson have the contract for the construction of a sewer between Michigan street and Grand Forks avenue on Wellington street. The cost will be about $1,500.

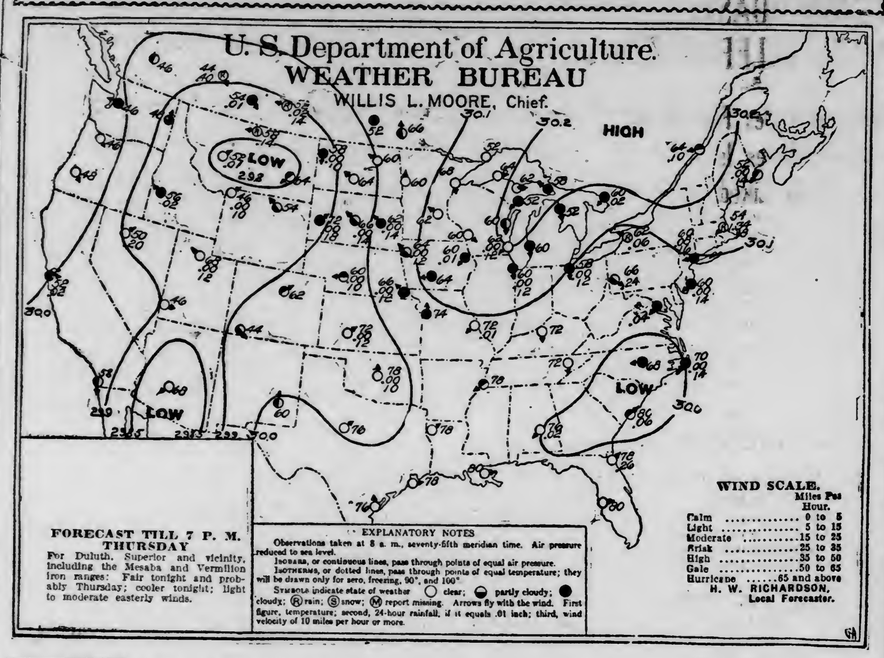

On Chestnut street between Winnipeg and Alabama avenues the property owners want a sewer placed on that thoroughfare and have filed a petition for the improvement with the board of public works. It is expected that within the next two weeks the contract will be let. It will cost about $1,800.

Among the alleys which will be graded this summer will be Third alley between Twenty-first and Twenty-second avenues and between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth avenues and Fourth alley between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth and Fifth alley between Twenty-third and Twenty-fifth avenues. The grading work will cost about $1,500.

Charles Nelson Dies.

Charles J. Nelson, aged 59, a resident of the West end for the past thirty years, died yesterday afternoon at the family residence, 119 Park avenue, of heart trouble. Death followed a prolonged illness. He is survived by a wife and a brother, August, also a resident of the city. The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Olson & Crawford undertaking rooms, 2118 West First street. Rev. C. G. Olson, pastor of Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, will officiate. Mr. Nelson for the past ten years was a foreman on the street cleaning department.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

This is the kind of weather that makes one think seriously of that vacation. Not to get out of the heat of the city, for the city has no heat. Duluth right now has beautiful summer weather, sans heat, which is something few cities in the United States can produce. This vacation feeling only makes one want to leave the desk to an accumulation of dust and get out of doors all the bright summer day. This question of the cost of living is the only original little kill-joy, so we'll stick to the desk. Continued fair, cool weather is on the bills.

Fair weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 4:14 and it will set at 8 o'clock this evening, giving fifteen hours and forty-six minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Warmer weather prevails over the greater portion of the Northwest in connection with a low pressure condition which extends from Montana southward to Arizona. This low barometer has also caused the development of showers in Alberta, Montana, Idaho, Nevada and Northern California. During the last twenty-four hours rains also fell over Atlantic states and portions of the Ohio valley and Missouri. Present indications favor generally fair weather in St. Louis and Douglas counties until Thursday night."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, June 7.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Thursday:

Upper Michigan — Fair tonight and Thursday; cooler tonight in northeast portion.

Wisconsin, Iowa and South Dakota—Unsettled but generally fair weather tonight and Thursday.

Minnesota — Generally fair tonight and Thursday; cooler in northeast portion tonight.

North Dakota—Unsettled with probably showers in northwest portion tonight or Thursday.

Montana — Unsettled with showers tonight or Thursday; cooler Thursday and in north portion tonight.

Upper lakes — Light to moderate northeast to east winds; fair tonight and Thursday.

IN THE DAY'S WORK AT WASHINGTON

After Trust Magnates.

Washington, June 7.—Efforts of Senator Pomerene of Ohio to force criminal prosecution of officers and directors of the Standard Oil and the American Tobacco companies and their constituents, were supplemented yesterday by the introduction in the house of resolutions by Representative Clayton of Alabama, directing that the attorney general report to congress whether any criminal prosecutions have been begun or are contemplated, and if not, why they have not been undertaken. The resolutions were referred to the judiciary committee, of which Mr. Clayton is chairman.

Save $250,000 Annually.

A saving of about $250,000 annually and a gain in general efficiency are the expected results of the proposed reduction from five to three in the number of divisional headquarters in the army, not including the Philippines, as reported to the senate by Secretary of War Stimson. The restoration to the line of thirty-five officers and a number of enlisted men now doing administrative work at various headquarters will be the most important benef't, said Mr. Stimson. New York, Chicago and San Francisco will be the new divisional headquarters in this country, with Manila remaining for the Philippine division.

Indian Bureau Probe.

A thorough investigation of Indian bureau affairs will be made by the house committee on interior department expenditures through sub-committees which will work during the recess of congress. The charge that the American Indian on the reservation is under the arbitrary and unlimited power of the Indian agent and powerless to complain for fear of punishment, was taken up by the committee. Former Commissioner of Indian Affairs Leupp testified that the Indian always has the right to air his grievances and that the Red Man was not deterred from making complaint by fear of worse punishment by agents.

Investigate Sugar Trust.

The house of representatives authorized $25,000 for the investigation of the American Sugar Refining company; directed an investigation into an alleged inadequacy of the taxation assessments in the District of Columbia, turned over to the judiciary committee the question of a change in the extradition laws, and discussed many other subjects in a a full day session yesterday.

Six Million Dollar Bill.

Two hours were spent by the house in a contest between committees for the custody of a $6,000,000 appropriation bill affecting certain mail routes. The appropriations committee finally won, with the aid of house leaders, taking the bill away from the post-office committee.

Tabled Berger Resolution.

The house tabled the Berger resolution for a committee to investigate the taking of the alleged Los Angeles dynamiters out of the jurisdiction of Indiana; but it turned over to the judiciary committee all testimony taken in the matter and left it to that committee to determine whether changes ought to be made in the extradition laws.

Punish Political Moves.

Inspired by intimations that reprisals will be made on Democratic Leader Underwood and other representatives who advocated investigation of the so-called steel trust, Representative Boehne of Indiana introduced a bill punishing by a maximum fine of $5,000 or heavy imprisonment, threats or coercion of members of congress or the closing down of mills or factories for political effect by corporation managers or others. Mr. Boehne also introduced a bill providing penalties for employers who attempt to intimidate their employes in elections. Mr. Underwood recently announced that he had been told that if he permitted disturbance in the steel industry, the mills in Birmingham, Ala., his own town, would be closed and his political fortunes affected.

Sign Nicaragua Treaty.

Secretary Knox and Minister Castrillo have signed a treaty providing for the refunding of the foreign debt of Nicaragua and the extension of aid to that country for its further material development through American financiers. The new treaty is largely on the lines of the convention now before the senate here looking to the readjustment of the Honduran debt; the differences being found in provisions enlarging the opportunities for bankers to participate in the loans incident to the refunding operations; diminshing the measure of control to be exercised by the United States government over the future collections of revenue, and otherwise attenuating the relations between the two governments so far as the financial arrangements are concerned.

BROOKS WAS IN DULUTH

Boston Y. M. C. A. Thief Worked at Local Association Last Winter.

Was Wanted for Theft, But Escaped—Used Alias Here.

Boston, Mass., June 7.—Scores of membership cards, passes, tickets, and medals belonging to members of Young Men's Christian associations in St. Paul, Duluth, Cleveland, Indianapolis and Columbus, were taken from Edward Brooks when he was searched yesterday, following his arrest on the charge of larceny from the lockers in the Boston Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. Watches, cuff links, rings and match cases were also found in his pockets, according to the police. Brooks was being entertained at the Y. M. C. A. building as a caller from Michigan, when it was discovered that the lockers had been looted. He bolted from the building but was caught after a chase. He told the police that he was a native of Richmond, Va.

The man referred to in the dispatch worked for several days at the Duluth Y. M. C. A. during the past winter, using the name of Bench. He is alleged to have stolen a razor, an overcoat and some small articles from the rooms. A warrant was issued for his arrest, but he disappeared before it could be served. Another employe of the association, who gained Bench's confidence, recalled this morning that Bench had told him that his correct name was Brooks. The officers of the local association do not doubt that the man arrested in Boston is the same man.

DUES WILL NOT BE INCREASED

Samaritans Decide to Leave Present Schedule in Effect.

The Modern Samaritans will not raise their rates for old members who came in prior to the time the present schedule took effect.

This was decided yesterday by the Imperial Council, which is in session at the Christie building.

It was the most important matter to come up before the meeting of the council and after speeches were made both for and against it, the plan was killed.

It was claimed that the money coming in from the old members was not enough to pay the death obligations and the matter of raising the fees was discussed a year ago and left until the present meeting for settlement.

There are delegates from four states attending the meetings. Yesterday morning was taken up with organizing, the passing on credentials and reports of committees. It was at the afternoon session that the first business was tranasacted.

A. E. McManus, Z. H. Austin of Minneapolis and A. G. McKnight, the committee appointed a year ago to report on the question of raising the fees, reported as being opposed to the raise. They stated that the growth of the organization is satisfactory and that a change at this time would be unwarranted.

The local lodge of Elks has extended the use of its club rooms to the visiting delegates during their stay in the city. The Commercial club has also extended a like invitation to them.

They state that it wandered into several backyards, poked its nose into a barn, walked down two or three streets and avenues, and then leisurely made its way back to the woods from which it had come. The visit of the moose caused quite a flutter of excitement in Lakeside for a short time.

Buhl, Minn., June 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two shifts of men, about fifty, have been placed at work stripping in the Swallow-Hopkins property being developed here. The mine was partly stripped last year and some ore in the open workings reached.

RECORD LOADING AT HIBBING MINE

Great Northern Handles 235 Cars By One Shift on Monday.

Hibbing, Minn., June 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—For the first time in a month, it is asserted, the Great Northern has furnished almost enough empty ore cars to the Dale-Uno mine and therefore a record was established Monday when 235 cars were loaded with ore by one shift.

The average number of cars loaded both night and day has been but 250. Officials continually complain that the railroad does not furnish enough empties.

CHILD'S DEATH BEING PROBED

Saloon Keeper of Eveleth Alleged Not to Have Given Little One Treatment.

Eveleth, Minn., June 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local health authorities are investigating the death of the 2-months-old son of Frank Lubanovic, a saloon keeper, through alleged neglect.

The child had been sick for some time, but no medical aid was called for. Lack of nourishment is also charged by the authorities. Lubanovic claims nothing could be done for the child by physicians, and as no death certificate had been issued by doctors, the health commissioner has refused to grant a burial permit. The case is now being investigated by Deputy Coroner John J. Gleason, and it is believed the action of the health department in this case will cause many of the foreigners who fail to provide their children with proper medical aid to observe the law. An autopsy will probably have to be performed.

DYNAMITING FISH.

Acts of Lawlessness Perpetrated on on Lakes Near Eveleth.

Eveleth, Minn., June 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Streams and lakes in the nearby vicinity are being dynamited by foreigners for fish. Many fish are to be seen on the shores of the lakes which have been blown out from the waters. The dynamiting was started last year and arrests followed. No arrests have been made, but the game wardens are on the alert. Among the lakes which have suffered most from the dynamiters are Three Mile lake and Half Moon lake.

HIBBING PAIR'S JOY RIDE INGLORIOUSLY ENDS.

Hibbing, Minn., June 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—Jant Semback and Marko Sajatovi, two Austrian miners, had their "joy ride" rudely interrupted last evening, when, at the end of the First avenue bridge on the Chisholm road, they were arrested by a Hibbing policeman, hauled out of the buggy and led back to the police station, where a charge of fast driving was lodged against them.

The pair, after imbibing freely, according to the police, went to a livery stable and hired a rig. They started for Chisholm, with the avowed intention of painting that town a vermilion hue. When on the bridge the horse became frightened at some object underneath him, it is said, and, being already on a dead run, threatened by his actions to overturn the buggy. When the other side was reached the "cop" thought that he had better stop the fun.

FRANCHISE HAS BEEN LAID OVER

Virginia Wants Certain Concessions From Railroad First.

Virginia, Minn., June 7.—(Special to The Herald)—The city council last night postponed consideration of the second reading of the franchise of the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific railroad (the Canadian Northern), instructing the city attorney to change the clause describing the public library site, making the description of the property in detail, one of the provisions of the franchise being that the railroad company shall purchase the Carnegie library site, paying therefor $12,000.

The report of the poundmaster for May showed that forty-one dogs, which had been impounded, were killed.

A petition from the Commercial club, requesting that the council appoint a committee to act with a similar committee of the club and the officials of Nichols township to arrive at an agreement upon plans for the construction of a road about three miles which would give the farmers of the Wolf country a good road to Virginia, was accepted and the street committee was instructed to represent the council in the matter.

The bills for the month of May were allowed.

Fitger Brewery Man Wins.

A liquor license was granted to R. J. Thorpe upon recommendation of the license committee, after a considerable controversy, involving the Pabst and Fitger brewing companies, the successful applicant being a Fitger man and Miller, who was the unsuccessful applicant, representing the Pabst people. Heretofore for some time there have been five recognized Pabst saloons and twenty-two Fitger saloons. As a result of the vote of the council last night there will be four Pabst saloons and twenty-three Fitger saloons. The license committee ignored the brewery side of the controversy and reported that the place in which Miller asked to be permitted to run a saloon had a bad reputation, that Miller was a non-resident and Thorpe was a home man.

A number of complaints having been made to the council of alleged overcharges by the water and light company for water, the city attorney recommended that a special assistant city attorney be employed to make a specific study of the franchises of the water and light company under the direction of the city attorney, taking up the matter of the complaints. No formal action was taken, it being left to the city attorney to look up an attorney experienced in water and light franchises.

WILL ASK MINING COMPANY FOR SITE

Eveleth Council Will Request Oliver Company for Permission to Build.

Eveleth, Minn., June 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The building committee of the city council last evening was instructed to ask the Oliver Iron Mining company that the city be granted the use of 176 feet of land on Pierce street, opposite the St. John's church for library purposes. TALKS TO MAIL CLERKS.

Hitchcock's Assistant Speaks on Service Organizations.

Syracuse, N. Y., June 7.—Second Assistant Postmaster General Stewart, addressing the national convention of the Railway Mail Clerks' association, denied that the government is against organizations.

"It has always been pleased to recognize organizations beneficial and helpful," he said, "and it has always classed the railway mail association in that way. It objects only to the character of organizations.

"Recently there have been efforts to organize associations said to be inimical to the service, and active steps have been taken to dissuade the clerks from further action in that direction. The reason for those objections is found in one or two fundamentals. The government objects to organizations of a secret character in the service. And it objects to those which attempt to affiliate with outside organizations which have no connection with the service. Organizations in the service must always be loyal. Those we have objected to have been those which, through some misguided thought, tended to lead not to loyalty, but to disloyalty."

Reminded of Regulation.

Mr. Stewart reminded the clerks of the government regulation that their officers must be in the service.

"The clerks placed in a position of disloyalty to the service interfere sooner or later. It is inevitable. After swearing loyalty to the government, a clerk is called upon by an extraneous force to perform or not perform actions for the government. The government has recognized this difficulty before with drastic action and it recognizes it today."

The association will consider the matter of affiliating with the American Federation of Labor. This proposition has divided the association into factions.

Saturday, June 10th, Is the Opening Date of the First Sale of Lots in Gary, Minn., This Year

Some men are born to wealth; some attain it; others have it thrust upon them.

About one in a hundred thousand comes under the first category; about one in a million under the last; but ALL may come under the second who possess the fire of ambition; the grit and the "git-there;" the power to see things about to happen, coupled with the power to help make them happen.

If YOU have ambition and "git-there;" if YOU have a little capital and a lot of grit; if YOU are willing to WORK to win—read these FACTS, they are for you!

There's a twenty-five million dollar steel plant building at the Head of the Lakes; and the men who are building that plant at the same time are building something else.

They are building the need for a new city!

A need is being created for homes and stores; for commission houses and lumber yards; for other industrial plants and for everything that goes to make up a GREAT city.

For GARY, MINN., will be a great city. That is her certain destiny. Listen!

GARY, MINN., is located at the gates of that great twenty-five million dollar plant.

GARY, MINN., lies in the heart of a magnificent, stoneless plateau, sloping gently towards the St. Louis River.

GARY, MINN., has nine miles of graded streets and avenues; three miles of dock frontage on the river; three miles of frontage on the Belt Line R. R., (the connecting link between Gary and 40,000 miles of railroad meshing the whole country over).

GARY, MINN., is ASSURED of a population of not less than fifty thousand in five years' time; taking into consideration the official estimate of the number of permanent employees at the main steel plant only: to this total must be added the employees of the Universal Portland Cement Co., which will soon be under construction; and the employees of all the other subsidiary companies of United Steel, which will be located at Gary, Minn., as soon as the parent plant is in operation. Add to this also, the business men of Gary, together with their wives and families—Within a decade Gary should pass Duluth in point of population. It is the LOGICAL manufacturing center for the whole Northwest.

Now, if YOU want to share in the greatest possible profits resulting from the growth of this city, you wont wait; you'll get busy right away.

Come and see Gary for yourself—one glance will show you the exact situation better than seven columns of talk. If you can't possibly get away, write us for information on any point you want covered—we will give you the FACTS.

Then, if you find there's a NEED for you in Gary, you can arrange to get in by the tenth—the first and probably the last sale this year. We don't want anyone to buy land in Gary without getting satisfied, because it is going to help us build Gary up quicker if every owner of property or interests in Gary is a BOOSTER and does his share.

Now that's all. Here's the Opportunity—It's Up To YOU!

Members do not know how many subordinate inspectors will be needed to carry it into effect. The law does not specify how many inspectors there shall be, nor how large the fees shall be made.

An initial appropriation of $10,000 is made to start the work, but after that the department must be self-sustaining. The commission is directed to fix the fees for inspecting, testing, sealing or condemning any scales, weights or measures, and the fees and fines are to go into a fund for the department.

Leather Trust Causes All Your Shoe Troubles

Profits—profits—profits are the one aim of the Leather Trust. It controls the tanneries. It works hand in glove with the Hide Trust. It runs up the price of leather—it cheapens the quality.

You see now why the average shoe costs you so much—and why its quality is so bad.

Endicott, Johnson & Co. are the only shoe manufacturers of this country who are independent of the Leather Trust, the Hide Tru st and all Middlemen.

They buy their hides in the open markets of the world. They own their tanneries—they tan every pound of leather they put into their shoes. They sell direct from the factory to your home shoe dealer.

Endicott-Johnson shoes are firm and solid—but pliable and comfortable to the feet. They have style—and they hold their style, because the good leather has back-bone to withstand wear and weather.

They come to you 50 cents to $1.00 cheaper than any other shoes of the same general appearance—they pay no profits to Trusts or Middlemen. Ask your local Endicott-Johnson dealer for ENDWELL (Goodyear Welt) shoes—dress and business shoes, selling at $3.00, $3.50 and $4.00.

ENDWELL shoes give you your choice of two hundred styles in Shoes and Oxfords, lace and button—all the modish lasts—every width and shape of toe—all colors of leather.

Look for this name stamped in every shoe—

LUMBAGO IS BAKED OUT OF DULUTH CITIZEN

MR. ANDREW WICK

One who has never had lumbago and kidney trouble does not know what torturing suffering it brings. At times the pain is so severe that it seems unendurable. Mr. Andrew Wick of 709 West Third street, Duluth, was a lumbago sufferer for a long period; in addition he was bothered with his kidneys, which had been affected for the past year or more. With both ailments Mr. Wick was in almost continuous agony.

He tried almost everything suggested until he heard of the Loughney bake oven at 301-2-3-4-5, Christie building and he took a course of treatment. Today he is a well man, and of the hundreds who are praising the bake ovens no one is more pleased with results than he. His case is typical of scores of others who have been similarly cured. The bake oven is rightly named. It literally bakes out disease. The oven touches parts that medicine can never reach. Its results are always speedier and more lasting.

The bake oven rooms are open daily from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m.; Sundays from 9 to 12 only. They have lady nurses to care for lady patients.

TWIN CITY JUDGES HERE

Judge L. W. Collins and Judge Ell Torrance Visit Duluth.

No Such Shortage as $90,000 at University, Says Former.

Judge L. W. Collins and Judge Ell Torrance of Minneapolis, are guests of the Spalding today. Judge Collins is a former member of the state supreme bench and was also candidate for governor on the Republican ticket.

Judge Torrance is well known in Minneapolis legal circles and is also one of the most prominent citizens of the Mill City. Both of the gentlemen came here for pleasure. This noon Judge Torrance took lunch with Prof. Bohannon of the normal school, and this afternoon was the guest of J. L. Washburn. Judge Torrance is an old and close friend of Mr. Washburn's. Tomorrow he will deliver an address to the normal school graduates.

Judge Collins is a man who has taken a very deep interest in university affairs. He was asked today what was the general opinion regarding the shortage in funds.

"There is an opinion that Bren was not held up," answered the judge, "but any general understanding that so large an amount as $90,000 was actually stolen from the funds of the university, is wrong. A certain fund is overdrawn to that amount, but the money is really not missing.

"Last winter it will be recalled that the university came near going under the jurisdiction of the board of control. It escaped by the narrowest margin. If the legislature had been in session when the present financial mixup came, there is no doubt in my mind but that the school would have passed under the control of the state board."

Judge Collins has made frequent trips to Duluth. He was here for his first trip back in 1868. Judge Collins has a son in business here and will make a several days' stay.

"NO RIGHT TO APPROVE IT"

Gary Comments on Roosevelt and the Steel Trust's Deal.

Answers Questions About Taking Over of Tennessee Company.

Washington, June 7.—Ex-President Roosevelt had no real right to sanction the taking over of the Tennessee Coal & Iron company by the United States Steel corporation, according to an admission made today by Chairman E. H. Gary of the directorate of the Steel corporation, during his examination before the house committee that is investigating the affairs of the so-called steel trust.

Asking the steel executive about the conference at the White House at which the approval of the president, or at least an assurance that there would be no prosecution following such action, was sought, Mr. Littleton said to Mr. Gary:

"You were at the White House then, seeking the approval of the administration of the proposed acquisition by the Steel company of Tennessee Coal & Iron stocks?"

Exceeded His Rights.

"That is not quite rightly put," answered Mr. Gary. "It is hardly accurate. We sought to acquaint the government with all the facts before we proceeded. I know perfectly well that Secretary Root had told the president and that the president understood that he had no right to approve the same. But it seemed clear to me that if we should purchase the property under the perilous conditions in Wall street as explained to the president, there ought not to be any action on the part of the government to enjoin the transaction."

Mr. Gary discussed this situation at length and stated further that it was the unanimous opinion of the Steel corporation directors and the big bankers in New York, including Mr. Morgan, that the administration's attitude toward the deal should be definitely known.

Duty of Attorney General.

"You know at that time," said Mr. Littleton, "that the Sherman anti-trust law made it the duty of the attorney general to bring injunction suits to prevent the consummation of business combinations which would amount to a violation of the law, did you not? You knew that the Sherman law does not give to an injured party the right to bring proceedings and that the attorney general was the only source from which such proceedings could emanate?"

"Well, I do not know that I was sufficiently familiar with the law to determine that such was the case," Mr. Gary replied.

"Well, you felt, did you not," Mr. Littleton persisted, "that with the approval of the president and the attorney general of the taking over by the Steel corporation of the Tennessee company, the attorney general being the only one who could proceed against such a transaction and waiving action under the provisions of the anti-trust law, there would be no proceedings in court?"

"That is your conclusion," said Mr. Gary, "and perhaps it is not stating the situation exactly. I felt that, under the circumstances, the president having stated to Mr. Frick and myself that he did not feel like objecting to the deal, and that he could see no reason for public criticism in that attitude, any proceedings in court afterward would be unjust."

"In other words," said Mr. Littleton, "you were of the opinion that had the attorney general proceeded such action would have been an outrage. I believe you used the word before the committee in that connection the other day."

"I would say," Mr. Gary replied, "that such prosecution of an alleged violation—I do not admit that it was a violation—of the Sherman law at that time would have been most unjust."

CANADIAN COAL FAMINE ACUTE

Ralph Connor Heads Committee for Arbitration of Strike.

Winnipeg, Man., June 7.—The coal famine in Alberta and Saskatchewan has reached an acute stage, and the arbitration board, which adjourned six weeks ago, suddenly has been called together again by the government for a meeting at Coleman, Alta. The chairman is Rev. Charles Gordon (Ralph Connor), the novelist.

The strike has been in progress over ten weeks. No coal has been mined this spring over a wide area of territory in Alberta and Southeastern British Columbia. Many industries have been forced to close down or import coal a long distance. Smelters have been closed for some time. Many towns in Alberta and British Columbia which draw fuel supplies from mines in that section have felt the fuel famine severely.

HOW CLOUDS ARE COLORED.

Dundee Advertiser: The color of a cloud depends on the manner in which the sunlight falls upon it and the position of the observer. It will be noticed that high clouds are always white, or light in color, and this is because the light by which they are seen is reflected from the under surface by the numberless drops of moisture which go to form the cloud.

Heavy rain clouds, on the other hand, are found much nearer the earth, and so the light falls on them more directly from above, giving a silver lining to the cloud, though the under surface appears black, owing to the complete reflection and absorption of the light by the upper layers. Seen from above by an observer in a balloon the blackest rain clouds appear of the most dazzling brilliant white.

RAYNER HITS ROOSEVELT

Maryland Senator Scores Ex-President for His Methods.

Indulges in Bitter Tirade on Changes of Policy.

Washington, June 7.—In presenting to the senate his final plea in support of the election of senators, by direct vote of the people, Senator Rayner of Maryland today once more paid his respects to Former President Roosevelt.

He said he did not enjoy reference to the fact that he and Mr. Roosevelt agree in their advocacy of this policy, and explained that when he was on a platform he stayed on it, while the former president had "the peculiar faculty" of getting on and off platforms with peculiar alacrity.

"No other individual in the United States has the genius that he has in this connection," said Mr. Rayner. "He can make a statement one day and absolutely deny it the next, and people seem to believe him both times.

"Talking About Platforms."

"Talking about platforms, he can make a speech upon the platform of a rear platform, where the stations are only a mile apart, and recant at one station what he had said at the station he had just passed.

"He can stand upon two political platforms, each radically differing from the other, and then deny that he stood upon either of them; he can coquette with both political parties and then start a party of his own, whose doctrines and policies consist of an incoherent medley of unconstitutional impossibilities.

"He can stand before an intelligent audience of 2,000 people and tell them how at the dead of night, upon the borders of an African jungle, upon the banks of a river that never had any existence, when no one was with him, he encountered and slaughtered a mythological animal that God had never created, and receive the wildest plaudits for the miraculous performance of this impossible accomplishment."

Goes Into History.

Senator Rayner declared that after obtaining his (Rayner's) promise to maintain his position on the railroad rate bill, Mr. Roosevelt himself changed his own position over night.

"You must die where you stand," the then president was quoted as saying to him.

"The next day, when the vote was taken," said the senator, "I stood to my colors and died where I stood. Just as I was about dying, however, I looked around for the president, who had promised to die with me, but he had neither died nor retreated. On the contrary, I never saw any one more constructively alive.

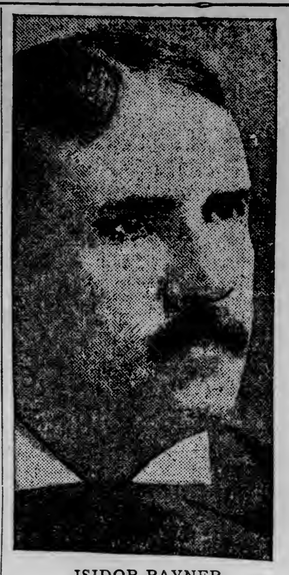

"The only explanation I received for this maneuver, unparalleled in point of strategy upon the pages of political history, was his remark to me: 'Well, you all died a glorious death! I was so sorry I could not be with you!'"

Cannot Throttle Reform.

Speaking on the merits of the resolution Mr. Rayner said:

"We cannot throttle this reform any longer."

He predicted that the amendment would gather its strength from every community where integrity rules and intelligence prevails.

ISIDOR RAYNER.

H. W. REYNER LEAVES FIRST METHODIST CHOIR.

Horace W. Reyner will relinquish his position as organist and director of the choir of the First Methodist Episcopal church on the second Sunday in July, after a service of five years, in which time the music of the church has been brought to a high standard.

This morning Mr. Reyner declined to make any statement beyond the fact that his services to the church would conclude on Sunday, July 8, at the close of the evening service.

J. H. Cook, chairman of the music committee during Mr. Reyner's tenure of office, on being seen, said:

"I understand that Mr. Reyner will remain permanently in Duluth. Mr. Reyner's influence upon the musical sentiment of Duluth has been felt and appreciated almost from the day he arrived from Montreal to establish himself here.

"I must add my personal regret, since as chairman of the musical committee it has been a genuine pleasure for me to be associated with Mr. Reyner in the musical work of the church."

REGENTS ACT IN BREN CASE

Demand That He Pay Over All Funds to E. W. Decker.

Proceedings Against Bondsmen of Cashier Are Suggested.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The board of regents of the state university at a meeting this morning unanimously adopted resolutions demanding that Joseph D. Bren, cashier and treasurer, charged with embezzling funds of the university following his story of being robbed of $14,000, pay over to E. W. Decker, first vice president of the Northwestern National bank and president of the Minnesota Loan & Trust company, all moneys and property of the university in his custody.

Mr. Bren was removed by the regents, who, if he refuses to turn over the funds, will request the attorney general to proceed to enforce his bond. Mr. Decker was appointed treasurer without salary, and the office of accountant, for a time at least, will be run separately.

May Sue Bondsmen.

The regents also asked the attorney general to proceed against Bren's bondsmen if the former cashier does not turn over "all moneys with which he is chargeable," which is taken to mean that the bondsmen will be sued for the $14,000 which is missing.

Mr. Decker, the newly appointed treasurer, is a brother of C. D. Decker, purchasing agent of the university, who retired July 31. The arrangements may be only temporary and Mr. Decker will serve without a salary.

Detectives De Laittre and Broderick and Special Assistant County Attorney Nash waited until noon today for Frank Lyon to appear in the county attorney's office. He is salesman for the Van Dusen Harrington Grain company of Minneapolis, and stubs of checks made payable to him, found in the safety deposit vault, gave rise to the report that Mr. Bren had been speculating in grain.

Rumor of Grain Speculation.

Mr. Bren declared he had loaned the money to Mr. Lyon and Mr. Lyon substantiated this story, but the police wanted a further talk with the latter. At noon they got word that he had gone to see an attorney instead.

Mr. Nash admitted at noon that there was no positive evidence of grain speculation.

AMERICANS' HOMES FALL

Fine Residences in Mexico Are Wrecked By Earthquake.

Several Persons Are Killed and Buildings Are Damaged.

El Paso, Tex., June 7.—A telegram received here indicated that many of the fine homes in the American colony in City of Mexico were wrecked by an earthquake this morning. E. N. Brown, president of the Mexican National railroad, telegraphed: "Big earthquake at 4:30. Several killed in the Santa Maria district. My house badly wrecked. All our American friends safe."

The message came from City of Mexico over the railroad telegraph lines. Santa Maria is a suburb of City of Mexico.

Several Persons Killed.

City of Mexico, June 7.—Several persons were killed through the collapse of the building occupied by the street railway power plant in the earthquake that shook this city at 4 a. m. today.

At Buena Vista the tracks were twisted.

The shock was followed by an explosion of gas at the armory barracks, which added horror to the scene.

The oscillations moved from north to south and opened fissures in the streets. The abode houses crumbled, but the dead in these cannot be numbered at present.

The shock was most severely felt in the western part of the city, though buildings in the central part of the capital were rocked.

One Foreigner Killed.

The only foreigner killed was a Chinese.

Warehouses at the central station collapsed and an engineer was killed.

A private boarding school building was wrecked, but none of the occupants was injured.

The National palace had one of its walls cracked and the keystone of one of the arches was displaced.

The ancient cathedral of Santo Domingo was damaged.

GAS AT $10 A THOUSAND.

The first incorporated gas company was the National Light & Heat company of England, established in 1809. In America the first gas company was incorporated in Baltimore in 1816, the second one in Boston in 1822 and the next one was the New York Gas Light company, incorporated in 1823.

Prior to 1830 the gas business of this country was nominal, but the price probably was responsible for its slow development. From 1824 to 1828, says Moody's Magazine, the New York Gas Light company sold gas to consumers at the rate of $10 a thousand cubic feet.

The first artificial illuminating gas was produced in England about 1726 by one Dr. Hales, but not until 1786 was a practical test made. In that year the earl of Dundonald of Scotland arranged an apparatus by which he lighted the castle with gas. The same year William Murdock of Birmingham, Eng., introduced gas as a light in his workshops at Redruth and Cornwall.

As Mr. Murdock was the first man to reap any commercial benefit from the discovery of the use of illuminating gas, he may properly be accredited as the father of modern public utilities. In 1813 London bridge was illuminated by gas, and five years later gas was in general use throughout the main part of London.

WHY SHE LIKED SHOP.

Philadelphia Inquirer: They had been talking at the rate of fully eighteen to the dozen, those two fair young damsels, and the subject of their conversation was, of course, the wise and witty sayings, the charms of manner, and the other admirable traits of character possessed by their respective sweethearts.

"Don't you like to have anybody talk shop when they come to see you?" gurgled Mary.

"Indeed, I do. Who's been talking shop to you?"

"Oh, Charlie, of course. He's a trolley conductor, you know, and nearly every time he comes to see me he goes on with his shop talk."

"What does he say?"

"Sit closer, please!"

This is a "new-fashioned town"—and the increasing use of want advertising proves it; for want advertising is the newest-fashioned utility of them all!!

TAFT TAKING TROOPS AWAY

President Gives Evidence of Faith in Mexican Government.

First Removal of American Soldiers From Border Ordered.

Washington, June 7.—As evidence of President Taft's belief that peace has been practically restored in Mexico, with a stable government capable of coping with the situation, the withdrawal by degrees of the armed forces of the United States from the doors of Mexico was begun today.

The first order refers to the 2,000 marines at Guantanamo, Cuba, who will return to their home stations and ships. This will be followed very shortly by the northward movement of the soldiers comprising the provisional brigades at Galveston, Tex., and San Diego, Cal.

Even the maneuver division at San Antonio, in the light of favorable developments in the recently war-torn republic, will be split up into several units and distributed through Texas. As a matter of precaution, however, the division will be arranged so that it can be quickly assembled to meet any emergency.

Warships Not Removed.

The warships which have rendezvoused at Guantanamo and San Diego since last March will not be withdrawn at this time, although even that question is under consideration.

The administration has kept in close touch with the situation in Mexico. The gradual withdrawal of the fighting forces whose southward movement three months ago startled the nation, means, it is generally accepted here, that official Washington takes an optimistic view of the situation.

OLD SOUTHERN GARDENS.

The old gardens of the South are among its most interesting mementos of the past. Those at Camden, S. C., are justly celebrated for their arches of cedar, flowering olive and box. Critics have declared the old gardens at Pine Flat, Hobkirk inn and Lausanne equal to the best of those found in connection with old English manor houses.

Lausanne, as it was first called, was planted by John de Saussure, a French Huguenot. The name of the place was afterward changed to Upton Court, and it has passed through a number of hands. It is today as perfect an example of the formal gardening of the section and period as can be found. No gardens in America are planted on so heroic a scale as these.

The rich Southerner of the early nineteenth century was a man with large schemes, says a writer in Uncle Remus's Magazine. Box, so commonly employed in New England, is seldom seen in the far south. Privet, so generally used in modern gardens, was but little known at Camden seventy-five years ago. The shrubs most employed in that region were cedar, mock orange, and a species of flowering olive, euonymous and holly. The flowering olive lends itself to various treatment in big and little; it is well suited to the sandy soil of middle and lower South Carolina; it grows apace and it stands the summer heat better than almost any other plant.

Sowell gardens, at Camden, afford some excellent specimens of topiary art, in connection with which cedar was most commonly used. Holly Hedge, a beautiful old garden of Camden, has various walks, bordered with holly and one great arch of it. The garden also contains a hedge of Cherokee roses, which when full of white blossoms in the spring is indescribably lovely and most characteristic of the South.

Among the flowering evergreens found in most southern gardens is the gardenia, coloquially known as the cape jessamine and the Camella Japonica. The gardenia grows in great round bushes and is always highly ornamental, whether used singly or as a hedge. In some section of the South the cultivation of the gardenia is so simple that every negro hut has a huge bush as a single sentinel at the gate, full grown, luxuriant, spreading its polished leaves in the sunlight, blooming riotously in excess of fecundity, filling the air with fragrance; the mere presence of such munificence satirizing the gaunt, sterile indolence of man. In the alluvial low country every other farm house facing the road has hedges of gardenias bordering either side of the firm walk of white sand, their straight line giving a touch of pleasing formality to what would be otherwise a very indefinite effect.

The Preston gardens at Columbia, S. C., were perfect in their day and once covered two city squares. They still show some remarkable hedges. Among the best known garden of the old South are Ferrell gardens at La Grange, Ga. They cover ten acres and abound in clipped and shaped hedges of various kinds and rare plants from all quarters of the globe. Some very interesting gardens are to be found at Beaufort, S. C., attached to fine old Georgian houses.

Beaufort and the adjoining country, including the nearby Sea Islands, was at one time the abode of the richest society people in America, who represented the nearest approach to a blood aristocracy on this continent in that they married only among themselves for generations and consequently were all related. They owned more slaves per capita than any other people in the South and looked with disdain on all occupations other than the planting of rice and Sea Island cotton.

Their servants and livery and their equippages presented a spectacle of elegance and fashion then unequalled in America. Their houses were the most splendid in the country and were filled with what is now called old mahogany, and their gardens were skilfully laid out and perfectly maintained.

One of the most beautiful gardens not only of the South but in the world is that of Magnolia-on-the-Ashley, near Charleston. The Manor house, once a feature of the old estate, was burned by Sherman's army, but the wonderful gardens remain intact and are visited by thousands of tourists.

Magnolia-on-the-Ashley was settled by the Drayton family. Two bothers of that name having come as gentlemen adventurers from the Barbadoes, one of them settled at Magnolia and the other at Drayton Hall. The chief glory of Magnolia gardens are the azaleas. They grow there in almost unheard of luxuriance and perfection.

The bushes are sometimes twelve feet high and twenty feet in circumference. Their blooms are crimson and all shades of pink, with now and then a white bush. The gardens are still in perfect preservation. Smooth walks wind through rich wildernesses of color, plaoid lakes mirror a thousand different hues, great live oak trees are weighed down with moss, and walls of rhododendrons and banks of golden banksias lend their gay color to the brilliant scene.

Before the azaleas begin to decline the camella japonica trees burst into flower and delight the onlooker with perfections undreamed of. There are six acres of these, white and pink and mottled, which grow in great cone shaped bushes, scentless and cold, but exquisite to behold in the tropical luxuriance of these unequaled gardens.

A little later as the spring advances the magnolia trees come to blossom, then indeed the place is an enchanted spot worthy of a queen's taste. The waters of the Atlantic ebb and flow languorously in the river where on either bank the rich grass grows; the air is heavy with fragrance and the great trees loom in stately masses, sheltering their proud blossoms amid the cool shadows of the waxy leaves. In the midst of all this floral munificence stands the tomb of the Draytons in which six generations are sleeping.

Charleston, S. C. has many beautiful old formal gardens, but it is difficult for the casual tourist to find them, as they are mostly concealed by high brick walls. And yet, lovely as gardens are, who would tear down the dear old garden walls of Charleston? Each wall has its gateway; sometimes two, nay three of them. One for the guest who rings the street bell, and forthwith a servant comes out of the house, crosses the lawn down the sandy walk and opens the great iron gate with a great iron key. It is all quite feudal and charming. Often there is a carriage gate and a gate for servants—the old "slave gate"—on one side of it.

EXERCISE TO FIT EACH CASE.

New York Sun: "A physical coacher is what I call myself," said a woman who for the last six years has been teaching a system of exercises which she originated herself. "What the professional coacher does for the mind I do for the body.

"I take a person, man, woman or child, who is undeveloped physically below normal and by suiting the exercise to the specific case build up the body. I have developed my own system after a good many years of practical experience in physical gymnastic work. It is a therapeutic system and I never give the same exercise to any two pupils. Though I have class lessons after each lesson, each pupil has separate instructions.

"All physicians agree now that convalescents regain their normal health and strength more quickly when exercising under the eyes of a careful trainer in gymnastics. Very few of them can be trusted to take just enough and no more exercise. The old prescription of a walk before or after meals is very seldom given by physicians when dismissing a case.

"I have a pupil who will walk until she is ready to drop and declares she feels no inconvenience except a pain in the muscles of her arms. Her limbs never get stiff, nor her feet heavy, but she has a sharp pain in her arms near the shoulder. When she first came to me she was most a wreck. She told me that her physician had prescribed a walk in the open air lasting one hour after her midday meal. She had complained to him of the pains in her arms and he had given her treatment for rheumatism.

"I took her for a walk myself to see just what was the matter. Before the end of the week I cut her walks down to one mile and insisted on her taking the remainder of her hour in the open air either sitting on a park bench or driving in the park. I also insisted on her stopping her walk before completing her mile if at any time she felt the pain below the shoulder. The best general rule for walking as an exercise is to stop when you feel the first symptoms of fatigue.

"I have a good many women of leisure whose physicians have told them they needed more exercise than they could get driving in the park and walking about in their own home. I also have several who have been riding horseback too much. These last have been taking too much of a good thing. Though horseback riding is one of the best exercises it can be overdone. There are certain muscles which do not get their share of the exercise.

"My most interesting classes are my boys and girls. As a rule they do their best, are interested in the different exercises and in the development for which we are aiming. I often have pupils whose physicians have told their parents they must be taken out of school as the only cure for their nervousness. They would find their way to me and usually after the first week I could recommend their return to school. All they really need is proper exercise. I have found that I could get better results when the pupil has something else to think of besides his physical being. So I suggest the child taking up its studies again and coming to me at regular intervals for the necessary exercise.

"My experience teaches me that men and women are quite different in the way they take physical exercise. It is because of this difference that I advise women to safely do so and take their exercise at home. The atmosphere of a sanitarium encourages a woman to imagine herself worse off than she really is. It is uphill work for the physical trainer who tries to convince her to the contrary. Men, on the other hand, appear to get on faster when so situated that they can devote all their thoughts and energies to getting well or being correctly developed.

"I look upon improper breathing as being directly responsible for more ill health than any other one cause. It is impossible for the body to be properly developed if one does not breathe properly. Because of this I require of every pupil the Yogi breathing.

"None of my exercises is exhausting. My object is to give the pupils only work that proves exhilarating, that makes them feel stronger at the close of the lesson. Because of this I never give more than four lessons a day. After that number I begin to feel the strain, and I know that I must look out for my own physical well being. I go through all the exercises with my pupils, and though I use no heavy weights or apparatus I require the strictest attention.

"At this season persons should be careful about over-exercising. If you will notice you will find that there are many more breakdowns early in the season than one hears of later on. It is because people start with too great a rush. After long confinement during the winter they are eager to get out and be doing. They expect to be able to accomplish the same feats they had worked up to last year at the end of the season. A little thought will show you how unreasonable this is.

"In the first place, only a very few keep up their physical exercises during the winter. Their muscles are weakened by disuse and their entire physical being is soft. Their first aim should be to tone it up gradually. Those who have used gymnasiums during the winter should remember that physical exercise indoors and out is very different. Though the open air is more exhilarating the reaction is greater. All of this should be taken into account by those who are going into the sports and games of the season. Moderation now will stand by them later on, even if it does not save them from an actual breakdown before the season is well begun."

"The Most Beautiful Residence Park in America!"

That is how people, who have traveled widely, epitomize Kenilworth Park—the beautiful addition to Hunter's Park, Duluth's most beautiful and most select residence district.

Nor is the exquisite beauty of this addition its sole recommendation to intending home owners: lying among green lawns and hollows, fronting the lake, it is a delightfully HEALTHFUL place to live, but, MORE:—

It is located in the path of the city's BEST development; every labor-employing industry that adds to the population of Duluth will add to the value of this property.

Because high-class residence property is always the most valuable in a city outside of the business center and always grows along established lines, amid beautiful surroundings.

Kenilworth Park is the HEART of Duluth's best residence district—in the most beautiful part of the city.

Within a few years property in this part will be practically unobtainable.

NOW you have an opportunity to secure one of THE LAST TWENTY LOTS; at a little price, on easy monthly payments. The prices on the few remaining sites range from $300.00 to $900.00 on terms of from $8.00 to $25 a month.

Come to our office any day this week and we will take you out in our auto to view the addition; or—COME OUT SUNDAY, JUNE 11th! Our representatives will be on the ground all day and will show you over.

WHEAT MART IS OVERSOLD

Values Advance When Shorts Cover—Hot in Southwest.

Estimate on Winter Wheat Bullish—Bearish Condition Abroad.

Duluth Board of Trade, June 7.—July wheat advanced ⅝c after an early dip. September gained ¾c. Milling interests were comparatively heavy buyers of September in the Northwest. Oats gained 1¼c. Rye was unchanged. Cash wheat was ½c over July. July durum gained ⅝c.

Linseed was lifeless. July was unchanged. September and October were unchanged. Cash was 1c under July. Foreign cables were 1c off.

Wheat opened weak on reports of further showers in Kansas and the Canadian Northwest. The rains in the Southwest were small and the wheat crop is about made, anyway. Estimates of 60,000,000 bu for Kansas and 8,000,000 bu for Texas which were sent out by so-called experts were regarded as bullish.

The market became quickly oversold and the covering by shorts caused an upturn which carried the market slightly higher than yesterday.

Canadian Northern officials estimated the acreage under wheat in Western Canada at 11,000,000. The Canadian Pacific had previously estimated the acreage at 10,000,000. The Canadian Northern figures that Canada can export 150,000,000 bu after supplying domestic needs.

Temperatures in Kansas continue hot but cooler weather is in sight. Cutting of wheat has commenced between Kansas City and Topeka. Weather is favorable for field operations.

The foreign markets generally were lower. The large increase in the Argentine acreage, weaker Bunos Ayrs markets, the increase in the world's movement of wheat and the world's visible supply induced selling. The continental demand was absent. At Budapest the market was strong, shorts continuing to cover because of fear of great crop damage by drouth and hot temperatures. In France the weather is favorable and the market is lower. Arrivals at ports are heavy.

MARKET GOSSIP

Yesterday's Chicago Tribune: Wheat traders who have been studying the new government method of ascertaining the probable yield of grains are of the opinion that a lower condition than last month will not necessarily mean a smaller indicated crop. As the government estimates the crop on a five-year average, it is possible there may be a sharp drop in condition and at the same time a suggestion for a larger crop than indicated last month. Nearly every one is expecting a bearish report as to condition.

The Manitoba Free Press claims an increase of 15 per cent in the linseed acreage of the three provinces. This estimate probably is correct based on last year's actual acreage, but the Free Press is a long way from accuracy if it means to estimate an increase of 75 per cent based on last year's official figures or the figures that were issued by the Free Press in 1910.

Yesterday's Chicago Record-Herald says: A. J. Lichtstern, James E. Bennett and George E. Marcy, were again before the special investigating committee yesterday, the hearing lasting all of the afternoon. The committee is going very fully into the May wheat deal and will probably made no report to the directors today, but will ask for further time. Bennett's firm was the only defaulter in the May deal. He was forced to that attitude by the orders of his customer who was amply protected by margins and who might at any time have given orders through other brokers, thus placing the Bennett concern in an undesirable condition in case he had acted without his customer's orders. There has been no settlement as yet of the Bennett-Lichtstern differences, the former representing the trades of William Lanyon of St. Louis.

The Ogilvie Milling company of Winnipeg, the leading Canadian long, has chartered vessel room for 500,000 bu of wheat from Fort William to Buffalo. The wheat probably will be sold abroad at the best price obtainable to keep it out of reach of Winnipeg shorts. There is a big short interest in the Winnipeg July.

The Van Dusen-Harrington Co., says: "Since our last crop report growing conditions in the three Northwestern States have, on the whole, been most satisfactory. Reports from North Dakota, Minnesota and the greater part of South Dakota indicate that all grain, except late sown flax, is in splendid condition, being well up, with good stand and making strong and vigorous growth. South Dakota, west of the Missouri river, has suffered severely from drouth and must have rain in order to get half last year's crop but it must be remembered that the amount of grain produced in this territory is small.

"Where early sown coarse grains were blown out of light soil in South Dakota, they have been reseeded and in those restricted areas where corn was injured by cut worms, that also has been replanted. We hope by the middle of June to get out a letter giving definite information as to the probable flax acreage for 1911."

Kansas City wired: "Wheat is being cut through Central Oklahoma and will probably be threshed and sold by June 15. A little very early wheat is being cut here. Wheat harvest will be in full swing here about a week from next Monday. Wheat grains are hard now and another week will ripen it well, I know this from personal examination. Wheat is so nearly ripe in Southern Kansas that I have doubted the heat damage reports. Thrashing will be in full blast as far North as Kansas City by July 1. Harvest is about as early as it ever comes."

In the government report to be issued tomorrow, there is expected a reduction of 4½ to 5 points in the condition of winter wheat from the 81 condition of May. On the basis of the "par condition" officially given by the department of agriculture last month, and on the revised acreage, a condition of 81.5 would suggest a winter crop of 471,000,000 bu, which would be 15,000,000 bu less than the official figures of May, but 7,000,000 bu more than was harvested last year.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: The wheat market opened with shorts in October nervous due to less favorable crop advices and prices were ⅛d to ¼d higher. Following the opening pressure selling pressure developed and prices quickly declined ¾d to ⅞d with the undertone weak. Selling was in the way of realizing and fresh speculative selling induced by the weaker Buenos Ayres closing, bearish estimate of Argentine acreage and the heavy world's shipments with an increase on passage. Pressure was further encouraged by the Bradstreet's world's increase of yesterday, generally favorable European advices and the pressure of off coast cargoes with an absence of continental demand. At 1:30 p. m. the market was weak and ½d to ¾d lower than Friday. The corn market was steady at the opening notwithstanding the decline in American. Later the market became heavy on the large world's shipments, poor spot demand and more favorable reports from America. Wheat cargoes arrived off coast, six, and awaiting orders, nine. Wheat in distant positions dull, limited demand. Corn quiet but steady.

Kansas wants from 15,000 to 18,000 men to harvest its crops, according to reports received at the local state labor office. The wheat crop is rather late on account of the drouth in the last few weeks. Wheat is now heading out and will be ready to cut in a few days. Cutting in some scattered localities has commenced.

Kansas City wired: "Wheat is being cut through Central Oklahoma and will probably be threshed and sold by June 15. A little very early wheat is being cut here. Wheat harvest will be in full swing here about a week from next Monday. Wheat grains are hard now and another week will ripen it well, I know this from personal examination. Wheat is so nearly ripe in Southern Kansas that I have doubted the heat damage reports. Thrashing will be in full blast as far North as Kansas City by July 1. CHICAGO MARKET.

Rainy Weather and Bearish Cables Depress Wheat Prices.

Chicago, June 7.—Rainy weather and bearish cables gave wheat a downward slant today. The only support for the market was apparently coming from cautious shorts who were taking profits. Sellers had their attention especially fixed on Kansas, the rainfall in that state being reported as a good hard downpour. Large world shipments formed one of the principal factors in making the foreign news adverse. And the bulls, the fact that cash wheat here was not proving an easily marketable commodity in the hands of the chief owners exerted also a depressing effect. Opening prices were a shade to ½@⅝c lower. July started at 91¼c to 91½c, a loss of ⅛@¼c to ⅜@½c, and fell to 91c.

Difficulty in the covering of short sales led afterward to a decided rally. Bullish crop advices from Kansas and Nebraska helped. The close was strong, with July at 92¼c, a net gain of ½@⅝c.

Corn sagged in the absence of demand. Wheat weakness furnished the main reason, July opened ⅛c to ¼c off at 53⅜c to 53¾c and seemed inclined to keep within that limit.

The market subsequently, when wheat turned strong. Closing prices were firm, with July ⅞c net higher at 54¾c.

Liberal commission selling eased the oats market. Sympathy with other grain was an incentive to the bears. July started ⅛c to ¼c down at 36⅜c to 36½c, touched 36⅝c and dropped to 36¼c.

Because of lower prices for hogs, the provision trade showed a tendency to decline. First sales were 5c down to 2½c up with September delivery $14.50 for pork, $8.00 for lard and $8.00 for ribs.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Early Decline Followed By Rise Culminating in Much Strength.

Active Dealings in Last Hour and the Close Is Strong.

New York, June 7.—An active selling movement was begun at the opening of the stock market today and prices were forced downward. The recessions in the early trading, however, were small. United States Steel yielded ½ on the opening sale of 3,500 shares. Atchison, Union Pacific and Interborough-Metropolitan preferred also lost a half and Northern Pacific ⅝. Pittsburg Coal preferred gained ¾.

Fractional recoveries followed the opening dip in prices, but when several of the leaders had rebounded to above yesterday's closing the rally stopped and trading became dull.

The action of stocks during the morning trading showed that the market still felt the effects of the depression which set in at the beginning of the week. The volume of trading, which has been dwindling steadily for several days, was still smaller today, and there were few price movements of significance. A decline of small proportions early in the day was succeeded by a rally which set in shortly before noon, lifting quotations of a number of the leaders to slightly above yesterday's close. United States Steel did not share in the recovery. The reports from Washington of the possible prosecution of the United States Steel corporation were assigned as a reason for the persistent heaviness in this issue. The telephone and telegraph stocks, Erie and the Hill groups made the best showing and American Cotton Oil gained 3¾. Bonds were steady with large transactions in Atchison and American Telephone convertibles.

The market closed active and strong. The creeping advance in prices, which had been a feature of the dealings since the early decline, culminated in a more convincing show of strength in the last hour when the principal stocks rose substantially on active dealings, Reading, Missouri Pacific, St. Paul and Union Pacific were lifted a point beyond yesterday's closing, and United States Steel about half as much. Great Northern preferred extended its gain to over 3 points and Northern Pacific and the whole market was higher than previously.
